'New Wave'

Fashions Shown By California Designers

By LINDA DEUTSCH Associated Press Writer LOS ANGELES (AP) — California's "New Wave" fashion designers have sprung an outrageous fashion surprise for the '80s — "the modern mini," which leaves women with their bottoms barely covered. In a show punctuated by throbbing music and buyers gasps of, "I don't believe this," models with clown-heavy makeup and weird hairdos marched Thursday in elongated sweatshirts, thigh-high skirts and barely there tunics over fluorescent-colored tights. Memories of the '60s mini-dress craze were irrelevant.

The mood was more like Halloween. "This is a look that has no relation to the past," said Pam Roberts, fashion director of the California Mart. "We're not stealing from the '40s or '50s or '60s. It's a whole new decade, and this is now. It's like nothing that's ever been seen before." This design revolution was best epitomized by Betsy Johnson, who transported her multiple mini styles into the realm of science fiction, models in their voluminous thigh-long sweatshirts with "bat wing" sleeves appeared ready for takeoff into outer space. The New Wave trendsetters — Gregory Poe, Chance Wayne, 88 Fashions, Kathy Martin of Lostanfound and Elka Lesso of Zoe — splashed outrageous combinations of stripes and checks and bizarre blends of mustard yellow and purple that led one observer to dub the look, "unclean fashion."

A 1-Karat Millstone

DEAR ABBY: Our very pretty and bright 18-year-old daughter (I'll call her Nancy) graduated from high school last May. She decided to stay home and work for a year before going to college. Nancy met a 29-year-old professional man about six months ago and they started dating. (I'll call him Paul.) They never actually went steady, but Paul gave her a big push.

Well, for Christmas, Paul surprised Nancy with a beautiful one-karat diamond ring. It came as a big shock to Nancy because she wasn't even considering marriage with Paul. In fact, she told me she hated to kiss him because he had a bad case of halitosis!

When Nancy saw the ring, she told Paul she didn't think she should accept it, but he started to cry, so she kept it because she didn't want to hurt his feelings. Nancy is sure she doesn't want to be engaged, but every time she tries to return the ring, Paul cries, and talks her in to keeping it. Nancy is very tender-hearted and Paul is very persuasive, so do you think it would be alright if Nancy's father returned the ring to Paul?

POST-CHRISTMAS DILEMMA

DEAR DILEMMA: No! Nancy should return the ring to Paul herself, and if he cries, he cries. It's time Paul learned that he can't buy whatever he wants with tears and diamonds. And Nancy needs to learn that people who "give in" in order to avoid hurting someone's feelings, usually end up hurting themselves. (P.S. About Paul's halitosis: Someone should tell him.)

DEAR ABBY: My husband shows a charming, well-mannered personality to others, but not to me. When we have a social engagement, he always has to be the first one there, so he gets ready early and starts nagging me to hurry up. If I'm five minutes late, as soon as we get into the car he turns the radio on as loud as he can, then he starts shouting that I had all day to get ready, I'm never on time and he's sick of always being late on account of me, etc. By the time we get to the party, I'm in no mood to have a good time. It's getting so I hate to go anywhere with him. Is there a solution?

INSTANT HEADACHE

DEAR HEADACHE: The solution is obvious. Get your act together on time and you'll have no problem. And if you can't do that, tell "antsy-pants" to go ahead without you, that you'll take a cab.

DEAR ABBY: I have a 76-year-old aunt to whom I have been very close ever since I was a child. She has a heart condition and is making preparations for her last will and testament. My problem is that I am not mentioned in her will. She has a lot of property and assets. She came right out and told me that she was leaving everything to her two sons and their children! I know this for a fact because she has discussed it with me.

Abby: since my aunt moved to Florida, I have taken her out to dinner faithfully, once a week. (She is a widow.) I have also taken her shopping every weekend. I handle all her paper work, pay her bills, cash her checks and even look after her home. (I wallpapered her home.) I could not have been more attentive to my own mother. I am very hurt to think that she is not leaving me a dime. Should I tell her how I feel, or keep quiet? And, by the way, Abby, whom do you think she asked to drive her to the lawyer about her will? You're right — me!

HURT IN ORLANDO

DEAR HURT: Keep quiet. Your disappointment is understandable, but it's her money and she has the right to do whatever she wishes with it.

Do you feel left out? There are secrets to developing the art of making yourself popular. You're never too young or too old to learn. Get Abby's booklet: "How To Be Popular: You're Never Too Young or Too Old." Send $1 with a long, self-addressed, stamped (28 cents) envelope to Abby, 132 Lasky Drive, Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212.

