WRATHER HALL AT MURRAY STATE IN 1951 — This is the way the Old Normal School Building (Wrather Hall) looked in 1951. It was built in 1924 with the $117,000 contributed by Calloway Countians ($100,000 for the building and $17,000 for the grounds). Without this charterhome and gift from Calloway, there would have been no Murray State University today.

To Award To Low Acceptable Qualified Bid

'Bid Date' For Murray State's Wrather Hall Set For Sept. 12

By L. J. HORTIN

The "bid date" for renovation of Wrather Hall, Murray State's charter home, is Sept. 12, 1979, at 2 p.m. EDT., Frankfort.

This information was received August 13, 1979, by the MSU administration — President Dene Curris, vice president of university services, Marshall Gordon and vice president of administrative services, Richard C. Gray.

After the bids are "opened" on September 12, the contract would be awarded "to the lowest acceptable, qualified bidder" probably 30 days later. In the notice to contractors is this provision: "Division of Contracting and Administration, Commonwealth of Kentucky, reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to waive all formalities and-or technicalities where the best interest of the Commonwealth of Kentucky may be served."

After the contract is awarded, the contractor would plan to be "on site" to begin work 10 days later. The renovation will probably require a year to complete. On July 12, 1978, the Council on Higher Education approved the total scope budget of $1,088,850 for the renovation of Wrather Hall.

President Curris was notified at that time by Harry M. Snyder, executive director of the council, that "unless there is an increase in total scope of 15 percent, there will be no further action required by the Council on Higher Education."

Dr. Curris, in a recent interview, explained that the million dollars budgeted for the Wrather Hall restoration, includes: approximately $225,000 from the University about $25,000 of local contributions, and the remainder from the governor's funds.

Almost six years ago — December, 1973 — a district movement began for the renovation of Wrather Hall and conversion into a Jackson Purchase Museum. It was the first building ever constructed on the Murray State campus. Murray and Calloway County donated $117,000 for the State Normal School to be located in Murray — $100,000 for the "Normal School Building" and $17,000 for the campus.

The building was completed in 1924, with dedication on September 22, 1924, at the opening of the second year of Murray State Normal School. On September 24, 1923, Murray State opened its doors in the Murray High School building with 202 enrollees.

On June 11, 1975, Wrather Hall (Old Normal School Building) was listed on the National Register of Historic Places, Washington, D.C.

The new work on the renovation will include partitions, doors, ceilings, plumbing, sprinkler system, new heating-ventilating-air conditioning, new electrical and lighting, new elevator, new roofing and insulation. Other miscellaneous work will include removal of some partitions.

"Bids will be received from general contractor on a lump sum basis for the total project," according to the notice of contractors. The bid proposals will include "furnishing of all labor, materials, supplies, tools, appliances, equipment, services, etc."

Council Approves Utility Rate Hikes

Action that is expected to increase charges to customers of the Murray Sanitation Department and the Murray Water and Sewer System effective October 1 was approved by the Murray Common Council at its regular meeting Thursday.

The action included:
•Approval on first reading of an ordinance hiking fees charged for refuse collection at residences from $4 per month to $4.50 per month.

•Approving the drawing of an ordinance increasing the rates charged by the Murray Water and Sewer System 10 percent "across the board."

•Approving the drawing of an ordinance increasing tap-on fees charged by the Murray Water and Sewer System to double or more the current rate charged both inside and outside the city.

The sanitation rate increase, expected to be approved on second and final reading at the next meeting of the council, includes a provision that increases the rate for single-person households, when the resident is 65 or older, from $3 to $3.37 per month. The new ordinance eliminates the lower rate for all other single-person households.

Rates charged commercial customers of the sanitation department are set by the department superintendent based on the actual amount of refuse collected. Those rates are also expected to be increased about 12 percent.

The council voted 8-3 to approve the ordinance. Voting in favor of the rate hike were council members Marshall Jones, Dick George, W. R. Furches, J. D. Outland, Ruby Hale, Dave Willis and C. C. Lowry. Voting against the measure were councilmen Steve Yarbrough, Howard Koenen and Billy Balentine.

Tommy Marshall, superintendent of the Murray Water and Sewer, Natural Gas and Central Billing departments, told the council the 10 percent hike in water rates will be necessary to keep the water system from operating "in the red" during the remainder of 1979 and 1980. He said the increase should generate about $101,000 in additional revenue.

Using 6,000 gallons of water per month as average household consumption, Marshall estimated the increase would hike residential bills approximately $1.12 per month.

Marshall said that tap-on fees with the water system and sewer system had not been adjusted since 1968 and that the systems were losing money in many cases.

An example he gave was the current rate for tapping-on a two-inch water line is $135 but the meter itself costs $248.

The new ordinance will raise tap-on fees inside the city from $75 to $150 on a ¾-inch line; from $90 to $200 on a one-inch line; from $120 to $300 on a 1½-inch line and from $135 to $350 on a two-inch line. Charges for tapping on outside the city limits will go from $100 to $300 on a ¾-inch line; from $115 to $400 on a one-inch line; from $145 to $600 on a 1½-inch line and from $160 to $700 on a two-inch line.

The proposed ordinance also stipulates that actual costs to the systems will be charged on installations of lines over two-inches.

Miller Property Rezoned
The months-long controversy over the rezoning of property owned by Dan Miller on S. 16th Street apparently ended Thursday when the council voted 6-5 to enact the rezoning ordinance following second and final reading.

Miller had requested the property, located near the intersection of 16th and Loch Lomond, be rezoned from R-2 to R-4 to allow the construction of a planned development project containing multi-family housing.

The Murray Planning Commission held several meetings on the topic before recommending approval of the rezoning to the city council.

The council originally turned down the planning commission's recommendation and scheduled a public hearing to determine "findings of fact" to support its position. But prior to the public hearing, the council reversed itself and voted to approve the drawing of the rezoning ordinance.

Dr. Lowry told the council prior to the vote that a number of citizens have discussed the issue with him since the council reversed itself.

"Each one was very critical of the council action and the way it's been handled," Lowry said. "Those citizens would have been satisfied if the council had kept its word and followed through (with the public hearing)," Lowry added.

Lowry said most citizens who had talked with him disapproved not so much the rezoning itself but the manner in which the issue has been handled.

Voting in favor of the rezoning were council members Jones, George, Nix, Furches, outland and Balentine. Against the measure were Yarbrough, Koenen, Hale, Willis and Lowry.

Ambulances Discussed
The prospect of the Murray Fire Department, the Murray-Calloway County Hospital or a private contractor taking over the local ambulance service at the end of this year was the topic of a lengthy discussion during Thursday's meeting.

Mayor Melvin Henley pointed out to the council that the current contract between the city and county and Mercy Ambulance Service expires Dec. 31, 1979. That contract calls for a subsidy of $90,000 with the city paying 40 percent and the county paying 60 percent.

Consumer Prices Up One Percent In July

By EILEEN ALT POWELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — American consumers benefited from a leveling-off of food prices in July, but this was more than offset by continued rapid rises in gasoline and home heating oil costs, the government said today.

As a result, consumer prices last month rose 1 percent, the Labor Department said.

The July increase, identical to that of June, marked the seventh consecutive month of inflation near or above the 1 percent mark.

Meanwhile, the Labor Department reported that workers' average weekly earnings declined 0.3 percent from June to July when adjusted for inflation.

"Over the year, real average weekly earnings were down 3.9 percent," the report said.

Spending earnings — what a worker with three dependents has left after Social Security and federal income tax payments — also fell last month. The 0.4 percent decline helped push spendable earnings about 4 percent below July 1978.

The price increases continued at the fastest pace since the early 1960s and could leave the nation with an inflation rate this year approaching 13 percent. Carter administration economists, however, say the worst of the price increases are behind and that more moderate increases are ahead.

"About two-thirds of the increase in July was due to higher energy and home ownership prices," the Labor Department report said.

Heating oil expenses are a major component of the home ownership category.

Patrick Jackman, a Labor economist, said he expected these costs to "trickle through the index ... indefinitely."

Operators Say Lists Are Misleading, Worthless

WASHINGTON (AP) — Spokesmen for gas station operators say the Energy Department's new listings of "estimated" gasoline ceiling prices are worthless and misleading and should be scrapped.

The department has admitted the price ceiling figures it released Monday were inaccurate and dated back to Aug. 6 — prompting mistaken complaints by motorists and a wave of outrage from dealers.

An updated list released Thursday did nothing to lessen the dealers' ire. "They're trying to create a national switch-on-your-service-station program," complained Victor Rasheed, executive director of the Greater Washington Area Service Station Association. "It's unfair. It's almost primitive. We have dealer associations talking to their lawyers about suing the Energy Department for damages."

In issuing the revised list Thursday, the Energy Department warned that its price estimates for eight major brands in 20 cities might be off by 10 cents or more per gallon and do not tell motorists how much any station can legally charge.

Charles Shipley, executive director of the Michigan Gasoline Retail Dealers Association, called the publication of such figures "an out and out disservice" to gas station operators.

