Researchers Compile Statistics Of Past Miss America Pageants

By PETER MATTIACE
Associated Press Writer
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP) — The new Miss America probably won't be an 18-year-old baton twirler, a big city folk singer or from Vermont, Alaska or Maryland, according to a new study.

She will likely be somewhat better educated, taller and less busty than her reigning predecessors. It seems judges are paying a little less attention to shapeliness these days. There is even a slight trend toward "more masculine features."

These and other insights were compiled by Dr. George L. Miller and Dr. Chipei P. Tseng of Northern Illinois University who have studied the hard, statistical facts of the past 20 Miss America Pageants and come up with a

40-page crystal ball called "The Anatomy of Miss America."

They say Miss America is most likely to be a 20½-year-old, tall brunette with green eyes, born in April, whose waist is 12 inches smaller than her bust and hips, and who has a plain name, plays the piano or sings and lives in a small town in California.

Miller and Tseng let the public in on a conclusion long suspected by many a television pageant watcher — "the females entering the pageant are not intended to be average American females."

Miss Americas of the 1960s and '70s average 5 feet 6 inches tall, weigh 119.1 pounds and measure 35.6-23.4-35.6. Statistics prove that "a definite bias toward swimsuit winners is obvious...Swimsuit winners are the best bets for the crown."

It's small-town America that yields most winners, the researchers say. That's not because the judge's disdain sophisticated city types. It's just that big cities only send one contestant to state pageants — and they are outnumbered.

Looking for a good bet to be Miss America Saturday night without counting on Miss California?

Miller and Tseng say to forget Delaware, Maryland, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota and Vermont. They're proven losers.

Instead, look for someone between 19 and 23 years old, between 5 feet 4 inches and 5 feet 10 inches tall, between 105 and 135 pounds, and who measures more than 34-21-34 or less than 36.5-25-36, they say.

No dancers, baton twirlers, actresses, comedians, folk singers and western singers, please. Ditto those with common surnames.

Never mind hair color. Add it all up — throw in a lot of luck — and... "There she is..."

COOL DRINK — 14-month-old Anthony Ortiz of San Pedro, Calif., had the right idea on how to beat the 104 degree heat wave that hit the Los Angeles area with a drink of his favorite brew in a tide pool.

PUBLIC NOTICE

The Legal Services Corporation is a private, non-profit organization established by Congress to provide financial support for legal assistance to poor people in civil matters. In the near future the Corporation will be allocating limited funds to establish new programs or expand existing programs to serve eligible clients in various underserved counties throughout the United States.

Counties in Kentucky under consideration for this purpose include:

Ballard	Livingston	Todd
Caldwell	Lyon	Trigg
Calloway	McLean	Trimble
Carlisle	Marion	Union
Crittenden	Marshall	Washington
Fulton	Meade	Webster
Hancock	Ohio
Hickman	Oldham

Proposals to provide such services are invited from all interested groups. Such proposals and completed grant application materials must be received by the Corporation on or before Friday, October 12, 1979.

Grant application forms and additional information may be obtained by written request to:

Regional Director
Legal Services Corporation
Atlanta Regional Office
615 Peachtree Street, N.E., 9th Floor
Atlanta, GA 30308

The public will have an opportunity to discuss the proposals, and the subject of legal services generally, at an open meeting in or near each service area under consideration unless it would be impractical to do so. The time and place of such meetings will be announced at a later date. In all circumstances the views of all interested persons and groups are earnestly requested and will be carefully considered.

IT'S TRADITION—in keeping with the 60-year-old family tradition, Michael Levensgood chauffeured his bride down Poulso, Wash., Main Street, in a wheelbarrow after their wedding. Married to the former Kathleen Morgan, he joined a string of 40 Levensgood family brides to be wheeled in such fashion.

Security High For Funeral Of Earl Mountbatten Today

LONDON, (AP) — Scotland Yard mounted extraordinary security precautions against Irish terrorist attacks today as foreign delegations and the greatest assemblage of royalty in 27 years gathered for the funeral of Earl Mountbatten.

Police with dogs trained to sniff out bombs combed Westminster Abbey. Security men checked sewers along the route of the funeral procession, and police sharpshooters were posted on buildings along the way.

Armed agents of Scotland Yard's Special Branch guarded the six kings, three queens, nine princes and princesses, Luxembourg's Grand Duke Jean and government leaders from 14 nations who were present. It was the biggest royal gathering since the death in 1952 of King George VI, father of Queen Elizabeth II.

The U.S. delegation was headed by elder statesman W. Averell Harriman, a personal friend of Mountbatten for 50 years.

No invitation for the funeral was sent to the Japanese government, whose forces in Southeast Asia surrendered in 1945 to Mountbatten as supreme allied commander in that theater. He shunned the Japanese after the war, and Buckingham Palace indicated that he left them off the list he drew up when he planned his funeral several years ago.

The flag-draped coffin of the 79-year-old soldier-statesman and cousin of the queen was to be borne on a gun carriage drawn by 131 Royal Navy officers and enlisted men from St. James's Palace, where it lay in state, to the historic abbey near the Houses of Parliament.

Hundreds of armed detectives were posted along the route as people began gathering behind barricades before dawn. Normal traffic in the heart of the capital was stopped.

The security men were on the lookout for two numbered passes for the abbey area that were missing and possibly stolen. One, for the abbey, had been issued to a construction firm renovating the ancient building. The second, for parking on the Horse Guard's Parade 250 yards from the abbey, was taken from a car that was stolen and abandoned.

Ozone Alert In Effect, Jefferson

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A first-stage ozone alert remains in effect until further notice after its issuance by the Jefferson County Air Pollution Control District.

The air pollution index stood at 214 at 9 a.m. Tuesday and officials said that is in the very unhealthy range. The index as down to 110 by 5 p.m., a level in the unhealthy range.

It was the third such alert for the summer in which the public is asked to curtail unnecessary driving and industries are requested to reduce emissions.

Republic, blew up Mountbatten's fishing boat in Donegal Bay Aug. 27 and a few hours later killed 18 British soldiers with bombs just inside the border of Northern Ireland. One of Mountbatten's 14-year-old grandsons, his daughter's mother-in-law and a 15-year-old boat boy also were killed.

Irish Prime Minister Jack Lynch and British Prime Minister Margaret Thatcher were to meet after the funeral to discuss operations against the IRA, but Lynch has already announced that he would reject Mrs. Thatcher's requests for permission for British troops to cross the Irish border in pursuit of IRA men and for British security men to be present for the questioning of IRA suspects arrested in the republic.

The Irish police have arrested two IRA members and charged them with planting the bomb that killed Mountbatten, and at least four others are being gunted.

Mangione Drops Out Of Election

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Mary Mangione, a two-term member of the urban county council here has dropped her bid for re-election in November.

Mrs. Mangione said Tuesday she is withdrawing from the race and will run for another political office in 1981, but will not specify which office until Jan., 1981.

Her fifth district council seat will automatically go to Mrs. Mary McNeese.

Seeks $3,000 To Help Other Blind Collegians

Blind Student Cycles To Raise Money

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (AP) — A blind college student who with two other men rode a bicycle from Chattanooga to Louisville, Ky., says the trip taught him some hard-earned lessons.

Larry McJunkin, the lone blind member, said the first day showed them the journey would be physically demanding.

"We were dog tired," the 27-year-old McJunkin, from Murfreesboro, said Tuesday in a telephone interview. "We weren't in good shape, and after 50 miles on a bicycle, we were worn out."

On the advice of more seasoned cyclists, he said, the three used baby powder to avoid saddle sores during the 280-mile trip.

He said they were blessed with good weather most of the way but had to battle weariness and bicycle breakdowns.

The trio, students at Tennessee Temple University in Chattanooga, rode in an effort to raise money to help other blind students attend the private college.

McJunkin's fellow travelers were Daniel Harrison, 21, of Poplar Bluff, Mo., and Robert Owens, 21, of Tampa, Fla. Harrison and Owens alternated riding with McJunkin on the fivespeed bicycle built for two while the other followed in a car.

McJunkin said about 50 persons have contributed approximately $600 toward the goal of $3,000. The students had asked sponsors to contribute six cents per mile ridden — and plan to auction the bike to raise more. They call their program Bicycling for the Blind.

They left Chattanooga Aug. 20 and arrived in Louisville Aug. 24. They stayed with friends, but spent one night in a Hodgenville, Ky., motel room paid for by a passing highway employee who, declining to identify himself, gave the students $20 after a roadside conversation.

Their ride took them over hills and mountains, through traffic and into repair shops. McJunkin said the bike, bought for $235 just two weeks before the trip, was plagued by a derailleur chain that kept breaking and, at one point, broken rear wheel spokes.

The bikers planned to average 50 miles a day, but surprised themselves by making more than 70 one day, he said.

Their benefactors included a Hodgenville garageman who charged them nothing for towing in their car and fixing a flat tire. McJunkin said a blind Scottsville, Ky., restaurateur treated them to a free breakfast, the Kentucky School for the Blind in Louisville made dorm rooms available for two nights and a Louisville churchgoer replaced their car's failing alternator.

McJunkin said if he organizes another bike trip next year, he will try to get more persons to participate. The students proved something to themselves this time out, he said.

"I had this philosophy, and this trip helped me get it in my mind a little more," he said. "If we fail, if we don't reach Louisville, we at least failed trying. That kept us going at times when we could have quit."

Flood Cleanup Rolling

STOPOVER, Ky. (AP) — Cleanup and restoration efforts by state, federal and county employees are in high gear seven weeks after floods swept through the eastern-most communities of Pike County.

The flooding July 15 destroyed or badly damaged some 100 homes in the Phelps, Majestic and Freeburn areas as 4 inches of rain fell between 3 a.m. and 6 a.m.

The flooding also damaged nearly 50 businesses and nine churches, flooded Phelps High School and washed out roads and bridges.

"We are making progress and things are on the way back," Pike County Judge-Executive Wayne T. Rutherford said Tuesday. Rutherford has been supervising debris removal and planning for some $2 million in road and bridge repairs.

Rutherford noted that the Federal Emergency Management Agency, that recently supplanted the Federal Disaster Assistance Administration, has been in charge of the recovery effort.

While the judge-executive is generally pleased with the way things have been going he said emergency housing should have been provided more quickly to all in need.

A modified application process enabled flood victims to avoid some paperwork while seeking assistance at one of the three one-stop aid centers. Applications were reviewed by a panel made up of several federal agencies that previously operated independently of one another.