Exercise to feel warm

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB - I'm a 76-year-old male and I have a swollen joint in my right big toe. I was told that this was arthritic gout and I should take six bone meal tablets daily to reduce the swelling. I am of the opinion that my enlarged joint is due to an overabundance of calcium in the bones and bone meal tablets will aggravate the condition rather than alleviate it. Am I right?

DEAR READER - If you're correct in saying that your enlarged toe is caused by gouty arthritis, then you may need other treatment.

Gout often attacks the great toe. When it's an acute attack, the toe may be red, hot and swollen and very painful. In addition, in the course of time people with gout may have uric acid salts or crystals deposit in the joint space and build up in the area. It's somewhat like lime building up in the pipes or inside the lining of the kettle. The uric acid salts (urates) cause the joint enlargement.

Bone meal tablets won't do a thing to relieve gout. I don't know who advised you to take them but it must have been for some reason other than the treatment of chronic gouty arthritis. The goal in treating gout really is to eliminate the excess uric acid or prevent its formation. I'm sending you The Health Letter number 2-3, Gout, Uric Acid, to give you a better understanding of what causes gout and how it's treated today. Other readers who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

Now you are not correct in assuming that the enlarged bone is because of an overabundance of calcium. Many people seem to have this mistaken idea and they think that excess calcium intake even causes arthritis. That's not true at all. A person who takes more calcium than his body needs simply eliminates it or doesn't absorb it in the first place.

The calcium formations that develop around the arthritic joint usually are the result of the efforts of damaged bone to repair itself. A bony spine, for example, develops because the bone is injured or worn away and new bone grows in the spot but it doesn't grow in the normal shape and size of the original structure.

Osteoporosis or degeneration of the bone, which is particularly common in women past the menopause and in some men at older age, is more likely to occur in an individual on a calcium deficient diet. Many people mistakenly call osteoporosis arthritis. Other than osteoporosis, calcium has little or nothing to do with these disorders. You can't get arthritis because you have too much calcium in your diet.

Now there is one rare medical condition associated with taking too much calcium and that's the person who uses a lot of soluble antacids such as baking soda and at the same time drinks a lot of milk or takes a lot of calcium. This can cause calcifications in the soft tissues of the body including the kidney. Fortunately, baking soda is just not used anymore to treat acid stomach conditions such as ulcers so we almost never see this problem now.

Festival Feature To Be Shown Today

"Ballad of a Soldier," the fifth film in the International Film Festival at Murray State University for 1979-80, will be shown twice on Tuesday, Jan. 22.

Scheduled for showings at 1:30 and 7 p.m. in the auditorium of the Student Center, the Russian motion picture is part of the series on the campus funded in part by the Kentucky Humanities Council and sponsored by the Department of English and Department of Foreign Languages.

Both showings are open to the public at no admission charge. Released in the Soviet Union in 1960, "Ballad of a Soldier" was directed by Grigori Chukhrai and stars Vladimir Ivashov, Shanna Prokhorenko, Antonina Manimova, and Nikolai Kruchkov.

Dr. Howard Keller, professor of Russian on the campus, will introduce the film at the evening program. He will be joined by Dr. Mark Malinauskas, associate professor of speech and theatre, and Dr. Joseph Fuhrman, assistant professor of history in a panel discussion at its conclusion.

The hero of the tragic, poetic, ballad-type story is an innocent young soldier during World War II who earns a 10-day leave to go home to visit his mother. On the way, he has many adventures which seem small, but together become a cumulative lament for the disorder, grief, and frustration of people caught up in war.

Time Magazine says it is "the best Russian movie since World War II—a vehemently original, beautiful, humorous, patriotic, sentimental journey through war-churned Russia. Chukhrai makes inspired use of sound, silence, rhythm, and a wonderfully witty and expressive score composed by Mikhail Siv."

Noting that World War II is a favorite theme in Soviet literature and art, Keller said "Ballad of a Soldier" is one of the few Soviet war films that avoids excessive doses of "socialist realism" and instead concentrates on a simple story of family attachment and young love.

He said he plans to discuss the various ways in which Chukhrai develops both Soviet and universal themes in his film and then will attempt to locate "Ballad of a Soldier" in the series of major Soviet films during the period from 1945 to 1960.

Keller added that he would like to elicit audience comments on the differences between the Hollywood and Moscow treatment of the devastation of war.

