TVA Ready To Discuss Rebate, Electric Rate Hike In Meeting

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — The Tennessee Valley Authority prepared today to discuss a proposed rebate and electric rate hike when director Bob Clement attends his first board meeting.

For the first time in its 46-year history, the government utility made too much money this year. Forbidden to show a profit, TVA prepared today to disclose how it plans to give at least $100 million in surplus revenues back to its 2.7 million consumers in seven states.

TVA last raised its power rates 15 months ago, but officials say costs have risen more than 13 percent since then. Abnormally few power plant breakdowns and rains yielding record hydroelectric output from dams, however, lowered TVA's costs.

Two months ago, TVA Chairman S. David Freeman and Director Richard M. Freeman for the first time in the agency's history canceled a 6½ percent rate increase approved in February, when officials predicted a $59 million loss for fiscal 1979.

Clement, 35, said two weeks ago when he was sworn into office that he wanted to look at TVA's present rates as "a plateau rather than just one more step in a series of continuous increases."

A member of the Tennessee Public Service Commission for six years, Clement was an unsuccessful candidate for governor in 1978. He is the son of the late Gov. Frank Clement.

Today's agenda includes a proposed policy that new sites will not be used if TVA decides to expand its nuclear program beyond the three reactors now operating and 14 others being built.

If more reactors are needed, the proposed policy says, they will be built as add-ons at Browns Ferry and the six other sites in Alabama, Tennessee and Mississippi where plants are under construction.

Tracts in Hardin County in West Tennessee and in Marshall County in north Alabama bought as possible sites for nuclear plants would be left alone or used for something else.

Up for approval is the purchase of a $300,000 device to check the sulfur content of coal before it is unloaded at TVA's Kingston power plant 45 miles west of Knoxville.

Officials have complained that the plant sometimes receives coal of a poorer quality than called for in contracts with small east Kentucky and East Tennessee strip mine operators.

Officials said there is little TVA can do once the coal is accepted and unloaded because conventional test results can't be determined for several days.

TVA provides electricity to customers in Tennessee and portions of Alabama, Mississippi, North Carolina, Georgia, Kentucky and Virginia.

Overcharging Owners Are Targets

Gas Station Inspections Have Inauspicious Start

By HERBERT SPARROW

Associated Press Writer

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Spot inspections of independent gasoline stations in Kentucky for compliance with federal price ceilings for the fuel got off to an inauspicious start Aug. 6.

Assistant Attorney General Robert Bullock, whose Consumer Protection Division is conducting the checks, got a call from two of his inspectors.

"It seems their car was overheating," Bullock said. "They wanted to know if they should inform the station owner who they were before or after he fixed the car."

The car, which belonged to the state police, was not fixed and was returned to Frankfort. However, the inspections have continued and Bullock reported Wednesday that they have found more than 10 percent of the stations checked have been overcharging their customers.

Bullock said that while the figure was higher than he had anticipated, he felt the majority of station owners are trying to comply with the law.

Bullock said the overcharges have not exceeded three cents per gallon and some were apparently unintentional miscalculations by the station owners.

Five staff members, including Bullock, have been making the spot inspections, which only cover independent gasoline stations and not company-owned stations.

Bullock, who was interviewed prior to leaving for the Ashland area, said all areas of the state have been checked except northern Kentucky.

The federal law limits independent gasoline station owners to a gross profit of 15.4 cents per gallon.

Bullock said 160 stations had been checked as of Tuesday and 18 notices of probable violation had been issued. The notices are similar to police citations.

A dealer who receives a notice has 30 days to request either an informal hearing by the attorney general or a formal hearing by the U.S. Department of Energy. The dealer has the right to appeal the administrative ruling in a court of law.

The maximum penalty for a non-willful violation of the price ceiling is a fine of $2,500 per grade per day of violation. A willful violation can bring a fine of up to $10,000 per grade per day.

Bullock said most dealers have been surprisingly cooperative, even those who have been cited.

"Most stations were aware we were coming and have been most cooperative," Bullock said.

However, Bullock said that in most cases of violations there will be an attempt to collect some money, even if it is not the maximum.

Bullock said the inspections will continue and there are no plans to stop them.

Kentucky is conducting the inspections under a delegation of authority by the federal government that was requested by state Attorney General Robert Stephens, whose office is paying the cost of the inspections.

Drivers To Find High Prices, Less Product

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Some tightening in gasoline supplies and availability along with still higher prices will be found by motorists travelling Kentucky's major highways during the coming week, according to the fuel gauge survey of the Blue Grass and Triple A auto clubs.

Eleven percent of the stations reported being out of one or more grades of fuel, the majority of which were in the southcentral and west sections of the state, the survey revealed. Availability decreased 4 to 8 percent as 67 percent of the stations are closing by 8 p.m. Monday through Friday, 47 percent closed by 6 p.m.

Saturday and 68 percent closed on Sunday.

Around-the-clock operations remained unchanged with 14 percent open 24 hours a day, seven days a week. The survey also showed another half cent increase in gasoline costs.

The average price per gallon at full service pumps is now 96.5 cents for regular, $1.00.7 for premium and 99.7 cents for no lead. Self-service prices ranged two to five cents lower with the average price per gallon at 91.3 cents for regular, 96.4 cents for premium and 95.7 cents for no lead.

Deisel fuel jumped 1.7 cents to an average of 95 cents per gallon.

Officials Say All Boats Accounted For After Yachting Race Disaster

By JEFF BRADLEY

Associated Press Writer

PLYMOUTH, England (AP) — Race officials made contact with the British yacht, Kalisana, today, and said all boats have been accounted for in the Fastnet yacht race disaster. The death toll stood at 17 men dead, with two others missing and feared drowned, and 21 yachts sunk or abandoned.

The Royal Ocean Racing Club said all eight crewmen aboard the British boat were safe. Fifteen participants in the race were killed, many swept overboard after a summer gale storm churned up 60-foot seas on Tuesday. Two others died from a British boat, the Bucks Fizz, and two of its crewmen were counted as the missing.

Ships and aircraft were still searching a wide area of the English and Irish coasts, in case other yachts not in the race had been caught in the storm.

All 12 of the yachts from the United States reported in the race made port, but a 51-year-old American businessman living in London, Frank Ferris, was among the dead and his yacht Ariadne was lost. The U.S. Yacht Racing Union said one of three other fatalities aboard the Ariadne was Robert Robie, an American or a Canadian living in London.

Most of the other dead were British.

Helicopters and ships pulled at least 136 survivors from the raging seas after the freak storm Tuesday smashed into the fleet of 306 yachts in the 605-mile Fastnet Race from the English Channel to southern Ireland and back. One official at the rescue center said it was "the biggest operation of its kind ever carried out in British waters."

Lloyd's of London refused to say what the insurance on the lost and damaged boats would total, but one broker said the bill could total $9 million.

Winds were light when the race began last Saturday, but the skippers were warned to expect heavy weather Monday. The first gale warnings were broadcast at midday Monday.

Jim Hardy, helmsman of the Australian yacht Impetuous, said he had never encountered such giant and fast-running waves. But officials of the Royal Ocean Racing Club defended the handling of the race.

"What people don't understand is that once the race is started, there is no means of communicating with the boats," Alan Green, the secretary of the club, told a news conference. "There is no way a race committee can say, 'Stop, come home.'"

Ambulance Panel Report To Highlight Hospital Board Meet

A report of the first joint ambulance committee meeting will highlight the Murray-Calloway County Hospital Board meeting, to be held at 7 tonight in the hospital board room.

Other items on the agenda include a hospital grounds landscaping presentation by Larry Bartlett, Murray State University campus planning director; a review of the financial statement; and a review of the building program.

Mexican Crude Oil Coats South Padre Island Coast

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Thick swaths of runaway Mexican crude oil coated nearly three miles of glistening resort beaches on South Padre Island early today, and officials say tourism is down 30 percent.

Coast Guard Lt. Cmdr. Jim Paskewich said late Wednesday night that the brownish-black goo was washing up on the white sand beaches just north of a plush strip of hotels and condominiums.

The three-foot-wide ribbon stretched about 2½ miles up a drive-on beach used for camping, swimming and fishing.

