Notebook

It is possible in this world that there are bigger, prettier, richer, more exciting cities than Fulton, but nowhere within the confines of this planet is there a city that can surpass, or even match the friendliness and kindred spirits that exist in these twin cities.

That's a broad statement I know, especially coming from an editor, who starts out every day aware of the occupational statistic that forty per cent of the people are mad at such creatures all the time.

(In case anybody doubts the fact, I have concrete evidence . . . last year when the ballots were tabulated in the voting precincts around the city in the state representative's race, I got 58.9 per cent of the votes cast. I figured if I hadn't alienated a block of voters the day before the election because I refused to pay for their support, I would have gotten that other 1.1 per cent needed to substantiate the "40% mad at the editor statistic.")

But be that as it may, I'm happy that it's not the same forty per cent mad every week; it varies with the news and editorial content of this newspaper, which isn't about to change. If it did, ole Erl Sensing over Clinton way couldn't identify me as "the controversial political figure who edits the Fulton County News."

But as I was saying . . . if ever a national award is presented for "America's Friendliest City," Fulton would win hands down.

Why am I writing plaudits this week? Maybe it's because I've been doing a little more getting around town than I usually do. And maybe it's because I have seen the completely happy looks on the faces of those people who have "come back to Fulton to live or for a visit."

Take for instance the case of Jaime Plaza Cepeda and Xavier Manrique of Guayaquil, Ecuador. Both of these young men were here for two weeks last Fall as part of the Operation Amigo program connected with the Third International Banana Festival. They were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Jones and their constant host was a nice, sweet guy like Gordon Jones, a fellow high school student.

Jaime and Xavier went back to their home after the Festival and I am sure thought of nothing else but Fulton and their new friends. They kept in close contact with the Joneses and kept looking forward to the day when they could return to dear ole Fulton.

Well, last week their dream of coming back was fulfilled when they flew to Memphis, then came on to Fulton to attend classes here until sometime in May. This is the annual school vacation time in Guayaquil. Their school starts again just about the time ours lets out for the summer, so maybe Gordon Jones is right.

IT SAYS HERE THAT FULTON AND SOUTH FULTON IS A GOOD TOWN. That's what Mayor Rex Ruddle of South Fulton is reading from the new brochure prepared for the twin cities by Texas Gas Transmission. Looking on are George Ensminger of Texas Gas, Harold Henderson, newly elected president of the Chamber of Commerce and City Manager of Fulton Rollin Shaw.

Texas Gas Transmission Prepares Twin City Industrial Brochure

In keeping with its constant efforts to land new industry for Fulton and South Fulton, Texas Gas Transmission Corporation has prepared a detailed industrial survey brochure of both Fulton and South Fulton.

Texas Gas is the natural gas pipeline company that brings gas from Louisiana and Texas to the Fulton-South Fulton area.

The brochure, prepared in cooperation with the Chamber of Commerce, and the City of Fulton and the City of South Fulton, gives a detailed account of the facilities in and around the community. George Ensminger, manager of Texas Gas' community development department, delivered a number of copies of the brochure on Fulton and South Fulton.

The booklets contain information that executives, engineers and lawyers need to know when they are looking for a plant location. Included in them are sections on taxes, available plant sites, education, fire protection, sanitation, transportation and a host of other subjects.

Texas Gas people are constantly calling on the companies throughout the United States that are planning new plants. By keeping the brochure up to date, the pipeline company's representatives can present a detailed and accurate picture of the Fulton-South Fulton area on a moment's notice.

In addition, the Fulton and the South Fulton Industrial Corporation and other local groups have access to the brochures to use for any other industrial prospects.

Commerce Commissioner Peden Reviews Industrial Prospect's Current Needs

Commerce Commissioner Katherine Peden, in a telephone call from Frankfort late Wednesday to News Publisher Paul Westpheling expressed deep regret that the industrial prospect that was to visit the city, found it inadvisable to consider a Fulton location at this time. Mr. Westpheling serves on the 21-member State Economic Development Commission.

Commissioner Peden advised that when this particular prospect set forth its specifications for a site, she put Fulton on the priority list for consideration. "But we're as disappointed as you are and as other communities are when the prospect reaches the State and arbitrarily rules out a community for one reason or another," she said.

Commissioner Peden reported that in this week's situation the company specified, on reaching the State, that they require large scale commercial air service, close proximity to a large metropolitan area, a city of much larger population and other vital resources. "There are only two towns left that can anywhere meet their specifications," she said.

"We never know what they will want until they get here," she said, "that's why it's so important for communities to have everything in readiness when they do arrive so that there will be no delay in answering their questions."

Records in Commissioner Peden's office indicate that Fulton was recommended to industrial prospects 19 times in 1965. The community was recommended 13 times in 1964.

"I know it's heart-breaking to make such preparations and then have the prospect fail to show," she said. "But they, in effect are our customers, and we must abide by their wishes and their requirements," she added.

Records in Commissioner Peden's office indicate that Fulton was recommended to industrial prospects 19 times in 1965. The community was recommended 13 times in 1964.

"It should be a source of great satisfaction to Fulton to know that in almost every instance your community has been highly complimented for its attitude and community spirit. These efforts cannot fail to land some industries in the foreseeable future," she added.

Commissioner Peden pledged her continued support and cooperation towards the city's industrial procurement program.

Jaycee's State Secretary Speaker At Awards, Bosses Night Banquet

Dynamic Dough Sutherland, Jaycee State Secretary, will be the featured speaker at the forthcoming Distinguished Service Awards and Bosses Night Banquet, March 25, sponsored by the Fulton Jaycees.

Sutherland, field representative for Blue Cross-Blue Shield, has been active in Jaycee work for many years. He has made many outstanding civic contributions and considering the job he has done this year as State Secretary, Bill Bennett, local Jaycee Chairman of the Board, considers Sutherland "the logical contender to be our next Jaycee State President."

Balloting for the awards given at this year's banquet began last night. All members not present will be contacted this week and given the opportunity to vote for their choice of the outstanding leaders in our community during this past year.

Glen Suiter, local Jaycee President, after discussing plans for the upcoming Jaycee activities expressed that "I am very optimistic that 1966 will be one of the most outstanding years in Fulton Jaycee history and I wish to encourage all inactive Jaycees to double their pleasure by giving a little of their time to contribute to this community you and I love so much."

Suiter appointed Larry Ader, local manager of Southern Bell, to serve as Public Relations Chairman for the upcoming year.

Our Senior Citizens Look Ahead To Fun And More Activity

Look up and not down. Look forward and not back. Look out and not in. Lend a hand.

Edward Everett Hale wrote these meaningful words a long time ago . . . long before Medicare, Social Security, Old Age Assistance and surely before anybody thought of such wonderful organizations like the Senior Citizens Club.

While the little poem can be used as a guideline for creating initiative in any kind of endeavor, it seems to be ever so appropriate when applied to our many elder citizens in the Fulton area, particularly those whose families and spouses are gone and loneliness has taken over where gaiety and activity once filled the home-place.

Last Thursday this reporter filled a determined mission of long standing. She attended the regular meeting of the Senior Citizens Club, held monthly at the First Methodist Church, under the auspices of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the church. It was the most delightful, thought-provoking and pleasant assignment in many a day.

—It was delightful because the camaraderie and friendliness there made it abundantly clear that our "senior citizens are looking forward and not backward.

—It was thought-provoking because these charming men and women are looking up to their elderly status with dignity and not looking down at those who may not be quite as attentive as they were in the halcyon days of yesterday.

—It was pleasant because it is not often that a reporter can look in on a group that is looking out on a world with satisfaction because they helped to make it good.

Over and above all other attitudes prevailing at the meeting, one predominated; that was the secure feeling that someone, a lot of people care about our senior citizens' contributions they have made to their families, their churches and their communities—and they were being given a hand to make their lives happier, more useful and more wholesome.

