Harris Fork Creek Being Recleaned This Week

Workers are busy this week surfacing Harris Fork Creek from Highway 45 (Missionary Bottom) down to the Tennessee State Line.

"The upper portion of the creek is in pretty good shape," said Councilman Smith Atkins.

The work of cleaning out the creek is being done, so that when heavy rains come again the creek will be able to stay within its banks and not overflow as was done during the last heavy rain-storm.

Troublesome Harris Fork Creek has been giving the merchants and others whose homes are located near the creek a headache off and on for many years.

Back quite a number of years ago the creek was dredged and the creek didn't overflow for several years. Now, the problem has returned.

After the last overflow, a group of local businessmen met and appointed a committee to come up with some solution. It was decided to contact the Kentucky Highway Department and ask that a survey of the creek be made.

Also, following the rainstorm, which caused water to get in some of the stores on Main Street, Ernest Fall appeared before the council and asked that the storm sewers be cleaned out ever so often.

Councilman J. O. Lewis was named to represent the council on the creek committee.

Electric Plant Board Enlists Support For "Low Cost Power"

In an effort to acquaint businessmen of Fulton with the meanings and objectives of the newly-formed "Citizens for Low-Cost Power" organization to which the Fulton Electric Plant Board belongs, some 185 letters were mailed locally over the past week-end to local businessmen.

As the letter pointed out, "Citizens for Low-Cost Power is a new Statewide organization, recently established after a series of meetings held at several Kentucky communities. The meetings brought together numerous individuals from several dozen different communities, whose common interest was in finding means of working together to win a better break for the average electric power consumer in Kentucky."

The letter also pointed out that the communities, including Fulton, who are members of the group "want new legislation in the State, not only repealing the private power lobby's vicious Everett Act (passed in 1938), but also giving municipalities and farm electric cooperatives the right to choose for themselves which source of power shall supply them, on the basis of lowest costs and the best service to the consumer."

The Fulton Electric Plant Board urged local businessmen to "support the objectives of the Citizens-for-low-cost-power organization, to follow its progress and to lend it support when possible. As its collective voice grows stronger, so does our objective of municipal ownership and operation of a local electric distribution system come closer."

The Fulton Electric Plant Board, created this Spring, has been affiliated with the State Group from the beginning, along with Paducah, Princeton, Glasgow and various other communities who are seeking to gain control of their respective electric distribution systems. Since the Everett Act was passed by the 1938 Legislature, municipalities are now prevented from duplicating existing generating or distribution facilities of a private power company under any circumstances unless the private power company should willingly allow such a procedure. Permission for such action is described as "unimaginable."

As a result, the "Citizens for Low-Cost Power" organization was formed, with one of its prime objectives the building of State-wide sentiment against the ultimate repeal of the Everett Act and the restoration of the legal right to a community to acquire its own electric system at a fair price.

TVA May Build Giant Steam Plant In Area

Indications are that the Tennessee Valley Authority will announce within 60 days the site of its new steam power plant, according to word received in Paducah this week.

On the basis of T.V.A.'s August 13 announcement that the new plant would be designed to meet power demands in the western part of the (T.V.A.) area, speculation is that it will be located on the Tennessee River (Kentucky Lake) between Paris, Tenn., and Kentucky Dam.

Definite plans for the new plant, including cost and location, have not been disclosed by T.V.A., but an August 13 announcement said contracts had been let for the building of two turbogenerators of 500,000- and 600,000-kilowatt capacity.

The 600,000-kilowatt generator, the announcement, said will be the first unit in a new steam power plant T.V.A. is planning "to provide power to meet the demands in the western part of the area served by T.V.A. distributors." The contract for the 600,000-kilowatt unit calls for completion and operation by September 1, 1962.

Mrs. Nixon Sends Recipe For Fulton B&PW Cook Book

Mrs. Richard Nixon, wife of the Vice-President of the United States, has sent her favorite recipe to be included in the cook book the Fulton-South Fulton Business and Professional Woman's Club is having published for sale. Her recipe was received Tuesday. Last Wednesday Mrs. Dwight Eisenhower sent her favorite recipe for the book.

Negro Students Leave Quietly after Being Refused Admission at South Fulton School

A group of between 15 and 20 Negroes tried to register at all-white South Fulton High School last Friday but were told they could not be enrolled.

Lester Betty, principal of the school, said he informed the group he had no authority to admit them. The Negroes, accompanied by their parents, left the school quietly, Betty said.

"They were very courteous," the principal said, adding they would give no reason for wanting to enroll at the white school.

On Saturday the mother of one of the Negro students told a reporter:

"Our motive yesterday, our only motive, was to try to get the best possible education for our children. I just don't know what will be done now," she said.

The Negro mother said Saturday all the Negroes at the high school Friday morning were 11th and 12th graders. She said improvements at the Negro school would not be completed for some time and added she wanted "my daughter to graduate from an accredited school."

C. D. Parr, Superintendent of School in Obion County said the Negro school is "fully accredited or else we could not get any state money to help finance the school. When the present work is completed, Rosenwald will have educational opportunities equal to or surpassing any other school in Obion County, white or colored."

Monday was registration day at Rosenwald (Negro) school in South Fulton and Milton Hamilton, Obion county school supervisor, said the operation "proceeded smoothly."

Rosenwald held grades one through 10 last year but additional teachers have been hired and all 12 grades will be taught this year, Mr. Parr said. In the past, juniors and seniors have ridden county school buses to Union City where they attended Miles High School.

Classes began Monday morning at South Fulton (white) High school, and County School Superintendent C. D. Parr said no Negro students appeared at the school.

Jaycees Talent Show To Be September 22

The annual talent show sponsored by the Fulton Jaycees will be held Tuesday night, September 22, at the South Fulton auditorium.

Mrs. Montelle Tripp will be director of the show and Gene Gardner of Radio Station WFUL will be master of ceremonies.

Representatives of the Mid-South Fair will be judges, and winner of the show will appear at the Mid-South Talent Show in Memphis September 26 through September 30.

Application blanks will appear in next week's issue of the paper. Entries will be received by Mrs. Shirley Hawks at the City Clerk's office at the City Hall.

B&PW Board Of Directors Meet

The Board of Directors of the Fulton-South Fulton Business and Professional Woman's Club will meet for a dinner-meeting at the Park Terrace Restaurant Saturday night at 7:30.

All officers and committee chairmen are urged to attend.

