Jottings from . . .

Jo's Notebook

It appears to be an indisputable fact that the political forays this year, local, state and national are more confusing than they have been in this century.

Rumor has it that the chairman of a Democratic county executive committee nearby is spouting off his support for George Wallace. I always say to each his own, but I think the fellow at least ought to resign his post if he doesn't think anymore of his party or his office than that. If the Democratic party survives in this State, and I think it will, and if this fellow has the unmitigated gall to preside at the meeting in December, some of us are going to wash him right out of our hair.

The greatest worry about the possibility of the Democratic party losing its status as a major party should be with the present local and county officials or hopefuls who hope to be elected under the Democratic banner next year. If the Democratic party fails to receive the specified number of votes according to law, the candidates would either have to change their Democratic party affiliation or petition for a place on the ballot, just as Candidate Wallace has had to do in every State where he is a recognized candidate and where his name appears on the ballot.

Now wouldn't this be some kind of a mess.

Think on it!

A candidate for sheriff might seek petitions to have the Law and Order Party on the ballot; a county clerk might petition to have the Book Keepers Party on the ballot and so on and on. Or these same candidates might join the Wallace American Independent Party and run on that ticket.

Makes me shudder to think of it. What a ballot and again, what a mess!

Well to get down to more pleasant events. Nell Ruddle, the friendly lady who works at the P. N. Hirsch store told me the other day that she went over to visit with neighbor Louise Newton, who was making soap. Well, that news shook me. I have always had a vision in my mind of soapmakers being the gals out on the prairie, boiling up some kind of something while the Indians were running in a circle around the covered wagon.

Tain't so! Louise uses the grease drippings she accumulates from time to time, scoops them in a crock, pours in lye and a little purex and there you have it, a bar of Newton's deep cleansing suds. How 'bout that?

Nell also told me that a lot of people who can't afford these high-priced sun-tan lotions buy a bottle of baby oil, pour some iodine in it, and what comes out, "don't smell too good, but it sure does color the skin."

Well I'll bet it does just that!

Hey, this is National Newspaper Week!

When I was much younger the event often filled my heart with emotion and platitudes about the public's right to know, the power of the press and the lonely courage of an editor flowed from my typewriter like water in a babbling brook.

Age normally takes away a sense of humor, but in this bailiwick it's an occupational necessity, no matter how high the years mount.

A lot of experience has shown me that an editor is rarely viewed in the same light by any given number of people. Some look upon the character as a fool or a genius; they either despise him or love him; fear or trust him; there just doesn't seem to be a middle ground.

But yet it's a great game and one that affords many private chuckles when the day is done.

Take the letter received this week from some kind of a bird brain who sends a letter to the editor (in this issue) citing the disaster that will come when they are no more doves in the world. About seventy per cent are being killed off annually, think of it. Horrors!

Earlier this year a fellow wrote in, just as alarmed, that pretty soon there would be no crows left if we didn't stop this massacre that really contributes much by eating the pests and insects that plague our fields.

Boy, just wait until the Society for the Preservation and Care of Lice and Mice hears about that. They'll pest-er the life out of us to stop this slaughter of insect life that feeds the birds, and roams the ground and makes the grass grow brown.

We've just gotta do something. With no crows and doves we'll all be eaten up by buzzards, that's what!

Well, I hope you have a happy National Newspaper Week. Please celebrate by not saying an ugly

Demo Candidates, Precinct Chairmen Lose Offices If Nixon, Wallace Win

This was the happy scene at Memorial Stadium last Friday night when the Fulton Bulldogs racked up their fourth win of the season. This and other photos on inside pages by Elmer Stewart.

South Fulton Mayor Lauds Reeks, et al

It isn't often that a candidate who lost his bid for re-election gets a public commendation from the victorious opponent, but that's what happened at the South Fulton City Hall Tuesday when the City Commission met in regular session.

Dr. Dan Crocker, South Fulton's young, new Mayor (in age and public service) told the press and other interested citizens that "inventory of the financial affairs" of the city prepared by the accounting firm of Cheeseman, Thompson and Company showed the city was "in a healthy financial shape. The records of the previous administration were neatly kept" and "that city employees were courteous and helpful during all phases of the examination."

John Reeks, defeated in his bid for re-election as City Commissioner on September 3 was in the audience and appeared visibly touched by the sincere appreciation and commendation by Dr. Crocker. The other members of the Commission concurred in the fine status of the city's financial condition.

Reeks ran third in the close election. Clyde Stunson was fourth. The top vote-getters were Elmer Mansfield and Dr. Crocker, in that order. Harry Allison is a hold-over commissioner and the third member of the South Fulton Commission.

DAD'S NIGHT

Tonight (Thursday) Dad's Night will be observed by the Terry-Norman PTA. The meeting will be held in the school at 7:30 p. m. All members are urged to attend.

BE THERE!

The Twin City Barracks No. 2352 of World War I Veterans will meet in the American Legion Hall in Fulton tonight (Thursday) at 7:00 p. m. Election of officers will be held and light refreshments will be served. Irby Hammond, commander, urges all members to be present.

The examination, prepared from June 30, (the end of the city's fiscal year) to September 17, showed cash reserves totalling $157,285.94, in all accounts.

Broken down they are:

General	$14,881.88
State Street Aid	$36,107.59
Bond	$2,062.38
Water, Sewer	$32,791.15
Gas	$28,468.38
Industrial Acct.	$15,019.50
Gas Reserve	$27,904.81

The city has a bonded indebtedness of $504,000.00 for street improvement, water extension, industrial building revenue, water and sewer revenue and tax, natural gas revenue refunding. All bond payments and interest are current with the amount for bonds and interest coming due on June 30, 1969 in the bank, and money left over.