The state has assumed responsibility for finding temporary housing and Bill Montgomery, the program's administrative assistant, said he expects to have all flood victims relocated by the middle of this month.

About three-fourths of the temporary housing will consist of mobile homes, officials noted, and about half of them will be in two group sites.

Debris continues to be cleared from ditches and creeks, damaged buildings are being repaired or replaced and most roads have been reopened to travelers who don't mind a few bumps, officials noted.

Pass Interference Calls, Lack Of Breaks Doomed Murray, Says Gottfried

By TONY WILSON
Ledger & Times Sports Editor

It was late in the fourth quarter, and from Jeff Gardner's view, the situation looked good. "I saw (Ken) Gowdy go up, and I thought he had it." So, too, did Southeast Missouri receiver David Gross.

Gross, watching from the ground in his end zone as Gowdy deflected SEMO quarterback Joe Young's pass, stared upward in frustration. Then something fell into his arms.

"I swear, he laid there for at least a second before he even knew what he had," Gardner said. It was the ball, and the touchdown and subsequent conversion enabled the Indians to tie Murray State 21-21 last Saturday in the Racers' season opener.

SEMO's late flurry overshadowed a performance by the Murray defensive line that set a school record in limiting the Indians to a minus-40 yards rushing. That eclipsed the old mark of five net yards allowed Iowa Wesleyan in 1967.

But the 214 yards the Racer defense gave up in fourth-quarter passing, a figure that seems out of place when placed next to the impressive rushing defense, is a deceiving one, says Racer coach Mike Gottfried.

"I think we got a little gun-shy late in the game," he said. "The pass interference calls made our guys a little afraid, and the breaks just seemed to go the other way."

Gardner, a 6-2, 230-pound junior guard from Evansville, Ind., was named Murray's outstanding defensive player after he racked up five solo tackles and assisted on four others, including four tackles for losses.

"They started mixing things up a lot, making it a lot harder for us to put pressure on them," said Gardner when questioned about SEMO's surging pass offense. "We had to guard against the draw and some other things, not just rush the passer."

Gottfried felt fatigue also played a factor in his defensive line's performance. "We're going to give Paul Littles and Larry Maze (both guards) more playing time. There's more to a pass defense than just those three guys in the secondary," Gottfried said. "Things like cutting down on the passer's time and improving our underneath coverage are just as important."

Mike Watson, the other starting defensive guard, is a transfer from East Mississippi

Junior College. He has had little time to learn the Racer defense, but already he is impressed with his teammates and their attitudes.

"This group is together. Even when the breaks weren't going our way against SEMO, nobody got down on anyone else," he said following practice yesterday. "The defense was on the field for a long time in that game, but I don't think we were tired."

It's the play of newcomers like Watson (eight tackles) and safety Terry Love (five tackles and a blocked field goal) and returnees like Glen Jones (five tackles, a blocked kick and the forcing of a fumble), Richard Lanpher (eight tackles) and Kenny Woods (eight tackles) that prevents Gottfried from pushing the panic button.

"We've got some GOOD people on our defense," he said. "But almost everyone is young, so we're going to make mistakes early."

"It's just like (defense coordinator) Frank Beamer said: 'We're going to have a good defense, but we're going to get hurt by the big plays early because of our inexperience.'"

Murray was burdened with 134 yards in penalties, including 83 in pass interference calls. "That's got to be a record, too," Gottfried sighed.

With linebacker Tony Boone out due to a knee injury for at least this Saturday's game against Evansville, the defense will be without a single senior.

And the fullback corps may be minus sophomore George Turnley and Kenny Davis. Turnley, a 5-9, 198-pound sophomore, sustained a pulled thigh muscle, while Davis, a 6-1, 210-pound junior, is ill of the flu.

Gottfried says he wasn't unhappy with the performances of Brian Crall and Winston Ford, who completed two of six passes for eight yards after starter Ricky Ray missed most of the second half because of a leg cramp.

"I compare a reserve quarterback to a pinch-hitter in baseball," Gottfried said. "He has to know that he's got to come off the bench and do something immediately. They (Crall and Ford) just haven't had the time to adjust to that situation yet."

With returnees like Glen Jones (49), who blocked an Ed Hotz punt last Saturday, and newcomers like Mike Watson (88), Murray State coach Mike Gottfried is confident that his defensive unit will jell as the season progresses.

No Easy Match

DuPre, Connors' Opponent, Is In Open To Win It All

By BARRY WILNER
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK — Anyone who thinks defending champion Jimmy Connors has an easy match today in the U.S. Open quarterfinals because he's playing unseeded Pat DuPre hasn't seen DuPre play lately.

Last year at the Open, Connors eliminated DuPre in a tough third-round match. That loss was a confidence-booster for the 24-year-old from Anniston, Ala., who went on to the semifinals at Wimbledon. DuPre came into this year's U.S. Open with one purpose — winning it all.

"If you don't come here to win but just to play well, you might as well not come," said DuPre, who outlasted seventh-seeded Harold Solomon 3-6, 6-3, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4 Tuesday. It was DuPre's second straight upset. He beat No. 13 seed Gene Mayer on Sunday.

Today's other feature matches include top-seed Bjorn Borg of Sweden against No. 5 Roscoe Tanner in a rematch of their Wimbledon final last July; women's top-seed Chris Evert Lloyd, gunning for her fifth consecutive Open title, against No. 5 Evonne Goolagong Cawley and fourth-seed Virginia Wade of Britain against Billie Jean King, who is ranked ninth.

DuPre has no fears of Connors, who whipped Brian Gottfried 6-2, 1-6, 6-4, 7-5.

"We've played four or five times and every match was close," said DuPre, who has never beaten Connors. "I have nothing to lose against Connors. There's no question the pressure is on him."

Pressure is something Connors, the No. 2 seed, responds to marvelously. In the fourth set of his match Tuesday, Gottfried was serving for the set at 5-4. But Connors, slamming winners from his backhand and forehand, won the next three games with ease for the victory.

Tanner had no trouble with No. 14 seed Tim Gullikson, sweeping to a 6-3, 6-4, 7-5 triumph. John McEnroe, the third seed, easily disposed of unranked Tom Gorman 6-2, 6-4, 6-1. McEnroe, who last played against Ilie Nastase last Thursday in a raucous atmosphere, was unaffected by the layoff and the crowd, so rowdy in the Nastase match, rarely got closely involved in this one. Lloyd, the top seed among the women, dropped a set in the Open for the first time in four years before rallying past unseeded Sherry Acker 4-6, 6-0, 6-2.

Acker lost that formula, however, and Lloyd moved on to meet Cawley, the last woman to win a set from Lloyd in the Open, in 1975.

Third-seeded Tracy Austin was extended to the very limit to defeat No. 11 Kathy Jordan 4-6, 6-1, 7-6. Austin won the tiebreaker 7-5.

Unranked Sylvia Hanika of West Germany upset No. 6 Dianne Fromholtz of Australia 6-7, 6-4, 6-4 and No. 8 Kerry Reid of Australia squeaked by Anne Smith 4-6, 7-5, 7-6. Reid won the tiebreaker 7-4.

Reid faces Navratilova and Austin plays Hanika in the quarterfinals.

Donnelly To Make Raider Debut

MURFREESBORO, Tenn. — A full house of 15,000 fans is expected to be on hand when Boots Donnelly makes his debut as Middle Tennessee coach Saturday. The Blue Raiders host North Alabama.

"People say they are glad we don't have to open with Tennessee State anymore. I'm not. North Alabama is every bit as tough, and maybe tougher," says Donnelly.

Donnelly left Austin Peay, where he won the Ohio Valley Conference title in 1977, last season to return to Middle, his alma mater.

Is Earl Weaver The Best?

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

What magic does Earl Weaver weave that makes him the best manager in all baseball?

"He has good talent to work with but he does a hell of a job manipulating it," concedes Yogi Berra, senior Yankee coach who has managed teams in both the American and National leagues. "He seems always to make the right moves."

"Earl gets more out of his players than anybody I've ever known," adds Reggie Jackson. "He's a fun guy to be around. He's got a steel-trap mind but he manages to keep you loose."

"I would rate him one in the

Oriole Skipper Makes Magic

rated no better than fourth in the preseason prognostications and proceeds to run away with the race.

He has picked the pockets of the Red Sox and Yankees. Leaving the Labor Day barrier for the stretch run, the Orioles had the winningest record in either league — 90 victories — with an 8½-game lead over the Milwaukee Brewers, 11 over the Red Sox, 15 over the Yankees.

One of Weaver's main attributes, in addition to his faculty for inspiring top effort from his players, is patience.

Earlier, this year, there was pressure to take Steve Stone out of rotation. Weaver held firm. Stone came through. A similar situation arose a year ago with left-hander Mike Flanagan, who finished 19-15 in 1978 and has just won his 20th this year, first to reach that plateau.

The puckish, graying boss of the Orioles long has been one of the least appreciated and least decorated of baseball's field generals.

In 11 years as Baltimore manager, longest with the same club of any current skipper, he has won five Eastern Division titles, three American League pennants and one World Series.

During the height of his success, 1969-1974 when he had three straight seasons of 100 victories and over and led the division five out of six times, he was repeatedly passed over for Manager of the Year honors in the AL. The award finally came to him in 1977 when the Orioles tied for second behind the Yankees.

Through 1978, he ranked fourth on the all-time list of major league managers in win-loss percentage. As a major league manager he has never been lower than fourth — that only once, last season — and has not had a losing season since his first year as a manager in 1967 — 22 years straight now above .500 in minors and majors.

Six New Teams Make Prep Rankings

By CHARLES WOLFE
Associated Press Writer

LEXINGTON, Ky. — Six new teams cracked the rankings and Owensboro powered its way to the top of the heap in State 4A in this week's Associated Press Kentucky high school football poll.

Owensboro, 3-0 and unscathed upon, blitzed Owensboro Catholic 49-0 and dislodged Lexington Bates Creek from the State 4A lead with 15 first-place votes from a panel of sportswriters and broadcasters.

Newcomers to the poll were Bowling Green, Covington Catholic, Belfry, Harrison County, Ft. Campbell and Elkhorn City.

Louisville Trinity, 2-0, routed Ballard 27-0 and retained the No. 1 ranking with 19 votes in Jefferson County 4A. St. Xavier, 2-0, remained second after nipping Seneca 3-0. Iroquois, 2-0, received the remaining vote and climbed from fourth to third after handling Manual 21-7. DeSales, 2-0, slipped a notch to No. 4 after decisioning Fairdale 7-3. Butler, 2-0, remained fifth ranked after routing Pleasure Ridge Park 41-0.