The local Senior Citizens Club originated as a project of the Methodist Church's WSCS about three years ago. It was such an instant success that membership was extended to elderly citizens of all denominations in the twin cities.

Mrs. E. W. Hart, who came to Fulton from Detroit to make her home here so she could be near her daughter Mrs. Glen Venneklasen and her daughter's family, volunteered to conduct the meetings. Her interest in the group became contagious among all other members of the church who assist with the program and serve refreshments at the meetings.

Members of the Senior Citizens Club find a special kind of happiness in knowing that some of their efforts make other people happy. Here a group looks over an array of garments made by some of the members for the Clothes Bank. They are seated: Mrs. Essie Herring, Mrs. James Normett and Mrs. Verna DeMyer. Miss Katherine Humphries and Robert Lamb are standing.

Jim Zimmerman Will Be Missed In Kentucky's Chamber Of Commerce; His Was A Great Work

The resignation of James C. Zimmerman as executive vice-president of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce leaves a hard-to-fill place in that organization. Jim, as he is known to every business, civic and industrial leader in Kentucky, has been elected to the newly created post of Executive Vice President of the Owensboro National Bank in that Kentucky city.

It is the good fortune of both the financial institution and the city of Owensboro that Jim has chosen to make the move to private industry.

Jim Zimmerman is well known in the West Kentucky and Fulton area. He has been here many times for a variety of reasons, all of them connected with his interest in the development of our community. He is an indefatigable worker, a superb and effective organizer and an outstanding executive.

In addition, he is a loyal Kentuckian with an almost insatiable desire to make Kentucky one of America's most progressive states, a goal to which he has already contributed more than his share of effort.

His absence from the nerve center of Kentucky's development programs will be keenly felt in many areas. Here in the twin cities we shall feel his departure even more because of the tremendous work Jim has done to further the program of the Partners for the Alliance in Kentucky, an organization in which our Banana Festival is vitally interested.

We wish Jim Zimmerman the very best of success in his new career. It is our hope that his duties will permit him to continue even a few of his multitude of interests. If so, then we look forward with pleasure to future associations with him, working in those endeavors in which we have a common interest, and to which he has contributed so much.

Insurance Agent Proves That Customers, NOT AGENTS, Determine Auto Insurance Premiums

In talking with a local insurance agent recently, complaining about the high cost of automobile insurance, he nodded agreement, then added: "Customers, not insurance agents, set the rate of the insurance premiums."

That statement had a rather odd ring, but he backed up his remarks by producing factual figures recently prepared by the Kentucky Association of Insurance Agents.

For a change, the statistics made an accident of some kind.

Auto insurance rates are made by people who drive cars. You, like every other motorist, have a hand in determining how much you pay for your insurance. You can help keep rates down by:

— Urging your legislators and law enforcement authorities to make and enforce adequate traffic laws aimed at taking dangerous drivers off the roads and keeping them off.

— Refusing to deal with repairmen and others who "pad" insurance claims. The extra dollars they cost insurance companies force premiums up.

— Above all, being a safe driver. The size of auto insurance premiums depends on the amount of money insurance companies have to pay for claims. And every claim represents an accident of some kind.

— Between the end of 1961 and the end of 1964, the number of motor vehicles registered in Kentucky rose from 1,229,921 to 1,430,299 — an increase of 16 percent.

— But, during those same three years, the total number of auto accidents, killing and maiming people and damaging and destroying property, jumped from 42,106 to 72,400 — up 72 percent.

Whether or not you have had an accident, you are affected by these alarming statistics...

— Your life and the lives of your family are in greater danger—even if you are a "safe" driver. When accident rates go up, the highways are more dangerous for everyone.

— Your money — the premiums you pay for your auto insurance — helps pay for these accidents. Your premiums help pay for accidents caused by other motorists in your community, just as their premiums will pay for your accident if you have one. More accidents—combined with higher auto repair and medical costs—mean higher insurance premiums.

Because the basic principal of insurance is the sharing of risks, all insured motorists share the cost of rising accident rates. But the drivers who cause the accidents also face:

— Additional increases in their individual insurance premiums. To spread the costs equitably, insurance companies assign the lowest premiums to drivers with clear safety records, and higher premiums to drivers with poor records.

— A "tight" insurance market. Premiums collected by auto insurance companies in Kentucky are falling short by millions of dollars a year of the amounts the companies pay for claims and costs of doing business in the state. As a result, many companies cannot afford to insure the poorer risks.

— Loss of driving privilege. Accidents and violations of traffic laws can cost drivers their licenses.

BIBLE DIGEST

H. B. Dean

"The thief cometh not, but for to steal, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they might have life and that they might have it more abundantly." John 10:10

Only the divine God has the real definition of life, and real living is found alone in the resurrected Christ.

"And could not find what they might do: for all the people were very attentive to hear him." Luke 19:48

Christ is deserving of a fair hearing in every life today. Let him speak to your heart. "No man ever spoke like this man."

"Sing and rejoice, O daughter of Zion: for, lo, I come, and I will dwell in the midst of thee, saith the Lord." Zechariah 2:10

God is now willing to have a very definite part in our lives but if we ignore it, we definitely will have no part in His future.

THE COMMON ROAD

I want to travel the common road
With the great crowd surging by,
Where there's many a laugh and many a load,
And many a smile and sigh.

I want to be on the common way
With its endless tramping feet,
In the summer bright and winter gray,
In the noonday sun and heat.

In the cool of evening with shadows nigh,
At dawn, when the sun breaks clear,
I want the great crowd passing by,
To ken what they see and hear.

I want to be one of the common herd,
Not live in a sheltered way;
Want to be thrilled, want to be stirred
By the great crowd day by day;

To glimpse the restful valleys deep,
To toil up the rugged hill,
To see the brooks which shyly creep,
To have the torrents thrill.

I want to laugh with the common man
Wherever he chance to be,
I want to aid him when I can
Whenever there's need of me.

I want to lend a helping hand
Over the rough and steep
To a child too young to understand -
To comfort those who weep.

I want to live and work and plan
With the great crowd surging by,
To mingle with the common man,
No better or worse than I.

Lost Tribes of Irish Folks

by Irvin S. Cobb

(Fourth in a Series)

The first settlement of English-speaking Catholics beyond the Alleghany Mountains was not located in the North, but in the South and in my own State of Kentucky at that. It endures today, after having given to this country one of its greatest and most scholarly churchmen, Bishop Spalding. The children of the pioneers of Kentucky, almost without exception, learned their first lessons in log cabins under the teachings of that strange but gifted race of men, the wandering Irish schoolmasters, who founded the old field schools of the South and to whom the South is largely indebted for the seeds of its culture.

Irishmen from Kentucky, Virginia, Pennsylvania and Maryland bore the brunt of the western campaigns in 1812 against the British. Irishmen from Kentucky fell thick at the disastrous battles of the Thames and the Raisin, and their Irish bones today rest in that ground, sanctifying it and making of it an American shrine of patriotism. It was the hand of a Kentucky Irishman, Colonel Richard Johnson, afterwards Vice President of the United States, that slew the great Tecumseh. A good share of the Kentucky and Tennessee riflemen who at New Orleans stood behind Andy Jackson's cotton bale breastworks, moving down Packenham's Peninsula Veterans and making their red coats redder still with the life blood of those invaders, were Irishmen, real Irishmen. They proved their Irish lineage by the fact that they fell out and quarreled with Old Hickory, because he denied them all the credit for winning the fight, and he quarreled back, for he was by way of being an Irishman himself.

It was a Kentucky Irishman, Dr. Ephraim McDowell, who performed the first operation for ovariotomy - performed it on a kitchen table with a mad husband standing over him with a drawn revolver, threatening to shoot him if his wife died under the knife. But he went ahead and it was a successful operation, and it has brought relief and life and sanity to millions of women all over the world.

