WEEKLY NEW ERA.

ONE DOLLAR A YEAR.

HOPKINSVILLE, CHRISTIAN COUNTY, KENTUCKY, FRIDAY, JUNE 14, 1917

VOLUME XXVI, NO. 31

OUTLOOK IS GLOOMY WOULD BE FUNERAL

MAY CROPS BACKWARD AND GIVE LITTLE PROMISE.Cut Worms Get In Work and Cool
Weather Retards All Farm Work.

A gloomy outlook for crops of all kinds, is the tenor of the June report of the State Agricultural Department, issued by Commissioner Hubert Vreeland. Crops have been retarded by frost and cool, damp weather, and cut worms and army worms are reported as plentiful and doing great damage in some sections. Much of the corn land has not yet been planted and there are reports from many sections of shortage in tobacco plants and only a small percent of the crop planted.

The report follows:
"In our May report we started off by saying 'The month of April will long be remembered as the coldest and most unfavorable for crops and spring work for many years.' The same can be truthfully said of month of May. The oldest inhabitants claim they have never seen a spring so cold and the condition so unfavorable for work and growing crops. Damaging frosts as late as the 28th of May. Crops of are far behind, and in most cases anything but promising. And to add to the damage done by frosts and cool damp weather, the cut worms were never more plentiful and destructive, doing great damage to young corn, tobacco and garden truck. The army worms have also gotten in destructive work in a large part of the state. They first made their appearance in the western end of the state, and gradually showed up until many counties in the central part are affected by them. Old meadows, pastures and many wheat fields fell an easy prey to their ravages. In some localities corn fields and early planted tobacco were damaged by them. The low condition of meadows, pastures and clover is largely accounted for by these invaders."

"Much of the corn land has not yet been planted on account of too much cold and wet, and many fields of the early planted had to be planted over. The acreage compared with a five-year average is a little short, being 96. Condition is 77, which is fairly good considering the weather and worms."

"The acreage of wheat is 90 percent of a five-year average. Condition is 82, a falling off of seven points since our May report. The oat crop is a little short in acreage, and has fallen off in condition from 83 in May to 79 at this time. Rye is some better in acreage and condition. Hemp is 88 percent of a five-year average, and 90 in condition."

"There is a general complaint of a scarcity of tobacco plants and late-ness for being ready for transplanting. It looks now that it will be impossible to plant a full crop and much of that will be late. Only a small percent of the crop was planted June 1. This is applicable to both burley and dark."

"The scarcity and high price stock peas has cut the acreage of that crop. Apples only promise about a third of a crop and peaches nearly a failure. The berry crop promises a fair yield."

"Gardens are backward, and the cold weather gave tender vegetation quite a set back."

VISITED CROFTON

Ohio Man Has Disappeared And Police
Are Notified

The Louisville Times Says: "Chief of Police Gunther received a letter Saturday morning from the chief of police of Columbus, O., requesting the local department to institute a search in Louisville for Sommer Schoppert who has been missing for a week. Schoppert had been visiting friends in Crofton, Ky., but lately has been in ill health and last Friday started for Louisville. He was to have arrived at Columbus Monday by way of Cincinnati, but nothing has been heard or seen of him since he left Crofton."

IF HE FAILED TO CANCEL TOBACCO
CO CONTRACT.Several Men On Trial at Springfield Charged With being in Night Riders' Visit.

SPRINGFIELD, Tenn., June 13--There were some very interesting developments to-day in the trial of the cases in the circuit court against John R. Roney, Cave Benton, Sam Hornberger and Jim Cummins, who are charged with going armed and intimidation.

The facts in the case are that on the last Monday in October, 1906, the above named men, in company with some 100 other men, called upon Babe Simmons at about 10 o'clock at night at his residence in the Fifteenth Civil District, of this county, and according to the charges in the indictment, which was issued at the June term of court, 1906, called for him to come out, saying that they wished to see him. This he refused to do.

According to the testimony of Mr. Simmons, his wife and sister-in-law, the night riders came to their house and called for Mr. Simmons several times to come out, and upon his refusal to do so some of them suggested that they secure rails and batter down the door. Cooler heads intervened, however, and it was not done. Mr. Simmons testified that they called for his purchase book and contract with the Regie people, which he handed them through a window. After they handed them back to him he testified that he was told that he must cancel his contract on the next day, or it would not be long before there would be a funeral preached in his family. He was also, according to his testimony, told that his life and property were in danger. Mr. Simmons told them that it would be impossible for him to comply with their wishes the next day as he had important business to attend to, but he says that still they told him that he must do so or there would be a funeral.

Mrs. Simmons strongly corroborated the testimony of her husband. Mrs. Simmons had to stop several times while testifying to weep.

KENTUCKY TROOPS

WILL GO INTO CAMP AT JAMES-TOWN.

Final Arrangements Have Been Made by Adjutant General Lawrence.—
July the Month.

A despatch from Jamestown to the Courier-Journal conveys the following welcome news to the soldier boys of the state:

It now seems an assured fact that the Kentucky State Guards will encamp at the Jamestown Exposition during the month of July, as was originally intended.

The First Kentucky regiment, commanded by Col. W. B. Halderman, of Louisville, is expected to leave home on July 1, departing from the exposition on July 10. It will be succeeded by the Third regiment, under command of Col. J. H. Henry, of Hopkinsville. At the close of the 10 days the latter regiment will be succeeded in camp by the Second regiment, commanded by Col. Emory Allen, of Lexington.

This was the announcement made last night by Adj. Gen. Henry R. Lawrence, of Cadiz, who spent the day here at the direction of Gov. Beckham, and who was in constant conference with the exposition officials. Gen. Lawrence was accompanied by Col. Marvin Parrant, Assistant Adjutant General, of Frankfort, and Col. Arthur T. McCormack, Surgeon General, of Bowling Green.

Dr. McCormack made a close study of the sanitary situation and to-night made the recommendation to Gen. Lawrence that the company site here would, he believed, be in good condition by the time the Kentucky troops arrived. Several recommendations were made to the officials of the exposition regarding the improvement of the camp before the Kentucky troop would be brought here, and promises were made that the recommendations would be carried out to the letter.

The Kentuckians were entertained during their stay by Lieut. Coots, military secretary for the exposition. They were also guests at the camp of Virginia Military institute, which is here this week being entertained by Gen. Vaughan and Col. Dempsey.

Gen. Lawrence and party will return home today.

BEATRICE, Nev., June 13.—Frank Sutton, who formerly lived in Christian county, Kentucky, near Hopkinsville, was found dead in his barn here yesterday. He was a noted Western horseman, owning several horses of more than local reputation and a stock farm south of Beatrice. He was forty years of age and was unmarried.

ROAD BONDS SOLD

E. H. ROLLINS & SONS PAY A PREMIUM OF $7,750.Terms of the Sale Made It More Satisfactory Than the Bid Which Was Rejected.

The $100,000 worth of Christian county road bonds on which the bid of Gerald W. Peck representing N. W. Halsay & Co., of Chicago, was recently rejected on account of the bidders' insisting that the bonds be delivered and the money payable in Chicago or New York as they might select, were sold Wednesday privately to J. W. Esmond representing E. H. Rollins & Sons, of Chicago. Mr. Esmond took the bonds at $7,750 premium, this being the highest bid at the auction sale which conformed to the terms of sale which had been advertised.

Under the contract with the new purchasers of the bonds, the bonds are to be delivered in Hopkinsville and in the future when any are redeemed the transaction is also to take place here instead of Chicago or New York. This one feature in itself will more than make up the $175 decrease from the bid of Mr. Peck. The bonds are to be engraved in Chicago under the supervision of the purchasers, they not charging the county anything for their services in this regard. The bonds will be in denomination of $1,000 each and will be dated and begin bearing interest from July 1 at the rate of 5 percent per annum payable semi-annually. The bonds are to run for thirty years but the county has the right to redeem the entire issue or such part as may be desirable at the expiration of twenty years.

The sale of the bonds puts the road question on a solid basis and in much quicker time than was expected when the question was raised as to the right of the county to issue the bonds without holding another election. The fiscal court is now in position to go ahead with the work of letting contracts for the various pikes and it is very possible that they will take prompt action in this matter.

GOT OUT WARRANT

TO PLACE HER DAUGHTER IN REFORM SCHOOL

Last Monday Mrs. Alice Brown, who lives on First street, swore out a warrant for her sixteen year old daughter, Jessie, asking that she be sent to the school of reform as she had become very unfillial in her conduct towards her mother and was unmanageable.

The warrant was placed in the hands of Constable T. S. Winfree and he went out to serve it, the girl being reported as living temporarily on Durrett avenue. Before the officer located her, though, she and her sweetheart, Sam Rogers, accompanied by a woman, secured a surrey and left for Clarksville where the girl and boy were married. They returned to this city.

SENATOR MORGAN

DIES IN WASHINGTON OF ANGINA PECTORIS.

One of America's Best Known and Useful Statesmen.—Was Eighty-three Years Old.

WASHINGTON, June 12.—United States Senator John Tyler Morgan, of Alabama, for thirty years a member of the upper house of congress, chairman of the senate committee on inter-oceanic canals, and prominent as a brigadier-general in the Confederate army, died at his home last night at 11:15 o'clock.

Senator Morgan had been in bad health for a number of years, but had more or less regularly attended the sessions of congress. He suffered from angina pectoris, which was the cause of his death.

Mr. Morgan attended to his congressional duties at his home here until about a week ago. Since that time he had been confined to his house and to his bed. He was able, however, to sit up for a while yesterday and talk over some official matters with his secretary. He began falling during the evening, however, and the physicians were hurriedly summoned.

Mr. Morgan was a Democrat and was born in Athens, Tenn., June 20, 1824. His home in Alabama was at Selma, where the funeral will take place, the body probably being taken from here Thursday.

Mr. Morgan had held a number of important offices beside that of senator, including membership in the Hawaiian laws commission.

His chief active interest in the senate in recent years had been in connection with the Isthmian canal question. He was a persistent advocate of the Nicaragua route and made a number of notable speeches during his long but unsuccessful fight for the adoption of a Nicaraguan waterway. In the hearings on the canal question in committee and on the floor Mr. Morgan took an active part, despite his feeble strength.

Mr. Morgan was a familiar figure in this city, where he made his home for a long time at 315 John Marshall Place.

Monsieur Beaucaire

By BOOTH TARKINGTON, Author of "The Gentleman From Indiana" and "The Conquest of Canada."

Copyright, 1900, by McClure, Phillips & Co.

CHAPTER I.

THE young Frenchman did very well what he had planned to do. His guess that the duke would cheat proved good. As the unshod half dozen figures that had been standing noiselessly in the entryway stole softly into the shadows of the chamber he leaned across the table and smilingly plucked a card out of the big Englishman's sleeve.