Tates Creek, 2-0, received four votes and slipped to No. 2 in State 4A, despite a 21-0 shutout of Danville. Franklin County, 3-0 with one vote, remained third after a 14-0 beating of Madison Central.

Franklin-Simpson, 2-0, thumped Russellville 28-6 and remained top-ranked in Class 3A with 17 votes. Scott County, 2-0, got one vote and jumped two spots to No. 2 after humbling Clark County 26-0. Woodford County, 2-1, blasted Anderson County 33-0 and remained at No. 3. Covington Catholic, 3-0, ripped Fort Thomas Highlands 31-7 and ousted the Bluebirds from the rankings. They were replaced by Belfry and Harrison higher to third by whipping Whitesburg 26-0. Class A champion Ft. Campbell, 1-0, gained one vote and the No. 4 ranking in its new class by hammering Hancock County 54-0. Somerset, 1-1, fell from third to fifth with a 21-16 loss to Richmond Madison, top-ranked in Class A.

County, which tied for fifth. Belfry, 2-0, edged defending champion Russell 6-0, dropping the Red Devils out of the rankings. Harrison County shut out Ashland 26-0. Lincoln County and Independence Simon Kenton also received No. 1 votes.

Madison's victory netted 18 votes for the Royal Purples, 2-0. Bellevue, 2-0, got one vote and moved from fifth to second after a 49-6 victory over Erlanger Scott. Campbellsville, 3-0, got the remaining vote, but fell to third after edging Green County 14-7. No. 4 Paintsville also slipped a notch after a 34-7 victory over Fairview that evened the Tigers' record at 1-1. Elkhorn City, 3-0, rounded out the rankings by shredding Mullins 61-6.

More Than 100 Watch Parry Give Soccer Clinic

More than 100 boys watched a clinic by former British professional star Jim Parry Saturday morning during a sign-up program at the Murray-Calloway County Park.

Prior to and after the clinic, boys in grades two through seven registered for the Murray Soccer Association season. The season will include a league for boys in grades two through four, and another for boys in grades five through seven.

Teams for the leagues will be drawn Thursday, according to soccer coordinator Bill Whitaker. Boys who wish to play soccer, but who have failed to sign up should call Whitaker at 753-0783.

Not A Chance

College Playoff System Kicked Aside

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

In case you missed it, that proposed playoff to decide college football's national championship on the field instead of in the voting booth seems to have fallen by the wayside.

At a meeting last month, the NCAA Council, powerful policymaking arm of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, accepted the recommendation of the Division I Steering Committee and declined to endorse a Division I-A championship playoff, which had been proposed by the NCAA Extra Events Committee.

And if the Council isn't for it, the chances of its coming up for a vote at next January's NCAA convention are somewhere between slim and none.

The Heisman Memorial Trophy Committee of New York's Downtown Athletic Club has made several changes in the voting and announcement of the 1979 Heisman Trophy.

The date of the annual Heisman dinner was pushed back one week to Dec. 12. As a result, the closing date for the receipt of ballots has also been put back to 5 p.m., EST, Nov. 30. The announcement of the Heisman winner will be made at noon, EST, on Dec. 3.

Last year, many ballots had to be voided because they were (1) received after the closing date, (2) the ballot was signed by someone other than the registered elector or (3) the elector failed to list three names, as required.

The Heisman Committee also decided to discontinue the D.A.C. Awards after two years. Those awards went to six outstanding offensive and defensive players.

The Alabama-Georgia Tech game will be televised nationally on Saturday by ABC-TV but the folks in Syracuse, N.Y., will also be able to see the Syracuse Orangemen open at Ohio State. Because its new domed stadium is under construction, forcing it to play all 11 games on the road, Syracuse received special permission from the NCAA to pipe Saturday's game back to the home folks.

However, because two other schools, Ithaca and Rochester, will be playing home games within 125 miles of Syracuse, the university had to agree to offset any losses those two schools might suffer — i.e., buy up any unsold tickets.

When the NCAA passed a new rule last winter allowing football teams to bring incoming freshmen into fall camp four days ahead of everyone else, Rutgers Coach Frank Burns "didn't think too much of it."

Burns had changed his mind, though.

"I found it to be very beneficial," he says. "Our freshmen are a lot further ahead than they would have been under the old rule and they also got to know each other a lot quicker than they normally do. Whoever thought that rule up used a lot of common sense."

Sizzling Cardinals Begin Crucial Series With East-Leading Pirates

By the Associated Press
The Pirates, who were idle Tuesday, have won 24 of their last 33 games.

"We're two hot teams," said Cardinals Manager Ken Boyer. "When two hot teams meet head-to-head, something's got to happen. Right now, with our winning streak, I'd have to say I couldn't feel better going into the series."

The Expos, meanwhile, defeated the New York Mets 5-1 to pull within two games of Pittsburgh and take a club record-tying eight-game winning streak to Chicago for a pair of games with the fourth-place Cubs, who have dropped five in a row and are 10 games out.

Pete Vuckovich fired an eight-hitter for a career-high 13th victory and the Cardinals scored four unearned runs to defeat the Cubs. Jerry Mumphrey singled home a run in the first inning and the Cardinals broke a 1-1 tie with two runs in the sixth, the runs crossing on George Hendrick's bases-loaded grounder and a wild pitch. Two runs scored in the seventh on an error by Chicago catcher Barry Foote and Keith Hernandez delivered an RBI single in the ninth.

Braves 7, Reds 6 — Bob Horner keyed a three-run seventh inning with a two-run double as the Braves broke a five-game losing streak. Atlanta trailed by a run when Eddie Miller and Gary Matthews opened the seventh with singles against Doug Bair and Horner doubled them home. Horner took third on the throw to the plate and scored the eventual winning run on a sacrifice fly by Dale Murphy. Mike Lum homered for Atlanta, Joe Morgan for Cincinnati, which led 4-2 after 4½ innings.

Astros 9, Dodgers 4 — Luis Pujols, just recalled from the minors last week, led a 16-hit attack with a double, triple and two RBIs as Houston moved back into first place in the NL West. The Astros, who hadn't scored nine runs since May 26, erupted for four runs on five consecutive hits — four singles and Pujols' triple — in the third inning.

Giants 3, Padres 1 — Rob Andrews' tie-breaking two-run single in the seventh inning enabled San Francisco to snap a five-game losing streak. John Curtis allowed four hits, struck out eight and retired 16 batters in a row at one stretch before needing relief following a leadoff single in the bottom of the ninth.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Dave Kingman and Mike Vail homered for the Cubs. Kingman's was his 43rd, breaking a tie with Philadelphia's Mike Schmidt for the major league lead.

Expos 5, Mets 1 — Montreal broke a scoreless game with three runs in the fifth inning on Larry Parrish's double, Chris Speier's single and Dave Cash's sacrifice fly. Rusty Staub added a two-run pinch single in the seventh while Rudy May, Dale Murray and Bill Atkinson held the Mets to six hits.

White Sox 10, Angels 7 — Greg Pryor's run-scoring single in the eighth inning snapped a 7-7 tie and Chet Lemon added a two-run homer in the ninth to give Chicago its victory over California.

Frank Tanana, making his first appearance since tendonitis in his left shoulder forced him out of a June 10th start against Detroit, pitched the first four innings for California. He gave up six hits, one walk and two runs while striking out two.

Buddy Bell drove in three runs with two singles as Texas downed Seattle. Bell ripped a two-run single in the first inning and added a run-scoring hit in the seventh to back Ranger right-hander Steve Comar, 14-10.

Chattanooga Coach Morrison Won't Discuss WKU Game Plan

By the Associated Press
Veteran Jerry Koosman didn't feel too good warming up prior to the game. The Kansas City Royals didn't feel good at all afterwards.

"It's funny, when I warmed up I was wild and my rhythm was really off," Koosman said Tuesday night. "I told (outfielder) Glenn Adams when I got to the dugout that this was the worst I've felt in a long time."

"But I just started concentrating, and after the last batter in the third inning, I found my fast ball and things fell into place after that."

AMERICAN LEAGUE

Koosman gave up only two hits as he hurled the Minnesota Twins to a 5-1 victory over the Royals and raised his record to 18-11.

Yankees 3, Red Sox 2 — Willie Randolph raced home from second on an error by Boston second baseman Ted Sizemore to give New York its victory over the Red Sox.

With Randolph on second and Oscar Gamble on first, Reggie Jackson sliced a grounder to shortstop Rick Burleson. Burleson threw to Sizemore at second, forcing Gamble but Sizemore's relay to first was in the dirt and Randolph streaked home when first baseman Bob Watson couldn't come up with the ball.

Chris Chambliss slammed a two-run homer for the Yankees and Butch Hobson had a solo shot for Boston.

Indians 5, Tigers 3 — Bobby Bonds chased home four runs with a home run and a single and Sid Monge hurled 21-3 innings of scoreless relief to lead Cleveland to its victory and hand Detroit its fifth straight loss.

Morrison is hoping to direct his club this year to an unshared Southern Conference football championship, for a change. The Moccasins, conference members for two seasons, have tied for the championship both seasons with 4-1 marks, deadlocking Furman the last time around.

Western Kentucky, no stranger to conference honors, is the defending Ohio Valley Conference champ after going 6-0 last season. John Hall, a junior, appears likely to be the Hilltoppers' starting quarterback.

Western may well have revenge on its mind in the opener. Tennessee-Chattanooga won last year 42-15 at Bowling Green, Ky., and lead the overall series 3-1. Western won in 1976, beating the Moccasins in Chattanooga 10-7.

Morrison was close-mouthed Tuesday about his game plan.

"When are you writing this and when's it for?" he asked a reporter. When told the story was for immediate release, he declined comment.

The coach has said his Moccasins will be relying on defense and kicking to carry them in the season's early going. He said Tuesday he wants to see Berkery pass frequently in the opener.

Junior flanker Joe Burke, who led the nation last season in average yards gained per catch with 28.1, paces a Tennessee-Chattanooga offense which also boasts running backs Gwain Durden and Mike Smith. Durden led conference rushers in 1978 with 933 yards on 146 carries.

Western Kentucky's front-line running backs in the opener could include sophomores Elmer Caldwell and Troy Snardon.

Morrison, 42, a 14-year professional football veteran with the New York Giants who previously played at the University of Cincinnati, has been at UT-Chattanooga since 1973 and has seen his share of season openers — but still approaches them the same way.