It was a Kentucky Irishman and a soldier, Theodore O'Hara, who penned-perhaps the most beautiful lyric poem, and certainly the sweetest tribute to the brave of our language, the immortal "Bivouac of the Dead."

It was another Kentucky Irishman, the saintly poet-priest, Father Ryan, whose hand wrote those two fondest poems in memory of the Lost Cause, "The Conquered Banner" and "The Sword of Robert E. Lee."

In the Civil War it was a Kentuckian of Scotch and Irish descent who led the North - Abraham Lincoln - and it was another Kentuckian of mingled Irish and Scotch blood - Jefferson Davis - who was the President of the Confederacy.

The historian Collins said the five greatest lawyers Kentucky ever produced were Barry, Rowan, Haggis, Breckenridge and Bledsoe - four Irish names and one Indian name - and yet these five have been called Anglo-Saxons, too.

What is true of Kentucky is to a greater or less degree true of the rest of the South. It was an Irish Virginian, Patrick Henry, who sounded the first keynote of the American Revolution, and, at the risk of his life, by his words paved the way for the Declaration of Independence. The South Carolina Irishman, John C. Calhoun, first raised the slogan of Nullification, and it was another Irishman, Andrew Jackson of Tennessee, who swore by the Eternal to hang him higher than Haman if he carried out his plan.

Tonight you have heard a tribute and a deserved one, to little Phil Sheridan of the North, but I want to couple his name with that of a Southern Irishman, the son of an Irish refugee, Pat Cleburne of Arkansas, one of the most gallant leaders that the Civil War produced. Pat Cleburne died on one of the bloodiest battlefields of Christendom in his stocking feet because as he rode into battle that morning he saw one of his Irish boys from Little Rock tramping barefooted over the frozen furrows of a wintry cornfield and leaving tracks of blood behind him. So he drew off his boots and bade the soldier put them on, and fifteen minutes later he went to his God in his stocking feet. Raleigh laid down his coat before Good Queen Bees and has been immortalized for his chivalry, but I think a more courtly deed was that of the gallant Irishman, Pat Cleburne. For one was kowtowing before royalty and the other had in his heart only thoughtfulness and humanity for the common man afoot.

Passenger Train Slams Car Killing Its Driver

A high-speed Illinois Central Railroad passenger train slammed into an automobile near Harris Station Tuesday morning, scattering wreckage for a mile and a half and snuffing out the life of a Harris Station man, en route to his job in Union City at Cotten's Texaco station.

The mangled body of Bobby Flowers, 35, was found pinned between the car seat and steering wheel which were carried a full mile and a half south of the point of impact. State Trooper Tom Kilpatrick said the accident occurred at 5:49 a. m. Tuesday about six miles northeast of Union City. The railroad crossing is about a half-mile south of Harris Station. The crossing bears the name of the dead man's father, Sam Flowers.

Mr. Flowers had just left his home, the officer said, and was traveling west on a gravel road cleared and the train continued on its way to Memphis at 7:20 a. m.

It was the consensus that Mr. Flowers' car windows probably were ice covered that morning and that he must have failed to clean off the right door glass and thus could not see the train.

Services were held in the Harris Station Baptist church at 2 Wednesday afternoon with the Rev. Jewel McGary, church pastor. Burial was in Obion County Memorial Gardens. The White-Ransom funeral home had charge of arrangements.

Mr. Flowers was a member of the Harris Baptist church where he served as its Sunday School supervisor.

He was born on Nov. 3, 1930 near Waverly, the son of Sam Lee Flowers and Elizabeth Britton Flowers. He attended school in Humphrey county and Hickman, Ky.

For a number of years, he worked with his father for Smiley Sand & Gravel Co. of Atlanta and Hickman and later worked for a short period for the Olson Rug Co. of Chicago. For the past two years, he had been employed by Cotten's Service station.

He was married to Miss Sarah Moss of Harris Station in 1951. Aside from his wife and parents who make their home in the Harris Station community also, he is survived by a daughter Susie Flowers 13; six brothers, James D. Flowers, Sam L. Flowers Jr., Charley Flowers, Henry Flowers and Howard Flowers, all of Chicago, and Walter Flowers in California; two sisters, Miss Patricia Ann Flowers of Chicago and Miss Shirley Flowers of Harris Station and a number of nieces and nephews.

Pallbearers were Oscar Faulkner, Frank Johnson, Roy Poole, Bill Covey, Glynn Ray Moss and Charles Dunn.

What Quality Beef Does A&P Sell?

That's a fair question. But not an easy one to answer because we have our own quality standards, different from any other meat merchant.

These standards don't fit exactly the familiar terms you know for grades of meat. As an example, did you know that some beef, graded U.S. Choice, just doesn't meet our "Super-Right" specifications? It's true! You see... we don't buy by grade. We use our own high standards to bring you the best values.

That doesn't mean we don't approve of such grading - not at all. It just means we're very fussy about the beef we label "Super-Right." It stands to reason we have to be or A&P wouldn't be America's number one meat merchant.

don can visit with them later on. The two boys came to the News office Tuesday afternoon to help us translate letters we had received from two members of the Marimba band who were also here last year. The letters, in Spanish, were enthusiastic with hopes that they might be able to come back again this year.

Jaime and Xavier told me that two other students from Guayaquil are in America, one of them in Louisville and the other in New York. The young man in Louisville is visiting with the Jim Zimmerman family. Jim called me several times to see if some Fulton family wouldn't like to have the youngster here for awhile.

Said Jim: "Jo, he talks of hardly anything else except that he would like to visit Fulton. He said that is the chief topic of conversation in their far-away schools and homes—a great deal of the time."

Meanwhile Jaime and Xavier tell me that the New York visitor "would give anything in the world to come here."

Wouldn't it be nice if they could? The young fellows will pay their own travel expenses here.

The two local visitors are "having a ball," while here. They are attending classes at Fulton High, enjoying the association of their Fulton Amigos and are happy as can be.

If only more communities in the world would do what we are doing, just think how much better off this life would be. If any of you Tri-America Teen members want to show some Fulton hospitality to the Ecuadorian visitors, I am sure they will be just mighty happy to see you.

The Friendly City showed its colors again last Friday when Mrs. Lillian Cooke Cate visited to her heart's content with many of her old friends who gave her a great big, "welcome—back home to live." Lillian, with her nine-year old daughter Mary Ann, has come back from Nashville where she has lived for the past 22 years. They are making their home with her father, N. G. Cooke on Third Street and you can imagine what a happy situation that is.

Many of Lillian's friends from all around these parts had great fun remembering events of the past at the hospitable Weeks home. In talking with her we naturally got around to our children. When I told her that our son was in college and Mary Jo was a sophomore in High School, she just couldn't believe it.

Her disbelief was no greater than mine when I found out that her son Ronnie is in college at Murphreesboro and Billy is in college at Sewanee. Does time fly? ... it jets across our lives.

Lillian Wade Blagg is back home to make her permanent residence with her sisters and other relatives. Lillian detoured around Fulton several years ago when she went out to California to live and work. We're glad the traffic headed this way, because Lillian is one of our favorite people, and we're glad she's home again.

'Twould be nice if Gertrude Murphey and Lillian Cate and others could persuade Virginia Galtney to come back here to live. Virginia has been visiting in Fulton, but is leaving today for her home in Corinth, Miss. Virginia has been gone a mighty long time. We think it's a long enough "vacation" . . . so she ought to come on back.

Ah youth! . . . there seems to be no problem too great! It was our pleasure to be dinner guests of Larry and Jane Ader last week when a couple of old folks (Paul and I) almost didn't eat for enjoying the conversation with these two immensely attractive people.

The Aders have two children, which Jane seems to handle with absolutely no trouble at all while she keeps house, cooks and takes infinite care of all and sundry household chores. That young lady can even iron shirts to make them look like an Arrow ad.

We're glad to have the Aders in Fulton. They are living in Country Club Courts, where a lot of other nice people live and make life look mighty placid for us old-timers.