"Merci, M. le Duc!" he laughed, rising and stepping back from the table.

The Englishman cried out, "It means the dirty work of silencing you with my bare hands!" and came at him.

"Do not move," said M. Beaucaire, so sharply that the other paused. "Observe behind you."

The Englishman turned and saw what trap he had blundered into, then stood transfixed, impotent, alternately scarlet with rage and white with the vital shame of discovery. M. Beaucaire remarked, indicating the silent figures by a polite wave of the hand, "Is it not a compliment to monsieur that I procure six large men to subdue him? They are quite devoted to me, and monsieur is alone. Could it be that he did not wish even his lackeys to know he play with the young Frenchman who Mestaire Nash does not like in the pomp room? Monsieur is unfortunate to have come on foot and alone to my apartment."

The duke's mouth foamed over with chaotic revilement. His captor smiled brightly and made a slight gesture, as one who brushes aside a boisterous insect. With the same motion he quelled to stony quiet a resentful impetus of his servants toward the Englishman.

"It's murder, is it, you carrion!" finished the duke.

M. Beaucaire lifted his shoulders in a mock shiver. "What words! No, no, no! No killing! A such word to a such host! No, no; not murder; only disgrace!" He laughed a clear, light laugh with a rising inflection, seeming to launch himself upon an adventurous quest for sympathy.

"You little devilish scullion!" spat out the duke.

"Tut, tut! But I forget. Monsieur has pursued his studies of deportment amongst his fellow countrymen."

"Do you dream a soul in Bath will take your word that I—that I?"

"That M. le Duc de Winterset had a card up his sleeve?"

"You pitiful stroller, you stable boy, born in a stable!"

"Is it not an honor to be born where monsieur must have been bred?"

"You scurvy footboy, you greasy barber, you cutthroat groom!"

"MERCI, M. LE DUC" HE LAUGHED.

"Overwhelm!" The young man bowed with imperturbable elation. "M. le Duc appoint me to all the office of his household."

"You mustachioed fool, there are not five people of quality in Bath will speak to you!"

"No, monsieur, not on the parade; but how many come to play with me here? Because I will play always, night or day, for what one will, for any long and al-ways fair, monsieur."

"You outrageous varlet! Every one knows you came to England as the French ambassador's barber. What man of fashion will listen to you? Who will believe you?"

"All people, monsieur. Do you think I have not calculate, that I shall make a failure of my little enterprise?"

"Bah!"

"Will monsieur not recast himself?" M. Beaucaire made a low bow. "So. We must not be too tire for Lady Malbourne's rout. Ha, ha! And you, Jean, Victor, and you others, retire. Go in the hallway. Attend at the entrance, Francois. So. Now we shall talk."

Monsieur, I wish you to think very cool. Then listen; I will be briefly. It is that I am well known to be all, entire, bones. Gambler? Ah, yes, true and most profitable, but fair—always fair. Every one say that. Is it not so? Think of it. And—there never a whisper come to M. le Duc that not all people belief him to play al-ways honest? Ha, ha! Did it almost be said to him his year, after when he play with M. le Duc at the chocolate house?"

"You dirty scandal monger!" the duke burst out. "Tut!"

"Monsieur, monsieur!" said the Frenchman. "It is a poor wick to insult a helpless captor. Can he resort upon his own victim? But it is for you to think of what I say. True, I am not recognize on the parade; that my friend's who come here do not present me to their ladies; that Mestaire Nash has rebuffed me in the pomp room. Still, am I not known for being honest and fair in my play, and will I not be belief, even I, when I lift my voice and charge you about with what is already whisper? Think of it! You are a noble, and there will be some hangings who might not fall away from you. Only such would be left to you. Do you want it to? And you can keep out of France, monsieur? I have left his service, but I have still the ear of M. de Mirepoix, and he know I never lie. Not a gentleman will play you when you come to Paris."

The Englishman's white lip showed a row of scarlet dots upon it. "How much do you want?" he said.

The room rang with the gay laughter of Beaucaire. "I hol' your note for seven hundred pound. You can have them, monsieur. Why does a such great man come to play M. Beaucaire? Because no one else willin' to play M. le Duc—he cannot pay. Ha, ha! So he come to good M. Beaucaire. Money—ha, ha! What I want with money?"

His grace of Winterset's features were set awry to a sinister pattern. He sat glaring at his companion in a snarling silence.

"Money? Puff!" snapped the little gambler. "No, no, no! It is that M. le Duc, impoverish, somewhat in a bad odor as he is, yet command the entree anywhere—unless I—Ha, ha! Eh, monsieur?"

"Ha! You dare think to force me?"

M. Beaucaire twirled the tip of his slender mustache around the end of his white forefinger. Then he said, "Monsieur and me goin' to Lady Malbourne's ball tonight—M. le Duc and me!"

The Englishman roared, "Curse your impudence!"

"Sit quiet. Oh, yes, that's all. We goin' together."

"No!"

"Certain. I make all my little plan. 'Tis all arrange." He paused and then said gravely, "You goin' present me to Lady Mary Carlisle."

The other laughed in utter scorn. "Lady Mary Carlisle, of all women alive, would be the first to prefer the devil to a man of no birth, barber."

"'Tis all arrange; have no fear. Nobody question monsieur's guest. You goin' take me tonight?"

"No!"

"Yes. And after—then I have the entree. Is it much I ask? This one little favor, and I never whisper, never breathe that—it is to say, I am always forever silent of monsieur's misfortune."

"You have the entree!" sneered the other. "Go to a lackeys' room and dance with the kitchen maids. If I would, I could not present you to Bath society. I should have cartels from the fathers, brothers, and lovers of every wench and madam in the place, even I. You would be thrust from Lady Malbourne's door five minutes after you entered it."

"No, no, no!"

"Half the gentlemen in Bath have been here to play. They would know you, wouldn't they, fool? You've had thousands out of Bantison, Rakell, Guilford and Townbrake. They would have you lashed by the grooms as your ugly deserts are. You to speak to Lady Mary Carlisle! 'Od's blood! You! Also, dolt, she would know you if you escaped the others. She stood within a yard of you when Nash expelled you the pump room."

M. Beaucaire flushed slightly. "You think I did not see?" he asked.

"Do you dream that because Winterset introduces a low fellow he will be tolerated—that Bath will receive a barber?"

"I have the distinction to call monsieur's attention," replied the young man gayly, "I have renounce that profession."

"Fool!"

"I am now a man of honor!"

"Fool!"

"A man of the parts," continued the young Frenchman, "and of deportment. Is it not so? Have you seen me of a fluster or gross ever or, what shall I say—bourgeois? Shall you be shame for your guest's manner? No, no! And my appearance, is it of the people? Clearly no. Do I not compare in taste of apparel with your young Englishman? Ha, ha! To be hope. Ha, ha! So I am goin' talk with Lady Mary Carlisle."

"Bah!" The duke made a savage burlesque. "Lady Mary Carlisle, may I assume the honor of presenting the barber of the Marquis de Mirepoix? So, is it?"

"No, monsieur," smiled the young man. "Quite not so. You shall have nothing to worry you, nothing in the world. I am goin' to assassinate my poor mustachio—also remove this horrible black peruke and emerge in my own hair. Behol!" He swept the heavy, curled mass from his head as he spoke, and his hair, coiled under the great wig, fell to his shoulders and sparkled yellow in the candle light. He tossed his head to shake the hair back from his cheeks. "When it is dress, I am transform. Nobody can know me. You shall observe. See how little I ask of you—how very little bit. No one shall recognize M. Beaucaire or 'Victor.' Ha, ha! 'Tis all arrange. You have nothing to fear."

"Curse you," said the duke, "do you think I'm going to be saddled with you wherever I go as long as you choose?"

"A mistake. No. All I requir—all I beg—is this one evening. 'Tis all shall be necessary. After, I shall not need monsieur."

"Take heed to yourself—after!" vouchsafed the Englishman between his teeth.

"Conquered!" cried M. Beaucaire and clapped his hands gleefully. "Conquered for the night! Aha, it is riznable! I shall meet what you send—after. One cannot hope too much of your patience. It is but natural you should attempt a little avengement for the rascal trap I was such a wicked fellow as to set for you. I shall meet some strange friend of yours after tonight. Not so? I must try to be not too much frightened." He looked at the duke curiously. "You want to know why I create this tragedy, why I am so unkind as to entrap monsieur?"

His grace of Winterset replied with a chill glance. A pulse in the nobleman's cheek beat less relentlessly. His eye raged not so bitterly. The steady purple of his own color was returning. His voice was less hoarse. He was regaining his habit. "Tis ever the manner of the vulgar," he observed, "to wish to be seen with people of fashion."

"Oh, no, no, no!" The Frenchman laughed. "Tis not that. Am I not already one of these 'men of fashion'? I lack only the reputation of birth. Monsieur is goin' supply that. Ha, ha! I shall be noble from tonight. 'Victor,' the artist, is engendrin' to death. His throat shall be cut with his own razor. 'M. Beaucaire'—Here the young man sprang to his feet, caught up the black wig, clapped into it a dice box from the table and hurried it violently through the open door. "'M. Beaucaire' shall be choke' with his own dice box. Who is the Phoenix to remain? What advantage have I not over other men of rank who are merely born to it? I may choose my own. No! Choose for me, monsieur. Shall I be chevalier, comte, vicomte, marquis—what? None. Out of compliment to monsieur can I wish to be anything he is not? No, no! I shall be M. le Duc, M. le Duc de Chateaurien. Ha, ha! You see? You are my confrere."

M. Beaucaire trod a dainty step or two, waving his hand politely to the duke, as though in invitation to join the celebration of his rank. The Englishman watched, his eye still and harsh, already gathering in craftiness. Beaucaire stopped suddenly. "But how I forget my age! I am twenty-three," he said, with a sigh. "I rejoice too much to be of the quality. It has been too great for me, and I had always belief myself free of such ambition. I thought it was enough to behold the opera without wishing to sing; but no, England have teach' me I have those vulgar desire. Monsieur, I am goin' tell you a secret. The ladies of your country are very different than ours. One may adore the demoiselle, one must worship the lady of England. Our ladies have the—it is the beauty of youth. Yours remain comely at thirty. Ours are flowers. Yours are stars! See, I betray myself, I am so poor a patriot. And there is one among these stars—ah, yes, there is one—the poor Frenchman has observe' from his humble distance. Even there he could bask in the glowing!" M. Beaucaire turned to the window and looked out into the dark. He did not see the lights of the town. When he turned again he had half forgotten his prisoner. Other pictures were before him.