Softball Entries Still Available

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky. — Entries are still being accepted for the Sept. 7-9 "Western Kentucky Classic" women's softball tourney, but director Pam DeBow urges interested teams to contact her as soon as possible.

Teams must pay $60 and provide two A.S.A. approved softballs to enter. DeBow said, who may be contacted at 502-886-8116 or 886-7492.

Twilight Golf Now On Thursdays

Twilight golf at the Murray Country Club will continue through September, but play will be held on Thursdays at 5:30 p.m., rather than on Friday, chairman Faira Alexander said.

The program has been played weekly this summer as a four-player scramble.

Deaths and Funerals

Max W. Williams Dies At Age 45; Native Of Murray

Word has been received of the death of Max W. Williams, 45, native of Murray, who died Aug. 31 at his home at 617 Pebble Beach Drive, Bath, Ohio.

Mr. Williams had been a resident of Bath and the Akron, Ohio, area for 40 years. He was the president and owner of the Bissell Company of Cleveland, Ohio. He was a graduate of Central High School and Akron University.

The deceased was a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity, a past president of the Cleveland Mortgage Bankers Association, and a member of the Akron Baptist Temple.

He is survived by his wife, Edna, and 11-year-old daughter, Mandy, at home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar A. Williams, 1775 Glenmount Avenue, Akron, Ohio, 44301; one brother, Gene Williams, and one sister, Mrs. Myrlene Williams, both of Manchester, Ohio.

Private funeral services were held Tuesday, Sept. 4, at the chapel of the Hummel Funeral Home, Copley, Ohio, with the Rev. Charles Billington officiating. Interment was in the Greenlawn Cemetery there.

Memorials may be made to Akron University or the American Cancer Society.

Rites On Tuesday For Mrs. Nimmo

The funeral for Mrs. Irene Rudolph Nimmo was held Tuesday at 2 p.m. at the chapel of the Filbeck and Cann Funeral Home with the Rev. John Archer and the Rev. Bob Dotson officiating.

Pallbearers were J. B. Johnston, Ken Johnston, Paul Noles, Richard Rudolph, Curt Holmes, and Eugene Darnell. Burial was in the Union Ridge Cemetery.

Mrs. Nimmo, 73, Benton, died Sunday at 4 a.m. at the Marshall County Hospital, Benton.

She is survived by one sister, Miss Lucy Rudolph, Benton, and four nephews, Bill and Charles Edwards and Larry and Jerry Henson.

Connie Magness Dies This Morning At Local Hospital

Connie Magness of 1611 West Main Street, Murray, died this morning at 9:10 a.m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital. His wife, Maydene, preceded him in death.

Mr. Magness, 83, was a retired painter. Born Feb. 26, 1896, in Graves County, he was the son of the late Charles Edward Magness and Martha Bradley Magness.

Among his survivors is one nephew, Charles Magness, Mayfield.

The funeral will be held Thursday at 10:30 a.m. at the chapel of the J. H. Churchill Funeral Home with the Rev. Dr. David C. Roos officiating. Burial will follow in the Oak Grove Baptist Church Cemetery in Graves County.

Journalism Workshop Is Set In Paris

Area high school journalism and broadcasting students will participate in the annual one-day journalism workshop in Henry County High School in Paris, Tenn., on Saturday, Sept. 29.

The workshop is scheduled from 8:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. and is sponsored by Henry County High School, the Department of Journalism and Radio-Television at Murray State University, and The Paris Post-Intelligencer.

Dr. Robert H. McGaughey, chairman of the Department of Journalism and Radio-Television at Murray State and a co-director of the workshop, said this year's workshop will revolve around more work sessions and critical analysis than in the past.

The workshop will include discussion groups and work sessions for high school editors, news writers, feature writers, sports writers, photographers, yearbook staffs, advertising managers and salesmen, and student broadcasters, along with advisers.

Ann Landini of Henry County High School, workshop co-director, said the fee for the workshop is $3 for each student, with no charge to advisers. Advisers will also be the guests of the Post-Intelligencer for lunch.

Students and teachers interested in the workshop may call Ms. Landini at (901) 642-5232 in Paris or Dr. McGaughey at (502) 762-2387 in Murray for additional information or to register.

Auto Workers On Layoff This Week

DETROIT (AP) — Some 81,500 auto workers were on indefinite layoffs this week, automakers report, up from about 70,000 two weeks ago.

The totals, compiled Tuesday, broke down as 34,000 at General Motors Corp., 18,000 at Ford Motor Co., 28,300 at Chrysler Corp. and 1,200 at American Motors Corp.

The growth in the total reflected reduced operations in parts and component plants because of previously announced cutbacks in assembly plants, company spokesmen said.

At the height of the 1974-75 recession, some 212,000 were furloughed.

STEVE DAVIS, former University of Oklahoma quarterback, will be the featured speaker at the Community-Wide Banquet, sponsored by the Baptist Student Union, at the fellowship hall of the First Baptist Church on Saturday, Sept. 8, at 7 p.m. Reservations at $2 per person should be made at the BSU Center or the church office, 753-1854, by Friday. Davis will be the speaker at the 10:45 a.m. services on Sunday, Sept. 9, at the First Baptist Church.

Nunn Invites Brown To Go With Him If He Feels He's Attacked

By CHARLES WOLFE
 Associated Press Writer
 LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) —

Republican gubernatorial nominee Louie Nunn has invited his Democratic opponent, John Y. Brown Jr., to accompany him on the campaign trail if Brown feels he is being unfairly attacked.

"If he'd like to come and go with me, he can correct any misstatement on the spot... if he feels I'm being offensive," Nunn said Tuesday in a news conference.

Brown has denounced Nunn for allegedly making a campaign issue of Brown's personal life, particularly charges that he is a high stakes gambler.

Nunn said he did not endorse such attacks on Brown, but acknowledged his campaign staff distributed copies of a Las Vegas newspaper column "to people who would not have had the chance to see it." The column suggested Brown would approve legalized casino gambling in the state.

"I've never used the word 'casino gambling'... (in) reference to my opponent," Nunn said. "The first time I heard Mr. Brown called a high stakes gambler was by his good friend, (Gov.) Julian Carroll."

Nunn called for minimum sentences for all felony offenders, extension of the Career Criminal prosecution program and a longer statute of limitations for crimes by elected officials and state employees.

Brown said he would support any bill to lengthen the statute of limitations on crimes by state officials and employees because it often "takes several years for evidence to be uncovered involving such crimes."

The state's prisons should be upgraded, he said, "but I'm not interested in making the jails and prisons so desirable that people want to go back."

Nunn said the 1978 crime rate jumped 1 1/2 percent from the previous year, although there were declines in the numbers of murders and aggravated assaults.

Asked if the state's unified court system, now in its 21st month, had an effect on the crime rate, Nunn said, "I wouldn't want to relate (the crime rate) to the court system."

"Just like anything else that's new, it should be given a chance to grow up," Nunn said. He added that he did not favor putting the judicial amendment to a second vote at this time, but said judicial salaries had to be increased "to attract quality people" too the bench.

MSU Offering PA Courses At Ft. Campbell

Beginning Oct. 1, three courses of its master's degree program in public administration will be offered at Fort Campbell, Ky., by Murray State University.

Evening classes, and to be held on Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays of each week throughout the fall semester the program, includes seminars on: Urban development and administration; public administration; and American national government.

Provided primarily as a regional service for military personnel, their dependents and civilian employees of the government on the base, the program will be directed by Dr. Winfield H. Rose, chairman of the Department of Political Science, Public Administration and Criminal Justice on the Murray campus.

Co-ordinating the classes and directing two of the seminars will be Dr. Donald F. Hardy II, who has just joined the Murray faculty from East Texas State University.

A native of Columbus, Ohio, he holds two degrees from Miami University, Oxford, Ohio, and earlier this year was awarded his doctorate by George Washington University, Washington, D.C.

Dr. Joe Rose, an associate professor in the department and a member of the Murray faculty since 1966, will direct the American national government seminar.

Fire-Rescue Squad Responds To Truck Fire On U.S. 641

The Calloway County Fire-Rescue Squad answered a call to put out a truck fire on U.S. 641 North, one mile south of Alto, according to a squad spokesman.

The spokesman said cause of the fire is unknown and no damage was done to the truck, driven by Gary Jones.

Martin's Chapel To Hear Rev. Tate At Revival Services

The Martin's Chapel United Methodist Church, located off South 16th Street, will hear the Rev. John Tate speak at the annual revival services starting Sunday, Sept. 16, and continuing through Saturday, Sept. 22. Services will be at 7:30 p.m. nightly.

Rev. Tate is a retired minister and is serving as a full time evangelist for the state of Kentucky. He is presently residing in the Kirksey area.

Music director for the week will be Ralph Robertson with Ricky Cunningham as the pianist. Special music will be held each evening, according to a church spokesman who invites the public to attend all services at the church.

The regular worship service will be held Sunday, Sept. 9, at 11 a.m. with Ray Reeves as the speaker in the absence of the pastor, the Rev. Dan Tucker. Special music will be by the church choir.

Church school will be at 10 a.m. with Pat Robertson as superintendent.

The News In Brief

CHICAGO (AP) — Thomas Wilson says he will never forget the night he spent in jail on speeding and drunken driving charges.

In a $1.5 million lawsuit filed Tuesday in Cook County Circuit Court, the 29-year-old Wilson claims fellow inmates at the Cook County Jail used cigarettes to burn large pieces of flesh out of his chest, stomach and back.

LONDON (AP) — Scotland Yard mounted extraordinary security precautions against Irish terrorist attacks today as 400 delegations and the greatest assemblage of royalty in 27 years gathered for the funeral of Earl Mountbatten.

Members of the Irish Republican Army's Provisional wing, fighting a guerrilla war to unite Northern Ireland with the Irish Republic, blew up Mountbatten's fishing boat in Donegal Bay Aug. 27.

HAIFA, Israel (AP) — President Anwar Sadat and Prime Minister Menachem Begin were expected to announce Israel's agreement today to return Mount Sinai and the Santa Katarina Monastery to Egypt in November, two months ahead of schedule.

HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — U.S. charges that the Kremlin controls Fidel Castro's foreign policy and that he is trying to extend this control to the Non-Aligned Movement are generating heated debate at the movement's sixth summit meeting.

Mozambique's Marxist president, Samora Michel, ridiculed the notion that the Cuban president is not his own man in a speech Tuesday.

