Wholesale Prices Shoot Up 1.1 Percent In July

By EILEEN ALT POWELL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — After three months of moderation, wholesale prices shot up 1.1 percent in July, reversing the fast inflationary pace that prevailed at the start of the year, the government said today.

The Labor Department laid much of the blame on rapidly rising energy prices.

The wholesale price of home heating oil rose 9 percent from June to July. Continuation of that rate for a full year would more than double the price by mid-1980. Gasoline prices went up 3.9 percent in July.

The rapidly rising energy prices pushed up by 1.4 percent the cost of all non-food items in the department's compilation of wholesale prices.

This boost was not offset, as expected, by food prices, which showed no change last month after dropping in the three previous months.

Wholesale prices had risen a modest 0.5 percent in June.

July's 1.1 percent rate, which would produce an annual rate of more than 10 percent if continued for 12 months, was comparable to price increases of 1 percent or more from December 1978 through last March.

"Energy prices are still going quite strong," said John Early, chief of the Labor Department's division of industrial prices. "But finished goods other than energy and food were up 0.8 percent. The price increases were pervasive."

Although prices paid farmers have been moderating, the trend has not extended through the distribution system to grocery stores. This has prompted the Carter administration to announce several steps designed to remedy the situation.

On Wednesday, the Council on Wage and Price Stability criticized food industry middlemen — processors, wholesalers and retailers — for large increases in their markups in the second quarter of this year.

The increases mean thousands of dollars to Americans, who pay for the markups. Consumers spend an estimated $170 billion on groceries a year.

The council, which oversees President Carter's voluntary wage and price guidelines, also said Wednesday it has notified 37 of the nation's 225 largest food companies that they may not be in compliance with the price standard. The companies were not identified.

Only a day earlier, the president had told a Baltimore audience middlemen and retailers were "profiting excessively."

Carter plans to meet with industry leaders to discuss the problem, according to Alfred E. Kahn, the president's chief inflation adviser. No meeting date has been set, the White House press office said.

Food industry officials say they are not particularly pleased with the administration's approach. They are, they say, as much the victim as the cause of inflation.

Robert O. Aders, president of the Washington-based Food Marketing Institute for wholesalers and retailers, said rising food prices "reflect government imposed costs and red tape along with outrageous fuel and other energy cost increases."

He added, "If the seasonal pattern holds, grocery prices will continue to ease off."

Gas Price In State Up 26 Cents Since Jan. 1

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The price of a gallon of gasoline has jumped 26 cents in Kentucky since the first of the year, including last week's average 1-cent increase, according to the weekly survey by the Bluegrass and Louisville automobile clubs.

The survey of service stations along Kentucky's major highways showed $1-a-gallon has become a reality in the Bluegrass State, with average per-gallon costs at full-service pumps averaging 96 cents for regular, $1.05 for premium and 99.5 cents for unleaded.

Prices at self-service pumps ranged 3½ to 5 cents lower, with the average price per gallon at 90.7 for regular, 96.7 for premium and 94.7 for unleaded.

The cost of a gallon of diesel fuel also increased — by less than a penny — to average 93.3 cents.

The survey also showed a marked improvement in the availability of gasoline in Kentucky. Thirty-seven percent of the stations — or 10 percent more than last week — said they would be open after 8 p.m. Monday through Friday, and 61 percent expect to be open after 6 p.m. Saturday.

More stations also will be open on Sunday. The survey showed 37 percent expecting to be open Sunday, and 14 percent of the stations providing 24-hour service.

Only 10 percent of the stations surveyed reported being out of one or more grades of fuel, compared with 16 percent last week.

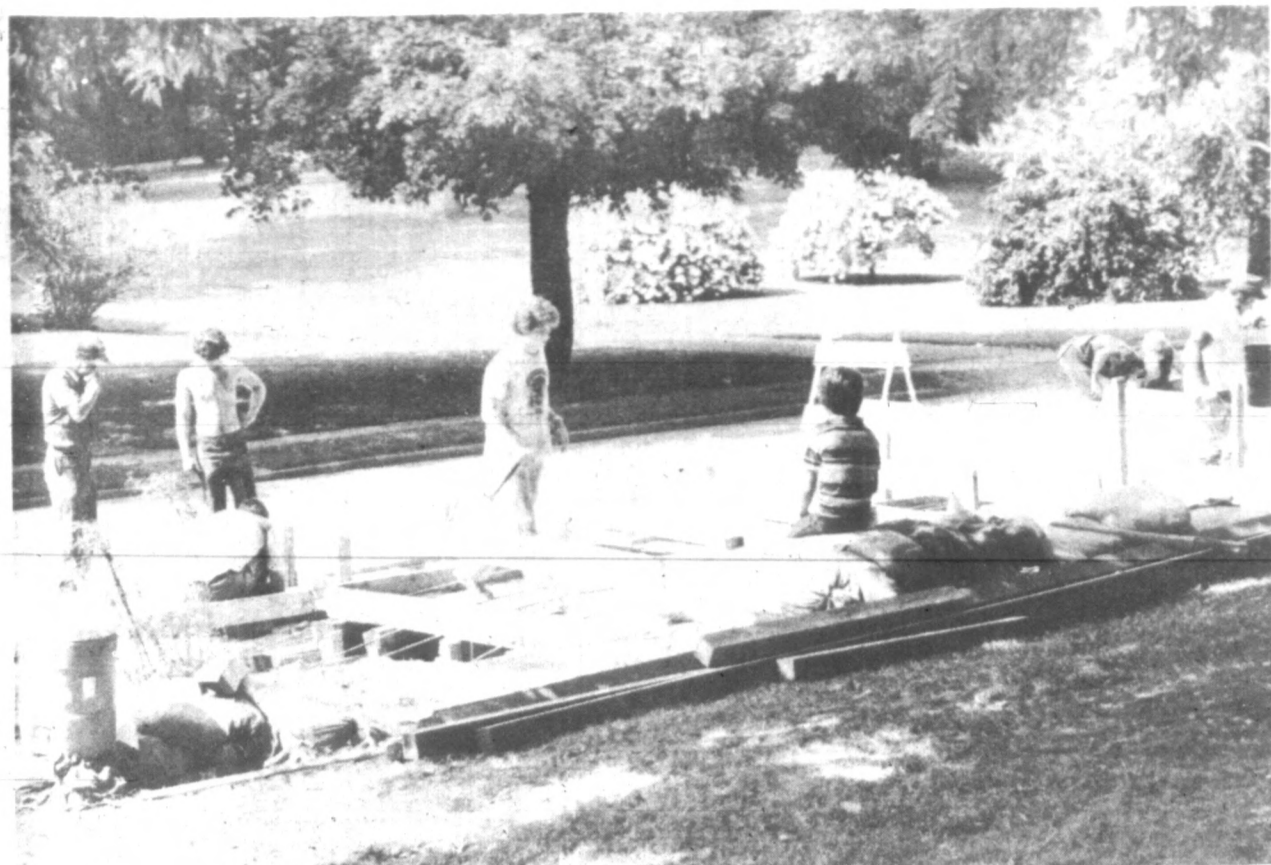

Filing Deadline For Loans To Farmers Nears

The deadline is approaching for filing applications for Farmers Home Administration Emergency Loan assistance for farmers who had crop losses as a result of the 1978 drought.

The filing deadline for Calloway County farmers is Aug. 23, while the deadline for Marshall and Graves county farmers is Aug. 30.

Any farmer in Calloway, Graves or Marshall counties who had a 20 percent reduction in crop yields because of the drought may qualify for a low interest loan to allow him to continue his farming operation.

Persons interested in further information or wishing to file an application should contact the FmHA office in Mayfield. The office is located on Old Jimtown Road off Highway 45 North. The phone number is 247-9525.

NEW WIDER SIDEWALK — City street department employees are building walls and flooring for a new sidewalk on a portion of Olive Street between Seventh and Eighth Streets. The sidewalk has been repaired many times during the past 10 years, according to street department superintendent Ray Clark. This time, however, the sidewalk collapsed during the repair process and the department is rebuilding it. In addition, it will be widened from four feet to eight feet.

Local Citizens Will Assess YMCA Interest

A group of local citizens are interested in assessing the community's interest in starting a YMCA facility in Murray.

"We feel there is a definite recreational need for people in the area, especially youth," Chuck Wynn, spokesman for the group, said. "The YMCA can supply a very adequate facility for family recreation," he continued, adding that the type of facility provided will depend upon the community's needs.

The idea of a local recreational facility began with the concept of a youth center, a concept which several community organizations and churches have discussed from time to time. Wynn said he proposed the idea of a YMCA facility because it could be used not only as a youth center, but also as a family center.

"The YMCA was a large part of my childhood," Wynn said when speaking of the success of the organization in his hometown of Sioux Falls, S.D. "It was a place to meet your friends on weeknights and Saturdays and enjoy wholesome fun and healthy competition."

He said that many different sports, from swimming to basketball to weightlifting, could be incorporated into the YMCA building. Memberships, individual as well as family, would be available for a nominal fee.

Planning Commission To Hold Next Meeting On Tuesday, Aug. 21

The Murray Planning Commission will hold its next regularly scheduled meeting at 7 p.m. Tuesday, Aug. 21, at City Hall.

Items on the agenda include the appointment of a mobile home committee; discussion of the alley between Sharp and Olive from 12th to 8th Streets; discussion of the acceptance of streets in Canterbury Subdivision; discussion of the make-up of the Transportation Advisory Committee; and the setting of a public hearing for the adoption of the Land Use and Housing Plan.

Admission: Is Your Property Assessed Accurately?

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky Supreme Court Justice Marvin Sternberg summed up the human side of property taxes in an opinion he wrote last year:

"Where would a person be found who would admit that his property is either underassessed or overassessed until the assessment has been made?"

"It is like standing among a crowd of preachers and inquiring for a sinner," the judge wrote. "There undoubtedly would be one among so goodly a crowd, but it is seriously doubted that it would be admitted."

Apparently few Kentuckians are aware that state law requires property owners to list the value of their real estate with the Property Valuation Administrator before March 1 each year.

Most people — as Justice Sternberg noted — wait until the assessment notice comes in the mail toward the end of May, and then react.

Few complain if the assessment is too low. If a property owner believes his assessment is too high, he has the right to inspect the local tax rolls and appeal the assessment during a five-day period beginning the first Monday in June.

That entitles him to a brief hearing before a citizens appeal board appointed by the county judge-executive.

The board, or boards if there are more than 100 appeals, usually are composed of three members. All are to be "reputable property owners" who have lived in the county for at least five years.

State law requires at least one board member to have extensive knowledge of real estate values, with the remaining members having a general business or farming background.

