On State's Current Fiscal Crisis

Will New, Added Taxes Be Imposed By Assembly?

An AP Analysis
By SY RAMSEY
Associated Press Writer

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — When all is said and done on Kentucky's current fiscal crisis, the bottom line is simple to most citizens: Will new or added taxes be imposed on them during the current legislative session?

At this early point, it seems possible, and if it happens, the impetus will be from the administration of Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. rather than the General Assembly, which quakes in its boots at the prospect.

No one in the new administration is saying, or even publicly hinting, that there might be additional taxation, but the specter is in the air every time the financial crunch is mentioned.

If an observer were to guess, these appear the most realistic possibilities:

—Repeal of the 5-cent sales tax exemption on home utilities which was enacted by the special legislative session a year ago.

—Raising the state's gasoline tax from 7 cents to 9 cents a gallon.

—Doubling the car and truck license fees from $12.50 to $25 annually.

The sales tax on utilities was abolished during a special legislative session a year ago, called by Lt. Gov. Thelma Stovall in the absence of Gov. Julian Carroll. Mrs. Stovall then was a Democratic candidate for governor.

By one estimate, it now is costing the state as much as $65 million in lost revenue each year.

Since Brown is projecting a $310 million shortfall in the General Fund for the next two fiscal years, it can be deduced that the $130 million gained by restoring the utility sales tax would help balance the situation considerably.

Another factor is that the absence of a utility tax, though costly to the state, is not particularly noticed by residents who pay their gas and electric bills.

By this token, two of three tenets of a tax cut have been ignored — the reduction is not visible and not substantial. (The third principle is that the cut should be lasting.)

Thus, by restoring the utility tax, Brown might be escaping with the least outcry from the public. In effect, he would be taking the state back to where it was before the special session.

For the Road Fund, the same truth could apply in reverse.

In substance, which motorists would notice a 2-cent per gallon gasoline tax rise in these days of spiraling OPEC prices and $1 plus gas?

Just how badly off the Road Fund actually is cannot be determined yet.

A governor's task force last year said $300 million a year would be needed to maintain an adequate highway system.

But Transportation Secretary Frank Metts told the Senate last week that for $145 million more annually, the state could do the same amount of road work as it did last year. If this means an adequate job, then that cost is only half the dire task force projection, which also has been shot down at a Senate hearing as a valid forecast.

A 2-cent gas tax increase might yield $40 million each year, quite a windfall if the $145 million requirement is valid.

There are other ways to raise Road Fund money from the same source.

For example, the Kentucky tax could be made a percentage of the sales price, which would keep pace with inflation and still might not be especially noticed by motorists.

Or there could be a flat tax per gallon which would rise annually, based either on the Consumer Price Index or the price of gasoline.

The last two gas tax approaches probably would yield more state revenue than merely a 2-cent per gallon raise.

The third option mentioned among possibilities, a doubling of license fees, would produce an estimated $32 million a year — and also probably the greatest citizen outcry of all.

Who would not notice instantly, once a year, that the $12.50 tag fee had doubled?

Such a tax increase would be visible, substantial and lasting to every motorist.

That's one logical reason it may be more on the back burner for the administration thinkers than restoration of the utility tax and increase in the gasoline levy.

PROJECT UNDERWAY — The community development rehabilitation of houses in the north Douglas Community started near the end of January with this house, 301 Pine Street. The house is receiving aluminum siding and some interior work. The project, funded by a $996,000 grant from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, will upgrade the structural standards of 65 to 70 houses, according to Bobby Henry, director of the local community development agency. The grant primarily is concerned with upgrading house structures. House repairs to be made are determined by the agency and construction company bids are accepted on each house with the contract going to the low bidder, Henry said. Area water lines also will be repaired with the funds. A $10,000 limit has been set for each house but Henry said the figure could be adjusted when necessary. Henry said a greenery area along 2nd Street is being discussed as a joint-project with the Tappan Co. A pre-application for the grant was made in January 1979 and the application was filed in May 1979, Henry said. HUD approved it in October, Henry added. The community development agency will seek another grant when the present one expires in September 1981, Henry said. The second grant would go toward curbs, gutters and road repair, he added.

State Budget Hearings Scheduled To Begin

By MARIA BRADEN
Associated Press Writer

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Legislative hearings were to begin today on the proposed state budget — the underpinning of all state government programs for the next two years.

Because the state's financial situation is expected to be so tight, members of the General Assembly have held off consideration of major legislation until they see the Brown administration's proposed spending plan.

The House and Senate Appropriations and Revenue committees have traditionally held public hearings to review the governor's proposed budget, but this year things will be a little different.

For one thing, Gov. John Y. Brown Jr. hasn't proposed a budget.

Instead the governor has asked the chairmen of the appropriations and revenue committees — Rep. Joe Clarke, D-Danville, and Sen. Michael Moloney, D-Lexington — to help him formulate a state financial plan.

The budget hearings will permit legislators to analyze state agencies' budget requests instead of second-guessing the governor's recommendations.

In the past — in spite of extensive review — the legislature has approved a governor's proposed budget with minor, if any, changes.

Clarke said the first budget hearing today would attempt to get a handle on the state's overall financial situation.

State Finance Secretary George Atkins, Deputy Secretary Bob Warren and Revenue Commissioner Robert Allphin were expected to be among those testifying.

The next three days of hearings will focus on various cabinets, probably beginning with the state Education Department, Clarke said.

Meanwhile, the pace of floor action on bills is expected to pick up as the General Assembly enters its fifth week.

The main action to date has been in committees, which have been working to clear legislation for floor action. With nearly a third of the session gone, the House has enacted 17 measures and the Senate 26.

Senate Majority Leader John Berry, D-New Castle, said the Senate's daily hearings on the state Road Fund will be suspended until state transportation officials finalize their budget requests "so we have some concrete information to deal with."

Berry said the Senate might resume its hearings as a committee of the whole in about two weeks. The upper chamber wound up its last Road Fund hearing Thursday still uncertain about the amount of money needed to maintain the state's highway system.

Berry said he was not worried about the relatively slow pace of the first part of the session, saying it is "impossible to deal with this stuff any other way because we don't have the budget."

House Speaker William Kenton, D-Lexington, and House Majority Leader Bobby Richardson, D-Glasgow, said legislation was moving at a normal pace.

Richardson added that he would like to see fewer bills enacted this session.

He attributed the apparent slowness of the first weeks of the session partly to the fact that the administration has not yet introduced the "big issues" such as tax reform, workmen's compensation insurance and professional negotiations for teachers.

Ethanol Funding To Be Discussed

By CHARLES WOLFE
Associated Press Writer

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Representatives of the state's energy, commerce and agriculture departments are scheduled to discuss possible funding for ethanol production with federal officials this week in Washington.

State officials hope the talks lead to a gasoline program that will boost energy production while creating new markets for Kentucky corn and coal.

"We know there are going to be two kinds of money available — (federally) guaranteed loans and Farmers Home Administration loans," Agriculture Commissioner Alben W. Barkley II said in a recent interview.

"It's just a matter of generating enough interest among investors to get into the (ethanol production) business."

The loans, if offered, might encourage a private firm to build a coal-fired ethanol plant in Kentucky, said Barkley, whose deputy commissioner, Frank Waters, is among those going to Washington.

Ethanol is distilled from grain and blended with gasoline to make gasohol. Any fermentable grain can be used, but President Carter's embargo of grain sales to the Soviet Union left American farmers with 19 million metric tons of surplus corn, Barkley said.

Kentucky corn production last year was 132.6 million bushels, or more than 3.3 million metric tons.

"In my discussion with (state Energy Secretary William) Sturgill, initially we need to use corn and coal in conjunction," he said. "The initial thrust is going to be with the large producer because we need to bring that corn off the market. We don't want to see it back on the market as feed for cattle or hogs because it will flood the market and drive the price (to growers) down."

"If we can get the federal government to bless Kentucky with some money, as they have promised to do for this excess corn, there's a real chance Kentucky can become almost energy independent."

Sturgill met in Lexington last month with representatives of distilleries and related industries to gauge their enthusiasm for an ethanol program. An Indianapolis firm announced that day it would begin ethanol production at the Willitt Distillery in Bardstown.

That could be a sign of things to come, Barkley said.

"We have the corn. We have the coal. We can put fewer (pounds of pollutants) in the air by relaxing restrictions on burning coal and using gasohol instead of restricting coal and burning gasoline," he said.

"All we're trying to do is create a situation where (ethanol production) would be a sound investment. The private investors can take it from there."

