VOLUME XXVI, NO. 84

NOT YET A LAW

SAYS JUDGE BREATHITT IS TAX REQUIREMENT

Question, Which Passed the Last Legislature, May Be Submitted to the People.

(From Saturday's Daily)

Judge James Breathitt, in an interview this morning, stated that it was his opinion that the item printed in yesterday's issue of the New Era, and which is going the rounds of the Kentucky press, regarding the law requiring voters to pay their taxes before they could vote, is erroneous. Judge Breathitt said that the mistake was one which could very easily have been made.

The constitution of the state of

JUDGE JAMES BREATHITT

Kentucky provides that whenever a constitutional amendment is to be put before the people it must first be submitted to both houses of the legislature and pass them by a three fifths vote. After this has been done it is officially recorded as a part of the proceedings but does not become a law until submitted to the people at the next general election and receives at their hands a majority vote.

The amendment quoted yesterday and which requires voters to pay all state, county, municipal and school taxes at least sixty days before an election in order to qualify them to cast their ballot, was so considered at the last general assembly and did receive the necessary three fifths. It therefore appears in the Acts of 1906, chapter 55, under the heading "An act relating to amendment of section 145 of the constitution relating to suffrage elections." According to Judge Breathitt's view of it, however, this will not really become a law until it is submitted to the people at the election next November and receives a majority of the votes cast on the question.

Long Live The King!

is the popular cry throughout European countries; while in America the cry of the present day is "Long live Dr. King's New Discovery, King of Throat and Lung Remedies" of which Mrs. Julia Ryder Paine, Truro, Mass., says: "It never fails to give immediate relief and to cure a cough or cold." Mrs. Paine's opinion is shared by a majority of the inhabitants of this country. New Discovery cures weak lungs and sore throats after all other remedies have failed; and for coughs and colds its the only sure cure. Guaranteed by Cook & Higgins and Cook's Pharmacy, druggists, 50c and $1.00 Trial bottle free.

GARNETT-DIETRICH NUPTIALS

(From Saturday's Daily)

The many friends of Mr. Karl L. Dietrich, of this city, and Miss Mollie Davis Garnett, of Pembroke, will be surprised, and pleasantly so, to learn that they were married this afternoon at one o'clock at the residence of Mr. W. J. Garnett, a brother of the bride, in Pembroke. The happy couple had been sweethearts since childhood. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. E. Mitchell, of Pembroke, and the solemn vows were taken in the presence of only the immediate families of the contracting parties. Mr. and Mrs. Dietrich will come this afternoon to this city where they will spend several days visiting the groom's parents, Prof. and Mrs. C. H. Dietrich on South Walnut street. The bride is one of Pembroke's loveliest and most attractive young ladies. Mr. Dietrich, who is a young gentleman of splendid worth, has a very responsible and lucrative position at Berwick, Pa., where he and his bride will reside.

CHARLES A. THOMPSON MEMORIAL TABLET

In memory of the late Charles A. Thompson, Mr. Frank H. Bassett, his son-in-law, a past exalted ruler, has presented to Hopkinsville lodge No 545, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, a beautiful memorial tablet of white Italian marble. The tablet is eight feet high and four feet wide and occupies a prominent position in the main room of the Elks' home.

Mr. Thompson was a charter member of the lodge and one of the most beloved members. The tablet, which is handsomely engraved, will contain the names of members of the lodge who have been summoned to the "Grand Lodge above." Since the lodge was organized seven years ago, the following deaths have occurred: Dr. A. E. Bentley, C. B. Smith and J. Guy Duncan in 1903; T. E. Parsons, C. A. Thompson and Henry G. Wood, in 1905; Gus Tandy and H. M. Dalton in 1906; and Ross E. Elgin and W. L. Bamberger in 1907.

The Charming Woman

is not necessarily one of perfect form and features. Many a plain woman who could never serve as an artist's model, possesses those rare qualities that all the world admires: neatness, clear eyes, clean smooth skin and that sprightliness of step and action that accompany good health. A physically weak woman is never attractive, not even to herself. Electric Bitters restore weak women, give strong nerves, bright eyes, smooth, velvety skin, beautiful complexion. Guaranteed at Cook & Higgins and Cook's Pharmacy, druggists, 50c.

Nearly all old-fashioned Cough Syrups are constipating, especially those that contain opiates. They don't act just right. Kennedy's Laxative Cough Syrup contains no opiates. It drives the cold out of the system by gently moving the bowels. Contains Honey and Tar and tastes nearly as good as maple syrup. Children like it. Sold by R. C. Hardwick.

RIGHT BREATHING CURES CATARRH

Simple Way to Kill Catarrhal Germs in Nose, Throat and Lungs.

If you cut your finger you don't attempt to cure it by swallowing a pill or a dose of medicine.

It is just as foolish to try and cure catarrh of the nose and throat with pills and stomach dosing, for catarrh is a local disease, and needs special local healing treatment.

The only natural and common sense method known for the cure for catarrhal troubles is Hy-o-mei. It is breathed through an ingenious pocket inhaler, so that its medicated air reaches the most remote air-cells of the nose, throat and lungs, killing all catarrhal germs, soothing the irritated mucous membranes, and restoring a healthy condition.

If you suffer from catarrhal troubles such as offensive breath, raising of mucus, frequent sneezing, husky voice, discharge from the nose, droppings in the throat, loss of strength, spasmodic coughing, or a feeling of tightness across the upper part of the chest, you should begin to use Hy-o-mei at once. It will destroy all disease germs in the nose, throat and lungs, and provide the blood with additional ozone.

The complete Hy-o-mei outfit with inhaler costs but $1.00. So strong is L. L. Elgin's faith in the power of Hy-o-mei to cure all catarrhal troubles, that with every dollar outfit he will give an ironclad guarantee to refund the money—unless the remedy gives satisfaction.

HIS MEMORY BLANK

HAS NO RECOLLECTION OF WHAT TRANSPIRED.

Was Looking at Some Building Stone When Change Came.—His Condition Is Improved.

The Dawson Oracle gives some further information about the strange case of Dr. J. J. Ezell, of LaFayette, this county:

"Tuesday morning about 2:30 a. m. Dr. J. J. Ezell, who so mysteriously disappeared from this place on the afternoon or night of the 15th inst. knocked on the door at the office of Dr. C. A. Niles, and he was found to be in a very serious condition. Dr. Niles immediately phoned his wife who in company with the doctor's father started for this place and arrived here on the 10 a. m. train.

"Dr. Ezell tells his people that he does not remember anything from the time he left a stone quarry near his home where he had been to look after some building stone that he was having prepared for his new residence. His memory from that time has been a blank. He does not know when or how he came to our city or what has transpired in the past ten days.

"Upon his return Tuesday he said he had been out in the country and had given a boy 25c to bring him to town. His clothing shoes, etc., showed no bad usage and his head looked as if he had been shaved on last Saturday.

"The doctor was later taken to the home of Mr. J. P. Durham and is reported to have passed a very good night and is feeling much better today.

JUDGE LOVING IS GIVEN HIS LIBERTY

Shot and Killed a Young Man Who, He Believed, Had Ruined His Daughter.

HOUSTON, Va., July 1.—After being out for thirty-five minutes, the jury Saturday evening returned a verdict of "not guilty" in the case of former Judge William G. Loving, of Nelson, manager of the Virginia estate of Thomas F. Ryan, who was placed on trial here Monday for the murder of Theodore Estes, son of Sheriff M. K. Estes, of Nelson county. Judge Loving shot and killed Estes April 22 at Oak Ridge, following a buggy ride the dead man had taken with the judge's daughter, Miss Elizabeth Loving, who told her father that her escort had drugged and assaulted her.

After the jury had been discharged Judge Loving, his wife and other relatives shook hands and thanked each juror for the verdict.

YOUTH KILLED IN MANNINGTON WRECK

FREIGHT TRAIN LEFT TRACK AND PLUNGED INTO CAR WHICH WAS USED AS A TELEGRAPH STATION.

Operator Had Just Stepped Out, and His Substitute, Fred Long, Aged Nineteen, Was Terribly Mangled and Killed.—Cars Caught Fire From Oil Tanks and the Property Loss is Very Heavy.