The Commission conducted only routine affairs. It:

- Adjusted and set new assessments on local property
- Discussed trading three old trucks for a more modern garbage truck
- Discussed leasing, rather than buying, a new police car
- Heard James Johnson ask for re-zoning in the Connaughton addition to build a residence type structure to house a beauty parlor
- Heard Clyde Stunson ask for a survey of personal property with the view that Stunson build a private road to the area
- Heard about litter accumulation problems from Ellis Heathcock
- Referred for study the graveling of a down-town lot for parking.

The potential danger and grave possibility of an alliance between the Kentucky supporters of presidential candidates Richard Nixon and George Wallace could be "both frightening and terrible" for the Democratic party in Kentucky, a prominent Kentucky law-maker told the News on Wednesday.

"All of Kentucky's elected officials and all of the potential nominees of the Democratic party face the prospect of total disintegration and destruction. It could well take the Democratic party years to recover from such a happening," the law-maker added.

Basis for the comment is the fact that political parties in Kentucky are governed by statutory law. The law supposes the existence of TWO major political parties.

The law is clear in its definition that in the event the Democratic party runs third behind the Republican Party and Wallace Party on November 5 the prospect for Democratic office holders in Kentucky "is out of the question" a Fulton County public official revealed in an interview this week.

But Democratic public officials are not the only instances of serious jeopardy for the party, it was outlined in an opinion given to the News this week.

Election officials, the Board of Election Commissioners, precinct officers, the Board of Registration and Purgation and many other boards will feel the sharp blow of defeat if the Democrats do not get the specified number of votes on election date.

The most serious aspects of annihilation for the Democratic party in Kentucky, which has a registration of about 3 to 1 over the Republicans and which elected Isaac Shelby as the Commonwealth's first governor are:

1. A "political party" in Kentucky is one which cast at least 20 percent of the total vote at the last preceding Presidential election. If the Democrats of Kentucky do not get at least 20 percent of the vote November 5th, the Democratic Party will no longer be a political party under the law. This could mean that there would be no Democratic Primary in 1969 for any local political office such as County Judge, County Court Clerk, etc. It might even mean that such candidates would have to be nominated by petition.

2. If the Democrats run third in the November 5th election the party will not be entitled to have a member appointed to the State Board of Election Commissioners in April, 1969. The Board would then consist of two Republicans and one Wallace man. This would also mean that there would be no Democratic member appointed to any County Board of Election Commissioners. Thus, the Democratic Party would not have a representative on any County Board of Election Commissioners except in those counties where there are Democratic Sheriffs.

3. The law requires that the County Board of Election Commissioners appoint the four Precinct officers in each Precinct in Kentucky. It further says that the two political parties having representation on the State Board are the ones entitled to submit lists. Thus, if the Democrats run third November 5th it will mean that the Democratic Party could well be denied any Precinct officer in any Precinct in Kentucky next year.

4. The State Board of Registration and Purgation consists of the same members that compose the State Board of Election Commissioners. Thus, if the Democrats run third this November, the party will not have any representation next year on the State Board of Registration and Purgation.

Hanna is pastor of the First Christian Church in Fulton. He, Mrs. Hanna and their young daughter Beth will leave October 14 for Radcliff, Kentucky, where he will minister to the Christian Church.

Negro Youth Leader Charges Discrimination

Howard L. Dillard, a Vietnam war veteran and a student at Paducah Community College continued to air his displeasure with the local civil rights program in the area when he took his case of "discrimination" to the Kentucky Commission on Human Rights and subsequently to the courts on Monday.

Dillard, who appeared recently on an "Operations Communications" panel held recently reportedly told the audience that "riots in this area are necessary."

"Operations Communications" participated in by area mayors, and other community leaders was moderated by Father William Field, pastor of the Catholic churches in Fulton and Hickman.

In his complaint to the Kentucky Commission the owner of a swimming pool in Clinton was charged Monday with failing to admit Negroes to the facility because he believed "God didn't intend for the races to mix."

That charge was leveled against Delbert Mills, 75, and his son, Perry Mac, 39, owners and operators of the pool in the Hickman County community, by the Kentucky Commission on Human Rights.

Glenwood Butler, a field representative of the state agency, said the elder Mills told him in a conversation on August 1 that he would not admit Negroes to the pool.

In Monday's hearing, Mills denied ever making that remark, but he did say that two years ago he had to drain and clean the pool after some Negro boys "slipped" into the water. He said that if he had not drained the water some of his white patrons would not return to use the facility.

Mills and his son said the commission's charges were "more or less trumped-up" against them. They argued the pool is a private operation for their friends and relatives.

The complaint of racial discrimination was filed with the commission by Dillard along with 12 Negro companions, who applied for admission to the pool last July and said they were refused admission.

The elder Mills said however, that he told Dillard and his friends who came to the pool at 11 a. m. that it didn't open until 1:30 p. m. He said they could return then but they did not, according to Mills.

What's Money? Says The Guy With Plenty Of Time To Travel

It has cost Herb Stern $3,000 to travel alone in a private rail car from his hometown, Lincoln, Neb., to the West Coast and back.

"And it's been worth every penny," he said. "I am what is commonly referred to as a railroad nut."

Stern said he had to buy 18 regular fare tickets in order to attach his rail car to passenger trains for the 5,800-mile trip.

The 59-year-old electrical engineer could have made the trip by jet for less than $200. He could have brought along 16 friends in his car at no additional cost, but he prefers to travel alone.

Stern's silver oak rail car was built by the Pullman Co. for the Burlington Railroad 70 years ago.

"I'm pretty sure it's the oldest private car accepted for operation on high-speed passenger trains," Stern said, as he sat in one of the wicker chairs in the living room of his private car. The chairs, like most furnishings aboard, are original equipment.

Cost Lee Than Cadillac
Stern saved the rail car from the scrap heap five years ago when he bought it from the Burlington line "for less than the price of a Cadillac."

"Other people have yachts," he said.

"I have this."
He said he bought the 70-foot rail car for sentimental reasons.