NOTE TO PAUL'S MOTHER AND TO RUBY McDADE . . . after all these years of resisting, some folks got me involved in a bridge game. Paul told Mary Jo at breakfast after we indulged in the pastime one evening that: "I didn't know your mother knew how to play bridge."

Actually I don't think I do, but I think I stopped talking long enough to play a hand or two. Not bad . . . I mean keeping quiet, that is.

In talking with Marian Emerson about the startling happening she said: "You ought to come out and play duplicate on Monday."

Now that would be the day . . . I do well to run on the single track, much less double up on the brain-work.

Twenty guests helped Dawna Braswell celebrate her eighth birthday last Saturday at the Derby, when her mother, Mrs. L. D. Braswell, was hostess at a luncheon from 11 a. m. until 1 p. m. A special guest was Dawna's grandmother, Mrs. Louis Braswell, 76, who drove down alone from her home in Mounds City, Ill., to attend the party.

Hamburgers, hot dogs, potato chips and drinks were served at the noon hour, after which the girls enjoyed dancing the twist and playing games. Dawna received many lovely gifts from those attending, who were:

Rita Smith, Patsy Ray, Carmen Gardiner, Sheila Scott, Daria Cross, Kim Nethery, Caroline

Weeks, Wanda Loney, Sherry Hagan, Malissa Craig, Katherine Casey, Deborah Steele, Kimberly Braswell, Malinda Barkley, Joan Trees, Kelly Buckingham, Cindy Mitchell, Beverly Pounders and Regina Brockwell.

I think you will be interested in the two articles below that were distributed at the Senior Citizens' meeting last Thursday. You will know then what I mean about the kind of programs they have. Here they are:

Grandma's Washday "Recept"

Years ago, a Kentucky grandmother gave a new bride the following "recept" for washing clothes. It appears below just as it was written and despite the spelling, it has a bit of philosophy.

bilt fire in backyard to heat kettle of rain water set tubs so smoke won't glow in eyes if wind is pert shave one hole cake of lie soap in bilin water sort things, make three piles: 1 pile white, 1 pile culford, 1 pile work britches and rags stir flour in cold water to smooth thin down with bilin water rub dirty spots on board, scrub hard,, then bile. Rub culford, don't bile just rench in starch take white things out of kettle with broomstick handle, then rench, and starch spread tee towels on grass hang old rags on fence pore rench water in flour bed scrub porch with hot soapy water turn tubs upside down go put on clean dress, smooth hair down with side combs, brew cup of tee, set and rest and rock a spell and count blessings

Hang this up above your automatic washer and when things look bleak, read it again.

PIERCE STATION

By Mrs. Charles Lowe

Teachers each day will fill lamps, clean chimneys and trim wicks.

Each teacher will bring a bucket of water and a scuttle of coal for L.C. day's session.

Make your pens carefully: you may whittle nibs for the individual taste of your children.

Men teachers may take one evening a week if they go to church regularly.

After ten hours in school the teachers should spend the remaining time reading the Bible or other good books.

Women teachers who marry or engage in other unseemly conduct will be dismissed.

Every teacher should lay aside from each day a goodly sum of his earnings for his declining years so that he will not become a burden on society.

Any teacher who smokes, uses liquor in any form or frequents pool or public halls, or gets shaved in a barber shop will give reason to suspect his worth, intentions, integrity, and honesty.

The teacher who performs his labors faithfully and without fault for five years will be given an increase of 25 cents per week in his pay providing the Board of Education approves.

Teachers each day will fill lamps, clean chimneys and trim wicks.

Each teacher will bring a bucket of water and a scuttle of coal for L.C. day's session.

Make your pens carefully: you may whittle nibs for the individual taste of your children.

Men teachers may take one evening a week if they go to church regularly.

After ten hours in school the teachers should spend the remaining time reading the Bible or other good books.

Women teachers who marry or engage in other unseemly conduct will be dismissed.

Every teacher should lay aside from each day a goodly sum of his earnings for his declining years so that he will not become a burden on society.

Any teacher who smokes, uses liquor in any form or frequents pool or public halls, or gets shaved in a barber shop will give reason to suspect his worth, intentions, integrity, and honesty.

The teacher who performs his labors faithfully and without fault for five years will be given an increase of 25 cents per week in his pay providing the Board of Education approves.

Winter Tips For Safety

Now that winter is here, there is much to be said, as well as done, about safety around the home. We have already had much snow and ice, resulting in a few falls. In the south this year over 100 have lost their lives due to severe cold and snow. Over-exertion causes many hearts to fail. The rule of thumb in safety along this line is, "If you are over 40 slow down." Snow is very heavy, so take it easy; it will still be there when you return from a short rest. Now ice is a little different story.

We have known for a long time that salt will remove ice and snow. Frequently after several snows, however, damage has been found in shrubs, roses, and lawns.

Commercial fertilizer will effectively remove hazardous ice and snow from steps and walks without damaging trees and other plants. Urea fertilizer is considered best, even though the initial cost is more than salt or calcium chloride. Urea is non-corrosive to most metals and is not likely to damage plants, provided a heavy application of commercial fertilizer was not applied in the fall.

When a heavy snow warning is issued by the weather man, sprinkle fertilizer on the steps, walk, and driveway. This will keep the first fall melted, then as the material washes away, more should be added.

I have heard of several farmers who have been cutting ice on their ponds. If this has to be done, cut around the edge, never out in the pond where it may be thin.

For the auto, snow tires or chains are a must, if you just have to go. Chains are far superior on ice and snow, but snow tires are well worth the money for snow and soft roads. Here is another time when safety means slow down, regardless of the age, 16 years to 106 years.

Make plans to prevent accidents today.

Cooper Seeks Rural Areas Program Aid

A bill to organize and streamline the fight for development of rural areas has been introduced with the co-sponsorship of Senator John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky.

The bill lets the Agriculture Department organize "community development districts" in rural areas, in conjunction with state agencies and other federal agencies involved.

Up to now, there has often been a breakdown between the various federal agencies trying to do the development job, by not knowing what has been going on in another office.

The bill co-sponsored by Senator Cooper would help coordinate all federal, state and local agencies working for development in rural areas.

"It would reduce overlapping and duplication, and get the job done more economically and more efficiently," Senator Cooper said.

This would be done simply by bringing representatives of all the agencies involved together with the people from the area involved, so that plans could be formed to guide the development program.

Each would also get a chance to exchange views with the others.

Senator Cooper is a member of the Agriculture Committee, where the bill was brought up. It has also received strong support from several other members of the Committee.

Local Couple Enjoy Visit At Carlsbad

Mr. and Mrs. Robert A. Reese 319 Forestdale, Fulton, Ky. recently made one of the world's most spectacular walks when they visited Carlsbad Caverns National Park in southeastern New Mexico.

There, a guided tour took them more than 750 feet underground to see the huge network of chambers and corridors lavishly decorated with incredibly beautiful limestone formations that were millions of years in the making.

The visitors found a choice of walk-in or elevator trips offered every day of the year at Carlsbad Caverns National Park. In addition, there are camera tours daily at 2 p. m. (Mountain Standard Time) and special scenic rooms tour at 3:00 p. m. Daytime visitors facilities are the finest at the national park.

Aged Recipients Asked To Sign For Medicare

Some 59,000 Kentucky public assistance recipients over 65 years of age are being urged by their caseworkers in the Department of Economic Security to sign up for all features of the social security medicare program before it is too late.

State Economic Security Commissioner C. Leslie Dawson has directed an all-out program to encourage signing for supplementary medical insurance and hospital benefits. Dawson pledged a $3 raise in public assistance payments in July which would cover the $3 monthly premium payments to the program.

The increase will go to all persons over 65 who elect to take the medicare program offered by the Federal Security Administration, before the deadline of March 31. The assistance increases will be made possible by an appropriation in the recently-approved State budget.