"Ah, what radiance!" he cried. "Those people up over the sky, they want to show they wish the earth to be happy, so they smile and make this lady. Gold haired, an angel of heaven, and yet a Diana of the chase! I see her fly by me on her great horse one day. She touch his mane with her fingers. I buy that clipping from the groom. I have it here with my dear brother's picture. Ah, you! Oh, yes, you laugh! What do you know? 'Twas all I could get. But I have heard of the endeavor of M. le Duc to recoup his fortunes. This alliance shall fail. It is not the way—that heritage shall be safe' from him! It is you and me, monsieur! You can laugh! The war is open, and by me! There is one great step taken. Until tonight there was nothing for you to ruin. Tomorrow you have got a noble of France—your own protegee—to besiege and sack. And you are to lose, because you think such ruin easy and because you understand nothing—far less—of divinity. How could you know? You have not the fiber. The heart of a lady is a blank to you. You know nothing of the vibration. There are some words that were made only to tell of Lady Mary, for her alone—bellissima, divine, glorieuse! Ah, how I have watch' her! It is sad to me when I see her surround' by your young captains, your nobles, your rattles, your beaux—ha, ha!—and I mus' hol' far aloof. It is sad for me, but oh, jus' to watch her and to wonder! Strange it is, but I have almost cry out with rapture at a look I have see' her give another man, so beautiful it was, so tender, so dazzling of the eyes and so mirthful of the lips. Ah, divine coquetry! A look for another, ah-me, for many others! and even to you one day a rose, while I—I, monsieur, could not even be so blessed as to be the groom' beneath her little shoe! But tonight, monsieur—ha, ha!—tonight, monsieur, you and me, two princes, M. le Duc de Winterset and M. le Duc de Chateaurien—ha, ha! You see? We are goin' arm in arm to that ball, and I am goin' have one of those looks—I! And a rose! It is time. But ten minute, monsieur. I make my apology to keep you waitin' so long while I go in the nex' room and execute my poor mustachio—that will be my only murder for jus' this one evening—and inves' myself in white satin. Ha, ha! I shall be very gran', monsieur. Francois, send Louis to me. Victor, to order two chairs for monsieur and me. We are goin' out in the worl' tonight!"

FIRST OF SEASON

SUMMER FESTIVAL PERIOD INAUGURATED WITH MURDER

The colored folks had a "festibal" Saturday night at Dyer's chapel near Bennettsburg. Only one person was killed, and one was wounded.

DEAD.

James Terry, shot in head, wounded.

James Dawson, shot in breast.

The crowd was wending its way homeward. James Dawson, aged 22, a notorious negro tough, waved a pistol and uttered threats. There was a scuffle, leaving James Terry, aged 19, standing in the road alone. Dawson used the boy as a target. Twice he shot wildly. Terry drew a pistol but in his fright fired twice in the ground. Dawson's third bullet penetrated the boy's brain, and he fell dead. Later in the night, at a negro's house Dawson, in remorse, tried to commit suicide, wounding himself slightly in the breast.

Coroner Allensworth held an inquest, and the jury's opinion was that the killing was wilful murder. Dawson is at liberty.

GROOM DARK HORSES

Many Candidates For Minor Places Are Looming Up.—Several Surprises Are Looked For.

Dark horses says the Louisville Times are being groomed for most of the minor offices on the Republican state ticket and several surprises are promised when the Republican state convention is called to order by State Chairman R. P. Ernst, of Covington, at the Coliseum, Wednesday, June 19. Republican mass conventions will be held Saturday to select delegates to the State convention.

With the exception of the head of the ticket, few candidates have announced, but Republican leaders admit that they are grooming dark horses for several of the races.

Augustus E. Wilson is the leading candidate for governor, although the names of Judge W. H. Holt and Judge John W. Lewis are still being mentioned. State Senator W. H. Cox, of Maysville, and Jerry Porter, of Paducah, are mentioned for Lieutenant governor, although some dark horse may nose either of them out at the finish.

The names of Judge H. C. Faulkner, of Barbourville; Judge James Breathitt, of Hopkinsville; Marshall Bullitt, of Louisville, and Judge A. J. Keith, of Maysville, are mentioned for attorney general.

Among these besides dark horses who may be candidates for auditor are, W. H. Cox, C. M. Barnett, W. W. Byrley, of Barbourville, and Will T. Davis, of Pineville. Stanley Milward, of Lexington, is considered the leading candidate for state treasurer, although the name of Capt. Farley, of Paducah, is also mentioned.

Dr. Ben L. Bruner, of Hart county, is the leading candidate for secretary of state, and will probably have no opposition in his race. The two candidates for superintendent of public instruction are Prof. John G. Crabb, of Ashland, and Prof. J. S. Stapp, of Columbia. M. C. Rankin, of Henry county, is an announced candidate for commissioner of agriculture, and other names spoken of in this connection are C. M. Hanna, of Shelby county, and B. W. Clark, of Barbourville.

Henry House, of Painville, has been suggested as the probable candidate for clerk of the Court of Appeals.

Republicans in the western part of the state are discussing the advisability of putting out a candidate for railroad commissioner against McD. Ferguson, to keep up the party organization, and the names of Holly Anderson and Jerry Porter have been mentioned in this connection.

W. O. Bradley and John W. Yerkes have been suggested as chairmen of the state convention.

CITY COUNCIL ELECTED MR. GALBREATH TO FILL VACANCY IN THE SECOND WARD

Will Serve Unexpired Term.—Assessor Crenshaw Files a Report That Contains Some Very Interesting Figures.—The Tax Levy Remains Unchanged.—Resolution Of Respect to Late Member Adopted

(From Saturday's Daily)

After the regular business of the board of council at the monthly meeting last night had been completed, the position of councilman from the Second ward was declared to be vacant by the death of J. D. Ware. Councilman Twinman then arose and nominated J. B. Galbreath to fill out the unexpired term. The motion was promptly seconded and there being no other nominations, Mr. Galbreath was elected. Mr. Galbreath had, up until the election in 1905, served ably as a member of the council, but declined to allow his name to be used again as a candidate. He is a candidate for the Democratic nomination from his ward this time for the general election.

The council meeting last night was a busy one. The report of Assessor M. F. Crenshaw was filed and accepted. The assessment shows a property valuation of $3,540,995, which is quite a handsome increase. The report of the assessor also showed that there were 1,282 white polls subject to taxation and 874 colored. This shows an increase of about 300 whites and 100 colored, a most convincing evidence of the rapid growth of the city.

The tax levy was fixed at the same figures as formerly, i. e., $1.50 on each $100 worth of taxable property, this being divided as follows: 25c for the sinking fund, 50c to the school fund and 75c for the general fund. The poll tax was fixed as usual $1.50 for colored and $3.00 for whites, the latter to be divided equally between the school fund and the general fund.

The accounts ordered to be paid were heavy, these showing an aggregate of $3,352.91. This includes the semi-annual settlement with the Hopkinsville Water company which is about $2,200.

The action of the committee in purchasing a hook and ladder truck and hose and chemical wagon was ratified. These two wagons will cost about $2,500 but will be as complete and fine as in any city. They will arrive in a short time.

The following resolutions were adopted regarding the death of Councilman J. D. Ware:

"Whereas an allwise Providence has seen fit to remove from our midst James Dudley Ware, a member of this body; therefore be it

Resolved: That this city council of Hopkinsville has lost a member of sound business judgment, a man of unswerving loyalty to his party, his city and his friends; fearless in the discharge of his official duties, and a man whose word was as good as his bond.

"Resolved: That we deplore his loss and extend our sympathy to his family in their bereavement."

"Resolved: That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this body, published in the city papers and a copy furnished to the family of the deceased."

MORE ABOUT NEW RAILROAD FROM HENDERSON TO HOPKINSVILLE

Preliminary Survey is Started by Mr. Wheatcroft and Corps of Civil Engineers—Proposed Road Will Touch Many Important Points and Be Of Great Benefit To This Region.

A new railroad will be built between Henderson and Hopkinsville if the plans of Irving H. Wheatcroft do not fail. Mr. Wheatcroft and a corps of civil engineers headed by C. B. Seymour, of Madisonville, will leave this city this morning at 7 o'clock and survey a route for the line beginning at a point near the Union passenger station and running direct to Hopkinsville. There are two probable routes for the line, one through the rich farming country in the Frog Island territory in the county and to Poole, passing within a few miles of Dixon and the other running parallel with the Illinois Central line to Corydon and up Beaver Dam creek, passing within half a mile of Dixie and on to Poole and to Dixon.

Mr. Wheatcroft stated to a representative of the Gleaner last night that the course of the proposed railroad would depend greatly upon grades, as he desired a route with the best grade because of the great saving in the expense of construction. The engineering party will go over the territory along the Louisville and Nashville line, having already seen the probable route by Corydon about a year ago.

The direction of the proposed line will be a matter of considerable interest to persons living in territory that might be benefitted by a railroad.

Mr. Wheatcroft's decision as to a route will depend to a great extent upon the attitude of the land owners relative to a right of way. If the farmers along one of the proposed lines are liberal enough in granting a right of way they will get the railroad and that will govern the matter.

The preliminary survey has been about completed through Hopkins county and in other territory to be touched except in Henderson and Webster counties. The line will cross the L. & N. either at Nebo or at Manston and the I. C. at either Dawson, Crabtree or Carbondale.

The new railroad, provided it is built, will bring about development of the rich coal region through which it will run, regardless of whether it will touch the territory along the Louisville and Nashville or that in this county along the Illinois Central to Corydon.

There are fine veins of coal in nearly every section of this county.

It will enhance the value of farm lands along the route and afford easier and better markets for farmers' products and it is thought that the land owners will gladly give the right of way in most instances.

F. Marion Baker, of Dixon, counsel for Mr. Wheatcroft, R. L. Jackson, wealthy land owner of the same place, and several others were in the party that arrived in this city during the day. Mr. Wheatcroft arriving Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock.

At 9 o'clock a meeting was held in the offices of Lockett & Worsham, attorneys for the Illinois Central. C. O. Rutsch, James M. Yeaman, A. Waller, B. G. Witt, Judge J. H. Hart and C. E. Sugg, representing the Commercial club, were present, also Judge J. W. Henson, F. M. Baker and R. L. Jackson, of Dixon.

It is certain that Henderson will be greatly benefitted by the proposed railroad, which would not only increase the local market for products of the farms, but facilitate transportation for passengers that would greatly benefit the business interests of the city. Mr. Wheatcroft has built two roads in Kentucky in the past few years. The West Kentucky line was built by him and then sold to the Illinois Central. Then he built the Kentucky Valley, of which he is now president.

Mr. Wheatcroft built the West Kentucky and developed the coal lands along the route, founding the town of Wheatcroft, which now has one of the biggest collieries in the state and a population of several hundred. He built a palatial residence at Wheatcroft but is now living at Providence.