Two Car Accidents Occur Over Weekend

The Taylor wrecker towed in two wrecked cars Saturday night. Both cars were damaged to the extent of approximately $500 each.

Gus Barham of Crutchfield was driver of one car. His accident occurred near Crutchfield. Driver of the other car was a tourist from Minnesota, driving a foreign car. This accident occurred on the Clinton Highway.

Occupants of the two cars escaped serious injuries. Details of the accidents were not learned.

County Purchased $11,581 In Bonds

The citizens of Fulton County purchased $11,581 in Series E and H Savings Bonds during July, bringing the County's cumulative sales for the year to $168,793. The County's goal is $354,750.

In Kentucky, sales during July amounted to $4,354,039, which brings the cumulative figure to $34,397,808. The State's 1959 goal is $64,500,000.

Large Crowd Present At Cub Carnival, Opening Of Pool

A large crowd was present at the annual carnival of Cub Pack 40 Wednesday evening. The carnival is one of the highlights of the Cubbing program here.

Activities got underway at 4 p. m. at the new Willow Plunge Swimming Pool, with the dedication of the pool by the Rev. Joseph L. Leggett, to the memory of Roper Fields, who played such an important role in the Willow Plunge project.

Immediately following the dedication all swimming students of Morgan Fields were awarded certificates.

After the awarding of the certificates, the Cub Scout Carnival opened at the Fulton Ball Park, with the Cub Scout Queen contest being held at 8:30 p. m.

The Willow Plunge beauty review was held at 9:30 p. m.

An electric percolator door prize was given during the elimination period of the beauty review.

The Miss Willow Plunge contestants were: Wanda Cash, Linda Roddie, Carol McNeilly, Doris Moss, Bonnie Uarey, Janice Sue Fields, Mildred Stephens, Beverly Reid, Frances Parr, Loraine Fields, Katie Brown, Elaine Butler, Paula Bondurant, Sandra DeMyer, Sue Moore, Judy Stanfield, Betty Stephens, Suzanne Johnson Brenda Brown, Janice Page.

South Fulton School Opens With 841 Pupils

South Fulton High and elementary school opened with a total enrollment of 841 students. Registration was held Friday and Monday school was dismissed at 2 p. m., with the first full day of school beginning Tuesday.

Principal Lester Betty announced today that there are five new members of the faculty.

Ronnie Phillips replaces Dick Anderson as football and girls basketball coach. Mrs. Clifford Ferguson is the new English teacher and Mrs. Ova Howell is the librarian. Beecher Finch will teach Latin and English.

Mrs. Billy Miller succeeds Mrs. Elsie Provow as first grade teacher in the elementary school. Mrs. Provow retired last year.

David Holland Is Best Driver

Private - First Class David Ward Holland was recently acclaimed the best driver 2nd Howitzer Battalion 76th Artillery.

Pfc. Holland received this honor on the basis of his ability to safely maneuver a 2 1-2 ton truck during a rigid road test. His thorough knowledge of the vehicle plus his neat personal appearance aided his capturing of the award.

Holland arrived in Korea last January, being assigned driver of a 5-ton truck in the Ammunition Section. Prior to his entrance into the Army, he was a triple-threat athlete lettering in football, basketball and track during high school at Fulton.

Receive Payments For Dog Losses

Property owners in 70 Kentucky counties are being paid $38,731.06 for losses due to dogs during the past year. Agriculture Commissioner Ben Butler, who administers the dog licensing program through the Kentucky Department of Agriculture, reveals that this amount represents the total of 694 valid claims that were filed with his office during the past fiscal year ending last June 30.

The amount refunded to property owners in Fulton County was $355.30.

VISIT IN FULTON

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Rushton and Mrs. Nelle Rogers of Detroit are here visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Rushton and brother, Hugh Rushton and family. They brought Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Alston home, so that they could return to Murray State as students.

HOME FOR WEEKEND

Kellie Lowe, Jr., of Purdue University, will be home for the weekend for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kellie Lowe.

Football Prospects - Fulton Fine, South Fulton Fair, Murray Uh-Huh

Fulton Rotarians were indoctrinated with the first touch of "football fever" Tuesday as Hendon ("Doc") Wright presented a program of football coaches representing Fulton, South Fulton and Murray State. Each coach discussed the prospects for his respective team.

Fulton coach Charlie Thomas told the Club that he "feels like the Bulldogs will get the job done," meaning that he feels that the Bulldogs will have another winning season. Thomas pointed out that although the squad lost 17 lettermen last year, it has some good boys available and has already gotten in three weeks' practice.

The Fulton Bulldogs will play their first game September 4th against Russellville, there; the '59 schedule includes ten games in all. Season tickets are now being sold by students.

South Fulton Coach Phillips, a newcomer to the twin cities, has had the Red Devil squad practicing for four weeks and reported that the group is "shaping up pretty good". Twenty-five are out for practice, including most of last year's line. All of the '58 backfield was lost by graduation but Phillips stated that he has a number of "good-sized" boys out.

Phillips, a native of Florida, played at Murray State. South Fulton season tickets are also now on sale, and the first game will be against Ridgely, Tenn., here, on September 4th.

Backfield Coach Miller of Murray State pinch-hit for Coach Jim Cullivan of MSC, a ex-Fulton coach who is still popular locally. Miller, a member of the Michigan State team that went to the Rose Bowl, stated that the Murray squad was full of determination to give a good accounting of themselves, although they were weak in several positions and didn't have the strength in depth that many of their forthcoming opponents had. He mentioned Bobby Toon, former Fulton Bulldog star who returns to the MSC squad as a star halfback, as one of the squad's better hopes for a good season.

Postage Stamp To Be Issued Honoring Soil Conservation

The Post Office Department is issuing a stamp honoring the Soil Conservation. The stamp, an attractive four cent issue in red, green and blue, will be released for purchase on Thursday, Aug. 27, according to Charles Wright, chairman of the Fulton County Soil Conservation District.

This is the first time the Soil Conservation has been honored in this manner.

A number of local merchants plan to buy enough of these stamps to use on their September correspondence.

Besides Mr. Wright, other Fulton County conservation board members are Avery Hancock, Clint Workman, Joe Barnett, and Robert M. Adams.

Other conservationists in the ## Thoughts About Turning On The Spirit Valve...

By Don Wright

A few nights ago if you listened perhaps you heard the sounds of struggle coming from near the railroad tracks at the western edge of town. Battle cries, sounds of impact as strength was pitted against strength, mind against mind, but this was no war—no gun man's duel—no TV western thriller tuned a bit too loud. . . .nope—just the Fulton High School's football team limbering up for the approaching season.