30 Subjects Notified Of Rights Following FBI Corruption Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — One U.S. senator angrily rebuffed undercover FBI agents willing to pay bribes as part of a political corruption investigation that has implicated eight other members of Congress, a source close to the case said.

This source said the senator, Larry Pressler, R-S.D., was the only member of Congress caught up in the probe who refused to go along with the dishonest dealings discussed by undercover investigators.

Two sources said Pressler was not a subject of the FBI investigation and thus was not among the 20 public officials and 10 businessmen and lawyers visited by the FBI Saturday and Sunday. The FBI completed notifying the 30 subjects of the investigation of their rights on Sunday, one source said.

For 14 months, FBI men had posed as representatives of a wealthy Arab sheik seeking investments, a casino gambling license in Atlantic City, N.J., and legislation to allow him to stay in this country if he were forced from his homeland.

During this time, they paid almost $500,000 in cash to public officials for favors or the promise of them, a source familiar with the investigation said. But this source added that fewer than 10 of the 20 public officials took money.

"Some arranged meetings or did other favors," this source said.

A source close to the investigation said Pressler stormed out of his meeting with the undercover men when it was suggested money was available to win the sheik permanent residence here. "That man didn't violate any law," this source said.

"He told them, 'I don't want anything to do with it. I don't want to touch it,'" the source reported. "He saw very clearly what it was. What he did makes the other cases stronger, because the others could have walked out too."

In addition to state and local officials in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, one source said those who became subjects of the probe were: U.S. Sen. Harrison A. Williams Jr., D-N.J., and U.S. Reps.

John M. Murphy, D-N.Y.; Frank Thompson, Jr., D-N.J.; Michael O. Myers, D-Pa.; Raymond F. Lederer, D-Pa.; John W. Jenrette, D-S.C.; John P. Murtha, D-Pa.; and Richard Kelly, R-Fla.

"My feelings are, having read the newspapers, that I would be very wise to engage counsel, which I've done," Williams said Sunday.

By Sunday, most of the eight members of Congress had issued denials of any wrongdoing.

No charges have been filed, nor arrests made. Sources said federal officials were planning to present their evidence to one or more grand juries, perhaps as early as this week.

Khomeini Condemns Soviets, Pledges Support For Moslems

By The Associated Press

Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini today strongly condemned the Soviet intervention in Afghanistan and pledged "unconditional" support for the Moslem rebels in Iran's eastern neighbor.

In his first comment on the Soviet move into Afghanistan in late December, Khomeini said it is the duty of Moslems everywhere to oppose aggression around the world.

"We strongly condemn the military invasion of Afghanistan," the 79-year-old religious leader said in a message delivered by his son to tens of thousands of Iranians gathered to celebrate the birthday of the Prophet Mohammed.

"We are Moslems and for Moslems there is no East or West, it is our duty to condemn any aggression, that is an Islamic ritual," the ailing head of Iran's revolutionary government said.

Khomeini remained in a Tehran hospital where he is recovering from a mild heart attack while a huge throng met at Tehran's main cemetery to listen to his message as well as a speech from President-elect Abolhassan Bani Sadr.

Bani Sadr, who already has pledged Iranian aid to the Afghan Moslems, delivered a similar message pledging support for "our Moslem brothers in Afghanistan, Palestine and the Philippines." Bani Sadr is to be sworn in before Khomeini today.

Meanwhile, the Iranian government agreed to an international commission to consider its charges against Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and said it "will be effective in solving the hostage crisis."

"The international investigation commission will consider the shah's crimes, his violation of human rights and the return of his wealth to Iran," Ayatollah Ruhollah Khomeini's ruling Revolutionary Council announced.

Foreign Ministry spokesman Nassirosadat Salami said the commission "will be effective in solving the hostage crisis." However, Bani Sadr in an interview with ABC-TV indicated that the U.S. government must help Iran get the shah back for trial before the hostages will be freed.

'Family Sunfest' For City, County Begins

The 10-week "Family Sunfest" program sponsored by The Murray Ledger & Times and 50 participating Murray and Calloway County merchants officially gets underway today.

In addition to the many, many bargains offered by the participating merchants, 21 prizes ranging from $50 in "Sunshine Merchants Certificates" to a four-day, three-night vacation for two in Orlando, Fla., will be awarded to lucky winners throughout the program.

Prizes awarded during the first week of the program are $50 in merchants certificates, which can be redeemed at any of the participating merchants and a $50 U. S. Savings Bond.

In addition to the vacation, which includes round-trip air fare from Nashville, Tenn., the merchants certificates ($50 worth will be awarded each week) and the savings bonds (a total of six $50 bonds will be awarded), four $100 savings accounts from the participating financial institutions will also be given away.

The four savings accounts will be at Bank of Murray, Security Federal, Peoples Bank and Hopkinsville Federal Savings & Loan.

Prize winners will be drawn each week and the only announcement will be in the form of the winners' names being printed as part of the advertisement of the firm where the winner registered for the drawing. Winners will have four days to claim their prize at the newspaper office, 103 N. 4th Street. Winners must be 18 years of age or older.

In addition to the financial institutions, participating merchants include:

Alexander's Restaurant, Archway Market, Blackford House Gallery, Black's Decorating, Brenda's Beauty Salon, Buckingham-Ray, Ltd., Cains AMC-Jeep, Corn-Austin, Crass Furniture, D&T Warehouse Foods, Dakota Feed & Grain, Dunn's Furniture Warehouse.

Local Agent Says--

Force Some Branches Into The Bloom Early

From The Desk Of Jean W. Cloar
County Extension Agent For Home Economics

Anyone can force tree and shrub branches into bloom after a period of cold weather. Besides having beautiful floral displays or using the flowering branches as background for arrangements, by selectively removing branches for forcing, you are pruning your shrubs and trees for better overall growth in the spring. So give it a try! Even a few successes will make it worth the little effort.

Choose healthy branches that need to be removed from your flowering shrub or tree anyway. Trees and shrubs which flower early in the spring form flower buds in the fall before they go dormant. Most flowering shrubs are easily forced; some of the trees are more difficult. Try to find branches with a lot of flower buds. They are usually fatter than the leaf buds.

Cut the branches just above a side bud so no stub is left. Branches 6 to 10 inches long work best. Immerse the cut branches into a bucket of warm water. If they are below freezing when you cut the branches, immerse the branches full length in cool water for several hours or overnight. This keeps the buds from bursting prematurely.

The following list of plants gives you some idea of what

Wednesday, Feb. 6
Quilting Workshop at the Calloway County Extension Office has been rescheduled for 9:30 a.m.

Nature's Palette Garden Club will meet at 1:30 p.m. at the Ellis Community Center with Obera Brown as hostess.

Community Prayer Service for the Iranian Hostages will be held at 12 noon at the First Baptist Church.

The Rev. G. T. Moody will report on his recent trip to Guatemala at prayer service at First Baptist Church at 6:45 p.m.

Middle School Acteens will meet at 6:45 p.m. and High School Acteens at 7:45 p.m. at the First Baptist Church.

Hazel Senior Citizens will have activities from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Hazel Community Center with lunch to be served at 11:45 a.m.

Baptist Women, Baptist Young Women, and Acteens of the Cherry Corner Baptist Church are scheduled to meet at 7 p.m.

Goshen United Methodist Church Women are scheduled to meet at 7 p.m.

Mission groups of the Flint Baptist Church are scheduled to meet at 7 p.m.

can be used successfully and how long you will have to wait until the buds are forced.

When you bring the branches in the house, recut the stems under water. Peel back some of the bark. If you crush the end 2 inches with a hammer or split it several times, the branch should take water faster.

Put branches in a container which will hold them upright. Add hot water (180 degrees f.) no higher than 3 inches on the stems. After 2- to 30 minutes, fill the container with water. A dilute solution of water soluble fertilizer may be added to strengthen the opening of the buds. Keep the container in a cool, indirectly lighted place and be sure you keep enough water on the branches.

When the buds show color, remove them from your storage container and arrange them the way you like. Keep the flowers in a cool spot with good light (but not direct sunlight) for long-lasting blooms.

Here are some shrubs and comments:
Forsythia, force one week, has many yellow flowers.
Pussy Willow, force two weeks, has silky white catkins.

Honeysuckle, force three weeks, has fragrant pink or white flowers.
Flowering Quince, force four weeks, has red or orange flowers—long lasting.

There are some tree branches that force well!

Bridal Shower Themes

"A bridal shower doesn't have to be a mixture of potholders, serving trays and wooden spoons," says expert Marie Smith.