Dawson said that only about 20 per cent of aged public assistance clients have applied for Federal medicare, and agreed with Social Security officials that the rate of acceptance is too slow. Apparently, he said, the elderly are not aware of the extent of the low-cost coverage offered by the medicare insurance.

In a letter sent to all persons receiving adult assistance payments in Kentucky Dawson urged persons over 65 who receive aid under the State medical care program to consider the extra medical expense such as surgery and physicians' visits in the hospital which will be covered under the supplementary medical insurance.

"This department through its (State) medical care (program) will continue to meet some of your medical needs, but cannot give you all of the services covered by the insurance plan," Dawson wrote. "Therefore it is important that you complete all of the application forms at once."

Economic Security caseworkers in all 120 counties received instructions late last week to advise the aged recipients to take advantage of the social security plans.

A card being sent to all aged adults receiving assistance says in part that if a recipient has returned his reply card to the Social Security Administration marked "no" the action should even be reconsidered.

West Kentucky China Industry Gets Study Aid

An $18,000 project to turn out samples of a new and stronger chinaware for hotels, which may lead to new jobs in Western Kentucky, was approved today by Eugene P. Foley, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Economic Development.

The funds are being provided by the Economic Development Administration, U. S. Department of Commerce, to the State of Kentucky and the American Restaurant China Council of Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania.

The two applicants will contribute an additional $2,000 to complete the final stage in development of the chinaware, estimated to be four times stronger than the conventional product.

The stronger ceramic body for the chinaware was developed with the help of an earlier $87,700 technical assistance grant from the Department of Commerce. The applicants contributed $90,000 to the development.

Spindletop Research Center of Lexington, Kentucky, which is developing the product, will use the new funds to produce samples of a finished and marketable chinaware.

The applicants consider it possible that the market for hotel chinaware could be recaptured from foreign imports. It is estimated that a plant to turn out the chinaware would provide 82 jobs initially with an additional 10 to 25 jobs generated in the clay mining industry of Western Kentucky.

SOIL TEST TIME

The weather during the past few weeks has kept almost all farmers from securing soil samples, but we hope that all farmers will secure their soil samples in the near future in order that they may have the results returned from the laboratory before crop planting time.

If our listening to Obion County farmers is any indication, there will be more corn planted during April and more corn pre-emerged with Atrazine than ever before. The reason for this is that farmers will be making an effort to plant their corn early in order to avoid as much damage as possible from the corn borer worms. Take your soil samples now in order to have the results back in plenty of time before corn planting time.

Soil Testing has shown a large number of farmers the way to higher yields and larger profits.

A pertinent fact about your soil is that neither you, nor anyone else, can look at them or feel them and say a great deal about their fertility. Much can be said about its potential and productivity, however, from a visual observation. For example, a soil may be well drained, be in good physical condition, and have thick topsoil, but still be poor in fertility.

This is where soil testing enters the picture. Although you can't see or feel the fertility status of your soil, a soil test can "see" it for you.

This is the reason I am urging all farmers to collect soil samples on your farms.

Almost all fertilizer dealers in Obion County are cooperating in paying for the cost of having soil samples tested. The Old & Third National Bank is paying the postage for all samples sent to Nashville through our office.

Remember Soil Testing doesn't cost - it pays you back in increased crop yields.

The store belonging to Mr. and Mrs. B. Isbel at Dukedom now has new owners, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Matz of Chicago. They moved last week and are now in charge. Mrs. Matz is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Harwood. Mr. Matz returned to Chicago to continue with his work there for a while.

Mrs. T. L. Ainley and Mrs. Hillman Westbrook attended the executive committee meeting of the Hopewell Presbyterian Cumberland Presbyterian Women at McKenzie on Saturday. This meeting was for the purpose of planning the program for the regular spring meeting, to be held in Dresden on March 29 at the Cumberland Church there.

Mrs. Coy Harrison returned from Detroit where she has been the past two weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Nellie Ruth Fry. Mrs. Fry has recently had surgery and had to return to the hospital the second time. Her friends will be glad to know she is doing fine at present, although continuing treatments. Her doctor is confident of complete recovery. Mrs. Fry appreciated, very much, the thoughtfulness and concern of everyone around here.

Dukedom Homemakers were represented at the craft school in Dresden on Monday by Mrs. Glyn Roberts, Mrs. Randall Brown and Mrs. Elizabeth Darnell. Instructions in stenciling and wall plaques were available.

Mrs. Effie Winston is still a patient in Jones Hospital and is not improving as much as we would like. She was carried to Memphis by her son last week for a medical appointment, but returned to Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Isbel are now living at the former Cannon place on State Line, between Fulton and Dukedom.

Martin Athlete Killed, Others Hurt In Collision

A 17-year-old Martin High School athlete was killed and five other young people injured Saturday night when a car slammed into a bridge railing about 8:30 and was demolished.

Sandy Lee Wright, a high school senior and member of the school's tumbling team, died about 9:30 p. m. Saturday in Martin's Volunteer General Hospital. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wright of Martin.

Injured in the accident and still undergoing hospital treatment in Martin today were Howard J. Cruce, 19, reported to be the driver of the car, a freshman in business administration at UTMB, son of Mrs. James R. Freeman of Martin; Joe Vincent, 18, employee of the Martin Shoe Factory and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Milburn Vincent of Martin; Kathy Davis, 14, Martin High School freshman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Davis of Martin; Dianne Stephenson, 14, high school freshman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stephenson of Martin, and Donna Brock, 14, also a freshman at Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Junior Brock of Martin.

While injuries were serious, none of the five was believed in critical condition.

The accident reportedly occurred when the car driven by the Cruce youth attempted to pass another car at the Martin city limits on Highway 45-E, the Martin-Fulton highway. City police said the car was moving toward Fulton, struck the bumper of an unidentified car and slammed into the bridge rail. The car bounced from one side to the other, striking the bridge rail at least three times and ripping off almost the entire left side. The Wright youth was thrown from the car.

Tid-Bits of Kentucky Folklore

UNKNOWN NAMES

Though America as a whole has been settled only a short time, relatively speaking, we have already developed a blind spot for many of our earlier history. If we were as myth-minded as were the ancients, we could develop an amazing body of stories to illustrate why certain names arose in the land. In dealing with the names to be found in the Mammoth Cave National Park, names that have become, since the park was established, just names, and nothing else, to million of people, I have wondered how they came to be, why they and not other names became permanently associated with streams and hills and sinkholes and ridges. And I have developed a strong feeling for the names and have hoped that they will not be lost. In places where people continue to live, it is only natural that names slowly change to fit new times and conditions; since the people of the park are now elsewhere, why not keep their names, just as they were?

In trying to find the origin of some of the odd names, I have run into many contradictions, so that I will probably never know the actual backgrounds. As of now here are some that may or may not be exactly true to history but at least seem to have a connection. Raven Branch. This small stream in the rugged area along Nolin River has every indication of being named for the actual ravens that used to be found in just such places. Of course, none of the oldest inhabitants of today lived when ravens were around, and very few seemed to know that the area might have been frequented by these large black birds, now extinct in the whole area.

Panther Hollow. Rather oddly, stories of panthers remain to this day. Everybody believes that this hollow was once the abode of the much-feared panther, which goes by so many different names in America. Chicken Hollow. My own opinion is that this name came from the prairie chicken, so numerous in this general area in early times. This belief is not shared by many of the former inhabitants, several of whom have other theories.

Deer Park Hollow. Until deer were reintroduced into the park area, in the 1930's, the Virginia deer was as unknown to most people as the prairie chicken or the raven or the panther. I have no doubt that some years hence stories will arise that will connect the name with the modern population of deer, but the name is actually old and must have arisen among the early settlers.

Buffalo Creek. Even though the buffalo disappeared from the region away back in the early 1800's, no one doubts that its name and fame appear in Buffalo Creek, with its two forks—Dry and Wet. Wildcat Hollow. This is another name that may acquire present-day significance since the wildcat or lynx has been reintroduced into the park. It was a great day for me to see a wildcat in the flesh, in the woods and not in a cage; it was even greater to hear all night, when I was camping alone, a wildcat serenading me.