FOR WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 23, 1980

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth sign.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Don't be careless with health, but be considerate of those not up to par. Intuition is good, but some difficulty implementing ideas.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Someone's enthusiasm could be misleading. You tend to fluctuate between wanting to be left alone and overdoing socially.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Making a hit with the boss is one thing, but don't be over-solicitous. A social gathering may not live up to expectations.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Watch out for flatterers or those who exaggerate. A career idea is good, but wait for a more propitious time to use it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Party-going associates could cause you to stray from the beaten track. The result will be diminished work returns. Protect health.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Social aspirations may be out of line. Be yourself and don't put on airs. The wish for good times may win over other concerns.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 19) One kind word sent your way may lead to over-optimism about a romantic prospect. Let others prove their sincerity. Watch domestic interests.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20 to Feb. 18) You or a loved one courts extravagance. A friend has a good idea, but you may use the wrong tactics. Be careful with what you say.

PISCES (Feb. 19 to Mar. 20) Take promises of true love with a grain of salt. Watch you don't dissipate newly acquired funds. Realize an ambition.

YOU BORN TODAY are a progressive thinker who must learn to finish what you start. At times, you may be erratic and moody, but you have a good understanding of human nature. Do not stand aloof from others, for you need their encouragement. You can prosper in law, brokerage, medicine and real estate. You feel most at home in a mental pursuit and would succeed as a teacher, writer, lecturer and actor. You are more practical than the typical member of your sign. ## A Salute To Our Jaycees

This week is being observed as Jaycee week in our community and the rest of the nation. We can think of no better time to pause and recognize the Murray-Calloway County Jaycee chapter.

The Jaycees are one of the more active civic clubs in our community. They supply much of the manpower that goes into putting on the Calloway County Fair annually. But the fair is not the only project of the busy local chapter throughout the year.

When a worthy charitable project comes along, the Jaycees are usually there, raising money for the cause. Progress is people helping to build a new day — and the Jaycees are right in the forefront — serving the community, looking for better ways to aim for a better future and improve the quality of life — for each and every one of us.

Let's honor all of these young people for the fine job they're doing. We're truly fortunate to have them.

The New Superintendent Knew How To Go Right To The Problem

While one of our Murray State departmental chairmen was in Frankfort recently, he attended a meeting which included some of the bigwigs in the state Department of Education.

In a conversation with one of them, a fellow who had been in Frankfort and with the department for something like 17 years, the fellow, learning my friend was from Murray, got to reminiscing. It seems he had been in Frankfort and with the education department only a few months before Dr. Harry M. Sparks, now the retired president emeritus of Murray State and a self-declared "commercial fisherman" on Kentucky Lake, went to the capital as the newly-elected state superintendent of public instruction.

One day shortly after Dr. Sparks took office, the fellow — a rather young man then — was summoned to the superintendent's office.

Some years ago, a young man — now married, working and living in Fort Worth, Tex. — was a student at Murray State when he broke a couple windows in one of the buildings — accidentally or otherwise.

He never admitted it until a few weeks ago when he sent Bill a check, made out to the university for $30, and this brief note:

"When I was at Murray State, I broke a couple of windows in one of the buildings. God has convinced me that I should make restitution for that which I damaged. Please use this check in the area of maintenance or repair. Thank you for understanding." And he signed his name and address.

Identifying him would serve no further purpose, but I'm confident he walks a little straighter, holds his head a little higher and sleeps a bit more soundly after giving in to his conscience and convictions. Things like that renew one's faith in mankind. There are some sparks left; if we'll only let God fan them.

Now I know, after watching a country music show a while back on television, what Santa Claus does between Christmases.

He sings with Willie Nelson under the name of Leon Russell.

Add to your list of lookalikes: Murray State football coach Mike Gottfried and television comedian (to use the term loosely) David Letterman. Also, Dr. Gene Cook, who has offices with Dr. Conrad Jones over on South 8th Street, and Bill Jackson, formerly of Sager Glove Company operation here in Murray. Bill tells me that he is now in the process of setting up his own clothing manufacturing business over in Paris, Tenn.

Thoughts In Season

By Ken Wolf

Religious intolerance is an easy subject for satire. That may be the reason why the famous eighteenth-century historian of the Roman Empire, Edward Gibbon (1737-1794) was able to take this poke at the Western religions:

Among the Arabian philosophers, Averroes Moslem philosopher has been accused of despising the religion of the Jews, the Christians and the Mahometans... Each of these sects would agree that in two instances out of three his contempt was reasonable.

This remark, typical of the cynical but witty Englishman, comes from chapter 52 of Gibbon's great Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire.