"It should be as entertaining as practical," she says. "With a little imagination you can create an event that's as memorable for the bride-to-be as it is for the guests."

The age-old tradition of "showering" the future bride with gifts to equip her home still applies—but you can give the shower a theme to make it more fun. Following are five suggestions from the Hallmark expert.

—A recipe shower. Each guest is requested to bring a favorite recipe and one of the utensils or ingredients used in making it. The recipes, written on colorful index cards, can be taped to florist's wire and placed in an ivy center-piece as a gift for the bride. An attractive recipe folder or box would be an appropriate gift from the hostess.

—A spice shower. Guests contributed toward a spice cabinet for the couple, and each brings a bottle or tin of spice as a gift. To avoid duplication, specify on the invitation what spice each guest is to bring.

—A paper shower. Many of the household items the newly weds will need for their first home are made of paper. Give guests a choice and carefully record their preference. Some items made of paper are guest towels, paper plates, cups, bowls and napkins. You could also suggest stationery, recipe cards, a calendar or an appointment book.

—A pantry shower. Each guest brings a can of food for the future bride and groom. A recipe using the contents of the can is attached. A recipe box or folder again would be an appropriate nosh gift.

—A plant shower. Real or artificial plants are brought as gifts. The plants are presented to the couple in decorative containers—wicker baskets, pottery, plastic flower pots—chosen to match their decor. Be sure the couple plans to live nearby and transporting the plants is not a problem.

TRISHA NESBITT has been chosen as Valentine Queen for 1979-80 by the Xi Alpha Phi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi. She will represent the chapter at the Beta Sigma Phi International headquarters where a celebrity will select a queen and her court. She has been a member of BSP for ten years and has served her chapter as vice president, treasurer and recording secretary as well as chairperson of various committees. She and her husband, John Paul, reside on Murray Route 2 with their daughter, Christie Leigh, 4. They are owners of J. P. Nesbitt's. Mrs. Nesbitt also serves on the board of the Murray Preschool Cooperative. A Valentine banquet was held in honor of Mrs. Nesbitt at Dakota Feed and Grain.

Painful heels hard to treat

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB: I've had pain in my heel about four months. When it started the pain was so bad I could hardly walk. It is greatly improved now but it's not completely well.

I went to a doctor who specializes in the treatment of bone disorders. He looked at my heel and said it was an inflammation of the tendon that stretches from the toe to the heel. He gave me a shot of cortisone in the heel and told me to return in two weeks if it was not well. If anything it was worse, so he gave me another shot and again told me to come back in two weeks. It didn't improve any.

I cancelled the third visit after hearing it was not good to take too much cortisone. The pain is on the bottom of the heel and spreads to the outer rim in a burning sensation. The most tender spot is in the center just where the arch meets the heel. I know this isn't much help but I hope you can enlighten me as to what I have. Thank you.

DEAR READER: There's no way to be certain exactly what you have without examining your foot and perhaps even looking at an X-ray. The disorder you complain of, pain in the heel, is similar to what many people call a heel spur.

That may be misleading because the little bony spur that develops on the bottom of the heel bone may or may not be associated with actual pain in that area. Some people do have the kind of pain you describe and don't have a bony spur at all. Other people have a bony spur and don't have any pain.

Your description suggests that your doctor was absolutely correct that it's related to soreness and irritation in the area where the tendons and other tissues attach to the bottom of the heelbone. These spread across the arch of the foot. The irritation is often caused by a strain on the arch the constant pulling at the point of attachment.

It's no surprise then that one of the best forms of treatment is to get the weight off the foot so the pulling doesn't occur. From the foot's point of view, the best idea would be to stay off the foot entirely but, of course, that imposes other problems associated with inactivity.

A good foot doctor will sometimes strap the heel to rotate the foot a little and cause you to walk on the outside of the arch. By walking on the outside of the arch, you don't put all that strain across the center arch of the foot and you decrease the pulling effect. A similar approach is to put a little pad underneath the inside of the foot to change the weight bearing effect on the foot itself.

I am sending two issues of The Health Letter that may be of help to you. Number 11-8, Your Feet And How To Care For Them and Number 11-10, Common Foot Problems. What To Do For Them. Other readers who want either one of these issue can send 75 cents for EACH issue with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

People often don't realize how important it is to take good care of their feet. A good shoe is a prerequisite to good foot health. With good foot care that is described in the two issues that I'm sending you, you can avoid many common foot ailments.

Annual Sale

Girl Scout Cookies Is In Progress Here Now

The Girl Scouts of the Kentuckiana Council, including Murray and Calloway County, started their annual cookie sale on Jan. 25 and will be taking orders for the cookies through Sunday, Feb. 10.

Delivery dates for the cookies will be March 14 through 23. During this time until Feb. 10 Girl Scouts will conduct booth sales in shopping centers and other selected locations.

In spite of inflation, the Girl Scout cookie price of $1.25 per box has not been raised in six years. Profits realized by the girls help finance their troop activities all year long, and also help finance camp development and improvement as well as provide financial help for girls to attend resident camp, day camp, or Girl Scout national and international events.

Various types of cookies being sold include Little Brownie Butter Shortbread

Trefoils, Little Brownie Vanilla Sandwich Cremes, Little Brownie Peanut Butter Sandwich Cremes—Do-Si-Dos, Little Brownie Mint cookies, Little Brownie Samoa cookies, and Little Brownie Chocolate Sandwich Cremes.

Special recipes using the various types of cookies are featured in a special pamphlet prepared by the Girl Scouts. The cookies are also wrapped especially for freezing to use in the future.

The Kentuckiana Girl Scout Council includes 50 counties in Kentucky and six in Southern Indiana. Registered with the council are 21,000 girls and 5,000 adults.

LOVETT BOY
Mr. and Mrs. Nicky Joe Lovett of Jackson, Miss., are the parents of a baby boy, Joshua Edward, weighing seven pounds six ounces, measuring 20 inches, born on Nov. 23 at a hospital there. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Blondie McClure of Murray, Mr. and Mrs. Edward E. Smith and the late Max Lovett, all of Murray.

Miss Tammie Gay Bell Wed To Mr. Zacheretti

Miss Tammie Gay Bell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Bell, was married to Philip Joseph Zacheretti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guido Zacheretti, in a December candlelight ceremony at 6 p.m. at the Elm Grove Baptist Church.

The Rev. Calvin Wilkins performed the double ring ceremony. A program of nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Oneida White, Ms. Lori Zacheretti, sister of the groom, kept the register. Mrs. Linda White, aunt of the bride, directed the wedding.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and given in marriage by her parents. During the professional she presented her mother with a long stemmed white rose. Later as the couple left the altar she presented one to her mother-in-law.

The vows were exchanged before a fifteen branch brass candelabrum arch flanked on each side with brass spiral candelabra. The arch was entwined with baby's breath and Australian tree fern. The altar was surrounded by baskets of schefflera and fig trees.

Brass candlelit pew markers with Australian tree ferns and white bows marked the family pews.

Bride's Dress

The bride wore a formal gown of white satin featuring a fitted empire bodice overlaid with chantilly lace, a victorian neckline and lantern sleeves. Her a-line silhouette skirt defined with lace cascades and seed pearls ended in a chapel length train edged in the same chantilly lace.

She wore a matching fingertip veil completely financial with the same lace attached to a camelot designed especially for her gown.

The bride carried a white mist bouquet of white roses,

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Joseph Zacheretti

white miniature carnations, statice and camellia foliage.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Janna Bell, sister of the bride. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Joni McDougal and Mrs. Regina Stephenson.

The attendants all wore formal gowns of dusty mauve qiana with yokes of ecru brussels lace. They each carried a long stemmed ecru silk rose with ecru streamers. The maid of honor wore a headpiece of ecru silk baby's breath in her hair.

Larry Zacheretti, brother of the groom, was the best man. The groomsmen were David Zacheretti, brother of the groom, and Danny Richerson. The groom wore a black full dress tuxedo and had a boutonniere of a white rose with statice. The attendants and the father of the bride wore black tuxedos and had boutonnieres of white carnations.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Bell wore a teal floor length dress of qiana. The groom's mother wore a floor length gown of burgundy qiana with a floral capelet. Both mothers wore corsages of white cymbidium orchids.

The bride's grandparents attending the ceremony were Mr. and Mrs. Ollis Beach and Mrs. Nellie Bell. The groom's grandmother, Mrs. Zella Freeland, also attended the ceremony. They were presented white carnation corsages.

Reception

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. Assisting in the serving were Mrs. Sue Lovett, Mrs. Vickie Garland, Mrs. Carla Zacheretti, Mrs. Tammy Zacheretti and Miss Carla Beach.