"It appears right now that it will be north of the hotel beaches, but it will be close to them. It will be very noticeable, that is for sure," said Paskewich, a leader of the government task force trying to defend against history's worst oil spill.

Paskewich said clean-up crews would begin removing the oil shortly after daylight.

Almost 10 miles of tourist beaches along the northern end of the scenic 100-mile-long island were hit Tuesday and Wednesday by the sticky mess from 500 miles south in the Bay of Campeche, where the Mexican offshore oil well Ixtoc I blew out June 3.

South Padre Island, the highlight of the South Texas coast for tourists, had escaped most of the oil before Wednesday night, receiving only scattered small tar balls and two larger globs.

Lions Club Completes Plans For Anniversary

Principal speaker will be Finis E. Davis of Louisville, a past president of Lions International.

The program will be a ladies night and will follow an agenda similar to the Charter Night celebration of November 14, 1939. The club was organized Sept. 14, 1939, with twenty four charter members. Bryan Tolley is the only active charter member in the club.

President Lilly said that former Lions and friends of the Murray Lions Club are invited to attend the celebration. He requested that anyone wishing to attend to make reservations by Sept. 1 with Joe Pat James, 803 Doran Road, Murray, Ky. 42071.

County Schools To Begin Year Aug. 31

Calloway County Schools will begin their 1979-80 school year on August 31 with students attending during the morning for enrollment purposes.

Kindergarten units will register at their respective schools at 7 a.m. on August 30. Kindergarten students will not attend August 31. A typographical error in Wednesday's edition indicated the wrong date for kindergarten registration.

Overbey New President Of Bar Association

Ed Overbey was installed last week as president of the Calloway County Bar Association. He succeeds outgoing president Steve Sanders.

Other newly elected officers of the association are Gary Haverstock, vice president, and Richard Jones, secretary-treasurer.

Overbey, a partner with his father and brother in the law firm of Overbey, Overbey and Overbey, has practiced law in Murray for 13 years. Prior to that time, he practiced in Ohio for one year. He is a graduate of Murray State University and Chase Law School.

The Murray native is the son of George Ed Overbey Sr. and the late Reba Mae Overbey. He is married to the former Jacqueline O'Neill Arvin of Danville, and they are the parents of two children, Kellie, 14, and David, 10.

Price Rise Not Temporary

Don't be surprised if beef prices don't come down, advises the National Live Stock and Meat Board. Although realistic consumers don't expect prices of food and other cost-of-living items to fall, for some reason many consider this year's rise in meat prices to be but temporary. This is not apt to be the case. For although meat prices should be stable to slightly higher for the rest of this year, there is a definite trend toward higher prices for 1979.

Impotent Cheater? Pure Lecherdemean

DEAR ABBY: I can't figure out why my 61-year-old husband who is totally impotent has suddenly taken an interest in another woman. He had a very serious prostate operation last year which left him incapable of having sex relations, so I know he can't "do" anything, but he's seeing someone just the same. I know this for a fact because I had him followed by a private detective.

I don't understand what a woman would want with a man who is incapable of sex. He's good-looking, a spiffy dresser, a big spender and likes to dance.

I'm 57, and it may not be too late for me to find somebody else, so I want to know if I can divorce him because of what he is doing even though technically he isn't capable of committing adultery?

WONDERING

DEAR WONDERING: Divorce laws vary in different states, so ask a lawyer what the grounds are in your state. And as for what a woman would want with an impotent, good-looking, spiffy dresser, big spender who likes to dance, well, obviously, your husband has found someone who likes him just the way he is.

DEAR ABBY: When you first started writing your column you explained why a man will pick up some tramp and treat her like a lady, then turn around and treat his wife like a tramp. I saved it for the longest time, and now can't find it. Will you please run it again? Thank you.

MARGARET IN MAINE

DEAR MARGARET: I've found it. And here it is:

A man picks up a tramp because he wants a female companion who is no better than he is. In her company, he doesn't feel inferior. He rewards her by treating her like a lady.

He treats his wife (who IS a lady) like a tramp because he feels that by degrading her he will bring her down to his level. This makes him feel guilty. So in order to get even with his wife for making him feel guilty, he keeps right on punishing her.

DEAR ABBY: This is the first time I've ever written to anybody about a problem, but I have had it!

Our daughter brings her family over here three and four times a week for supper — plus all day on Sunday. It has gotten so that lately she spends more time at our place than she does at home. When she's here with the kids, the place is one big howl with high chair and fussing kids.

I'd feel like a heel saying anything about it because my wife seems to enjoy looking after the kids, but lately I've taken to going out a couple of nights a week just to get away from the noise and confusion.

What can I do to discourage this situation?
FED UP IN LAWRENCE, MASS.

DEAR FED UP: Why should you feel like a heel in demanding a little domestic tranquility? It's your house, too. It's also YOUR daughter and grandchildren, so speak up, Dad, and ask for a more equitable compromise. (Twice a week maybe?)

CONFIDENTIAL TO "LOVES CHILDREN AND WANTS TO TEACH": By all means don't let anyone discourage you from pursuing a career in teaching. Henry Brooks Adams (who died in 1918) said: "A teacher affects eternity; he can never tell where his influence stops."

Problem with acne

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'm 20 years old. Soon I'll be mailing out resumes in hopes of starting a lasting career but my face is broken out. How can I convince someone to hire me when it looks like I don't have the sense to wash my own face? Can you help me?

DEAR READER — I hope anyone who interviews you is intelligent enough and knowledgeable enough to know that just because your face is broken out doesn't mean you don't wash it.

I don't blame you for being upset about having acne. It certainly can detract from a person's appearance and it's quite true that appearance is important in interviews.

I think you should see a dermatologist and let him help you, but I am sending you The Health Letter number 8-2. Acne Can Be Treated. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents in check or coin with a long, stamped self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

The big problem really is overproduction of oily substances by the oil glands in your skin. We call those substances sebum. It does help to wash the face two or three times a day with warm water and soap.

Excessive rubbing, however, can be harmful. And strong soaps may not be so good either. You can help dry up the oily secretions by sponging off the face regularly with alcohol sponges. For measures beyond that, you really should see a physician.

Your doctor can help you with peeling agents that help to peel off the surface of the skin so the oil glands can drain properly. He may also want to give you antibiotics. These help to kill off bacteria in the pores of the skin. It's these small bacteria that break down the oily sebum material into irritating chemicals. The chemical irritation is what causes the red pustules.

Some people get discouraged about the use of antibiotics because they don't realize that they won't get rid of the pustules that are already there. Those are caused by irritating chemicals that are already formed. It often takes three to eight weeks to observe any noticeable improvement from antibiotics.

With the combination of treatments available, most people's acne can be considerably improved and sometimes completely relieved. It's important because it helps to prevent scarring in the future.

Sunlight does help some people. But you need to know that vitamin A acid used to treat acne by inducing peeling increases the sensitivity of the skin to the damaging effects of sunlight. Studies suggest it increases the cancer-causing effects of the sun on the skin. Also the antibiotics used to eliminate the bacteria can increase your sensitivity to sunlight. You can get a sunburn a lot quicker if you are taking any of these.

Many people put a lot of preparations on their faces to treat acne. It's important that you not use any oily or greasy preparations. Since the problem begins with oily substances, you certainly don't want to add any more.

HOMEOWNERS ARE BETTER PAYING WASHINGTON (AP)—American homeowners are doing a better job of making home mortgage payments than at any time in the past four years, according to the Mortgage Bankers Association of America.

Dr. Thomas Harter, the association's chief economist, says long-term delinquencies—loans 90 or more days past due—on home mortgages are at their lowest level since the second quarter of 1975.

The MBA says the results are based on its most recent survey of one-to-four unit residential mortgage loans serviced in the United States for the quarter ended March 31.

Opinion Page

Letter To The Editor

Editor Chastised For Commentary...

Dear Editor:

This letter is written in response to the imbecilic (sic) remarks of Gene McCutcheon in his narrow-minded editorial in the Friday, August 10, 1979 issue of The Murray Ledger & Times.

McCutcheon lauds one member of the Common Council who has resigned. Yet, in paragraph four, he wonders whether the reasons given for the resignation are the real reasons for same. —How inconsistent can one be?