"If it's off as much 10 cents, my God, that's not the kind of tolerance we're allowed in calculating our actual ceiling prices," said Shipley. "Why should the Department of Energy be allowed that amount of tolerance? We're held in violation if we're off as much as one-tenth of a cent."

The department's latest figures were calculated as of Aug. 21, two days before they were issued. Shipley said they have gone out of date even in that short period.

Marathon Oil raised its prices to dealers Thursday and Shell Oil is raising its prices today, he said.

Wholesale price increases raise maximum retail prices, which are based on the cost of gasoline to the dealers plus allowable profit margins and taxes.

William Webb, spokesman for the department's Economic Regulatory Administration, said consumers could not tell, from the department's lists, whether any particular price violates federal limits.

Symphony Reminds Community Openings Always Available

The Murray State University Symphony Orchestra is beginning its fall season with a reminder to the community that there are always openings for townspeople who wish to play.

While the symphony is basically made up of University students and faculty, there are always people from the area who avail themselves of the opportunity for regaining, or keeping up their skills on an orchestral instrument, and any who wish to do this are always welcome, according to Prof. Neale Mason, conductor.

Prof. Mason, is in the process of holding auditions for membership and seating, and auditions will continue on Monday, Aug. 27 from 7 to 9 p.m. in the Fine Arts Building, Room 328, on the Murray State University campus.

Regular rehearsals of the group are from 7 to 9 p.m. on Mondays and Wednesdays throughout the school year.

Among public performances scheduled for this year are, the Murray-Calloway County Children's Concerts on Oct. 4, the Annual Fall Concert on Dec. 4, and in the spring, a concert on April 10.

The first rehearsal of the season will be held next Wednesday, Aug. 29, in Room 216 of the Fine Arts Building.

For more information, interested persons may call Prof. Mason at the University, at 762-4151, or at home, at 753-2234.

Enrollment Decrease Creates Lowest Pupil-Teacher Ratio Of City Schools

By DEBBIE N. LEE
Staff Reporter

The decrease in total enrollment in the Murray Independent School System has created the lowest pupil-teacher ratio to date.

Superintendent Robert Glin Jeffrey told board members Thursday night that 1,566 students have enrolled thus far in kindergarten through grade 12. This figure represents a decline of 184 students from the 1,780 enrolled in the system at the end of the seventh month last year.

This year's pupil-teacher ratio, which as yet has only been figured from kindergarten through grade six, represents the lowest on school record. The number of students to each teacher is: kindergarten, 19; first grade, 21; second grade, 27.2; third grade, 23.6; fourth grade, 24; fifth grade, 24.2; and sixth grade, 25.

Calloway System To Hold In-Service August 28-29

In-service for the Calloway County School System will be held Tuesday and Wednesday, Aug. 28-29.

Teachers should report to the Calloway County High School cafeteria each day. Orientation will be held from 8 a.m. to 8:30 a.m. with programs beginning at 8:30.

Bus drivers should report to North Calloway Elementary at 9 a.m. each day; while food service employees should report to the high school cafeteria at 9 a.m. each day.

Jeffrey said that he expects the total enrollment to increase by about 20 to 30 students because of newcomers to town and students returning from late vacations.

While the decrease in enrollment was partially caused by the Calloway County School System's tightening of the restrictions on non-resident pupil contract exchange with the city system, Jeffrey said that the decline was in line with a nationwide trend of decreasing enrollments.

The superintendent also stated that enrollment this year "was exceptionally smooth" and few problems were encountered.

The board approved the hiring of two teachers for this year, Dr. Larry Salmon and Mrs. Janet Ward. Both are one-year assignments.

Dr. Salmon, who holds a B.S. in elementary education and an M.A. in education from Murray State University in addition to an Ed.D. in reading from the University of Georgia, will teach a seventh and eighth grade language block at Murray-Middle. Mrs. Ward will teach the first grade at Robertson. She is a graduate of Murray State with a B.S. and M.A. in elementary education.

In classified personnel appointments, James Piggott was hired as a custodian at Murray High and Paulette Wilfred as a substitute bus driver.

Jeffrey recommended that Scott Durham, a fourth grade teacher, be hired as boys' basketball coach at Murray Middle and that David Gallagher, a middle school teacher, become assistant boys' basketball coach at Murray High.

Three aides — Charles Campbell, Sue

Hill and Susan B. Merrill — were also hired. Campbell will be with the Title VIB program, Hill with the MHS speech program and Merrill with the work-study program at Murray High.

The board approved a substitute teacher list of 47 following the adoption of the substitute pay scale for the 1979-80 school year. The scale ranges from $30-$36 a day depending on education and years of teaching experience.

An addition to the scale stipulated that if a substitute teacher serves in the same position for more than 20 days, the teacher will be paid on a regular teacher salary schedule.

Jeffrey told board members that the summer renovation work had been completed with the exception of some painting. The painting and other minor details should be finished within the next month.

It was noted that Mrs. Margaret Brown, director of the system's gifted-talented program, will tell about the local program at the Sept. 17-19 meeting of the Kentucky Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development to be held in Lexington.

In other school board action:
— Board members voted against receiving any per diem pay for their service on the board.

— The board signed a contract with Murray State for facilities utilized by the Head Start program.

— The board approved an honorarium for the summer work done by public relations director Kaye Peebles.

— Board members were informed by Jeffrey that the First Region School Board Association will be held Sept. 26 at Calloway County High School.

Miss Starks, Bride-elect, Honored At Bridal Events

Miss Teresa Starks, Aug. 24th bride-elect of Roy J. Williams, was the honoree at a bridal tea held Thursday, Aug. 9, at the social hall of the Sinking Spring Baptist Church.

The hostesses were Mesdames Maxine Nance, Ruth Warren, Faye Orr, Dorothy Brandon, Willie Vance, Mildred Crawford, Mary Bell Jones, Lynda Cooper, Randa Cunningham and Sarah Crick.

For the occasion the honoree chose to wear a light peach colored dress of piana, with a white corsage of silk gardenias. Her mother Mrs. Bobby Starks, and her mother-in-law to be Mrs. Roy D. Williams, also had corsages of silk gardenias.

The tea table was overlaid with a lace cloth over peach and centered with a silk arrangement of yellow and peach colored roses in a brass basket.

The gifts were displayed on tables with lace cloths over peach and centered with a miniature bride and bridesmaids statuette.

Miss Lori Adams presided at the register table overlaid with a peach and white cloth and centered with a peach rose arrangement. Approximately 70 persons attended or sent gifts.

Mesdames Patsy Woodall, Myra Cleaver, Paulette Woodall and Becky Gore were the hostesses for a household shower for Miss Teresa Starks, Aug. 24th bride-elect of Roy J. Williams, held at the Dexter-Hardin Methodist Church on Tuesday, Aug. 7, at 7 p.m.

The honoree chose to wear a light pink knit dress and was presented a bouquet of silk daisies.

The gift table was covered with a white lace cloth, centered with a miniature bride and groom statuette and silver roses in silver vases.

Home made cake, punch, nuts and mints were served from a table covered with white lace centered with an arrangement of roses. All appointments were in silver.

Approximately 30 persons were present or sent gifts.

Dr. Stohecker Speaks For UDC Chapter, Vaughn Home

Special guest speaker at a recent meeting of the J. N. Williams Chapter of the United Daughters of the Confederacy held at the home of Mrs. Leonard Vaughn was Dr. Edwin Strohecker.

The speaker is dean of libraries at Murray State University and Kentucky and

Time of the War Between the States" and discussed periodicals "to mold the morals and instruct the mind." During his discussion he read some of the stories and poems for the youth in the 1860's.

Although Dr. Strohecker is from the state of Pennsylvania, he is an honorary member of the J. N. Williams Chapter of the UDC.

The president, Mrs. John J. Livesay, presided. New officers elected for the 1979-80 chapter year were Mrs. W. Z. Carter, president; Mrs. Livesay, vice president; Mrs. Charles Stubblefield, second vice president; Dr. Halene Visser, secretary; Mrs. N. A. Ezell, treasurer; Mrs. Hess/Crossland, treasurer; Miss Maude Nance, registrar; Mrs. Fred Gingles, historian; Dr. Mildred Hatcher, chaplain.

Mrs. Vaughn and Mrs. Lois Sammons, hostesses, served refreshments. Also present were Mrs. Edward Davis, Mrs. Ray Munday, Mrs. Timothy Graves, Miss Lucille Floyd, Miss Kim Davis, and Mrs. Robert Crenshaw, the latter a guest.

Can't Countenance Seniors' Discounts

By Abigail Van Buren
1979 by Chicago Tribune News Synd. Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I'm all for taking care of our old people and giving them every possible break. But I think giving every person who reaches age 60 or 65 lower rates for transportation, haircuts, entertainment, etc., is just plain ridiculous! I have friends and relatives who are loaded with money, but because they're "senior citizens" they take advantage of all these reduced rates and laugh about it.