Report Says Education Still A Male Stronghold

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The Washington, D.C.-based National Organization of Women Legal Defense and Education Fund has released a report that says male strongholds persist in the nation's public schools and Kentucky is no exception.

The report on the fund's Project on Equal Education Rights, which examined progress in three areas that project director Holly Knox termed "traditional bellwethers of educational sex bias," was released Tuesday.

The report said that while women account for nearly seven out of ten classroom teachers nationally, they hold only one out of 10 top school administrative jobs — superintendent, assistant superintendent, principal and assistant principal.

It said that nationally, women make up only 11 percent of students in traditionally male vocational programs — agriculture, technology, trades and industry.

And it said only one-third of high school interscholastic athletes are women.

The report also ranked the 50 states and the District of Columbia in each of the three areas.

Kentucky ranked 29th in percentage of superintendents, assistant superintendents, principals and assistant principals who are female, with 8.49 percent.

The District of Columbia ranked first in that category with 51.30 percent, Maryland was second with 30 percent, and the top five states had more than 20 percent. Utah ranked last with 3.04 percent.

In percentage of females in traditionally male vocational courses, Kentucky ranked 48th with 5.30 percent, the report said.

Michigan was ranked first with 20.10 percent, five other states topped 15 percent, and Delaware ranked last with 1.76 percent.

Kentucky was ranked 21st in percentage of high school interscholastic athletes who are female, with 33.93 percent.

Marine Sgt. Patrick L. Jacks, son of Dr. and Mrs. Lloyd Jacks, Benton Road, Murray, has been named to be one of the escorts at the Miss America Pageant at Atlantic City, N. J., on Saturday, Sept. 8.

The pageant will be televised on the NBC television network starting at 9 p.m. Saturday.

Sgt. Jacks is a graduate of Murray High School and attended Murray State University. He has been in the U. S. Marine Corps for six years having served tours of duty in Afghanistan, Stockholm, Sweden, and Camp Pendleton, San Diego, Calif., before his present assignment as an instructor at the Marine Officers Candidate School at Quantico, Va.

Golden Tones Will Sing, Locust Grove

The Golden Tones of Walcott, Ark., will appear in concert at the Locust Grove Church of the Nazarene on Saturday, Sept. 8, at 7:30 p.m., according to the church pastor, the Rev. Robert Wasson.

The pastor invites the public to attend this special musical program at the church located north of Kirksey just off Highway 299.

Services are held at the church each Wednesday at 7 p.m. and on Sunday at 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. Sunday School is at 10 a.m.

Brown Claims Opponents Distorting Facts About Him

By SY RAMSEY
Associated Press Writer
FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — John Y. Brown Jr. claims his business record since he became a multimillionaire is far better than Republican "distortions" would have the electorate believe.

The Democratic nominee for governor said in an interview that aside from misleading allegations about his so-called lifestyle, his political enemies are disseminating falsehoods about his expertise in various enterprises.

"They make heavy emphasis in their accusations about Brown hasn't been as successful after he got out of Kentucky Fried Chicken," Brown said. "Then they give several examples of businesses that haven't worked out."

But in truth, the candidate said, "all they're referring to are some development concept ideas that every company tries," and that are not always successful.

"It's a form of research and development," he said. "And money has never been my idol. I haven't had the same motivation since KFC."

"Besides, no one required the Wright brothers to build another airplane."

Brown said that when one delves into his business career, "I think you'll find that every major involvement of mine has been responsible and productive."

He said there have been several big undertakings since he sold KFC, other than testing of new concepts.

"One was Lum's which was a bankrupt company that had closed over 200 stores before I purchased it," he said.

"I just liked the challenge of trying to turn it around, and during this period it was turned around...and the restaurant industry I think will report it was one of the most dramatic turnarounds in the field because everybody expected it to go under."

What this proves, the Democratic nominee said, is that he has the ability to manage, the discipline and the correct judgment in making decisions — "they do show qualifications to serve as governor."

Brown cited the national Democratic telethon as another business endeavor that was successful far beyond expectations, having produced $19 million for the party from 1972 to 1975.

"It was just a matter of believing in the idea, and you all talk about risks, every venture I've been into has high risk to it," he said. "This one had responsible judgment and was worth doing."

Brown said that, "I don't think you'll find me out too far on a limb, other than basketball, because I was really committed to trying to justify having the only major team here in Kentucky."

Brown recalled spending six years in that venture, but said, "at the same time I showed enough discipline not to get carried away."

He was referring to varied negotiations involving his ownership of the Kentucky Colonels in the old American Basketball Association.

Brown also mentioned his unsuccessful attempt to bring the Buffalo Braves professional basketball team to this state.

He also owned part of the Boston Celtics, but gave that up.

"I showed enough responsibility to get in and out of the insane world of pro basketball, unlike the large majority of owners, without losing anything," he said. "I came out on a positive basis."

Brown said his only other major undertaking was running for governor.

"Not too many people gave us a chance on that," he said, referring to his late entry two months before the May 29 Democratic primary and subsequent 28,000-vote victory over the runnerup in a field of five major contenders.

"There again, I think it was responsible management of putting a campaign together in two months and taking a message to the people and still being able to organize respectably with volunteer workers," he said.

Shortly before Brown announced, he had locked himself in a Lexington motel room with his new wife Phyllis and his trusted aide, Larry Townsend, and all made scores of telephone calls to Kentucky politicians to solicit advice — which invariably was: It's too late to run successfully. Why then did Brown take the plunge?

"I've learned through experience that you listen to advice, but you make your own decisions," he said. "If I (heeded) all the advice, then I'd have been like other businessmen, and you have to be different if you are going to do something."

His best counsel in the campaign, Brown said, was Phyllis, who had been a national television personality and Miss America.

"She's been more exposed to the public arena, people, how they feel and what they think, than all the advisers that I had," he said. "And these are some of the top people."

Brown continued: "You have to learn through experience. All we are in this world is the product of our own experience. That's why I have such great respect for our senior citizens."

"...But at the same time I've learned to make individual decisions because everybody advised me against buying Lum's, everybody advised against the telethons — "It wouldn't work, no one's interested, Nixon's got $50 million, the Democratic Party doesn't have a chance."

Lum's, the telethons, basketball and now the campaign for governor. Brown said he has done well in all categories despite the allegations of "Operation Uncover," the GOP attempt to deflate his record and accuse him of a lifestyle alien to Kentucky.

"I've had to sit here and listen for this long period of time about being a jet-setter and just happening to drop by Kentucky to run for governor," Brown said.

"I feel like my life has been as deep-rooted in Kentucky as anyone...I was born, raised, went to all my schooling, operated my business here in Kentucky," he said.

"...And my motivation comes from as a child, to want to be active in the political spectrum, because that's the big arena. That's where you protect people's lives."

Making money is not the test of being qualified for that task, he said.

"The key to being a good governor is to surround yourself with good people."

Leaders In Many Fields Honored In New Hall Of Fame For Women

By MIKE STANTON
Associated Press Writer
SENECA FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — The place where the national women's-rights movement began in 1848 is a laundromat today in this picturesque central New York village.

But less than two blocks away, a more lasting memory to the birth of the women's rights struggle survives in the recently opened national Women's Hall of Fame.

The idea for a hall was conceived 11 years ago when a group of Seneca Falls women sat down to tea and decided women who had made significant contributions to American history should be honored. "There was no place to come to learn about the women who have contributed to this country," said Carole Stallone, executive secretary of the hall. "There's a football hall of fame and a hockey hall, but there aren't any women honored in these various fields."

The women organized and chartered a hall of fame in 1969 and then began a 10-year campaign to find the permanent headquarters necessary to "make it viable."

A $152,000 fund drive last fall finally made that dream possible, and this past summer the hall moved from its temporary headquarters to a permanent home in the old Seneca Falls Savings Bank.

A list of the hall's 23 members reads like a Who's Who directory of women who have excelled in fields ranging from the arts to aviation.

There is actress Helen Hayes, poet Emily Dickinson, novelist Pearl S. Buck, conservationist Rachel Louise Carson, anthropologist Margaret Mead and aviation pioneer Amelia Earhart.

Other well-known women enshrined in the hall include Helen Keller, Eleanor Roosevelt and Margaret Chase Smith, the former U.S. senator from Maine.

Coincidentally, five women honored in the hall all lived in the Finger Lakes region of central New York during the last half of the 19th century. These women are honored in a special section of the hall, which contains exhibits dedicated to each of the inducted women.

Perhaps the best known of these New York women is Elizabeth Cady Stanton, who lived in Seneca Falls and with Quaker leader Lucretia Mott planned a convention in July of 1848 to discuss women's rights.

A tiny ad in a local newspaper attracted more than 300 men and women to Seneca Falls July 19 of that year. They gathered in a Wesleyan chapel for a two-day session that produced the first declaration of women's rights.

Only one brick wall of that chapel remains today, and it serves as one of the walls for the Seneca Falls Laundromat. But the participants of the convention 131 years ago made clear their belief that women were capable of doing more than just dirty laundry.

Modeled after the Declaration of Independence, the Declaration of Sentiments laid the foundation for the women's-rights struggle.

The document, which states in its preface that "all men and women are created equal, demanded that women be given more equitable tax and divorce laws, job equality and the right to attend college and to vote in elections.

The declaration also vowed that women "shall use every instrumentality within our power" to fight for those rights, despite "no small amount of misconception, misrepresentation and ridicule."

Despite those stern vows, however, Anne Bantuanis, one of the founders of the hall, stressed "We are not a feminist organization."

"We don't support pro-abortion or anti-abortion or pro-ERA movements," Mrs. Bantuanis said. "This is just a hall, a place of honor. As individuals we have our own beliefs, but we don't want to become bogged down with an organizational viewpoint." Rebecca Holden, president of the hall, says nominations to the hall are screened by a 10-member research committee, which then passes its recommendations to a national honors committee for a final decision.

Hurricane Hunter's Final Wish Granted, Ashes Spread On David

MIAMI (AP) — For 20 years, William Joseph Freedman flew into eyes of hurricanes. He learned to love the serene centers of nature's greatest storms.

"When I die," he would say, "make sure you scatter my ashes in a hurricane."

His wish was granted in Hurricane David.

As the fierce storm roared toward Florida after killing at least 800 people on a string of islands across the Caribbean, Freedman's ashes fell lightly to the sea.