In paragraph five, McCutcheon attempts to give credence to his comments by simply stating that he has, for the past seven years, attended most of the meetings of the Murray City Council. I submit that attendance alone (and that is the only criterion he listed) does not qualify one to be an objective critic of anything!

In the next-to-last paragraph in column one of his article he states that he has sometimes been surprised that the city of Murray "has been able to progress despite some actions by the council over the years." This paragraph of his leaves much to be desired by way of explanation. It makes me wonder whether the council has, at one time or another, voted against something he wanted thereby creating McCutcheon's sour-grapes attitude.

In the last paragraph in column one he states that on a few occasions it has seemed that the council was not acting in the best interest of all the citizens of Murray but went along with a proposal because it was requested by a "good ole boy." In the next paragraph he states, that some actions of the council may have even favored "friends" or the "local power-money structure" rather than the average taxpaying citizens. In another paragraph he writes, "This type of thinking must cease if our city is to continue to progress." Before something can "cease" it must first be on going — this being true, his phrases "has seemed," "may have," "in my opinion" have been changed to a positive statement that those things, to which he referred, have occurred.

These disparaging remarks by McCutcheon are completely unacceptable to be because (even though I may have an intense dislike for some of the council members) I do not believe, for a moment, that even one of the council members would stoop so low as to vote for a proposal because some "good ole boy," some "friends" or the "local power-money structure" (whatever that is) requested it.

In one paragraph McCutcheon states, "in my opinion, only five of our present council members regularly try to dissect the issues presented before them in an attempt to arrive at a fair and equitable decision before casting a ballot." By eliminating the member who resigned and the one who was defeated in the May primary election we have ten others who are: William R. Furches, Dick George, Mrs. Ruby Hale, Marshall Jones, Howard Koenen, J. H. Nix, Dr. J. D. Outland, Dr. C. C. Lowry, Dave Willis and Stephen L. Yarbrough.

Therefore, as McCutcheon challenged the present and the incoming council members to "remain" ("remain"? another inconsistency?) objective, I challenge him to name (shall we dub them) "The Dirty Seven" of the ten names above written and to state the specific charges of which he thinks they are guilty. Or to put it another way; put up or shut up!

Buel E. Stalls, Sr.
407 N. 5th St.
Murray, Ky. 42071

P.S. With "friends" like McCutcheon the city of Murray needs no enemies.

...And Offers Response

I normally prefer not to add "editor's comments" to letters from readers because I don't really care if I have the last word or not. As a matter of fact, I know of some editors who frequently tack their own opinions onto letters from readers and I think this is a disservice to the readers in that fear of being attacked or "made fun of" by an editor trying to get in the last word could dissuade some constructive and well-intentioned thoughts from ever being written down and sent to the newspaper in the first place.

But, as the saying goes, there's an exception to every rule. Since I was challenged I feel compelled to respond to Mr. Stalls' comments.

The first paragraph of Mr. Stalls' letter sets the tone for the remainder. On reflection, it may have even set the tone for my commentary about which he is complaining.

To quote Mr. Stalls' letter: This letter is written in response to the imbecilic remarks of Gene McCutcheon in his narrow-minded editorial.

I suspect he's correct in referring to the remarks as imbecilic. According to Webster's New Collegiate Dictionary, imbecile means "a . . . person having a mental age of three to seven years."

I know some astute youngsters in the three to seven year old age bracket, who, given an opportunity to observe Murray's Common Council or any other segment of government, just might agree with my comments.

I agree that attendance alone does not qualify one to be an objective critic of anything. On this point, Mr. Stalls has misrepresented what I said — which was that I am a very interested observer and taxpayer (and not necessarily an expert on city government). I have taken notes on each and every meeting I have attended and translated those notes into news stories concerning the activities of our city government.

As far as Mr. Stalls' wonderment that possibly the council has voted against something I wanted creating a "sour-grapes attitude," I can only say that I have never had a pet project come before the council and suspect I never will.

But, for the sake of an example as requested by Mr. Stalls, things such as the Glendale Road fiasco (I live in northwest Murray and seldom even drive out Ky. 121S) irk the devil out of me. I can't say that our community needs a four-lane connector along Glendale because I'm not a transportation engineer.

My opinion is, however, that a connector route of some kind between S. 4th Street and S. 12th Street is highly desirable. And the Glendale Road route apparently is now out-of-the-question, at least in the immediate future, because it became embroiled in what at times seemed like a grudge battle among the city and some of the principals involved in the disputed proposal.

Another example is what I think was the mishandling by the council of the rezoning of the Dan Miller property along S. 16th Street.

Personally, I could care less whether this property is rezoned or not. It will have no effect on my home and I have no financial interest in the matter.

But the council did a flip-flop on this issue which, I think, was morally unjust to the property owners who feel they will be directly affected, as well as to Miller. How can an elected council justify setting up a public hearing on any issue, advertise it and invite interested citizens to attend, and then, at a meeting just prior to the public hearing date, change its mind and take action that negates the need for the hearing?

As for Mr. Stalls' allegation that I implied seven of our present council members are "guilty" of something, what can I say? My commentary in no way was intended to belittle any of our elected officials. I probably realize better than most citizens of Murray what a thankless job they have.

The intent of the commentary was not to single out anyone on the council. I would say most of the time all the members of our council have the best interest of the city at heart. The problem, as I see it, is that they do not speak to the issues and explain their position often enough, particularly when a controversial topic reaches the council floor.

The commentary could also have been misconstrued on another point. My reference to five council members who regularly try to dissect the issues did not mean that I necessarily agree with their opinion. As a matter of fact, I probably disagree as often as I agree. The point is, I, as a citizen of this community, appreciate their desire to speak out and express their own opinion, as well as attempt to convey the opinions of their constituency to the remainder of the council.

The exchange of differing ideas and opinions is exactly what makes our democracy work. Without the freedom to express ourselves, we'd be in serious trouble. If that were not the philosophy of this newspaper, Mr. Stalls, letters such as yours would never be printed. But that is our philosophy. We welcome letters which disagree as well as letters which agree with our opinions.

We firmly believe in freedom of expression and freedom of the press. For us to eliminate from our opinion page thoughts which differ from our own or criticize a stand we take on a particular issue would be a travesty.

Two Sets Of Four Generations Around One Table Is A Rarity

We'll eat a lot of white beans and cornbread before we'll see another by-chance family gathering like this one around one table — two sets of four generations.

One noon last week at a table at the Boston Tea Party sat Ronald and Rebecca Churchill and their daughters — Mrs. John (Martha) Innes of Almo, a suburb of Murray, and Mrs. Tommy (Minnie Lee) Walker of Brentwood, Tenn., a suburb of Nashville.

Alongside Mrs. Innes was her daughter, Mrs. David (Becky) Innes Lanier, and her 10-month-old daughter, Emily. That's one set of four generations.

Across the table was Mrs. Walker with her daughters, Mrs. Frank (Lynne) Walker Jennings of Lebanon, Tenn., and her daughter, Jennifer, also 10 months old — the other set of four generations.

Ronald's birthday is Oct. 13, and when Becky and Lynne, although quite some distance apart, learned early last year that they were "expecting" about the middle of October, each called their grandfather and pledged their best to see if their baby could be born on his birthday. This pleased him immensely.

However, things didn't work out quite that way, although both came close. Lynne's Jennifer was born Oct. 10, and four days later Becky's Emily arrived, only one day off the target date.

With nine grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren now, Ronald has trouble keeping up with them all and had to rely on Rebecca to get all the names and dates straight. "There's getting to be so many of them, it's hard to keep up with them," he laughed, "but not for Rebecca. She can tick 'em off like clockwork."

How's this for welcoming a new resident to Murray?

We have a new fellow in our area at Murray State — John McDonald, John, who will be working with all university publications, comes from Galveston, Tex., where he was in publicity and publications work with the University of Texas Medical Center there.

He, his wife, Joyce, who is now a secretary at Peoples Bank, and their youngsters, daughter Kelly, 7, and son Gene, 3, are living on North 16th Street. They've settled in pretty good now, and, in general, the folks in Murray have welcomed them to the town.