I would like your opinion - and the opinion of others.
POOR WORKING STIFF

DEAR STIFF: Most senior citizen rates are intended to attract the senior citizen's business as well as give a break to older folks living on a fixed income. To separate those who need it from those who don't, and then exclude those who don't, would be a horrendous task. Not to mention the inequities that could result.

DEAR ABBY: An acquaintance of mine is about to give birth. She is married, but the baby is not her husband's. He married her when she was six months along, knowing the baby wasn't his, but he loved her anyway. (The baby's real father just took off.)

My question is this: After the baby is born, what should I say to her husband? Would congratulations be appropriate under the circumstances? Or do you think it would be in poor taste? After all, everybody knows he didn't have anything to do with it.

DEAR CURIOUS: Congratulations are indeed in order. If not for the achievement, for showing himself to be more of a man than the baby's natural father.

DEAR ABBY: I had a friend who would have been 84 tomorrow. She was struck by a car and died instantly. She had no family and left no will. She had quite a bit of money that she wanted to go to her favorite charities, but she never got around to putting anything in writing. Consequently, the state will get it all! She had some valuable furniture and jewelry which was auctioned off. The state will get the proceeds and strangers will have her precious personal possessions.

She told me that she wanted to be cremated, but since she left no instructions, she was buried.

I am 41, and have learned a valuable lesson. Death may not be a pleasant thought, but it is inevitable and can come without warning, so I have made all my wishes known in writing - with copies to several relatives and friends. Even if things have only sentimental value, if no specific provisions have been made for their disposition, the public administrator can (and does) throw all personal items away. (Letters, pictures, etc.)

Last year this happened to over 6,000 people in Los Angeles alone. If only one person reads this and does something about it, I'll feel that my friend did not die in vain.
BROKENHEARTED IN L.A.

DEAR BROKENHEARTED: I agree with your suggestion but, in order to be absolutely certain that one's wishes are carried out, a lawyer should be consulted.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get them off your chest. For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. Please enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Cakepan Placed On Child's Head Calls For Emergency Help
MISSOULA, Mont. (AP) - Perhaps a devil's food cake pan would have been more appropriate. Three-year-old Bobby Davison of Missoula was hardly being angelic when he fitted his 10-month-old brother with an angel-food-cake-pan halo. Debbie Davison called firemen to get the cakepan unstuck from the head of her younger son. But before help arrived, the big pan slipped over the child's shoulders, pinning his arms to his body. Mrs. Davison freed the tyke moments later and called off the emergency squad, then returned to her chores - baking her mother a birthday cake in the troublesome pan.

For Christ's sake.
This should be the reason for our every action. Most of us go through the motions of the faith into which we have been reared. We do this or that because the church has told us to or the other members expect us to. Is that what it means to have faith and belong to a church family?
We don't think so. The Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) was founded on the principles of individual freedom and diversity in religious thought. Each person is encouraged to relate to Jesus Christ in his or her own way.
Each of us has been given unique talents and abilities. The church offers many and varied opportunities to put them to use as each sees fit. Putting your faith to work in your everyday life the way you understand His teachings is all that matters.
We welcome you to share this freedom and fellowship with us this Sunday.

Edwards-Belcher Wedding Is Solemnized At Kirksey Church

Miss Karen Lynn Edwards, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Edwards of Murray, and Joseph Bradford Belcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Belcher, also of Murray, exchanged their wedding vows by candlelight in an evening ceremony at the Kirksey Baptist Church, Kirksey.

The Rev. David Brasher of Benton read the double ring ceremony before an altar centered with a fifteen branch brass arch candelabrum with two spiral candelabra on either side. A medley of mixed spring colored silk flowers, baby's breath, leather leaf, and sprengeri fern in long planters were placed on either side of the altar. The same medley of flowers adorned the unity candelabrum. The windows in the sanctuary were filled with single candles flanked by magnolia leaves.

As Mrs. John White began her presentation of wedding music, the ushers, Bill Wilson, cousin of the bride, and Paul Guy, lit the candles in the sanctuary windows.

Musical selections included "Evergreen" for the lighting of the altar candles, "Somewhere My Love," and "Colour My World." Darrell Gibson, soloist, sang "Follow Me" after the seating of the grandmothers and "If" after the mothers of the bride and groom were seated.

The processional began with "Trumpet Voluntary" as the wedding party entered and the aisle runner rolled out. The bride and her father entered to the traditional "Bridal Chorus." As the bride approached the altar she gave her mother a white silk rose and a kiss.

Bride's Dress

The bride, escorted by her father and given in marriage by her parents, wore a formal gown of white qiana. Imported English net fashioned the yoke and adorned the top portion of the straight sleeves. Silk Venise lace appliques defined the empire bodice and wide U-shaped neckline. A front panel of accordin pleats flowed gracefully from the high-rise waist with the back and full chapel train of smooth qiana edged in matching narrow silk Venise trim.

Completing the bridal ensemble was a Juliet cap of matching silk Venise lace applied with seed pearls. The fingertip veil of silk illusion was edged in narrow Venise lace. She carried a venetian dream bouquet of imported silk white roses, gardenias, accented with lily-of-the-valley, baby's breath and ivy with a cathedral fall and white satin streamers.

She wore a diamond pendant, a wedding gift from the groom, tiny cultured pearl earrings, and a solid gold wedding band belonging to her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Loyd Wilson, which her mother had worn on her wedding day. The ring had previously belonged to her great grandmother Wilson.

After being given in marriage by her parents, the groom escorted the bride up to the altar for their exchanging of vows, as Mrs. White sang "The Wedding Song." During the lighting of the unity candle Mr. Gibson sang "For Baby." "We've Only Just Begun" was used for the recessional. When leaving the church the bride presented her new mother-in-law with a white silk rose and a kiss.

Mrs. Sheila Morris served as her matron-of-honor. The bridesmaids were Bobbie Smith, Rhonda Darnell, and Vicki Edwards, the latter a cousin of the bride. The attendants wore identical gowns of sky blue Silesta Symphony knit. The blouson bodice was enhanced by open angel-wing sleeves. The sunburst pleated skirt flared to the floor. They carried crescent medley hand bouquets of imported silk flowers in spring colors with baby's breath, sprengeri fern and blue satin streamers. They wore a halo of baby's breath in their hair.

Little Misses Carissa Belcher and Lori England, flower girls, wore identical dresses of sky blue sheer polyester organza flocked with tiny pastel colored flowers. Tiny satin bows accented the short puffed sleeves and a wide satin sash tied in a bow in the back. They carried white wicker baskets tied with blue satin ribbon and streamers and filled with white rose pedals which they dropped along the aisle. They also wore a halo of baby's breath in their hair.

Mr. Belcher chose Carl Doron as best man, with Tim Belcher, brother of the groom, Keith Edwards, brother of the bride, and Brad Edwards, cousin of the bride, as groomsmen. They were attired in Blue Bentley tuxedos and had boutonnières of baby's breath. The fathers of the bride and groom also wore Blue Bentley tuxedos. Mr. Belcher wore a white cut-away tux with tails, white ruffled shirt and cummerbund. His boutonniere was a silk gardenia bud and blue baby's breath.

Miss Luanna Colson was seated at the guest register. The table was covered with white lace and a nosegay of silk gardenias, white roses and greenery with white satin streamers was placed on the table along with a china bride and groom statuette music box, a gift to the couple, and the bride's book and plum pen. The nosegay was later used as the bride's throw-away bouquet.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Edwards chose a formal gown of maize Lustreglo with a shirred bodice, V-neckline and slender fitted sleeves. The sunburst pleated skirt was enhanced by an inverted cummerbund with a fabric tie. At her shoulder was pinned a corsage of silk gardenias, stephanotis, and ivy, tied with white satin ribbon.

Mrs. Belcher, mother of the groom, wore a formal gown and coat ensemble of champagne beige qiana. The long sleeve gown with an empire waist and cowl neckline was graced with a matching floor length sleeveless coat. She carried a small needlepoint bag on which she pinned her corsage of silk gardenias, stephanotis, and ivy, tied with white satin ribbon.

Mrs. K. Edwards and Mrs. Loyd Wilson, grandmothers of the bride, and Mrs. Geneva Belcher, grandmother of the groom, were presented white cymbidium orchid corsages.

Mrs. David Brasher, Benton, directed the wedding.

Those assisting in serving were: Mrs. Gail Henson, Mrs. Debra Crabtree, Miss Ginger Compton, Miss Jeanna Edwards and Miss Cathy Geurin. They each were presented corsages of white daisies.

Guest tables were covered with white cloths and centered with hurricane lamps with white burning tapers, surrounded by yellow roses, daisies and ivy. An arrangement of spring colored flowers was on the piano. Mrs. John White presented selections on the piano throughout the evening.

Tiny net umbrellas, tied with pastel ribbons and filled with rice, were distributed to the guests by Leigh Henry, Traci Walker, Carissa Belcher, Lori England, and Chris Henry.

The bride left on her honeymoon wearing a rust linen skirt with a beige sweater knit top and beige accessories and wearing her mother's corsage. After their wedding trip to New Orleans and other points of interest in the South the new Mr. and Mrs. Belcher are at home at 1603 Ryan Avenue, Murray.