Jesse Stuart

His Homeland A Preserve

By Mary Nell Haynes
Contributing Writer

Jesse Stuart, author of some 3,000 poems, 300 short stories and over 50 books, was honored Dec. 7, when Gov. Julian Carroll dedicated Stuart's 1,000-acre farm in Greenup County, Ky., as a Nature Preserve.

The beautifully rugged hills, hollows and valleys which produced this social philosopher, poet and educator now belongs to the people of Kentucky.

Half of the land, with an assessed value of $1.47 million, was donated by Stuart and his wife, Naomi Deane. The other half was purchased from the Stuarts with state and federal money.

This acquisition in itself exemplifies the great American Dream. Jesse Stuart remembers plowing most of this land, rented by his father, Mitchell Stuart, who contracted for the first tract of 50 acres for $300 or $6 an acre. Jesse bought his own first acre of land with money from selling 'possum hides. The family gradually acquired additional tracts until they owned all the land they had rented when Stuart was a boy.

The land, according to Gov. Carroll, not only will have value as a Nature Preserve but it will also have literary value since most of Stuart's poems, books and characters in his works came from this land. Hiking trails will be open to the general public in March 1980. The first hike will begin at Shinglemill Hollow, go behind the author's home, past Ole Op's Cabin and down through Coon Den Hollow. Other trails will be opened in the future.

Stuart inherited a deep love for the land and respect for nature from his frontier parents whom he helped eke out a living from these rugged eastern Kentucky hills. Stuart even then was a conservationist, planting trees and rotating crops to preserve the land. He fought forest fires not only to preserve the trees and undergrowth, but also to provide a haven for the small animals.

Stuart is the product of the environment, and his hard life on these isolated farms provided inspiration for his writings. He absorbed the color, character and customs of the people of the hills and hollows and reflects them in his prose and poetry.

Jesse Stuart's writings are known around the world and his name is a household word for Kentucky school children. He is a prolific writer and has been honored in all genres. He is Poet laureate of Kentucky, has had his short stories anthologized and has written many novels. He began writing as a young boy and often stopped plowing and sat on a stump or log to write on a scrap of paper or a leaf when he had an idea for a poem. His first volume of over 700 poems was published when he was 27 years old and Mr. Stuart says nothing equals the ecstasy of having a first book, short story or poem published.

Early in his career, Stuart was intent upon getting his ideas for poems or stories down on paper immediately to get them before his readers. This is not seen as a weakness, but rather as the enthusiasm of youth. His optimism has softened somewhat over the years and his writings evidence a mellowing with age and a more reserved and more patient attitude toward meeting the challenges of life. His works, especially after his near-fatal heart attack in 1954 reflect a more spiritually based desire to meet life and its challenges.

The area which is now the Jesse Stuart Nature Preserve is not the same as it was when Stuart wrote about it as a boy. In his 72 years, Stuart has witnessed perhaps as many changes in the region and in the lifestyles of his people as could be found anywhere in America. Technological progress, a by-product of the educational improvements for which he fought so hard, has not spoiled Stuart nor changed his love for his land and his people.

Because of his health, Stuart does not write much and will not be able to participate in the hikes. Mrs. Stuart says that he is confined to a wheelchair and to bed, but that he is happy and cheerful and busy. She says his mind and speech were not affected by the stroke he suffered in March 1978.

Lady Lakers Crush Wingo In High Scoring Game By Todd

By GARY GARTH Sports Writer
Led by an impressive performance by Laker forward Mina Todd, the Calloway County Lady Lakers crushed the hosting Wingo Indians last night, 85-36.

Calloway juggled its starting lineup for the game, going with only one starter (Todd) and four players off the bench.

Todd set the pace for the Lakers from the opening minutes of the game by scoring the first six Calloway points and sinking 11 of the 16 first-quarter Laker total.

With three minutes expired in the opening period and Calloway holding a 6-1 edge, Doris Hussey came off the bench to spark the Indians as the hosting club pulled within one at 6-5.

But that was as close as Wingo would come for the remainder of the night. Hampered by numerous turnovers, the Indians gave the Lakers one scoring opportunity after another and the Lakers took advantage, ending the first quarter holding a 15-9 advantage.

Calloway came out in the second quarter with a full court press and strong rebounding on both ends of the floor and picked up where they left off, forcing Wingo into numerous mistakes. The second stanza proved to be

Hooker Back, Mahoney Gone, Lady Racers Win At Northern Kentucky

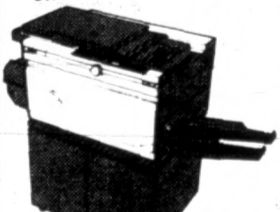

Murray State's basketball team announced this morning that forward Gary Hooker's eye operation was a success and that he has been pronounced fit to shoot at this afternoon's practice and work out full speed tomorrow.