One of the most disastrous wrecks in the history of the Henderson division of Louisville & Nashville railroad was caused Sunday afternoon at Mannington, on the Christian and Hopkins county line, when a box car on northbound freight train No. 28 jumped the track, pulling with it four other box cars and three oil tanks.

One of the box cars plunged into a block station and instantly killed Fred Long who was subsisting for a few minutes for Charlie Francis the regular operator, who had stepped out. Long's body was terribly mutilated and both legs, one arm and his neck were broken.

The tanks were filled with oil and turpentine and these sprang leaks and caught fire which spread to the other cars, all that could not be moved by the engine being destroyed. The track was torn up for a considerable distance and it was nearly midnight, or about ten hours after the wreck occurred, before traffic could be resumed. Wreckers from Earlington and Nashville were sent to the scene. The passengers on the southbound passenger train were sent via Central City to Russellville and to Guthrie and reached this city on the 10:05 train last night.

The block station in which Long was killed was nothing more than a box car which had been set out at that point and fitted up for the use of operators. A new block station had been built within a few feet of the old one but the operator had not taken possession. There is no other depot building at Mannington.

The dead man was only about nineteen or twenty years of age and lived at Mannington. He was a popular and promising young man and his death is generally regretted.

COUNTY WILL NOT BE RE-DISTRICTED

JUDGE BREATHITT SUSTAINS THE EXCEPTIONS TO PETITION AS FAR AS MAGISTERIAL DIVISION IS CONCERNED.

Another Voting Precinct is Established in The City of Hopkinsville and The Polls Will be Located at Cooper's Warehouse.—Will Have No Political Effect.

Judge James Breathitt Saturday afternoon sustained the exceptions lodged by County Attorney Duffy to the petition which was filed some time ago by John P. Prowse and other Republicans asking for a re-districting of the county. Judge Breathitt sustained the exceptions in regard to the magisterial districts but ruled that another voting precinct should be established in the city of Hopkinsville. This was not a contested point, for Democrats as well as Republicans admitted the advisability of having another precinct. The voting place for the new precinct will be at Cooper's warehouse and the boundaries will be: Beginning at Main and Seventh, down South Main to Seventeenth, westward via Seventeenth to High street, thence southward with High street to its termination and continuing on in the same direction to the city limits, or the west boundary of Precinct No. 3; thence with the city limits to West Seventh street and back via Seventh to the beginning.

DEATH OF DR. EATON

NOTED BAPTIST DIVINE CALLED FROM HIS LABOR.

Stricken With Apoplexy on His Way to Fill Lecture Engagements.—Editor and Pastor.

The Rev. Dr. T. T. Eaton, editor of the Western Recorder and pastor of the Walnut Street Baptist church in Louisville is dead.

He was stricken with apoplexy in the waiting room of the depot at Grand Junction, Tenn., Saturday, where he was waiting for a train to go to Mississippi to deliver a series of Chautauqua lectures.

The first news of his condition came to Hopkinsville in a despatch to the New Era which stated he was critically ill from apoplexy.

This was followed by the announcement that the stroke proved fatal.

The Rev. Dr. T. T. Eaton, D. D., LL. D., was born in Murfreesboro, Tenn., November 16, 1845. His father Joseph H. Eaton, was a preacher and educator, and was for a time pastor in Murfreesboro. He was also president of Union University, which he founded in that town. Dr. T. T. Eaton was educated at Union University and afterward studied at Madison University, N. Y., and at Washington college, Lexington, Va.

He served as pastor in the Baptist church at Lebanon, Chattanooga and Murfreesboro; Petersburg Va., and as pastor of the Fourth and Walnut street church in Louisville. On April 18, 1890, he was called to the pastorate of the Louisville church. The call was accepted and he began his work May 1, 1891, which he continued with great success up to the time of his death.

Dr. Eaton was a Confederate Veteran and served throughout the Civil war. He married Miss Alice Roberts, who survives him with the following children: Joseph H. Eaton of Denver, and Mrs. Edward Fasmier, of this city. Dr. Eaton also leaves a sister, Mrs. Josephine Peck, of Louisville, who was formerly a teacher at Bethel Female college.

The silver wedding anniversary of Dr. and Mrs. Eaton was celebrated June 19, 1897, and the members of the church presented the couple with a chest of silver, containing 104 pieces. Dr. Eaton was one of the most prominent members of the Ministerial association. He was a trustee of the Louisville Baptist seminary.

Mrs. Eaton was at Drennon Springs at the time of her husband's death.

CLARKSVILLE SALOONLESS.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., July 1.—The saloons closed Saturday midnight. Saturday one of the largest crowds seen here in years came here and hundreds of jugs were carried home. There were twenty-four saloons in this city and the license expired on July 1. The city officials and the law and order league will take special steps to see that the laws governing the sale of liquor and other intoxicants are enforced.

Charles ("Puss") Morris, a well known saloonist formerly in business here, arrived in the city today from Clarksville. His plans are uncertain.

Judge James Breathitt Saturday afternoon sustained the exceptions lodged by County Attorney Duffy to the petition which was filed some time ago by John P. Prowse and other Republicans asking for a re-districting of the county. Judge Breathitt sustained the exceptions in regard to the magisterial districts but ruled that another voting precinct should be established in the city of Hopkinsville. This was not a contested point, for Democrats as well as Republicans admitted the advisability of having another precinct. The voting place for the new precinct will be at Cooper's warehouse and the boundaries will be: Beginning at Main and Seventh, down South Main to Seventeenth, westward via Seventeenth to High street, thence southward with High street to its termination and continuing on in the same direction to the city limits, or the west boundary of Precinct No. 3; thence with the city limits to West Seventh street and back via Seventh to the beginning.

HIS WATCH STOPPED

AND ENGINEER HAD TO SCOOT FOR SIDING.

Had the 5:18 southbound passenger train crashed into the switch engine and a half a dozen cars Saturday afternoon as they stood on the main track near the turtle north of town, it would probably have been written down as another of the unexplained wrecks which are from time to time recorded. That such a wreck did not occur was due only to the celerity which the crew of the switch engine hustled the cars on to a siding. When the passenger train whistled around the curve for Latham, the new station just across the river, the switch engine and the cars were standing on the main track.

The cause for this was the stopping of Engineer Sam Fleming's watch, of the switch engine. The watch, which is a thoroughly tested and approved railroad man's timepiece, stopped Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock exactly. The engineer knew it was about time for the passenger train but he had a big lot of switching to do and looking at his watch and seeing that there was still eighteen minutes before the passenger would arrive, he decided to make another run with the cars. Hardly had he gotten out on the main track and started off when he heard the hoarse whistle of the incoming passenger train, which at that point hardly begins to reduce its speed. Engineer Fleming at once ran into a siding, but barely had he done so and gotten the switch closed when the passenger train thundered by. The sudden stopping of the watch is inexplicable and is the first time in the course of the many years it has been worn by its owner that it has ever played him such a trick. Needless to say that it is already in the hands of a jeweler for the most careful inspection and readjusting.

Broke a Bone.

While exercising with one of the punching bags at the theaterium Saturday afternoon, Capt. A. G. Chapman made a lick at the bag and instead of hitting it struck his forearm against the side of the machine and fractured one of the small bones of his arm. The injury was given prompt surgical attention and Capt. Chapman is able to be about his usual business.

DR. FOGARTIE RECEIVES TESTIMONIAL OF ESTEEM

REV. J. E. FOGARTIE, D. D.

Sunday night at the Baptist church Rev. J. E. Fogartie was given such a testimonial of the esteem in which he is held in this community as falls to the lot of relatively few men. The church was full of his friends and admirers representing all the churches. A beautiful and appropriate service of song was rendered. Rev. H. D. Smith read the seventeenth chapter of John's gospel. Rev. M. A. Jenkins made the opening prayer invoking the divine favor upon the family and future work of Dr. Fogartie and thanking God for his service in this city.