Since I live somewhere near by I heard them and before I knew it was sitting in the stands. The team looked pretty good. . . . Joe "Slippy" Bennett had the con and was quarterbacking the boys nicely. "Bull" Andrews, at fullback was living up to his nickname and Bill Burnette plus Jerry House added the finishing touches necessary for a deceptive as well as hard hitting backfield. Up in the line mid a tangle of arms and legs,

I was able to pick out at least some of the home team's congregation. Roy Morrow, Tommy Bowden and Tommy Fields seemed to be holding down the end positions while Kenneth Allen centered the ball. Merrell Davis along with Jimmy Chestman manned the tackle spots (rather fully I might add) and Mike Callihan and running-mate Duncan Bushart took care of guard.

Most of the fellows looked a little small but made up the difference in hustle. Anyway they took care nicely of the opposition. Hal Warren and Lynn Newton looked good at rookie half back posts. In fact all of the fellows seemed quite eager—which is most important to the winning ball team. . . . But what makes a winning ball Club.

With Fulton's team being small which is really nothing unusual, there remain several avenues open which will enable a good team to be great. First of all for any group to function to the ultimate of its capacity, it must cease to be just a "group" and become a team.

How much this word "team" implies. Every member working, constantly striving to do his best and carry as much of the load as he can. On a football team it is particularly important that each player knows exactly what he is expected to do on every play and be fully capable and confident that he is just the fellow to carry it out. On a good team there are no "stars". Just 11 men working as one. To the people in the stands who become accustomed to merely following the ball in the hands of the backs, it perhaps seem that all the glory in the runner's hands. Well this is about as far from the truth as one can get. Any thinking halfback can tell you that the best friends he has on the field are the fellows up in front in the line. The guards and tackles are the real work horses; they can make the game child's play for the back field or they can send the ball carrier home on a stretcher.

But playing together is just one phase of the ingredients necessary for this "great" team I've been talking about. Another factor equally, if not more important is spirit. Now then, how does a team get spirit? It can't be put on with the uniform and taken off the same way. It doesn't just happen. Spirit is actually built. It is manufactured in the dressing room before or after practice, you'll find it where ever the team is mentioned, look for it down on Lake Street, or even at the golf course. It is being built by fans most everywhere.

This is where you fans come in. And believe me you have just about the most important part of all. For when the going gets rough often just that one word of encouragement, a clenched fist and "listen here, you can do it" will find a big change in the scoreboard and the amount of enjoyment that players and fans alike gain from the game. I have one particular team in mind that really goes all out for spirit. For example, when they are behind no one on the side lines or in the stadium sits down. It's everybody up till the team is up. That team is small to most everyone they play outweighs them, but nobody out-yells them.

So here's the way the situation has developed as it appears from this side, Fulton has a tremendous coaching staff, the boys are out there, the schedule has been made, the season approaches—all we need now is to get the spirit machinery turning. To do this we need to open the SPIRIT VALVE. Don't worry about overloading the equipment, for the more you open the valve the better the plant runs.

The things that happen to our children are not unusual, I am sure. And I am sure they happen to most everybody who has a Boy Scout that's almost twelve years old. Yet, I cannot help but be amazed at some of the interesting things that happen around our household, where that boy is concerned.

I have always heard that boys, if possible, can carry more impediments in their pockets than a woman carries in her purse. But the other morning I silently awarded the all-time, all-time top award to R. Paul, not only for carrying more trivia in his pockets, but SLEEPING WITH IT.

Sunday morning, after I had fixed a good-big breakfast for the family, I went upstairs to tidy up the bedrooms and when I came to R. Paul's bed, I almost had to spend the rest of the morning. It was fantastic, startling, and frightening. That boy can surely be a circus attraction, for if he can sleep as soundly as he does, with as many bumps and lumps under his roly-poly anatomy, then he can easily sleep on a mattress of nails and wake up feeling fine.

I turned back the covers on the bed to straighten the bottom sheet and there I stopped. I got a pad

Nationwide Industrial Trend Away From Cities

Although the northern States may scream that TVA is doing it, the current migration of manufacturers to smaller cities of the South is probably being caused by an entirely different reason, according to a study recently compiled by the New York Times.

The TIMES study quotes Leonard C. Yaseen, senior partner in the Pantus Factory Locating Service of New York and Chicago and an expert in plant location, who points to the costs of doing business in the large cities with those of the smaller areas as the principal reason why industry is moving out of metropolitan centers. Says Mr. Yaseen:

"A corporation employing 500 production workers in New York City, doing a nationwide volume of $6,000,000 a year, would operate in New York under a severe economic penalty.

"Cost of inbound and out-bound transportation, labor, fringe benefits plant overhead, utilities and taxes might well be $1,000,000 higher than at some other location."

He estimated that a factory of 500 to 750 workers would have to pay almost twice as much for electric power in New York City as it would in many smaller communities.

Employer contributions for workmen's compensation and unemployment insurance also ran double those prevailing elsewhere, he added.

Yaseen said that the most marked result of the battle between the big and little cities for factories was the extent to which large companies had moved out of the New York area.

He said that in New York only 16 manufacturing companies remained that employed more than 1,000 workers. Twenty years ago the total was twice as large.

He predicted that within the next decade the total would continue to shrink until only big bakeries and breweries were left in the thousand-employee class.

Most of the manufacturing cities in the East and Midwest have been losing jobs in the past decade, despite an over-all national gain in factory employment of more than 1,000,000.

Federal figures showed that factory employment in New York City had dropped from an average of 994,600 in 1950 to 930,000 in April of this year. The decline of 63,700 in the number of job-holders was equal to 6.4 per cent.

In the same period Detroit's factory population dropped 116,700 or 18.6 per cent; Providence 29,600 or 19.3 per cent; the Newark-Jersey City area, 20,100, or 5.8 per cent; Albany-Schenectady-Troy, 17,300, or 22.5 per cent, and Pittsburgh, 13,700, or 4.1 per cent.

West Coast communities, including major cities, recorded striking gains in the same period. The number of factory jobs in Los Angeles rose 342,000 to 764,000—an increase of 81 per cent.

Seattle had an increase of 55,200 jobs, or 92.9 per cent, and the San Francisco-Oakland area picked up 30,900, or 18.7 per cent.