Out of town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stone, Mr. and Mrs. John Trockleman, Dayton, Ohio; Raymond Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Walsh, Cadiz; Mr. and Mrs. John David Poe, Poseyville, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. Paul Scamihorn, Demotte, Ind.; Tim Belcher and Hillary and Carissa Belcher, Tulsa, Oklahoma; Danny Futrell, Nashville, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. James Edwards, Miss Jeanna Edwards, Sedalia, Mo.; the Rev. and Mrs. David Brasher, Paul and DeeDee Brasher, Benton, Mrs. James L. Tinsley, Dallas, Texas.

Rehearsal Dinner

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Belcher were hosts for the rehearsal dinner held at The Brass Lantern, Aurora.

The tables were arranged in a U-shape and covered with white tablecloths. At the head table was an arrangement of fresh multi-colored spring flowers and greenery. Individual place cards, handmade and decorated by the groom's maternal grandmother, the late Mrs. Elizabeth Timmel, was placed for each of the 36 guests.

The bridal couple presented gifts to their attendants at this time.

HEALTH

Bulk may help

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I had a barium test of my colon because of increased peristaltic action after being overseas several years. The only information on the X ray was two small polyps but the X-ray technician made a comment that I had an extremely long veriform appendix.

Although operations are discouraged now, I wish to avoid this possibility as a senior citizen. I have averaged one or two peristaltic upsets a year unrelated to the appendix as far as I know. A quick recovery has prevented me from losing a single day's work.

Is there a diet or other health habits you can advise that might shrink the appendix or keep it in a healthy condition? My many physical activities include jogging.

DEAR READER—There is no solid information on diets that you can use to prevent appendicitis. Nevertheless, the advocates of increased bulk in the diet claim that such diets prevent appendicitis. As evidence, they cite the relative infrequency of attacks of appendicitis in cultures where the diet includes a lot of bulk, particularly cereal fiber.

I gather from your comment about increased peristaltic action that you mean you have intermittent attacks of diarrhea. How the increased fiber in your diet would influence this I'm not certain and probably the best way to find out is to try it. In some instances, when the individual doesn't have enough bulk in the diet, increased amounts relieve this problem. That's because a spastic or irritable colon not only causes constipation but it can cause intermittent attacks of diarrhea.

I'm sending you The Health Letter number 13-8 about diarrhea and its usual causes. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents in check or coin with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

As The Health Letter I'm sending you explains, a few rare people have sensitivity to gluten found in all cereals except corn and rice. I doubt that's your problem but it means that if you decide to try an increased amount of bulk in your diet that you might need to approach this cautiously.

Incidentally, individuals who have developed the capacity to jog long distances sometimes do have diarrheal episodes associated with the jogging itself.

DEAR DR. LAMB—I have very fine, thin hair which will not take a permanent wave. My fingernails split and have rough ridges on top. I take a daily vitamin plus iron. I would like to know if there is some vitamin I should be taking that would help my condition.

Thinking Is Needed

Vice President Mondale scolded Congress for going on vacation without doing much of anything with President Carter's energy program.

And we scolded them, too, but for different reasons. It appears energy is too urgent a problem for Congress to just bounce off without having fully considered the options.

But we don't blame congressmen for wanting more time to think it over — we're talking here about the Carter proposal — but that doesn't necessarily mean vacations are needed to think.

Congress didn't get most of Carter's energy proposals until July 15. A program carrying a $142 billion price tag and that puts the federal government even deeper into management of energy resources doesn't call for a quick rubber stamp.

Just because solutions to the energy crisis are urgent does not make Carter's solutions the best ones. The same can be said for other White House proposals to the Congress, such as national health insurance and hospital cost containment.

They address important issues, but there is good reason for Congress to be handling them with care.

Right now we sense that the tide is flowing against the idea that the best way to pursue a goal is to assign it to the federal bureaucracy.

If Carter is impatient with the way Congress is handling some of his legislation, the problem isn't necessarily on Capitol Hill. It could lie in the kind of legislation he's proposing.

Carter lately has been trying to come on like Harry Truman, who ran and won in 1948 by railing against a "do-nothing" Congress.

The president shouldn't get too carried away with the Truman example. In the first place, it's more difficult for him to attack a Democratic Congress than when Truman was attacking one of the few Congresses dominated by Republicans.

It's quite possible the 96th Congress is reflecting the public mood better than Carter when it hesitates to take the country down paths well-worn by a generation of New Deal Democrats.

Just doing something — anything — isn't always better than doing nothing. At least not without much thought on lessons of the past.

Why Nations Crumble

II Kings 17:1-14

Neither an individual nor a nation can reasonably expect to remain strong and victorious, or receive divine blessings, if God is ignored or disobeyed. Disregarding God's will inevitably brings judgment. In spite of His extraordinary patience, the hour finally arrived when God's wrath against sin could not be restrained or Israel's punishment deferred. The fall of the nation was the inevitable result of what the Israelites had been doing.

Instead of being deeply grateful to God for His intervention in their behalf and His bringing them out of bondage in Egypt, they ungratefully turned away from Him into the paths of disobedience. In direct opposition to the divine prohibition they manufactured and erected idols and burned incense to the heathen deities. Their idolatry was not due to ignorance, but to their perverseness. They were aware of God's hatred of the terrible sin of idolatry, but they persisted in it, notwithstanding. Nobody can turn away from the true and living God and worship an idol without paying the penalty for it.

All of the sins of the people, even the ones they thought were secret, were abominable in God's sight. Nobody has ever deceived God about anything. Neither has anything ever been hidden from His view. Undercover techniques were used in leading the people astray. Their duplicity was evidenced by the fact that they publicly professed to be the Lord's people, but in reality they were following the pagans in their religious pursuits.

The unfaithfulness of the people stands out in marked contrast to the faithfulness of God. In order to help the people, God sent some of the noblest and best prophets who ever lived and wrought to plead with them to turn from their wicked ways, and to warn them of the severe punishment that was awaiting them, unless they repented of their sins and became reconciled to God, but they refused to heed their numerous and urgent appeals. Their continuing defiance of God caused Him to compare them with an obstinate and self-willed animal that stiffened his neck against all persuasion on the part of the driver. Whether God used a seer who saw visions or a prophet who spoke or wrote the message of God, each and every one of them warned of judgment and called for obedience, but most of their pleading was in vain.

After repeated and numerous attempts to get the Israelites to turn from their sins had failed, it became necessary for God to send judgment upon them. Because they refused to turn from their wicked ways, no other course was open to God. By their own willful sins they automatically removed themselves from God's favor, just as many are doing today. When God's anger reached its climax, He delivered them into the hands of a heathen king, who took them away into cruel bondage. As captives in Assyria, they discovered that their punishment was severe, but it certainly was not more than they deserved because of their grievous sins.

Bible Thought

Hear, O Lord, and have mercy upon me: Lord, be thou my helper. — Psalm 30:10.

The Lord is ever present to hear us and to lift us out of our troubles. Trust in the Lord and He will become your strength.

JUDGE COPIED SAN DIEGO UNION / COPELEY NEWS SERVICE

HEARTLINE

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems — fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write Heartline, 114 East Dayton Street, West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. You will receive a prompt reply, but you must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

HEARTLINE: I have just retired from the railroad after 41 years. I have a physically handicapped 18-year-old son who wants to go to college. How can he get a college education? The Railroad Retirement Board says they cannot help him and I have never worked under Social Security. — L. K.

You and your son should visit several college or university loan offices. Your son is eligible to apply for the Basic Equal Opportunity Grant and for various other grants for the purpose of receiving a college education. If he should receive a grant for his college education, it does not have to be paid back. There are also loans available through most colleges that do not have to be paid back until after graduation. Most colleges and universities also have work-study programs, in which part or all of the college expenses are paid in exchange for the student's work for the institution. There may be something your son can do in spite of his handicap.

You should also check at the county welfare office in the county in which the college is located to see if he would be eligible for any assistance from them.

HEARTLINE: I have been disabled since 1952 but cannot draw Social Security disability because I only have a total of nine quarters. I am not eligible for SSI because we are a smidgeon over the limit as to our income, etc. Now that I am age 51, I want to know if I can get Social Security disability on my husband's Social Security? My husband is alive, so I don't qualify as a widow. — D.T.

In order to be entitled to Social Security disability benefits from your husband's account, you would have to be a widow. You cannot use his quarters for your disability while he is alive.

HEARTLINE: Are a husband and wife, both disabled, entitled to Social Security on their own respective work records, the husband being 62 and the wife being 58? If they are, is there a limit which would apply to the joint income? If yes, could you inform me what it would be? — J. D.

If you are asking if there would be a limit to the amount of benefits you could each receive since you would both be drawing disability, the answer is no. If you are asking if there is a limit on the amount of earned income you can be receiving while drawing Social Security disability, then the answer is yes. Since Social Security only pays on a total 100 percent disability, you are supposed to be disabled from doing any work. So, any work or wages you receive could have a bearing not on the amount of benefits you receive, but on whether or not you are eligible for the benefits.