They were treated rather harshly in one situation, however, and it left John shaking his head in disbelief.

Just as they were preparing to leave Galveston for Murray, their television set went on the blink. Now to have the TV go out with youngsters 7 and 3 underfoot, not to mention moving into a strange town, can be next to disastrous.

Rather than have it repaired before they left Galveston, they decided simply to wait until they got to Murray to have it fixed. Their truck had no more than been unloaded at their home here before John had the set in a local shop for repairs.

Four days later, he went by to see if it was ready only to learn that the repairman had gone on vacation. It would be two weeks before he would be back and could get to it, he was told.

"If they had only told me that when I left it," he said, "I could have taken it somewhere else. The kids, as well as Joyce, were about to climb the walls without that TV set."

Giving it a little thought, he concluded that he couldn't wait two weeks for the set to be repaired, so he went to another repairman and asked if he would pick up the set and repair it.

No, the second repairman said, he couldn't pick it up. That wouldn't be quite kosher in the television repair circles, but he would go with John to the shop where the set was and John could pick it up. He would then take it and repair it.

So, back to the first shop tramped John with the second repairman in tow. When he asked for the set and a lady checked on it, she came back with some unexpected but good news. The set had been repaired after all. The serviceman, she said, had fixed it before he left on vacation.

The bill was $38, which John paid, and he picked up the set, but before he could put his wallet away, the repairman who had gone to the shop with him then presented him with a bill for $18 for "his time" in going with him to pick up the set.

That made a total of $56 John was out of pocket getting the cartoons back on the screen for the kids.

"To paraphrase the Bible," he moaned, "I was a stranger and they took me in."

Bible Thought

"Then the people rejoiced, for that they offered willingly because with perfect heart they offered willingly to the Lord; and David the king also rejoiced with great joy." 1 Chronicles 29:9

When the heart is right with God, then gifts to Him are the natural outflow of gratitude and thanksgiving.

Thoughts In Season

By Ken Wolf

It was a rather striking admission for a man known as one who believed that human reason could go far in helping us understand the Divine.

But there it is, in the midst of his great theological work that sums up the wisdom of the thirteenth century — the stark sentence written by Thomas Aquinas (1225-1274):

This is the extreme of human knowledge of God: to know that we do not know God.

Ron Meredith Leads GOP Launch Of Fullscale Attack On John Y. Brown

By GEORGE W. HACKETT
Associated Press Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) —

Led by Ron Meredith, the Republicans have launched a fullscale attack on John Y. Brown Jr.'s lifestyle and alleged gambling activities.

They declared, in a series of speeches scheduled across the state Wednesday, that Brown's background makes the Democratic gubernatorial nominee unfit for public office.

"His background would prevent him from being a member of the Kentucky state police or the FBI," Meredith declared. "And here he is aspiring to the highest office in Kentucky."

Meredith, campaign chairman for GOP nominee Louie B. Nunn, told an audience here that Brown's suitability would be the "number one issue in this campaign."

He pictured Brown as a highstakes gambler, a friend of convicted bookmakers, and as a man living in a world "representative of very, very few people."

Meredith's 23-page text entitled, "Operation Undercover: Chapter 1," was identical to one used by other Republican speakers.

Brown said he would hold a news conference today to answer the allegations.

He charged that the Republicans were engaging in a "desperate campaign tactic."

His co-chairman, George Atkins, accused the Nunn campaign of "bringing back the Watergate dirty tricks style of campaigning. These are the same type tactics that broke the spirit of this country and weakened the integrity of government."

Atkins said the latest public opinion polls show that Nunn is trailing in the race. "They show that Louie Nunn has the highest negative rating of any politician in Kentucky in the past 25 years and now he's trying to drag the entire campaign down to his level."

Nunn was not among the speakers Wednesday. A spokesman explained that the GOP nominee was engaged in another phase of the campaign.

Meredith said that recent newspaper articles, both here and in Los Vegas, have pictured Brown as a "high rolling gambler, a friend of bookmakers, associating with characters well known to the police, many with criminal records."

If Brown wins in November, Meredith said it would be the first time any state chose a governor "with a record of high stakes gambling, whiskey licenses in several states, friends who associate with organized crime; and if he bets through bookies, has cheated his state out of taxes, as well as contributed to law violations."

Meredith also questioned Brown's reputation as a businessman and said the fast food millionaire's ventures have been less than auspicious. "He is a super salesman," Meredith declared.

Meredith said he wondered whether Brown was afraid to release his income tax returns because they might show his alleged gambling winnings and that he has paid very little in the way of state taxes.

"Would release show business dealings with associates of organized crime figures?" Meredith asked. He again demanded that Brown publicize his returns for the past 11 years.

During the primary campaign, Brown produced a statement from his accountants, who said the returns show no gains or losses from gambling, and that Brown has paid more than $8 million in taxes over the past 11 years.

In reviewing Nunn's previous term as governor, Meredith said there were "no scandals, no misdeeds with the taxpayers' money. FBI and federal grand juries were never needed in his administration."

This was an apparent reference to a current federal grand jury probe of alleged wrongdoing in state government.

Declaring that Nunn's record in roadbuilding is unmatched by any other governor, Meredith credited him with building over 400 miles of highways and 3,000 miles of rural roads, and completing Kentucky's interstate system.

"Governor Nunn increased funding for schools by 53 percent, increased average teacher salaries by $1,500 in three years," Meredith continued.

He said Nunn's administration produced more than 250 new industries and 43,000 new jobs for Kentuckians.

Turning to the present campaign, Meredith said Nunn has recommended a three-point program of federal action to increase coal output and cut the use of foreign oil imports.

He said the GOP nominee favors a moratorium on new nuclear power plants until the public can be assured they are safe and that Nunn opposes state-mandated collective bargaining for schoolteachers and other public employees.

Meredith also said that Nunn soon will "unveil his plan for completely restructuring Kentucky's educational system, and taking politics out of education once and for all."

Meredith closed out his attack on Brown by promising that more information on Brown's background will be released in the weeks ahead.

"Ladies and gentlemen," he said, "there is more to come — much more!"

3,840-Pound Hulk Attracts Many Stares, Remarks

By DIANA TAYLOR
Associated Press Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) —

His 3,840-pound hulk attracts a lot of stares, and often-heard remarks near his makeshift home at the Kentucky State Fair proclaim Lombard, an Italian Chianina, to be "a lot of bull."

That he is — stretching from one end of the pen to the other as he relaxes on soft wood chips.

The heavy brass ring looped through his nose and the curved 16-inch horns prompt more than a little apprehension in the crowd gathered near him.

But the 6-year-old Lombard hardly stirred Wednesday as children reached through the bars to pet him, and he seemed content during a grooming session.

According to information from the Kentucky Chianina Association, Lombard qualifies as a typical animal among his breed.

Termed "the largest of all cattle breeds," a mature Italian Chianina bull can weigh up to 4,000 pounds while a female can reach a weight of 2,400 pounds — more than enough to make them stand out in a crowd of smaller livestock.

Tethered nearby in the West Wing of the Fairgrounds is Dunterton, a medium-red South Devon.

A year older than Lombard, Dunterton is about 1,200 pounds lighter, but his breed also offers a number of advantages to cattlemen, said Bill Nielsen, a herdsman for the Petting South Devon Ranch in Chillicothe, Mo.

"Their mothering ability is just fantastic," Nielsen said. "They have easy calving and a good quantity and good quality of milk."

The first South Devons came to the United States from Devonshire, England, 10 years ago, Nielsen said. Since then, breeding operations have been established in 12 states.

Kentucky is not among them — one reason Nielsen brought Dunterton and a few other head of South Devons to the state fair.

Confident Senior

Co-captain Boone Says Racer Defense Should Be Improved

By TONY WILSON
Ledger & Times
Sports Editor

Tony Boone admits it's a strange feeling to be one of just three seniors on the Murray State football team, but it doesn't worry him.

"I know I've got to be something of a leader, but I'm not really the yelling type," Boone, a co-captain and linebacker on defense, said last night after a Racer workout. "I hope I let my actions speak for me."