However, in cases where several appeals boards must be set up — such as in Fayette County where more than 5,000 appeals were filed this year — it may be that not all the boards include a member knowledgeable about real estate values.

The board notifies the taxpayer by mail of its decision within a few days. If the taxpayer is still unsatisfied, he can appeal his assessment to the three-member state Board of Tax Appeals

Authorities Look Into Ways For Winter Warmth

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation may be sweltering in August's heat and humidity, but authorities are looking ahead with new concern about how people will stay warm this winter.

One pessimistic report was issued Wednesday by House investigators. Another equally dim report by private surveyors was being released today.

The issue is home heating oil — its price and availability. Wednesday's House report concerned itself with availability. Previous reports on pricing have suggested the cost could jump at least 15 cents a gallon, approaching $1 a gallon in some areas.

The staff report of the House Small Business subcommittee on antitrust and restraint of trade said many heating oil distributors are behind schedule in filling customers' tanks.

The National Oil Jobbers Council has surveyed 6,500 independent oil dealers and was to release its report today.

The House report noted that staff members surveyed heating oil jobbers in Iowa and that "76 percent ... report their summer fill of home heating oil tanks is running behind where they normally would be at this time of the year."

within 30 days, attaching a copy of the local board's decision.

The board is a part-time panel appointed by the governor, composed of an attorney and two others with a general business background. All must be over 35.

Seats on the board usually go to friends of the administration. The chairmanship pays $27,500 annually; the other two members earn $25,000. Appointments must be confirmed by the state Senate.

Current members are Joseph E. Ballard of Madisonville, head of Ballard Enterprises; William Gentry of Bardonia, an attorney whom Gov. Julian Carroll previously named to the old Public Service Commission, and Roy Stevens, a former aide to the governor who stepped down last week as state finance secretary.

The board hears appeals on every kind of tax from all 120 counties, with most appeals scheduled two days a month in Frankfort. In the case of property tax appeals, members of the board visit the various county seats.

One board member usually hears cases on behalf of the entire panel.

A court reporter is present at the hearing, which is public, but no transcript is provided unless requested.

The taxpayer may present his own case or be represented by an attorney. However, no one may speak on behalf of another taxpayer unless that person is also there. Taxpayers may bring witnesses.

The board generally makes a decision in about a month. If a taxpayer still feels wronged, he may appeal to circuit court.

During any appeal to the board or beyond, the property owner is required to pay the amount of tax owed on what he believes to be the fair assessed value of his property. He must pay 6 percent interest on any additional tax owed at the conclusion of his appeal.

By SY RAMSEY
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A state commission has taken a backhand slap at South Central Bell Telephone Co., refusing to grant a raise in its basic charges and issuing an order for it to appear and explain service deficiencies.

The utility Wednesday was granted only 18 percent of a $44.6 million rate increase request by the Utility Regulatory Commission.

None of that included basic service, so such rates by users will not be affected.

The increase applied to miscellaneous charges such as for connections, directory listings and auxiliary equipment.

The commission in another order directed the utility to appear Sept. 12 to show why some service deficiencies cannot be corrected.

It said it "intends to take the necessary steps" to correct the shortcomings.

The commission said it is "deeply disturbed" by the number of "held" applications for service — those not acted upon — and the "company's inability to provide the type and grade of service desired by the customer."

For example, a spokesman said, there has been lack of response to requests for one-party lines by two-party customers and to reduce the number of party lines from eight to four homes.

"These concerns have been addressed in previous rate orders," the spokesman said. "The commission feels they have not been adequately remedied."

The increase granted will allow South Central to earn 9.53 percent on the year-end adjusted net investment in telephone plant devoted to intrastate customers, according to the state commission.

The total additional rate granted annually was $8,052,000.

Attorney General Robert Stephens had fought the original 15 percent increase, declaring it would be the fourth by South Central in less than four years and is considerably higher than President Carter's inflation guidelines.

Had the state granted the utility's basic rate raises, it would have added from $2.45 to $3.61 to the basic residential charge.

South Central had asked also for an immediate $11.6 million boost. That was turned down weeks ago by the regulatory commission.

The utility contended generally that its current 11.5 percent rate of return on equity is lower than other firms with similar risk, is too low to attract new capital on reasonable terms and is too low to maintain the company's financial integrity.

It called for a return ranging up to 15 percent.

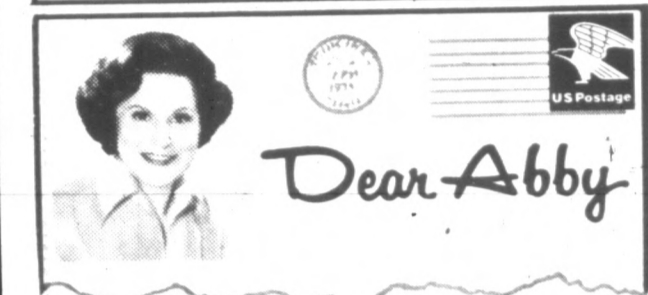

A YANKEE UPRISING? — No, it's just the Troopers from Casper, Wyo., performing in the drum and bugle corps exhibition Wednesday night at Roy Stewart Stadium. The uniforms worn by the Troopers are replicas of the uniforms of the United States 11th Cavalry. Several of the top international drum and bugle corps participated in the event.

Dear Abby

Dog Owners: No Parking!

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a volunteer with the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. So far this summer we have had several cases of pets who were overcome by heat prostration after having been left in automobiles parked in the hot sun.

A few years ago you had a terrific piece in your column about this problem. I am enclosing it. Would you please consider a rerun?

EILEEN R. IN DOVER, DEL.

DEAR EILEEN: You're doggone right I will!

DEAR PET OWNERS: With summer here, please do not take your pet along for the ride and leave him locked in a parked car while you run errands and shop.

When the temperature is 85 degrees outside, the temperature inside a parked car (even with the windows slightly open) will reach 102 degrees within 10 minutes. And in 30 minutes it will reach 120 degrees!

The normal body temperature of a dog is approximately 102 degrees, and it can withstand approximately 108 degrees for a very short time before suffering irreparable brain damage or death.

If you must leave your pet locked in a parked car—leave him home!

P.S. My pet consultant says, "NEVER park a car in the sun—even with the windows open—if a pet is inside."

DEAR ABBY: I have a strange problem. Should I be the matron of honor at my ex-husband's wedding?

I know the woman he's marrying (slightly) but we're really not all that close. I neither like nor dislike her. I still can't figure out why she asked me.

My husband has asked our two children, ages 5 and 9, to be in the wedding party, so, of course, they will be there. I am not carrying the torch for my ex, but I have no desire to attend this wedding.

How should I handle it? I don't want to make up any lies.

EX-WIFE WITH NO REGRETS

DEAR EX: Why lie? Decline with thanks. It's not necessary to explain why.

DEAR ABBY: Did a letter in your column ever ring a bell with you?

Upon retiring and moving to San Diego several years ago, we started to hear from acquaintances from our home state. They said, "We've heard so much about San Diego—we'd love to come out and spend a week or so with you—seeing the sights and enjoying the weather."

Here's how we handled it: We'd write back saying, "We're so happy you're planning to come to San Diego. When you get here and get settled, be sure to give us a ring. We'd love to get together for a drink."

You'd be surprised at the number of people who wrote back to say, "We've changed our plans... we'll take a rain-check."

We enjoy guests, but not the type who invite themselves.

NO FREELOADERS IN S.D.

HEALTH

A basic diet

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Please send me The Health Letter number 4-7 on Weight Lossing Diet. I'm 23 years old and I have lost 48 pounds in the last year. I've done it by eating less and cutting down on sweets. Recently I have noticed my hair is falling out and I'm just recovering from mono. I'm 5 foot 5 and wonder what I should weigh and need to know my daily requirements to maintain good health. I'm a beauty operator and very often have little for lunch. What would you suggest for an adequate lunch?

DEAR READER — First, congratulations for getting rid of a lot of excess fat. You should be very pleased about that. There is such a thing as overdoing it. You can cause yourself serious health problems by excessively restricting diets. Let's face it—it's a form of starvation.

You also had the good sense, apparently, to lose weight at a rate of only about one pound a week. That's plenty. If people would just be sensible enough to expect to lose weight over a long period of time rather than on a crash diet, they would get along a lot better.

Allbritten Home Is Scene Of Meet For Providence Club

Mrs. Jim Allbritten opened her home for the last meeting of the New Providence Homemakers Club with ten members one visitor present.

The lesson on "Recycle Your Wardrobe" was presented by Peggy Taylor who had several garments from her closet to show recycling ideas. Patsy Pittman, president, presided, and Mrs. Allbritten gave the devotion on "Prayer." Beth Falwell read the minutes and financial report in the absence of Karen Housden.

Two games were led by Fonda Grogan with Mrs. Pittman and Mrs. Falwell as the winners. Crafts were displayed.

Reports of the Southern Cooking School and the Defense for Women Program were given by those who were in attendance.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Allbritten.

The September meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Maudie Kennerly.

Now why is your hair falling out? It's probably because you've been on a calorie-restricted diet too long. Regardless of all the advertisements you read, in the final analysis severe restriction of calorie intake in any form of diet for a sufficient length of time will have its effect.

This was demonstrated years ago at the University of Minnesota that young active men placed on a 1600 calorie a day diet had hair loss. The biggest problem here, of course, is not having an adequate amount of complete protein in the diet. But to use that protein as protein rather than burning it up for energy, you have to have an adequate calorie intake as well.

That kind of hair loss is temporary and new hair will grow back in. You can also have hair loss after an illness or operation so I can't totally exclude the possibility that infectious mononucleosis may have been part of your problem. That, too, is temporary.

I am sending you The Health Letter that you asked for. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents in check or coin with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019. This is a balanced diet and will provide

Mrs. David Palmer

Hostess For Meet

Of Wadesboro Club

The home of Mrs. David Palmer was the scene of the afternoon meeting held recently by the Wadesboro Homemakers Club.

Mrs. Wayne Hardie, president, presided. New members present were Mrs. Sue Miller and Mrs. Pawnee Bedwell.

The same slate of officers was elected for the 1979-80 club year.

Others present were Mrs. Wes Fulton, Mrs. Dorothy Fulmer, Mrs. Gladys Mitchell, Mrs. Gusta Conner, Mrs. Ernest Futrell, Mrs. Max Hurt, Mrs. Danny Cunningham, Mrs. Clarence Culver, Mrs. Baron Palmer, and Mrs. Lowell Palmer.

The club will meet Wednesday, Sept. 19, at 1:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Baron Palmer.

vide adequate amounts of protein, vitamins and minerals.