But this was in less romantic places than Wildcat Hollow, however much I wish it could have occurred there.

Goblin Knob. Old-timers say that Goblin Knob should be "Gobbling" Knob, as that picturesque conical hill on the north side of the park used to be a great place for turkeys in spring, and the gobbling of the males is still remembered by oldsters.

Somehow this argument did not convince the map-makers, and "Goblin" is still the spelling of the knob.

Teletype Utilized In Business Games

A student team from the University of Kentucky College of Commerce is competing with seven other teams in an interschool simulated business management game, conducted via teletype and computer from the campus of Emory University, Atlanta. The different teams are given the facts in a business situation, then allowed an hour to a day to put their answer on the teletype.

At Emory, the team's decision is matched against that of the other teams and compared with the decision offered by the computer, which has been fed the same facts. How the team's decision "stacks up" is answered via teletype the same day. The last game in the series of eight "decisions" will be played on Emory's campus.

Mrs. Hart, and her associates take great care to plan the meetings so that they will be interesting, while at the same time affording some measure of entertainment to the members. Last week Miss Jessie Orgain, who has been making the rounds of the local clubs, spoke on behalf of Fulton's beautiful new library, the county's program and projected plans for the future.

Miss Orgain told of the many services available to young and old at the local library from films, to works of art that can be taken out just as books and other periodicals can be. Miss Orgain then showed the group one of the beautiful films available at the library. Following Miss Orgain's talk Mrs. H. L. Jamison, Mrs. L. P. Carney and Mrs. Ernest Forest, representing Circle Three of the church, served cake and coffee to those present.

Mrs. George Moore is president of the W. S. C. S.

Mrs. Hart, whose interest in the club is shared by her husband, is one of those rare individuals with a storehouse of energy and ideas to match. She has managed to keep the members happy by presenting program plans that are of particular interest to every member who attends.

It is not unusual to see the women-folks sewing away at children's garments for the Clothes Bank. Pieces of cloth, old suits, dresses, even remnants of drapery material soon find their way into the most attractive apparel for young people. Men enjoy reading, group singing with the women-folk and just sitting around listening to the news of the day.

It is a simply magnificent program for some mighty wonderful people.

Only one sad note creeps into the whole undertaking . . . if only a meeting place, a "home of their own" could be found for the Senior Citizens Club, any barrier that might hinder them now would be banished forever.

Is there such a home in the future . . . ?

Maybe . . . at least a reporter made a vow while looking out over into the future . . . a room in the Latin-American Friendship Center inscribed:

Senior Citizens Club dedicated to our citizens who have achieved the seniority of their lives and whose contributions to our lives have inspired this meeting place where they will always find friendship and happiness.

TYPICAL PACKAGE

A typical CARE Food Crusade package, for needy families in Greece, contains 4 1-2 lbs. milk powder (makes 18 qts.), 10 lbs. flour, 5 lbs. corn meal, 7.7 lbs. cooking oil. Deliveries are made in the names of Americans who send a dollar-per-package to CARE, 720 West End Ave., Nashville, Tennessee 37203.

Mrs. George Moore, president of the WSCS of the Methodist Church at left, with Mrs. Hart show two of the garments hand-made for the Clothes Bank.

Mr. and Mrs. Hart are pleased as can be as they take an inventory of garments made for distribution at the Fulton-South Fulton Clothes Bank.

Nikie Forrester, Dr. O. B. Neely, Receive Injuries

Nikie Forrester of South Fulton, a trainer of show horses, and Dr. O. B. Neely, a Union City veterinarian, were injured Sunday morning in an accident near Lewisburg, Tenn.

Dr. Neely, 72, suffered a fractured left leg, a head cut and possible internal injuries. He was taken to Gordon's Hospital in Lewisburg.

Forrester, 21, was not seriously injured. Forrester was not sure how the accident occurred. He said the road was narrow, it was raining and suddenly the truck which he was driving headed for the ditch, turned over twice . . . came to rest on its wheels.

Dr. Neely was thrown from the truck.

Dr. Neely was accompanying Forrester, who was taking a mare to Shelbyville to be bred. The accident occurred just 14 miles from their destination.

WHAT'S GOING ON

by
Wendell P. Butler
Commissioner
Ky. Dept. of Agriculture
Frankfort

Burley tobacco growers in Kentucky and the eight-state burley belt face an important decision on March 10. On this date they will vote to adopt the acreage-poundage control plan for burley, or vote to take a 15 percent cut in their 1966 allotment. How they vote, however, has an effect greater than merely determining the size of their 1966 crop.

The future security of the burley support program might well be determined by the outcome of the referendum March 10. The attitude in the United States Congress is not altogether favorable to the tobacco program. The program is constantly attacked by those who say that it is foolish to discourage smoking at the health level and encourage it at the agricultural level.

This critical pressure will grow in coming sessions of Congress.

Added to this problem is the loss of legislative power that agriculture, in general, is facing. As more and more people leave rural areas and move to the cities, more and more congressmen become responsible to an urban constituency. A congress composed of a majority representing urban dwellers will not approve subsidies for a losing program. And tobacco will be a losing program if steps are not taken to control production.

Under the law governing the tobacco program, the Secretary of Agriculture must take action when the amount on hand exceeds 2.8 years disappearance supply. Based on past disappearance rates, the stock on hand today is 3.25 years supply.

RECOGNIZED — Charles J. Martin, Jr. (right) a native of Kenton and brother of Joe Martin, county agent of Obion county, has received a Dept. of the Army certificate and a $250 cash award for sustained superior performance of his assigned duties at the Army Materiel Command Field Safety Agency at Charlestown, Ind., where Mr. Martin has been chief of the agency's Publications Division since 1961. Making the presentation was Ray L. Myers, agency director.

Insurance Firms Ask Auto Rate Increases

NASHVILLE — Two rating bureaus representing 363 companies have asked rate increases in Tennessee, which could cost state motorists an estimated $4.3 million per year in automobile insurance premiums.

But the move may trigger opposition from Nashville Mayor Beverly Briley, who successfully fought a similar request last fall.

Neil Brown, director of the Nashville legal department, said Tuesday night he has begun an investigation of the application to see if the hike is justified.

Brown, acting on instructions from Briley, said his office will recommend a course of action following the examination of the companies' request. "The law requires the companies to present evidence that justified the increase," Brown said. "If they fail, then they are not entitled to a rate increase."

The National Automobile Underwriters Assn., representing 223 companies, asked State Insurance and Banking Commissioner Albert Williams to approve a 9.8 percent increase in comprehensive and collision coverage. At the same time, the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters, representing another 140 companies, is seeking a 10 percent increase in premiums paid for liability and physical damage coverages.

Deputy Insurance Commissioner John Washington said the companies represented by the two rating bureaus write approximately 80 percent of the automobile insurance issued annually in Tennessee. The NAUA request would cost motorists in the state an estimated $2.6 million more per year, while the proposed NBCU increase would require an additional $1.7 million annually in premiums.

Williams rejected a 27.4 percent increase proposed by NBCU last year, along with a requested 9.6 percent hike by the NAUA. Both petitions were opposed by Briley.

U.N. Fellowship To Honor Adlai

WASHINGTON — The United Nations will honor Adlai E. Stevenson's memory with a fellowship program paid for by the United States.

The program, proposed by President Johnson and approved by Secretary-General U. Thant, will divert $100,000 contributed to the organization's institute for training and research for the fellowships.

At the start — the number is expected to increase — 8 to 10 foreign youths will be given the fellowships to serve as "interns" at the United Nations.

Hickman County Library Work Told

CLINTON, Ky. — A total of 32,976 volumes were circulated through the Hickman County Public Library during 1965 according to Mrs. Kelly Ross, librarian.