Miss Tracey Beach distributed the rice bags to the guests.

Following a short wedding trip the couple is residing in Murray.

Rehearsal Dinner

The groom's parents Mr. and Mrs. Guido Zacheretti, were hosts for the rehearsal dinner held at their home.

The couple chose this time to present gifts to their attendants.

Declarers differ also. Some always try for the maximum number of tricks. The wise choose the best play for only the number they need. Look over today's no trump game that offers a typical example.

West leads the four of spades and declarer wins the king in dummy. He can count on two tricks in each suit for eight tricks -- which suit should he play to develop his ninth trick?

If he plays the clubs and they split 3-3, he will take four club tricks and gain himself an overtrick. However, if the club suit does not behave (as in today's case), declarer will lose the timing to make the game.

West will win the third club, lead another low spade and now it will be too late for declarer to establish a diamond winner.

The chances of finding an even club split are about one in three; the chances of developing a diamond trick are considerably more than two in three. Obviously, if only one trick need be developed, declarer has a much better chance if he plays the diamonds instead of the clubs.

After winning dummy's spade king, declarer should play a diamond to his ace and a diamond back to dummy, intending to play dummy's 10 if West plays low (the play wins whenever diamonds are 3-2 or when

Dear Abby
By Abigail Van Buren

Sunday Sex Sin-Drome?

DEAR ABBY: I am a happily married woman (22) and Mike is wonderful, healthy, robust, masculine man of 25. We've been married a little over a year, and I have a problem I can't ask anyone else about. It has to do with sex. Mike has a big appetite for sex, but I am not complaining. It's his timing that bothers me. He always wants to make love on Sunday morning before mass. Abby, I know that love within marriage is not a sin, but for some silly reason I just hate to go to mass right after having had sex. Lately I have been putting my husband off. But I feel guilty about that.

Do you think I should postpone the lovemaking until after mass? Or keep telling myself I have no reason to feel guilty about it, and just try to get over that feeling. What's wrong with me?

MAGGIE IN MANHATTAN

DEAR MAGGIE: Your problem is rooted in the notion that sex is sinful. You grew up believing it, and even though you're married and there is nothing to feel guilty about, you're still programmed to equate sex with sin. Talk to a priest, or a psychiatrist. (Try the priest first. It's cheaper.)

DEAR ABBY: I have been considering donating my organs for possible transplant at the time of my death. However, I have heard that the family of the deceased is charged for transportation to the special hospital where the organs are removed, and also for the surgery to remove the organs. Is this true?

If it is, I would rather not donate my organs since I do not wish to add to the expense of my funeral. Thank you.

CONSIDERATE

DEAR CONSIDERATE: There is no charge for transportation to hospitals for the removal of organs. Time is so important in the removal of organs that a donor almost always has to be in the hospital at the time of death. (Corneas must be removed within four hours after death; kidneys within 20 minutes!)

There is no cost to the donor or the donor's family for the removal of organs.

However, when one donates his entire body to a medical school, in some states the medical school bears the cost of transportation. In other states, the estate of the donor must pay for it. Check with your local medical school.

DEAR ABBY: You recently published a letter from a reader complaining about a woman who chewed ice continuously. You commented in a funny vein.

She might just be ill-mannered; on the other hand, she could very well be suffering from an iron deficiency. "Pagophagia" is a medical term for eating ice; it is a form of "pica," which is a craving for unusual substances. It's a well-known symptom of iron deficiency.

The woman needs to be examined and a diagnosis made. She might overcome her ice-chewing habit by taking iron supplements.

PHOENIX M.D.

DEAR M.D.: Thanks for the hard, cold facts. I learned something today.

CONFIDENTIAL TO VICTOR IN SACRAMENTO: Do not teach your mynah bird to "talk dirty," or you will be contributing to the delinquency of a mynah!

Carter's Budget And Inflation

By GLENN RITT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter's new budget painfully illustrates the point that double-digit inflation is exacting a heavy toll on state and local governments.

Carter wants to increase federal aid to states and localities by 8.4 percent, from a current $88.9 billion to $96.3 billion in the fiscal year beginning Oct. 1.

But that boost fails to keep up with the annual inflation rate that now exceeds 13 percent and which is expected to run above 10 percent throughout 1980.

"Given inflation, domestic programs and service levels in the fiscal 81 budget will be cut significantly in real terms," says the U.S. Conference of Mayors.

The National League of Cities estimates that the federal aid dollar has lost more than 40 percent of its value since 1972 because of inflation.

And the purchasing power of grants to states and localities — but not to individuals — will drop $10 billion in the next two years, says John Gunther, executive director of the mayors' conference.

Despite this erosion, state and local officials are sounding a pragmatic message about the new budget: Inflation must be tempered and that means "austerity by all levels of government."

"We recognize that with the current state of the economy and the mood of some in Congress, it will take a concerted effort to maintain even the current level of support that state and local governments now receive," says the National Conference of State Legislatures.

In lieu of more money, the National Governors' Association urges Carter to save money by consolidating and streamlining grant programs.

This anti-inflation tact already appears in some parts of Carter's new budget. He wants to consolidate several youth training programs, some health services, and numerous grants for fish and wildlife programs.

A general look at Carter's budget reveals a mixed bag for states and localities.

In raw dollars, the budget would provide increases for Medicaid, anti-recession aid, subsidized housing, employment and training, mass transit, low-income energy assistance, community development block grants, elementary and secondary education, and education for the handicapped.

Because of inflation, however, the actual purchasing power available to officials running those programs would be reduced.

It would cut funds, even in terms of raw dollars, for school lunch programs and so-called impact aid, which helps localities especially burdened by federal facilities.

Carter proposes to continue general revenue sharing for five years, but only at its current $6.9 billion annual level, despite inflation.

As a candidate in 1976, Carter opposed revenue sharing, which provides federal dollars to virtually every local government in the country.

Only recently did he come to accept the likelihood that neither his budget bill nor his re-election chances would benefit by keeping that position.

The president's budget predicts a mild recession, even as inflation persists. His economic advisers expect the unemployment rate to increase from the current 5.8 percent to 7.5 percent. Consequently, Carter is seeking about $1 billion for targeted and anti-recession funds to help states and localities weather an economic slowdown.

Carter also asks Congress for $800 million in new spending to train poor, unemployed youths so they can qualify for jobs. And he would increase the Summer Youth Jobs program substantially, to a level of nearly 1 million jobs.

However, the president lets die a standby public works program that would pump federal funds to localities when a recession occurs.

In a major policy reversal, Carter wants Congress to subsidize an additional 300,000 housing units for poor and moderate-income residents.

That's 25 percent more than the 240,392 units he supported this year, and reverses a three-year slide in the program, which subsidized 325,000 housing units as recently as fiscal 1979.

Local officials are praising this urban thrust, but they say the nation needs to subsidize about 400,000 housing units a year to keep up with demand, particularly as the private housing industry suffers from high interest rates and rising construction costs.

Despite a severe shortage of rental housing, the administration offers no program to spur construction of non-subsidized, multi-family units.

HEARTLINE

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions and solve problems — fast. If you have a question or a problem not answered in these columns, write Heartline, 114 E. Dayton St., West Alexandria, Ohio 45381. You will receive a prompt reply, but you must include a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The most useful replies will be printed in this column.

HEARTLINE: My mother told me recently that she was going to have surgery. I asked her why, and she said she wasn't sure exactly but that it was necessary. I have tried to call her doctor three times, but he has never been in and so far has not returned my call.

I asked my mother to get a second opinion and she won't. She is afraid that it will offend her doctor or make him mad at her. Trusting your doctor is one thing, but this is ridiculous. I asked her if it was serious and she said "not very." However, others I have talked to tell me otherwise.

After several arguments, my mother's final defense was that a second opinion would be costly and if another doctor did not agree, it would only confuse her. I am ready to cry! Can you help. What do you think about getting second opinions before having surgery. I am hoping my mother will listen to you. — K.S.

ANSWER: First, let us say that if your mother's doctor gets angry or becomes offended because you want a second opinion, then it is time to get another doctor.

Second, Medicare will pay 80 percent of the reasonable charges for a second and third medical opinion after the $60 deductible has been met. In most states, Medicaid will pay these fees.

Third, your mother needs a second opinion, and even a third if the first two do not agree. However, we do want to point out that in cases of emergency surgery, there is often not enough time to get a second opinion.