You shouldn't stay on this diet too long either. You should think of it as the basis for whatever diet you need and you can add to it any foods that you like in order to have a calorie intake that satisfies your body needs and maintains your body weight at the level that you want.

Now about how much you should weigh. We do have tables for that. For your height and age, you're supposed to weigh about 119 pounds. None of these tables are really accurate. They don't really consider the difference in body composition—how much of your body is fat and how much is muscle. The only really good way to know whether you're too fat or not is by measuring the amount of fat underneath your skin.

Fast lunches can be a problem. I often recommend uncreamed cottage cheese with unsweetened pineapple or some other unsweetened fruit of your choice. Then you can take a low-calorie soup with you in a thermos jug.

Recent Bride Is Honored With Shower

Mrs. Everett Dale Hart, the former Beverly Ann Garland, was honored with a shower, prior to her recent wedding, at the Federal Savings and Loan Community room.

The hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Martha Jo Rogers, Mrs. Wanda Garland, Mrs. Janet Vowell, Ms. Betty Jean Bray, Miss Cindy Hart, and Miss Lisa Ann Garland.

Silk corsages were presented to the honoree, her mother, Mrs. Junior Garland, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Floyd A. Hart. All corsages were made and designed by Mrs. Debbie Doran.

The guest register was attended by Miss Lisa Garland, sister of the honoree. Green sherbet, punch, cake, mints and nuts were served from silver and crystal appointments on a beautifully decorated table centered with a floral arrangement of yellow and orange carnations.

The honoree opened her gifts and displayed them for her guests to view. Thirty-eight persons attended.

Mattie Lee Buster Gives Lesson, Paris Road Meet

"Recycle Your Wardrobe" was the lesson presented by Mattie Lee Buster at the last club meeting of the Paris Road Homemakers Club held at the Colonial House Smorgasbord.

Mrs. Buster said take an old garment, use a little imagination, and give it a new personality.

The devotion on "Prayer" was given by Lucille Grogan who said "prayer is an art and privilege and must be cultivated."

Barbara White, president, presided and presented the lessons for the coming year which were selected by the members. Sally Henson, secretary, gave her reports. Amy Wilson led in some quiz games.

New officers elected for the 1979-80 club year were Margaret Roach, president; Topsy Brandon, vice president; Sally Henson, secretary-treasurer; Amy Wilson, recreation; Lucille Grogan, cultural arts; Charlene Curd, family life; Mary Alice Gee, publicity; Louise Dunn and Della Taylor, home furnishings and home management; Alice Steely and Robbie Blalock, food;

Mattie Lee Buster, clothing; Ola McIntosh, landscape; Barbara White and Lydia Sue Collins, issues and concerns. The club will meet Tuesday, Sept. 11, at the home of Alie Steely.

Births

WHITFIELD GIRL
Mr. and Mrs. Truman Whitfield of Murray Route 1 are the parents of a baby girl, Kristina Kay, weighing eight pounds, measuring 20 inches, born on Tuesday, July 31, at 5:15 a.m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital.

They have another daughter, Betsy, 8. The father is a professor of education at Murray State University.

Paternal grandparents are Dr. and Mrs. J. C. McKinney of Elkton and maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Everett Gollightly of Gilbertsville. Great grandmothers are Mrs. Fannie Trigg of Paducah and Mrs. Bertha Whitfield of Mortons Gap.

LOTUS
The lotus, sacred flower of ancient Egypt, is a member of the onion family.

Garland & Hart Vows Solemnized At Church

Miss Beverly Ann Garland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Junior Garland of Murray Route 6, and Everett Dale Hart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd A. Hart, of Murray Route 7, exchanged wedding vows in a candlelight ceremony at Russell's Chapel United Methodist Church on Friday, June 29 at 7:30 p.m.

Ms. Betty Jean Bray, aunt of the bride, kept the register at the table near the entrance of the church. The register table was overlaid with a green cloth of satin and netting centered with a vase containing yellow silk roses.

Mrs. Oneida White, pianist and soloist, presented a program of nuptial music as the guests arrived. Her selections included "If," "Somewhere My Love," and "The Wedding Song." During this prelude recital the candles were lighted by Tripp Furches and Mike Irvin.

The mothers of the bride and groom were escorted by the groom, Everett Hart, to their appointed seats.

The processional began with the "Bridal Chorus" and the bride entered. The Rev. James Thomason of Calvert City read the double ring ceremony before a brass altar entwined with greenery featuring a unity candle arrangement, flanked by matching fourteen branch brass spiral candelabra. Vases of ferns placed on the brass pedestals completed the altar decoration. The family pews were decorated with white bows and yellow carnations.

Bride's Dress
The bride, escorted by her father and given in marriage by her parents, wore a formal gown of imported candlelight satin designed with a scooped neckline and long full sleeves. Lace adorned the sleeves which were etched in lace secured with tiny pearl buttons and lace down the front of the floor length dress. The look was enhanced by a mantilla headpiece of lace with a shoulder length tier and another tier extending into a chapel length train outlined with scalloped lace.

Her bridal dress and all flowers were designed and made of yellow silk carnations, green netting, satin bows and baby's breath with pale green satin streamers tied in love knots.

Miss Genevieve Garland, cousin of the bride, served as her maid of honor and Miss Lisa Ann Garland, sister of the bride, was her bridesmaid.

Each attendant wore an empire waist floor length gown of mint green polyester with flowing capes of floral design to complete the outfit. They carried bouquets of yellow silk carnations, green netting, satin bows and baby's breath with pale green satin streamers tied in love knots identical to the brides bouquet.

The groom was attired in a candlelight three piece suit with a contrasting chocolate shirt and matching tie. His boutonniere was a yellow silk carnation surrounded by baby's breath.

Tripp Furches served as best man and Mike Irvin was the groomsman. Both the men were attired in identical tuxedos of forest green with white ruffled shirts etched in dark green. Their boutonnieres were yellow silk carnations.

Suburban Club Has Lesson Meeting At The Miller Home

The Suburban Homemakers Club held its last regular meeting in the home of Mrs. Clyde Miller with Mrs. Holmes Dunn presiding and Mrs. Prentice Dunn giving the secretary's report.

Mrs. Lenith Rogers presented the lesson on "Recycling Your Wardrobe." Another lesson on "Better Wife, Better Spouse, and Better Mother" was presented by Mrs. Harry Russell.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Rogers. Also present were Mrs. Jack Wilson, Mrs. Roy Hancock, and Mrs. Max Farley.

The club members held an evening out with their husbands on July 26 at 6 p.m. at DeVanti's.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Dale Hart nations surrounded by baby's breath.

Bradley Bray, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer. He carried a pale green satin pillow edged in white lace and trimmed with lily of the valley flowers.

Mrs. Garland chose for her daughter's wedding a street length dress of a floral polyester knit design. The groom's mother, Mrs. Hart, wore a street length dress of smoke green pastel knit. They both wore corsages of three yellow silk carnations, with light green ribbons and baby's breath.

Special guests at the wedding were grandmothers and grandfathers of the bride and groom. They were presented with yellow carnations corsages.

Reception
Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church.

The bride and groom's table was decorated with an emerald green cloth overlaid with an antique beige lace cloth. Centering the table was a three tiered wedding cake decorated in mint green and yellow, topped with a miniature bride and groom statuette. Punch, nuts, mints and cake were served from appointments in silver and crystal.

On either side of the table was an arrangement of yellow silk flowers and a large white decorated wedding bell.

Serving the guests were Mrs. Janet Vowell and Miss Cindy Hart, sisters of the groom. Each wore a corsage of yellow silk flowers.

Rice bags were distributed among the guests by Miss Lisa and Karen Armstrong, cousins of the groom.

The couple left later for a wedding trip to Gatlinburg, Tenn., and the Great Smoky Mountains National Park. They are now residing in Murray.

Rehearsal Dinner
Mr. and Mrs. Floyd A. Hart, parents of the groom, were hosts for the rehearsal dinner held at the Seven Seas Restaurant. Places were laid for fifteen guests.

The bridal couple presented gifts to their bridal attendants.

Class Of 1921 Holds Reunion

Only six members of the graduating class of 1921 of Murray High School were able to attend a 58th reunion held at the Triangle Restaurant, Murray, on Saturday, Aug. 4. Seven other classmates or spouses were also present for the noon meal.

Mrs. Walter (Mayne Bagwell) Dent of Charleston, Ill., Mrs. Vince (Eva Rogers) Cummings, Illinois, and Mrs. Marian Waterfield Berry of Fort Myers, Fla., came from out of town. Mrs. Charlie (Moyna Jetton) Cain of Mayfield, Mrs. Bun (Robbie Mayfield) Wilson of Murray, and Mrs. C. B. (Oneida Wear) Ford of Murray were other class members present.

Others, who had been married to or former classmates, attending were Mr. and Mrs. Jack (Ruth Beale) Kennedy, Burton Jeffrey, Mr. and Mrs. Kerby Jennings, Mr. Cummings, and Mr. Cain.

Grace was said by Mr. Jeffrey and Mrs. Dent gave a lengthy report on absences. One classmate, Senior President William Crawford Orr of Pennsylvania, had died since the last meeting.

Members made plans to meet in two years for the 60th reunion on the first Saturday in August, 1981.

Program Approval

WASHINGTON (AP) — Who says President Carter has trouble winning congressional approval for his programs?

Why, just a couple of weeks ago a House Appropriations subcommittee approved one of them before it even was submitted.

Dick Clark, the former Democratic senator from Iowa who is Carter's ambassador for refugee affairs, mentioned while testifying before the international operations subcommittee that Carter would seek an extra $208.9 million to double the influx of Vietnamese refugees.

Without delay, the subcommittee formally gave its approval.

The president got around to submitting the request the following day.

Key West, Fla. — Driftwood painter "Monkey Tom" Forshier winds up behind bars several times a year. And, several times a year, he paints himself out.

The 35 year old Forshier recently faced a conviction for operating a 13 foot sailboat in Key West Harbor under the influence of alcohol, but officials allowed him to pay his fine with a driftwood creation.

"The only way he could pay me a lot of times was through these paintings," says bondsman Bill Ryan. "And then I'd buy a lot, too. He's a hell of a talented boy. I think basically he's a very religious man. He's not a bum."

State Atty. Jeff Gautier and his assistant, Diane Tolbert, said they accepted a work of art that could have been worth up to $500 in exchange for Forshier's release on an alcohol related conviction. Ms. Tolbert calls it "creative sentencing."

Forshier's debts to society adorn offices in the court clerk's office. One is signed "donated to Monroe County, 1978, by Tom Forshier."

Want A Alcohol Still Permit?