Mr. Seymour, the engineer in chief, has a wide reputation. He surveyed the route of the Louisville and Nashville when it was built under another name shortly after the Civil war.

Mr. Wheatcroft states that the success of the proposed enterprise depends wholly upon whether the people want it, and whether they offer reasonable inducements.

It is only a preliminary survey that will be made at present, and the survey for grades will be made after the route is decided upon.—Henderson Gleaner.

CAUSE OF ACTION

EXISTS WHETHER REBATE WAS GRANTED OR NOT.

Judge Evans Files Interesting Opinion in Insurance Case Resulting From Mr. Dalton's Death.

Judge Evans has handed down his opinion in the case of Mrs. Cora B. Dalton against the Interstate Assurance company, overruling several demurrers to the pleadings of the plaintiff. The opinion is not final, but the court holds that the plaintiff has a cause of action on the state of facts presented.

The suit was brought to enforce payment of a policy of $10,000 on the life of H. M. Dalton, who was killed by the discharge of a pistol in the Elks' club rooms in Hopkinsville, in May of last year. The chief point of defense was that the insured had not paid the first premium, but that he had been granted a rebate by the agent of the company. Judge Evans holds that, even if he were granted a rebate, this does not invalidate the policy. Another point raised by the demurrer was that Dalton was carrying a pistol in violation of the law. Judge Evans holds that this point may be material, in the event it is finally shown that the pistol was carried concealed. Dalton was handing the pistol to the janitor of the club when, it is alleged, the weapon was accidentally discharged.—Owensboro Messenger.

CALL OF POLITICS

HAS BEEN HEARD BY A REPUBLICAN EDITOR.

Capt. Clark Announces That He Is In The Race For Nomination For Representative.

(From Saturday's Daily)

The plum of representing Christian county in the legislature must be much juicier this time than usual, especially to Republicans, for there seems to be a desire on the part of several leading members of that party to land the nomination. James F. Rogers has been an announced candidate for some time, there is a strong feeling in favor of R. A. Cook although he has not announced, and in this morning's issue of the Hopkinsville Messenger, Editor E. W. Clark added his name to the list. In his card of announcement Capt. Clark stated that he had been importuned by a number of his friends to offer himself and believing it to be his duty he acquiesced. There are still other rumors floating about as to other probable candidates and the race for the Republican nomination for this office which has heretofore been given to almost any one who would take it, promises to be one of the features of the political situation.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney and Bladder Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh, or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also a Home of Swamp-Root pamphlet telling all about Swamp-Root, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Bert Barber, of Elton, Wis., says: "I have only taken four doses of your Kidney and Bladder Pills and they have done for me more than any other medicine has ever done. I am still taking the pills as I want a perfect cure." A woman's back has many aches and pains.

Most times 'tis the kidneys' fault. Backache is really kidney ache. That's why Doan's Kidney Pills cure it.

Many Hopkinsville women know this.

Read what one has to say:

Mrs. Jno. Coombs, 1228 South Virginia street, Hopkinsville, Ky., says: "For a great many years I suffered from a persistent aching across my loins and through the kidneys. At times my back was so bad I could hardly turn in bed; I could not lie on my back without putting my hand under it, for in this way it seemed to relieve the pain. A friend of Mr. Coombs told him about Doan's Kidney Pills and he got a box for me at L. A. Johnson's & Co's. drug store. On using them, I steadily improved until the dreadful aching was relieved and I could attend to my household duties without inconvenience. Doan's Kidney Pills did more for me than any other medicine I ever used, and I heartily recommend them."

DOSE OF LAUDANUM

CAUSES DEATH OF CURTIS H. SKERRITT.

Had Taken Drug To Relieve a Bowel Trouble.—Had Many Friends In This City.

(From Friday's Daily)

Curtis H. Skerritt died Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock at his residence on West Fifteenth street of the effects of an overdose of laudanum which he had taken earlier in the day to secure relief from a bowel complaint from which he had been suffering. It is not known exactly how much of the drug he swallowed nor when it was taken, but he could not have taken a large quantity as the bottle from which he had drunk it contained only a small quantity. It is thought by the physicians who attended that if it had not been for the condition in which his system was in, that he would have thrown off the effects and recovered.

Mr. Skerritt was forty-nine years of age. He was well known and liked by everyone. He had been in the livery business for several years and for some time past had been running a stable on North Main street. His widow and one daughter survive him.

Funeral services conducted by Rev. H. D. Smith and Rev. George C. Abitt will be held at the residence tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Interment will take place in Riverside cemetery.

MAY NAME BOB COOK

AS THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE FOR REPRESENTATIVE.

James F. Rogers is the Only Man Who Has Formally Offered for the Place.

The only announced candidate for the office of representative of Christian county is James F. Rogers.

There seems to be an undercurrent, however, which is setting in the direction of R. A. Cook and it would not be at all surprising if he were named as the Republican choice of this county. Mr. Cook has not publicly expressed himself as to whether he would accept the nomination or not. Mr. Rogers is making an active canvass, but unless the tide now moving toward Cook is stemmed he may fall in landing the nomination.

Much local interest also centers in the talk now being indulged in which makes Judge James Breathitt a probable candidate for attorney general. The requests for Judge Breathitt to announce himself as a candidate for governor would not be stifled until he positively announced that he was not in the race and now the report of his being named as the candidate for attorney general on the Republican ticket seems to be gaining strength every day.

JUDGE COOK'S CHARGE.

Judge Cook's vigorous instructions Monday to the grand jury in referring to the night riders outrage have attracted wide attention and are being strongly commended by the press of the state.

The Courier-Journal says: "Kentuckians who have become disgusted and ashamed of conditions prevailing in the dark tobacco district in the western counties of the state will hope that the instructions of Judge Cook to the grand jury of Christian county will produce definite results. It is, indeed, the sworn duty of the jury to investigate the lawlessness within its jurisdiction and to bring the guilty to the bar of justice. It is also logical enough to assume that 'if anybody has the right to force a man to join the association or stay out of it, he has an equal right to force him to join the Methodist church or the Baptist church or any political party.' Coercion is contrary to the fundamental ideas of the American form of government, which stand for religious, political and commercial freedom. The shooting of women, the threatening of men, the destruction of tobacco crops and the burning of warehouses are some of the methods resorted to by the terrorists of Western Kentucky to prevent the exercise of individual will. Such a state of affairs is not only morally outrageous, but legally reprehensible. If Judge Cook and his grand jury can end it, as far as Christian county is concerned they will have done a splendid service to the best interests of the state.

"The association of tobacco growers has a useful purpose to serve in combating the vicious actions of the all-powerful trust, which has steadily hammered down the prices of tobacco leaf until the growers have found it difficult to make a profit on their crops. Praiseworthy objects, however, do not justify lawless means. The resort to anarchy either to keep growers out of the association or to force them into it is malign and despicable. Not only the integrity of the law but the most superficial considerations of mere civilization demand an end to the reign of the anarchists."

The Louisville Times says:

"The charge delivered by Judge Thomas F. Cook to the Christian county grand jury is a fair presentation of the duty with which that body is charged. If the grand jury will be guided in its investigation by the purpose to indict 'whoever is found guilty, rich or poor, high or low,' it is more than probable that it will find no difficulty in securing information that will enable it to indict. The lawlessness in Western Kentucky has reached a point where incendiaries and outlaws have apparently lost all fear of punishment by the court. From the outset they have shown neither regard for the law nor respect for the good name of the state. It is possible that some of the reports from that section of the state may have been exaggerated. It is not possible that all of them have been manufactured from the whole cloth. There is, and has for some time existed, in Western Kentucky a conspiracy for the destruction of property and the intimidation of citizens and communities.

The conspiracy appears to be too widespread to be successfully dealt with by the use of troops, and the one hope of putting an end to its operation lies with the courts. Judge Cook has laid down the law. It is for the grand jury to be guided solely by it.

At a meeting of the trustees of the Pembroke Graded school Thursday night of last week, the faculty for the next term was chosen. There are two changes in the personnel of the new faculty, caused by the resignation of Mrs. R. Ross Wood and Miss Bessie Walker.

The old teachers, with the two exceptions above noted, were reelected as follows: Principal C. E. Dudley, Mrs. C. D. McComb, Misses Theresa Cannon and Dovie Anderson. The new members chosen are Miss Belle Gillis, of Trenton; and Miss Alba Christian, of Russellville.

LOCUSTS ARE HERE

VANGUARD HAS ALREADY REACHED CHRISTIAN COUNTY

Failed to Read Scientists Report That They Would not Come Here.—What To Do.

The locusts are here. The visitation of the southern thirteen-year brood to Western Kentucky is in progress.

Farmers from the Gracely neighborhood and other west Christian localities report that there are countless thousands of the insects in the vanguard of the brood that has swooped down on the county in the last day or two.

In the circular recently issued by the bureau of entomology it was stated that the counties to be visited this summer by the locusts would be Carlisle, Graves, Lyon, McCracken and Marshall. Evidently the locusts failed to read the report for they have struck Christian, and the indications are that every part of the county will be made sadly aware of their presence.

When the locusts appear in great numbers they naturally cause considerable alarm and arouse fears for the safety of shade trees and orchards. The bureau of entomology says, however, that the actual damage is usually slight, except in the case of newly planted orchards, and even here by vigorous pruning back after the locust has disappeared, much of the injury caused by egg punctures can be obviated.

Ordinary repellent substances, such as kerosene emulsion or carbolic acid solutions, seen to have very little effect in preventing the oviposition of these insects. Some recent experience, however, indicates that trees thoroughly sprayed with a Bordeaux mixture or a lime wash are apt to be avoided by the locusts, especially if there are other trees or woods in the neighborhood on which they can deposit their eggs. The bureau announces that the most reliable means of protecting nurseries and young orchards is by collecting the insects in bags or umbrellas from the trees early in the morning or late in the evening, when they are somewhat torpid. This should be done at their first appearance, and repeated each day.

The brood this year is the largest of its kind on record, and the annals of the government go back to 1893. Every time it has appeared since a record of its migrations has been made, the last one in 1894. It is announced by the bureau that this year the brood will come in May and June, and the states in which it will make its appearance are throughout the Southern states east of Texas, except Florida, northward in the Mississippi and Ohio valleys through Missouri to southwestern Iowa, over most of central and Southern Illinois, Western Kentucky, most of Tennessee and will extend into Virginia and the Carolinas.

Our Great Phonograph Offer!

Free to You!

A GREAT OPPORTUNITY TO GET A SELF PLAYING MUSICAL INSTRUMENT WITHOUT COST TO YOU!

EVERY SUBSCRIBER, NEW OR OLD, CAN GET A PHONOGRAPH FREE!