The most spectacular rises were registered in San Diego, where the number went up from 24,700 to 71,900, or 191 per cent, and in San Jose, up from 21,300 to 53,500, or 152 per cent.

Even allowing for the gains in West Coast metropolitan centers, Yaseen points out that 94 per cent of all new post-war plants have been built in areas with less than 50,000 population.

Translated into realistic thinking for the twin-cities area, this report means that we are probably constantly under surveillance as a possible location for new industry and we must keep ourselves both attractive and receptive for prospects.

In conclusion, we would like to add a thought that is related to the subject: If it were not for the Fulton-South Fulton Chamber of Commerce, neither city would have an agency whose job it is to go out; investigate industrial prospects, arrange for their visit and provide them with all the data that they need. In other words, the local Chamber of Commerce IS the official industrial spokesman for the twin cities and to it should go most of the credit for having what we have. It is the association formed by the businessmen of the community to work for the community. It works long and hard to attempt to make the communities amount to something.

FROM THE FILES—

Turning Back The Clock—

Aug. 27, 1939

The Fulton City Schools will open Monday, Sept. 11, with enrollment beginning at 1 p. m. The high school building and Carr Institute have undergone many repairs during the summer months, janitors have been cleaning all buildings this week.

The September term of the Fulton County Circuit Court will open Sept. 18 in Hickman and after one week will be continued over to Fulton for one week, then back to Hickman for the third week, it was announced by Justin Attebery, circuit court clerk this week.

Miss Thelma Flippo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Flippo of this city, is now sales lady at Fry's Shoe Store. She is well known here, and has had several years experience in shoe stores at Paris, Dyersburg and in Fulton. She invites all her old friends and customers to visit her.

Early football practice of Fulton High School's squad is now underway, with Coach Jack Carter in charge of the drills. Many of last season's lettermen will return this year.

Miss Florence Lee Pickle returned to her home in Henderson, Ky., Monday after a visit with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Lon Pickle, on Smith Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pickering and daughters, Margaret and Elizabeth, of Memphis, Tenn., who are visiting relatives here, spent several days this week in Chicago.

Mrs. Johnny Cooke underwent a tonsil operation Monday morning in Dr. Seldon Cohn's office.

Mrs. R. P. Felkner and little son, Ronnie, left Monday for Scott City, Kansas, after a two weeks' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Boyd on Fourth Street. They were called home because of the serious illness of Mr. Felkner.

Those two men (from Paducah), who came seeking information about a flying saucer story released about seven years ago, were confused, it seems. Since their visit here, in which they failed to locate me, I have received a postcard from one. They were seeking information on a story released about a flying saucer landing in the front yard at Cayce several years ago. The writer said the family was terrified.

That was some other story, not mine, and they must have had in mind a story released up in the eastern part of the state. If a flying saucer ever landed at Cayce, I never heard about it.

Shirley and Ralph Puckett returned to Fulton last Wednesday afternoon and report a wonderful vacation in Florida. As you know, Shirley was Centennial Queen in July and won a trip for two to Miami Beach. They stayed at a beautiful new hotel there and everything was fine, except the weather. It rained part of each day. The local couple made the trip by car and saw lots of sights to and from Florida. They said everything was paid for except the parking lot fee at the hotel.

Shirley is beginning her teaching duties at South Fulton School and Ralph is getting ready to return to Murray State College, where he is a student.

Shirley and Ralph report a wonderful time, but said it was good to be back home.

Wilson Wyatt, Democratic candidate for Lieutenant Governor, was by the office Thursday morning, after being interviewed over WFUL by Jo. He's an awfully friendly and interesting person. We enjoyed his short visit very much.

Miss Nancy Adams, talented vocalist of Fulton, again this year was featured on "Stars of Today and Tomorrow", a musical production staged Tuesday night, Aug. 25, at Overton Park Shell in Memphis.

Miss Adams is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tillman Adams of Fulton and a student at Murray State College.

Accompanying Miss Adams was her three-piece Combo from Murray State. John Arnn was at the piano, Bob Singletary on the bass and Chuck Simons on the drums.

The group appeared on WREC-TV, Memphis, the next morning, Wednesday, Aug. 26, from 7 to 8 o'clock.

The local girl, who won fame on Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts program a few years ago, has finished recording a number of records for the Pepper Record Company in Memphis and will have a release within a month.

Beecher Finch has been employed as a teacher at South Fulton High School, where he will teach Latin and Junior English.

Mr. Finch has been teaching for the past twenty-five years. He has been five and sixth grade teacher at Chestnut Glade for the past nineteen years.

Mr. Finch is the father of our friend, Miss Mary Finch, a student at UTMB, who works summers at the Park Terrace.

The Sams family held a reunion at Columbus Park Sunday, Aug. 23. This is an annual affair and is always enjoyed very much by all attending.

Was chatting with Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Thacker Saturday evening and they told of a most unusual and beautiful spot near Wingo. The place belongs to a Mr. Holmes, who has turned his farm into a showplace and wants everyone to come out to see him, bring a picnic lunch and enjoy themselves. You can use his place free of charge.

There are three big lakes, many beautiful flowers, picnic tables and chairs, and big flood lights, so you can picnic in the evening, if you choose.

Mr. Holmes loves people and he would like to have everyone visit his place.

You can reach his farm by driving up Highway 45 to Wingo. Then, you drive down through the main part of town—and where the highway turns right, you turn left and go about a mile and a half.

Mr. and Mrs. Thacker were high in their praise of the place, and said that they found Mr. Holmes to be a very charming person.

Linda Thorpe, Pat Dowdy, Linda Rogers and Jenny Lou Hardy, all of South Fulton, attended the 4-H Roundup at the University of Tennessee last week.

Joe Weeks, steno-typist at the News office, is on vacation this week and is spending his time attending ballgames in St. Louis.

The Lions Club was entertained Friday at their luncheon meeting at the Park Terrace, when Mr. Robert Lamb showed some interesting movies he took during Centennial Week. Jim Huffine had charge of the program.

Visiting in Fulton last weekend were Mrs. Fred Khourie and children of Cairo. They were guests of her mother, Mrs. Alec Khourie and family.

We are so sorry to hear that Mr. Ira Puckett of Detroit, brother of Mr. Carl Puckett of Fulton is critically ill. Mrs. Carl Puckett and Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Puckett left Monday for Detroit to attend the bedside of Mr. Ira. Mr. Carl plans to go to Detroit one day this week.