SENATOR BIRCH BAYH (Ind.) "... President Carter indicated in his energy speech of July 15 that his administration plans to make significant strides toward the goal of alleviating our Nation's dependence on foreign oil imports by encouraging the use of alternative fuels, including alcohol fuels. I was encouraged by the President's mention of alcohol in his speech, as it is the only alternative petroleum substitute immediately available to the Nation."

"As Chairman of the newly established National Alcohol Fuels Commission, and in my capacity as Senator from Indiana, I have received numerous requests for information about Government procedures for granting permits for the production of alcohol fuels."

"Many of these requests are from individuals who would like to produce enough alcohol to run their own vehicles. However, the instructions issued by the Government today have been discouraging in their complexity. I have been working with the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF) to insure that the Government assists citizens interested in this new alternative energy source."

"On April 22, along with 20 of my colleagues, I introduced S.1200, the Alcohol Fuels Regulatory Simplification Act of 1979, which will grant the Secretary of Treasury the authority to waive needless regulations for alcohol fuel production as well as to streamline those that are necessary."

"Until the time that S.1200 passes the Congress (They are on vacation), and needless red tape can be cut, the best option available to individuals who want to establish a still is to obtain an "experimental" permit. This can be done by writing a letter to the appropriate regional regulatory administrator of the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms describing in detail, where the still will be located, what use will be made of the alcohol, and the process that will be used to produce it..."

CRUMPS GRASS ROOTS COMMENT

Before there is a rush to request a "experimental" permit, consider some of the red tape. You must fill out forms that; describe all land and equipment, stills, vats, tanks; your use of alcohol folks in scattered cities awaiting Carter visits that may not happen.

At his most recent Washington news conference, Carter said he would be going "sometime to Miami and Bangor, Maine, and San Francisco, and perhaps Des Moines, Iowa."

When aides were asked about plans for the travels Carter mentioned, they said there were none. It seems the president should have put the "perhaps" at the start of the sentence.

At a staff meeting last week, it was learned, Carter assistants looked over a list of more than a dozen travel destinations suggested for August.

An aide, who asked that he not be named, said although the president plans to increase his domestic travels, he obviously will visit only a fraction of the suggested cities.

But the White House does contact people in all the places suggested, which inspires a plenitude of rumors — both true and false — about Carter's actual plans.

When the president decided to stop at English, Ind., last week to inspect flood damage, only a single Secret Service car awaited his arrival.

And it got stuck in the mud.

The drop-in by helicopter was not announced in advance.

At his Bardstown, Ky., "town meeting" the same day, Carter faced citizens vigorously fanning themselves in the hot, humid Bardstown High School gymnasium.

The cardboard fans, distributed free, depicted Christ surrounded by sheep, a young black girl singing hymns and other scenes.

On the back, stickers were attached, proclaiming "President Jimmy Carter Day." These covered an advertising message for "Hathaway & Clark Funeral Home Inc. ... Since 1901."

The nearly-2,000 Kentuckians who jammed themselves into the small gym were offered free literature, too. The Department of Energy supplied the crowd with copies of a 30-page pamphlet, "Tips For Energy Savers."

Thoughts In Season

By Ken Wolf

It is generally supposed that those ancient Greeks known as Epicureans were rather mindlessly devoted to the "eat, drink and be merry" philosophy. Such was not exactly the case, as these words from the founder of this philosophy, Epicurus (341-270 BC), indicate:

No pleasure is a bad thing in itself; but the means which produce some pleasures bring with them disturbances many times greater than the pleasures.

Epicurus was an ethical thinker who wished to free men from superstition and needless pain. He realized, as did many great thinkers that "the just man is most free from trouble, the unjust most full of trouble."

Murray's Lions Club Remembers It's 40 Years Old September

Next month, the Murray Lions Club will observe its 40th anniversary, and Joe Pat James has written its history, to be distributed at that time. He gave me a peek at his copy the other day, and it's great. Not only does it give a lot of facts about the club, but is also sprinkled with recollections — some humorous — of the members.

For example, Joe Pat himself recalls the time in 1963 when he learned not to make Rob Ray the brunt of a prank. Joe Pat had just been elected district governor at the state convention in Louisville. Several of the Murray Lions and their wives, including the Rays, were at the convention.

Joe Pat and his wife, Lola, were in the car with Bethel and Sina Richardson and were among the last to leave Louisville. Enroute home, they stopped in Hopkinsville so Sina could visit briefly with a brother. While there, they got a bright idea. They would call Rob collect in Murray, knowing he would be home by then, cook up a story about being stopped for speeding and not having the vehicle registration.

Sina's brother posed as "Sgt. Green of the Hopkinsville police," and explained to Rob on the phone that the Jameses and the Richardsons would have to spend the night in jail unless someone from Murray could describe the car and vouch for its rightful owner.

Quite concerned, Rob gave a detailed description of the Richardsons' car and assured "Sgt. Green" that Bethel was the legal owner.

Joe Pat, Lola, Bethel and Sina thought Rob had really fallen for it until the next meeting of the Lions Club.

Rob showed up with a copy of the Hopkinsville paper, The Kentucky New Era, complete with glaring headline, pictures and a story telling all about how two members of the Murray Lions Club had been arrested for racing through Hopkinsville. The pictures were of Joe Pat — the new district governor — and Bethel.

He had had it all printed up special and realistically pasted it on a copy of the Hopkinsville paper so that when he held it up for all the Lions to see everything looked absolutely authentic.

Rob then read a lengthy account he had written about the four being "arrested after a wild and high speed chase" through Hopkinsville and how the men and their wives had been charged with resisting arrest and a raft of other offenses.

He loudly proclaimed that such conduct was unbecoming Lions and reflected an unfavorable image, not only on the Murray club but on the entire district. The disciplinary actions he recommended be considered even included dismissal from the club.

It was all in fun, but Joe Pat and Bethel learned from that experience to steer clear of Rob Ray when it comes to joking. Never again, they vowed, would they make him the target of one of their pranks.

For, pranks like that have a way of coming home to roost. That same year, Joe Pat recalled, he was the object of one pulled by the entire Murray club. There were 33 clubs in the district and, as governor, he was required to visit each of them during his time in office. This had forced him to miss many of his home club's meetings.

One week, however, he was going to be in town and planned to attend the Murray club. Jimmy Dale Clopton was the president and told Joe Pat that he would be recognized and expected to make a few remarks.

The introduction was a flowery one, and as Joe Pat stood up to speak, so did everyone in the room. Quite flattered, his ego soared to record heights as he thought he was receiving a standing ovation, but no!

Everyone simply walked out of the room — everyone, that is, except the late Leslie R. Putnam who was seated next to Joe Pat and who had failed to get the word of the walkout.

Moments later everyone returned and laughingly took their seats. The district governor, although a bit shaken by it all, managed to make a few appropriate remarks, but he is never introduced that he doesn't recall that experience.

The club was organized Sept. 14, 1939, in a meeting at the National Hotel. A few doors up the street moviegoers were watching Robert Taylor and Hedy Lamarr in "Lady of The Tropics."

The sponsoring Fulton Lions Club was represented by its president, Bill Browning, and members Russell Rudd, Max McDade, T.E. Sanford, Gould Reeves, Earl Taylor, C.H. Melton, Hoyt Moore and Forrest Riddle.

Twenty-two business and professional men, seven of whom previously had been Lions, were signed up and two more were to join before the charter meeting making a total of 24 charter members.

These included Joe Baker, Joseph Berry, Ray Brownfield, R. L. Carney, Harold C. Curry, William B. Davis, L. L. Dunn and T. T. Elkins.

Also, M. G. Forster, Boyd Gilbert, M. W. Hickok, Hal Houston, Woodfin Hutson, Robert A. Jones, L. W. Lennox, E. Paul L'Heureux and Raleigh Melan.

Also G. B. Pennebaker, Dewey Ragsdale, S. A. Ruskjes, Frank Albert Stubblefield, Fred Schultz, Sr., Bryan Tolley and P. E. Thomas.

The Charter Night meeting was November 14, 1939, at Murray High School — then on Main Street. Ruskjes, who was administrator of the hospital, called the meeting to order and Professor Putnam led in the singing of "America."

Fred Schultz, Sr., was the toastmaster, and George Hart, as mayor, made the welcoming remarks. Browning, president of the sponsoring club, responded and the charter was presented by the district governor, Preston C. Haynes.

It was accepted by T. T. Elkins, the charter president and who also was executive director of the Murray Chamber of Commerce, having come to town the year before from Bowling Green.

Happy Anniversary, Murray Lions! It's good to see you remember.

In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Thursday, Aug. 9, the 221st day of 1979. There are 144 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1974, Richard Nixon, under pressure of Watergate, became the first American president to resign. Vice President Gerald Ford was sworn in as the 38th President of the United States.

On this date: In 1831, the first train in the United States to be drawn by a steam locomotive made a run between the New York cities of Albany and Schenectady.

In 1842, a border dispute between the United States and Canada was settled in the Webster-Ashburton Treaty.

In 1898, Spain formally accepted peace terms ending the Spanish-American War.

In 1902, Edward VII was crowned King of England following the death of his mother, Queen Victoria.

In 1942, the British arrested Indian nationalist Mohandas Gandhi. He was held until 1944.

In 1945, the United States dropped the second atomic bomb on Japan, destroying more than half the city of Nagasaki.

Ten years ago: Three men and two women, including actress Sharon Tate and coffee heiress Abigail Folger, were found brutally murdered in a secluded home in Beverly Hills.

Five years ago: The Nixon resignation eclipsed other events.

One year ago: A truce was announced in Lebanon in fighting between Lebanese Christians and Syrian troops. Today's birthdays: Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., is 66 years old. Catcher Ted Simmons of the St. Louis Cardinals is 30.

Thought for today: There is no such thing as justice — in or out of court. — Clarence Darrow, American lawyer, 1857-1938.

Attorney Resigned After Information Developed In Case

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer
LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — U.S. Attorney Patrick H. Molloy has said new information developed during a federal grand jury investigation of alleged wrongdoing in state government circles forced him to withdraw.

"This decision, while reached with regret, was considered necessary to preserve the appearance of impartiality and objectivity of the investigation," Molloy said in a terse press release issued Wednesday.

The grand jury was scheduled to resume its two-month old probe today after a recess of nearly two weeks.

Molloy said laws of secrecy surrounding the grand jury investigation prevent him from elaborating on the reasons for his withdrawal.

The Lexington prosecutor, who earlier this year asked the U.S. Justice Department to empanel a special federal grand jury, said his decision to withdraw was finalized after Assistant U.S. Attorney General Philip B. Heymann assured him that the Justice Department would vigorously pursue the investigation.