It is also expected that Hooker will be back in the starting lineup for Thursday night's game at Austin Peay. He will return to Memphis for his final checkup next Monday.

Mike Mahoney, a defensive backfield coach as a graduate assistant for the Murray football team this past season, has been hired as the defensive line coach at William & Mary.

Mahoney had been at Murray just one year after coming from Arizona where he was a graduate assistant.

very strong for the Lakers as they controlled the ball for much of the eight minutes.

Todd pumped in ten second quarter points and had scored 21 of her team's first-half 38 points when the Lakers went into the lockerroom at the half leading by 17 points 38-21.

Defense was the name of the game for Calloway in the third quarter as the Lakers ended what little doubt remained about the outcome by outscoring Wingo 28-3 in the third.

In the first four minutes of the third period, the Lakers ran off 12 straight points and extended their lead to 50-21 before the Indians could score.

Running its offense nearly to perfection and totally controlling the boards, the Lakers ended the quarter leading 66-42.

Calloway extended its lead in the final period while allowing the entire team quite a bit of playing time.

Mina Todd came to the Laker bench early in the fourth period and ended the night turning in an outstanding performance with 33 points, 20 rebounds, 17 assists, nine steals and seven blocked shots.

Doris Hussey turned in the high scoring game for Wingo with 10 points.

Laker coach David Elliot was understandably happy with his team's performance. "I was real pleased with the effort tonight," Elliot said. "We played everybody early."

"The game had just the effect I wanted" Elliot said, responding to the Laker juggled lineup. "We didn't play well against Murray but I was real pleased with the play tonight."

Calloway was passing expertly and setting up its offense well throughout the contest, a fact Elliot noted by the high number of assists.

"I was pleased with the assists tonight," he added. "We were hitting the open player all night."

The win raised Calloway's season record to 13-1. The Lakers will try to avenge their only loss Thursday night when they tackle the Marshall County Marshalls in junior varsity and varsity action.

The Calloway County junior varsity Lady Lakers used the same game plan as the varsity squad, taking advantage of Wingo turnovers and using strong rebounding to down the JV Indians 35-13.

The first quarter ended with the Lakers holding a 7-3 edge and Calloway extended its lead to 15-9 at the half as the Indians were not able to get their shots to fall and the JV Lakers responded with accurate shooting and strong work on the boards.

Calloway breasted on in the third period slowly expanding its lead to 21-11 after three quarters.

The Lakers were able to score handily late in the contest as Wingo was forcing many of its shots and Calloway teamed the Indians poor shooting with more strong rebounding and hot shooting as they breezed to a 35-13 win.

Is The Super Bowl Really America's One-Day Spectacle

By WILL GRIMSLEY AP Special Correspondent

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The country has dropped back to earth, clawing its way out of the hysteria, razzmatazz and heady wine that marks the annual Super Bowl football game.

The pomp, pageantry and paralysis of Super Bowl Sunday — is it really, as they say, America's greatest one-day sports spectacle?

"Strictly bush, archaic, not in tune with the technological age," scoffs Bob Kap, a 56-year-old transplanted Yugoslavian. Yet, he sees football mushrooming into a multi-billion-dollar extravaganza that will give the sport global appeal.

Soccer, he insists, is decadent as a spectator attraction — "dry, dull and unintelligent" — whereas American football is "human drama, tactical, fastpaced and requiring the ultimate challenge of the mind and body."

But the game, he says, must move into the technological age.

"Look at those silly chains on two sticks which are moved after every first down," he says. "They've haven't changed since Princeton was playing Rutgers nearly 100 years ago."

"And those goalposts sticking up in the air, just like they've been for decades. A 15-yard kick counts the same as one from 50 yards and it's one point whether you boot the ball over the middle or bounce it inside one of the poles."

Kap is a round, puckish little man who migrated to this country 25 years ago, joined Dallas millionaire Lamar Hunt as general manager of the Dynamos hockey team and in recent years has been active in working with soccer style kickers in the NFL.

"They laughed at me when I predicted the conventional place-kicker would be passe," he says. "Now there are only two or three around."

A painter who often illustrates his ideas with murals, Kap says domed stadiums soon will become as obsolete as the straightaway kickers and millions of fans will have their football transmitted to them electronically in three-dimensional holographs.

He foresees the day that the game will be played in a glistening palace with 10 million cardsize screens replacing live spectators, with the fans, in the comfort of their living rooms, through futuristic electronics having the feeling of being on the scene.