HEARTLINE: Is it true that I can get some of my husband's Social Security when I reach age 62? I will turn 62 in November. Can I still receive benefits on his account if I am still working? My husband retired because of disability in 1969, and he is still disabled. — O. O.

Yes, you become entitled to wife's benefits from your husband's account at age 62, for which you should apply three months before your 62nd birthday. There is a restriction to the amount of money you can earn while drawing Social Security benefits, and you should inquire about this when you apply for benefits. Make sure you understand what you are being told.

Carter's Trip Prompts Lyrics

ABOARD THE DELTA QUEEN (AP) — If there was ever any doubt that Jimmy Carter's Mississippi River float aboard this paddlewheel steamer is more of a campaign trip than a vacation, there is now further evidence: Reporters have composed a campaign song about it.

The songs crop up every four years as reporters, whiling away the time between presidential campaign stops, compose satiric lyrics to familiar tunes and lampoon the events on which they report.

In this case, the target of a reporter's wit was the president's assertion that he is campaigning for his energy proposals and not his own re-election.

"Jimmy Carter Went A-Steamin'" is sung to the tune of "Will the Circle Be Unbroken?" The first verses go like this:

"Jimmy Carter went a-steamin',
 Down the river to St. Lou,
 Jimmy Carter went campaignin',
 But for who, Lord, but for who?"

"Was it taxes on oil profits?
 Or for rebates for the poor?
 Solar power? Or mass transit?
 Or a stay through '84?"

The song has eight verses and may have more before Carter's week-long Mississippi trip ends Friday in St. Louis.

The riverboat trip is a working vacation not only for Carter, but also for press secretary Jody Powell and other staffers accompanying the president. In Powell's case, at least, it seems to be doing him some good.

Powell's moods tend to reflect the president's rating in the polls, and although Carter's popularity is near rock bottom, Powell, on this lazy riverboat trip, seems to be his old, easygoing, wisecracking self.

He even seems to miss the daily White House news briefings that often found him using bitter sarcasm to turn aside pointed questions. So much so, in fact, that near midnight one night, as the steamer was pausing in a lock, Powell casually leaned against the railing on an upper deck and fielded questions from several persons in a crowd of several hundred who stayed on after shaking hands with Carter.

What sort of fuel does the steamer use, Powell was asked.

The press secretary, cigarette and a nearly empty tumbler in his hands, replied: "Well, for the last three hours it's been running on Jack Daniels."

Even presidents aren't immune from the little incidents that mar vacations. A nervous waiter spilled a dish of seafood coquille down the back of Carter's jacket at dinner on the second night of the trip.

The first full day of the trip was first lady Rosalynn Carter's 52nd birthday. Carter ordered a cake brought to the table with an inscription in icing: "From Your First Husband."

The Story Of Calloway County 1822-1976

By Dorothy and Kerby Jennings

Copyright, 1978

The liberal provisions prompted a record field of 98 Calloway candidates seeking county and city offices in 1913, representing the Democratic Party. The August primary campaign was terrific with speaking engagements slated from one end of the county to the other in one glorious summer campaign, the liveliest drive ever held in Calloway County up to this date. The outcome of the contest resulted in the following Democratic nominees being chosen: Representative, T. R. Jones; county judge, L. A. L. Langston; county court clerk, H. Clint Broach; county attorney, N. B. Barnett; sheriff, William A. Patterson; county school superintendent, Lucile Grogan; jailer, Bert Purdom; coroner, J. H. Churchill (unopposed); assessor, C. R. Childers. In Murray, H. E. Holton (Duke of Calloway) mayor. In the November general election for the first time three candidates representing three political parties, Democratic, Progressive, and Independent, vied for the office of city judge with the Democrat, John Schroeder, elected. Judge Simpson, the Independent, was retired after 20 years service as city judge—since 1894. All of the Democratic nominees also won in the general election. The Republican Party did not field a formidable opposition in comparison with the county election held four years previously when a split in Democratic ranks effected a Republican windfall.

The 1913 year was not a dismal one in the progress of the county. The City of Murray brightened up with the installation of 60 watt light bulbs at all resident street intersections with all night service. The business section was illuminated with a new White Way attached to iron posts erected at 40 locations. The Murray High School basketball team defeated the western Kentucky champion Fulton team, but in turn was humiliated by a brilliant bloomer girls team from Lynn Grove on two occasions. (The game was considered sissy stuff, thus no boys team was fielded). Miss Alice Waters returned from China after foreign service since 1905. L. Y. Woodruff imported a car load of registered Hereford cattle to replace his scrub herd, the first adventure of its kind in the county. McElrath Addition of 20 acres was auctioned off in one acre parcels in the northwest section of the city. Kit Carson brought his Buffalo Ranch Wild West Show to town, featuring bands of Sioux, Cheyenne, and Comanche Indians who had participated in "The Battle of Wounded Knee." In addition, Sun Brothers Circus appeared, and in late fall the I. W. Swain show tented for a week on the Catlin horse lot across the street from the Ledger office.

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, Aug. 24, the 236th day of 1979. There are 129 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1814, British soldiers invaded Washington, D.C., and burned major buildings, including the Capitol and White House.

On this date:

In 79, an eruption of Mount Vesuvius in Italy buried the ancient cities of Pompeii and Herculaneum.

In 1777, General George Washington led his Revolutionary War army into Philadelphia.

In 1891, Thomas Edison applied for a patent for a motion picture camera.

In 1939, Nazi Germany and the Soviet Union signed a 10-year non-aggression pact.

In 1956, the first non-stop transcontinental helicopter flight was completed.

In 1970, the first helicopters to fly across the Pacific reached South Vietnam from the United States.

Ten years ago: Iraq executed 15 persons accused of being spies for the United States and Israel.

Five years ago: A Moslem, Fakhruddin Ali Ahmed, was installed as the fifth President of India.

One year ago: A cloud of toxic, corrosive propellant gas escape from a Titan missile silo near Wichita, Kan., killing one man and injuring six.

Today's birthdays: French Canadian political leader Rene Levesque is 57 years old. Physicist Ralph Lapp is 62.

Thought for today: As crude a weapon as the cave man's club, the chemical barrage has been hurled against the fabric of life — Rachael Carson, American writer, 1907-1964.

'The Bull' Says Racer Defense To Be Better When Season Begins

By TONY WILSON

Mike Gottfried's interest lay in Kenny Woods as the Murray State football coach watched a film of a Memphis Hamilton High School game early last year. But something else caught his eye.

"I saw this guard make eight straight tackles," Gottfried recalls. "Then I found out that the guy that backed him up at guard had signed with Vanderbilt. So I decided to take a chance on him."

Oh, Woods came to Murray State all right, and he was an impressive starter last year. But with him came teammate Glen Jones, a 5-10, 188-pounder who turned out to be one of the bright spots on a Racer defense last season that had its share of breakdowns. The biggest malfunction came during the Morehead game, one in which Murray generated 35 points only to give up 49. Enough was enough. Gottfried and his staff installed a new defense which allowed a six-man front and made several position changes.

Jones was switched from defensive back to an end spot, and he says it was a love affair the rest of the year. "The pressure on a defensive back is tremendous as soon as you step onto the field," he said yesterday. "You know anytime that if a pass gets over you, its probably a touchdown."

Nicknamed "Bull" by his teammates, Jones says the switch enabled him to do what he most enjoys — hit. "I love the thought of getting to the quarterback and sacking him. I get to make a lot more tackles, and that suits me."

As a youngster, Jones was always smaller than most of his peers. "We would play football, and I would get the ball and run over guys just to make them mad. That's when they starting calling me Bull."

Later, at Hamilton High, Jones played on the same side of the line with Woods for most of his career as an offensive guard and defensive back. "Kenny and I have always been real close," Jones says. "I jumped at the chance to be able to come to Murray with him."

Gottfried didn't mind it a bit either. "He's become the most aggressive player on the team," he says. "He's here to win, and his whole life is built on that premise."

The Racer defense that allowed one more point (237) than the Murray offense could muster should be a much stronger unit, Jones says. "I stayed in Murray over the summer and went to school, and I roomed with Greg Evans and Ken Gowdy (two other members of the Racer defensive unit)," Jones says. "I could just feel that we all think that this is going to be our year."

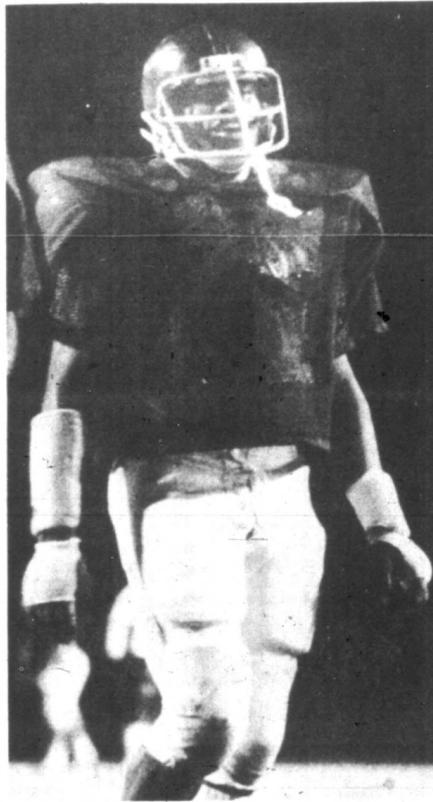

Jones was one of only two freshmen to be chosen second-team all-Ohio Valley Conference after last season, finishing with 43 tackles, 27 assists and five tackles behind the line. But the season for Jones didn't really become enjoyable until his switch of positions.