This was an increase of 2,000 over 1964.

Of the total this year, 14,496 volumes were checked out of the library and 18,480 were checked out of the bookmobile operated from the library in all communities in the county. The library is supported locally by a $750 annual appropriation from the Hickman County Fiscal Court and a similar appropriation from the City of Clinton with an additional $600 annual contract for services from the Hickman County board of education.

Family Shoe Store

A BREATH OF SPRING IN THE MIDST OF WINTER—Louise and Bob Bay dress the window of the Bay's Family Shoe Store to show the lovely new spring merchandise for all the family.

Today we are spotlighting the Bay's Family Shoe Store, owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bay, their son, Bob, and Bob's wife, the family who actually 'shopped around' for this business location, and settled in Fulton, Kentucky just over a year ago. Why did they choose Fulton? Because they liked the town, considered it a good place to locate their business, and better still because they liked the people. Louise and Bob said "We found these folks so friendly, and interesting, and they were the down-to-earth sort—The kind you like to settle down to live with."

Bay's carries several lines of quality shoes and can fit the entire family with Miss Wonderful, Tempos, Petite Debs, John C. Roberts, Jarman, Outdoorsman, Red Goose, Storybooks. The combined sales experience of these shoe salesmen adds up to one hundred years, and all have both the knowledge and experience to fit shoes correctly. They stress the importance of proper fit, and enjoy having satisfied customers. The show room is large and comfortable. You are invited to shop leisurely, or just visit and browse. Lucille Hall and Margie Cummings are also on the sales staff—a friendly group who like to sell quality name brand shoes... popular styles... to all the family...

This is a "family shoe store" in more than one way! Not only do they carry shoes for all your family but the Bay family—Jack and Maggie Bay and Bob and Louise Bay—all work in the store. All are extremely likeable people who enjoy what they are doing. Bob and Louise have two sons, Robert (18) a 1965 graduate of Fulton High is studying aeronautical engineering at Auburn; John (21) is studying optometry at Memphis State.

We like this family who chose Fulton from the many other towns to make their home and set up their business. You will like to stop in this friendly place of business whether it's to visit, for advertising, or buy those beautiful shoes!

SAY "CHE-E-E-S-E"

You don't have to be on a candid camera to say "cheese" and so broaden your smile. It's also a smart thing to say when you want something interesting for a simple menu, easy to prepare, tasty and nutritious.

Cheese is made from milk, skimmed milk or cream. Most types are made from the curd, but some are based on whey. The process is one of enzyme or ferment action; the ferments are derived from various molds or bacteria. The type of cheese is determined by the mold or the bacteria and by the process used.

A Concentrated Food

Cheese is a concentrated protein food, containing up to 36 percent by weight of protein, mainly casein. Thus a three ounce portion of cheese would supply about one ounce of protein, or about 40% of a day's requirement for an adult male (154 pounds) doing average work. The fat in cheese varies from almost none in uncreamed cottage cheese to about 30 percent in the more 'fat' cheeses.

Almost every nation has its favorite cheeses, determined by the kind of milk used, the enzyme, and the conditions of curing. Practically every variety of foreign cheese is paralleled by a similar type made in the United States. Often the domestic is indistinguishable from the import. This is due to the immigration of expert cheese makers from many nations, and the duplication of aging conditions such as constant-temperature caves, where the same procedure can be carried on as in the original setting.

Cottage Cheese Popular

Possibly the cheese in most common use is cottage cheese, because of its mild flavor, less calories, and its adaptability to mixing with cream, chives, pine, apple or other flavorings, and its compatibility with fruits for a low-calorie, vitamin and mineral-rich luncheon platter. The Germans call it 'schmierkase' (spreading cheese).

English and American

English cheddar and its American counterpart are popular, too, for toasted sandwiches, Hollandaise dressing, in cream sauce, as a garnish for apple pie, in cold cuts and for topping casseroles of scalloped foods, or just for eating by the hunk as snacks.

Cream cheese is useful as a basis for cheese dips, with one of the 'bleu' varieties—such as French Roquefort, Danish or American bleu, English Stilton or Italian Gorgonzola. Other good white cheeses are American brick, Dutch Edam or Gouda, French Brie, Savoia or Neufchatel, or 'pineapple'.

More Robust Flavors

Somewhat more robust in flavor are the Swiss types, Gruyere or Emmenthal, the French Camembert and the Belgian Limburger, or the American Liederkranz.

A useful cheese for sprinkling over pasta dishes or onion soup or wherever a dash of piquancy is desired, is grated Parmesan. This is best purchased, if possible, in chunks, and grated directly off the piece, but the ready-grated product is good if it is kept closed, refrigerated and not allowed to grow too old.

Brown Cheeses

Brown cheeses are a favorite in Scandinavia; they include goats' milk cheese and the German Muenster. Gourmet varieties of cheese are flavored with sage, spices and wines.

Yes, madam, when in doubt, say che-e-e-se—and smile.

Pharmacy Bill Aim Explained

The aim of the bill before the Kentucky Legislature concerning the pharmacy profession is to control the issuing of drugs required by law to be dispensed only upon the prescription of a doctor, John H. Oehlschlaeger Jr., president of the Kentucky Pharmaceutical Association said.

Oehlschlaeger, in answering recent published criticisms of the bill, said the legislation is applicable only to the area where the federal government says a pharmacist is required to dispense the drugs.

Critics have stated that the bill would prevent any other stores, except pharmacies or drug stores, from selling such items as paint thinner, Epsom salts or lime, for example.

He also took exception to the criticism that since the bill requires a pharmacist to be on duty at all times, small-town druggists would have to close their stores to go to lunch.

"That has always been the law," he said, "but the enforcement of it is another matter."

Oehlschlaeger told the Sun-Democrat the reason the salary of the secretary-treasurer of the state pharmacy board was not listed was because it would be then required of them to go to the legislature every time a raise was sought for the secretary-treasurer.

The bill would also require the issuing of permits to each establishment that issues drugs in addition to the licensing of each pharmacist.

Oehlschlaeger also noted that Section 18 of the bill specifically notes that nothing in the act applies to the manufacturers, distributors or retailers of economic poisons, insecticides, fungicides, rodenticides, herbicides, agricultural growth inhibitors, veterinary drugs properly labeled for over the counter sale of feeds containing drugs.

HARRODSBURG, Ky. — "The Legend of Daniel Boone," a 90-minute historical play, will open June 17 at Harrodsburg.

Now being written by Jan Hartman, a New York playwright, the outdoor drama will feature the lives of Daniel Boone and James Harrod.

Council Raises Nonresident Tuition

FRANKFORT, Ky.—The Council on Public Higher Education yesterday increased tuition fees for out-of-state students at the University of Kentucky and the five state colleges.

UK out-of-state fees will be $820 starting next fall for an academic year of two semesters. This is $300 more than this year's tuition and $100 more than the fee schedule for next fall previously approved by the council. Fees for Kentucky residents will be $280 a year, up $30 from this year but unchanged from previous council action.

At the five state colleges, out-of-state tuition will be $580 a year by next fall. This includes $40 a year in incidental fees—student union, yearbook, health and other required fees—which formerly were not collected as part of the regular tuition.

Out-of-state tuition is $400 this year at the state colleges, and was scheduled to go to $450 next year.

Resident Fees Stable

Fees for resident students were changed slightly at the state colleges, but students will be paying no more in total fees than previously scheduled for next fall.

Resident students will pay $240 a year at the five state colleges, including $40 in incidental fees. This year's tuition is $175.

At the UK colleges of medicine and dentistry, out-of-state tuition will be $1,280 next fall, compared to $1,080 now. Resident tuition will go up $40 to $600.

Summer Rates Up

The council approved a motion permitting implementation of the new fees in the 1966 summer session if any college or UK wants to do that.

The new summer fees at UK will be $230 for out-of-state students, up from the previous $170. Resident fees will be $80, up from $70.