Freedman, a government "hurricane hunter," flew across the eyes of 400 hurricanes as a communications specialist for the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration's Research Facilities Center at Miami. His colleagues said no one else had penetrated so many hurricanes.

"Hurricanes were Bill's whole life," said Joe Chada, a former research technician for NOAA.

Freeman died June 9, 1978, at the age of 59.

His longtime boss and friend, James McFadden, remembered Freedman's wish. McFadden, flight operations chief for the NOAA facility, kept Freedman's ashes in a box in his office. He waited — not for any hurricane, but for one big enough and strong enough for his friend.

Amelia, Cora, Ella, Greta and Kendra all passed in 1978 without being worthy. This year, Anna, Bob and Claudette failed to meet the test.

But David was something else.

Born in the far eastern Atlantic, David seemed to be the kind of storm that comes perhaps once in a century, its winds reaching speeds of 150 mph while still far out over warm, open seas.

"David was it," McFadden said.

So it was. A silver-and-white airplane flew into David's eye last Thursday as the storm marched across the Caribbean 90 miles southeast of Puerto Rico.

A small door opened and Freedman's ashes swirled into the atmosphere.

His colleagues later phoned Freedman's widow, Dorothy, with the news of his final flight into a hurricane's eye.

"I felt a great sense of relief," she said. "I knew then that nothing would hurt me, that Bill's ashes would protect me from the hurricane."

Nine Western Kentucky Counties Need Doctors

MADISONVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Nine western Kentucky counties are suffering from a shortage of doctors, and at least 100 more physicians are needed to adequately serve the population, a Madisonville health agency official says.

Janice Hurst, executive director of the state-funded Pennyriple Area Health Education System, says the Pennyriple region currently has 164 practicing physicians.

Only 88 of those are family doctors, she says.

Ideally, she says, the area should have one family doctor for each 1,000 residents. The current ratio is one family doctor for each 2,200 residents.

The health agency, which attempts to recruit medical personnel, serves Livingston, Crittenden, Caldwell, Lyon, Trigg, Christian, Todd, Muhlenberg and Hopkins counties.

Mrs. Hurst says prospective doctors consider an area's school systems, entertainment and workload in deciding where to set up practice. She says most new physicians are opting to settle in larger cities.

Mrs. Hurst says one solution to the doctor shortage in rural Kentucky could be recruiting physician's assistants or clinical associates who are trained in basic laboratory work.

Some birds are more finely feathered than others, says National Geographic. According to one scientist's count, a Cuban hummingbird had 940 feathers; a robin, 2,587; a mourning dove, 2,635; a glaucous-winged gull, 6,540; a Plymouth Rock chicken, 8,325; a mallard, 11,903, and a swan, 25,216.

Fishing Light Over Labor Day Weekend

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Fishing activity was generally light over the Labor Day weekend, the state Department for Fish and Wildlife

Resources reports. The lake-by-lake rundown: Kentucky: Crappie fair over channel drop offs; sauger fair trolling deep runners over submerged ridge tops; in tailwaters, catfish and sauger fair to good; clear, stable at two feet below pool and 79 degrees.

Green: Crappie slow over submerged cover; bluegill slow along shallow banks; clear to murky, stable at pool and 71 degrees.

clear, stable at 15 feet below pool and 80 degrees. Cave Run: Musky fair on deep runners over channel and in timbered coves; black bass slow on artificial nightcrawlers over submerged cover; clear, stable at pool and 81 degrees.

'Saint Jack' Wins Top Venice Festival Award

VENICE, Italy (AP) — "Saint Jack," an American film directed by Peter Bogdanovich, won the Italian critics' prize Tuesday as best movie at the Venice Film Festival.

In the film, Ben Gazzara plays an American running a brothel in Singapore.

Directors of the festival, which had faded in recent years, are reviving the event but did not grant the once-coveted Golden Lion Awards this year. They plan to award them in 1980.

The Italian critics' award, the Pasinetti Prize for best actor, went to the Soviet Eugenis Leonov for his role of a professor juggling his wife, mistress and numerous occupations in "Autumn Marathon."

Best actress award went to Japan's Nobuko Otowa, who starred in a violent Japanese film on parent-child relationships, "Kosatsu" (The Strangling).

Another critics prize granted by the international film reviewers' federation (FIPR-ESCI) was given to both Algeria's Assia Djebar for "La Nouba" and France's "Passmontagne" (Ski Mask) by J. F. Stevenin, the story of a Parisian who retires to the mountains and runs a gas station.

Barkley: Crappie slow to fair over drop offs; black bass slow on crank baits in coves; in tailwaters, catfish fair, white bass slow; clear to murky, stable at two feet below pool and 83 degrees.

Nolin: Crappie fair over submerged cover; black bass slow on medium runners off points; clear, stable at pool and 80 degrees.

Barren: White bass fair to good trolling medium runners and in the jumps; black bass slow on spinner baits and artificial nightcrawlers off points and steep banks; clear to murky, falling, 1 1/2 feet below pool and 81 degrees.

Rough River: Crappie slow over submerged cover; bluegill slow off shallow banks; clear to murky, falling, 1 1/2 feet below pool and 81 degrees.

Dale Hollow: White bass fair in the jumps; black bass fair night fishing artificial nightcrawlers off points and around weed beds; clear, falling, one foot below pool and 79 degrees.

Cumberland: Crappie fair to good drift fishing in coves and over submerged cover; black bass good still fishing crawfish off points and vertical banks; in tailwaters, trout good with some limits; clear, falling, 11 feet below pool and 83 degrees.

Laurel: Trout fair night fishing off deep banks; bluegill slow along shallow banks; clear, stable at 1 1/2 feet below power pool and 80 degrees.

Herrington: Crappie and white bass fair night fishing off steep banks; black bass slow at night on artificial nightcrawlers off points;

Buckhorn: Black bass slow at night on artificial nightcrawlers off shallow points; bluegill slow along shallow banks; clear to murky, falling, one-half foot below pool and 80 degrees.

Dewey: Crappie slow around stick ups; clear to murky to muddy, stable at pool and 82 degrees.

Fishtrap: Crappie slow over submerged cover and around stick ups; bluegill slow in inlets and bays and off shallow banks; clear to murky to muddy, stable at pool and 81 degrees.

My God.

And it's important that we all realize that He is our personal God. We have just gone through the trauma of a cultist faith where a man set himself up as a substitute for God. There can be no substitute.

At the Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) we believe in the ability of every person to interpret the Bible in his own way and to relate to the teachings of Jesus in a way that is meaningful to him.

We believe that Christian faith is not just a Sunday high, but a way to relate to people and the world seven days a week.

Many people are tired of being hit over the head with someone else's belief. If you're looking for a way or a place to express your belief in God, try us.

Come in Sunday and be a welcome guest in God's house. We're just the caretakers.

Pears Give Potato Salad A Lift

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

I had never heard of adding fresh pears to potato salad until my friend, the late Helen McCully, told me the fruit made a great addition to this old standby. Helen, who had many admirers during the years she was food editor of McCall's, and later food editor of House Beautiful, had superlative taste.

This year we got around to trying Helen's idea. We added fresh pears to a hot potato salad. The result was an unqualified success. If you try the recipe, we hope your tasters enjoy it as much as ours did.

HOT POTATO AND FRESH PEAR SALAD

1 1/2 pounds (scant) new potatoes
1/2 pound bacon
2 tablespoons sugar
1/4 cup cider or white wine vinegar
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1/2 cup thinly sliced or finely chopped scallion
1 tablespoon minced fresh dill or dried dill weed to taste
2 medium, ripe but firm Bartlett pears

Scrub potatoes in cold water. Steam or boil in their skins. Remove skins and cut each in half; slice halves crosswise and fairly thin — there should be 4 cups. Reserve.

Dice bacon into about 1/4-inch pieces. (An easy way to do this is to stack half a dozen or so slices, cut into thin crosswise strips, then dice the stacks of strips).

In a 12-inch skillet gently cook bacon, stirring occasionally, until brown and crisp; with a slotted spoon, remove bacon and spread on brown paper to drain; reserve. Pour off drippings from skillet into a cup so brown residue will settle at bottom. To the clean, dry, 12-inch skillet return 1/4 cup of the clear bacon fat and stir in sugar, vinegar, salt and pepper. Reserve off heat.

Peel pears and quarter each; core; slice each quarter crosswise and fairly thin. Reserve.

Gently heat reserved baconfat mixture in skillet, stirring. Add reserved potatoes; over moderate heat, stirring as necessary, heat until potatoes take up most of bacon-fat mixture. Stir in reserved bacon. Off heat stir in scallion, dill and reserved pears. Serve at once.

Makes 6 servings.

Soviets Ban Books From Show

By STEVEN R. HURST
Associated Press Writer

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet censors have banned at least 35 books published in the United States, including works by Alexander Solzhenitsyn and George Orwell, from the four-day Moscow International Book Fair which opened Tuesday.

Authorities banned those books because they felt they did not "serve the purpose of detente and mutual understanding," Boris Stukalin, chairman of the Soviet State Committee for Printing, Publishing and Book Trade, told a news conference Monday.

A U.S. embassy spokesman said late Monday that Ambassador Malcolm Toon had cancelled a scheduled Friday reception honoring the book fair. U.S. publishing officials said the cancellation was to protest Soviet refusal to grant an entrance visa to Random House publisher Robert I. Bernstein.

A team of eight Soviet censors worked for three hours to sift through the 3,200 volumes in the U.S. exhibit.

They confiscated about 40 books before the opening, but later returned five.

Soviet censors banned five works by Solzhenitsyn, the leading Soviet dissident in exile: his three volume "Gulag Archipelago"; his novel "First Circle," and his 1978 Harvard University address "World Split Apart."

Also banned were two books by Josef Stalin's daughter, Svetlana Alliluyeva, and a book by Israeli Prime Minister Menachem Begin on his experiences in Soviet prison camps.

Some 1,800 firms from 75 countries including the Soviet Union are displaying more than 100,000 publications at the fair, the official Tass news agency reported. The U.S. contingent is made up of 251 firms, up from 73 in the first Moscow International Book Fair in 1977.

State Parks Expected To Show Increase

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's state resort parks are expected to show an increase in revenue this year, despite early fears that gas shortages would keep tourists at home, a state official said Tuesday.

And the picture for next year "looks as bright as any year," said J.W. Young, accommodations director for the state Parks Department.

Figures kept by the department show occupancy was up by 1 1/2 percent in May over the same month in 1978; about the same in June as in the previous year, and dropped off by less than a percentage point in July from July of 1978.