The sermon of the evening, which was delivered by Dr. Fogartie, was one of the strongest which has been heard here in many years. It was based upon John 17 and treated the matter of the unity of Christians. The preacher said that the unity of believers was inward and spiritual and that it ought to be outward and visible as well; that the Bible knew only one church and that while God overruled even our divisions for good in certain directions we were bound in conscience to strive toward the ideal of the New Testament; that unity was not to be promoted by resolution or argumentation but by each man seeking to come a little closer to Christ in his fidelity to his word in his practical daily life. These things and others he said strongly, succinctly. Those who heard him will not soon forget his ringing yet tender words.

After the sermon a prayer of much earnestness was made by Rev. A. P. Lyon.

In the course of his concluding remarks Dr. Fogartie had spoken some cordial personal words to his fellow-ministers of the town. The association of local pastors responded in the reading by Rev. E. H. Bull, its secretary, of a testimonial which had been prepared for the occasion. The service was closed with singing the familiar hymn, "Blest be the Tie" and the benediction pronounced by Dr. Fogartie. Many lingered after the service to greet the retiring minister.

The testimonial of the association presented by Mr. Bull is as follows: "The Hopkinsville Pastors association, under whose auspices we are assembled tonight, would give public expression of the esteem in which the retiring pastor of the Ninth Street Presbyterian church, Rev. J. E. Fogartie, D. D., Ph. D., is held among his fellow-pastors and in the community at large. In doing this, it would record the following facts and sentiments:

"Brother Fogartie has been the honored president of our association since the removal of Brother Southgate from our midst.

"He has been a pleasant companion, a true and helpful friend to the members of this association.

"He has ever exhibited here, a simple, humble and manly character.

"Brother Fogartie has shown himself to be a man of various and accurate scholarship.—in this respect one of the foremost of the line of Hopkinsville ministers.

"As a preacher, he has been a happy combination of the scholar and teacher, the thinker, and the simple exhorter of his brethren.

"Brother Fogartie has evinced throughout his ministry here, a noble catholicity of feeling. Standing strongly for the things that are peculiar to the Presbyterian church, he has not only seemed to us of the ministry, but to all of us who are here tonight, a Christian, first and chiefly. Both within and without his own church, he has promoted good understanding and fraternity, and has brought a little nearer the gracious and resplendent time, when we shall all be one with a oneness like that of God and Christ; a oneness which shall give us might to conquer the world.

"We would also testify our hearty esteem of his family. They are such a family as honors the holy office of his head.

"We note the departure of Brother Fogartie with sorrow. We shall miss him in many places and ways. We shall be poorer as ministers, churches and community for his going from us. Our prayers will follow him and his family to the new home and the new work to which the providence of God has called them. The gentle, scholarly, manly ministry which he has exer-

REMAIN UNCHANGED

CONDITIONS OF THE TOBACCO MARKET THE SAME.

Prices Are High and the Tendency Is Upward.—All Branches Of the Trade.

The inspector for the local tobacco market did not issue his usual weekly report for last week, waiting until the month closed and giving out his monthly report instead. The conditions on the local market remain unchanged. Prices continue to rule high and slowly but steadily climb higher. The condition has been reached where sellers cannot offer tobacco fast enough to the buyers and the latter are forced to wait until it can be sampled for them. Also instead of the sellers submitting samples to buyers the latter now solicit the former for offerings. On account of the short crop which has been planted and the existing dry weather at present which is regarding the growth of that already set out, all indications are that the high prices will continue and that next season's quotations will be materially advanced over this year.

The local salesman of the Planters Protective association sold 401 hhds of the weed during the past week. This branch of the market is keeping up with the general market in the rush of business. Prices last week ranged from $6 to $8.50 for lugs and from $9 to $13 for leaf. In many instances tobacco sold at from 25c to $1.50 per hundred higher than the schedule calls for.

All the rehandling houses with the exception of the American Snuff company's plant has finished working up their purchase and the snuff company is winding up rapidly. The last to close was the Italian Regie. The inspector's report for the general market is—

TRAIN WAS SAFE

And Had Been Several Minutes Before Whistle Sounded.

(From Tuesday's Daily)
E. F. Cofer, yardmaster for the L. & N. railroad at this place, states that a wrong impression was created by the article in yesterday's New Era which stated that on account of the stopping of Engineer Sam Fleming's watch, of the switch engine, a head end collision between the switch engine and the southbound passenger train was narrowly averted Saturday afternoon. Mr. Cofer states that when the passenger train passed that the switch engine was safe on the side track and that it had been standing there for several minutes before the passenger train whistled.

MAN KILLED

Presumably By An Illinois Central Train at Dawson.

The body of an unknown man was found beside the Illinois Central tracks at Dawson early Saturday morning. It is supposed that he was killed by a passing train during the night. It was not learned here whether there was anything on his body by which he could be identified. The county undertaker took charge of the body, which is supposed to be that of a tramp.

GOETHALS TO QUIT

HIS JOB ON THE PANAMA CANAL IN NEAR FUTURE

Head of the Engineering Corps is Said To Have Resigned.—A General Shake-Up Feared

WASHINGTON, June 29.—Another shake-up is feared in the personnel of the Panama Canal Commission and in the corps of engineers engaged in the vast enterprise. There is a well-defined rumor that Major Geo. W. Goethals, of the Engineering Corps of the U. S. Army, has asked that he be relieved of the position of member of the Canal Commission and engineer in charge of the digging of the canal.

Many believe the rumor, which, if

When Chief Engineer Stevens resigned, Goethals was sent to the canal in charge of the work, it being believed an army officer would finish the work and not resign. But it is said the "dirt hasn't been flying as fast under Goethals as when Stevens was there."

This, it is said to the credit of the officer, is not because of his incompetency, but because Stevens had the faculty of inspiring his men to greater tasks.

It is also said the offices of general auditor and general purchasing agent of the commission will be abolished. These offices pay $10,000 a year, which is more than senators get and almost as much as the secretary of war, who is the head of the work gets.

The work of the auditor has to be "O. K'd" by the auditor of the war department before bills are paid. The war department's auditor draws but $4,000 a year.

It is argued these two positions are but a few of the unnecessary ones on the canal that will be abolished in an effort to retrench.

It is also declared the Isthmian Canal Bureau, in Washington, will be abolished, and the entire office force, or such part of it as is considered necessary, will be transferred to the Canal Zone, where they will be closer to the work they are supposed to do. Several hundred men and their families will be affected by such an order.

Foot Wasn't Squirrel.

Mistaking a foot of his companion for a squirrel, Emmett Haydon shot and seriously wounded Thomas Dillman, near Casky. The entire charge took effect in his leg and back. Surgeons succeeded in extracting two dozen shot.

Recalls Invitations.

Miss Ethel Sights has recalled invitations for a reception in honor of her guest, Miss Mary Clark, of Hopkinsville, on account of the death of Mrs. Henry Bradley.—Paducah News-Democrat.

Death of Child.

(From Tuesday's Daily)
James Albert, the twenty-months-old son of Capt. J. W. Riley, of Newstead died this morning at 7 o'clock of pneumonia. Funeral services will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at Capt. Riley's home and the body will be brought here and buried in Riverside cemetery.

On Horrible Charge.

Lee Flowers, colored, was arrested and placed in jail this morning on a charge of incest. Flowers was arrested by Constable T. S. Winfree on the farm of T. J. McReynolds where he was helping in the wheat threshing. He claims that he is innocent of the charge. The warrant was sworn out by an uncle of Flowers' daughter, his alleged victim.

Picnic Postponed.

The barbecue which was announced for tomorrow by the Modern Woodmen of America at Campbell's cave has been postponed until some future date.

GEORGE W. GOETHALS.

It is true, will mean that the work of digging the canal will be delayed further.

It is said a shake-up in the membership of the commission will also mean that Jackson Smith, of Cincinnati, will not return to the canal as a member of the commission.

HAGER'S PLATFORM.