"My father worked for the Burlington from 1889 to 1933. I believe I actually was aboard this very car when a small child. Some of the mahogany cabinet work looks like dad used to make."

The rail car is quite ornate — carpeting throughout, king-size beds in the master and guest bedrooms, French stained-glass windows, a spacious dining room, and all-electric kitchen.

Imported Japanese ceramic wall tile embraces an elegant 19th Century bathtub. "Probably the fanciest bathroom in the whole state of Nebraska," allowed the 5-foot-10 blue-eyed bachelor.

He keeps the rail car on a siding near his home at a cost of $50 a year.

He left Lincoln Aug. 31 and was scheduled to be returned to his Nebraska siding yesterday.

"I Railroad All the Way"

One to two-day layovers were made at Alliance, Neb., Billings, Mont., Spokane, Seattle, Portland, Oakland, San Jose, San Diego and Los Angeles.

Stern said he travels alone in order to devote his undivided attention "to passing tracks, signals and trains."

Tacked to walls are an array of gadgets — barometers, speedometers, clocks, compasses, air pressure gauges. "I railroad all the way," Stern explained, adding: "I watch the tracks, check the speed. Do you know we hit 95 miles per hour on one stretch? The barometers tell whether we're going uphill or straight-away. They tell the elevation at any point."

Stern sits up at night watching the tracks, seeing how signals are functioning. "I'm the last car and my coach has headlights illuminating everything down the tracks for quite a spell."

Signals to Passing Trains
"Conductors on trains going by wave lanterns up and down indicating all's well on our train. I wave a lantern letting them know they're okay, too."

He said he's ready to signal in a horizontal motion if something's

Elected Officials Could Serve Well When Following Advice From National Magazine

— WM. GARY HEAD, MTAS
District Consultant, Memphis

So you just got elected Alderman, Commissioner, Councilman, etc.? Now what are you going to do? In the heat of the campaign, you made a lot of promises and dreamed a lot of dreams. It is now time to carry out the planks in your platform.

The prospect is pretty scary. No longer can you gripe about "the gang at City Hall." You are one of the gang and it is you who must guide the progress of your city for the next two or four years.

Where does one go to learn to be an Alderman or Councilman or Commissioner? There is no such thing as a "natural-born city legislator." Obviously, some learn the process quicker and some have more natural political talent than others, but becoming a good city councilman is an activity which never ends.

One thing which you must accept is that the job you have taken on is not a part-time job—mentally, at least. Being an Alderman, Commissioner, or Councilman is a way of thinking and requires the proper attitude 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

No longer can you consider municipal activity relative to how it affects you personally. You must now look at every item from the standpoint of the community as a whole, or at least the entire ward which you may serve.

There are times when it is necessary to do the will of the people, and other times you will feel compelled to rely on your own judgment. When this time comes, take comfort in the fact that you, as a municipal official, are better informed than your constituents.

Therefore, the first suggestion for newly elected aldermen is: Proceed slowly. The people who voted for you (all of them did) will now claim the right to the first favor and they will be bombarding you with demands.

A corollary to the above recommendation is: Be careful about bringing prejudices to the Board meeting. Particularly this is true about matters of personnel. To you as a private citizen, a certain official may be the source of great irritation. You may feel that the greatest service you can do your city is to fire him or her, but as an Alderman, you may find that the particular individual is doing an excellent job and is one of the more important employees of the town.

Do not be afraid to admit your ignorance, whether you are a newly elected Alderman or one of many years' experience.

Experience is the one irreplaceable part of your education.

However, if you wish to speed the process and make it more valuable, you must READ! READ! READ!

Another phase of the process of educating yourselves is to attend meetings and conferences. Although you and your community will have limited time and money available for this purpose, seize every possible opportunity to attend meetings.

It has been said so many times that it is almost trite but it is nonetheless true: you must know your city. It is insufficient that you are known (you had to be known to be elected); but you must be familiar with every aspect of your community and its people. What you don't already know about politics and political behavior, you must study. You should be in constant touch with every group in town and know about their opinions, wants, needs, aspirations, and desires. Your choice is to blend these into a reasonable city operation.

In order for your city to progress, it is necessary to identify community goals. As has been previously emphasized, this is not a matter of dreaming; it is a dynamic process of combining dreams with practical politics. The result should be the highest ideals which the general population will accept.

Do not hesitate to take good ideas wherever you find them, even from your enemies. There is room for, and a need for, all of the progressive suggestions available, from whatever source.

Resolve to handle personnel matters in a business-like fashion. An air of mutual confidence should prevail between the Board of Aldermen and the employees. A few simple rules can spell the difference between success and failure in this area. Try to avoid giving orders to individual employees. Pass your complaints, suggestions, and orders through the proper chain-of-command for your city. If you do not understand the organization or are not satisfied with it, professional assistance is available to clarify it.

Employees should be supported in public and criticized in private.

A few final words are in order about Board meetings. Take Board meetings seriously but not too seriously. It may sound elementary, but Board meetings should be held regularly and at the time and place designated in the city charter. Many towns fail to comply with these provisions. The result is undesirable legally and politically.

Do your homework for the Board meeting. It is very disconcerting to have to wait until the next meeting for a decision when there has been sufficient time for studying the problem in advance.

A last admonition is to attempt to avoid decisions based entirely on whether or not it will affect the outcome of the next election and your consequent re-election. When you are attempting to resolve an apparent conflict between the good of the city and re-election, please read The Athenian Pledge:

We will never bring disgrace to this our city, by any act of dishonesty or cowardice, nor ever desert our comrades; we will fight for the ideals and sacred things of the city, both alone and with many; we will revere and obey the city laws, and do our best to incite a like respect and reverence in others; we will strive unceasingly to quicken the public's sense of civic duty; that thus in all these ways, we may transmit this city, greater, better, and more beautiful than it was transmitted to us.