Young said the July decline was the first at the state's lodges in 14-15 months.

Figures for August have not been tallied, but Young said reservations showed a definite increase.

"We're real encouraged," he said. "In July, everybody was holding their breath."

Revenue will show an increase this year because of higher room rates, which more than compensated for the slight decline in tourism in July, Young said.

Meanwhile, he said tourists are making reservations at the state parks for next year at the same rate they have in previous years. They're required to put down a first night's deposit, an indication that they intend to keep their commitments.

Lower fall room rates went into effect Tuesday system-wide, cutting about $5 from the price of a single or double.

Young said rooms should be available at most state parks through September, generally a slower month. Most lodges are already about 75 percent filled for October, but rooms should still be available, he said.

"We're encouraged about the fall," Young said. "We were less damaged in the travel business than we thought we'd be, and we don't look for any great decline."

Because of rising utility and labor costs, the state will probably close the 305 house-keeping cottages in the system during the winter months, Young said. They were originally built as summertime accommodations and are expensive to heat.

Lodges at most state parks will remain open and should have sufficient rooms for winter guests, he said.

'Jailbirds' Are Mystery

MAYFIELD, Ky. (AP) — Visitors to the Graves County lockup never know which "jailbirds" will meet them at the gate.

Some days it's a flock of chickens. Other days, a guinea hen. And the rooster occasionally makes an appearance, provided he's in the mood.

To some visitors, the welcoming committee may seem a bit unconventional. But county jailer Rudy Shelton says it's all pretty tame, compared to the time his monkey Linus shinnied up a steam pipe and menaced the jail and its inmates with a tear gas canister.

"That monkey pulled it right out of my pocket — it loved to do things like that," Shelton recalls.

Linus was disarmed without any ill effects to jailer or inmates. But similar episodes eventually led Shelton to trade in the cinnamon ringtail for a mynah bird that learned to answer "county jail" every time the phone rang.

The bird was also fond of whistling at women and mimicking the sound of police sirens.

Before the mynah there were two dozen quail. Shelton let them go after they disrupted a Sunday school class by pecking on a basement window at a nearby church.

The current menagerie sticks pretty close to the courtyard, Shelton says. "That old hen had her babies right out there in one of the hedges."

Pigeons, rabbits, dogs and other fowl have all been jailhouse pets of Shelton at one time or another during the 11 years he has served as county jailer.

"I've always loved animals," he says. "I just like having them around."

Henderson Woman To Attend Class Reunion; Was Only 1908 Graduate

HENDERSON, Ky. (AP) — Carrie Walker Duncan is hoping for a 100 percent turnout when the Dixie Independent School's Class of 1908 returns to its alma mater for Sunday's homecoming day.

Chances are good that she'll get her wish.

Mrs. Duncan, now 88 and a resident of Henderson, was the smartest girl in her graduating class. She was also the prettiest, the best-dressed, the most likely to succeed, and the most popular.

Mrs. Duncan, it seems, WAS the Class of 1908, a distinction that made her commencement exercise among the shortest on record.

It almost didn't take place at all.

Because there was only one person in her graduating class, school officials decided there was no point in holding commencement exercises for Carrie Walker.

The graduating class thought differently.

"I'd been going to school since I was 4 years old," Mrs. Duncan recalls. "And I wasn't about to be cheated out of my graduation ceremony."

Mrs. Duncan still chuckles when she recalls her graduation get-up.

"All the rage then was ruffled skirts, but I wanted to be different," she says.

And so, the independent-minded graduate donned a long white satin gown with a shoulder-length kid gloves and a train that trailed behind her.

As the star of the show, Carrie Walker decided to sing a song for the spectators who filled the pews of the old Methodist Church.

Then she gave both the valedictorian and salutatorian speeches.

"I tell you, I was all of it," says the feisty octogenarian, who peppers her speech with occasional four-letter words.

Chances are Mrs. Duncan will attract just as much attention when she journeys to Dixie this weekend.

"I wouldn't miss it for the world," she says.

Toyko's Female Giant Panda Dies; Zoo Discovers Pregnancy

TOKYO (AP) — Lan Lan, an 11-year-old giant panda who with her mate Kang Kang was a major attraction at Tokyo's Ueno Zoo, died Tuesday. Zoo officials who had long hoped she would produce a panda cub sadly discovered that she was pregnant when she died.

The two pandas were a gift from China to Japan at the time the two countries established normal diplomatic relations in 1972. Ever since, zoo officials had sought to mate the pair successfully to produce the first panda cub born in captivity outside China, their native habitat.

Lan Lan fell ill last Friday with what proved to be a kidney infection. She died of uremic poisoning early Tuesday, despite round-the-clock efforts by veterinarians to save her.

X-rays and an autopsy found that she was carrying a four-inch-long, 1½-ounce fetus, Ueno Zoo officials said. They theorized it would have been born next month.

Chinese Vice Premier Gu Mu, visiting Japan, promised that all efforts would be made to provide another female giant panda for the zoo. Ueno officials said Lan Lan would be stuffed and exhibited at the zoo.

STIEGLITZ SHOW
BOSTON (AP) — An exhibition of photographs by Alfred Stieglitz is on view at the Boston Museum of Fine Arts through Oct. 7.

The museum says its permanent collection includes 64 prints by Stieglitz. It says a selection of the strongest images in the collection is included in the exhibition with a special emphasis on portraiture.

Cashmere — Look of Luxury

EVERY WOMAN seems to have a soft spot in her heart for luxurious cashmere. Good cashmere is costly but when one realizes the trouble those Mongolian and Chinese goats have gone through, it's hard to argue. At left is the ultimate in cashmere luxury, an embroidered sweater set, cardigan and pullover, worn over a softly shirred "sweater skirt." At right, cashmere takes on a special glamour with a halter sweater and color coordinated pull-on skirt. (Fashions by Dalton Industries.)

Cabbie-Priest Combines Jobs

By ANDREW O'CONNELL
Associated Press Writer
HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—

There is in this city a priest who earns his living taking women to their jobs at massage parlors and ferrying drinkers to gin mills as a full-time cab driver.

And if that's not enough of a contradiction, this same man was for seven years one of Connecticut's highest-ranking public-health executives.

In between was a life change that ended a $23,000-a-year career and the ownership of a Porsche 914. It propelled the Rev. Arthur Jarvis into the priesthood at a late age, giving this city both its most unusual member of the clergy and its most unusual cabbie.

Jarvis, 46, works for Yellow Cab Co. five days a week. On Sunday afternoons he conducts Mass at St. Paul's Community Catholic Church, which isn't a church in the classic sense. It is simply a group of people who meet at the Hill Center to practice an unorthodox form of Catholicism that disregards some basic Roman Catholic teachings.

He drives a cab because one of the precepts of the community church is that its pastor is not to rely on the parish for support. Instead, he must work.

So on weekday mornings, Jarvis puts on his clerical collar and starts up the cab with the crucifix hanging from the rear-view mirror and sets off on an unorthodox journey that takes him nowhere, and everywhere.

"This collar is a symbol," he said one recent evening over a glass of beer. "The cab brings the collar to all sorts of places that it wouldn't ordinarily go."

The women who work in the massage parlors regularly take the cab to work and back home again.

In 1966, before becoming a priest, Jarvis went to work for the Connecticut Health Department as director of hospitals and medical care, the third-ranking slot in the department hierarchy, below the commissioner and the deputy commissioner.

He left in 1973 to head an alcoholism treatment program in Hartford, a job he held for 15 months.

All the while he was looking for something better.

In 1969 he had joined the deacon program of the Roman Catholic Church at St. Thomas Seminary in Bloomfield, studying at night. In 1972, several months short of becoming a deacon, he dropped out of the program.

"I disagreed with the Roman Catholic Church on so many fundamental issues," Jarvis said, that he couldn't stay in the program. He was married and disagreed with the church's position on celibacy for priests.

He disagreed on the official policy of refusing the sacraments to a woman who has had an abortion ("I believe a woman has a right to deal with her body based on her own moral judgment"). He disagreed on the Roman Catholic doctrine of the infallibility of the pope.

So he stayed away from religion, even trying atheism for a while. But "with God out of my life," he said, "there was no music."

Jarvis was brought up in Hartford, the son of an Irish mother and a French Canadian father, in a strict Roman Catholic household. "The only time I was happy was when I was serving on the altar," he said.

In 1967 he had been exposed to a new form of Catholic worship in the form of a three-day retreat known as a "Cursillo," which is Spanish for a short course, in Christianity.

Jarvis pursued his interest in the Cursillo movement and in 1976 he was ordained a priest in the Old Catholic Church, which is fundamentally different from the Roman Catholic Church in that it doesn't preach the infallibility of the pope, Jarvis said.

Upon his ordination, he became associated with St. Paul's, which had been in existence for about three years.

Fresh Plums Make Dessert Treat

By TOM HOGE
AP Wine and Food Writer

Drupe fruit sounds like something that has passed its prime. But it refers to such succulent specimens as cherries, peaches and plums which have a soft, pulpy flesh and a woodlike pit.

The most varied of the drupe fruits is the plum, first cultivated in ancient Damascus and later grown by the Romans and Greeks. At about the same time, plums were being grown in China.

There's really no native American plum unless you refer to the wild persimmon or the beach plum, but there are said to be more than 2,000 varieties in existence falling into two main categories: European and Japanese.

The colonists introduced the European plum in this country more than two centuries ago and today we cultivate dozens of varieties.

Some of our better known plums are the greengage, Damson named after Damascus and the egg plum.

European plums are usually a reddish purple with a sweet, firm flesh. Then there is the Japanese plum, a derivative of the Chinese fruit. Introduced in 1870, it has a yellow hue overlaid sometimes with shades of red.

Plums are used for canning or for drying into prunes. But they are most delicious fresh.

Fresh plums are in season from July through September and there are a number of ways you can enjoy their tart sweetness.

Two desserts I have recently sampled feature the plum at its best. In Plum Brulee, large halves of the fruit are spread over with a mixture of sour cream, nutmeg, orange liqueur and brown sugar. Broil it till the sugar lightly caramelizes. Then there's Plum Tapioca in which the fresh fruit flavor pervades the thick, rich pudding. Here's the Brulee.

4 large plums
2/4 cup sour cream
1 tablespoon sugar
1/4 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon orange liqueur
1/4 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 cup packed brown sugar
Cut plums in half, remove pits. Place plums, cut side up, in small baking dish. In small bowl, mix sour cream, sugar, nutmeg, orange liqueur and vanilla. Spoon over plum halves. Sprinkle with brown sugar and place under broiler 6 inches from heat. Broil 5 minutes till sugar has melted and plums are heated. Serve warm or chilled. Serves 4.