In making the race for the Democratic nomination for governor, Judge Hager, in a speech rendered to the Democrats before whom he was a candidate, an account of his stewardship, and he could have no better platform in a contest with the Republicans than that accounting. In that accounting he said:

"For six and one half years I have occupied the position of a public servant, four years as treasurer and two and one-half years as auditor. By virtue of these offices I have been a member of the board of valuation and assessments. As auditor I am chairman of that board. The duty of this board is to assess all corporate interests. I have always sought, without fear or favor, to require all such interests to bear their just and due proportion of the burden of taxation, and have put forth an earnest effort to compel the corporations to come up to the full requirements of the revenue laws, and to place all interests on an equal footing in the matter of taxation. The values of corporate franchises have been materially increased during my tenure in office and this has been accomplished without undue oppression of any interest, in strict compliance with the law, against which no protest can be registered. While accomplishing these results, it has always been my endeavor to so administer the responsibilities of this office as to encourage and invite capital to invest in this state, and I am pleased to note a most gratifying increase in foreign capital which is seeking and finding investment here. Should I receive the nomination and be elected to the office to which I aspire, my attitude will continue the same, and as far as lies to my power, I will see that the laws of the commonwealth are impartially enforced without fear or favor so that the prime objects of government are attained in securing to all the people of the state the right of life, liberty, property and the pursuit of happiness."

As an official Judge Hager has, at every point, lent assistance to Governor Beckham and stood with him in the fight he has been waging for better observance of the laws of the commonwealth. He has not hesitated to declare himself, in no uncertain terms, as favoring the temperance legislation enacted by Democratic legislators, and to say that he will, if elected governor, use his every prerogative to enforce the laws upon the statute books of Kentucky, and to enlarge the scope of the county unit laws. He is a fit and proper successor to the present chief, executive of the commonwealth, and since selecting him as their standard bearer in the campaign about to begin, the party leaders have the utmost confidence in his being able to carry the Democratic banner to another victory.

Goes to Texas.

James Watson, the popular and efficient young dry goods man, has resigned his position with the John Monyon company and left this morning for Fort Worth, Texas, where he has accepted a position with the E. H. Lowe Dry Goods company. The change is a promotion and carries with it a handsome increase in salary. Mr. Watson's many friends here regret very much to see him leave Hopkinsville and their best wishes follow him to his new home.

KENTUCKY STATE FAIR IN PERMANENT HOME

Racing Plant Was Equipped Last Year As Western Jockey Club Course —Price $200,000.

The Douglas Park racing plant, equipped last year as the Western Jockey club course, following the formation of the American Turf association, was sold to the Kentucky state board of agriculture for $200,000. The plant will hereafter be the home of the Kentucky state fair association. The plant was sold by Louis A. Cella, of St. Louis.

There are 129 acres, and the improvements, worth more than $200,000, are both new and modern. The grandstand is of steel and concrete, and the stables, for exhibition purposes as well as for stall use, are excellently constructed. The stall room will meet all demands. The mile track is acknowledged to be the fastest for trotting exhibitions in the world. Large trees and waving bluegrass are to be found throughout all the grounds.

The Kentucky state fair is destined to become the greatest annual exhibition in the south. Within a few miles of the center of population of the United States, the attendance should reach annually into the hundreds of thousands, nine great railroads centering in Louisville. Surrounded by the best live stock sections of the country, close to the best in agriculture and horticulture, in a state and near states whose women make needlework and table luxuries the equal of any communities, the exhibitions will be worth a long journey. Secretary R. E. Hughes invites correspondence on any subject touching state fair matters. Catalogues are ready.

JOHN D. IN THE ROLE OF A HUMAN FLEA

Officers Are Seeking Everywhere For The Richest Man In The World But He Has Not Been Located.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER IN HIS NEW WIG.

NEW YORK, July 2.—The search for John D. Rockefeller by United States Marshal Henkel and half a dozen deputies, who wish to serve him with a subpoena is still unrewarded, and Mr. Rockefeller's whereabouts are as much a mystery as ever. Three other Standard Oil officials, Charles M. Pratt, I. O. Bartow and William M. Hutchinson, have been served with subpoenas. It ought to be easy to locate Rockefeller but he is a regular Will-o-the-Wisp. It is claimed that he has been seen in the last few days at Pittsfield, Mass., Onela Lake, Tarrytown, Cleveland, O., Findlay, O., and in this city.

"I am looking for him, and if I don't find him today the search will be extended all over the United States," said Marshal Henkel.

Henkel wants to serve Rockefeller with a subpoena to appear before Judge Landis in Chicago on July 6, to tell about the Standard Oil Co's finances.

BY NIGHT RIDERS

SEVEN ACRES OF TOBACCO PULLED UP

Henry Collier, of Montgomery County, The Victim.—Had Promised To Join Association

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., July 2.—Sunday night the farm of Henry Collier, in the sixth district of this county, was visited by night riders and they pulled up six or seven acres of tobacco which had been recently planted. Mr. Collier had been a member of the association for two years, but both times is said to have sold his crop independently. This year he promised to join and stick to his pledge and he was requested to go before the members at a recent meeting of the association here and state his intentions. He was detained, however, from so doing by the illness of one of his children.

His tobacco crop is ruined on account of scarcity of plants and cannot be reset. There is no clue to the guilty party and this is the first occurrence of this kind in this county, where the night riders have resorted to pulling tobacco up after it had been planted.

HOGS DYING

By Scores From Strange Disease in Christian County.

A strange disease has broken out among the hogs in Pee Dee and other sections of the county, and scores of them are dying. When first attacked the animals lose the use of their legs and their hoofs swell to three times the usual size. Some die in a few hours while others live a day or so. Thus far all experiments have failed to furnish a remedy.

P. M. Owen has a 12-acre field of fine Eureka corn, which he is raising for seed purposes. Parties wanting the best seed corn should look at this field 2 miles from Hopkinsville on Cox Mill road.

BRYCE IS UPHELD

British Ambassador Did Not Overstep Diplomatic Privileges.

WASHINGTON, July 2.—The state department will take no action regarding the report that British Ambassador Bryce, in a recent interview, overstepped diplomatic proprieties in comment on the proposed constitution of Oklahoma. Acting Secretary Adee declared there was no reason why Bryce should be called upon for an explanation.

BLACKBERRY CROP

Is Practically a Failure.—Housewives Are Distressed.

It is reported that the blackberry crop will be practically a failure. The bushes bloomed luxuriantly and gave promise of a heavy yield, but now those who have examined the berries declare that nearly all of them are small, hard and knotty and for this reason the larger portion of the crop will not be worth the gathering. This will come as a blow, especially to the housewives. The fruit crop is almost an entire failure as were strawberries, and now that the dewberries and blackberries have also failed to mature into the luscious fruit the women are at a loss what to preserve.

STANLEY A CANDIDATE

HENDERSON, Ky., July 2.—Congressman A. O. Stanley, of this city, who is now serving his third term in congress, will be a candidate to succeed himself.

A Remarkable Tribute is Paid to Francis Murphy, the Celebrated Apostle of Temperance.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 2.—While the body of the late Francis Murphy, the famous temperance lecturer who died here Sunday, lies in state, all the saloons in the city, as well as the business houses generally, are closed. Mr. Murphy died at the home of his daughter after three weeks illness.

He first came into prominence as a temperance advocate in Pittsburg in 1876. Under his leadership a blue ribbon propaganda resulted in thousands of men signed the "Murphy Pledge," and attracting national attention.

Fifteen meetings were held in Library Hall, following which a call for funds was made to carry on the campaign in other cities.

In a few minutes prominent and wealthy men who had become followers of Mr. Murphy subscribed $15,000. Subsequently meetings were held throughout the United States.

WILL STAY.

Talmage Sermon

By Rev.
Frank De Witt Talmage, D. D.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 30.—In this sermon, appropriate to the nation's birthday, the preacher recalls the events that have contributed to our country's greatness and traces the Divine hand guiding its destinies. The text is Psalm xxxvii, 11, "Surely I will remember thy wonders of old."

During the coming week we celebrate our birth as a nation. Our topic this morning, therefore, should be patriotic. The text I have chosen invites us to reminiscence, and the reminiscence need not be limited to our own lives. Like our famous writer, Edward Everett Hale, our thoughts may well include "The Memories of a Hundred Years." That book deals, for the most part, with the youthful history of this nation. When I think of the Revolutionary war and the signing of the Declaration of Independence and the forming of the constitution of the United States and the political supremacy of Washington's government, I always think of our government as a new born baby in its swaddling clothes. But when I think of the government of Jefferson, Madison and Monroe and the great causes which led up to our civil war I think of the boyhood and young manhood of our country. It is about this development of our government that I would like to speak today. Such a theme should offer us a wide scope for a national sermon.