POET'S CORNER

Dear Editor:

Pride seems to be a part of our problems of today. Why can't we realize we are all human beings, regardless of color, and try to think of it that way, maybe in this form:

PRIDE

Break down that wall of pride, dear ones,
Let God's lovelight shine in,
You'll hold no hatred for anyone,
For you'll be free from sin.
Can't you forgive a life-long past,
As God forgives our sin?

If not, you'll find yourself at last
Left stumbling in darkness, and then—
"From me depart," you will hear him say,
"I never knew you anyway,
You never accepted me within your heart,
You only said so one day.

For where I am there is no hate,
For hate has not a place.
For I am love, that is my name
And I show within your face."

Mr. Editor:

Please give me space in the News to plead in the defense of our native doves. Each year over 70 percent of all doves in North America are eliminated. A few by the forces of nature, but by far, the large majority are massacred by bird hunters here in the United States.

According to information from the United States Department of the Interior, the annual legal kill far exceeds 35 million doves. The crippling losses exceeds 25 percent of the bag. This leaves millions of broken and pining birds to suffer days, even for weeks before death sets them free.

For dormant targets millions more are killed with slingshots, arrows, BB guns and with small rifles but never picked up. The kicks are in seeing them fall. In just ending a life.

As friends of the farmers, a dove eats up to 10,000 noxious weed and grass seed each day of its life. There are about 2 1/2 ounces of meat to each dove, and they are the only birds hunted while brooding their young in the nest.

The dove has long been the emblem of innocence, purity, beauty, peace, life, love, hope and of immortality. Since the baptism of Jesus the dove has been one of the

THE ZERO STONE, by Andre Norton. A mysterious stone, born of worlds long extinct, is the key to powers unimaginable to man—powers that could enable its owners to control the universe. Murdec Jern, gem trader, finds that possession of the stone has led him to the center of a web of intrigue and murder.

TODAY I AM A HAM, by Ethelyn M. Parkinson. When Eric Crane decided to become a ham operator, the results were mostly wildly funny. Only Eric wasn't tickled. It was serious business with him. As he said, it all began the day he was born. Eric was the first baby of the

THE BATTLE OF ST. GEORGE WITHOUT, by Janet McNeill. This is the story of Matt McGinley and his friends who lived in Dove Square, a no-longer elegant part of the city. Seven or eight families crowded into houses which had been built for one. Matt wasn't always sure whether it was too many cats the square contained or too many people.

TRAIL OF APPLE BLOSSOMS, by Irene Hunt. As the Bryant family struggled from Boston out to the Midwest and a new life, Hoke Bryant and his little sister, Rachel, encountered a friend whose memory stayed with them all the days of their lives. This friend was the man people called "Johnny Appleseed."

THE SECRET OF THE ROSEWOOD BOX, by Helen Orton Fuller. When the King family journeyed westward from New York State to Michigan to make a new home, young Charley and his sister Mabel shared the fun and work and adventure of settling in the wilderness and helping it to become a place of homes and neighbors. Kentucky's Cattie Lou Miller Speaks To Travel Editors

Miss Cattie Lou Miller, of Frankfort, Ky., addressed the Society of American Travel Writers (SATW) in Vienna, Austria, on Oct. 9 at the Society's annual convention, SATW President Robert S. Kane has announced.

Miss Miller, now Executive Assistant to Ky. Lt. Gov. Wendell H. Ford, was Kentucky's commissioner of public information from 1960 through 1967.

"We chose Cattie Lou Miller as our convention speaker because of her outstanding success in tourist promotion and in dealing with the nation's travel press," Kane said. "Under her guidance Kentucky had a truly excellent and effective travel-promotion program."

"The program she headed moved Kentucky's travel attractions to the front-and-center of national publicity. In the travel promotion field she is one of the most outstanding people on the North American Continent," he said.

Kane, of New York City, is author of the popular A to Z series of books on travel and is travel editor of Cue Magazine.

In Frankfort Miss Miller said, "It's a fine opportunity to update the travel writers on new attractions developed in Kentucky since SATW held its annual convention in Kentucky in 1965."

"There have been major new developments for tourists in every section of Kentucky, and few if any other states have had developments of equal worth," Miss Miller said.

Among examples she cited of developments since 1965 are the opening of major facilities in Western Kentucky's Land Between the Lakes National Recreation Area; the opening of restored Shaker town buildings, near Harrodsburg, including the Shaker Inn and "one of the finest dining rooms in the South"; the Headley Biblot (Jewel) Museum at Lexington; the addition of 121,942 acres to the Daniel Boone National Forest; the impoundment of Fishtap Reservoir; the nearly-complete Green River Reservoir; and a development of trout fishing on Lake Cumberland so successful that a Federal trout hatchery will be built there; Actors Theatre, with an excellent resident professional company, in Louisville; the Louisville Zoo; Kaintuck Territory, at Kentucky Dam; the Frame House Art Gallery, and a robust new Kentucky wildlife art movements growing out of the Ray Harm phenomenon; and new park lodges and other facilities to open next year at Lake Barkley and at Barren Reservoir.

"On top of all this," Miss Miller added, "Mr. (Fess) Parker has announced that he will build a $13½ million Frontier Worlds tourist development in Northern Kentucky, to be open in 1970."

"That knocks the top out of the thermometer!" she said.

In Vienna Miss Miller will be the guest of the Austrian Travel Association.

They could have danced all night and probably did with good reason. The Fulton High Bulldogs racked up their fourth straight win of the football season. And it was homecoming too!

Homecoming Festivities Climaxed By Victory Celebration Dance

From the FHS "Kenne!"

Well, it looks like our big seniors have done it again! This is the fourth year they have won the magazine drive. They totaled $888.54. The freshmen came in second with $713.30, the sophomores came in third with $661.19, the juniors came in fourth with $652.41. All four classes together had a total of $2915.44.