"That really got me going. At end, I have to worry about linebackers and quicker people trying to take me out," he says. "It's a real challenge."

At Hamilton High, Jones also ran track, anchoring the mile relay squad and running the 880 while serving as team captain. He finished fourth in the 880 in the state meet, and his talent prompted Memphis State to offer him a track scholarship.

"I didn't really even consider it," he admitted. "Football is where my heart is at, and that's where it always will be."

So says the "Bull."

Glen Jones, nicknamed 'Bull' by his teammates, feels the Murray State defense will be a much-improved unit this season.

Murray State assistant football coach Dan Walker worked with a quarterback during a workout last night as the Racer band (in background) practiced.

Murray opens its season Sept. 1 at Southeast Missouri.

High-Level Support

Knight's Resignation Offer Refused; Governor Pledges Help

By STEVE HERMAN
AP Sports Writer

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. — Bobby Knight, Indiana University's basketball coach, has Hoosiers from Gov. Otis R. Bowen to summer students rallying to his support in the aftermath of his conviction for assaulting a Puerto Rican policeman.

Bowen, commenting on the six-month sentence imposed on Knight in absentia, said he thought the coach was

"railroaded a bit," and added "clemency would be in order."

"It is my intention to get in touch with the governor of Puerto Rico and see what can be done about it," said Bowen, reached at an educator's conference in Seattle.

"The incident that led to Bobby Knight's conviction for assaulting a Puerto Rican policeman and his subsequent six-month jail sentence 'has been exaggerated all out of proportion," said Athletic Director Ralph Floyd.

Knight, 38, who guided the U.S. team to a gold medal in last month's Pan American Games in San Juan, was involved in an altercation with the officer during an argument over rights to a practice court.

"Nothing has developed from those legal proceedings that alters my high opinion of Coach Knight, both as a man and as a coach," said Floyd.

Indiana President John Ryan announced Thursday that a resignation offered by Knight would not be accepted.

Knight offered Wednesday night to quit the post he has held for eight years. Earlier in the day, he was tried and convicted in absentia — permissible under Puerto Rican law — by Judge Rurico Rivera in San Juan.

Knight maintained the policeman, Jose D. Silva, struck him first and that he lashed back in a reflex action. A counter-suit by Knight against the policeman was dismissed.

"I have absolutely no reluctance in believing Coach Knight," Ryan said. "I, as president of Indiana University, have no intention of accepting his resignation."

Knight, also fined $500 by Rivera, has indicated he will not return to Puerto Rico.

Bowen said he wasn't sure whether clemency could be granted for Knight, but he added, "It would certainly be in order. I intend to research all of it. He (Knight) does not deserve the punishment they (Puerto Rican officials) are trying to mete out to him."

Knight was reprimanded earlier at the Pan Am games after being ejected by a referee for strenuously protesting a call with the U.S. team ahead by 35 points.

Over the years, he's had run-ins with the press, other coaches and even his own players — 10 have either dropped out or have been kicked off the squad since the Hoosiers' 1976 NCAA championship — and Knight's temper is legendary.

"Any instance ought to be looked at in its own light," Ryan said, acknowledging the stormy side of Knight's career.

Kansas City Thrashes Vikings 25-0

Chiefs' Victory 'Very Healthy'

By SCOTT PAPILLON
AP Sports Writer

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. — The best thing about the National Football League's exhibition season is that a team can build on its successes or forget about the lack of them.

Coach Marv Levy's Kansas City Chiefs plan to do some building following their 25-0 thrashing of Minnesota Thursday night.

The Vikings plan to do a lot of forgetting.

"Winning this way is very healthy for a team like ours, which hasn't experienced winning for a few seasons," said Levy, who watched his club finish its pre-season at 3-1. "But that doesn't insure winning in the regular season."

The defending NFC Central Division champion Vikings, winless in four exhibition contests, hope Levy is right.

NFL EXHIBITION ROUNDUP

"The only consolation we have now is that we're 0-0," said Minnesota quarterback Tommy Kramer, who was sacked four times and has yet to produce a touchdown.

"There's no excuses when you play like that," said Coach Bud Grant. "When you play as bad as we played and have a team execute as well as Kansas City did, it's going to show up in the score."

In four games, Minnesota has managed only 19 points — one touchdown, thrown by John Reaves, and four field goals.

Until now, Minnesota hadn't gone winless in pre-season since going 0-5 in 1961, its first season.

The Chiefs, who had the second-worst record in the NFL last season, rushed for 186 yards. But it was their passing game that destroyed the Vikings.

Rookie Steve Fuller played the second half and connected on eight of 10 with two touchdowns — a nine-yarder to Tony Samuels, and one of 16 yards to Mike Williams on a field soaked by three days of rain.

"I never expected it to be this easy, but the footing was terrible and the receivers definitely had the advantage," said Livingston.

Kramer hit on 14 of 23 passes for 158 yards before being replaced by John Reaves in the fourth quarter. Kramer got the Vikings into scoring position only once, and then kicker Rick Danmeier shanked a 34-yard field goal attempt.

Grant, who has had only two losing seasons since taking over the Vikings in 1967, found a glimmer of hope.

"The good news is that we're the leading point blocking team in the NFL," he joked. "Make a story of that."

The Vikings blocked two of Jan Stenerud's extra point tries and a third failed when the snap from center was fumbled by Fuller.

The contest kicked off the final weekend of exhibition contests, giving each coach one last look at his team in game action before next Monday's roster cut from 50 players to 45.

Action continues tonight with Cleveland at Washington, Philadelphia at Miami, Detroit at Baltimore, Houston at New Orleans, New England at Denver, and San Francisco at Seattle.

On Saturday, it will be Chicago at St. Louis, Tampa Bay at Cincinnati, the New York Jets against the New York Giants, Atlanta against Green Bay at Milwaukee,

Former Pro Parry Will Give Clinic During Soccer Sign-Up

Jim Parry, a former British professional and university soccer star, will conduct a clinic as part of a sign-up day for the Murray-Calloway County boys' soccer season Saturday.

Two leagues will be formed this year, according to soccer coordinator Bill Whitaker. One will be for boys in the second-through-fourth grades, and a second league will be for those in fifth-through-seventh grades.

Parry's demonstration will be at 9:30 a.m. at the soccer field in the new Murray-Calloway County Park.

Parry for the season from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m., preceding Parry's demonstration, and afterwards from 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Boys' soccer competition in Murray and Calloway County began last year with one league, six teams and more than 100 participants from the second, third and fourth grades.

"The sport was so popular," Whitaker said, "that this year we have expanded play to the older boys. Among other things, this gives those who demonstrated soccer-playing ability in the fourth grade a year ago a chance to continue development of their skills."

Teams will be organized during the first week in September, and play will start Sept. 15 following 10 days of practice.

The soccer clinic will be for the purpose of demonstrating skills to both boys who played last year and those who have never before participated. All coaches, prospective and parents are invited to attend.

Parry, a British exchange professor of education at Murray State from Sheffield City Polytechnic, played for Derby County in Britain's major professional soccer league, as well as on both Welsh and British all-star university teams.

AN INVESTMENT IN YOUR FUTURE

Winners and Losers

Our society tends to divide people into two categories—winners and losers. The winners are the heroes, the adored movers and shakers in the world. The losers are not so lucky. They are the unemployed, the unloved and unwanted in our society.

God does not make this distinction, however. In His eyes, each person is unique and worthy of His love. Just as God loves each of us, so He would have us love one another, not as a winner or a loser, but as another human being in need.

Committee To Send Letters For Recommendation

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Gov. Julian Carroll and members of Kentucky's congressional delegation will be asked to push for a waiver from federal requirements to help Kentucky counties continue to provide adequate emergency ambulance service.

mendation of its subcommittee on emergency medical services. Several county officials told the subcommittee that federal requirements involving CETA funds will make it difficult for them to provide adequate emergency medical service after Oct. 1.

Carlisle County Judge-Executive Bill Fraser said the federal government requires that any CETA employee who has been on the payroll for 18 months be terminated Oct. 1, unless a county can obtain a waiver.

Fraser and other judge-executives said the requirement will adversely affect ambulance services because many of the employees are paid from CETA funds. "We are going to be in dire need unless a waiver can be worked out with the CETA program," said Carter County Judge-Executive Gene Cline.