As I read that interesting book the fact which forced itself upon me was that in the beginning of the last century the complete unification of the United States government had not been established. Dr. Hale well said: "On the 1st of January, 1801, the United States was a belt on the Atlantic seaboard of thirteen poor and weak communities, occupying territory which hardly ran back more than 150 miles from the ocean. They had united themselves, but they did not know that they were a nation. Even the statesmen of that day would have written, 'The United States are ready' or 'are prepared,' while an officer of ours today would say, 'The United States is ready' or 'is prepared.'" In other words, though the constitutional convention which formed the original thirteen colonies into a federation had assembled in 1787, yet up to the latter part of John Adams' administration the different states still thought the central government was of minor importance and that the state legislatures had more power than the national congress.

I knew this fact was true of the beginning of George Washington's administration, but I did not think it was so clear down through John Adams' term. When the first president was inaugurated in New York city, it was almost impossible for him to get strong men to take positions under the United States government. In the United States government today the most important position next to the presidency is that of chief justice of the supreme court of the United States. Yet John Jay, the first chief justice of the United States supreme court, resigned his seat in order to be a candidate for governor of New York, in which contest he failed. Washington had the hardest work to obtain proper men for his cabinet. John Marshall, who afterward became the great chief justice of the United States supreme court, refused the position of attorney general, preferring to remain a member of the Virginia state senate.

As an illustration of the low estimate placed on positions in the United States government in the beginning of the last century we find De Witt Clinton, a United States senator from New York in 1801, resigning his position in the United States senate in order to become the mayor of New York city. Can you dream of anything that would be more incomprehensible to the statesmen of the present day? The idea our early statesmen had of the union of the states seems to have been that of a bond but little closer than an alliance such as might bind two friendly European countries. But as they came to realize that the union was one for mutual strength and protection the importance of the central federation assumed greater proportions. And so, my brothers, as we thank God today that the United States government has grown into a cohesive unity we should not be bitter or harsh in our criticism of those statesmen who in 1861 still believed that the single commonwealth was supreme. John C. Calhoun's advocacy of state sovereignty was the natural sequence of the thought, which was almost universally prevalent when Thomas Jefferson became president, that the United States was a confederacy of seventeen commonwealths rather than a single government of which the different states were only integral parts.

The State Sovereignty Idea.
So universal was the idea of state sovereignty in Washington's time that when the first president made his famous tour of the New England states the governor of Massachusetts at first refused to call upon George Washington when he came to Boston. He practically said, "I hold as independent a position as the president, and he must come to me before I go to him." Mark you, this action of the governor was not in South Carolina or in Georgia or in the "black belt" of Mississippi, but in old Massachusetts, the home of Garrison and Wendell Phillips. The de-we have now learned that the United States is a nation.

Another fact which forcibly struck me in Dr. Hale's autobiography was the immense amount of unoccupied land which the United States government possessed which had not then been explored and which the leading statesmen did not expect to utilize for a century at least to come. They took possession of this land not because they wanted it, but because they were afraid somebody else might want it, and then there would be two nations upon the American shores instead of one. Not even the prime movers in the Louisiana purchase had any true conception of the great national bargain.

"So little did Livingston know what he was doing," writes Dr. Hale, "that in the letter in which he announced to President Jefferson Napoleon's amazing offer and his own conclusion of the great purchase he says, 'I have told them that we should not send an emigrant across the Mississippi in 100 years.'" So little did the government know of the region it had purchased that President Jefferson, a short time after Louisiana had been ceded to our government, had to send out the Clark and Lewis expedition to find out what kind of a region it was and whether the people could live there at all. And one of the chief reasons, wrote Dr. Hale, why the New England states opposed the Louisiana purchase was because their own population was so meager and they were afraid that this new region of the far west might draw some of their people away and leave the farms of the New England valleys untended. In other words, what I wish to know is that the great west, which came into our possession during the earlier part of the last century, was not only undesired land, but that God forced it upon an unwilling people in order to work out the destiny which he had for it to do. The American people as a nation have had greatness thrust upon them. While God was laying the foundation of this future greatness in its great landed territories the American people, from President Jefferson down, were almost unanimous in their vehement protest.

The Guidance of Providence.

If it were not for the fact that I believe the Lord God of the hosts of Moses and Joshua is guiding this nation, I would say that the acquisition of our great territories was nothing but a long series of haphazard luck. The way we became possessed of Louisiana was as undesigned and unsought as is our present possession of the Philippines. When the Spanish-American war broke out, most people had never heard of the Philippine Islands. Admiral Dewey, with his fleet, was ordered from Chinese harbors. Where could he go except to Manila? Then, after we took Manila, we were in the position of Abraham Lincoln's hunter holding on to the tail of a running bear. He was afraid to hold on and equally afraid to let go. Most of us today do not want the Philippines. The American army officers and navy officers do not want them. But how can we unload the burden? God has thrust them on us, and for the present we must keep them. So God in the beginning of the last century thrust the great Louisiana territory upon us. Our forefathers did not want the land, and yet they were afraid to refuse it. Such was the condition of the American people during the occupancy of the White House by President Thomas Jefferson.

But with their wonderful background of unlimited, unexplored land, about which the people knew but little and cared less, Dr. Hale introduces us to two men who were so to aid in the national development as to render this great heritage of territory a national necessity. These two American patriots were not warriors. Neither had ever unsheathed a sword. They were not wizards of the pen, like Washington Irving or like James Fenimore Cooper, who did for the Indian wigwam what the romantic Sir Walter Scott did for the Scottish moors. They were not silver tongued orators, like Harrison Gray Otis or Pinckney or William Wirt. They were simple mechanics and inventors. They were humble men, but they were social revolutionists. The name of the one hero was Robert Fulton, that of the other, Eli Whitney. They each presented a priceless gift. One gave to America the steamboat, the other the cotton gin. With those two gifts these two geniuses revolutionized the map of the new world.

Before these two men came upon the scene the history of the American people was mainly the history of many different localities. Each locality, to a great extent, existed independently of every other locality. The men for the most part dressed in homespun. The women darned their children's stockings, wove their own garments and made their own rag carpets. No man could make money off the communities in other parts of the land, because the cost of transportation would eat up all the profits. "The reader of today hardly remembers," writes Dr. Hale, "that there were times when the market cost of a bushel of corn was spent when it had to be carried forty miles. As late as 1830 I heard the jest which ridiculed an emigrant from Massachusetts by saying that he left his home a year before to go west with a jug of molasses to use in trade and that he returned at the end of the year of adventure, having made enough in bargaining to pay him for the jug." When the man of one state had to carry his goods to another state by wagon and horse, the cost of transportation obliterated all the profit, and thus communities in the beginning of the last century lived almost entirely independent of each other.

Fulton's Invention.

But one day Robert Fulton lifted his magic wand. Then the "chu-chu-chu" of the steamboat was heard. Then the Mississippi and the Ohio and the Hudson and all the great rivers of our country became blackened with smoke. Then the emigrants of the east went west. Then the merchandise and the foodstuffs were carried from one part of the land to the other. Then Eli Whitney lifted his magic wand, and the cotton planters carried their great bales of cotton down to the wharves. There they were loaded upon Robert Fulton's steamboats and carried to the New England factories. Thus, as if by magic, the industries of one part of our country clasped hands with those of other parts of our country, and our great forests were cut down, and villages and towns and cities sprang up. Thus the two mightiest nation builders of the beginning of the last century were not two statesmen, but two inventors, who made it possible for the industries of our country to be developed and our lands to be covered with the busy lives of human life.