Dee Fields was chosen as the Senior candidate for Homecoming Queen and will reign as the Homecoming queen of 1968-69, since her class won the magazine drive. This pretty brunette takes part in class activities and takes time to be nice to all. She is a member of the Methodist Church and vice-president of the Explorettes. Dee has held many positions during her school days, such as Public Relations and candidate for Miss FHS her junior year. She was nominated personality her freshmen year. This year Dee is FHS president, a member of the Quill and Scroll, National Honor Society, French Club, Future Teachers of America, and Nurses Club. Dee is on the advertising staff of the Annual and holds the position as business manager on the Kenne!

This year Shelia Barron was chosen as the homecoming queen candidate from the junior class. Shelia is a member of the Nazarene Church, where she is secretary of her Sunday School Department. In her freshman year, Shelia was chosen public relations officer and was a class personality. This year she is serving as an officer in the Future Homemakers of America and is a member of the Future Nurses Club. Shelia is also an honor roll student and her favorite subjects are English and home economics. After graduation, she plans to enter college where she will major in either home economics or English. Besides participating in the school activities, Shelia is also a member of the Explorettes. She is especially interested in dancing and sewing and is an avid sports fan. Two of her particular favorites are baseball and football.

Anita Cash, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Z. Cash, represented the freshmen class as their football queen candidate. Anita was nominated by the freshmen football players on the basis of personality, attractiveness, and high grade standings. Capturing the nomination for football queen must be a hereditary trait in the Cash family, for all three of Anita's older sisters have been candidates for football queen, two of which captured crowns.

Anita is fourteen years old, and has been a member of the Fulton City School System ever since entering the first grade at Terry-Norman. She is a member of the Future Homemakers of America Club, and worships at the First Baptist Church of Fulton.

Anita's favorite subjects are English, Home Economics, and history. History she says is very interesting, and captures her imagination.

Liking to read, Anita likes to read teen-age stories best of all. She also likes to cook.

As a climax to a week filled with ordering mums, pep talks and buying tickets, Homecoming night arrived.

In a flurry of excitement the queen and her court, the Fulton High Band and six excited cheerleaders paraded through town and onto the field for pre-game ceremonies.

The Fulton Fire Department led the parade followed by the band and then four cars carrying the queen, attendants and the cheerleaders.

At 7:25 the band marched through the gate and down onto the field. Phil Rose followed driving a Mustang which carried Cindy Craven, Cindy Pewitt, Allison Miller, Kirk Vowell entered the stadium driving a Rambler which contained Donna Wall, Rita Craven and Karen Treas. A white Pontiac came round the corner and up the field driven by Mr. Billy Milner. In this car were three excited girls, because they were the queen's attendants: Janet Williamson, Anita Cash, Shelia Barron. And last but certainly not least was Queen Dee. She was escorted in a yellow Corvette driven by Marshall Burgess.

As the cars proceeded slowly in front of the stand, to the opposite side of the field, spectators gasped at the beauty of the queen and her court. The band marched onto the field, football boys lined up to escort the celebrities of the night.

Attendants followed as the band played "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" Anita Cash, Janet Williamson, Shelia Barron and Queen Dee were escorted across the field.

Little Andy Nelson came forward bearing the queen's crown. Dennis Lohaus and David Peoples took the crown from a blue pillow. Both Dennis and David placed the crown on her head and kissed Dee.

Fulton Bulldogs pray for another victory and the ballgame is underway. Cheers merge to a constant roar as Fulton scores by Bill Smith. In the beginning of the second period, David Winston galloped down the field to put the score 13-0. David Peoples scored the third touchdown and Kim Homra placed the score at 25-7 at half-time.

The second half was a repeat as the Fulton Bulldogs out-played their opponents.

The dance followed the victory and climaxed the evening. Congratulations, Bulldogs on a job well done.

FRANKLY SPEAKING: The

mechanic looked at the rear end of my clunker and gave me the sad news: "Transmission: Impossible" . . . I like the description of the girl who's not a great beauty: "She's the type who'd wear a see-through gown and get compliments for her shoes."

—Don I. Frankel.

From the FHS "Kennel"

Well, they sure got us back in the old rut fast; didn't they. Don't tell the freshmen; they think it's fun!

I had more fun at the city dump. I shouldn't have said that.

One of our favorite pastimes has been taken away from us. (That is, officially, anyway.) Coach Shanks made some of the swifter people stop running to the cafeteria. Come on, come on, come on, Coach, let us turn it on, turn it on, turn it on.

Actually the only reason everybody runs to the cafeteria is because of the good food. Ha! Anyway, we get all the mustard and ketchup that we want. If you don't believe that just try and eat there the next time they serve hamburgers or simply ask Mr. Bushart. He'll tell you all about it.

I don't know, I guess the people who are the best liked in the cafeteria were just born that way. Chuck Curtis, Dave Peeples, and Charlie Hefley are a few of these popular people. W. C. Fields once said, "Somewhere there's a sucker born every minute."

Hey, baby! What about that magazine contest? Well, don't feel too bad juniors. The seniors have to graduate sometime. Maybe next year they'll let you have a car wash to buy magazines with.

I guess everyone knows we beat . . . Oh nuts! Who was it? Murray who? Well, I guess it's not important.

Another heartbreaking change has taken place since last year. Remember the good ole days when you could carve your name and a brief autobiography in the desks? In case you haven't noticed they took them away from us. Now we'll never know what happened between 1920 and 1968. Then again, history repeats itself, especially around here.

Some things never change, though. For instance, Mr. Bushart still wears the same old sport coats and ties that never match and that same old after-shave lotion.

The biology students still have to collect the same old insects. The seniors have to read the same old Shakespeare. Third-hour study hall is still No. 1. Fourth-hour study hall is still No. 6.

TAKE A STRETCH!