Women On Welfare Moving To Salaried Jobs Through New California Program

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP)—"I just couldn't wait to get off welfare. I guess that was why I was so determined," says Vera Guerro, 20-year-old mother who has gone from $287 per month from Aid to Families with Dependent Children to a job earning four times as much.

Thanks to the training she received through the San Jose Work Incentive Job Corps program, Ms. Guerro, the mother of 4-year-old Angelo, is an electrical-mechanical draftsman with the City of San Jose.

Another former welfare recipient who earns $600 per month after receiving help from the WIN program is Irene Alarcon, 19. She began her training in November 1978 and is now an insurance secretary for a local real estate agency. Her job is to take information from applicants for real estate insurance and to prepare applications and forms for use by reviewing insurance underwriters.

Michele Genero, 23, who is training to be an auto mechanic, expects no trouble in getting a job when she finishes her curriculum.

"My dad showed me how to do a tune-up on a car when I was 12 years old," she says. "Since then I have always wanted to be an auto mechanic. I like being around cars and I like to work with my hands. This (training) is a dream come true."

Ms. Genero, who has a 2-year-old daughter, Kathleen, had received welfare payments for almost two years before she was accepted into the program, funded by the Office of Human Development services in HEW and the Department of Labor.

The WIN project, for welfare recipients, trains mothers for jobs in private industry while providing day-care services and education for their pre-school children.

"The program provided these women with the personal confidence and job-skills training they needed to become independent," says Jacqueline Sunon, San Jose WIN Project coordinator.

"Once we take these women into the program, we work very closely with them to help them change their attitude and perceptions about themselves through testing, peer review and counseling.

"And while we are working on attitudes," she adds, "we are testing them for skills abilities, informing them about the real-world facts of various occupations — including hours of work, physical requirements and pay — and training them, after very careful testing, in the vocation of their choosing.

Not a small part of the success of the project to date has been the Child Development Center, which is located on the premises of a former elementary school in an area of the city with a 65 percent Hispanic population.

"This isn't just a day-care center," said Melba Lyons, center director. "The mothers bring their children here in the mornings, enjoy breakfast and lunches with them, and we teach the children social skills, colors, the alphabet, and how to read. While their mothers are learning, they are learning."

"The children, who range from infants to kindergarteners, like knowing that their mothers are nearby," she pointed out. "And their mothers appreciate knowing that their children are well taken care of. This takes a lot of pressure off the mothers to find baby sitters. It works quite well."

"It's a real joy for me to see their faces or hear the thrill in their voices over the phone when they tell me that they have landed jobs," said Ms. Sunon. "They are so proud of themselves."

According to Merwin Hans, executive director of the Federal Work Incentive Program in Washington, D.C., 291,698 former recipients of AFDC got non-subsidized jobs in fiscal year 1978.

"We estimate that taxpayers were saved an estimated $900 million in welfare grants, Medicaid payments and food stamps when these recipients went off the rolls," Hans said.

13 Die On State Highways Over Holiday

By The Associated Press
Thirteen persons died on Kentucky highways during the Labor Day weekend, three more than in the same holiday period of 1978.

Twelve-year-old Robert James Rensch of rural Bowling Green died Monday night at Vanderbilt Medical Center in Nashville after being in a single car accident north of Bowling Green.

Two other persons, 16-year-old Timothy Ray McKinney and 17-year-old Kenneth Beshear, were admitted to a Bowling Green hospital after Monday's accident. They were in satisfactory condition today, and a third person injured was treated at the hospital and released.

State police said the car apparently failed to negotiate a curve just before reaching a bridge, struck a fence row and landed on its top.

The four persons were trapped in the car, which caught fire, and rescue units had to remove them from the burning vehicle.

Among those killed on Labor Day was Wilson Edwards, 56, of Burlington. He was injured fatally in a two-vehicle accident, one mile west of Florence on Kentucky 18.

State police said Joseph R. Timmons, 15, Jefferson County, died in a hit-and-run accident Monday evening.

Timmons was walking south along Cane Run Road with a friend when he was hit by a pickup truck. Timmons' companion was uninjured.

No arrest has been made but state police said they picked up a motorist in connection with another hit-and-run fatality during the weekend.

Police said Robert William Boggs of Porter Creek in Carter County was charged with second-degree manslaughter in the death Saturday of Thomas Arthurs.

Arthurs, 26, of rural Olive Hill, was struck while walking along the Lawton Ridge Road about four miles south of Olive Hill, officers said.

A Princeton youngster was struck and killed by a car Monday afternoon in his hometown. Princeton police said 7-year-old Robin Christopher Fralix apparently ran into the path of a car while chasing a ball.

The accident occurred on U.S. 62. Police said no charges would be filed.

A two-car crash Monday on Kentucky 40 in Williamsport took the life of Jerry Allen Butcher, 24, of Williamsport, state police said.

Gary Putman, 26, of rural Greenville, died when his car left Kentucky 176 in Greenville, state police reported. That accident also occurred on Monday.

State police said Mark Cannon, 28, of Henderson, died early Monday when his auto smashed into a tree in his hometown. Charles D. Osburne Jr., 17, of Carrollton, died Monday at University Hospital in Louisville of head injuries received in an accident in Carrollton Saturday, according to Jefferson County Deputy Coroner Robert Carter. Police said Osburne's car struck a building after his accelerator pedal stuck.

Three fatalities were reported Sunday.

A two-car crash on Algonquin Parkway in Louisville took the life of Louis M. Neal, state police said. The 51-year-old Louisville was killed at about 5:30 a.m. EDT.

Kenneth W. Terry, 19, of rural Booneville, died when his car ran off Kentucky 11, less than a mile south of Booneville in Owsley County, state police said.

Sunday's third traffic victim was identified as 16-year-old Timmy L. Cain of Williamsport. State police said the youth died in the crash of a motorcycle and pickup truck on Kentucky 40 in his Johnson County hometown.

Ernest Phillips, 78, of Hustonville, died Saturday night when the car in which he was riding was struck by a train in Lincoln County. The accident occurred about two miles from McKinney, state police said.

The deaths raised the state's yearly count to 594, compared with 569 through the same period a year ago.

Hordes Of Travelers Jam Italy As Tourism Booming

By SAMUEL KOO
Associated Press Writer
ROME (AP) — Venice is fighting "people jams" on its sidewalks, border posts are waving thousands of German and Swiss tourists through every day and Italy's major airports have all but abandoned customs checks in a desperate effort to cope with "human waves."

"We haven't seen anything like it, somebody must have spread rumors that the Colosseum is crumbling and won't last long," says Guido Bruschi, a Rome travel agent.

"I can't get a clear shot of St. Peter's (Basilica) because of all those buses," says Susan Wadsworth, a 21-year-old student from Minneapolis, in exasperation, pointing to dozens of tall, sightseeing buses blocking the St. Peter's Square.

Despite the threat of terrorism, foreign tourists are streaming into Italy in record numbers, and government officials expect the nation's total earnings from tourism will go over the $7 billion mark this year, a whopping 27 percent increase over 1978.

The National Tourist Office (ENIT) says Italy received 15.5 million foreign visitors last year and, based on the first seven months' record, it expects at least a 15 percent increase this year.

What attracts foreigners to Italy? "You get your money's worth here," says Wiebke Kuhn, a 34-year-old schoolteacher from Hamburg.

"The lovely weather, good and relatively inexpensive food, the pope who talks sense, and above all the treasures of art."

In Rome, a tourist can still find restaurants offering a full-course meal for 6,000 lire or $7.50. But inflation, running at 18 percent a year, is already cutting into these bargains.

A double room with bath in a good Rome hotel costs more than 50,000 lire, or $62, up from 40,000 lire, or $50, a year ago.

Still, the bus fare in Rome is only 100 lire, or 13 cents, despite increased fuel costs. Premium gasoline in Italy sells for 550 lire (70 cents) a liter.

"I think there's also this feeling of let's enjoy it now, before another energy crisis comes," says Claudio Bonvecchio, the ENIT chairman.

"Otherwise, how can you explain that most of the foreign tourists, unlike in previous years, are all looking for first-class accommodations — air-conditioned rooms with television, telephone and a bar."

Plum Butter: Please, Mom, Can I Have Some?

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Around preserving time, many cooks are tempted to "put up" fruit butters. They are delicious and economical to concoct, convenient to have on hand. Kids love to spread them on bread.

But let's face it. As a rule, fruit butters are time-consuming to make.

Take apple butter. The wonderful old-fashioned kind may need two to four hours of cooking before it thickens. (It's this slow cooking that gives that sought-after old-time flavor.) And you have to watch it guardedly, keeping the heat low and stirring often toward the end of the cooking, or it will sputter and spatter like mad.

Peach butter, too. Last year we tried to make it an easier-than-usual way. We put it in the oven and were extremely pleased that it needed only 1½ hours of cooking and a few stirrings. No sputtering or spattering.

This year we had the best luck yet in making plum butter. It is speedy to make — about 15 minutes of cooking — and has excellent flavor, color and consistency. The plums to use are the yellow-flesh kind with bright or dark red skins. A new recipe. A real discovery!

PLUM BUTTER

1½ pounds (generous) red plums (about 9), sliced and pitted

2 cups sugar
½ teaspoon ground cinnamon

A dash each of allspice, cloves and nutmeg

In a large heavy saucepot over very low heat stir together plums and ½ cup of the sugar until the juices flow; bring to a boil and boil until fruit is tender — about 5 minutes. Turn into an electric blender; whirl on low speed (because mixture is hot) until pureed. Return to saucepot with remaining sugar and the spices. Bring to a boil, then boil gently, stirring often, to 222 degrees on a candy-jelly thermometer — about 10 minutes. Ladle at once into hot, wide-mouth, ½-pint canning jars, leaving ¼-inch head space. Adjust caps (lids and screw bands) according to manufacturer's directions. Process in a hot-water bath for 15 minutes. Makes 3 half-pints plus a little extra.

Autumn Dress-Up Days

FALL FINERY — For special occasions, little girls will enjoy wearing these pretty coordinates. The wide wale corduroy jumper features eyelet trim at the bodice and extended shoulders, with a pocket treatment that matches the floral-print blouse. In fall's newest coloration, the separates are available in sizes 4-6X. (By Health-tex.)