Thus I want you in this great national holiday to realize that the greatest men of our nation are not the soldiers, though you dare speak one word against the men of the sword and of the gun, who won us our national liberties and protected us when we were in danger? They are not the statesmen, although the pens of Livingston and of Adams and of Jay have drawn for us the map of this western republic. But they are the heroes of civil life. They are the farmers and the manufacturers. They are the builders of our great railway systems, and the educators in our schools of technology, and the developers of the brain and the moral stamina. They are the men, like Fulton and Whitney, who teach us how to live and how to make the most of our life. And yet, strange to say, while Robert Fulton and Eli Whitney in America were revolutionizing the map of the new world James Monroe, the American secretary of state, sneeringly said to the French minister, "People in Europe suppose us to be merchants, occupied exclusively with pepper and ginger. They are much deceived, and I hope we shall prove it. The immense majority of our citizens do not belong to this class, and we are controlled as much as you Europeans by principles of honor and dignity. I never knew what trade was, and the president is as much a stranger to it as I." Do you wonder that Robert Fulton and Eli Whitney should have been the indirect results of the life work of Fulton and Whitney? And, my friends, shall we who know how much honest labor has had to do with making this nation what it is—were we today to despise the calloused hand of the laborer and the honest toiler in the nation's industries?

What Defeated Adams.

Another impressive truth emphasized by our author which many of us need reminding of, is how little things inevitably decide the policies of the men who control the destinies of the nation. As the falling of a stone may change the course of a running brook, insignificant things may change the course of our lives, and they do continually change them. Dr. Hale tells us that one of the great causes of John Quincy Adams' defeat for the presidency was the fact that he had introduced a billiard table into the White House. Many things less than a billiard table have decided the careers of the world's greatest men.

Study the life of Abraham Lincoln. How many little things decided that career! Take him, for instance, when he was a little boy of eleven years of age, falling into a deep pool in the creek and nearly drowning and only saved by the presence of mind of a boyhood companion not as large as himself, who extended a stick to him and pulled him out when he was about to go down for the last time, or that other most remarkable incident of Lincoln's life, when, after his defeat for re-election to congress in 1849, he turned his face homeward without a dollar in his pocket. His law practice was gone. His political position was gone. Everything seemed to be against him. At this critical moment President James K. Polk offered him the governorship of the territory of Oregon. Supposing he had accepted that position, as he nearly did, what would have happened to us as a nation? When the civil war broke out, would Lincoln have been standing in Edward Dickinson Baker's shoes as the United States senator from Oregon? Might not William H. Seward or S. P. Chase have been delivering the inaugural address as president of the United States in 1861? Had the great forensic foe of Douglas been removed from the senatorial battleground of Illinois, what would have been the outcome of our civil strife? These are mighty questions, and yet these are all dependent upon the "yes" or "no" which Abraham Lincoln gave to President James K. Polk in 1849 in reference to the governorship of the far away Oregon territory.

And then as I delve into the autobiographical recollections of Dr. Hale and into the life stories of other Americans I cannot but read strange signs of the times as I loiter by the tombstones of some of the nation's many men who died in young manhood. I cannot but say to myself, "What would have been the history of this country had the brilliant elder brother of Ralph Waldo Emerson lived? Far more brilliant was he than the Concord sage. He was the Arthur Hallam of Harvard. He had just entered the law, and all success was to be his. Yet he went out one cold night and made a speech, and pneumonia set in, and in a few hours he was dead. What would have been the history of the civil war if Sargent S. Prentiss had lived? He was the most brilliant orator the south ever sent to congress. Yet he was cradled among the Maine pines. He was born only one year previous to Abraham Lincoln. What would have been the history of this country if Henry Clay's brilliant son had not been killed in the Mexican war or if Webster's brilliant son had not lost his life in the same international strife? These are questions which I love to ask for many reasons. It is to prove to you and me that no question in our lives is too insignificant to weigh carefully. We may think we are deciding an insignificant matter, but that seemingly insignificant decision may govern not only the destinies of our own lives, but the destinies of many lives directly or indirectly dependent upon us.

Another Lesson.

Another great lesson which we learn is that each generation has a different and a distinct work to do. When we go back to the time of Bradford and Miles Standish, there we find the stern stuff of a Puritan life. The foundations of national character had to be laid. There we found men who were hewers of great rocks of truth. They were a hard headed set. They did not believe in flowers and rainbows and apple blossoms. But they had a great work to do. Foundation stones are rarely beautified by the sculptor's chisel. They must be laid in the dirt. But they are the most important stones in the temple of national life. Thus these broad brimmed Puritans did their work well, for they laid for the nation the foundation stones of moral character and spiritual truth.

Then came the age of Washington, Samuel Adams, Otis and Franklin. They were builders of our political and constitutional life, as the Puritans were the builders of the nation's spiritual and moral life. Then came the early years of Edward Everett Hale's own life. That was the growing age of our nation, the time of acquisition of extensive territory, of new states and the scatterings of many peoples. Then came the emancipation age of Lincoln, Seward, Grant and Lee and Alexander H. Stephens. That was the age when the many states were welded into one firm, unbreakable nation. Ours is the age when we are to battle for social rights and for the downfall of the saloon and for the triumph of God's church and for the union of all hearts as brothers. Wealth, untold wealth, is ours. The greatest international influence is ours. And now we are to put the capstone upon the national temple, and that is the capstone of righteousness. My brother, can you not see the work God has given us to do for him and for our native land, which we all should love better than our own lives?

Thank God for the Fourth of July of 1776, when this nation was born. May we in this century as a nation have the new birth, when all American peoples shall bow the knee and worship the only King who will ever be worshipped on these American shores—King Jesus, whose service shall forever make us free—free from sin and free to have a part in his everlasting love!

PERFECT CONFIDENCE.

Hopkinsville People Have Good Reason for Complete Reliance

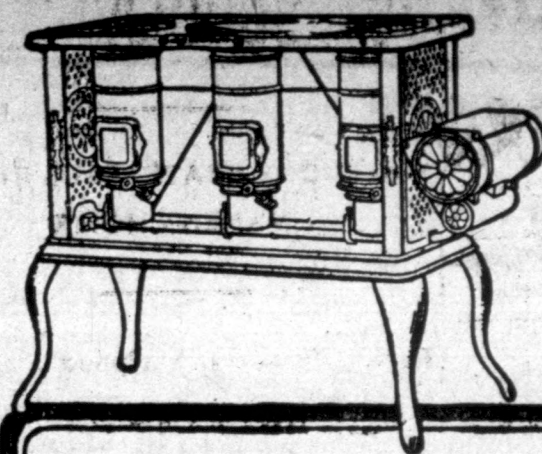

Do you know how—
To find quick relief from backache
To correct distressing urinary ills:
To surely cure sick kidneys?
Just one way—your neighbors know
Have Used Doan's Kidney Pills;
Have proved their worth in many tests.

Here's Hopkinsville testimony.
Mrs. W. C. Davis, 829 West Seventh street, Hopkinsville, Ky., says: "Mr. Davis has never had an occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills or any other kidney medicine since he recommended them in the summer of 1903. For years prior to that time he had been an almost constant sufferer from kidney trouble. He had intense pains in the back which extended to his shoulders and annoyed him all day. They prevented him from sleeping during the night. The relief he obtained from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills which he got at L. A. Johnson & Co.'s drug store was surprising. They acted differently from any remedy he ever tried and he has never had a recurrence of the trouble since using this valuable remedy four years ago. It speaks pretty strongly for Doan's Kidney Pills that cured him."

CHAPTER IV.

HERE fell a clear September night, when the moon was radiant over town and country, over cobbled streets and winding roads. From the fields the mists rose slowly, and the air was mild and fragrant, while distances were white and full of mystery. All of Bath that pretended to fashion or condition was present that evening at a fete at the house of a country gentleman of the neighborhood. When the stately junket was concluded it was the pleasure of M. de Chateaurien to form one of the escort of Lady Mary's carriage for the return. As they took the road Sir Hugh Guilford and Mr. Bantison, engaging in indistinct but vigorous remonstrance with Mr. Molyneux over some matter, fell fifty or more paces behind, where they continued to ride, keeping up their argument. Half a dozen other gallants rode in advance, muttering among themselves, or attended laxly upon Lady Mary's aunt on the other side of the coach, while the happy Frenchman was permitted to ride close to that adorable window which framed the fairest face in England.

He sang for her a little French song, a song of the voyageur who dreamed of home. The lady, listening, looking up at the bright moon, felt a warm drop upon her cheek, and he saw the tears sparkling upon her lashes.