At the state colleges, summer fees will be $145 for out-of-state students, including $10 in incidental fees. Last summer the fee was $100 plus incidental fees.

Kentucky residents will pay $60 in summer fees at the state colleges, including incidental fees. Last summer the fee was $43.75 plus incidental fees.

The council also heard a report that the state will need several hundred additional social workers in the next year or so to work in Medicare and other new federal programs.

Leslie Dawson, commissioner of the state Department of Economic Security, asked the council for cooperation in recruiting college seniors to do social work for the state after they graduate.

Dr. Adron Doran, president of Morehead State College, suggested that summer institutes be held to train college graduates in the specific skills needed by the state.

Bethel To Build New Structures

MCKENZIE, Tenn.—Bethel College will award contracts soon on construction of two buildings and renovation of the present library as a science hall.

Dr. John David Hall, vice president for development, told the Bethel trustees Wednesday the new men's dormitory and a learning center and modifications to the library will cost $940,000.

The trustees approved a $1,171,389 budget, largest in history, which will be submitted to the Cumberland Presbyterian Church when it convenes at Memphis June 15. Bethel is the only school operated by the church.

The new budget provides funds for nine new teachers. Trustees also gave approval to plans for a new women's dormitory.

DON MILLS

Mills And Walker Honored As 'Outstanding Young Men'

Don Mills of Clinton, press secretary to Gov. Edward T. Breathitt, was honored as one of the state's Outstanding Young Men for 1965 at the Kentucky Jaycees banquet Saturday night at Paul Blazer High School in Ashland.

The other two winners of the Outstanding Young Men honor are Henry T. Carlisle, superintendent of the Bowling Green electric plant board, and Richard S. Nelson, city attorney for South Fort Mitchell.

The three, selected by out-of-state judges, were named for the annual awards on the basis of individual achievement and contributions to their profession and state.

Mills, 29, is a former reporter for the Paducah Sun-Democrat. Also honored Saturday night at the Jaycee banquet was Dr. Newman W. Walker, Paducah school superintendent who was named "Outstanding Young Educator of Kentucky" by the Kentucky Jaycees.

Mills was described by the Jaycees as "press secretary, speech-writer and close advisor" to the governor. They cited his work with Breathitt in education, industrial development, traffic safety, civil rights, criminal justice and other areas as significant contributions to the welfare of the state.

Mills, a journalism graduate of the University of Kentucky, attended Edinburgh University in Scotland on a Rotary Foundation Fellowship in 1958-59. The following year he attended the new University of Kentucky School of Diplomacy and International Commerce on a scholarship and was elected the first student president of the school. At the age of 13, in his hometown of Clinton, Mills launched and edited a weekly mimeographed newspaper that lasted four years. Its circulation grew to 300. He served as press secretary in former Lt. Gov. Wilson Wyatt's unsuccessful campaign for the U.S. Senate in 1962. Later, he was state publicity chairman for Breathitt's gubernatorial campaign and on Dec. 10, 1963, was named to his present post. Carlisle, 32, manages a $3.5 million electrical distribution system for Bowling Green.

Dorm dedication and banquet

MARTIN -- Announcement was made here this week of the coming visit of Governor Frank G. Clement to Weakley County on March 11th -- a busy day for the state's chief executive.

The major function of the day will be the dedication ceremonies for a women's residence hall on the campus of the University of Tennessee here. The University's Board of Trustees has voted to name the building "Clement Hall" in honor of the governor.

On hand for the dedication will be University President, Andrew Holt, Chancellor Paul Meek, 8th district congressman Robert A. (Fats) Everett and a host of other educational and political dignitaries.

Throughout the day, Governor Clement will tour the county, visiting in each of its five towns, meeting municipal officials and inspecting industrial establishments and locations.

The county tour is being planned by the county's Chamber of Commerce. Its executive vice-president, J. R. Pierce, said Tuesday morning, that the visits to the community will be designed to show the Governor exactly what has been done and what needs to be done industrially and municipally in Weakley County.

That evening an appreciation dinner at the UTMB Fieldhouse is scheduled and members of the Governor's cabinet, Congressman Everett, and many outstanding citizens from west Tennessee and across the state are expected to attend.

Weakley County Judge Cayce Pente-cost and the mayors of Gleason, Greenfield, Sharon, Dresden and Martin--Charlie Huggins, Jack Huggins, Russell Jones, Fred Rucker and Doug Murphy will host the banquet which gets underway at seven o'clock.

Pierce will act as master of ceremonies for the occasion and Frank Prins, Jr., Greenfield industrialist and member of the State's Industrial Development Commission will introduce the Governor.

Spring Clean-Up: Here's How to Make Home Spic and Span

Spring Clean-Up Week is rolling around again, and you can do your share toward making your home and your community a better place to live by following these few simple suggestions, says the American Insurance Association.

- You can start the clean-up job in your own attic. This is frequently a place where old newspapers, furniture, and other discarded combustibles collect. Go through the newspapers and old magazines, and throw out those you no longer want. There will be a new newspaper arriving tomorrow, and new magazines next week or next month.

- Also, look around the attic and see if there is any clothing you will never wear. Throw it out or give it to a charitable organization which, in turn, will pass it on to some needy person or sell the garment for rags. Many charitable organizations make a good income through selling old newspapers and rags, and you can help the charity by turning these old combustibles into useful dollars.

- Check the attic light. If it is not working right, have it repaired by a qualified electrician.

- Now, check fire hazards that may exist in the bedroom closets. If there are old blankets or worn out sheets and other items you may never use again, throw these out, too, or give them to a charitable organization. And, incidentally, never step into unlighted closets with lighted candles or matches. Always use a flashlight. In fact, it is a good plan to keep a flashlight on the shelf in closets that are frequently used.

- In bedrooms, too, check lights, extension cords and switches, and have them repaired by a qualified service man if they are not in good operating order. Window air conditioners should be serviced at least once a year by a qualified maintenance man to be sure the unit is well lubricated and will run smoothly. A dry overheated bearing in a motor can cause an unwanted fire. In bedrooms, too, throw out old newspapers and magazines if they have accumulated.

- If you have smokers in your house, make sure that there are plenty of ash trays in every room, including the bedrooms. And keep in mind that one should never smoke in bed. Matches and smoking are a leading cause of fires, and are responsible for one out of every five fires.

- In the living room and dining room, as in the bedroom, make sure that all electrical equipment is in working order. Check extension cords if you use them, and never run them under rugs, over hooks or nails or in any place where they might be subject to wear or damage. Remember, American Insurance Association studies show that every fifth fire is caused by misuse of electricity.

- In the kitchen all electrical equipment should be checked. If you use a gas range, make sure the pilot light is working properly. If you have a towel rack, it should never be placed where towels will hang over an open flame. Keep range ovens, broilers and burners free of grease, and if you have a grease container it should be kept away from the range.

- Basements, like attics, are places where unneeded combustibles accumulate. Throw out any old newspapers or magazines that have collected there during the winter. Store flammables like cans of paint in a corner well away from the household heating unit. If you have been painting, and have oily rags, nearly empty paint containers or worn out brushes, throw them out.

- If you have an attached garage, cleaning it up is part of the over-all job. If oil has dripped on the garage floor during the winter, clean it up and scour the oil-stained spot with a grease-cutting detergent. If you keep gasoline in the garage for use in a power lawn mower or an outboard motor boat, be sure you keep it in a container

Clothes Bank Aiding Many At Fulton

FULTON, Ky. -- The Fulton-Obion Counties Clothes Bank, located in Fulton, continues to operate under the sponsorship of the Fulton Ministerial Alliance to meet the needs of many families in the area.

Last year, more than 200 families with from one to 14 children received over 1,300-items of clothing. When there were no shoes available to fit school children, who could not leave home without them, 22 pairs of new shoes and socks were purchased.

More than 250 new dresses for school children were sewed last year from pre-cut dress kits