We were so glad to see Otha Linton of Chicago, when he stopped by the office Monday afternoon for a brief visit. He and his wife are the guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Linton.

Dear Jo,

Will drop you a few lines to renew my subscription for three years at the old rate of $6.50, if I am not too late. I have been sick and didn't sent it. I hope I am not too late, then I'll be paid up until October 1, 1962.

I do love my home paper and can't wait until Saturday, that is the day I receive it. So if I am too late you can return my check.

Hope I am not. So God bless you and keep you. With love to all.

Fails In Attempt To Close Station Where Casey Died

The Illinois Central Railroad has failed in an attempt to close its station at the spot where Casey Jones cannon-balled his express into a freight.

The Mississippi Public Service Commission has refused to grant the railroad's petition to close its agency there. A state marker there tells of the famed crash at Vaughn in which Jones died when he refused to leave his engine cab as his train roared down on the stalled freight.

Casey formerly lived at Cayce, Ky., near Fulton.

Can you afford feather bedding?

It's a question that concerns you. The cost of transportation is included in the price of everything you buy, and featherbedding increases these costs.

What is featherbedding? It's money paid under old-fashioned, outmoded working rules that require us to hire unneeded workers or arbitrarily limit a worker's output. For example: an engineer may collect a full day's pay for working three hours because the rules say running a train 100 miles is a full day's work. Beside this engineer sits a fireman. Time was when he shoveled coal and tended the boiler. Today he does neither.

Outmoded rules cost the American railroads half a billion dollars a year. And that puts a dent in every family budget.

Featherbedding hurts not only you, but most railroad workers. The cost of outmoded rules, plus over-regulation and government discrimination, have lost the railroads a vast volume of traffic and reduced the number of railroad jobs.

The Illinois Central is trying to cut costs, improve service and increase its volume of business. If we are to succeed, outmoded work rules must go: they are costly to you, costly to us, costly even to those they are intended to benefit.

Bible And Science—Conflict?

By Rev. Neil J. McEleney,
C. S. P., Professor of Sacred Scripture,
St. Paul's College, Washington,
D. C.

HAVE you ever compared an apple to an orange? What's that you say? There's no basis for comparison? You're right, of course—but not entirely. Apples and oranges do have a lot in common. Still, you'd do better to judge apples by apples and oranges by oranges.

Now what has all this to do with our subject? Just this. Some people expect the Bible to be a scientific textbook. When they find something in it which is not written in the precise language of the scientist, they think it ridiculous. They do not understand that to make the Bible a scientific textbook is like seeing the apple as an orange.

FOR EXAMPLE, Genesis pictures the creation of light before that of the sun. But astronomy tells us it was the other way around, because our daylight comes from the sun. Is there a conflict here? No, the first chapter of Genesis was never meant to tell us how the world was created, but simply that it was created, and by God. So to oppose Genesis and astronomy is to misunderstand the message of Genesis. It is like saying the apple is no good, because it is not an orange.

The biblical author teaches us whatever God inspires him to teach, and this can include scientific truth. But he is not a twentieth-century scientist, and his interest is primarily religious. Where the Bible and science overlap, the sacred writer often is not concerned with relating the matter in the manner of modern science. It is too much to expect him to do so.

DOES this mean we have two sets of truths at odds with one another, one biblical and the other scientific? No! It is one thing to say, as we have, that the Bible is not a scientific textbook. It is something else again to say that its teachings contradict the truths which man's scientific research has uncovered.

This takes us back again to the apple and orange. The apple and orange differ in taste, color, and shape. But they are both food. Both contribute to our well-being, each in its own way.

SCIENCE has helped us to understand the Bible better. The Bible, in its turn, helps us to direct our lives and use correctly the knowledge we receive through scientific investigation. Rightly understood, they work together. The Bible and science—conflict? Definitely not!

The biggest reward for a thing well done is to have done it.

Just Who is Featherbedding?

Facts about Railroads and their Employees

Along the 6500 miles of railroad track known as the Illinois Central, live thousands of families; employees of the Illinois Central. We own our homes, attend church, buy groceries, clothing, drugs, gasoline, furniture and accessories for our homes from you who are not directly connected with the railroad.

We, too, play an important role in our community affairs. We pay our taxes; we advocate better schools, clean government and other civic improvements that will afford everyone a better place in which to live.

Railroad employees have a notable heritage. We are proud of it, and would like to share with you some of our achievements and problems.

Railroad employees have the finest productivity record of any group of employees in the entire nation. Employee efficiency is at an all-time peak. This record of productivity is partly due to technological advances. New machines have furloughed thousands of maintenance of way employees. The consolidation of jobs, and the use of modern office equipment, have furloughed thousands of clerks in the railroad industry.

With the advent of the diesel locomotive, other thousands were laid off. Many railroad shops were closed completely; while others are being operated with skeleton forces. Likewise, operating employees lost thousands of jobs; in many instances, more than 50%.

An engineer now operates as many as four, or more, locomotives, and the fireman is responsible for the production of power in the same number of locomotives. The fireman is as important on a modern railroad locomotive as a co-pilot aboard a sleek commercial airliner.

In the days of steam engines, 100 cars were considered a big train; today, 200 cars are not uncommon, and the same conductor, flagman and brakeman are responsible for the safe and efficient operation thereof.

From 1956 to 1959 the railroads laid off more than 230,000 employees; and Railroad management has no intention of calling them back to railroad service in any proportion to the upsurge in business activity.

What does this mean to the Railroads?

The Railroads' are enjoying one of the highest levels of net income in their history. In the last four months of 1958 the railroads' rate of earning was better than $1 billion a year in net operating profits. Think of it; that's at an average rate of approximately $3,000,000 daily. In addition to fabulous profits, 190 new officials were added on the railroads between 1955 and 1957. The Boston and Maine Railroad increased the salary of its president from $25,000 to $75,000 a year between 1955 and 1957. President H. A. DeButts of the Southern Railroad drew a salary of $129,350 in 1957. The 58 top officials of the Southern Railroad received earnings of $1,667,510 in 1957.

In spite of fabulous profits, and salaries being paid railroad officials, the railroads' management has seen fit to launch a multi-million dollar propaganda campaign attempting to picture all railroad workers as "feather-bedders" and over-paid incompetents. This reckless campaign of distorted facts by railroad management, is unparalleled in the history of employer-employee relations. Railroad management spokesmen are openly threatening a lockout of railroad workers if they - and the public - do not surrender to rail management's demands for changes in the working rules of the operating employees.