Electronic sensors, almost invisible in size, will be attached to each of the players' hands and sewn into the artificial surface to pinpoint the progress of play.

"When something good happens, the screens turn into a bright glow. When the fans are unhappy, they will have a dull, gray look. The players will know it. They also will hear the sounds."

Kap said the modernistic game also could be a financial bonanza for the NFL.

"Imagine 10 million people buying season tickets for $200," he says. "That's $2 billion. This would be multiplied many times over. The NFL could have its own network."

"That's the Super Bowl XXXV in year 2000."

DePaul Is Unanimous Pick

By The Associated Press

One week after taking the top spot in the nation for the first time in Ray Meyer's 38-year coaching career, DePaul became the season's first unanimous No. 1 choice in The Associated Press college basketball poll announced Tuesday.

Undefeated at 15-0, DePaul received all 57 first-place votes and a maximum 1,140 points in the nationwide poll of sports writers and broadcasters. The Blue Demons posted victories last week over Lamar, Maine and Louisiana State.

Oregon State, 17-1, moved from No. 4 to the runnerup spot, grabbing 1,049 points. The Beavers defeated Washington, St. and Washington in action last week, Duke, 15-2, with victories last week over Wake Forest and North Carolina State, garnered 959 points and moved from fifth place to third. They beat Georgia Tech 56-49 last night.

Ohio State, with 929 points, slipped from second place to fourth. Both of the Buckeyes' games last week went into overtime, as they defeated Minnesota 75-70, but lost to archrival Michigan 75-74. Kentucky moved up a notch into the fifth spot, by virtue of 835 points and victories last week over Florida and Vanderbilt.

Syracuse dropped from third place to sixth, with 821 points. After winning their first 14 games, the Orangemen suffered their first defeat last week, losing 68-67 to Old Dominion. Their record went to 15-1 with a victory Monday over Detroit. Thirty-eight points farther back was seventh-ranked Louisville, which beat Tulane in its only action last week.

Notre Dame, which scored victories over Villanova and UCLA last week, held on to the No. 8 spot with 773 points, 37 more than St. John's of New York, which moved up from tenth place into ninth. With 494 points, Missouri vaulted from 15th to tenth to round out the Top Ten.

Despite the loss to DePaul, Louisiana State collected 455 points and moved from 14th place into 11th to head the Second Ten. Clemson moved up five notches into 12th place, followed by North Carolina, Purdue, Maryland, Indiana, Virginia, Weber State, Tennessee, and Brigham Young.

Tech Plays Own Game To Give Duke A Scare

By The Associated Press
The Georgia Tech Yellowjackets are one of the Atlantic Coast Conference's weakest basketball teams, but for a while there they were floating like a butterfly and stinging Duke like a bee.

Monday night with a slowdown game, before Duke finally closed it at the end with the help of Mike Gminski's touch. Gminski had 24 points, including five, during a gamebreaking 11-2 spurt, to help the nation's No. 4-ranked team whip Georgia Tech 56-49.

The tour slates matches in the Soviet cities of Moscow on Jan. 26, Tbilisi on Jan. 30 and Vilnius on Feb. 2, and Hull said, "The latest information we had was there was no (governmental) objection" to the team completing the trip that has been scheduled since January, 1979.

our game plan and tried to keep from getting erratic with the ball." The Yellowjackets held Duke to a 22-19 lead at the half with their slowdown techniques, and led 35-33 as late as midway through the second half. But Gminski put the Blue Devils ahead to stay with a three-point play with 10:04 left.

"We took the lead and then lost our composure for two or three minutes," said Georgia Tech Coach Dwane Morrison. "Then Duke controlled it and controlled it and controlled it. That's smart basketball."

Sixth-ranked Syracuse, the only other Top Twenty team in action Monday night, was an 89-83 winner over Detroit as Roosevelt Bouie and Louis Orr scored 18 points apiece. The Syracuse victory followed a one-point loss at Old Dominion over the weekend and improved the Orangemen's record to 15-1. Syracuse also extended its winning streak at home to 53 games — the longest in the nation.

The Orangemen were losing 46-45 at the half before toughening up their defense after intermission. "I just felt like we hadn't played really well on defense (in the first half)," said Orr, "and so, coming out in the second half we knew that if we picked up our defense, we'd be okay."

Elsewhere, Kiki Vandeweghe's 22 points led UCLA past Arizona 69-59. Jimmy Gray's 23 paced Vanderbilt over Florida 105-85. David Thirdkill scored 20 points as Bradley edged Indiana State 61-60. Pitt beat Iowa 75-64 behind Sammie Ellis' 17 points. Cedric Hordges' 20 points led South Carolina past Dartmouth 88-49.