Driving a long distance? Don't forget to get out and stretch every 100 miles, at least, the All-state Motor Club says. Have a soft drink or coffee. Get the blood circulating properly again and keep from dozing off. Long drives are a hazard when you're not careful.

Shoplifting Shows Big Increase

Shoplifting convictions have increased nearly 100 percent in the last five years according to Ivan Jett, Executive Vice President of the Kentucky Retail Federation.

Shoplifting losses are costing Kentuckians about $25 million annually and this results in higher prices. Jett stated that he thought the public, the courts, and the law enforcement agencies were finally becoming aware of the enormous losses and the importance of controlling this crime.

Unfortunately, he said, too many people think that shoplifting losses are solely the retailer's problem, whereas it is the problem of every one and everyone pays a price when crime is not controlled.

Four Frosh Teachers Invade FHS

From the FHS "Kenel"

Fulton High School has added four new teachers to its faculty. They are as follows: Mr. Newton, Mr. Matthews, Mrs. Powell, and Mr. Shanks.

Mr. Newton was a 1966 graduate of Murray State University. He is the assistant high school football coach. He also teaches U. S. History, Kentucky History, and World Geography in Junior High School. "I like the friendly relationship among teachers and students and the smaller, more personal classrooms," he also stated that he enjoyed the athletic program.

Mr. Matthews, a 1968 graduate of UT of Knoxville, is the new Algebra I, physics, and earth science teacher. "I like the friendly atmosphere, spirit of cooperation, and helpfulness I sense in the administration and student body. I like the tremendous school spirit, especially my homeroom; (junior boys) when they tell me that we're the Bulldogs," Mr. Matthews said that he disliked the very small minority of people who dislike FHS along with what it stands for. He also stated that he disliked it when they try to downgrade our school rather than support it with all they've got.

Mrs. Powell, a 1965 graduate of Murray State University, teaches art in high school and junior high school. "I like the student response and the high interest in the students. Each student seems eager to learn and to participate," Mrs. Powell said that she liked the aims of the school and the administration. I like the good school spirit and the loyalty to FHS."

Mr. Shanks, a graduate of UTMB in 1968, is the head high school football coach. He also teaches Driver's Education, P. E., and health. "This is a very nice school and the students are very easy to get along with."

This smiling quartet is out to make your day a little more fun and a lot more challenging, so let's "turn it on" people.

AUSTIN SPRINGS

By Mrs. Carey Fields

Rev. A. L. Wade of Dresden was the visiting minister at New Salem Baptist Church the past Sunday and filled the pulpit at 11 a. m. and the evening worship begins with 3. T. U. meeting at 6:30 p. m., followed by worship service. Deacon Burnett Lintz called the church in conference, at which time the church letter was read by Howard Harris and was approved. A good attendance was had at Sunday School and church service, many visitors attending.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Grover True, who celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary the past week. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rickman of nearby and Mr. and Mrs. Bell Farmer of St. Louis were dinner guests. They received many cards from friends and, although the day was spent quietly in their home, they have the best wishes of a wide circle of friends who so well know and love this fine couple.

Leslie Lassiter, U. S. Army, arrived home the past week from Aberdeen, Md. Proving Ground, accompanied by his four-year-old son Richard. Leslie has a fourteen-day furlough and will report to Fort Dix, N. J. From there he will go to Germany for his one year tour of duty. He is the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Buton Lassiter and entered service on March 15, had his basic in Fort Campbell and spent fourteen weeks in Aberdeen Proving Ground, being graduated there two weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Basil Mathis left the past week for Hickory, N. C., for several days visit with their son, Harold Gene Mathis, and wife and enjoying their vacation as well.

Get-Well wishes are extended to Rev. T. T. Harris, who is a patient in Hillview Hospital after falling at his home the past week. He has no broken bones, but suffering from some minor injuries, such as bruises and shaken up.

Mrs. Dave Mathis isn't feeling quite as well at this writing, although up and around the house. Mr. Mathis remains about the same as at last report.

Combining of early crop of beans started here the past week and, although the crop has been cut considerably during the long hot and humid weather during the summer, the yield is far better than at first anticipated.

I have just spent the week end with my brother, Buton Lassiter, and family in District No. 1. Other house guests were: Leslie Lassiter, U. S. Army, and his son Richard, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lassiter and sons Mark, Stevie and Barry Keith of Martin. All of us had a nice visit and attended church at New Salem.

A MESSAGE

from Win Whitnel of the Whitnel Funeral Home:

A recent ruling of the National Funeral Directors Association states that the price of a funeral, like any other commodity, may be advertised.

We agree with this ruling. We believe that it is the obligation of the funeral director to provide services in a wide range of prices that every family can afford. All through the years we have done just that.

We offer top quality merchandise and unexcelled service. We have plenty of room in our chapel to serve you adequately and comfortably. The Whitnel Service is a beautiful tribute to the memory of your loved one... regardless of the price of the funeral.

PASTURE STRETCHERS

Last week while visiting with Mr. Earnest Maloney near Troy he carried me to the back side of his farm to show me a pasture that he has seeded and fertilized. We always like to observe good improved pastures and Mr. Maloney is convinced that properly fertilized pastures will always furnish more than twice as much grazing as unfertilized pastures. The Maloney pasture has a perfect stand of orchard grass with an adequate amount of clover in the pasture. A lot of the success a farmer has with improved pastures depends on the proper management of a pasture and it was evident from looking at the pasture with Mr. Earnest Maloney that he was managing the pasture perfectly.

Another good beef cattle producer that we visited with last week Mr. Jimmy Cude was busy renovating his permanent fescue pastures. Mr. Cude was using a pasture dream sod seeder to fertilize and add Kenwell Fescue, Clair Timothy, Red Clover and White Clover to his permanent pasture. Kenwell Fescue is a new fescue that is more palatable than old Kentucky 31 and Clair Timothy is a new Timothy variety that is gaining fast in popularity. Mr. Cude has renovated some of his pasture land every year for several years and his good angus calves are ample evidence that it pays to fertilize pastures as well as row crops.