Boone's biggest dose of success thus far has come in high school, not college. In 1975, then a junior at Murray High, he helped the Tigers to the Class A state championship. "I think that was my best year of high school ball," Boone said. "And I think I provided some leadership on that team."

During his Murray High career, the Tigers were 22-11. As a Racer, the three-year total is 15-18, but those less-than-impressive numbers haven't spoiled his college career for him.

Boone received letters from Kentucky, Vanderbilt and Florida, among others, but he says he felt that at 6-foot and 195 pounds, he might not be big enough for a career at some of those schools.

"If I was able to pick a school, I would probably come to Murray again," he says. "I've had the pleasure of working under two great coaches (Bill Furgerson and Mike Gottfried), and I hope this is the best year yet."

Racer defensive coordinator Frank Beamer, who became a Murray coach this spring, hasn't seen Boone perform in a regular-season game, but he does have definite impressions of him.

"Tony is the right kind of linebacker for our defense. We will be mobile and stunt a lot, and he's so quick he is able to get the ball most of the time. I've seen a lot of linebackers Tony's size — what you would call average sized — that became great players," Beamer said.

"And he's the perfect player to have as a senior. He will be our leader on defense, and I think he's a definite candidate for all-conference honors."

The respect is mutual. "A lot of my confidence about this season is due to the man right over there," Boone said, motioning toward Beamer a few feet away. "We have a great relationship."

Last season, the Racers possessed a potent offense that scored 236 points, third best in the Ohio Valley Conference. But the defense allowed 237, one reason for the Racers' 4-7 record.

Boone started most of the season and ranked fifth on the team and second among the linebackers in statistics with 45 tackles, 26 assists, four fumble recoveries and four tackles for losses.

"It was a strange season last year," Boone said. "There were some players who said 'well, that's good,' if we won, and 'that's all right' if we lost. It wasn't a very good attitude."

"But I can guarantee that if the offense does the job it did last year, we're (the defense) gonna give some people some problems."

"As the only senior on the defense, he's going to have to accept the leadership role," says Gottfried, who has said on numerous occasions that his '78 lacked the leadership it needed.

"Tony's always around the ball, and he always comes ready to play. Those are two ingredients that are essential for a good defensive player," he said.

Since his home is only a few blocks from Roy Stewart Stadium, Boone never had to adjust to the rigors of moving and being away from his family. "Living close to home has its advantages. After a bad practice, I've always been able to go there and have a good home-cooked meal. That helps a lot."

By Tony Wilson
Last season, Tony Boone was second among Murray State linebackers in defensive statistics. This season, he's a co-captain and one of only three seniors on the current squad.

By Tony Wilson

Sen. Ali?

Committee Hopes To Put Former Boxer In Office

By the Associated Press
NEW YORK — Formation of an ad-hoc committee to draft Muhammad Ali to run for the U.S. Senate has been announced.

According to former heavyweight boxer Jimmy Ellis, a long-time friend of the heavyweight champion, Ali could run in any of six states. They are New York, Georgia, California, Kentucky, Illinois and Pennsylvania.

Committee co-chairman

Lloyd Von Blaine said Ali has been told of the formation of the committee but has not commented.

"We feel that if a grassroots movement is formed and begins to take hold, Ali will run," Von Blaine said.

One aim of the committee is to get "a $1 campaign contribution from the hundreds of thousands of little people to help finance a campaign in whatever state we decided Ali should run," Von Blaine added.

Other committee members include retired baseball player Hank Aaron and committee co-chairman Huntington Hartford, the millionaire A&P heir.

Formation of the committee which would allow Ali to run as an independent candidate was announced Wednesday by Ellis and Hartford at a news conference in the Sheraton Centre.

Southern Cal Is Usual Favorite For Pacific-10 Football Crown

By the Associated Press
West Coast football fans who follow the Pacific-10 hardly need to buy new programs this fall. Nine of the conference's teams are going to have most of the same starters as 1978.

Only UCLA has fewer than 13 starters returning, and five of the squads have 15 first-stringers back for the 1979 campaign.

Southern Cal is, as usual, considered the team to beat. The defending champion Trojans, 12-1 and second in the Associated Press final poll last season, are expected to once again make a strong run at the national title, although the Pac 10's balance could provide some upsets.

Washington, 6-2 in conference play in 1978 after winning the league title the previous year, could be the Trojans' roadblock. Stanford also may figure in the race for the Roses, while newcomers

Arizona State and Arizona have seen the opposition now and could be the Pac 10's surprise teams of 1979.

One in a series

Cal should improve on its 3-4 conference finish of last year, but the upcoming season could be bleak for UCLA, Oregon, Oregon State and Washington State. UCLA's Bruins face a rebuilding year, while the other three have a number of veterans back, but back from poor seasons.

John Robinson's Trojans again will feature the running of tailback Charles White, fourth in the Heisman Trophy balloting last year, and the passing of quarterback Paul McDonald.

White, back for his senior season, has rolled up 4,195 yards rushing during his Southern Cal career, including 1,859 last year. McDonald, a senior left-hander, connected on 57 percent of his 203 attempts in 1978, and threw 19 touchdown passes.

Washington moved the ball well in 1978, and this season should be no different. Leading the way for the Huskies is tailback Joe Steele, who rushed for 1,111 yards last year, and Tom Porras, who threw for 1,151 yards.

At Stanford, 5-foot-9 junior Darrin Nelson is expected to once again keep opposing defenses off-balance with his running and pass-catching, but the Cardinals have to find a new quarterback to get the ball to him.

Arizona State, known for its ability to light up the scoreboard, figures to again be a high-scoring team. Quarterback Mark Malone, who ran for 705 yards and passed for 1,305 a year ago, figures to be even better in his senior season.

Arizona will be led by quarterback Jim Krohn, who topped the Pac-10 in passing last year until he suffered a midseason arm injury.

UCLA, 8-3-1 last year, lost runners Theotis Brown and James Owens, but has another potentially outstanding one in tailback Freeman McNeil.

Oregon, 2-9 in 1978, will rely heavily on fullback Vince Williams, who gained 842 yards last season, and quarterback Tim Durando, who started the Ducks' final five games.

At Washington State, Coach Jim Walden has lost the hub of his offense — quarterback Jack Thompson — so he's changing the offensive system. The Cougars will run more this campaign.

Zoeller Admits To Excessive Play

By BOB GREEN

AP Golf Writer
HARRISON, N.Y. — Holding the coveted Masters title has its benefits, but it takes its toll, too, Fuzzy Zoeller has found.

"I've played too much," Zoeller said before teeing off today in the first round of the $400,000 Westchester Classic.

"Before, nobody really cared too much whether I played or not. But as the Masters champion they want you in the field. I've tried to play as much as I could. And, really, I've played too much."

"It's hard to stay sharp playing that much. People wonder why you have those bad rounds. Well, you just can't play good all the time."

"I had a letdown after the Masters and I really haven't got it back since," Zoeller said on the practice putting green. He stroked three balls to the cup, using a different stance on each stroke.

"I'm getting close to having it back, but it's not there yet."

The carefree Zoeller, a boisterous extrovert, interrupted his practice to watch Charles Coody walking across the green with both hands full of putters.

"Hey, Charley, I don't want to say anything but just between you and me, baby, that won't help," Zoeller called, then reflected on his playoff victory at Augusta, Ga.

Zoeller isn't alone in his playing difficulties.

Tom Watson, who appears headed for a third consecutive Player of the Year title, also has been in a mild slump for the last couple of months but said it could end at any time.

Among the other standouts who testing the 6,603 yard, par 71 Westchester Country Club course are PGA champ David Graham, U.S. Open titleholder Hale Irwin, defending champion Lee Elder, Hubert Green, Johnny Miller, J.C. Snead and his 67-year-old uncle, Sam.

When Rain Causes Cancellations, TV Execs Can Be In Hot Water

By FRED ROTHENBERG

AP Sports Writer
Even the almighty television networks can't do anything about the weather. But if they could, they would make certain it rained just about everywhere...except at their golf and tennis tournaments.