Also, Les Henson sank an incredible 93-foot shot at the buzzer to give Virginia Tech a 79-77 victory over Florida State. Henson's spectacular shot followed a missed Florida State field goal. Henson fielded the rebound at the baseline, wheeled and threw the ball the length of the court, where it swished through the basket without touching the rim or backcourt.

Lakers' Scoring Exhibition Not Taken Well By Knicks

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The New York Knicks had a firsthand opportunity to learn about the explosive tendencies of the Los Angeles Lakers. It wasn't a lesson they appreciated.

Los Angeles trailed New York 79-69 midway in the third quarter of last night's only scheduled National Basketball Association game, but the Lakers then went crazy, outscoring the Knicks 43-18 over a 13:07 span en route to a 132-114 victory.

The Knicks had scored 18 of the first 22 points in the second half to take their 10-point lead in the first game between the teams this season, but then the roof fell in on New York.

"The Knicks played excellent offensive basketball but it was only a matter of time until we got our running game going," said Los Angeles Coach Paul Westhead, whose team has now won six straight games and 10 in a row at home. "Good defense helps our running game, which helps our team because we played much harder when we're running."

Our guys are having more fun giving the ball up than scoring."

Kareem Abdul-Jabbar led Los Angeles with 25 points and 14 rebounds. "Although we're playing better, they're too strong and we couldn't defend against their run," said New York Coach Red Holzman. "Kareem is playing his best basketball ever. We tried to double-team him but he has too many other good shooters playing with him."

The Lakers made 53 of their 87 field goal attempts, a 60.9 percent performance. Abdul-Jabbar led the way by hitting 11 of his 15 shots. Los Angeles got excellent guard play as Michael Cooper made eight of his 11 field goal attempts in scoring 18 points and also had eight rebounds and eight assists. Norm Nixon had 19 points and nine assists and Earvin "Magic" Johnson had 16 points, six rebounds and seven assists.

Johnson didn't start and played only 25 minutes. The Lakers' rookie is still hampered by a groin injury that caused him to miss two games last week. Another rookie, Bill Cartwright, led the Knicks with 21 points and seven rebounds.

Gym Opens With Wins

By STEVE BECKER
Sports Writer

The Calloway County Middle School girls and boys basketball teams celebrated the opening of their new gym in grand fashion last night as each squad took a game from South Marshall.

CINDY ANDERSON (23) shoots in the Calloway County Middle School teams' debut in their gymnasium.

The girls christened the gym properly, winning the first game 27-21 over the Rebel girls while the boys needed two overtimes to conquer the Marshall Countians.

Tammy Treas took game scoring honors for the Lady Lakers as she connected for ten points in the night's first contest. Trailing 18-14 heading into the final period, Calloway saw the visitors pop in the first three points of the quarter to forge into a 21-14 advantage with 4:22 remaining. The locals came back from a time-out to reel off the final 13 tallies of the game and crush the Rebel attempt to ruin the team's initial appearance in their new home.

Rhonda McAlister added seven points and Beth Hooks chipped in with six as the girls raised their record to a perfect 6-0 on the season. The second tilt of the night turned out to be a see-saw battle as neither team could shake the other loose. Both boys' squads held leads of six points during the contest but could not hold on to their advantages.

A basket by South Marshall's Miller with 35 seconds left in regulation time sent the game into the first overtime tied at 36-36. Both squads could manage just a basket in the first extra period as Calloway stalled a good deal of the time looking for the good shot. Darnell Sharpe's basket midway through the period was the only Laker tally.

Tharpe, who led all scorers with 20 points, and Chris Sheridan paced the locals in the second three-minute period as they combined for all of Calloway's ten points in the second overtime. Sheridan was especially a threat on the Rebel side as the diminutive guard hit all ten of his shots from the free throw line during the contest.

Besides Tharpe, Sheridan and Todd Albritton led the Laker scoring corps with 12 and nine points, respectively. # Prince, Trumbo Pace Hilltoppers To Victory

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (AP) — Mike Prince and Trey Trumbo led a balanced scoring attack with 12 points each as Western Kentucky posted a 71-65 college basketball victory over Dayton Monday night. After trailing much of the first half, Western went ahead 27-25 with 3:02 left in the period on Trumbo's 15-foot jumper. The Hilltoppers never trailed again, holding a 31-27 advantage at halftime.