EXTRA BEEF PROFITS FROM GRAZING

Are you realizing any returns from corn silage or soybean acres during the winter? Some more enterprising farm owners are following these crops with fast-growing grazing crops during winter and early spring and receiving extra returns. Out of pocket costs are running $20 - $25 per acre while gross returns are reaching $90 - $100 per acre.

Some recent Experiment Station reports are showing per acre gains from 425 to 450 pounds over 10 year periods. These gains were from oats, ryegrass or a combination of the two. These crops along with rye and wheat are well adapted to double cropping following silage or soybeans.

Permanent pastures at the University of Tennessee Station also showed excellent beef gains from steer grazing trials. During summer grazing periods from 1 April to August 15, beef gains of 253 pounds per acre were recorded for Orchardgrass - Ladino Clover. Gains from Fescue - Ladino Clover pastures were 189 pounds per acre during the same period. These pastures were rested for 90 days and grazed during the winter months from 15 November to 1 April. Additional gains of 119 pounds for Orchardgrass pastures and 130 pounds for Fescue pastures were recorded.

The combined grazing periods resulted in 372 pounds of beef per acre for Orchardgrass - Ladino pastures and 319 pounds for Fescue best loved symbols of the Holy Christian Church.

- Ladino pasture. Returns per head were $34 and returns per acre were $31.

To each admirer of animated art, doves are birds of living beauty, and their voice gives the sweetest notes this side of Heaven. The doves' domestic desires are, to be man's garden companions, and the guardians of his fields and vineyards.

There ought to be laws, state and federal, giving the mourning doves back to a kinder, gentler people, for the beloved birds, they so truly are.

Howard H. Caudle

(Ed's Note: The following letter, from a News subscriber in Hickman apparently answers a statement made in the Hickman Courier that Father Bill Field, pastor of the Catholic Churches in Fulton and Hickman, had been "ostracized" from his Hickman congregation.)

(While the letter might appear to be one of internal controversy in a religious denomination, it also has some bearing on the county's War On Poverty program, which also appears to be fraught with controversy.)

(Although the letter is thought-provoking, it does not necessarily represent the views of the editors and publishers of this newspaper. The changes in the Catholic Church are of news value in this changing world; therefore the editors feel this letter justifiable. It is printed verbatim.)

Hickman, Kentucky
September 21, 1968

Dear Editor:

There's always two sides to every thing and the recent editorial in the Hickman Courier gave one side and I as lifelong member of the Catholic church in Hickman would like to give the other side.

Our people were not against Head Start, but against turning our school building over for the program rent-free. After having fought and sacrificed for 40 years to keep Sacred Heart School going, forced to transport our children, as they were not allowed to ride the school buses of the public school and not getting any free text books, yet all of our membership paying taxes and having to pay tuition for sending our children to the parochial school.

To have our school closed with very little warning and asked to house this government program at a time when the public schools were out for the summer, with ample space for the program, caused a difference of opinion between priest and people.

We realize that Fr. Field came to Sacred Heart as pastor, at a time when change was going on in regard to our church laws, which needed up dating perhaps, in our fast moving world. And we went right along with the changes, such as, having our Mass service in the English, instead of the Latin of the past; turning our altar around to face the people, instead of having the priest say Mass with his back to the congregation; congregational singing, which also now includes hymns of our Non-Catholic people; relaxing our law of abstaining from meat on Friday, which now enables our hostesses to plan meals without worry of serving meat on Friday, though some of us still do without meat for the same reason, that Christ died on Friday.

Now the big issue between priest and people or really between priest and Pope, is for his stand on

Dear Paul and Jo:

In recognition of National Newspaper Week, let me take this opportunity to congratulate you on the fine job being done by your paper.

Newspapers in America have historically been the media of the people. Down through the years, the American people have regarded papers as the best way to stay informed on events affecting their everyday lives.

The newspaper in America has become a tradition, a way of life. And newspapers today uphold this tradition. I think it is fitting that we take one week out of the year to recognize and honor the tireless editors, publishers, reporters, and others who work day and night to give us, the American people, the facts about current events.

Congratulations to you and your staff on a job well done.

Sincerely,

Birth Control, which the world itself is clamoring for. Yet how many of us, especially the youth of today, may not have had the opportunity to have been conceived, much less born, had our church believed in birth control at that time.

It would be so much easier for Pope Paul to openly state, to all his followers, "let Catholics follow their consciences," than to take a firm stand in what he actually believes is the Law of God, to give everyone a chance to be born. If our population today is too great, why are doctors fighting so hard and so expensively to transplant organs from people just drawing their last breath, into humans able to afford the operation to prolong their lives, maybe a few years longer, when after all God is the one who should have full control over a person's life. For as Christians are we not taught that God in His Heaven has full control and has greater things for those who love Him than this old world contains?

And, too, why limit the offspring of the legally married and encourage illegitimacy by paying mothers welfare for their offspring, to be raised without even knowing who their father is, which probably accounts for much of the confusion our youth of today find themselves in. This is really unfair to the new born child, to be deprived of his birthright. And too, why in our land of plenty is the government paying such enormous prices for idle ground, when so many are starving or ill-fed? Why could the government not pay for this land with the idea it is to be used for truck patches, worked by the less fortunate, for their own use in feeding their families. This would serve two purposes for the ground-keep crops out of production and feed the hungry of our nation.

No, Head Start we were not against, but opening our school Rent Free right after it being closed we were opposed to.

Sincerely,

R. Stewart

(This was sent to editor Ro Gardner right after his editorial appeared in the Hickman Courier on Sept. 19, 1968 but he hasn't printed it yet as I had asked him not to change it as he usually does articles I've given him in the past.)

