Wendal and Louise Butts left Paducah Tuesday morning by plane for St. Louis. After about an hour layover in St. Louis, they were supposed to catch an Eastern Airlines jet for Miami, arriving in Miami shortly after noon.

So much for that.

Our daughter Mary Jo (Butts) was listening to the noon news when the announcement came that a St. Louis-to-Miami jet had just been hijacked and was on its way to Cuba. She idly thought "wouldn't it be something if Wendal and Louise were on their way to Cuba", then turned off the news and went about whatever else she was doing.

The thought persisted in her mind, however, so about an hour later she consulted a little schedule that she and Mike had jotted down about the probable timetable of his parents. Everything fell into place: departure time, arrival time and airline. The tension began to mount.

Hijackings are getting so common these days, none of the newscasts said a thing about it on the evening news hour, so that didn't help us.

Around 7: p. m. Mike called their hotel in Miami, and couldn't get either Wendal or Louise, or his parents Georgia and Paul who had driven down Sunday and were staying at the same hotel. The excitement really began to get high. As best we could figure, Wendal and Louise might now be in Cuba, with Georgia and Paul in a vigil at the Eastern office in Miami waiting for their return.

I put in a call for Jo, who is also in Miami, to get her moving on the story. If they were in Cuba, I wanted the story for this issue, and I had 18 hours to find out and try to get a play-by-play account.

While I was giving Jo all the information we had, Mike called in to the office on another line: he had just talked to his parents, and they were safe in Miami. The other Eastern Airlines jet that left St. Louis at the same time theirs did had made a stop in Atlanta and THAT was the one that had the hijacker aboard.

So that blew the hottest story I would have had for this issue. But it was a close call.

A note to parents whose children were or were not involved in the animal cruelty episode reported in The News a couple of weeks ago: we have given all of the publicity to this matter that we care to. I do not specifically know who was involved nor do I care to inquire, since they were all minors. I just hope that parents of the youngsters involved will deal out their own kind of private punishment in order to make sure that this sort of thing doesn't happen again. To parents whose children were NOT involved: let's forget the whole thing. Printing rebuttals or denials would only make it worse.

Dale Smith and Walt Dunlevy, the member relations team of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, dropped by the office Tuesday and were intrigued with the large drawing of the proposed Latin-American Friendship Center we have on display. When informed that it is proposed to build this giant center at the edge of Fulton, they were absolutely floored, and their enthusiasm for such an undertaking knew no bounds.

What, apparently, we don't know down here in Fulton is that Kentucky is preparing for a gigantic 200th Anniversary celebration in just four years, and even now is carefully considering a number of major attractions to be built by that deadline. "And", say Smith and Dunlevy "this Latin American Friendship Center is seemingly a perfect selection for this area... it fits well into every discussion of regional attractions that we have participated in. Fulton would be simply crazy if they let this opportunity slip."

To those comments let me call your attention to Jo's story on this page on the same subject, written while she is looking around Florida these two weeks.

I have about seven of the cutest puppies you ever saw, and I would like to give them away to whoever wants a nice healthy little puppy around the yard. They are a mixed breed, but should be fairly small when grown, and make good family pets and alert watch dogs at night. Phone the News office if you want one.

45 Spanish Teachers Will Attend Institute At MSU

Speaking Spanish for at least 12 hours a day will be the way-of-life for 45 high school language instructors this summer as they participate in the varied class and non-class activities of Murray State University's third institute for secondary school teachers of Spanish.

This eight-week professional-development program (June 16-Aug. 8) has been made possible by a $70,824 grant from the U. S. Office of Education, according to Dr. James A. Parr, chairman of Murray State's department of modern foreign language.

This will be the only USOE language institute in Kentucky this summer and one of eight Spanish institutes in the nation. Other Spanish centers will include those at the University of Dayton, Knox College, and Utah State University.

Approximately 500 applications for the 45 openings in the Murray State institute are expected by the April 6 deadline, Dr. Parr said.

Obion Countians Will Vote Saturday On Magistrates And County-Wide Sales Tax

Two important matters will be before Obion Countians Saturday as they go to the polls to vote: the selection of district magistrates, and the decision as to whether or not to make the one-half of one percent sales tax a county-wide matter.

In the sixteenth district of Obion County, which includes South Fulton and environs, ten seek six magisterial posts. Five of the magistrates will be for the 16th District, and the sixth as a "Magistrate at large."

Those seeking magisterial posts include Ralph Puckett and C. D. Jones, both incumbents, and eight others: T. D. Morris, Milton Counce, Elmer Mansfield, Tommy Reams, John Reeks, James Hickman, Harry Busart and George Cranford.

The sales tax question, to be voted upon by all precincts outside of Union City, will determine whether or not a one-half of one percent tax will be levied county-wide and the money collected, distributed county-wide, a spokesman told The News this week.