Finally, and it's about time, the Department of Health, Education and Welfare has launched a campaign urging all adults to seek second opinions when faced with non-emergency surgery. Heartline has been urging its readers to do so for over a year.

Ask your physician for the name of another doctor, or select another on your own. Or you can obtain the name of another physician from city or county medical societies.

HEARTLINE: My wife and I have been dreaming of moving to either Florida or Arizona for years. Even though we have been saving for years, the ever-increasing cost of land had all but dashed our hopes until recently. A few months ago we received literature about land for sale in Florida. It looked good, so we sent in a card. Later they flew us down and gave us the V.I.P. treatment. But now they are rushing us.

They say if we don't buy now, we will lose our chance to purchase a prime lot. We never did see the lot that we would be buying and we want to see it first. We want to know more, but they are really pushy. We don't want to miss out on a good deal, but we don't like to be rushed. What do you think? — H.W.

ANSWER: We think that before you rush out and purchase a retirement home you should first investigate. Is it really such a good deal? Maybe. Maybe not!

Have you looked at other lots or other land developments in the same area or in nearby areas. We would say that elderly people whose appetite for a retirement home is making them prone to hasty decisions would do well to consult with a lawyer or a real estate agent. Thirty-five states have some kind of land sale transaction laws. Fifteen states and the District of Columbia have none.

The Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) administers a law that affects mail order sales of land of 40 or more unimproved lots, for sale or lease, in interstate commerce.

Before you purchase land, contact the proper state agency in which the land is located, or HUD, Office of Interstate Land Sales Registration, Washington, DC, 20411, and learn about the seller.

The Story Of Calloway County 1822-1976

The Tappan Stove Company of Mansfield, Ohio, authorized through its president, W. R. Tappan, and the secretary of the Murray Chamber of Commerce, Max Hurt, the building of a plant in the city. The announcement was made by Mr. Hurt in a meeting held in the court house June 4, 1945. Hurt told the convened townsmen that Mr. Tappan had indicated 400 to 500 workers would be employed, utilizing local manpower as much as possible, and paying prevailing wages. It was estimated by Hurt that the plant payroll would exceed $2,000 daily. Location of the plant would be on 2nd Street, Main and the railroad tracks. In addition, the company assumed the obligation of the land purchase. Construction would get underway once the project had been cleared through the War Production Board, a federal agency controlling all building during World War II.

Pvt. A. C. Orr of Hazel, who had been held a prisoner of war in Germany since Sept. 6, 1944, arrived back in the States June 2 after being liberated, according to a message received by his wife, Mrs. Ernestine Orr of Oak Ridge, Tenn.

Few folks in Calloway County were of the opinion that the war against Japan would end within three years, but a shock wave of new hope struck with compelling force in an announcement Aug. 14, 1945, that an atomic bomb had been dropped over Hiroshima, Japan, fatally killing at least 200,000 people, leveling the city, in addition to crippling thousands upon thousands of others of the city of 360,000 inhabitants. Hiroshima was Japan's sixth largest city and reported to be the Japanese Army base. Subsequently, the loss of life as well as the total destruction had been largely exaggerated, but that is the way folks heard the news. The memory of the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor was far too vivid in the minds of our people to entertain room for the slightest personal guilt.

Too many young men of Calloway County had died, too many had been injured, too many had endured the heartaches of a long war, to prepare homefolks for a spectacular victory celebration. The end was near and within a week final surrender of Japan had been made. Instead of boisterous celebrations such as was experienced in Murray the few days before the Armistice of Nov. 11, 1917, of World War I, when black powder packed between blacksmith anvils thundered on the hitching lot across from the Murray Ledger office and gas and oil soaked balls of rags ignited and thrown over the heads of a court square throng, people this time were a somber multitude. During this special occasion marking the end, no anvils exploded, but literally hundreds upon hundreds of our good people marched to their favorite houses of worship to give thanks for deliverance from a ghastly war that had run its course. The nation once again was victorious.

The Public's Right To Know

FRANKFORT — As in every legislative session, there is a number of proposed bills that affect the public's right to know, specifically legal publications to notify the citizenry of governmental actions or proposed actions.

There are 17 so far in this session that deal with mental bodies giving public notice to the taxpayers. Some of them are good, but some are bad.

Many bills are introduced at the behest of some constituent, organization, or group. Some of these have an ax to grind, and some are motivated by the misguided notion that they are performing a public service or saving the taxpayers money.

In most cases, the individual legislator who introduces the bill has good intentions and frankly doesn't have time to study the more than 1200 bills that are introduced every session. A very important bill for all cities this session is granting home rule to all cities, the same law that now prevails for Lexington and Louisville.

Generally speaking, home rule will permit cities of all classes to exercise all powers not in conflict with the constitution or statutes. This bill would repeal a lot of statutes that set out specific limitations and duties for cities from the second through sixth class.

From what I can find out from the legislators, this bill has a very good chance of passing and most cities want it to pass. Frankly, it is long overdue in Kentucky. Cities have been asking for it as long as I can remember.

However, this is the bill that probably sparked the introduction of Senate Bills 23 and 26. The cities fear that publication of all the ordinances required to make the transition to home rule would be prohibitive. In seeking to cure this problem, the bill in its original form (SB 23, making newspaper publication optional) denies the citizens the right to be informed about the course the government is taking. In the future this simple little bill also would deny taxpayers the right to be notified about tax increases, expenditure of taxpayers' money for any and all purposes, etc. In essence, the taxpayer would be left in the dark about what the city fathers are doing.

Honestly, I don't believe this is the intent of the legislators. They are looking at the one-time possible cost in the transition.

However, I also believe that no newspaper in the state of Kentucky would want to put its city in a financial bind in such a situation. After all, the newspaper is a business citizen interested in economy just as everyone else is. In such an instance, I believe the publishers would be willing to negotiate or help any city through such a crisis.

The notification of the public in all the future is what the newspapers are interested in maintaining.

Senate Bill 26 would permit a very brief summary of ordinances and do many other things in city organization. This was the original bill. However, there are some amendments that make it acceptable to the public concerning their right to be informed.

Senate Bill 23, in its original form, would permit notification by mail or circular instead of newspaper publication. To inform the public generally by first class mail would be a prohibitive expense.

A special hand delivered circular to all the citizens also would be prohibitive in costs in most instances.

Some persons have the mistaken idea that newspapers are selfishly interested only in the revenue legal advertising produces. That just isn't true. Some newspapers actually lose money on legal notices. A study shows that legal advertising in newspapers provides only one to one and a half percent of the newspaper's total gross revenue.

The study also shows that the average cost per citizen in a community is only 26 cents per year for all the legal notices provided for him. Legislators and then newspapers should be able to arrive at a sensible method to retain the public's right to know and at a reasonable cost as mentioned above.

Sleets, Hooker, Green, Davis All In Double Figures

It's Mann All The Way In 100-73 Win Over Tech

MURRAY'S MONT SLEETS leaves Tennessee Tech's Pete Abul agape on another of his patented breakaway layups.

By DAVID HIBBITTS
Sports Editor

For Allen Mann, it could have just been the game of his career. But instead, the 6-foot-6 center viewed his 27-point, 15-rebound performance as a beginning for what he can do the rest of the season.

If Mann can continue to clog up the middle and storm the backboards as he did in Murray State's 100-73 disposal of Tennessee Tech Saturday night, he will be almost as good as an insurance policy for the Ohio Valley Conference co-leaders.

"If he can continue to play like that, he will be a big asset," Murray coach Ron Greene said, "since Gary (Hooker) has not played as well since his return.

"Allen has been the difference in our point total. (Murray victory margin against Tech was the same as Mann's—point—total). He's playing within himself."

With only 9:27 gone in the game, Murray had run out to a 26-12 lead, with Mann scoring 14 points on five field goals within five feet and four free throws. He finished the half with 18 points after hitting seven of eight field goal tries and four of five free throws.

"We have to take it to them instead of letting them take it to us," Mann explained. "I can do anything I put my mind to."

"At the beginning of the season, I didn't have my mind on it. I am just myself now. If I play like I did tonight, I'll get 20 or better."

Hooker, who is being hawked by the National Basketball Association scouts himself, declared that Mann could become a professional basketball prospect if he continues to play at his recent clip.

"He was just outrageous," Hooker exclaimed after the game. "You got to give him the glory. He's a scrapper. At this pace it will be hard to control him."

Before Murray's last two wins, 100-74 over Akron and the carbon over Tech, Mann had been averaging 5.4 points and 5.8 rebounds a game. But with 44 points and 26 rebounds in those two games, his averages have escalated to 7.1 and 6.5.