Molloy said both he and his staff are withdrawing from the probe "due to information developed in the past few days by the Special Grand Jury, investigation of the Frankfort matter."

Molloy has declined comment on the progress of the investigation, other than saying that the special panel would look into allegations "made to the FBI and IRS of criminal misconduct by certain individuals in public and private life."

The investigation has been shrouded in secrecy since it began June 14. Jury sessions take place behind closed doors and grand jurors are sworn to secrecy.

Some witnesses subpoenaed to appear before the panel have eluded reporters who are barred from the grand jury room.

However, several of the 22 witnesses who have testified so far have shed some light on the nature of the probe.

Initially, the jury focused on the state's $159,000 contract with Learning Development Corp., a Nashville, Tenn., firm. The firm allegedly was hired after former state Democratic Chairman Howard "Sonny" Hunt arranged a meeting with a state Human Resources Department official.

Subsequently, the jury questioned several persons who have or who have had business dealings with Hunt.

Other than Molloy, federal prosecutors have included Assistant U.S. Attorney Joseph Famularo and Joseph Lawless, a trial attorney from the U.S. Justice Department's Public Integrity Section in Washington.

Molloy's decision apparently means Lawless will take charge of the investigation.

Sales Jump

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association said Wednesday that sales have jumped sharply in recent weeks of storage stocks of leaf held under loan.

The association, which administers tobacco price supports in five states, attributed the increase to reports of a short crop of 1979 burley tobacco.

The largest sale was more than 5.8 million pounds from 1976 and 1977 loan stocks. The purchaser was not disclosed.

GETS COMMISSIONED — Robert Daniel Dunn, Middletown, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U.S. Army upon completion of his Reserve Officers Training Corps training at Murray State University. A criminology major, Lt. Dunn is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Amos Lyons, 108 Charleston Court, Middletown, shown pinning the gold bars signifying his rank on his shoulders. Beginning Sept. 23, he will be assigned to the Infantry Officers Basic Course at Fort Benning, Ga., for additional commissioned training.

Marshall Countian Hoping For '135 Proof' From Still Of Gasohol-Alcohol Experiment

BENTON, Ky. (AP) — In plain sight of his neighbors and the law, W. W. Shemwell Jr. is building a still in this dry west Kentucky county. But Shemwell, who is "hoping to get 135 proof," isn't worried about the sheriff. When you have the blessing of the U.S. Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms, you don't worry about the law, he says.

Shemwell is one of nine Kentucky residents licensed by the federal government to make alcohol for gasohol. In fact, Shemwell was one of the first in the Midwest to apply for his license.

He is fashioning a still of scrap metal and an old automobile radiator. But Shemwell says he is confident it will produce enough alcohol to power his car, Jeep, boat, bus, tractor and lawnmower.

Shemwell said Wednesday that he has had plenty of help from area oldtimers who put their stills to less lawful uses. "You'll find traces of the oldtimers even today — old barrels and other things in the woods when you're hunting," he says.

Everybody back then had a still. I'm satisfied there's one in Marshall County today, if you knew where to look."

Shemwell says he accepted advice from half a dozen moonshiners before firing up his project.

"They were proud," he says. "One was 83 and the others were almost that old. Back then, they claimed you could taste the moonshine and tell whose it was."

Shemwell says most area moonshiners who spent their Prohibition years peering into homemade stills also confessed to getting more than a glimpse of the Kentucky State Penitentiary.

But Shemwell says he expects to meet with a more desirable fate.

For one thing, he says, he doubts his modern-day moonshine would be drinkable, since the inside of his still isn't nearly as clean as those made from copper during the 1930s.

Besides, his federal permit requires him to mix his brew with gasoline, rendering the finished product poisonous to drink.

His production is limited to 50 gallons every 15 days, and his permit expires after two years.

Shemwell says it will cost him one bushel of corn to produce three gallons of alcohol, and he still isn't sure what kind of mileage he'll get.

"But I can dream here all day of getting 40 miles to the gallon," says Shemwell, whose house sits in the middle of Kentucky's moonshine country and whose still occupies land that once housed a distillery.

Shemwell says he expects to meet with a more desirable fate.

Industrial Authority Adopts Resolution To Approve Bonds

WINCHESTER, Ky. (AP) — The Winchester-Clark County Industrial Authority has adopted a resolution asking Clark Fiscal Court to approve the issuance of industrial revenue bonds.

The resolution adopted Monday night said revenue bond financing is necessary to sustain future industrial growth in the county.

It added the panel opposed offering tax or other incentives to attract industry.

The authority also adopted guidelines concerning the type of industry to be located in an industrial park.

AFL-CIO No. 2 Man Says To Return To Jungle Law

CHICAGO (AP) — The AFL-CIO's No. 2 man, accusing employers of abusing U.S. labor laws to block union organizing, said Wednesday the labor movement might do better against business by returning to "the law of the jungle."

"I would really sort of be inclined to take American business up on its pretended devotion to freedom and deregulation and throw them a challenge," said federation Secretary-Treasurer Lane Kirkland.

"Let's do away with the law altogether and let's go back to the law of the jungle, where we can use the benefits of solidarity among our brothers and our trade unions and take them on hand-to-hand without the intervention of the government," he said. "I suspect that we'd do pretty well."

Kirkland spoke with reporters after the AFL-CIO's executive council concluded a three-day meeting. Kirkland, 57, presided over the policy-making council in the absence of President George Meany, who was unable to attend because of a painful hip ailment.

On other matters, Kirkland said the Carter administration's failure to curb inflation with its voluntary anti-inflation program likely will force the president to turn to mandatory wage-price controls.

He also said the executive council appointed a committee to investigate whether unions can exert greater control over how billions of dollars in pension fund assets are to be invested.

Bridget Bishop was hanged in 1692 to become the first victim of the Salem, Mass., witch hunt.

Shrine Tourney To Begin Saturday

Three-time champion Rex Fraley will be on hand when the annual Murray Shrine Club Golf Tournament begins Saturday at the Murray Country Club.

Fraley, a native of Clarksville, Tenn., fired a final-round 67 last year to gain a playoff for the title with Jimmy Brown and Brad Fabel. Brown, who went on to win the title, is not entered.

170 golfers will compete in the event, in which all proceeds are donated to the Shrine Crippled Children's hospital fund.

Several openings are still available for those wishing to enter, according to tournament chairman Bobby Fike. The $35 entry fee entitles golfers to a practice round, 36 holes of tournament golf and a dance Saturday night.

The first golfer to score a hole-in-one on the par-3 seventh hole during the tournament will receive a 1979 Mazda RX-7 automobile, courtesy of Carroll Volkswagen.

Three-Set Escape

Evert Lloyd Advances In U.S. Clay Courts; Connors Wins

By STEVE HERMAN AP Sports Writer
INDIANAPOLIS — A tired Chris Evert Lloyd, still weakened by the flu, is praying the steamy weather will cool down a bit before tonight's quarterfinals in the U.S. Clay Court tennis tournament.

Lloyd, a four-time winner and seeded No. 1, survived her third-round match in 90-plus degree heat on Tuesday, but she was forced to go to three sets for just the second time in 23 matches here since 1972.

"I feel a little better than I did last night," she said after the 4-6, 6-1, 6-2 victory over Czechoslovakia's Renata Tomanova. "The virus is still hitting me. It's just going to take a couple days. In the meantime, I'm still in the tourney and if I lose, I lose."

The 24-year-old Lloyd has won 46 of 48 sets in the U.S. Clay Court tourney. She won the singles championship from 1972 through 1975 but bypassed the tourney the past three years to play on the nowdefunct World Team Tennis circuit.

"The first set I felt tired and she was just moving me around the court," Lloyd said of her match with Tomanova.

"I just hung in there and got the ball back. I didn't do anything specific. In the second set, I thought if she moved me around the way she did in first set she would win. That's what takes the steam out of me and makes me tired. I felt better in the second and third set, which I don't understand."

Lloyd's second-round victory Tuesday night over Wendy White also was a struggle. She won the first set 6-2 but was taken to 7-5 in the second set.

"That was the closest I've ever come to defaulting," Lloyd said. "If she had won the second set, I probably would have quit the match."

The only other time she was forced to go three sets here was in the 1975 semifinals against Nancy Richey Gunter. Lloyd will play Yugoslavia's Mima Jausovec tonight in the feature match on the 10,000-seat stadium court at the new Indianapolis Sports Center. Jausovec, who has lost all six previous times she has played Lloyd, advanced with a 6-1, 6-2 victory over Sherry Acker.

Other women's quarterfinal matches today pitted third-seeded Evonne Goolagong Cawley of Australia, the runner-up to Lloyd in 1972, against Anne Smith; No. 4 seed Virginia Ruzici of Rumania against Renee Richards; and No. 5 seed Regina Marsikova of Czechoslovakia against Jeanne DuVall.

DuVall advanced by default Wednesday when second-seeded Kerry Reid withdrew because of a leg injury she suffered Tuesday.

All of the men's top seeds still in contention advanced to today's third round.

Top-seeded Jimmy Connors, the defending men's champion who has won here every even-numbered year since 1974, handled Czechoslovakia's Pavel Slozil

6-3, 6-2 to earn a spot against 10th-seeded Balazs Taroczy of Hungary.

Taroczy, who lost to John McEnroe in the third round last year, stopped Warren Maher of Australia 6-2, 6-4.

McEnroe, seeded second, wore down India's Ramesh Krishnan 6-4, 6-1 and will now face Ecuador's Ricardo Ycaza.

Argentina's Guillermo Vilas, seeded third, stopped Van Winitsky 7-5, 6-3 Wednesday night.

Vilas was matched against 12th-seeded Tomaz Smid of Czechoslovakia in today's round.

Eighth-seeded Manuel Orantes of Spain, a three-time champion who has alternated with Connors every year since 1973, topped Mike Grant 6-2, 6-3. Orantes' scheduled opponent today was Andres Gomez of Ecuador, who beat Chris Lewis 6-3, 6-2.

Bid Is Likely Starter For $300,000 Cup Race
By the Associated Press
STANTON, Del. — Spectacular Bid is a likely starter in the $300,000 Marlboro Cup at Belmont Park next month, the trainer of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner said.

Grover "Buddy" Delp said Spectacular Bid worked six furlongs in 1:13 3/5 at Delaware Park here Wednesday.

"He worked just like I wanted and came back sound," Delp said. "He will definitely be ready to race in September, probably in time for the Marlboro Cup (Sept. 8)."