The Kentucky New Era has made a special arrangement with Edwin A. Deham & Co., of London, Berlin and New York, through their local representative, L. L. Elgin, the well known druggist, by which for a limited time only the New Era is able to present to its subscribers a $5 Phonograph complete with nickel brass horn and an extra loud reproducer.

THE REASON WHY WE MAKE THIS GREAT OFFER

This offer is made for the purpose of increasing the present subscription list of both the Daily and Weekly Kentucky New Era, but old subscribers can take advantage of it the same as new ones.

Below we give the conditions by which we give you the phonograph.

Our Offer:

Any person who is not now taking the New Era and who will subscribe to the Daily for three months at $1.25 or the Weekly for one year at $1, we will give absolutely free one of the $5.00

Phonographs described above. Old subscribers to either the Daily or the Weekly New Era can get a Phonograph by paying up all arrearages, if there be any, and three months or one year in advance, as the case may be. Most papers in making this offer require a deposit of $1 for packing and expressage but the New Era will even forfeit this much and the machine can be secured at Mr. Elgin's store with all such charges paid.

The person taking advantage of this offer will also be required to purchase from Mr. Elgin 20 Columbia Records at 25c each or 15 Edison Records at 35c each, these being the regular prices on these Records the world over. Any person who owns a Phonograph will want at least this many Records and as Mr. Elgin will carry a complete line and even order those which may be wanted and which he hasn't in stock, this feature will not be objectionable to any one. Under this offer you get the paper, the machine and a nice lot of Records all for less money than is usually paid for a Phonograph alone.

The Phonograph Which the New Era Offers Gives Just As Great a Volume of Sound and is Just as Distinct as Any $20 or $25 Machine On the Market.

The reproducer is what does the work and has the added advantage of a permanent needle which does not have to be changed every time the record is changed. The Phonograph plays any standard cylinder record and will play them just as well as the larger and higher priced machines. It is light and compactly built, and is in every way especially adapted for the home. Records for it do not cost any more, and many times not as much, as sheet music, and by buying the records and owning one of these machines, you have the music played in faultless style in your home without going to the heavy expense of buying a piano or other musical instrument and taking a long music course. The Phonograph is so simple in its mechanism that a child can operate it as successfully as a grown person. Even should your machine suffer an accident the repairs are very low priced and Mr. Elgin will carry a complete line.

These phonographs and Records are Now on Display at Elgin's Store and if you will call and let him play a record or two for you you will be convinced of the exceptional value of the offer which the New Era now makes to their subscribers. By taking the New Era you get the very latest news, both local and foreign every afternoon in the Daily which is sent to your gate by carrier or through the mail as you prefer, or every Friday in the Weekly which contains from twelve to twenty pages each issue. By having the Phonograph you have a machine which is a constant source of pleasure and something which makes home more attractive and enjoyable to every member of the family.

Kentucky New Era, - Hopkinsville, Ky.

MR. HAGER DECLARES FOR TEMPERANCE

HE APPROVES HEARTILY THE COUNTY UNIT MEASURE

NEW WARDEN IS APPOINTED

FRANKFORT, Ky., June 11.—In a letter to the editor of the Kentucky Issue, Judge S. W. Hager, Democratic nominee for the governor of the state, declares that if elected to that office, he will "favor and encourage the enactment of all reasonable and practicable measures that make for and truly advance the cause of temperance." In forceful language he adds that the county unit local option law has his hearty approval, and he will favor the development of that statute to fully meet the demands of the people of the state.

He further says that he will stand for the strict enforcement of the laws, and will "exhaust every prerogative of the office in seeing that the laws relating to the proper observance of the Sabbath are enforced."

Judge Hager's letter to Editor Kelly is in response to one written by the latter making inquiry as to the Democratic candidates' views on the question of temperance, the further extension of the county unit local option statute so as to strike out the privilege now enjoyed by the cities of the first four classes, and the enforcement of the Sunday closing laws of the state. The letter from Mr. Kelly was written on May 20 last, and the response of Judge Hager on May 25 following.

The Prison Board granted a parole in the case of J. B. Lindell, of Hopkins county, who was former marshal of the town of Earlington, and was convicted of manslaughter in having killed a young man whom he had under arrest for a breach of the peace and who attempted to escape from him. He has been confined about three years. The case attracted considerable attention at

MANSON--RADFORD

Beautiful Home Wedding Impressively Solemnized.--One of the Most Interesting Nuptials in the Annals of Hopkinsville Society.

(From Wednesday's Daily)

Miss Katherine Manson and Major Cyrus S. Radford were united this morning in the holy bonds of wedlock.

The marriage, which was solemnized at the residence of the bride's uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. M. W. Williams, was characterized by a simplicity of detail. Only relatives and a few intimate friends were present. The rooms were beautifully adorned with potted plants, trailing vines and summer blossoms.

There were no attendants and Major Radford and Miss Manson were met on entering the parlor by the Rev. Wallace Logan Nourse, D. D., who impressively pronounced the ceremony and uttered a feeling prayer for a divine blessing on their married life.

The following delightful program of music was rendered:

Pilgrim's Chorus.....Wagner
Bridal Song.....Mason
Love Song.....Chipman
Love Me and the World is Mine

Bridal March.....Ball
My Rosary.....Novin
O, Promise Me.....DeKoven
Wedding March.....Mendelssohn

Mrs. James H. Anderson presided at the piano, and just prior to the nuptial service, during which she played the Wagner bridal march, Miss Rowena Wall sang "Love Song" and "Love Me and the World is Mine."

The bride wore a brown going-away gown and Major Radford was attired in a brown traveling suit. After receiving good wishes and congratulations from those who were present, Major and Mrs. Radford were driven to the Illinois Central railroad station where they left at 11:30 for Philadelphia and that city will be their home for the present.

The bride is one of southern Kentucky's most beautiful and popular belles and a young woman of charming personality, rare mental gifts and accomplishments and wealth. She has traveled abroad extensively and studied in large universities.

Major Radford is a distinguished young officer of the United States Marine Corps and, by appointment of President McKinley, assistant quartermaster of that branch of service. He is a native of Christian county, and entered the Naval Academy at Annapolis in 1896, and was graduated as president of his class. He was first in the naval service and was signal officer under Admiral Walker during the Chilian trouble. After entering the marine corps he served his country in various parts of the world with such efficiency and gallantry that his promotion was very rapid and he is now one of the youngest majors in the marine corps. He served through the Spanish-American war on the U. S. S. Texas and was especially commended to the navy department by Admiral Philip for valuable and conspicuous service. He is the author of several text books used in the government naval and military academies and elsewhere.

Major and Mrs. Radford were the recipients of a large number of handsome presents from friends in many parts of the world. After remaining one year in Philadelphia the happy couple will go to the Philippines to spend three years.

(From Tuesday's Daily)

Harry Whitney, of Louisville, and Miss Sarah H. Hord, of this county, both being deaf and dumb, were married Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Hord, four miles east of the city on the Greenville road. The ceremony was pronounced by Rev. E. H. Bull, of this city, a brother of the bride acting as interpreter.

The prospective groom was accompanied to the office of County Clerk Campbell by a brother of the bride, who is also a deaf mute. Mr. Whitney made known his wants by writing it on a piece of paper, and the license was promptly issued.

The ceremony was witnessed by a large concourse of friends and relatives. When the couple took their places the officiating minister repeated a sentence at a time of the marriage ceremony to the brother of the bride, and he in turn repeated it to the bride and groom by means of the mute alphabet. When the different parts of the ceremony would be completed the contracting parties showed that they thoroughly understood what had been told them by the nible fingers of the interpreter, for their heads nodded in the affirmative sign promptly and positively.

The bride is an unusually pretty young lady. The groom is a skilled iron moulder by trade and holds a responsible position with a Louisville firm. Mr. and Mrs. Whitney are with the bride's parents today but will leave in the morning for the groom's home where they will reside.

Throughout the middle west, as in other parts of the country, athletic conditions in the high schools, colleges and universities had reached a state of disgraceful and sordid arrogance, when, two years ago, a conference of the governing boards of nine of the leading institutions of the interior took the matter under consideration. They found high-school boys who had been induced to leave school a year or two ahead of time in order to enter some college which was willing to smooth the intellectual pathway in return for athletic services. Professionalism was rife, and not only winked at, but almost openly encouraged; and rivalry was so keen that even middle-aged professors found their relations with professors in other colleges strained by the hostile feeling between the undergraduates. The desire to win, and the hope of making money by winning, had killed the true spirit of sport. The governing boards of the nine colleges which met to consider the matter took radical steps. Professionalism was prohibited by the most stringent regulations, all contests between certain of the fiercest rivals were discontinued, and a uniform date for beginning training in the fall was fixed. The new rules have now had a year's trial with the result of clearing the air and establishing college athletics upon a saner and more wholesome footing. And a second conference was lately held to consider possible changes in the rules. Although great pressure was brought by some of the athletic conference committee stood firm. Only one change was made. The rule fixing a uniform date for beginning practice was rescinded. Even that may be rescinded. The colleges of the middle west,

POOR BABY'S FACE ITCHED TERRIBLY

Face and Neck Covered with Inflamed Skin—Suffered Terribly—Mother Took Her to Doctors and Colleges to No Avail—Lost Faith in Medicines—Friend Suggested Cuticura Remedies and

CHILD IS NOW THE PICTURE OF HEALTH

"My baby's face and neck were covered with itching skin similar to eczema, and she suffered terribly for over a year. I took her to a number of doctors and also to different colleges to no avail. Then Cuticura Remedies were recommended to me by Miss G., who was telling me how they helped her. I did not use it at first, as I had tried so many other remedies without any favorable results. At last I tried Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent Pills, and to my surprise noticed an improvement. After using three boxes of the Cuticura Ointment, together with the Soap and Pills, I am pleased to say she is altogether a different child and the picture of health, and now I have a firm belief in Cuticura Remedies and would not be without them in the house. I will gladly let you publish this testimonial as I would like others to have the same benefit that we did, and you may be sure I will recommend them strongly to everybody I know and to those I don't know, too. THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson XI.—Second Quarter, For June 16, 1907.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Ex. xiv, 13-27. Memory Verses, 13, 14—Golden Text, Ex. xiv, 30—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1907, by American Press Association.]
The lesson today opens with a word we always need, "Fear not," and from the first one in Gen. xv, 1, to the last in Revelation what a wealth of comfort there is in this oft repeated message! God has not given to His people a spirit of fear, and it is our privilege to serve Him without fear all the days of our life (1 Tim. i, 7; Luke i, 73, 75).