"Mademoiselle," he whispered then, "I, too, have been a wanderer, but my dreams were not of France; no, I do not dream of that home, of that dear country. It is of a dearer country, a dream country—a country of gold and snow," he cried softly, looking at her white brow and the fair, lightly powdered hair above it. "Gold and snow and the blue sky of a lady's eyes!"

"I had thought the ladies of France were dark, sir."

"Cruel! It is that she will not understand! Have I speak of the ladies of France? No, no, no! It is of the fairest country—yes, 'tis a province of heaven, mademoiselle. Do I not renounce my allegiance to France? Oh, yes! I am subject—no, content to be slave—in the land of the blue sky, the gold and the snow."

"A very pretty figure," answered Lady Mary, her eyes downcast. "But does it not hint a notable experience in the making of such speeches?"

"Tormentress! No. It proves only the inspiration it is to know you."

"We English ladies hear plenty of the like, sir, and we even grow brilliant enough to detect the assurance that lies beneath the courtesies of our own gallants."

"Merci! I should believe so!" ejaculated M. de Chateaurien, but he smothered the words upon his lips.

Her eyes were not lifted. She went on: "We come, in time, to believe that true feeling comes faltering forth, not glibly; that smoothness betokens the adept in the art, sir, rather than your true—your true?" She was herself faltering; more, blushing deeply and halting to a full stop in terror of a word. There was a silence.

"Your—true—lover," he said huskily. When he had said that word both trembled. She turned half away into the darkness of the coach.

"I know what make you to doubt me," he said, faltering himself, though it was not his art that prompted him. "They have told you the French do nothing always but make love, is it not so? Yes, you think I am like that. You think I am like that now!"

She made no sign.

"I suppose," he sighed, "I am unris'nable. I would have the snow not so cold—for just me."

She did not answer.

"Turn to me," he said.

The fragrance of the fields came to them, and from the distance the faint, clear note of a hunting horn.

"Turn to me."

The lovely head was bent very low. Her little gloved hand lay upon the narrow window ledge. He laid his own gently upon it. The two hands were shaking like twin leaves in the breeze. Hers was not drawn away. After a pause, neither knew how long, he felt the warm fingers turn and clasp themselves tremulously about his own. At last she looked up bravely and met his eyes. The horn was wound again—nearer.

"All the cold was gone from the snows—long ago," she said.

"My beautiful!" he whispered. It was all he could say. "My beautiful!" But she clutched his arm, startled.

"Ware the road!" A wild halloo sounded ahead. The horn wound loudly. "Ware the road!" There sprang up out of the night a flying thunder of hoof beats. The gentlemen riding idly in front of the coach scattered to the hedge sides, and, with drawn swords flashing in the moon, a party of horsemen charged down the highway, their cries blasting the night.

"Barber! Kill the barber!" they screamed. "Barber! Kill the barber!"

Beaucaire had but time to draw his sword when they were upon him.

"A moi!" his voice rang out clearly as he rose in his stirrups. "A moi, Francois, Louis, Berquin! A moi, Francois!"

The cavaliers came straight at him. He parried the thrust of the first, but the shock of collision hurled his horse against the side of the coach.

"Sacred swine!" he cried bitterly. "To endanger a lady, to make this brawl in a lady's presence! Drive on!" he shouted.

"No!" cried Lady Mary.

The Frenchman's assailants were masked, but they were not highwaymen. "Barber! Barber!" they shouted hoarsely and closed in on him in a circle.

"See how he use his steel!" laughed M. Beaucaire, as his point passed through a tawdry waistcoat. For a moment he cut through the ring and cleared a space about him, and Lady Mary saw his face shining in the moonlight. "Canaille!" he hissed as his horse sank beneath him, and, though guarding his head from the rain of blows from above, he managed to drag headlong from his saddle the man who had hamstringed the poor brute. The fellow came suddenly to the ground and lay there.

"Is it not a compliment," said a heavy voice, "to bring six large men to subdue monsieur?"

"Oh, you are there, my friend! In the rear—a little in the rear, I think. Ha, ha!"

The Frenchman's play with his weapon was a revelation of skill, the more extraordinary as he held in his hand only a light dress sword. But the ring closed about him, and his keen defense could not avail him for more than a few moments. Lady Mary's outriders, the gallants of her escort, rode up close to the coach and encircled it, not interfering.

"Sir Hugh Guilford!" cried Lady Mary wildly, "if you will not help him, give me your sword!" She would have leaped to the ground, but Sir Hugh held the door.

"Sit quiet, madam," he said to her. Then, to the man on the box, "Drive on."

INTERESTING SUIT

IN WHICH THERE ARE TWENTY-FIVE PLAINTIFFS

Alleged That Concessions On Timber Land Were Secured by Fraud From Aged Woman.

In a suit of equity which was filed Tuesday by Judge C. H. Bush, the names of twenty-five people appear as plaintiffs, which is probably the greatest number of names so used in any case ever filed in this court. The suit appears on the records as Amanda Wilson, et al., vs. O. B. Deason and Joe Deason, trading and doing business under the firm name of Deason Brothers, M. H. Dukes, Ang Long and Frank Mullin. Aside from the features already referred to the suit is an interesting one.

Filed with the petition is a timber contract signed by Mrs. Amanda Wilson which conveys to Deason Brothers the timber rights of a tract of land of about 200 acres, about fifty acres of which is cleared. The contract further gives them the privilege of ingress and egress to and across the land at their pleasure, the water privileges as they desire and a five-acre tract rent free for five years to be used as a saw mill site. The consideration named is $15.

The plaintiffs allege that the contract was secured by fraud, they stating in the petition that Mrs. Wilson is about seventy-eight or seventy-nine years of age, bedridden and in such mental condition that she could not realize the scope and extent of the provisions of the contract and the value of the rights she was signing away. It is further claimed that she did not possess the right to make such a contract. The petitioners claim that the timber rights on the place are worth from $500 to $1,000, that the water privileges are valuable and that the unlimited permission given to the defendants to go and come as they please over the farm seriously threaten to cause it much damage. They claim that already enough timber has been cut to amount to $250 for which amount they pray.

Deason Brothers sold the contract to M. H. Dukes, Ang Long and Frank Mullin and it is these latter persons who have set up the mill upon the farm and are now operating it and cutting the timber. The petition also prays for an order of the court restraining the defendants from further cutting and sawing of the timber.

JOHN STEELE DEAD

PASSES AWAY AFTER ILLNESS OF LONG DURATION

(From Wednesday's Daily)

Died this morning between 4 and 5 o'clock at the residence of Miss Lucy Whitlock, Mr. John Alexander Steele, aged 45 years. John Steele was the son of Dr. Moses Steele, one of the most prominent physicians of the county, and Mrs. Lou Steele, both of whom died a good many years ago. He was a brother of the late Mrs. Susie Anderson. Mr. Steele leaves a widow and three daughters. Mr. Steele had been in poor health for a long time and for several months had been an invalid. Heart trouble and a complication of diseases caused death. He was a member of the Presbyterian denomination, and his funeral will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. W. L. Nourse. The remains will be taken from this city tomorrow morning to Newstead when at 10 o'clock the interment will take place in the family burying grounds.

ON BURNED BARNS

Insurance Men Say They Will Pay No More Losses

The Louisville Times says: The insurance men of the state at the meeting held at Mammoth Cave determined that they will pay no more losses on barns burned by the "light riders" in the western part of the state. Most of the companies are now refusing to write this business at all. The underwriters say that they intend to use every effort to discourage this incendiaryism, and believe that the refusal to pay losses will be a discouraging effect on the barn burners.

BANKS OF THE CITY

ISSUE STATEMENT THAT ARE CAUSE FOR PRIDE.

In the Best Of Condition And Are an Index Of Hopkinsville's Unparalleled Prosperity.

The semi-annual statements of the five banks of Hopkinsville show that all the financial institutions are in the best of condition and that judging from their reports the people who patronize them are very prosperous. Hopkinsville is proud of her banks for all five of them are enjoying a big business and nowhere are there any stronger institutions of the kind nor any which are more conservatively and more safely managed.