His confidence was especially evident at the free throw line where he finished with seven in eight attempts. Mann came into the last two games having hit just 45.7 percent (16-of-35) but has hit 10 of 12 since then.

Mann's improved aggressiveness has not been an isolated bright spot for the Racers. Forward Glen Green and guard Mont Sleets continued to play with the poise they have shown recently. And Hooker is showing more authority in going inside with each game since he returned from his eye surgery.

For the second straight night, Sleets spurred Murray's offense out of the gate as he scored 12 of his 17 points and had four assists in the first half.

"We came out with the same plan," he said. "We tried to be patient with a 20-point lead (Murray was ahead at half-time, 60-39). We wanted to make them pay for being so far behind."

"He's in the right place at the right time," he said about Mann. "We are getting the ball to him more since he's playing with confidence."

"Before, he felt he wasn't contributing. Now we're getting it to him."

Green added 15 points to the attack, giving him 61 in the last four games. He also joined Sleets as the team leader in assists with seven.

Hooker's gradual return to form included seven-of-10 field goal attempts, 11 rebounds, two blocked shots and five assists.

"I can play harder or defense because everybody is out to help me," Hooker said in crediting the team's balance for his dropoff in points and rebounds.

As a team, Murray hit 60 percent for the second straight game and had 29 assists, just short of its record-setting 33 Thursday night.

For the third time this season, Murray State guard Mont Sleets has been named the Ohio Valley Conference rookie of the week.

Sleets earned the OVC honor by scoring 43 points, hitting 16 of 28 field goal attempts, and totaling 14 assists and seven steals in two games.

FORWARD GARY HOOKER shoots over the outstretched arm Mike Williams as forward Glen Green (21) waits for a rebound.

WALT DAVIS (42) goes up over Tennessee Tech's Carlton Williams for two of his 11 points in Murray's 100-73 win.

DeVoe Predicts Great Future For UK

By CHARLES WOLFE
Associated Press Writer

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky basketball Coach Joe Hall has bemoaned his team's performance since New Year's, but Tennessee Coach Don DeVoe is predicting great things for the Wildcats.

"Kentucky is a great team. Even Hall admitted his

They could be there in the (NCAA tournament) final four," DeVoe said after the Wildcats' 83-75 victory over the Vols Saturday night.

"They have the ability to win the national championship, everything it takes to be a super team," DeVoe said.

Even Hall admitted his team played well against its nemesis of recent years. The victory ended a streak in which the Wildcats had lost four straight games and nine of the last 11 to the Vols.

"It's been a while since we beat Tennessee and we didn't want to live with that this summer," Hall said. "It's getting that time of year when you think about things like that."

The Wildcats used a tight man-to-man defense and grabbed a 22-6 lead from which Tennessee never recovered.

"I thought Kentucky played a whole of a game the first 15 minutes," DeVoe said. "I thought they would play a zone, but wasn't surprised that they stayed man-to-man. They did a good job defensively and took us out of the things we wanted to do."

The action was heated from the opening tip. It reached the boiling point with 4:03 remaining in the first half when Kentucky's LaVon Williams and Tennessee's Kevin Nash were ejected for fighting.

Seventy-one personal fouls were assessed on the night and five Wildcats fouled out. Tennessee lost only reserve guard Ralph Parton, who fouled out without scoring with 55 seconds to play, but six other Volunteers had four fouls apiece.

problem. "The kids who can't bench hadn't played much, but gave it a great effort," he said.

The worst aspect of the game, he added, was Kentucky's abysmal free throw shooting. The Wildcats had averaged 77.7 percent from the line before Saturday's game, but hit just 31 of 46 attempts for 67.4 percent.

"Had we connected on our free throws, it could have been a perfect ballgame," Hall said.

Tennessee's Reggie Johnson led all scorers with 28 points and Howard Wood added 14 in a reserve role. Kyle Macy led Kentucky with 22 and DeVoe said the senior guard "hurt us most. He was the difference." Jay Shidler added 14 points for Kentucky and Fred Cowan 13.

The victory kept Kentucky in a tie for the Southeastern Conference lead with Louisiana State at 9-3. The Wildcats are 19-4 overall. Tennessee, which led the league at 7-0 two weeks ago, fell to 7-5 in SEC play and 12-8 overall.

Murray is now 10-13 for the season.

WKU Stays Even With Murray By Knocking Off Eastern Ky.

By The Associated Press

Western Kentucky managed to stay even with Murray State in the Ohio Valley Conference title race and got off the losing end of a cross-state basketball rivalry Saturday night by beating Eastern Kentucky.

Western Kentucky sent Eastern Kentucky away from Bowling Green with a 74-62 whipping, while Murray trounced hapless Tennessee Tech 100-73 in Murray, Ky.

Middle Tennessee State defeated Morehead State 75-68 in an OVC tilt, while in Milwaukee, Austin Peay downed Wisconsin-Milwaukee 58-56 on a 23-foot jump shot at the buzzer in a nonconference clash.

OVC teams are involved in three nonconference games tonight. Tennessee Tech entertains Tennessee State, Eastern Kentucky is at Pittsburgh and Akron visits Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

"It's been a long dry spell," Western Kentucky Coach Gene Keady said after watching center Craig McCor-muck toss in 22 points and grab 13 rebounds against the defending OVC champion Saturday night. "After two times in basketball and once in football, it's nice to beat them. It's a good rivalry, no doubt about it. And it will continue that way."

Western Kentucky, which raised its record to 14-5 overall and 6-1 in conference, couldn't keep the lid on Eastern Kentucky's James Tillman, who scored 32 points.

The Colonels slipped to 10-8 on the season and 3-4 in the OVC.

"That's the way you want it."

Lady Racers Lose Again

The Murray State women, meanwhile, lost its fourth straight and sixth of its last seven games in an 88-63 setback at Tennessee Tech.

Guards Laura Lynn and Janice McCracken continued to pace the Lady Racers' scoring with 16 and 15 points but were not enough for a Tech team which shot 54.4 percent in winning its eighth straight game for a 15-7 record.

Murray is now 10-13 for the season.

Tigers Rally Past Christian Co.

69-63 Final Overcomes Deficits Of 13-0 and 30-18 In First Half

By STEVE BECKER
Sports Writer

Murray High overcame an early 13-0 deficit and some outstanding Christian County shooting to post a 69-63 comeback win at home Saturday afternoon. The victory was the tenth this season for the Tigers against seven setbacks.

Murray takes on Marshall County Tuesday night, a game in which the Tigers hope to exact some measure of revenge. The Marshals beat the visiting Tigers 79-72 ten days ago.

The Tigers experienced one of their coldest shooting periods of the season during the first eight minutes of Saturday's contest. Murray needed nearly six minutes to put its first points on the scoreboard and finished the period with just six points. The Tigers connected on just two of 14 attempts from the floor in the first frame.

The Colonels, meanwhile, were hitting eight of the 11 shots they shot from the field. Christian County finished the game shooting 59.7 percent from the field compared to 41 percent for Murray. The torrid Christian shooting enabled the visitors to jump into a 18-6 lead at the first stop.

According to Murray coach Cary Miller, the first period slump was just "one of those things that sometimes happens in the game of basketball." Miller expounded, saying, "We were very cold. I can't attribute it to anything in particular; it's just something that you have to work yourself out of."

For a time it seemed that the Tigers would never find the range. Murray continued its icy shooting ways, trailing 30-18 with less than two minutes left in the half. In a dramatic change of events, the Tigers came back from a timeout and ripped off the final ten points of the half to pull to within two, 30-28, at the intermission.

The key to the Murray surge during the final two minutes, was the fullcourt press that the Tigers have employed at different times throughout the season. Murray gave a clinic on how to use the press to its best effect, as the Tigers had three steals and forced two turnovers during this period to pull themselves back into the contest.

Miller described the final two minutes of the first half as the "turning point of the game." "Up to the time we installed the press, we had been very cold," he said. "The press helped us loosen up and definitely got us back into the ball game."

Todd Bradshaw, who got six of his team-high 16 points in the rally, spearheaded the Tiger drive. Robin Roberts and Nick Swift added four points apiece as Murray trailed by just two at the break.

The teams engaged in a wild shootout in the third quarter as they set a furious pace up and down the floor. Bobby Daniel's free throw with 37 seconds left in the period gave the Tigers their first lead of the game at 49-48. Greg Latto dumped in a layup with ten ticks left in the quarter to send Murray into the final period with a three-point edge. The inside play of Nick Swift and some outside shooting by Bradshaw paced the Tigers throughout the period.