Bad weather on the home front boosts TV ratings because people are forced inside when they would rather be outside playing golf or tennis. But last weekend, CBS got more bad weather than it bargained for, when the nasty storm that kept the East Coast indoors also washed out the Sammy Davis Jr.-Greater Hartford Open in Connecticut. This wasn't the first time that Mother Nature played games with live programming, so CBS was prepared. Its picture never went blank and its announcers never went mute. Here's why.

"I got a call from the producer (Frank Chirkinian) Sunday morning," said announcer Pat Summerall. "He said, 'we're releasing everybody except you and (Jack) Whitaker. Get your tail out here.'"

What Summerall and

Whitaker had to do Sunday was explain to viewers tuning in for the golf why there would be no golf. Their discourse and a marvelous shot of a duck swimming in a bunker disposed of a couple of minutes, leaving CBS about 85 minutes of fill time.

"You only have to get burned once in this situation to learn," said Jim Harrington, CBS Sports' director of program planning. "We always have emergency stand-by programming."

In this case, CBS had several options. It could show footage of a previous golf tournament to satisfy the golf nuts, while also confirming to golf critics that the sport is so boring on TV that all shots, regardless of time or place, look the same.

CBS also could provide what Harrington called "bonus coverage" of the U.S. Clay Courts Tennis Championships from Indianapolis. Scheduled in the time slot before the golf, CBS was already showing the live men's finals between Jimmy Connors and Guillermo Vilas. Frank Smith, president of CBS Sports, in consultation with Harrington, Chirkinian and Carl Lindemann, vice president of programming for CBS Sports, made the decision to go with tennis.

This delighted Dick Pinkham, director of sports sales. It would be Pinkham's job to convince the advertisers that their commercials were reaching the same car-buyers, investors and quality beer drinkers, whether the sport was tennis or golf.

If the ratings were low or there were complaints about the inserted programming, Pinkham and the advertiser would negotiate rebates or "makegoods," extra commercials placed into future shows.

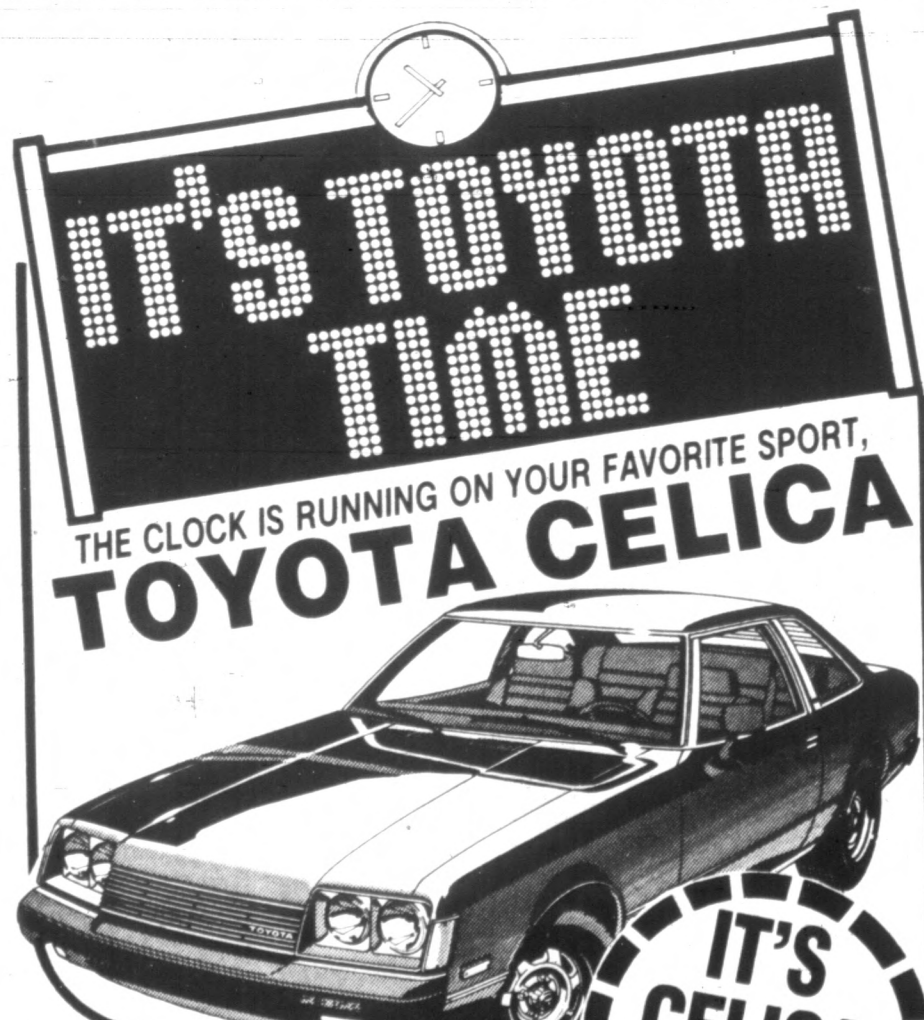

"We're dealing with sophisticated advertisers who are buying live TV," said Pinkham. "The fact that golf commercials ran in tennis helps. If we had shown an auto race instead, then there might have been a difference. The demographics of the two audiences are different. Some advertisers who run in golf won't take auto racing."

"There was about half an inch of erosion on the femur (upper leg bone) and none on the kneecap like they thought there was," Griffey said from his hospital bed in Los Angeles, Calif.

AFC Central Has Several Teams Capable Of Taking Division Title

By GARY MIHOCES
Associated Press Writer
PITTSBURGH — In Pittsburgh, the Steelers have three Super Bowl titles and potentially their best team ever. But you can't even wrap your head around the possibility of them winning it all again.

In Houston, the Oilers have Earl Campbell, the National Football League Rookie of the Year and rushing champion in 1978 — but it remains to be seen whether the Oilers match their 1978 success.

In Cleveland, the Browns have made some trades and Greg Pruitt has aired his gripes. But it's a big jump from a .500 season to the playoffs.

In Cincinnati, the Bengals have some prize rookies and hopes for major improvement from their 1978 disaster. But great expectations have gone awry there before.

One in a series

Those are the teams — and those are the buts — in the Central Division of the American Conference, where Pittsburgh's five straight titles belie the toughness of the competition.

Last season, the Steelers had to win the division twice. They overcame Houston in regular season then had to beat the wild-card Oilers in the AFC title game.

This summer, the Oilers got a two-week jump on Pittsburgh by opening camp July 3. But the Steelers' season may have begun the day after their Super Bowl victory over Dallas.

"I think this football team hasn't reached its potential yet," Coach Chuck Noll said before leaving Miami.

"I hope I can say that after this season, too," he said recently.

Last season, Terry Bradshaw posted career highs in touchdown passes and accolades. "I can't help but get better. I'm still working hard. I don't believe I'm as good as people have been saying," he says.

In Houston last season, Campbell's arrival complemented the passing of Dan Pastorini. "Used to be Dan was like a sword fighter with a pocket knife. Now he has his sword," says Coach Bum Phillips.

"I don't have any numbers in the back of my head. But I'm expecting a lot from this guy Earl," said Campbell, shifting to the third person.

In Cleveland, Coach Sam Rutigliano has a precise estimate of what his team, 8-8 last year, will need to make the playoffs.

"It will take 11 wins," said Rutigliano. "While 11 wins may be difficult, I think I am being realistic."

The Pittsburgh Pirates — now there's a team that appreciates being in first place.

The Pirates, who used to make it a habit winning the National League East title, went more than two years before gaining the division's top spot on July 28 this season.

They only stayed there a day, but moved in again on Aug. 5. And now they may never leave.

"I think the World Series is well within our grasp," said Bill Robinson, who belted a home run as the Pirates beat the San Diego Padres 5-1 Wednesday night.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Robinson, of course, is one of the main reasons that the Pirates are doing so well these days, even if he isn't playing as much as last year because of the acquisition of John Milner. Robinson's homer was his 23rd, pretty good for a "part-timer."

In other NL action, Montreal beat Houston 3-0; Philadelphia stopped Cincinnati 3-2; Chicago edged San Francisco 6-5; Los Angeles defeated St. Louis 6-5 and New York downed Atlanta 6-3.

Phillies 3, Reds 2 — Nino Espinosa pitched a five-hitter and singled home a run in the second inning as Philadelphia broke a four-game losing streak by beating Cincinnati.