Train and engine service employees, according to the Interstate Commerce Commission, get paid an average of only $2.38 an hour, certainly a low rate of pay for skilled workers in this day and age. Every class of railroad employees need a substantial raise in wages in order to make them comparable to wages in other industries.

There are some outmoded work rules and conditions which should go.

- (1) Railroad employees generally, do not receive a differential in pay between day and night work. This is an outmoded condition which should go.
- (2) Railroad employees are not granted sick leaves. This is an outmoded condition which should go.
- (3) Train service employees many times work as long as 14 hours without overtime pay. This is an outmoded rule which should go.
- (4) Many railroad employees receive no expenses while away from home. This is an outmoded condition which should go.
- (5) Operating employees work Saturdays, Sundays and holidays for straight time wages. This is an outmoded rule which should go.

If every demand of the railroads were granted, it would not save the public one penny in the cost of railroad freight and passenger transportation. It would simply mean bigger profits, and fatter salaries to railroad officials. The only way by which the public will realize a saving in the cost of transportation is for the railroads to reduce rates. Let us look, for one moment, at the record. During the last 10 years, the railroads have laid off hundreds of thousands of employees; they have consolidated facilities and slaughtered passenger train service; all resulting in millions of dollars saved by the railroads. These savings were not passed on to the public; most of it went for bigger profits, bigger dividends and bigger salaries for railroad officials.

Railroads are not satisfied with their present fabulous profits; they are endeavoring to enter the mass transportation field. They want the right to transport freight by rails, highways, airways and waterways. This would tend to give them a monopoly in the transportation field.

We are beginning to wonder, just who is "featherbedding".

Listen to what President Von Willer of the Erie Railroad told an ICC rate case hearing in Kansas City, Mo., on November 26, 1956:

"In my opinion, Mr. Burchmore, the so-called featherbedding of railroad wages has been greatly exaggerated by railroad executives. There is very little so-called featherbedding."

Railroad employees do know one thing, i.e., if the railroads are permitted to get away with their vicious scheme, many more thousands will be laid off, and the public will pay for unsafe and inefficient rail transportation.

We believe the American people are too smart to be hoodwinked into believing the propaganda being splashed across the pages of our daily papers by the railroad magnates of our nation. Ask a railroad employee for the facts. He is probably your next door neighbor.

Diary of Doin's

(Items gathered along Fulton's merryway for your pleasure and your scrapbook)

This diarist sat across the table from vivacious Pamela Homra at a breakfast for Beverly Hill the other morning and we're amused at her conversation every time we think of it. Pam was sitting in a nest of golfers and the young lady was as gracious and courteous as she could be as she listened to the tee-talk. When the conversation lulled Pam remarked with real interest and said: "What else do golfers talk about except golf?" That brought a good laugh and she elaborated, using as her subject and prime example Monira Homra who has been playing golf for 10 these many years.

Pam couldn't understand why golfers rarely ever make the score they really should have. Pam wants to know how come golfers always say, "I shoulda had a six on that hole, but I three putted." If I hadna gotten in the rough I woulda had . . .

That's a mighty good question Pam. Why not get some of the inveterate golfers to tell you all about it. Surely we can't. On the few occasions we've played in the past few years, that's exactly what our conversation consisted of, too!

But the talk has been all golf these past few weeks as some mighty torrid golf matches have been played out Country Club way. And the upsets have been great and the competition keen. And the laughs many.

That match between Ruby McDade and Maree Bushart will be a conversation piece for a long time. Ruby and Maree had to play 20 holes of golf to decide the winner and by the time the decision was made neither of them cared at all. They were so pooped that nary a muscle could move and if they had had to play just a few more strokes each would have forfeited to the other.

And then the match between Betty Vowell and Margaret Ann Newton was one of those things you read about. Both gals were playing superb golf the day they competed and if the scores were kept they would have been par or better. But while they were both "on" their game, obviously Betty was "onner" because she ended the match on the eleventh hole.

In the men's division the play has been super-duper. Don't know much about 'em though. You just gotta keep up with those things to be a golf writer, and we just don't fill the bill, period.

And while on the subject of that breakfast the other morning we noted that time is marching, but on. Hostesses were Ethel McDaniel, Margaret Homra, Josephine Omar and Jane Edwards. And three of the hostesses had their young lady daughters as guests and it was more than we could take when we saw how "grown" they were and it seemed like only yesterday that all of us were bidding for the services of the same baby-sitter. Pam, we told you, engaged in the golf conversation and she's such a gay young lass; "little" Jane Edwards entertained the guests with some wonderful music at the Hammond organ (and she's never had a lesson, but she plays piano beautifully) and Margaret Omar was as gracious as a graduate of a finishing school as she helped the grown-ups greet and entertain the guests.

The lovely wedding Sunday afternoon, when Betty Gregory became the bride of Charles Binford brought the popular Bob Binford family to Fulton from Birmingham. Bob and Susie and their pretty young ladies Fall and Jane visited with Mrs. J. E. Fall for the final gaily before the wedding and now Mrs. Fall has gone with them for a nice visit in their home. She'll have fun, because the Binford family is mighty popular in Birmingham and Mrs. Fall will enjoy meeting all their friends again.

The arrival of house guests is always an eagerly anticipated event in whatever households they are privileged to visit. But the arrival of no house guests will ever be more welcome than when (Edith (Wood) and John Payne and three children drove into Fulton after a leisurely trip from Fairbanks, Alaska. You see, Edith and John and three children wrote her mother, Mrs. Mary Wood, that they were going to drive home in a care-free way, stopping at points of interest along the way, and would arrive in Fulton when they got here. Well, the Payne family wrote Mary a letter from a point in Montana and told her that they were going to spend a night or two in Yellowstone Park, where they would park their car and trailer in one of the scenic spots in the park and enjoy nature's great beauty.

And as you well know that from the time they left their destination in Montana to go to Yellowstone the horrible tragedy of the earthquake occurred and Mary heard not a word from them all during the big news of the tragedy. Moreover, news reports said that several cars and trailers were sucked in by the quake and rescue parties were unable to make any identification of the cars and trailers or their occupants.

Mary had a justifiable fear in the gnawing anxiety she witnessed when she had had no word from her family since the tragedy. We helped what little we could by calling the UP bureau in Louisville to check on the rescue work, but like our UP man, we knew it was a difficult task.