The reports show that the resources and liabilities of the five banks amount to the enormous sum of $2,278,148.99. The individual deposits show the large total of $1,574,887.61, this representing the amount of money in the banks which belongs to the individual customers scattered about throughout the city and the surrounding country. This is a most gratifying showing for it means that the farmer and the town man are equally prosperous and that a large proportion of the citizens have a snug little amount laid up. The loans amount to $1,401,084.80. The surplus, which speaks most satisfactorily of the condition of the banks, amounts to $450,700. These figures show a nice increase over the report issued January 1, which was then considered high water mark.

ANOTHER DELAY

It was expected that the delivery of the $100,000 worth of Christian county road bonds to E. H. Rollins & Sons, of Chicago, and the payment of the principal, together with the $7,750 premium, would be made Wednesday at the meeting of the fiscal court. The firm which secured the contract for lithographing the bonds failed to deliver them and it is said they may be delayed several days longer. Until these are received the final winding up of the deal will be held up.

The fiscal court named Sheriff David Smith as the treasurer for this amount. Mr. Smith has agreed to handle the funds without compensation. The various banks of the city made strong application for the deposit of the $100,000 and the magistrates decided that the three banks which would offer the best rate of interest would be made the depositaries. The fiscal court will meet again next Tuesday morning.

A Winchester Triumph.

The great American shooting classic—the biggest trap-shooting event of the year—known as the Grand American Handicap, held at Chicago, June 18-21, resulted in an overwhelming victory for Winchester Shells and Winchester Shotguns. The Professional Championship was won by W. R. Crosby, of O'Fallon, Ill., and the Amateur Championship by Hugh M. Clark, of Urbana, Ill., both shooting Winchester "Leader" Shells. In the Grand American Handicap, W. J. Marriott, of Fort Collins, Col., shooting a Winchester Shotgun and an Illinois amateur, shooting Winchester "Leader" Shells, tied with one other shooter. The Preliminary Handicap was won by Geo. L. Lyon, with a Winchester Shotgun. High average for the tournament was won by John R. Taylor, of Newark, Ohio, with Winchester shells and a Winchester Shotgun. This remarkable list of winners for Winchester Shells and Guns in an entry of 452 of the very best shots in the country is incontrovertible proof of the high merit of these goods, which are growing more popular every year amongst all classes of shooters.

SHROUD OF FLAMES

MRS. DEASON FATALLY BURNED
NEAR BELL'S CHAPEL

Lamp Exploded in Her Hand And Her
Clothing Caught Fire.—Her
Sufferings Terrible

Mrs. M. G. Deason, wife of R. W. Deason, died at 6 o'clock Wednesday morning from burns received Tuesday night, says the Pembroke Journal.

Mrs. Deason, who was separated from her husband, lived alone at her home near Bell's Chapel, except for a brother who lived in a small house in the yard. At about 9 o'clock Tuesday night an oil lamp in Mrs. Deason's room began to flicker and she picked it up and started to the door to throw it out, when it exploded. Her clothing was covered with oil and in an instant she was ablaze from head to foot. She ran to her brother's room and fell upon the floor.

Dr. W. A. Lackey, of Pembroke, responded to a hurry call and did all that he could to alleviate the awful sufferings of the unfortunate woman, as an examination of her injuries showed there was no hope whatever of saving her life.

Every thread of clothing the woman wore was burned from her body, and she was almost a solid blister from head to foot. Probably the worst burn, however, was over the bowels, where the flesh was literally cooked. The attending physician states that her sufferings was the most intense he had ever witnessed.

Mrs. Deason was about 38 years of age, and had been married twice, her first husband being the late John Finch. After his death she married R. W. Deason, but they had lived apart for some time. The remains were buried in the Tabernacle grave yard, near Fairview yesterday.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

How To Find Out.
Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine, or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar bottles. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When you write mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.

Tobacco Growers.

Forty counties will be represented at the meeting of the tobacco growers of the entire state, which is to be held at the board of trade on July 17. It is hoped that at this meeting an organization can be perfected which will unite all the growers of both "bright" and "dark" tobacco. It is said that if organized, the new company would be a holding one for the tobacco raised by all its members.—Louisville Times.

Last spring it seemed as though I would die, and I think I would if I hadn't taken Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I have been troubled with it since until this week, when I had a very severe attack and took half a bottle of the twenty-five cent size Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and this morning I feel like a new man." For sale by Anderson-Fowler Drug Co., the leading drug store, 9th and Main, Hopkinsville.

Gave a Dinner.

Mrs. J. W. Coombs gave a dinner at her home on "Palmyra Hill," in honor of her sister, Mrs. J. Roach of Sebree Springs and Mrs. Roach's daughter, Mrs. Cloe Gauch, of Evansville, Ind. ### Take the Postmaster's Word for It

Mr. F. M. Hamilton, postmaster at Cherryvale, Ind., keeps also a stock of general merchandise and patent medicines. For sale by Anderson-Fowler Drug Co., the leading drug store 9th and Main, Hopkinsville.

WITH BLOODHOUNDS

ESCAPED JAILBIRDS WERE TRACKED TWO MILES.

Sawed Their Way Out of the Trigg
County Bastile and Are Now at Liberty.

(From Friday's Daily)

In a jail delivery at Cadiz last night, two prisoners, Tom Young, under sentence of two years for housebreaking, but whose case had been appealed, and Harry Lancaster, charged with the same offense, but who had not been tried, made good their escape. The men had been allowed the freedom of the main corridor during the day and when Jailer Timmons went into the jail soon after supper for the purpose of locking them in their cells for the night, they begged to be allowed to remain in the corridor until later on account of the heat. The jailer agreed and did not return to lock them up until about 9 o'clock, when he did so he found his prisoners gone, they having sawed a bar in the window and let themselves down by a blanket.

Jailer Timmons telephoned here at once for bloodhounds and Councilman E. H. Armstrong and Policeman George McChord left at once with the dogs. They arrived about 2 o'clock this morning and the dogs took the trail almost immediately and followed it for about two miles west of Cadiz where it was lost and could never be regained. It is thought the fugitives got into a buggy at this point.

How the men secured the tools with which they cut the bar in the window is a mystery.

The Doctor Away From Home When Most Needed

People are often very much disappointed to find that their family physician is away from home when they most need his service. Diseases like cramp colic and cholera morbus require prompt treatment, and have in many instances proven fatal before medicine could be secured or a physician summoned. The right way is to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. No physician can prescribe a better medicine for these diseases. By having it in the house you escape much pain and suffering and all risk. Buy it now; it may save life. For sale by Anderson-Fowler Drug Co., the leading druggist, 9th and Main, Hopkinsville.

The New Era's free phonograph offer will close on July 10. Don't be left out of this marvelous offer.

A Memorable Day.

One of the days we remember with pleasure, as well as with profit to our health, is the one on which we became acquainted with Dr. King's New Life Pills, the painless purifiers that cure headache and biliousness, and keep the bowels right. 25c. at Cook & Higgins and Cook's Pharmacy, druggists.

"BLUE DEVILS"

Get Rid of Indigestion and Things Will Look Bright and Joyous.

Even in the present era of prosperity and good times everything appears black to those people who are suffering wretchedly from some form of indigestion. Where digestion is quick, complete and easy there is a joyous and hopeful outlook, but indigestion causes depression.

The want of safe, effective cure for sick headache, indigestion and stomach troubles, was always felt until the prescription known as Mi-o-na stomach tablets was put up in popular form and proved its invariable success in the many forms of indigestion.

After a few days use of Mi-o-na stomach tablets the headache, dizzy feeling, drowsiness, bad taste in the mouth, coated tongue, nervousness, sleeplessness, distress after eating—all these symptoms of a weak stomach—will disappear and perfect digestion and a good skin will show that the vital machinery is once more running smoothly.

Mi-o-na is to be taken before each meal and it will stimulate the secretory and digestive juices and strengthen the whole of the digestive system so that the unpleasant full feeling will be absent and indigestion prevented.

Mi-o-na tablets are sold only in a neat metal box convenient for the vest pocket and cost 50 cents. L. L. Elgin has seen so many cures made by Mi-o-na stomach tablets that he gives a guarantee with every box that the money will be refunded if the remedy fails to give satisfaction.