By strength of hand the Lord brought Israel out of Egypt (xiii, 3, 9, 14, 16), and He said that He would bring them into the promised land (xiii, 5, 11). Having brought them out, He led them and went before them in a pillar of cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night to lead them the way and to give them light (xiii, 17, 18, 21, 22). Whatever their misconduct, He never took it away, and this pillar was everything to them—their guide, their shelter from the burning sun, their light, their oasis, their protection—all that they needed—but to enjoy it to the full, they must be wholly submissive and obedient (Isa. i, 10).

The adversary sees that he can still use Pharaoh and so stirs him to pursue Israel, which he does with all his chariots and horsemen and army, and finds them encamped by the sea. It was natural for them to cry out in fear and complaint and think that it would have been better to serve the Egyptians than those to perish, but it did not show much confidence in the God who had just wrought such a miracle for them. Yet to such murmurers Moses has from God a "Fear ye not. Stand still and see the salvation of the Lord, which He will show to you today."
"The Lord shall fight for you, and ye shall hold your peace" (verses 13, 14). Compare Dent. xx, 3, 4; II Chron. xx, 15, 17; Isa. xli, 10-14.

The salvation of the Lord is as wholly of Himself as was the deliverance of Jonah (Jonah ii, 9). The stranger is as utterly helpless to save himself as was Israel in the bondage of Egypt or at the Red sea, but the same Lord who delivered them is our deliverer also, and we may take His precious word home to our own hearts. In every time of trial the Lord always knows just what He will do and allows His people to be tried, that there may be an opportunity to show His power on their behalf (Ex. vi, 1; John vi, 8; II Chron. vi, 9) and that He may be glorified in the eyes of His adversaries. Oh, for a simple, childlike trust in Him!

One of the Lord's questions to Moses at the burning bush was, "What is that in thine hand?" And when He sent him forth He said, "Thou shalt take this rod in thine hand, wherewith thou shalt do signs" (Ex. ii, 17). Now He says, "Lift thou up thy rod and stretch out thine hand over the sea and divide it" (verse 16). These He graciously takes what we have and makes His power manifest through it and us. Think of the lad's five leaves and Dorcas' needle and just hand over to Him whatever you have as unreservedly as they did, and thou shalt see what He will do (Jer. xxxiii, 3).

There is a time to pray, a time to stand still and see, a time to go forward (verse 15). Our motto is "Ready to do whatsoever my Lord the King shall appoint" (II Sam. x, 15). We shall know when to stand still or sit still (Ruth iii, 18) or be still (Ps. xli, 10) and when to go forward.

See how wondrously the pillar of cloud, the angel of the Lord, removed from before Israel and stood behind them, between the Egyptians and Israel, darkness to them, but light to these all the night, while the Lord divided the sea for Israel to pass through (verse 19-22).

Compare Josh. iii, 16, 17, and see in Josh. iv, 22, 24, why the Lord did this. See also Isa. lxiii, 12-14, and ask honestly, Is my life making Him a name on the earth among men? Do I in all things glorify Him? It is well also to ask in these days, Do I heartily and unqualifiedly believe this record of dividing the sea and fearlessly stand by it, declaring that this God is my God? We now come to one of the morning scenes of Scripture (verses 24, 27), all so typical of the morning for which our souls are longing, when God shall deliver Israel with such a mighty deliverance that all the former ones shall seem as nothing (Jer. xvi, 14, 15; xlii, 7, 8; Zech. xiv, 3-5). See some of the morning passages in II Sam. xxi, 3; Ps. xxx, 2; xli, 5, margin; cxxx, 6-8; Isa. xxxvii, 30; Dan. vi, 19-24.

Remember the morning scene on Galilee when after a night of toll against contrary winds (picture of the church in this age) the Lord came in the fourth watch, walking on the sea, and as soon as they received Him into the ship they were at the land, and their troubles were over. What a morning this was for Israel when their enemies were so overcome that "there remained not so much as one of them" (verse 25). The thoroughness of God is seen wondrously in chapter viii, 31, when removing the flies it is written, "There remained not one." No wonder that when Israel saw this great and thorough overthrow of their enemies they feared the Lord and heeded the Lord and sang unto the Lord (xv, 24, xv, 1). Long afterward the disciple Thomas saw and believed, but our Lord said to him, "Blessed are they that have not seen, yet have believed" (John ix, 23).

ANSWER OF AYERS

MAKES PUBLIC THE BASIS OF HIS CHARGE.Shows Why He Said He Knew Who Wrote an Anonymous Letter to Robert Wallace.A despatch from Fulton, Ky., to Sunday's Courier-Journal contains the following:

In support of his statement, made in his annual report, that he knew the author of an anonymous letter received by Robert Wallace, of Rinaldo, Mott Ayers, State Fire
Marshal, to-morrow will make public the facts which he secured, and which he has presented to the Trigg county grand jury. The Fulton Daily Leader will contain the exhibits in the case, showing the basis of the statement made by Mr. Ayers that he knew who had written the letter.

It has been charged by the County
Attorney of Trigg county that Mr.
Ayers failed to produce any evidence in support of his statement that he knew the author of the anonymous letter received by Mr. Wallace, and also that Mr. Ayers failed to appear before the grand jury, as he had said he would, to testify regarding the letter. These charges against Mr. Ayers caused him to make public the evidence he secured.

About October 5, 1906, Mr. Wallace received an anonymous letter enclosed in one of the Champion Bridge Company's envelopes—the printed name of the Champion Bridge Company having been crudely erased.

A comparison of the two characters of envelopes shows conclusively that the anonymous letter was inclosed in one of the Champion Bridge Company's envelopes. The anno-ymous letter read as follows:

Oet the 3 1906 Mr Bob Wallace kind
Sir and friend I take this opportunity to write you a few lines in regard to the course you are takn. Now Mr Wallace We are tired of the Trust robing the people So we are determined to down them and their thieving gang at all hazards and we consider you one of those Scoundrels So if you are going to pin your faith to the avowed enemy of your on people you will have to take pot luck With them we mean just exactly what we Say, we are not a going to lay down and be robbed by you at all, now my brother it will pay you to lay low and keep quiet.

A hint to the wise is sufficient we dont want to have to go after you but if we have to we can do it and do it to perfection. Yours Truly answer at once a member of The D. T.
T. A.

Prior to October, 1906, the Champion Bridge company, of Willington, Ohio, sent to Magistrate Nabb, at Wallonia, several of their stamped, self-addressed envelopes and Magistrate Nabb never returned any to the company and so retained them in his possession.

Shortly after receiving the letter
Mr. Wallace received one of the nightly attentions which have disgraced the community, and his barn was burned and his tobacco destroyed.

The Leader says:
State Fire Marshal Mott Ayers was certainly justified in declaring in his annual report: "The author of the letter is known to this department;" and he undoubtedly had Magistrate Nabb in mind when he penned that sentence. Magistrate Nabb did write the letter, but as we have already said, whether he was in any wise a guilty or felonious participant in the tobacco burning which followed the letter, we expressly disclaim any knowledge, simply leaving that matter to everybody to decide for himself upon the facts as they may appear to him.

A simple justice to the state fire marshal has impelled us to give these facts, especially as one or two of our contemporaries, notably the Cadiz Record in its issue of May 30, have undoubtedly endeavored to create the impression that Fire Marshal Ayres, had made an unfounded charge.

An obvious effort has been made to cover up any evidence of the threats of the tobacco burning outrages and a despicable attempt has been made to place Fire Marshal Ayres in a false position in reference to the investigation of these outrages. Numerous publications have been made with a view to creating the impression that after Fire Marshal Ayres had notified the Trigg county authorities of evidence that might lead to the conviction of the criminals he failed to appear before the grand jury and give the proper information. Fire Marshal Ayres furnished to the grand jury through the proper channel all of the evidence which we have reproduced herewith except the opinions of the experts which it was not his duty to supply. His actual presence

WILL CHANGE NAME

OF INSTITUTION PROBABLY TO UNIVERSITY OF KENTUCKY.Intercollegiate Games Are Limited—
Department of Mining Engineering
Established at State College.

The board of trustees of the Kentucky State college, of which Denny
P. Smith is a member, has decided that the name of the institution should be changed to conform more closely to the scope and dignity of the work done, and the name of State University of Kentucky was tentatively decided upon. A committee was appointed to confer with the board of directors of Kentucky University, in order that there may be no misunderstanding about names, and a legislative committee was named to bring the matter before the next session of the Kentucky legislature.

The board decided to limit the number of inter-collegiate baseball and football games. State college hereafter may play only six baseball or football games with other colleges during any one season.

The board established a department of mining engineering. As Kentucky is rapidly coming to the front as a state of rich minerals, the department promises to be one of much importance.

PUTTING OUT A FIRE

AUTOMATIC EXTINGUISHING AP. PARATAS IS USED.

New Mogul Wagon Works the Scene and a Thorough Test Was Made

At the Mogul Wagon Works, the mammoth wagon manufacturing plant of the Forbes Manufacturing Company, Saturday afternoon the automatic fire extinguishing device was given a thorough test which was witnessed by quite a number of people and which proved satisfactory in every respect.

The system was put in by the Niagara Fire Extinguisher company. Numerous large pipes are placed along the ceiling throughout the entire building, and every eight feet there is a plug which works automatically whenever a fire breaks out and the heat reaches 180 degrees. These pipes are not filled with water all the time but when the heat reaches the necessary height, the water flows in and through the plug which has a revolving spreader that throws the water in a heavy shower over a space of several feet. These plugs do not operate at the same time, only those under which the heat is sufficiently intense. Should the fire spread over the entire building, however every plug would do its duty. Whenever the plugs start their work the indicator in the engine room shows where the fire is located and the engineer can then turn in the general fire alarm.

Saturday afternoon a barrel full of shavings and sticks was set on fire and before the heat reached the 180 degrees the fire had reached such a stage that many of the spectators began to feel uneasy about its catching to the woodwork and resulting in a fire sure enough. Just when the danger seemed to be the greatest, however, the plug opened and with a rush and roar the water began to fall and almost instantly the blazing pile of shavings was a smoldering heap and when the water finally ceased every vestige of fire had been extinguished. Besides being connected with the city water company's pipes, the fire extinguishing system is also connected with an emergency reservoir which holds 30,000 gallons.

HAVE YOU CATARRH?

If you have catarrh, with offensive breath, burning pains in the throat, difficulty in breathing, raising of mucus, discharge from the nose, tickling or dropping from the back of the throat, causing spasms, etc., begin the use of Hyomei at once. Its medication is taken in with the air you breathe, so that it reaches the most remote part of the respiratory organs, killing all catarrhal germs and soothing any irritation there may be in the mucous membrane.

The complete Hyomei outfit costs but $1.00; and L. L. Elgin gives his personal guarantee with each package that money will be refunded unless the treatment does all that is claimed for it.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT

For University Virginia Summer School—Students Rapidly Enrolling.