The boys raised their season ledger to 5-1 with the win. Calloway County (27) — Tammy Treas 10, Rhonda Anderson 7, Beth Hooks 6, Cindy Anderson 4. South Marshall (21) — Tynes 7, Cothran 6, D. Dayton, now 1-4, was led by Jack Zimmerman's 29 points; Jim Rhoden added 17. HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — Eddie Giles scored 21 points and Kenny Smith added 19 to pace the University of Southern Mississippi to an 80-77 victory over Eastern Kentucky in nonconference college basketball Monday night.

The nation's leading scorer, Eastern's James Tillman, was held to only 21 points, 12 under his average. However, he did lead all scorers. The victory raised Southern Mississippi's season tally to 8-7 while Eastern Kentucky dropped to 8-5.

Soviet Government Strips Dissident Leader Of Awards

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government today stripped dissident leader and Nobel Peace Prize winner Andrei Sakharov of a series of state awards. Dissidents said Sakharov had been arrested.

The Tass news agency said Sakharov had been deprived of the awards and titles because of years of "subversive work against the Soviet state."

Shortly before the Tass announcement, an anonymous caller telephoned The Associated Press to say Sakharov had been arrested. The caller said Sakharov's wife, activist Yelena Bonner, soon would be taken into custody as well.

Reporters reaching the Sakharov apartment building reported finding two uniformed Soviet policemen at his door. The police escorted the reporters back to the elevator and said "everything will be explained."

The reported arrest of Sakharov, a physicist once known as the father of the Soviet H-bomb, could not be independently confirmed, but shortly after the first call a second caller identifying herself as Irina Kaplun said Sakharov was arrested on a Moscow street.

Reporters said many plainclothes policemen were milling about in the street near the Sakharov building on the southeast edge of downtown Moscow. Sakharov, 58, won the Peace Prize in 1975, but was not allowed to go to Oslo to collect it. His wife, then an eye patient in Italy, went and received the prize for him.

Sakharov has two children, Alyosha, 23, and Tatyana, 29, who live in Boston, Mass. His first link with the Soviet dissident movement came in 1966 when he joined a group opposing the political rehabilitation of Joseph Stalin's memory.

He then came to the attention of Soviet police after the 1968 publication of his manifesto, "Progress, Coexistence and Intellectual Freedom," which catapulted him to the forefront of Moscow's dissident community.

Since then, Sakharov has used his public appeals to the Western world in a human rights campaign against the Kremlin.

Amnesty International, the London-based human rights organization which won the Nobel Peace Prize in 1976, said recently it had counted more than 40 Soviet dissidents arrested by Kremlin officials since last September.

Some observers here believe the roundup may be an effort to quell dissidents in the months before the Olympics this summer. Some dissidents have suggested that it was also to keep them from speaking out against the Soviet intervention in late December in Afghanistan.

Sakharov has said he and his wife have often been subjected to anonymous threats, house searches, obscene and cruel mail campaigns and other harassment.

Federal Judge Issues Stay Of Execution

LAS VEGAS (AP) — Convicted murderer Henry Deutscher, scheduled to die Thursday in Nevada's gas chamber, has received a stay of execution from a federal judge.

U.S. District Judge Roger Foley on Monday signed an order staying the execution pending disposition of a petition filed earlier in the day by Rick Ahlswede, the deputy Clark County public defender representing Deutscher.

Deutscher, 38, was convicted of the August 1977 death of Darlene Joyce Miller, 37, of Canyon Lake, Texas. Ms. Miller, who was visiting Las Vegas, was beaten and strangled. Teeth marks on her body were matched to Deutscher's teeth by a dentist during the defendant's trial.

Deutscher lost Friday in a last-minute bid to have the Nevada Supreme Court rule that the state couldn't execute him because Las Vegas was not part of Nevada due to old boundary changes.

A similar argument has been raised before in other cases and has been rejected as "meritless" by the high court. After rejecting the argument again in Deutscher's case, the state Supreme Court voted 3-2 against issuing a stay of execution.

The "not in Nevada" argument was included among other arguments raised by Ahlswede in his U.S. District Court petition to stop the execution.

Prosecutor Jeffery Lantz said he will seek the death penalty in the case, expected to be moved from this southern Indiana city.

Wallace, 22, of Evansville, is charged with last Monday's shooting deaths of Patrick Gilligan, his wife Theresa, both 30, and their two children, Lisa, 5, and Gregory, 4.

Police said the four had apparently interrupted a burglar in their home about two miles outside Evansville's city limits. They were found bound, with their coats still on and their car idling in the driveway.