Spectacular Bid has been recovering from a hoof injury he suffered the morning of the Belmont Stakes in June. A safety pin had wedged in his hoof. "He was well up to the three-quarter mile work today (Wednesday) and I have a month in which to get him ready for the 1 1/4-mile of the Cup," the trainer said. "It should not be a problem."

Booster Club Is Tonight
Murray High head football coach John Hina and his staff will be on hand at 7 p.m. today when the Murray Tiger Athletic Booster Club holds its first meeting on the football practice field.

A sandwich buffet will be provided, and anyone interested is invited to attend.

Racer Gridders To Report Sunday For First Workouts

By DOUG VANCE MSU Sports Information Director

Murray State football coach Mike Gottfried knows all the questions about his "mystery team" and beginning this Sunday he will attempt to find the answers.

Nearly 118 Racer prospects will arrive on campus Sunday to begin pre-season drills Tuesday as Gottfried and his staff have three weeks to prepare for the season opener at Southeast Missouri.

"We must be the mystery team in the conference," said Gottfried. "The league coaches had trouble picking our spot in the pre-season poll. We ranged anywhere from second to fifth before finally averaging out to fourth."

Based on his 27 returning lettermen and outstanding recruiting campaign, Gottfried feels his 1979 squad will be improved over last season's 4-7 team. But he's not ready to promise a better record.

"There is no doubt in my mind that we should be a better football team," said Gottfried. "But everyone else on our schedule will be improved. We have a lot of questions yet to answer ourselves about this team."

Gottfried indicated the emphasis on solving the puzzle of his team will be on defense, where six starters return from a unit that ranked sixth in league statistics, yielding 341.2 yards and an average of 21.5 points each outing.

Familiar names returning on defense are ends Glen Jones and Bud Foster, tackles Kenneth Woods and Richard Lanpher, guards Steve Maxwell and Jeff Gardner, linebackers Tony Boone, Mike Basiak and Donald White and cornerback Greg Evans. Gottfried feels newcomers like Lamar Williams, David Woodridge, Paul Littles, Mike Watson and Loid Atkinson will be an influence in the defensive front with Terry Love and Ken Gowdy adding improvement to the secondary.

"We lack size and experience (just one senior) on defense but we have an abundance of skilled athletes who have excellent speed and quickness," said Gottfried.

The Racers were an exciting offensive team in 1978 as they averaged 46.9 yards and over 21 points a contest and Gottfried feels this season's attack could be just as potent.

Returning are runningbacks Danny Lee Johnson, the OVC Offensive Player of the Year, George Turnley, Tony Lester and Lindsey Hudspeth, who started in the defensive secondary last year. Add redshirt freshman Nick Nance, Nebraska transfer Greg Whetsel, junior college transfer Kenny Davis and converted defensive end Keith Dudley to the list of backfield candidates.

The real question on offense is at quarterback, where last year's back-up Ricky Ray and junior college transfer Brian Crall are challenging to replace graduated Mike Dickens. Ray has a strong arm and quick release while Crall has an edge in speed and the ability to create opportunities. Two talented freshmen, quarterbacks Winston Ford and Buddy Phillips, were impressive as high school seniors and their progress will be charted closely.

The wide receiver spots seem improved with Greg King, Jerry Powell and Bret Clark impressive holdovers from the spring with Anthony Robbins and John Walsh newcomers to watch.

The offensive front remains young with two sophomores, two freshmen and a senior holding starting jobs after the spring. Vernon Broadnax, Lee Wise, Phil Poirier, Tim Wheeler, Reggie Pope, Brad Johnson, Dirk Bowman and Norm Fell head the list of blockers.

David Thomas has graduated at tight end but Kris Robbins gives Gottfried a strong replacement and a potential all-conference performer.

Gottfried says his kicking game will be handed to freshman David Tuck, who averaged 44 yards punting and kicked five field goals as a high school senior.

"One of the questions I get asked most often is how many games will Murray State win this season," added Gottfried. "All I can say is we have a chance in all of them."

"A chance to win or a chance to lose."

Two Transy Basketball Players Are Dismissed

By the Associated Press
LEXINGTON, Ky. — Two Transylvania University basketball players have been dismissed from school after admitting that they were involved in a theft, said David Palmer, vice president and dean of students.

He identified the players as Jim Chambers of Lexington and Maurice Way of Shelbyville, both 18. He said the theft of property from a resident hall occurred July 27.

17 at Seattle. He was placed on the 15-day disabled list five days later.

When his term on the disabled list ended on Monday, Foster's thigh still troubled him and he wasn't activated. But Reds Manager John McNamara said Wednesday that he would bring the slugger to San Diego for a three-game series this weekend and that Foster may see action against the Padres as a pinch hitter.

"I've hit off the tee trying to get my timing together," Foster said.

Foster was asked if he thought he could play regularly in a week.

"Within that period of time, I'd say I'd be disappointed if I wasn't playing," he said.

Then he added a qualifier.

"That's if I keep progressing as I am," Foster said.

The Reds left fielder was having an outstanding season when the thigh injury struck. He was hitting .333 and led the league in batting then, but he is now second to Dave Winfield in that department.

His totals of 20 homers and 72 RBI still are tops on the Reds by far, even though he has missed 37 games.

Foster pulled a groin muscle on July 1 and missed a few games before the All-Star break.

He stressed Wednesday that his highest priority is making a safe return to the lineup, not just coming back.

"The main thing is knowing what to do when you get out there. You've got to get the basics down," he explained.

Foster said he's tried to avoid thinking about his inactivity.

"I try not to think about it," he said. "I try to keep myself occupied with other things."

Reds right fielder Ken Griffey returned to the lineup Tuesday after missing six games and portions of others prior to that with a swollen right knee.

He played eight innings of Tuesday's game, but was removed after two at-bats Wednesday night.

NBC's Olympic Tryouts

Ohlmeyer Admits He Feels 'Great' After Spartacade Games

By FRED ROTHENBERG
AP Sports Writer

Don Ohlmeyer was relaxed. He leaned back in his soft chair and spread his legs across a coffee table. Then he smiled — not the typical Ohlmeyer smile that oozes charm and self-assurance. This one spelled relief.

"What I saw in Moscow made me feel great," said Ohlmeyer, executive producer of NBC Sports. "The last week was the first time I've really been confident that this little sucker would fly."

Ohlmeyer's "little sucker" is NBC's $87-million gamble on the 1980 Summer Olympic Games next July from Moscow — the largest production in television history and the first-ever continuous programming from behind the Iron Curtain.

COMMENTARY

"Two years ago, we were a lot farther away than two years," said Ohlmeyer. "Now we're no more than a year away."

Ohlmeyer and several other NBC officials were invited to Moscow last month to watch and evaluate the Soviet's pre-Olympic sports festival, Spartacade. There was some lingering resentment from some Soviet officials because NBC did not buy the TV rights to Spartacade.

"They told us innumerable times that they were disappointed," Ohlmeyer said. "The management types let their displeasure be known, but the operational level guys were great."

NBC officials were particularly impressed with the Soviets' interest in improving their television techniques and operation.

"This was the first time since 1968 that the 'lost' broadcaster has asked for assistance," said Geoff Mason, vice president of NBC

Sports' European production who, like Ohlmeyer, was hired away from ABC, the Olympic-experienced network. "The Germans (1972) didn't do it and the Canadians (1976) wouldn't hear of it."

Ohlmeyer said he was sitting in front of a monitor with some Soviet broadcast personnel watching the javelin competition at Spartacade. "I told them that the shot of the javelin was too tight. You couldn't get a perspective on distance. The next thing I knew the guy was buzzing away into a phone, and bapgo — the next javelin throw had a perfect frame."

Mason said he conducted a seminar in January 1978 for Soviet television editors and cameramen. "They're fascinated by the way we televise football," Mason said. "They're in absolute awe of our isolation (isolated camera) concepts. They're very attuned to learning. Basically, they have the same attitude we have."

"When we first saw their coverage, we were concerned. But I think they've improved 200 percent in the last year. I think the Russians can now cover a sports event as well as any non-American broadcaster. Of course, the Americans are still light years ahead of everybody."

Richard, Unsure Of Reason, Is Happy To Beat Dodgers For 10th Time In Row

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

The question puzzled Houston's J.R. Richard as much as he puzzled Los Angeles batters: "Can you name a reason why you've beaten the Dodgers 10 times in a row?"

"If I knew what I was doing to beat L.A., I'd use it to beat other clubs," he replied. "I wouldn't have 11 losses."

One explanation was pure power pitching, which was what Richard used to beat the Dodgers 4-1 Wednesday night. He allowed just six hits, struck out 12 to improve his major league-leading total to 209, and walked just two while squaring his record at 11-11.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

In the other National League games Wednesday, the Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Chicago Cubs 5-2 in 10 innings, the Cincinnati Reds trimmed the Atlanta Braves 3-1, the St. Louis Cardinals downed the New York Mets 8-4, the Philadelphia Phillies beat the Montreal Expos 4-3 and the San Francisco Giants held off the San Diego Padres, 10-7.

Pirates 5, Cubs 2 — Phil Garner's three-run homer off Dick Tidrow in the 10th inning carried the Pirates past the Cubs for their sixth triumph in seven games. A fifth-inning homer by Bill Madlock and a seventh-inning shot by John Milner had given the Pirates a 2-1 lead, but Chicago tied it against Kent Tekulve in the ninth when Barry Foote's single scored Jerry Martin from second.

Reds 3, Braves 1 — Bill Bonham, relegated to the Cincinnati bullpen in recent weeks, needed just 101 pitches to hurl a two-hitter and help the Reds beat the Braves.

One of those hits was an RBI double by Barry Bonnell in the Atlanta fifth, but Cincinnati went ahead in the sixth on a two-run homer by Dave Concepcion and got insurance on Cesar Geronimo's homer in the seventh.

Cardinals 8, Mets 4 — Pete Vuckovich pitched a complete game, thanks to Ken Reitz' three-run homer in the St. Louis second inning. Reitz' homer brought St. Louis within 4-3 and removed the possibility that Manager Ken Boyer would pinch-hit for Vuckovich when his pitcher's turn came to bat.

Phillies 4, Expos 3 — Montreal first baseman Tony Perez fumbled a bases-loaded grounder by Bake McBride with two out in the ninth inning, allowing Larry Bowa to score the run that carried the Phillies past the Expos.

Bowa beat out a bunt to open the inning and stole second before Pete Rose walked. One out later Mike Schmidt was walked intentionally to load the bases for McBride.

Giants 10, Padres 7 — Left-hander John Curtis knocked in three runs with a pair of singles and Mike Ivie added two home runs for San Francisco, which built an 8-0 lead, then survived a late San Diego rally.