But the story has a happy ending. Edith, John and three children came in this week and told the story. They had indeed gone to Yellowstone . . . stayed at a motel, and left there at 6:30 p. m. on the night the earthquake occurred at eleven p. m. Welcome, but welcome home, Edith, John and young 'uns.

And now for news from the party line since we last talked with you . . . Betty Gregory (now Mrs. Charles Binford) and Beverly Hill (soon to be Mrs. David Craig) were honored at a sumptuous luncheon at the Guy Hale home in Hickman when Mrs. Hale and Linda were the charming hostesses . . . then Beverly was the inspiration for an afternoon party at the Bill Hinkle home when Mrs. Hinkle and Mrs. J. U. McKendree were the hostesses . . . Betty and Beverly again shared honors at still another luncheon when Ann Holland, Montez Baird, Cordella Fields and Leonora Bushart served a delicious two-course luncheon to a lovely array of guests and honorees . . . and then we told you earlier about the delicious breakfast (country ham, home-made biscuits, eggs scrambled to a fare-the-well) that four thoughtful hostesses served up on Monday morning . . . and Beverly and an entourage of guests motors to beautiful Kenlake Hotel today (Thursday) when two former Fulton hostesses, Elizabeth McDade and Inez Johnson, serve luncheon with a view of the beautiful lake in the background.

And here and there . . . the Maxwell McDades had charming houseguests the past week-end when Mr. and Mrs. Bob Francis of Prestonsburg visited them . . . The Francis and the McDade were classmates at Kentucky Military Academy so the families had a lot of catching up to do . . . Thomas Callahan and son Skipper arrived over the week-end to visit with his mother, Mrs. L. T. Howard and his many other "kin folks" around town . . . Wilda and the rest of the family didn't come . . . reason: daughter Carol is going to Florida Southern this year and that takes plenty of doing . . . Mary and Gilson Latta had a house full of gay young blades over the week-end when Frankie Butterfield of Orlando, Florida spent the night here three of his fraternity brothers en route to a fraternity meeting in Indiana.

Climaxing the series of lovely parties honoring Miss Betty Gregory and Charles Binford, whose marriage was solemnized on Sunday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Ward Johnson, Mrs. Mildred Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Binford, and Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey Binford, were host at a most attractive rehearsal dinner on Saturday evening preceding the rehearsal at the First Baptist Church.

At the dinner the honorees presented their attendants with attractive gifts. The guest list included the honorees, their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gregory and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Binford, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Gregory, Rev. and Mrs. John D. Latta, Miss Mary Ann Hill, Miss Carolyn Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wade Andrews, Miss Paula DeMyer, Miss Beverly Hill, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Snow, Linda, Janet and Jack Snow, Jr., Mrs. Charles W. Binford, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cannon and Mary Jane Cannon, Miss Jane Lee Ray, Miss Kathy Ruth Lane, Mr. and Mrs. J. U. McKendree, Mrs. Henry Ford, Gaylon Varden, Max McDade, Joe Johnson, Wayne Anderson, Bob Anderson, Al Bushart, Robert White, Jr. Delbert Wood, Bailey Binford, and the hosts.

See you next week.

Miss Beverly Hill Is Revealing Plans For Wedding September 5

By Agatha Voelpel

Miss Beverly Joyce Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Henry Hill, whose engagement to David Carlston Craig, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Ray Craig of Falmouth, Kentucky, was recently announced, is today revealing the completed plans for her wedding. The double-ring ceremony will be solemnized at the First Methodist Church at five-thirty o'clock on the afternoon of Saturday, the fifth of September, nineteen hundred and fifty-nine. The Reverend John David Latta, pastor of the First Baptist Church will officiate.

A program of nuptial music will be presented by Mrs. J. U. McKendree, organist, and Miss Alice Broadbent, soprano soloist, of Cadiz, Kentucky.

Mr. Hill will give his daughter in marriage. The bride-elect has chosen Miss Judith Mayo Pennebaker of Cookeville, Tennessee as her maid-of-honor. Her matron-of-honor will be Mrs. Donald Heine of Sturgis, Kentucky. The bridesmaids will be Miss Marian Elizabeth Herren, cousin of the bride, of Florence, Alabama, Miss Marilyn Kay Cherry, Miss Jean Ann Hyland, Miss Nancy Waterfield of Frankfort, Kentucky, Miss Diane Vittitow of Owensboro, Kentucky and Miss Judith Walker

Tabor of Naples, Florida.

Little Miss Janet Williamson and little Miss Leigh Schopfer of Memphis, Tennessee will be the flowergirls. Little Miss Beverly Renee Hill, niece of the bride, of Decatur, Alabama will be the ring-bearer.

Mr. Craig has chosen Thomas Miller of Falmouth, Kentucky as his best man. The groomsmen will be William Thomas Hill, brother of the bride, of Decatur, Alabama, Jonathan Craig, brother of the groom, of Falmouth, Kentucky, Jonathan Zacham of Greensburg, Kentucky, Donald Meadows of Erlanger, Kentucky, Herbert Wheeler of Lexington, Kentucky, Roger Laden Burger of Mayfield, Kentucky and Alfred Lee Bushart, of Fulton.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hill will entertain with a reception at the Fulton Country Club. ## Miss Betty Sue Gregory Becomes Bride Of Charles Wilburn Binford

In one of the loveliest of the many weddings of the season Miss Betty Sue Gregory, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hart Gregory, became the bride of Charles Wilburn Binford son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Addison Binford on Sunday afternoon the twenty third of August, nineteen hundred and fifty nine at four o'clock. The impressive double ring ceremony was solemnized at the First Baptist Church with the pastor of the church, the Reverend John David Laida, officiating in the presence of a large assembly of friends and relatives of the young couple and their parents.

As the guests assembled Mrs. J. U. McKendree, organist, gave a program of nuptial music.

The traditional wedding marches by Wagner and Mendelssohn were played for the processional and the recessional. "Oh Perfect Love" was also played during the ceremony.

The lovely young bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She wore a handsome formal wedding gown of imported French Rosepoint lace in a rich ivory shade made over ivory slipper satin. The moulded bodice had a deep portrait neckline featuring the design of the lace. This was joined to a yoke of ivory illusion. The long fitted sleeves extended in points at her hands.

The voluminous lace skirt was accented pleated and was applied to the satin to form a redingote panel in the front. The lace and the satin skirts developed into fan shaped cathedral train. Her triple tiered illusion veil was of ivory illusion which was hand rolled and was applied with lace motifs. There was a short face veil. The veil fell from a crown of ivory pearls. She wore pearl jewelry, a gift of the groom, and her wedding bouquet was an ivory orchid poised on ivory satin leaves and sprays of ivory pearls. The flowers were placed on a white Bible and were tied with satin ribbons.