Murray took command in the final period, led mainly by the timely shooting of Daniel, and held off the Colonels for the win. The Tigers hit 10 of 12 tries from the free throw line in the quarter, as Christian County scrambled for possession of the ball. Murray's 23 of 28 from the floor for the game was one of its best performances of the year and provided the difference in an evenly matched contest. The visitors hit seven of the nine shots they were awarded from the line.

The Tigers placed five men in double figures, a feat they had not achieved in their previous 16 outings this year. Bradshaw led the Murray scoring corps with 16 points. Horie Crittenden, Daniel and Swift all chipped in with 13 and Roberts popped in 10 as the Tigers broke a two-game losing streak with the win.

The Tiger junior varsity tied its game at 34-34 late in the contest but eventually succumbed to Christian County 42-38.

Murray trailed throughout most of the game but, led by the offensive rebounds of Jimmy West and the outside shooting of David McMillen, pulled even with about three minutes left. The Colonels quickly reeled off the next eight points of the contest to put the game out of reach, 42-34.

The red-hot outside shooting of the visitors proved to be too much for the young Tigers.

West led Murray with ten points. McMillen added eight, all in the final quarter, and Ronnie Pace and Bruce Taylor chipped in with six apiece as the Tigers suffered their eighth loss against just two wins this season.

St. John's Waits Too Long

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The St. John's basketball fans were waiting and ready for the Louisville Cardinals — right down to the thousands of bright, red signs that said: "We are...St. John's."

The St. John's basketball team was waiting, too...but obviously not ready.

"Our quality of play was a nightmare," said St. John's Coach Lou Carnesecca after watching his ninth-ranked team lose a 76-71 decision to the seventh-ranked Cardinals Sunday in a nationally televised game. "We did very little right. When we watch the films tomorrow, I know we'll be unhappy."

Carnesecca's players will no doubt kick themselves over the way they let Darrell Griffith and Wiley Brown slip through for a basketful of inside field goals.

As Griffith emphasized after scoring 23 points: "Our offense is designed to shoot layups. If we can't carry on this offense, we find ourselves sitting on the bench and holding Coach (Denny) Crum's hand."

The Cardinals accomplished all they set out to do, continually flying inside with the skyrocking Griffith and the bullish Brown. That forceful pair helped Crum's team build a 17-point lead late in the game, then Louisville held off a St. John's comeback try.

"It took a while for us to get loose," said Griffith. "St. John's is one of the toughest teams we've played this year. I would rank them with Ohio State (a team the Cardinals beat by 10 points earlier this season)."

The loss stopped a 17-game St. John's winning streak — the second longest in the nation next to DePaul's 20 and the longest at the New York school in 50 years.

"A setback or two is not that important," stressed Carnesecca. "Hopefully, we learned something from this game."

The beginning of the contest was a sparring match, with both teams a bit uncertain. It wasn't until late in the first half that the Cardinals took charge behind Brown and moved into a seven-point lead at intermission, 32-25.

The second half was better for the Redmen, who first fell behind by 17 points before making a charge. Led by Reggie Carter, who scored 23 points overall, St. John's came back to within three points on two occasions. However, the Redmen finally ran out of gas, and, appropriately, Griffith nailed down the Louisville victory with a field goal in the last few seconds.

Purcell Wins SEC Singles And Doubles

ATHENS, Ga. (AP) — Top-seeded Mel Purcell, a Murray, Ky., native who attends the University of Tennessee breezed past unseeded Mike Wennberg of Alabama 6-0, 6-3 to win the singles championship of the Southeastern Conference Indoor Tennis Tournament.

But in a fitting dedication to the University of Georgia's $400,000 indoor tennis facility, the Bulldogs won the SEC team title Sunday with 16 points.

Tennessee was second with 13, followed by Louisiana State with 11; Alabama, 8; Auburn 5; Vanderbilt, 5; Florida, 3, and Mississippi State 1.

Purcell and his teammate Rodney Harmon, top-seeded in the doubles, defeated unseeded Mike Oransky and Drew Meyers of LSU 6-2, 6-3.

SCARED OF GETTING STUCK
IN THE SNOW? DRIVE AN EAGLE.

Let the blizzard blizz! The spectacular American Eagle is the only compact with automatic 4-wheel drive. Its incredible traction takes you through heavy snow in comfort and style.

Eagle's 4-wheel drive automatically directs power for traction when and where you need it. Most Eagle gives you the feeling of stability that comes from four wheels working together. It also gives you the unique experience of enjoying that feeling in a roomy, smooth-riding automobile with independent front suspension. The beauty of 4-wheel drive also shines through in mild and over the slickest roads. And on those perfect summer days. When you're taking that side road drifted over with sand. With a trailer in tow. The smartly-appointed Eagle comes in beautiful 2-Door, 4-Door and Wagon models. Test drive one through the nearest snow. Discover peace of mind in the war against winter.

FARM REVIEW & FORECAST

Of Carter's Proposed Ag Budget

Attention Focuses On Soviet Grain Embargo

By DON KENDALL
AP Farm Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Criticism may develop over other items in President Carter's proposed budget for the Agriculture Department, but for now most attention is focused on how it deals with the embargo on grain shipments to the Soviet Union.

Department experts say Carter's abrupt decision to halt grain shipments to the Soviets, announced Jan. 4, caught everybody flat-footed and threw the 1981 budget process "all out of whack."

But Carter's proposal includes "enough money to do about anything" necessary to help protect farmers from the suspension of grain sales to the Soviets, says Stephen B. Dewhurst, USDA's budget director.

Spending by USDA next fiscal year is expected to be $20.1 billion, down 15 percent from the current year's projected outlays of $23.6 billion.

Dewhurst and others say it now looks like it will cost around $2.8 billion in various efforts to help farmers regroup in the wake of Carter's grain embargo.

About $2 billion of that will be used in the current fiscal year and the remainder in the 1981 fiscal year, starting Oct. 1. But Dewhurst and others caution that those figures are only estimates and the final tab could differ appreciably.

Part of the money is being used to buy some of the 17 million metric tons of grain that was destined for the Soviet Union, with the remainder going into higher price supports, farm storage benefits and other programs announced by the administration.

Congress is digging into the grain embargo situation and some farm belt members are calling for even greater help to protect farmers. Sen. Herman Talmadge, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, has urged immediate action to pay farmers for idling some of their cropland this year, for example.

And Rep. Paul Findley, R-Ill., wants Carter and Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland to offer further assurances to other foreign customers that embargoes are not part of a new emerging U.S. policy.

Farm organizations have supported Carter's embargo, ordered in retaliation to the Soviet Union's military move into Afghanistan, but also have been adamant in their opposition to embargoes as a general or recurrent policy.

If it can be said the $2.8 billion earmarked to help farmers was unavoidable as a result of U.S. foreign policy, another big item in Carter's agriculture budget also might be called unavoidable for a different reason: soaring food costs.

A number of federal programs aimed at improving the nutrition of millions of Americans are involved, including the two major ones — food stamps and school feeding programs.

For example, assuming Congress goes along with USDA requests for supplemental appropriations, this year's government package of food programs is expected to cost taxpayers about $13.1 billion, up from $10.5 billion in 1978-79.

Next year, according to the Carter budget, those programs will cost $14.3 billion and will comprise more than 70 percent of Agriculture's total projected spending in the coming fiscal year.

Food stamp operations alone, computed at around $9.62 billion, will jump from an estimated $8.7 billion this year and $6.82 billion in 1978-79.

Part of the reason for the increases is congressional action in 1978 that liberalized food stamp rules, resulting in more and more people getting benefits. The budget estimates that about 20.4 million people will be in the program next year, up from about 20.2 million this year.

Since food stamp benefits are based on retail costs of groceries, the soaring price of food hits the federal food stamp budget just as it does an individual family's pocketbook. Other federal food aid also is costing more for the same reason.

"All those programs have been zapped by higher food costs and other kinds of inflation," said Dewhurst.

Yet, the Carter budget does call for some tinkering with food programs that could save some money. Among them: tightening up on federal subsidies to states for school lunches and breakfasts, and a proposal — which would require legislation — to boost the cost of "special" milk servings to those children who could afford it.

The National Milk Producers Federation, a foe of early attempts to change the federal milk program, said, "This nation cannot allow its budget-cutting fervor to extend to the child nutrition programs which are so important to the health and well-being of our children."

And the Child Nutrition Coalition, which represents an assortment of education, nutrition and public interest groups, asserted: "We cannot balance the budget with our children's lunch money."

Other cutbacks in some research, conservation, forestry and rural development functions of USDA agencies are certain to bring growls of protest from special interests.