Foster Hopes To Be Starter For Cincy By End Of Week

By PETER KING
Associated Press Writer

CINCINNATI — George Foster took batting practice Wednesday for the first time since the All-Star Game, hit four home runs and said he'd be disappointed if he weren't in the Cincinnati Reds starting lineup within a week.

Foster, who has been on the disabled list since July 22 with a pulled muscle in his right thigh, also ran hard prior to Wednesday's 3-1 Reds victory over the Atlanta Braves.

"I was running pretty freely," Foster said. "I need a couple days of stretching and strength to make sure the muscle will be built up before I play."

Foster injured the adductor muscle in his right thigh while chasing a Don Baylor double in the All-Star Game on July

Keough's Losing Streak Reaches 18 Games As Angels Drub A's

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

What do you do with a pitcher who is still looking for his first victory this late in the baseball season? Oakland Manager Jim Marshall is finally doing something — he's sending Matt Keough to the bullpen.

"This has really become a strain on him," said Marshall. "Maybe he's a little bit afraid of losing now and that only compounds his problems."

Keough's problems include the longest losing streak in major league baseball, which reached 18 Wednesday with an 8-1 loss to the California Angels.

Don Baylor was one of Keough's biggest problems Wednesday, pacing a 21-hit attack with four hits and three runs batted in. Baylor raised his RBI total to 101.

League, the Cleveland Indians swept a day-night double-header from the Boston Red Sox 6-4 and 8-2; the Texas Rangers beat the Detroit

Tigers 16-9 in the first game of a double-header before losing the second game 10-4; the Milwaukee Brewers defeated the Baltimore Orioles 8-4; the

New York Yankees whipped the Chicago White Sox 4-3 and the Minnesota Twins turned back the Seattle Mariners 3-1.

Brock, Yaz Should Be Next To Reach Baseball Plateaus

By HAL BOCK
AP Sports Writer

Baseball thrives on the lines in its record book — lines that denote special achievement. Call them plateaus.

Babe Ruth hit 60 home runs in one season and 714 in his career and those plateaus made him a national hero. Then Roger Maris hit 61 in one year and Hank Aaron hit 755 for his lifetime and the record book added two new lines.

Joe DiMaggio once hit safely in 56 consecutive games and when Pete Rose made a run at that record with 44 straight last season, the whole world of baseball stopped and watched.

The statistical measures are there, established as targets. For a pitcher, 300 victories is a nice round number, especially since only 14 have managed it and none since Early Wynn in 1963.

Next to knock on the door of that exclusive club will be gritty Gaylord Perry of the San Diego Padres, who at age 40 now has 277 wins to his credit. Twenty-three more wins might seem like a lot at his age but don't bet against the gentleman farmer from North Carolina. Last month, remember, he moved into second place on the all-time strikeout list, now trailing only the immortal Walter Johnson.

The man conceded to have the best shot at Johnson's awesome record of 3,508 strikeouts is flame-throwing Nolan Ryan of the California Angels. Ryan at age 32 has 2,854 — 652 away. Three more 200-strikeout years would put him right there.

Cincinnati's Tom Seaver is also within striking distance with 2,841, but he'll be 35 in November and probably will fall short.

Perry went into 1979 with just over 3,000 strikeouts and that impressive number is the same figure used to measure the game's most productive batters.

Three thousand hits. Roll those words over slowly. That barrier has been reached only 13 times in baseball history but it is about to be cracked twice more in the next few weeks.

First over the threshold should be Lou Brock of the St. Louis Cardinals, who goes into tonight's game against the New York Mets just eight hits away. Next will be Carl Yastrzemski, who is some two dozen hits short of the goal right now.

The Cards return home for a 14-game homestand Friday and it will be a nice touch for Brock to reach 3,000 in Busch Stadium. The only other Cardinal with 3,000 is Hall of Famer Stan Musial, who hit the magic number one summer's afternoon in Chicago, where some of its impact was wasted.

Brock has been rather serene about the milestone. "I don't care where I get it... New York, St. Louis, Jupiter or Mars," he said. "I'm just happy about the kind of year I'm having."

Brown Does Not Feel Bound By Spending Limit

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Democratic gubernatorial candidate John Y. Brown Jr. says he does not feel bound by a campaign spending limit because no agreement satisfactory to him was reached with the Republicans.

Brown, a millionaire, has signed a document agreeing to place a $1.25 million spending limit on his Democratic gubernatorial campaign. Republicans have signed a separate document and insist on financial disclosure provisions that Brown has rejected.

Brown told a news conference on Wednesday that he signed the agreement July 30. "I challenge Louie Nunn to do the same," Brown added.

He said that unless Democrats and Republicans agree, for him to abide by a spending limit "serves no useful purpose. We either have an agreement or we don't have an agreement."

He said in a statement that "without an agreement by my opponent, the spending limits for the fall campaign will be left wide open."

A spokesman for Nunn said his campaign chairman, Ron Meredith, signed a $1.25 million limitation last month.

"We have been conducting an honest and ethical campaign and shall continue to do so," the spokesman added.

Meredith and Brown's campaign manager, Larry Townsend, met three times in recent weeks in an attempt to work out an agreement on spending and a code of ethics for the fall campaign.

Brown and Meredith signed their own versions of the pact at their last meeting, both proposing a spending ceiling of $1.25 million.

The code of ethics and the ban on spending had been drafted by a committee of the Kentucky Press Association and the Kentucky Broadcasters Association.

Brown charged Wednesday that Nunn would be unable to abide by a code of ethics "because every campaign he has been in has been marked by misrepresentation and distortion of facts."

"As a result, he has deliberately broken off negotiations between our two campaigns."

Brown said that in order to finalize the agreements, he is willing to release his tax returns for the last 11 years to an independent commission for their review.

The fast-food multimillionaire also declared that he has no plans to spend or loan any of his money to this campaign.

"I have confidence that the Democrats of Kentucky are going to be willing to give enough to finance our fall campaign," he continued.

On Visitation To Prison Inmates

Federal Hearing Decision Resolved

By ELISE FREDERICK
Bowling Green Daily News

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) — The state Justice Department's refusal to allow attorneys from foreign countries to visit inmates at the Kentucky State Penitentiary was resolved during a recess in a federal hearing here.

The state had obtained a temporary restraining order prohibiting the visit, but the matter was settled Wednesday after representatives of both sides agreed the problem had stemmed from a lack of communication.

Lennox Hines, a United Nations representative for the International Association of Democratic Lawyers, said a group of international attorneys were invited to the United States this month to visit several prison facilities.

Hines said the lawyers were interested in discussing possible human rights violations in the American prison system.

"It seems Kentucky is the only state in the nation to refuse admission to its prison," Hines said. "It raises the question, 'What does Kentucky have to hide?'" he said.

State Justice Secretary Jack Smith said, however, that he was uncertain of the attorneys' exact purpose until Tuesday night, adding that he was only trying to retain the maximum security of the Eddyville prison.

"I don't have anything to hide down there. I didn't know what you wanted before, but I know now," Smith told Hines during a court recess.

U.S. District Judge Edward Johnstone called the recess to find an earlier ruling he had made in connection with the same type of case.

"I believe I've already ruled that an inmate has the right and access to the courts, and that includes attorneys," the judge said. He then said the state could be in possible contempt of court if it continued to refuse the lawyers access to the prison.

During the 45-minute recess, however, Hines and Smith discussed the case, both agreeing that what had occurred was the result of a lack of communication and understanding.

Testimony revealed that Smith had received a letter from Hines saying several persons connected with the United Nations wished to make a "legal visit" to eight prison inmates.

"We were confused about the role of the plaintiffs and whether this really was a U.N. action. This confusion has been cleared up today," Smith said.

Jim Baker, an attorney for the Justice Department, said, "This has been a good experience for our international jurists. I hope this reflects the kind of openness we have in our system."

Hines, however, said he had mixed feelings.

"On one level, we are pleased the secretary of justice has agreed to withdraw his objection and that the judge didn't have to rule on the case," Hines said. "On the other hand, I'm very displeased that we had to spend so much time and money, plus the court's time."

Hines said the two lawyers, Sergio Insunza, a former Chilean minister of justice during the Allende regime, and Iseanyi Isebhig, a Nigerian lawyer, would visit the penitentiary Wednesday afternoon and then would go on to prisons in California and Alabama.

Check-Up Best Way To Detect Cancer

By DANIEL Q. HANEY
Associated Press Writer
BOSTON (AP) — Despite the development of special breast X-rays and other diagnostic tools, the best way to find breast cancer is still a yearly physical exam, a study shows.

However, the researchers conclude that as women become more adept at examining themselves for breast cancer, home screening for the disease may become as effective as an annual checkup by a doctor.

Other health experts have urged that women who run a high risk of developing breast cancer should have a yearly X-ray, called a mam-

But the latest report concludes this method is so inaccurate it is probably not worth the added doses of radiation, which some critics have said may itself cause breast cancer.

Breast cancer is the most common form of cancer among women. In the United States, 35,000 women are expected to die from it this year. The disease strikes nearly one out of 13 women.

About 1,000 women participated in the six-year study, conducted at St. Michael's Hospital-Breast Clinic in Toronto. The research was directed by Dr. Leo J. Mahoney and published in today's New England Journal of Medicine.

The doctors found 30 new cases of breast cancer in the women, but only four of them were turned up by mammography. The rest were discovered when doctors or the women themselves found lumps in the patients' breasts.

The researchers noted that there is no evidence that early detection of breast cancer in a screening program leads to improved survival rates. Over the past 30 years, the frequency of death from breast cancer has remained virtually constant.

"If there is any advantage of early diagnosis of breast cancer, the most rewarding method of screening should be annual clinical breast examinations by physicians and less frequent mammographic examinations of women whose breasts remain clinically normal," they wrote.

Overall, the doctors discovered 128 new lumps in women's breasts, although most turned out to be benign. Of these, 66 percent were discovered by routine physical exam, 23 percent by breast self-examination and 10 percent accidentally by the patient.

However, during the last two years of the study, cancers in seven of 18 patients were identified by breast self-exams.

"It would appear that this screening method may become as useful as annual clinical breast examinations by physicians," the doctors wrote.

The women who participated in the study had a statistically higher than normal chance of developing breast cancer. They either had a previous breast cancer, a family history of the disease, a pregnancy after age 30 or a previous breast operation for a noncancerous disorder.

1980's May Be Critical For Tobacco Growers

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Escalating burley tobacco prices are costing the United States some foreign and domestic markets and the 1980s will be the most critical decade of the century for growers, says a tobacco export authority.

Frank B. Snodgrass, vice president and managing director of the Burley and Dark Leaf Tobacco Export Association in Washington, said Wednesday markets are declining despite record exports last year.