He said CETA provides 80 percent of the funding for the county's emergency medical technicians or EMTs, ambulance drivers and dispatchers. Edmonson County Judge-Executive Donald Doyle said all his qualified EMTs will be laid off Oct. 1 because of the CETA requirements, and that new ones will have to be trained.

Because they won't be qualified, "lots of people treating those people (needing emergency medical care en route to a hospital) are going to cause a fatality," Doyle said. State Sen. Clyde Middleton, R-Covington, subcommittee chairman, asked about the possibility of financing ambulance services through the levy of a local tax. He suggested that the state might be able to provide matching funds.

Ford Starts New Line Of Medium-Duty Trucks

By BILL BERGSTROM
Associated Press Writer
LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Ford Motor Co. has begun manufacturing a new line of medium-duty trucks that it hopes will increase its share of an uncertain market and ensure stable employment at its Kentucky Truck Plant.

manufactured at Ford's Louisville Plant, a separate operation from the Kentucky Truck Plant. He and other company officials were in Louisville to introduce the new F-Series in news briefings and display the trucks at Churchill Downs race track. The new models will be at dealerships in October.

Capolongo said the new trucks and their hoped-for inroads on the market should insure stability for the Kentucky Truck Plant's 4,000 employees and the Louisville Plant's 3,000, though new hiring is not envisioned at present.

However, some judges whose counties have already levied taxes said revenue from the tax wasn't enough to run the program. Gary Thompson, Emergency Medical Services director for the Pennyville Region, read a letter from Lyons County Judge-Executive William E. Williams which said that the county was operating its ambulance service at a deficit despite passage of a 5 cent local tax.

Washington will move to Lynchburg, relinquishing his post as publisher of The Messenger in Madisonville, Ky. The announcement was made Thursday by Thomas E. Worrell Jr., president of the newspaper chain that owns and operates 33 daily and weekly newspapers in 16 states.

Worrell last month purchased controlling interest in the Lynchburg newspapers. J.D. Swartz, senior vice president of Worrell Newspapers, publisher of The News and Daily Advance

Army Investigative Team Still Collecting Facts Of Chemical Cloud

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP) — A six-man Army investigative team still is collecting facts about the origin last week of a noxious chemical cloud and it would be "premature" to disclose detailed information, says the team leader. Lt. Col. Donald S. Tribe, who was sent to the Bluegrass Army Depot here from the Tuella Army Depot in Utah, said it would take at least two weeks before a report on the cloud's origin could be made.

Tribe said the probe will be "thorough and objective and will leave no stone unturned." Although suspicions about the cloud quickly turned to the depot, where smoke screen canisters had been burned, Tribe said it would be "speculative" to immediately connect the cloud with the burned canisters. He said the Army team would also examine farming and industry in the area for a possible link with the cloud.

Should the investigation reveal negligence by Army personnel, the individuals involved will be punished, possibly by court martial, Tribe said. Meanwhile, he said, the danger of poisoning in the area "essentially does not exist." But, he added, "There is always a degree of risk involved with chemicals. How risky and how the risk was handled is the question."

Hijacker Surrenders In Cyprus, Passengers Leave Unharmd

LARNACA, Cyprus (AP) — A gunman hijacked a jetliner over Libya today and the plane flew to Cyprus where the hijacker surrendered and the passengers disembarked unharmd, airport officials said. The hijacker was identified as Mohammed Assmounah, 28, a Libyan student. Director General of Civil Aviation for Cyprus, Theodoros Papapetrou, said the Libyan asked for asylum, but he did not say if it would be granted.

Biennium Budget Approved By KSU Board Of Regents

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A $43 million budget for the 1980-82 biennium has been approved by regents at Kentucky State University. The budget was sent on to the state Council on Higher Education for review. An inflationary increase of $1 million is allowed for during 1980-81 under the budget and $1,170,432 in 1981-82.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the following described applications for Federal financial assistance are accepted for filing under provisions of Title III, Part IV of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended (47 U.S.C. 390-94, 397-99), and in accordance with 15 CFR Part 2301.

Kentucky Authority for ETV, 600 Cooper Drive, Lexington, Kentucky 40502, File No. 21-P/790037-P to plan for the establishment of a long-range, cost-efficient, service-oriented instructional telecommunications center to bring statewide services to the people of Kentucky and expanded instructional programming services to the Nation. Proposal determined acceptable: June 4, 1979. Estimated total project costs: $70,507. Grant requested: $55,649. Application signed by: O. L. Press, Executive Director.

Kentucky Authority for ETV, 600 Cooper Drive, Lexington, Kentucky 40502, File No. 23-P/C790036-PRA for planning to study the feasibility for establishing a statewide FM radio system with subcarrier transmission capability to provide programming to general and special audiences in need of additional instructional and informational media services. Proposal determined acceptable: June 4, 1979. Estimated total project costs: $77,890. Grant requested: $61,476. Application signed by: O. L. Press, Executive Director.

The acceptance of applications for filing is a procedure designed for making preliminary determinations of eligibility, and for providing the opportunity for public comment on applications.

Acceptance of an application does not preclude subsequent return or disapproval of an application if it is found to be not in accordance with the provisions of 15 CFR Part 2301, or if the applicant fails to file any additional information requested by the Administrator, National Telecommunications and Information Administration. Acceptance for filing does not assure an application of being funded; it merely qualifies it to compete for funding with other applications which have also been accepted for filing.

These applications may be inspected by the public during normal business hours at:
Calloway County Public Library
710 Main Street
Murray, Kentucky 42071

Parties supporting or opposing the application are invited to file comments with the Administrator, National Telecommunications and Information Administration, Public Telecommunications Facilities Program, Washington DC 20005. Such filings are to be made within 30 calendar days from the date of this public notice of acceptance of the application, and must be accompanied by a certificate that a copy of the comments have been mailed to the applicant.

McDonald's Triggers Roy Rogers Price Decrease

WASHINGTON (AP)—Roy Rogers is taking on Ronald McDonald in a "range war" over the price of hamburgers. But other major fast-food companies say they're not ready to join the burger battle.

The Marriott Corp. locked horns with the McDonald Corp. Thursday by announcing that its Roy Rogers stores also would cut the price of hamburgers and cheeseburgers.

Richard Marriott, group vice president in charge of Marriott restaurant operations, said the $1.5 billion corporation would reduce the price of quarter-pound burgers by 4 to 10 cents in its 170 company-owned Roy Rogers restaurants.

Last Sunday, McDonald's, the nation's largest fast-food chain, cut the price of hamburgers and cheeseburgers in its 1,225 company-owned restaurants by a nickel.

McDonald's officials said most of the company's 3,460 franchise outlet owners also had agreed to cut their hamburger and cheeseburger prices by 10 percent.

Roger Conner, a spokesman for the Marriott Corp., based in Bethesda, Md., said the Roy Rogers price reduction would not affect other restaurants owned by Marriott, or the 71 independently-owned Roy Rogers restaurants.

Some other major chains say they not only don't intend to join the price war, but contend they've been offering a bigger and cheaper product all along.

Episcopal Church Schedules Services

Holy Eucharist services will be at 9:45 a.m. on Sunday, Aug. 26, at St. John's Episcopal Church, Main and Broach Streets, Murray, with the Rev. Stephen Davenport, vicar, in charge.

Acolytes will be Ben Moore, Jeff Blodgett, and Samar Mahfoud. Bill Kyle and Steve Hale will be lay readers. In charge of the nursery will be Donna Mabry.

Acolyte and Lay Reader Training will be at 11 a.m. on Sunday.

HERE'S HEALTH

By DR. BRYAN THACKER

When the nerves that carry messages from the brain to a particular set of muscles are irritated, the muscles themselves may lose their ability to relax. They are subjected to gradually increasing tension and eventually, painful muscle spasms can be expected.

The pain may come on suddenly or the condition may develop gradually over a period of weeks or months. Wherever pain has resulted from the irritation of nerves by misaligned spinal segments, chiropractic has proven to provide effective relief.

KENLAKE STATE PARKS NEWEST ATTRACTION!

Foreign Countries Provide Background For Talk Show

Los Angeles - The picture post-card beauty of Monaco and the traditional rich but exciting England will provide the background for two weeks of "The Mike Douglas Show" to be seen this fall.

Just back from Europe, Mike Douglas praised the time spent as "two of the most memorable weeks in my life." Said Mike, "I'm thoroughly delighted with what we were able to accomplish and put on tape with a shooting schedule that ran most days from sun-up to sun-down."

"That's because we like to show viewers as much as possible of the areas we visit," Mike explained, "and that involves traveling from place to place."

In Monaco, that meant lapping at the Palace, the harbour, the country club, the beach, the hotels, the parks, the casino, the streets that form the Grand Prix race course, the tennis courts and other sites.

The Monaco taping was tied in with the Abnaden-Monte Carlo Pro Celebrity Tennis Tournament which Mike hosted.

Interviews with Prince Rainier and Princess Grace highlight the week in Monaco. Mike's conversation with the Prince took place at the Palace - a television first.

"Princess Grace and Prince Rainier impressed us as people who take very seriously their responsibilities to the Principality and their family," Mike said.