Espinosa, 13-9, was touched for a run-scoring double by Harry Spilman in the second inning, and an RBI base hit by Dave Collins in the eighth while pitching his eighth complete game as a member of the Phillies this season.

Cubs 6, Giants 5 — Bill Buckner's leadoff homer in the seventh inning powered Chicago over San Francisco. Buckner's game-winning wallop overcame a pair of two-run shots by the Giants' Mike Ivie.

Dodgers 6, Cardinals 5 — Rick Sutcliffe pitched seven strong innings, singled home a run and doubled and scored, helping Los Angeles beat St. Louis. The Dodger attack also included three singles and two RBIs by Bill Russell. Dusty Baker added a two-run single during a four-run rally in the seventh.

Mets 6, Braves 3 — Doug Flynn had a two-run single and scored another run from second base on a wild pitch as New York defeated Atlanta. Flynn's two-run single came in the seventh when the Mets took a game-breaking 6-2 lead.

Orioles' Murray 13th-Inning Theft Of Home Is Clincher; Yaz' Homer Boosts Boston

By FRANK BROWN
AP Sports Writer

It was the bottom of the 12th inning, the score was 1-1, and there were two out. Doug DeCinces led off first, Eddie Murray led off third and Chicago pitcher Guy Hoffman had a 1-2 count on Baltimore pinch-hitter Benny Ayala.

One more strike, and it's on to the 13th inning. But as it turned out, Hoffman had the Orioles right where they wanted him.

While Hoffman went into his stretch, Murray danced off third. Hoffman glanced at him, then at DeCinces.

Then Murray took off for the plate and there was a robbery in progress at Memorial Stadium.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

"If the pitcher hesitates or takes a step towards first, he's dead," said DeCinces, who watched the pitcher take that fateful step towards first as Murray streaked home to score standing up and give the Orioles a 2-1 triumph over the White Sox Wednesday night.

In the other American League games, the Boston Red Sox beat the Minnesota Twins 9-5, the New York Yankees topped the Texas Rangers 4-3, the Milwaukee Brewers trimmed the Kansas City Royals 6-5, the Detroit Tigers bested the California Angels 6-1, the Seattle Mariners edged the Cleveland Indians 3-2 and the Oakland A's defeated the Toronto Blue Jays 3-1.

Red Sox 9, Twins 5 — Carl

Yastrzemski hit a two-run homer in the four-run eighth inning that snapped a 5-5 tie and sent Boston to its 14th consecutive home victory over Minnesota.

17 Now Dead Count In Disastrous Fastnet Yacht Race In England

By the Associated Press
PLYMOUTH, England —

Seventeen yachtsmen were known to be dead and one yacht was unaccounted for in the disastrous international Fastnet yacht race off southwest England, the Royal Ocean Racing Club said Thursday.

The rescue coordination center in this Devon county port said two other sailors were missing and the number of dead may rise.

Thirteen Britons, one American and one Dutchman were drowned. The American victim was Frank H. Ferris, 61, who lived in England.

During Monday night and Tuesday, nine boats lost all or part of their crews in violent Atlantic storms that hit the fleet of 306 vessels in 150 miles of water between southern Ireland and the Scilly Isles.

Helicopters and ships pulled 136 persons from the sea in what Tim Hunt at the rescue center called "the biggest operation of its kind ever carried out in British waters." He said the search will go on until all boats are accounted for.

Australia unofficially won the Admiral's Cup five-race series of which the Fastnet race was the final event.

Steve Taft of San Francisco, a crewman on the American boat Imp, which reached the Plymouth finish line safely Wednesday, said: "It was the worst storm I've ever been in. I'm going to get the first train I can and get the hell out of here. I'm going back home as fast as I can."

Pros And Cons Of Proposed Lifeline Utility Rates Aired At Crowded Public Meeting

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — The pros and cons of proposed lifeline rates for electric and gas utilities have been aired at a crowded public hearing here.

Close to 100 persons jammed the Urban-County Council chambers and overflowed into the hall Wednesday night for the first of two hearings on the controversial rates.

Lifeline rates would allow residential customers who use less than a minimum amount of electricity or gas to pay a reduced rate. The theory is that the lower rates would promote conservation and help the poor and elderly pay rising utility bills.

Thirty-one witnesses, representing consumer groups, industry and utilities, asked to testify before the state Energy Regulatory Commission and Joint Interim Committee on Public Utilities and Transportation, which co-sponsored the forum.

The first witness, James M. Honaker of Frankfort, an attorney representing several major Kentucky industries, said lifeline rates are "unworkable, unfair, unjust and unreasonable...and constitute an expensive exercise in futility."

By ordering the implementation of lifeline rate structures, the ERC "would be undertaking to make itself into a welfare agency," Honaker said.

He said lifeline rates would penalize elderly and low-income Kentuckians who used more than the minimum amount of energy, and would not help low-income families who use energy other than gas or electricity.

Honaker said affluent low-volume energy users would benefit the same as low-income persons from the rates, and he said implementing lifeline rates would result in an overall increase in the cost of electricity and gas.

Other witnesses who advocated implementation of lifeline rate structures urged the commission to put them in place before winter.

Commission members asked some witnesses what they thought of the alternative of increasing payments to the poor and elderly under the state's Energy Cost Assistance Program or ECAP.

"They're excellent stop-gap measures, but that's general tax money that's being spent," said Ken Dupre of Radcliff, southern regional director of the Citizen-Labor Energy Coalition. "We have to come up with innovative rate structures that allow rates to be spread more fairly."

Under the ECAP program, the state can pay eligible Kentuckians who are having problems meeting winter utility bills up to $80 in a one-time payment.

Anthony Martin, an attorney with Kentucky Legal Services in Lexington, said lifeline rates are not a radical solution, noting that 12 states now have at least one investor-owned electric utility with some form of lifeline rates.

"Despite the wailing and gnashing of teeth of both utility companies and industrial customers, there is no substantial evidence that lifeline rates have caused substantial economic dislocations or have had a debilitating effect on utility operations," he said.

Another public hearing is scheduled Aug. 29 in Owensboro.

73-Year-Old Woman Is Quite Handy

By JULES LOH
AP Special Correspondent

SAYREVILLE, N.J. (AP) — To look at her, Louise Snyder would be anybody's candidate for the classic little old lady.

She is little, about 5-foot-2, has white hair, rimless glasses. She is 73. She crochets dainty things, embroiders, makes her own dresses and bakes pies for the church bazaar.

But wait. Could that be she climbing around on that scaffold?

Just so. Grandmotherly Louise Snyder also might be the best-known paperhanger, painter, carpenter, bricklayer, concrete pourer and all around handyman in town. Or handwoman.

"I've never thought of work as being man's work or woman's work," she said. "Work is work. You do what you have to do."

Neither, apparently, do the people of Sayreville seem to find anything unusual about a matronly lady scaling a ladder with a paint bucket on her arm. "They all know me," she said. "I guess they're used to it."

To the dismay of two generations of satisfied customers, however, Louise Snyder now says she plans to cut back on her work.

"Not because of my age. I feel just fine. It's that my husband has not been well and he needs me at home. I'll find plenty around the house to keep me busy. I have to keep busy."

Louise Snyder has been keeping busy since her mother died, when she was seven, and never broke the habit.

Her father, a Danish immigrant, did carpentry when he could find work and when he couldn't he peddled fish.

"He wasn't home much, so I had to shift for myself. There was no choice."

She learned the skills of a handyman from a neighbor. Another neighbor taught her to cook and gave her a bread dough maker.

"I can make enough dough to make 10 loaves at a time, and do that ten times in a day. One hundred loaves."

Earlier this year, she did just that every Friday for 12 weeks to raise money for the stained glass windows at the First Presbyterian Church. She sold the bread for a dollar a loaf. Word spread. Each batch she made was sold before it cooled.

She never had to advertise, either, for work to redecorate other people's houses. Her only advertisement was the work she did renovating her own home.

It had been a stable, built in 1877, at a brickyard. Its walls were 14-inches thick, of brick. The brickyard went bankrupt and in 1946 Louise and her husband bought the stable for $2,000.