The efforts of President Alderman to establish at the University of Virginia a great summer school which shall become a permanent feature of the work of the university, are meeting with gratifying success, judging from the interest manifested throughout the south, as indicated in the large number of inquiries received by the director.

Students are rapidly enrolling from all the southern states and as far west as Indian Territory, and the attendance for the first session promises to be much larger than could reasonably have been hoped for.

The university course is the most complete ever offered by a summer school in the south and includes all the subjects taught in the best high schools and academies. The faculty is composed of highly trained experts who are also practical teachers in their line, and the opportunity is thus afforded for the first time for southern advanced teachers to pursue a course in vacation.

In addition to these advanced courses, the "School for Elementary Teachers" meeting all the requirements for a first-grade certificate, will again be conducted by Supt. E. C. Glass, and his usual strong corps of teachers. This department will continue only four weeks, beginning June 19th, at the same time as the university school. But the training class conducted by Mrs. M. F. Moffett will continue six weeks, from June 19th to July 31st. Mrs. Moffett's training school is an up-to-date school given over to the review of elementary subjects.

Reduced rates have been offered by all the leading railroads, and an excellent opportunity will be afforded those attending to see the Jamestown exposition.

Mack Logan Uses Pistol With Deadly Effect On Louis Brake At Dawson Springs

DAWSON SPRINGS, Ky., June 10.—Mack Logan shot and fatally wounded Louis Brake, both well-known and prominent young men of Hopkins county, on the main street here Saturday evening in the presence of a large crowd. The shooting was the result of trouble of long standing, it is said, between the two young men.

Brake, it is said, had been threatening to kill Logan, making the threat several times in the presence of witnesses, both in the morning and afternoon. The matter reached Logan's ears and he straightway armed himself.

Shortly after dusk Brake approached Logan on the main thoroughfare. He got within a short distance of Logan, who pulled his gun and fired, taking no chances. His victim fell and immediately hundreds of visitors crowded about the prostrate form. Physicians were summoned and the injured man removed to a place where an examination could be made. Physicians pronounce the wound fatal.

Logan made no attempt to escape, and is under guard until a complete investigation can be made. Both are well known young men, and well connected in Hopkins county.

S.S.S. CURES CHRONIC ULCERS

Chronic Ulcers are the result of a deeply polluted and foul blood supply. The blood is filled with impurities and germs which are being constantly fed into the place through the circulation, until all the surrounding flesh becomes diseased and the sore an obstinate and permanent trouble. Every symptom of an old ulcer suggests pollution; the discharge, the red, angry looking flesh, the inflammation and discoloration of surrounding parts, all show that the ulcer is prevented from healing by the constant drainage through it of impurities from the blood. This impure condition of the blood may be hereditary, or it may be the remains of some constitutional disease, or the effects of a long spell of sickness, leaving disease germs in the system, or the absorption of the refuse of the body which has not been properly expelled through the natural channels. But whatever the cause, the blood is so weakened and polluted that it does not properly nourish and stimulate the place, and the sore cannot heal. Salves, plasters, lotions, etc., keep the sore or ulcer clean, relieve pain, and perhaps reduce inflammation, but can never permanently heal them because they do not reach the blood. S. S. S. goes down to the very fountain-head of the trouble, drives out all poisons and germs, builds up the weak, sluggish blood, gives energy and strength to the system, and by sending a fresh, healthy stream of blood to the diseased parts, allows the ulcer to heal naturally and permanently. Nothing reaches inherited taints like S. S. S. It cleanses the circulation of every trace of hereditary disease or impurity, and those who have nursed and treated an old sore for years will experience good results as soon as the system becomes influenced by S. S. S. Book on Sores and Ulcers and medical advice free to all who write.

Talmage Sermon

By Rev.
Frank De Witt Talmage, D. D.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 9. — That worldly fame and reputation are evanescent and that even the greatest services one can render to his fellow men are not soon to be forgotten is the lesson of this sermon. The text is Exodus 1:8. "Now there arose up a new king over Egypt which knew not Joseph."

If there is any country which prominently built its monuments to endure as long as the world lasts that land is ancient Egypt. When the Egyptians planned a monument to commemorate a victory or the glories of their kings or national heroes they seemed to say, "We will erect this monument out of such massive stones that the foundations of the earth shall have to be moved before they are rocked down." These graves, like those of the "tomb of the kings," were excavated from the sides of the mountains themselves. To break them down the iconoclast must rip open the earth and tear down the foundations of the hills and destroy the unbroken rocks which have never been disturbed since the Divine Mason mortared them in at their laying. Yet there is a strange irony in the fact that, although the monuments remain, the memory of the men they were intended to immortalize has perished. Explorers can only guess at the purpose for which some of those monuments were raised. The modern Egyptian cannot tell you the meaning of the Sphinx; he cannot tell you why the pyramids were built, and he has to ask the modern German or Frenchman or Englishman what is the meaning of the inscriptions on the walls. The great pharaohs of the distant past are completely forgotten by the people of the country over which they ruled.

If Egypt—old Egypt—could forget the purpose for which the pyramids were built, if it could forget where was the "valley of the west" in which the kings of the eighteenth dynasty were buried, if it could forget the sites of some of its greatest and most populous cities, surely it is not wonderful to learn that there arose a king and a people in old Egypt who could forget that a great prime minister like Joseph ever lived. There had been a time when his name was in every mouth, when his power and authority had been felt from one end of the country to the other, but he, like the pharaohs, was forgotten. So it is in modern times. The men who occupied so large a space in the newspapers, who were followed by crowds of admirers, whose lips great audiences hung enraptured, are scarcely mentioned now. They have passed into history, and the world goes on without them. The fact teaches a lesson that all of us should learn. Let us do faithfully the work God has given us to do and not waste our energies in building sand castles on the beach of time, which will not immortalize us, but will be swept away by the waves of oblivion.

Joseph Forgotten.

The name of Joseph was forgotten by the Egyptians because, in the first place, the conditions which made him prime minister of Pharaoh's kingdom had forever passed away. The seven years of famine were gone. The huge granaries in which the product of the seven years of plenty were stored had been emptied and pulled down. The recollections of those weary months, when the great river Nile refused to overflow its banks, had grown dimmer and dimmer. The horses and the cattle and the sheep and the oxen and the men and the women and the children were no longer in danger of starvation. Thus the conditions which made Joseph's name the most potent in all Egypt had gone and been forgotten, and the great prime minister's name had been forgotten as well. When a man's work is done the man as far as the world is concerned ceases to exist. The world does not enjoy plucking in a graveyard nor associating with the dead. It has had enough work to keep up with its living issues without unwrapping the fold of its mummified past.

I come to you today and say: "Tell me the history of the great American political parties. What did the Federalists stand for? What was the great bond which held together the Democratic-Republican party, with Thomas Jefferson at its head? What was the leading issue which made James K. Polk president of the United States? Upon what ground was Texas admitted into the Union?" "Oh," you answer, "I do not know; I have never studied those causes. Those causes are dead issues. I have hardly enough time to keep up with the platforms of our present political parties. I say, as do most men, 'Let the dead bury their dead.'"

I ask you another question, "Who built the Erie canal?" Of course you know that the Erie canal was the most famous piece of engineering ever undertaken in the United States up to that time. What was the history of the "pony express," one of the most daring mercantile enterprises ever started and which once connected the California with the eastern metropolis. You answer: "I do not know, and since the mighty locomotive, with its iron rails, has spanned this continent I am more anxious to study the future of our modern transportation systems than to find out the genesis of our Erie canal or pony express. When the stagecoach and the canalboat have become the relics of a defunct past I say, 'Let the dead bury their dead.'"

It is true of the sociological and scientific world is also true of the domestic and the ecclesiastical. When an issue which has made a man famous passes away the man's work is done and the man's name will surely be forgotten.

Still Another Reason.

But there is another reason why those Egyptians ceased to honor the name of Joseph. The disasters which flowed from the stay of his people in Egypt were so overwhelming that Joseph's services were forgotten. They could not mention his name unless at the same time they recalled the calamities his descendants had brought upon their kingdom. Those Hebrews who were the descendants of Joseph and his brethren were like a small tribe of Indians called the Aztecs, which settled in Mexico. They multiplied rapidly in numbers until they overran and captured the whole land of the Aztecs and brought into the country and with the children of Israel in Egypt. They were multiplying so fast that they threatened to overturn the throne of the pharaohs.

"Joseph? Who was Joseph?" I hear some of the Egyptians ask. "Oh, I know," some one answers. "He is that Hebrew who was captured by a band of roving Ishmaelites and brought into this country and sold as a slave about 200 years ago, under one of the shepherd kings called Aphiolus. Then the story goes that he interpreted some crazy dream of the king and was appointed prime minister. Then he sent to his old home in Canaan and brought down all his brothers and their wives and children. And their descendants multiplied until they have become as numerous as the Hebrews we have with us today." "What! Did all those Hebrews come from Joseph's family?" "Yes, all, all." Then I hear the Egyptians mutter: "Curse him! Curse him! Curse him!" Then the Egyptians forgot all about the days of famine. They forgot how Joseph had saved their ancestors from starvation. They only remembered the fact that the multitudes of threatening slaves at their feet were the descendants of this ancient prime minister and his relations.

Alas, my friend, is it not a fact that the evil we do will live longer in men's minds than the good we do? And the sad fact is, though we may have spent a whole lifetime in good works, yet if we do one wrong that one wrong will be chiseled by man in the solid rock of memory, while the good we do will be forgotten in a day.

The Evil Remembered.

Who was Solomon Spaulding? "Spaulding, Spaulding?" you say. "Was it not Solomon Spaulding who once lived in Pittsburgh? Was he not the man who in 1830 wrote a book to prove that the North American Indians were the descendants of the lost ten tribes of Israel? And was it not this book that Joseph Smith took and afterward called the Book of Mormon, upon which he afterward founded the Mormon church?" Yes, Solomon Spaulding was that man. Is that all you know about him? Well, as far as I can make out, Solomon Spaulding lived just such a life as you and I are trying to live. He was an honest man. He was good to his family. He tried to be of help to mankind. But in his old age, to pass the tedious hours of invalidism, he wrote this book which the charlatan, Joseph Smith, got hold of. And today all the good that Solomon Spaulding ever did has been forgotten. But the one mistake he made will live through the centuries. And so, my friends, if you and I are trying to live among those who come after us there are a thousand chances to one that we then shall be best remembered by the mistakes we have made rather than praised for the good we have done. Joseph, the prime minister who saved Egypt from starvation, was forgotten, but Joseph the ancestor of the Hebrew slaves was remembered. "And there arose up a new king over Egypt which knew not Joseph."