One thing that really disturbs Princess Grace is pornographic magazine stores. She explained to Mike: "Sometimes I get so annoyed and so angry that I stop and protest. I am very upset when I think of the magazines that are

"Both are marvelously funny, each in his own way."

Burt, who is in London making a movie currently titled "Rough Cut," recalled that on his last visit in 1972 the papers referred to him as "a pin-up boy who would be gone in six months." Commented Burt about one of the English tabloids, "The Sun makes the National Enquirer look like the Wall Street Journal."

Although his work has never been honored with an Oscar, Burt confides that he would love to win an Academy Award. What would he say in his acceptance speech? "I'd like to thank all the little people. Unfortunately, now that I've won an Oscar, I don't know any little people."

Another highlight of the London taping was a frank conversation with actress Joan Collins, whose book of memoirs is a best-seller in England but "too hot" to be published in America. The controversial author, actress had this to say about the state of the women's movement: "I think there's a terrible backlash from the women's movement. There are certain magazines on the stands today in which women are portrayed in poses that you wouldn't see in a gynecologist's magazine."

The London shows feature two-time Oscar-winner Glenda Jackson, Carroll Baker - making her movie comeback in a Disney picture, young Ricky Schroder - relating his experiences meeting the Queen at the London premiere of "The Champ," Billy Dee Williams - doing the "Star Wars" sequel, England's Boomtown Rats rock group, country music performers Barbara Mandrell and the Oak Ridge Boys, Lesley-Anne Down, George Hamilton and, at their country estate, jazz stars Cleo Laine and John Dankworth.

A real high spot for Mike was the opportunity to sing a duet - at beautiful Leeds castle - with that international favorite, Miss Piggy.

Kermit, Animal, Fozzie, Foo Foo and Muppets creators Jim Henson and Frank Oz also join the fun. "I got to sing 'Let's Call the Whole Thing Off' with Miss Piggy," said Mike. "What a thrill that was. I saw her close up and I can assure you that those rumors that she's had a facelift aren't true."

Gospel Group To Perform

Beech Bend Park will be sponsoring the first annual Labor Day Muscular Dystrophy Association Jello Jump on September 2. Everyone entering the park Sunday September 2 will be eligible to participate in the Jello Jump. Watch for more details in a later release.

The Happy Goodman Family, from Madisonville, have been pioneers in the gospel music industry winning numerous awards including a Grammy Award for the Best Gospel Album in 1988.

The Happy Goodman Family has appeared on several national television shows such as the Oral Roberts national television program, "The Dinah Shore Show," and NBC TV's "Weekend Update."

A younger brother in the group, Rusty Goodman, has written many gospel songs that have become classics such as, "I Wouldn't Take Nothing For My Journey Now," "Who Am I and Until You've Known The Love of God."

Performing to more than 300,000 people annually, the Happy Goodman Family is constantly on the go, traveling approximately 100,000 miles annually in their Silver Eagle Bus.

Capacity Crowds Seeing War Epic

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Near capacity crowds are seeing "Apocalypse Now," director Francis Ford Coppola's $31 million Vietnam War epic, in the three theaters where it is playing on a reserved-seat basis.

United Artists reported the long-awaited picture grossed a total of $22,469 in its first five days at New York's Ziegfeld Theater, Toronto's University Theater and the Cinema Dome here.

FIST FIGHT

Gary Coleman, as pint-sized Arnold, gives it all he's got, urged on by his brother Willis (Todd Bridges), in the face of a fistfight threat from a young hoodlum, in "The Fight," on NBC's "Different Strokes." Friday, Aug. 31.

Little Arnold must choose between orders from brother Willis to fight a rugged neighborhood bully and instructions from Mr. Drummond to keep the peace. He's scared of a face-off, but Willis is egging him on.

Many CBers Left Out Of Refunds

By JOHN D. McCLAIN Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) - About 8 million Citizens Band radio operators, many of whom were expecting license fee refunds, totaled more than $3 each. The CBers who would be eligible for refunds total about 1 million who paid $20 for their licenses between 1970 to 1974, when the fee was decreased to $4. They would be eligible for refunds of $17.99 each.

The FCC eliminated all fees after the court's ruling and now is trying to establish a new schedule that would fit the court's requirements. The first phase of the refund program started June 13, says Maureen Peratino, acting chief of the FCC's public information office.

The FCC is prepared to refund about $60 million in Phase I, she says, but in the program, it has received requests only for about $11 million.

The licenses involved in Phase I are those for broadcast stations, common carrier facilities such as telephone systems, electronic equipment manufacturers, some aviation-marine operators, amateur operators who had requested special call signs and some domestic landmobile operations such as mobile telephone and paging systems. These who believe they may be eligible for refunds under Phase I may obtain more information with a toll-free telephone call to 800-638-0251 (in Maryland, 800-492-0501).

Monty Python Film May Puzzle Fans

By BOB THOMAS Associated Press Writer MONTY PYTHON'S LIFE OF BRIAN opens with three Wise Men bringing gifts to a newborn babe in Jerusalem. Oops, Monty Python addicts will be enthralled; others may find 'Brian' puzzling, or even saccharine. Especially with the fadeout of a chorus singing 'Bright Side of Life' - while being parodied in biblical movies could only be attempted by Britain's mad Monty Pythonians, who wrote the script and play most of the major roles. They almost pull it off. Many of the situations are wildly original, but shrill bickering and strained punchlines mar the film.

Great Day

WTBS To Start Season Sept. 10 With Proven Family Favorites

Monday nights from 8-9 p.m. with FALCON FOOTBALL, with hosts Bob Neal, Falcons Head Coach, Leeman Bennett and player guests commenting on the weekly Falcon games. Movie 17, the finest in filmfare will be shown at 9 p.m. At 11 p.m. Monday and Wednesday-Saturday, slapstick shenanigans prevail as Soupy Sales and his friends, Pookie, White Fang and Hippie tucke your funnybone on THE NEW SOUPY SALES SHOW.

Tuesday through Friday evenings when there is no sports coverage, the station schedules MOVIE at 8 p.m. for your viewing pleasure. Featuring films from WTBS's 2700 title movie library, movies that are scheduled include: "SPELLBOUND" with Ingrid Bergman and Gregory Peck, Grace Kelly and Bing Crosby in "THE COUNTRY GIRL," "THE SHANE" starring Alan Ladd.

Later in the month, WTBS will present prestigious programs which first aired on the BBC and PBS television networks. Reigning supreme at 10 p.m. Tuesday evenings beginning September 25 will be the docu-drama THE SIX WIVES OF HENRY VIII. This lavish BBC-Time-Life 90 minute production is done in the majestic style characteristic of 16th century England. Replacing the series after six episodes will be ELIZABETH R starring Oscar award winning British actress, Glenda Jackson. ELIZABETH R traces the life of the "Virgin Queen" through her years as a distraught child to her eventual succession to the throne of England, until her death. This command performance typifies the pomp and pageantry of the Elizabethan era.

Every morning and afternoon of the week viewers can count on super-motion picture entertainment from WTBS with MOVIE 17 each weekday at 10 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. plus special movie treats on the weekend. Saturday mornings at 10 a.m., HOLLYWOOD CLASSICS presents popular films which are considered classics in their own right, many of which are based on works of literature. Sunday morand worthwhile addition to WTBS's selection of children's programs. That zany red-headed comedienne, Lucy, returns followed by THE FLINTSTONES at 3:30 p.m. For all the kiddies to enjoy, a new show on our fall lineup is SPECTREMAN. A new super-hero, SPECTREMAN, the first super human character of its type to be created especially for a television series, battles throughs of the immortal powers to move at the fastest speeds, soar through the air, call upon incredible strengths and become any size in his attempt to defeat the brilliant scientist, Dr. Gort, a spacewandering ape bent on destroying the planet Earth. The super man of the 80's is SPECTREMAN. At 4:30 p.m. a shipwrecked crew takes us to GILGAMESH ISLAND and at 5 p.m. the Douglas clan ventures around MY THREE SONS. Barbara Eden of I DREAM OF JEANNE weaves her magical spells at 5:30 p.m. followed by the wild and crazy sketches of CAROL BURNETT and FRIENDS at 6 p.m.

Flo To Have Own Show

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For four years, Polly Holiday has been shteking "Kiss my grrrl!" every popular "Alice" series is getting a series of her own. Miss Holiday's new show, to begin later this year, will be called "Flo," focusing on the off-the-job life of a lusty Arizona waitress. Miss Holiday's character has been one of the strengths of "Alice," a spokesman for Warner Bros. TV, which makes "Alice" said Thursday a new character, played by Diane Ladd, will be introduced into the show later this year. Miss Ladd earned an Academy Award nomination for the part of Flo in "Alice Doesn't Live Here Anymore," the film from which the TV show was derived.

Six episodes of "Flo" have been ordered by CBS, which will use the series as a midseason replacement.

Mae West To Make Debut

NEW YORK (AP) — Mae West is making her debut next week as a huckster in a radio commercial, or, as she puts it, "breaking my vow of commercial chastity."