It's easy-when you know the answers

All of life is not far removed from the classroom. There are truths to be learned every day. And there are questions to be answered.

But some people don't have the answer when they need it. And some people do...

Any teacher will tell you it's a question of preparation. And any preacher will tell you the same.

The people who go to church on Sunday have no more problems than those who stay home. Nor do they expect as a result to have any fewer.

They believe simply in preparation—preparation of the mind, conscience, heart and soul... faith.

This is the preparation God offers men... for the questions that will confront us all tomorrow!

Other members of the commission hearing the complaint were: William F. Billingsley, South Ft. Mitchell, Elmer Korth, Henderson, Mrs. Paul Kraus, Bardstown, and Paul Oberst, Lexington.

Commission staff member Oliver H. Barber, Jr., presented the case on behalf of Dillard and his companions.

Because of the large crowd in attendance, mostly Negroes, the scene of the hearing was shifted from the Federal building to the Kentucky Utilities auditorium.

From the FHS "Kennel"

Let's watch television! Believe it or not we can this year. The elementary school has five of the seven T. V.'s and one out of these is colored. The other two belong to our high school. They will be used in social studies and our sciences, particularly in earth science and American government.

General math, general shop, family living, and art are four interesting new courses in the high school this year. Now we don't have to take a particular math course and we may take family living or home economics. Briefly we have a much wider choice of classes this year.

Another addition to our school is our new office. It is tastefully decorated with new paint, wall to wall carpeting and is air conditioned. Sounds great and is great!

Now we come to a very important part in our school's improvement, our new desks. Yes, they are nice, let's just keep them that way!

There are still quite a few things I haven't mentioned, that I'm sure you've all noticed. Now that we see all the things the school has done for us, let's see this year what we can do for the school.

This is part of the huge crowd that enjoyed the Homecoming game between the Fulton Bulldogs and the team from Fort Campbell. The score 38-7, with the Bulldogs on the big end, natch!

Six Underclassmen Chosen As Candidates For Mr., Miss FHS

From the FHS "Kennel"

It was interesting to note the answers of the Underclassmen candidates for Mr. and Miss FHS, when each of them was asked, "Do you think the senior candidates should receive Mr. and Miss FHS?" All six replied that they thought the seniors should and would receive the honors. It is taken for granted, that since the seniors will be leaving at the end of the school year, they should be the ones to receive recognition.

The Underclassmen selected this year is the junior class are David Moss and Doris Bolin. David is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Moss of 606 Wells Avenue. He is a former class personality and is an active member of the Explorers. Doris is the daughter of Mrs. Cecil E. Bolin and resides at 218 Commercial Avenue. Doris is a member of the Future Nurses Club, and also the Future Homemakers of America. She has received her Junior and Chapter Degrees, and plans to work on her State Degree. She is a member of the High School Band, a member of the Explorettes, and is also very active in the youth fellowship at her church.

In the sophomore class, the candidates are Ricky Robertson and Diane, "Dee Dee", Lynn, Ricky, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Robertson in Highlands. He is a member of the High School Band, and last year was on both the football and basketball team. Diane, is the daughter of Mrs. Betty Lynn of 1015 West Second Street. She is a member of the FHA.

The Freshman Class candidates are Greg Scates and Kent Smith. Greg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Scates residing on Dogwood Lane. Greg is a member of the football team and is business manager for the freshman class. Kent is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wick Smith, whose residence is at 909 Walnut Street. Kent is also one of the freshman class officer.

No Good News From Bedside Of Fats Everett

Our sincerest wishes and prayers go out to Congressman Robert A. "Fats" Everett who remains critically ill in The Bethesda Hospital near Washington.

The beloved and popular Fats was here for the Banana Festival (he's never missed one) and complained a little about the strenuous diet his physician had prescribed for him. While the genial Union Citian has lost a lot of weight, the doctors felt he needed to lose more.

Wooden McLean, the Congressman's secretary said Monday that no improvement had been shown in the law-maker's condition. Everett's mother, Mrs. Lelia Ashton Everett of Union City is at her son's bedside when visiting privileges permit.

All the Mid-South area is watching the bulletins from Everett's bedside, who is deemed one of the most able and efficient office holders in the Nation's Capitol.

ON THE NOSE!

The Predictor has had an unusually high percentage of "on the nose" prognostications during the past eight months, but he has fallen down on two. He predicted that Senator McCarthy's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination would fall flat; well, it failed, but it didn't fall flat. And he predicted an intra-city World Series, and that didn't happen, with both the Cubs and White Sox falling short. Now, here are his current predictions:

word about the editor. It's too much to ask that you "be kind to your editor this week."

The Lord willing and the creeks don't rise, the story of the Banana Festival should appear in a national magazine, with 21,000,000 (twenty-one million) circulation within the next few weeks.

For the hand full of people who think the Festival efforts ought to be diverted to getting industry, I'd like to toss out a statistic or two.

If we had to BUY the amount of space we will probably get in the magazine it would cost many times more than what local people have spent on advertising the Festival for all the Festivals in the past six years.

Think of it!

I've been knocking myself out finding negatives, photographs, articles to furnish the magazine until I've practically done nothing else important. Chew on that, too, for awhile!

Welcome Back Mrs. Morrison

Gee, it's good to have our old friend Mignone (Mrs. W. Morrison) back in Newland. We haven't had a report from the Latham community lo, in many years. Mrs. Morrison is one of our all-time favorites, and one of the first people we met when we first came to these parts. I have always had so much fun at the Latham fair that I feel like all of those folks are like kith and kin to us. Thanks keep, those names and events coming.

A Great Photographer

Nearly all of the local photos in this issue of the News were made by Elmer Stewart, who can spot a news photo when he sees one. Elmer is right expert at any kind of photography. So when you need a good cameraman, besides a wonderful guy around, just call Elmer either at the Holiday Inn or at his home 472-3551.