Miss Mary Ann Hill, cousin of the bride was the maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Carolyn Roberts, Mrs. Charles Wade Andrews, Miss Paula DeMyer, and Miss Jane Lee Ray. Miss Linda Snow, also a cousin of the bride, was the junior bridesmaid.

Little Miss Mary Jane Cannon, a cousin of the bride, was a charming flower girl.

The groom's brother, Bailey Binford, served him as best man. Groomsmen were William Porter Gregory, brother of the bride, Max McDade, Gaylon Varden and Charles Wade Andrews. Ushers were Godfrey Binford, Wayne Anderson and Joe Johnson, cousins of the groom, and Al Bushart, Robert H. White, Jr. and Delbert Wood.

Following the ceremony the bride's parents entertained with a reception in the Fellowship Hall of the church.

The register table, where the groom's paternal grandmother, Mrs. Charles W. Binford presided, was covered with a Maderia cloth and held a tall ornamental white candle which held a cluster of lilies of the valley and was encircled with a double tulle ruffle. A white wedding pen was placed in a heart shaped brass holder and was topped with a single white rose.

Assisting in receiving and serving the guests were Mrs. Guy Duley, Mrs. Henry Ford, Mrs. J. A. Harpole and Mrs. Don Hill, aunts of the bride, Mrs. Jack Snow and Mrs. Charles Cannon, cousins of the bride, and Miss Linda Hale, Miss Barbara Ann Boyd, Miss Ruth Caldwell, Miss Kathy Ruth Laney and Mrs. Jerry Phillips.

Early in the evening Mr. and Mrs. Binford left for their wedding trip after which they will make their home in Memphis, Tennessee where Mr. Binford is a senior at the College of Pharmacy of the University of Tennessee.

Included among the out-of-town guest at the wedding and reception were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wade Andrews, Mr. and Mrs. Don Hill, Miss Mary Ann Hill, Mrs. Henry Ford, Mrs. Charles H. Bowers, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Phillips and Miss Kathy Ruth Laney from Memphis, Tennessee, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Snow, Miss Linda Snow, Miss Janet Snow, Jack Snow, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schlavone from Louisville, Kentucky, Mr. and Mrs. Rube McKnight, Bon McKnight from Princeton, Kentucky, Mr. and Mrs. William Porter Gregory from Auburn, Alabama, Mr. and Mrs. Seldon Bugg from Clinton, Kentucky, Mr. and Mrs. R. ## Wool Producers To Vote In Referendum

Ballots for voting in the September referendum on the lamb and wool marketing development program are now being mailed to producers in Fulton County, Chairman Roy Bard of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee announced today.

The referendum will determine whether or not deductions will continue to be made from producer payments earned under the wool incentive program. Funds collected are used by the American Sheep Producers Council to carry out a program of advertising, promotion, and related activities under an agreement with the Secretary of Agriculture.

The agreement, which has been in effect since the 1955 marketing year, will be extended for three years if approved in the September Referendum. Producers having two-thirds of the volume of production represented in the referendum must approve if the agreement is to be extended.

THE WHITNEL FUNERAL HOME

OFFERS FACTS YOU SHOULD KNOW

You can buy funeral services in price ranges to fit your financial circumstances in any funeral home in this area. Therefore, choose your funeral director on any basis that you desire, with the assurance that the prices are reasonable. However, DO NOT BE MISLED into thinking that any certain funeral home is cheaper in prices... because all funeral directors in this area use approximately the same formula and policy in pricing funerals.

The funeral business is a SERVICE business which means that SERVICE is what any funeral home has to offer. Hence, you get the greatest value for your money where the service is outstanding.

We are equipped in every detail to give you courteous, efficient, and outstanding service. If you are interested in comparing prices, we invite comparisons. BUT DO NOT CHOOSE YOUR FUNERAL DIRECTOR ON THE BASIS OF CHEAPER PRICES. You may get cheaper service but NOT cheaper prices for that service. It costs no more to have outstanding service. The cost is a matter of your choice.

Telephone 88

408 Eddings Street, Fulton, Ky.

Off to the salt mine, Jim?

You sell clothes?

Yep. Gonna hit a few licks for some clothing stores.

Nope. But we sure buy 'em at my house. What I mean is —

It takes just 40 minutes' work out of my 8-hours to pay for my family's clothes. That make sense, Hank?

Working for the Electric Company 7 minutes a day

You like it?

I like any bill I can pay with just 7 minutes of a day's wages.

Forgive us for agreeing with Hank. But that does make sense. In an eight hour day the average man works 40 minutes to pay his clothing bills, and only 7 minutes to pay his electric bill. And considering what electricity does in your home that's mighty little, isn't it? The money you spend for electricity wouldn't go far toward clothing your family.

Living costs vary, of course, from family to family; but the income and outgo of Jim and Hank represent those of the average wage earner in the U.S.

NOTEBOOK

and pencil and recovering my composure and made notes right then and there to tell you what he had in his bed, and had been sleeping on them all night. Or perhaps he played all night, who knows. I say sleep, because he was thataway when I first got up.

Spread from the head of the bed to the foot of the bed were these things: A huge wad of red clay, (it made its footprints on the sands of sleep) a pocket-knife, three ball point pens (used obviously to write R. Paul all over the sheets) a wad of string, a battalion of little Army men in crouching, running, shooting, prostrate positions, and all their equipment what's more (tanks, artillery wagons, cannons, and machine guns), two little celluloid racing cars, a half dozen comic books, a canvas money bag from one of the banks, two memopads with celluloid covers and pencils to match, and a half eaten doughnut.

And I never did look UNDER THE BED.

The whole affair takes on an air of mystery. We have all host a ritual at our house of evenings. Dinner, relaxing, ice cream or sherbert about eight thirty and bed at nine for the children and me. There's reading before the lights go out when our eyelids droop and after that its just plain, monotonous, prosaic sleep until morning. Whenever he gets time to be bank president, Army General, artist, Barney Oldfield and stenographer is a mystery to me. I KNOW when he finds time to eat...that's all the time.

I know this sort of carrying on must be prevalent in many homes where there is a big, husky, imaginative boy. If it doesn't somebody tell me about it. Because its for sure that R. Paul is the subject for the "couch" department.