It took them three years to rebuild it into a 16-room, three-family house. They rent the other two apartments. When townspeople saw what she had done, a career was launched.

"I've always had more work than I can handle," she said. "People lie in wait for me. But no more. Now I'm taking it easy."

She paused in thought.

"Well," she said, defensively, "last week I did paper a stairwell for a friend, a widow, and next week I'm going to paint three bedrooms for another friend... but, really, I'm going to start taking it easy. I really am."

Young May Be At Post When Palestinian Issue Comes To UN

By GEORGE W. HACKETT

Associated Press Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Any youngster — or adult — who steps inside the red brick building on U.S. 42 might believe it was Christmas again.

He'd find trains whizzing around tracks, lights flashing, horns sounding, whistles blowing — just about everything that a model railroader dreams of owning.

"We sell realism," said Clark N. Miller, looking around the plant where miniature train accessories are created, manufactured and shipped.

He started in 1977 when a hobby shop owner asked if he knew someone who had, or could design, a special light for him.

"He wanted the light to remain bright, even when the train was stopped. At that time, the light would fade out when you decreased the engine's speed," Miller explained.

Miller, already involved in the manufacture of smoke detectors and burglar alarms, accepted the challenge as a change of pace.

When he found the solution to the problem, he also found a new market waiting to be tapped.

"There are a lot of rail buffs out there, more than you realize. It's about a $190 million a year business, not including the gadgets that we handle."

Train Tronics now offers 24 different accessories, has outlets in every state and recently concluded a deal with two Canadian firms.

"We have three engineers working full-time," he said.

"Once they get an idea off the drawing board, the next step is to reduce the production costs and still maintain the quality."

Cost, he continued, is the key to his company's success.

"It's not fair to tease the consumer with something then price it out of his range. You know that Dad's not going to lay out $300 for an accessory for his kid. And he shouldn't have to."

Miller's products are "skinpacked in a material resembling plastic. It lets the customer see inside the box. He knows what he's getting."

One of his best sellers is a three-tone diesel horn. "The L&N helped us by determining some of the actual sound frequencies."

Currently, the engineers are trying to produce a steam whistle and Miller admits it's a complicated assignment. "We've been on it for nine months."

There are a variety of electric signs available. They can be mounted on your depot to spell out words letter by letter or they can be arranged to have words chase each other, like you once saw on the old theater marquees."

Miller, a native of Fostoria, Ohio, got his first taste of Kentucky life when he did his military stint at Fort Knox.

"I liked the area and decided to settle here," said Miller, now 45. He held a number of jobs before moving into the electronics field at Goshen, Ky.

"I've never been sorry," said Miller. "Train Tronics is my baby and I want to see it grow."

Nothing pleases him more than to have a model train buff walk up and say, "Gee, I wish you could make....."

Giovanna Mastai-Ferretti was elected Pope Pius IX in 1846. He reigned for 32 years — the longest in papal history.

Barren Circuit Court Judge Dismisses Charges Against Two Murder Defendants

GLASGOW, Ky. (AP) — Barren Circuit Judge Cass Walden has dismissed charges against two of the four defendants in a murder conspiracy trial here.

Charges against brothers Kerry and Tony Wyatt were dismissed Wednesday on a motion by the defense. Walden said the charges were dismissed due to insufficient evidence.

The attorneys for defendants Sherman Adams, the Grand Dragon of the Ku Klux Klan in Kentucky, and Klan state secretary John Palmore offered no defense except the cross-examination of prosecution witnesses. Both sides concluded their arguments, and summations were to begin today.

Palmore, Adams, and the Wyatts were charged with plotting the murders of brothers David and Kenny Bush, both of Glasgow. The four defendants were indicted by a Barren County grand jury March 29, and all pleaded innocent.

Barren County Commonwealth's Attorney Carroll M. Redford contends that David Bush was targeted to be killed because he was scheduled to testify against Adams in another case in Bullitt County. Redford also contends that Kenny Bush was a subject of the alleged conspiracy because he persuaded his brother to testify against Adams.

Earlier Wednesday, prosecution witness Ronnie Jones, 30, of Glasgow, returned to the stand and under cross examination testified that Palmore and Adams discussed killing the two Glasgow brothers during a Jan. 14 meeting.

During opening testimony Tuesday, Jones, James Haynes and Ricky Turner, all of Barren County, said they were present at meetings in Glasgow where the alleged plot was discussed.

The three also testified that the Wyatt brothers did not take part in any murder discussion. They said the brothers got a high school yearbook with a picture of Bush when Adams asked if there was a picture available.

They said the picture was to go into a Klan newsletter or magazine. Turner and Jones testified that Adams said the picture was too old and could not be used.

Illinois Central Cars Derail

ELIZABETHTOWN, Ky. (AP) — Five cars of an Illinois Central freight derailed early Wednesday but no injuries were reported.

State Railroad Commissioner L.H. Frymire said there were 55 cars on the southbound train at the time of the accident on the north edge of Eastview in Hardin County.

Frymire said the accident was under investigation and that the track should be reopened today.

Jody Powell choked back sobs as he read Jimmy Carter's acceptance of Andy Young's resignation to stunned reporters.

That may help illustrate the close relationship between the president of the United States and his outspoken ambassador to the United Nations. When Carter named Young to the post in 1976, he called him "one of the best personal friends I have in the world."

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — In a case attorneys say may be a landmark — and a warning to religious institutions — a jury awarded a Portland woman more than $2 million because, for her, the promises of a better life through Scientology didn't come true.

Julie C. Titchbourne, 21, claimed church courses she took in 1975 failed to live up to claims they would help her with her college classwork, develop her creativity and raise her IQ test scores.

CORPUS CHRISTI, Texas (AP) — Thick swaths of runaway Mexican crude oil coated nearly three miles of glistening resort beaches on South Padre Island early today, and officials say tourism is down 30 percent.

Coast Guard Lt. Cmdr. Jim Paskewich said late Wednesday night that the brownish-black goo was washing up on the white sand beaches just north of a plush strip of hotels and condominiums.

PLYMOUTH, England (AP) — The toll in the Fastnet yacht race disaster stood today at 17 men dead, two more missing and feared drowned, and 21 yachts sunk or abandoned. But only one yacht with a crew of eight aboard was still not accounted for, the Royal Ocean Racing Club said.

MOSCOW (AP) — President Nicolae Ceausescu of Romania, the maverick leader in the Soviet Bloc, is again disrupting communist solidarity, angering other East European leaders and upsetting tens of thousands of summer vacationers.

Ceausescu's government is requiring the foreign motorists who pour through his country to the Black Sea resorts of Romania and Bulgaria to pay for their gasoline in Western currencies.

Mark Miller Participates In Land Between The Lakes Intern Program

GOLDEN POND, Ky. — Mark Miller, a senior recreation major at Murray State University, is participating in the internship program at TVA's Land Between The Lakes (LBL), a 170,000-acre public demonstration area in western Kentucky and Tennessee.

Miller, from Murray, is working with the recreation staff at LBL, programming for campers and overseeing the campground activities. He said that he hopes to gain professional experience and use his ability and creativity in programming for the campers during his 15-week internship.

Students participating in the program may receive a salary on a contract basis between TVA and their university. They may also receive college credit for their participation.

Other practicum students work as staff members in family campgrounds; group camps; the Environmental Education Center; The Homeplace - 1850, a living history farm; or the administrative office at Golden Pond, Kentucky.

The program originated in 1964 with the development of LBL by TVA. Around 350 students from over 60 colleges and universities have participated, including 46 students from around 30 universities this summer.

Louisville Woman Shot While Breaking Into Apartment

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Lana Kay Bryant, 28, of Louisville was shot to death Wednesday morning as she was allegedly breaking into the apartment of Annedra C. Brown, 39. Police have charged Ms. Brown with murder, a police spokesman said.

"The door had been forced open and it appeared the woman who fired the shot was standing behind the door," said Jefferson County Deputy Coroner Robert Carter. He said the Bryant woman died as the result of a shotgun blast in the right side of her back.

Ms. Brown called police shortly before 6 a.m. to report she had just shot someone she believed had been trying to break into her first-floor apartment, officers said.