County Farm Bureau Heads To Hold Meeting

Leaders of the 120 county Farm Bureaus in Kentucky will gather at Louisville's Hyatt Regency Hotel for their annual County Presidents and Vice Presidents Conference February 14-15.

The Thursday and Friday conference is held annually during the National Farm Machinery Show and Tractor Pull. Conference participants traditionally combine the business trip and a visit to the machinery exhibits and tractor pull at the Kentucky

Fair and Exposition Center.

This year's conference theme is "Entering the Eighties." Kentucky Farm Bureau President Ray Mackey will kick off the meeting with a luncheon address at noon on the 14th.

County leaders will participate in discussion groups covering a variety of county and state Farm Bureau programs, and selected agricultural topics. Staff members of the KFB Federation, the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and the Farm Credit Banks will serve as class chairmen and discussion leaders.

The conference will conclude with a Friday luncheon, featuring an up-to-the-minute legislative report from the Farm Bureau lobbying team in Frankfort.

Legislative Director E.W. Kesler, along with assistant directors Larry Maggard and David Beck will brief the county leaders on agricultural issues facing the General Assembly, and on Farm Bureau's objectives and strategies during the 3-month session.

Around 125-150 are expected to attend the presidents-vice presidents conference. Traditionally, about one-third will be in the first year of their service at the helm of their county Farm Bureau.

A Consumer Tip from Extension Specialists at the UK College of Agriculture. Avoid shopping in a grocery store or super market when you're hungry or tired, advise Extension foods and nutrition specialists with UK's College of Agriculture. You'll probably buy more and not check for bargains like you would if your appetite is satisfied and you are rested and alert.

Snyder Holds Solutions in Every Capacity.

Snyder's Polyolefin Agn-Tank line has the capacity to meet your liquid storage, transfer and handling needs. Snyder is the leading supplier of polyolefin tanks for agricultural use.

Material, workmanship and manufacturing make the difference.

Snyder Agn Tanks are constructed of a special "cross linked" polyolefin material. A unique, rotational molding process gives Agn Tanks strength and durability. And Snyder's seamless one-piece tanks are virtually corrosion, chemical and crack resistant. An ultra violet inhibitor and green tinting protect the tank and contents against deterioration from the sun's rays.

Styles and capacities for all your needs.

Tractor side mount saddle tanks	55 to 300 gallons
Trim-Vue side mount	150 to 260 gallons
Horizontal Agn-Tanks	110 to 1460 gallons
Vertical Agn-Tanks	25 to 5600 gallons

We also have skids, tank trailers and universal mountings for both the horizontal and Trim-Vue saddle tanks. Come in and see us soon. We'll help you solve your liquid storage and handling problems.

Deaths and Funerals

Final Rites Held For Mrs. Lawrence

Final rites for Mrs. Henry H. (Celia) Lawrence of 321 Woodlawn, Murray, were held Saturday at 2 p.m. at the chapel of the J. H. Churchill Funeral Home with the Rev. Leon Penick officiating and Tommy Hoke in charge of the music.

Active pallbearers were Joe Hal Spann, Bobby Lawrence, Robert Gross Spann, T. C. Collier, Buddy Spann, T. D. McMillen, and Glenn Dixon. Deacons of the Scotts Grove Baptist Church, where she was a member, served as honorary pallbearers. Burial was in the Scotts Grove cemetery.

Mrs. Lawrence, 80, died Thursday at 9 p.m. at the Murray-Calloway County Hospital.

She is survived by her husband, Henry H. Lawrence; two sisters, Mrs. Terry Lawrence, Murray, and Mrs. Herman Jones, Livonia, Mich.

Brown Riley Dies Saturday; Funeral Conducted Sunday

Brown Riley of Benton Route 1, Brewers community, died Saturday at 3:15 a.m. at the Long Term Care Unit of the Marshall County Hospital, Benton.

He was 63 years of age and a retired truck driver.

Mr. Riley is survived by his wife, Mrs. Pearl Riley; one son, Billy Gerald Riley, and two grandsons, Tommy and Jerry Riley, Westland, Mich.; one sister, Mrs. Willie May Copeland, Madison Heights, Mich.

The funeral was held Sunday at 3 p.m. at the chapel of the Linn Funeral Home, Benton, with the Rev. Steve Cavitt and the Rev. R. B. Cope officiating. Burial was in the Brewers Cemetery.

Better Marketing Of State Resources Key To Economic Development

FRANKFORT, Ky. — The key to economic development is better marketing of Kentucky's resources and products, said James K. Navolio, deputy secretary of the Development Cabinet.

Navolio, 39, will assist Development Secretary Larry Townsend in stimulating the state's economic development. He previously assisted Townsend when the latter was commerce commissioner and he also has served as executive assistant to former Energy Secretary David Drake.

Better marketing of agricultural products, tourism and coal "will improve the way of life for all Kentuckians," Navolio said. More business creates jobs, a large tax base and a healthier economy, he said.

Gov. John Y. Brown Jr.'s

James K. Navolio

administration will strive to develop new industries and to expand existing industries rather than to attract business already located in other states, Navolio said. The American economy won't be aided by taking business away from other states, he commented.

Navolio said that America's economic problems, to a large degree, are caused by the trade deficit that results from excessive imports. More U.S. and Kentucky exports will help offset the high cost of oil imports, he explained.

During the next four years the administration plans to encourage the substitution of coal for oil, Navolio said. The best future for coal is using it to replace oil in places like oil-fired generators, he said. Exporting coal to other countries is another possibility, he added.

Navolio said the administration is considering the establishment of export offices in South America and Japan to promote Kentucky exports, investments and tourism.

Kentucky already has a tourism and commerce office in Brussels, Belgium.

The state has a valid and vital role in promoting foreign trade and providing expertise to businesses wishing to export, Navolio said. The large number of Kentucky businesses that export is a result of the efforts of the division of international trade in the Department of Commerce, he said. Six hundred of Kentucky's 3,000 manufacturing firms are involved in exporting, he added.

Navolio was employed by the Sherwin-Williams Co. in Cleveland and the DeHart Paint and Varnish Co. in Louisville before he joined state government. A native of Ellwood City, Pa., he attended Columbia University in New York City. He lives in Versailles with his wife Julia and their four children.

The News In Brief

NATIONAL
SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) — With New Mexico's only maximum-security prison in smoking near-ruin — and at least 32 dead from a rampage in which one prisoner was beheaded and others mutilated beyond recognition — officials pleaded with other states for help in housing inmates.

Hundreds of the 1,000-plus inmates who survived the two-day riot spent the night in tents flown in Saturday for National Guard troops and set up in a recreation field. Temperatures were below freezing.

None of the 15 guards and other employees taken hostage when rioting broke out early Saturday was killed by the inmates who demanded improved prison conditions.

political corruption investigation that has implicated eight other members of Congress, a source close to the case says.

This source said the senator, Larry Pressler, R-S.D., was the only member of Congress caught up in the probe who refused to go along with the dishonest dealings discussed by undercover investigators.

For 14 months, FBI men had posed as representatives of a wealthy Arab sheik seeking investments and legislation to allow him to stay in this country if he were forced from his homeland. They paid almost $500,000 in cash to public officials for favors or the promise of them, a source familiar with the investigation said.

Americans suspected of spying.

Carter's proposal won't be unveiled before Friday, but debate already has begun. Civil libertarians are prepared to argue for the most restrictive standard. Conservatives in Congress seem likely to resist subjecting these tactics to court scrutiny, even in secret.

INTERNATIONAL
By The Associated Press

The Iranian government agreed to an international commission to consider its charges against Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and said it "will be effective in solving the hostage crisis."

Meanwhile, the militants holding the U.S. Embassy called off an anti-American rally in a gesture to President-elect Abolhassan Bani Sadr, who was to be sworn in today.

Brooks Chapel, Bethel Churches Plan For Services

The Steering Committees of the Brooks Chapel and the Bethel United Methodist Churches have made plans for the upcoming events to be held during the month of February in preparation for Evangelism Week, Feb. 24 to 28.

That week will be the culmination of the Southeastern United Methodist's movement to "Proclaim The Word," according to a church spokesman.

Dr. Jerry Carr, superintendent of the Paducah District, will be the evangelist during the week.

Various events planned to precede the Evangelism Week include a Sunrise Service and Kick-Off Breakfast, Prayer Vigils, Cottage Prayers, Fellowship Meals, Youth Participation in worship services, and Home Visitation.

Further information will be announced at a later date, a church spokesman said.