He added that more foreign-grown tobacco is being used in cigarettes at the expense of American growers.

He made the statements in an address to directors of the Burley Tobacco Growers Cooperative Association in Lexington.

"The price of U.S. tobacco has grown too far out of line with its world competition," Snodgrass said. "Under the U.S. price umbrella, competing supplies are expanding in quantity and improving in quality. American tobacco's export and domestic market shares are being steadily eroded."

The problem already is acute for flue-cured tobacco growers, he said, and "sooner or later can be expected to impact on burley."

Snodgrass said not all his news was gloomy for American growers, however.

Advantages he listed included:

—Lower dollar exchange rates, which encourage foreign tobacco buyers to replenish their stocks.

—An apparent shift in some countries from mild, bland blends to more flavorful cigarettes.

—Signs that foreign manufacturers have reached "the saturation point" in the use of substitutes for U.S. burley.

—Benefits under the Multilateral Trade Negotiations, recently completed after six years of conferences.

The trade treaty, already approved by the United States, holds promise for American agriculture, especially tobacco, said Snodgrass, who took part in the talks.

Exports last year were a record 126.75 million pounds. Snodgrass said totals this year would depend on crop quality, but added shipments through July were ahead of last year's pace.

Deaths & Funerals

Lt. Col. Jones Is Dead At Age Of 75; Funeral Is Friday

Final rites for Ivan R. (Bobby) Outland will be held Friday at 3 p.m. at the chapel of the Blalock-Coleman Funeral Home with the Rev. Dr. H. C. Chiles and the Rev. Julian Warren officiating. Mrs. Otto Erwin will be organist.

Harold Thurman, Novice Pate, Kelly Burton, Harding Galloway, Bryan Galloway, and Groover Parker will serve as pallbearers. Burial will follow in the Elm Grove Cemetery.

Mr. Outland, 42, died Monday at his home in Warren, Mich. He was the son of the late Ivan Robert Outland and Thelma Walker Outland of Calloway County. He had been employed with the General Electric Company, Warren, Mich., for the past 17 years.

Survivors include his stepmother, Mrs. Erma H. Outland, 509 South 13th Street, Murray; daughter, Karen Lynn Outland, Troy, Mich.; two sons, Robert George Outland and Ronald John Outland, Warren, Mich.

Mrs. Bill Simmons Dies At Hospital With Rites Friday

Mrs. Bill (Colie) Simmons of Hazel died Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. She was 76 years of age.

Born Sept. 25, 1902, in Calloway County, she was the daughter of the late Joel Eli Bishop and Memphis Elula Bishop.

Mrs. Simmons is survived by her husband, Bill Simmons, Hazel; one step daughter, Mrs. Euvia Caffee, DeSoto, Mo.; three step great granddaughters, Kate, Kim, and Karen, St. Louis, Mo.; four nieces, Ann Piedpoint and Carolyn Wheatley, Buchanan, Tenn.; Paulette Orr, Puryear, Tenn.; and Ruby Broach, Henry, Tenn.

The funeral will be held Friday, with time to be announced, at the chapel of the Miller Funeral Home, Hazel, with Bill Dillon and John Dale officiating. Burial will follow in the New Providence Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home.

Final Rites Friday For Bobby Outland

Word has been received of the death of Lt. Col. (ret.) Clarence Jones of Muskogee, Okla., who died Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. at a Veterans Hospital there.

The deceased was 75 years of age and retired from the United States Army after 20 years of service. He served in World War II, Korean Conflict, and also in Guam.

He is survived by his wife, the former Lois Irvan of Murray, of Muskogee, Okla.; one son, C. Q. Jones, Jr., Boynton Beach, Fla.; three granddaughters.

Also surviving are two local sisters-in-law, Mrs. Harvey Dixon of Murray and Mrs. Keith Pace of Hardin.

Funeral services will be held Friday with the Bradley Funeral Home of Muskogee, Okla., in charge of arrangements. Burial will follow in a cemetery there.

Fire Department Answers Call At East Side Body Shop

The Murray Fire Department responded to a car fire at the East Side Body Shop on Chestnut Street, a department spokesman said.

Damage was to the rear of the auto and cause of the fire is unknown, the spokesman said. He added there was no other damage.

McLeod Jailed On First Degree Assault Charge

Jack McLeod, Route 1, Dexter, was charged with first degree assault in the stabbing of Rondell Woods, according to a spokesman at the Calloway County Sheriff's office.

The spokesman added McLeod is being lodged in the county jail and bond was set at $20,000.

Richard W. Jones Joins Law Firm

Richard W. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Jones, 810 South 16th Street, Murray, is associated with Harold T. Hurt, PSC, a local law firm.

A member of the Calloway County Public Defenders Program, Jones recently was admitted to practice law in

Richard W. Jones

Kentucky after successfully passing the February bar examination.

Jones graduated with honors from Salmon P. Chase College of Law of Northern Kentucky University.

While at Chase, Jones was on the staff of the Northern Kentucky Law Review and participated in National Moot Court competition. He also was appointed as the student representative on the law school admissions committee.

Jones served as an intern for the Public Defender program in Campbell County defending juveniles. Also, he was employed by the Pre-Trial Release Service in Kenton and Campbell Counties.

Upon graduation, Jones was employed by Pre-Trial Release Service in the 56th judicial district, comprised of Trigg, Lyon, Caldwell and Livingston Counties. As the pre-trial release officer, Jones investigated the background of arrestees and made recommendations to the court as to whether bond should be allowed.

Jones is a 1975 graduate of Murray State University and a 1971 graduate of Murray High School. While at MSU, he was a member of the Delta Sigma Rho Chapter of Tau Kappa Alpha, honorary forensic society and Lambda Chi Alpha, social fraternity. Jones also was active in interscholastic debate.

Jones is married to the former Vicki Ray of LaCenter. Mrs. Jones practices law for the Public Advocacy Program, Paducah. They have a daughter, Jessica Kimberly, nine months.

Jones also has been employed as a para-legal instructor.

INTERNATIONAL

HANOI, Vietnam (AP) — A U.S. congressional delegation hopes to meet with acting Foreign Minister Nguyen Co Thach and other senior Vietnamese officials today to discuss the refugee problem, U.S.-Vietnamese ties, the conflict in Cambodia and other issues.

"We hope our visit will give the Vietnamese a reflection of the various attitudes of the American people," delegation leader Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., said Wednesday shortly before his group arrived in Hanoi from Malaysia.

WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's poor would get $1.6 billion in energy aid next year under a tentative plan that hinges on congressional approval of President Carter's proposed "windfall profits" tax.

Christopher Edley Jr., assistant director of the White House domestic policy staff, said Wednesday the plan would use $1.2 billion of the proposed tax revenues for special energy allowances in 1980. The remaining $400 million would go to state governments for emergency assistance programs to help families with "energy-related crises."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration is scrutinizing wholesale food prices, which fell from April through June. While prices paid to farmers have been moderating, the trend has not extended to the nation's grocery stores.

The Council on Wage and Price Stability on Wednesday criticized food processors, wholesalers and retailers for large second-quarter increases in their markups.

NATIONAL

BOSTON (AP) — Despite the development of special breast X-rays and other diagnostic tools, the best way to find breast cancer is still a yearly physical exam, a study shows.

Other health experts have urged that women who run a high risk of developing breast cancer should have a yearly X-ray, called a mammography.

But the latest report concludes this method is so inaccurate it is probably not worth the added doses of radiation, which some critics have said may itself cause breast cancer.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — A 40-mile-long tongue of runaway Mexican crude oil drifted ominously offshore of Padre Island as pollution from the world's largest oil spill resumed its northward advance, troubling shrimpers already frightened by a meager harvest.

Gulf breezes that powered the huge spill from a blown-out Mexican oil well toward the white resort beaches of the Texas Gulf Coast picked up Wednesday. And forecasters said 10-knot winds would continue today.

After Train Trip, Carter Says Amtrak Best Way To Travel

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter may have made Amtrak happy by taking the train to Baltimore and declaring it the best way to travel. But he didn't make a lot of friends in the bus industry.

After thinking it over for a day, the American Bus Association decided Wednesday to set him straight.

"That Amtrak Metroliner that you rode, besides being a fuel guzzler, also cost in government subsidy an amount equal to about half of the fare you paid," ABA president Arthur D. Lewis told Carter in a letter.

"Not just your fare," he added, "but also the fares of everyone riding with you."

Carter and his party, which included a pool of reporters and cameramen who paid their own fare, occupied the last car of one of the regular Metroliners that ply the New York-Washington corridor. Every passenger was charged the regular 7.50 round-trip fare.

In Baltimore, the president declared he was taking the train "not only because it is the best way to come from Washington to Baltimore, but also because I wanted to show my support for a strong mass transportation system."

A White House spokesman says Carter "obviously meant to include bus travel." But that word hadn't gotten to Lewis.

"If the bus industry last year had carried all of Amtrak's passengers on its regular operations, it would have used only 36 million gallons of fuel as contrasted to the 101 million gallons that Amtrak used," he wrote. "Further, the bus industry would have carried them at no cost to the federal treasury."

NEW HEATERS

BRIGHTON, England (AP) — The luxury Grand Hotel has bought 40 large bedroom heaters to replace the portable ones stolen by guests.

"We had to order ones which were too big to be packed and carried out in suitcases," says Paul Boswell, general manager.

Who'll Pay You 9.320% On Six Month Savings Certificates?

Peoples Bank money market certificates are non-negotiable time deposits. These certificates have a 6 month maturity (182 days). The minimum deposit amount is $10,000, but deposits may be made in any amount of $10,000 or more. Federal regulations prohibit the compounding of interest on these money market certificates. The interest is subject to change at maturity. This 9.320% rate is effective on certificates purchased from now through August 15.

WHO'LL PAY YOU 7.7% ON FOUR YEAR MONEY CERTIFICATES?

If you want a longer term certificate - how about our new higher interest FOUR YEAR MONEY CERTIFICATE? You can earn an interest rate only 1% below the average four year yield on U.S. Treasury securities. The interest rate for August is 7.7% and yields 8.003%. The rate on new certificates is determined the first of each month.

WHO'LL PAY YOU 5% ON A PASSBOOK SAVINGS?

Do you have some surplus cash you want readily available yet want to earn interest on it? Then a Blue Chip Savings account is your answer. Interest rate is 5% and paid quarterly. Interest is paid from the day of deposit to day of withdrawal.

WHO'LL OFFER YOU A FULL RANGE OF OTHER CERTIFICATES OF DEPOSIT TO SUIT YOUR NEEDS?

A substantial interest penalty is required for early withdrawal of certificates of deposit.