But there was still another reason why the Egyptians ceased to honor the name of Joseph. As a dishonest people ruled by dishonest officials, they did not want to revere the memory of one whose public and private life was pure and spotless and who, through a long premiership, demanded that the Egyptian people should be honest and pure as he was honest and pure. Why, you might as well expect a band of highwaymen or pirates to elect Paul or Jesus for their captain as to expect the dishonest, merciless Egyptians to like a Joseph. What he stood for they did not. What he preached was against every desire of their corrupt hearts.

Joseph Was Pure.

In the first place, Joseph was a pure man in his moral life. He believed that marriage was more than a mere name or a cloak behind which a man or a woman could hide a multitude of sins. He did not believe that as soon as married men or married women became tired of their marital partners they had a right to turn their backs upon each other as one might throw away a bouquet of withered flowers in order to seek some new wild flowers. Neither did he believe in the pernicious, immoral and damning doctrine that a young man, because he was a man, had a right to sow his wild oats wherever he would before his marriage and then on his wedding day swear fidelity to a pure girl and let the filthy buzzard and the spotless dove set up housekeeping in the same nest. If you do not believe that what I say is true, read the Bible account of Joseph's life in the house of Potiphar. His master trusted him. He gave into the young Hebrew's care all that he had. He said to the young man: "Joseph, there is my money, my family and my honor. Protect them. I trust you." And rather than betray that trust, Joseph, with sealed lips, went to poverty and to jail. Oh, ye brazen libertines of high life; oh, ye immoral and wanton debauchees, legalizing your crimes in a divorce court, come today and sit at the feet of this young man of the east and learn the lesson that in Joseph's sight, as in God's sight, the marriage altar is the most sacred place in the universe, next to the great white throne.

But Joseph was more than morally pure. He was financially clean as well. No tainted money stuck to the palms of his hands. There is many a man who is morally pure in his home and good to his family but who is a thief and a robber and who will cheat every one he can deceive in a financial way. "Boss" Tweed, the biggest political thief New York city ever produced, was a devoted family man. The greatest gambler and dive keeper of New York, a man who made millions of dollars out of his dens of infamy and who spent some years in the penitentiary, loved his family with a passionate love. Yes, Joseph was politically clean as well as morally pure. When he gathered up the tenth part of all the grain of Egypt during the seven years of plenty he stored it all in the public granaries. And when the seven years of want came he sold it all back to the people. Not one dishonest coin stuck to his fingers. Thus, because he was honest and made his deputies honest, the dishonest officials hated him and tried to forget his existence. And one of the surest signs that you are pure and true and honest and upright and good is that dishonest people and impure people try to forget your name and push you into oblivion.

Aristides the Just.

You have all heard the story of the great general and statesman Aristides the Just. Tighter and tighter was he gripping the hearts of the Athenian people. Themistocles, his great rival, realized that in a little while, if Aristides was allowed to move among the people, his influence would become so great that no voice would have any power in Athens but his. So Themistocles gathered all the rough and bad elements together and started a movement to banish Aristides from the city. On the day of the election a peasant approached Aristides and asked his help in voting against Aristides. "Why, what damage has he done?" Aristides asked. "Has he done any wrong that you would drive him from this capital?" "No," answered the peasant, "not that I know of. I do not even know him, but it irritates me to hear him everywhere called the Just." And so the carrion birds would, if they could, always drive the clean winged birds from the heavens. The dishonest Egyptians would obliterate the name of Joseph, the prime minister, from the list of their national heroes. And, my brother, if the dissolute do not despise you and the unjust hate you, and the evil minded want to forget you, then you should examine your heart and life, fearing lest you are growing like them. The surest sign on earth that you are living a good, pure life is that bad people want you out of their sight. "Now there arose up a new king over Egypt which knew not Joseph."

But, lastly, I remark that the Egyptians ceased to revere Joseph's memory because they did not believe that the God who sent Joseph to save them was the same God who sent Moses to punish them. And yet is not the Egyptians' error our error? After God for years has been sending to us our Josephs, after he has showered innumerable blessings upon us, are we not apt to say: "God is good." "God is kind and forgiving." "God is loving, and he will never send the rolling surges of his Red Sea of judgment tumbling down upon us." Oh, the long suffering mercy of God! How long, O God, how long wilt thou stay thine avenging hand from us? How long shall we cease to forget that love and trample upon thy patience? Some time ago there came into my possession a wonderful picture. It was one of Dore's masterpieces.

Scene in the Coliseum.

The scene was the Roman coliseum. It was night. All those immense tiers of seats, capable of holding 100,000 spectators, were deserted. There you could see in dim outline. As you looked at them you could see in imagination those seats again filled with the yelling, vociferant multitudes who during the long, hot day just passed had watched the gladiatorial contests and the murdering of the Christians. But, though those tiers of seats were empty, the arena was not. That arena was filled with great piles of human corpses. There were men, there were women, there were children, there were strong limbed men there and old men and old women. But they were dead—all dead. And among the silent corpses you could see the hungry lions creeping or crouching. But over all this scene of death Dore has let a light hover, and through this light can be seen God's angels. With their outstretched wings and outstretched hands blessing the dead—aye, blessing the bodies of the dead, whose spirits were then with God. But as I sat watching that powerful, wondrous picture I kept saying to myself: "God may bless his dead. God may redeem his dead. But God's avenging hand will surely strike those who will persist in striking him. Bloody Nero, didst thou not think God would strike thee when thou didst strike him? Pharaoh, who knew not Joseph, didst thou dream that Moses would yet come to liberate thy kingdom?"

But, though the Egyptians may have forgotten Joseph, thank God the children of Israel did not forget him. I see that great army of 2,000,000 start away from Egypt on that passover night. They are in haste, but they wait at a burial place. They are burdened, but they take up a coffin and carry it away with them. Whose body is it they take? It is the body of Joseph, who was not known to Pharaoh. They carried those bones through the Red sea; they carried them through the wilderness; they carried them over the Jordan; then they carried them near to Jacob's well, where they were buried. So is it with every faithful servant of God. Though the world forgets his services, though his very name sinks into oblivion, his record is written in the book of God's remembrance, and at the resurrection he will stand among the people of God.

TALKING MACHINES

THE NEW ERA'S PROPOSITION AROUSES MUCH INTEREST

You Can Get One Free of Charge, if You Wish, and it is a Daisy.

The New Era's free graphophone offer is proving a winner from the very start. Every since the papers containing full particulars regarding the plan appeared on the street yesterday afternoon, many people have visited the drug store of L. L.

Elgin and asked that the graphophone be played for them. In every such case the listener was thoroughly delighted and nearly all of them expressed the intention of having one of the high class little machines. The volume of sound and the perfect tone given out by the graphophone is remarkable, they being equal in this respect to any of the high price machines. They are very simple in their construction and a child can run them as successfully as a grown person. They have set screws which regulate the speed, the tension and the angle of the record cylinder so that it can be made to play to just exactly suit the listener. Another great feature about the machine is that the needle is permanent and the expense necessary to keeping a supply of needles on hand and the trouble incident to changing them every time a new record is put on, are obviated.

The terms of the offer are most liberal. The New Era gives the machine away absolutely free with every three months subscription to the Daily at the regular price of $1.25 or a year's subscription to the Weekly at $1. Old subscribers can also take advantage of the offer by paying up their back subscription, if any, and the prescribed time in advance. Any one who owns a phonograph will want at least twenty or twenty-five records and therefore the condition that each person who receives a machine shall purchase 20 Columbia records at 25c each or 15 Edison records at 35c each, from Mr. Elgin, works no hardship. These records sell at these prices the world over and even if bought in larger quantities could not be purchased any cheaper. The phonograph will play any standard cylinder record in the same perfect manner as the high priced instruments.

Do not delay but avail yourself of this wonderful offer today and have an instrument in your home which will be a source of constant pleasure to every member of the family.

DOGWOOD DOINGS.

The meeting and dinner on the ground here last Sunday was largely attended, quite a number of people from Hopkinsville being present.

Miss Mina Wood of Sinking Fork spent last week with her sister Mrs. Nick King.

Miss Marietta Merritt of Hopkinsville visited Miss Rosa King Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Alice Yancey spent last week at the home of her father Mr. E. G. Robinson of Bluff Springs.

Miss Lena Foster of Hopkinsville spent several days with her cousin, Miss Bernard King this week.

Miss Eva Underwood was in Hopkinsville last week shopping.

Very little has been said about this being locust year, but they are plentiful in this neighborhood. They can be heard in every direction.

Drs. O. E. Wright and Oscar Barnes were in this neighborhood one day this week.

Little Stella West is spending this week with relatives in Hopkinsville.

Everybody is glad to see a few days of warm sunshine, it reminds us of "The good old summer time."

Mrs. Walton Cobb of Elkton visited Mr. Chas. Carter's family last week.

TRENTON TOPICS.

Walter W. Williams, a carpenter of this place, but who is now in the log business for Dering & Frank, of Hopkinsville, had the misfortune last Monday morning to break his leg four inches above the ankle, by falling from the top of a load of saw logs. Mr. Williams is hard-working and honest, and has the sympathy of the entire community in his troubles.

Lightning struck the top of Mr. Will Camp's fine house last Saturday morning that was built by Forbes Mfg. Co. Considerable damage was done to the roof.

Potato bugs are still holding conference in Trenton. Many delegates are in attendance, and if they hold on much longer an Irish potato famine is expected.

There is a great deal of sickness at this time caused from wet weather and early vegetables. People should be careful how they indulge in garden products or the doctors will become millionaires.

The timber business is getting to be quite important at this place now. Rolland & Sons have quite a lot of logs at the depot for shipment.

Walter W. Williams, who got his leg broken last Monday, has shipped out several carloads and now has several more on the ground for shipment. Such an enterprise brings a lot of money to the farmers.

A gentleman wrote an article a few days ago in which he stated that rural free delivery was running people crazy. We agree with him that it is driving some people crazy, but for the want of it. A man or woman that would go crazy with telephones and free delivery at their command would not have to camp out more than one night.

The heavy rains last Saturday played havoc with corn, tobacco and gardens around this town.

Mrs. V. F. Martin, of Greenville, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. R. A. Williams, this week on Hopkinsville street.

It is being talked on the quiet that a syndicate is being organized for the purpose of converting what is known as the Big pond six miles from Trenton in the Webb neighborhood into a celery farm.

Max Freedburg, one of our up-to-date dry goods merchants, is the happy father of a bouncing baby girl that was born on the eve of the ninth.

Farmers are now busy overhauling their binders and mowers. Soon you can hear the hum of the sickle, and the "bob white" of the quail and then the hum of the thresher, and then fried chicken and open-face pies, and then—yum, yum, yum.