The vote on such a proposed county sales tax failed last fall, yet the city of Union City thereafter put the question to its own residents and passed the tax by a 10-to-1 margin. The tax became effective in Union City on January 1st. Those in favor of a county-wide tax with its county-wide benefits point out that some 70 percent of county sales are made in Union City, yet the tax benefits remain within the city limits. A county-wide majority in favor of a county-wide tax would mean, proponents say, that Union City would have to share its tax revenues with the rest of the county.

The polls will be open from 9 a. m. until 5: p. m.

Fulton County Food Stamp Program Begins In April

Applications will be taken in March and food stamps issuance will begin April 1 in Fulton County.

Public Assistance staff members will be in Hickman from 8:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., March 3 through March 7, and again on March 17 through March 21, at the new Public Assistance office, located at the corner of Tennessee and Exchange Street.

Applications will be taken in the Fulton Public Assistance office from 8:00 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., March 10 through March 14, and again on March 24 through March 27.

Persons wishing to make application for Food Stamps should have with them the following: pay check stubs or wage statements from their employers, Veteran's award letters, railroad or private pension proof or unemployment benefit proof. Income tax returns or records of farm income, if such applies to your household. If you do not have any of the above types of income, proof of any cash income for all people in the home must be presented.

Also, bring along any proof of payment of household expenses, such as: rent or mortgage, fuel, water, and lights; receipts for payment of hospital insurance are also necessary.

Sometimes it may take other records to complete the applications, but it saves time for the applicant to have the above stated information with him.

Beginning April 1, Nicky Forrester, food stamp worker, will be in the Hickman office on Wednesday and Thursday of each week from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m., and in the Fulton office on Monday and Friday of each week from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. to take applications and to take care of the Food Stamp program in Fulton County.

What A Pity Local Apathy May Destroy Possibility Of Friendship Center And Giant Tourist Industry

(by Jo Westpheling)

Dateline, Florida — I can't rightly give any specific location or time for this communication to all of you. Verily we have been the length and the breadth of this vacation State. I marvel at the ingenuity and the dedication of these people to create an atmosphere of fun and relaxation, while still building a tourist and residential industry of gigantic proportions.

While we have maintained our "residence" in the Pompano and West Palm Beach areas, we have also driven down the East Coast to Miami Beach, Key Biscayne and environs.

It is simply fantastic how, first the natives, and then the get-rich-quick-developers, have taken the sunshine, the coastline, and a credit-line to lure the world to their feet; a world bent on "living it up to the fullest extent" whether on the economy or the luxury plan.

Because my mission to Florida was primarily for an hones' to goodness rest (I did pack a brief case of Latin-America Friendship Center data) I have time to think a lot, observe even more and then contemplate my findings.

I've known generally, for a long time, that with the proper enticements and inducements the public can be

Ferry-Mo High Earnings In Year 1968

Mountain View, Calif.—Earnings of the Ferry-Morse Seed Company here were at a record high in 1968. At a meeting of the company directors held here today, Chairman of the Board and President, Selwyn Eddy, announced earnings for the 1968 fiscal year amounted to $1,107,498.

Eddy stated that this was a "marked improvement" over the 1968 figure of $685,242, and the highest earnings reported by the company in modern times.

"The record 1968 earnings followed two years of steadily increasing profit," he added. Earnings per share for 1968 amounted to $3.85. In 1967 they were $2.39, and in 1966 they were $1.44 per share.

Eddy reported that on February 7, the company paid a dividend of $0.50 per share to shareholders of record on January 24. This was equivalent to a dividend of $1.00 per share on the basis of 1967 stock, he explained, due to a 100 percent stock dividend distributed to shareholders on April 15, 1968.

He also announced that a shareholders meeting will be held on February 25 to vote on a merger offer made by Purex Corporation, Ltd. Eddy became the chief executive officer of the 113-year old company in 1964.

The company has headquarters offices and plant here; offices and warehouses in Fulton, Kentucky; Anaheim and Modesto, California; Tampa, Florida; Buffalo, New York; Memphis, Tennessee; McAllen, Texas; and Phoenix, Arizona. It has production stations in San Juan Bautista, California, and Hazelton, Idaho.

It also has four research stations in San Juan Bautista; Columbus, Wisconsin; Caldwell, Idaho; and Tucson, Arizona.

Lecture Is Scheduled For March 6

A reassuring discussion of man's close and constant relationship to God will be heard in Fulton, Thursday, March 6 when Howard H. Irwin, C. S., of San Diego, California lectures to a public audience.

Mr. Irwin will speak in the Church Edifice, 211 Carr Street, at 8:00 o'clock P. M. under the auspices of the First Church of Christ Scientist, Fulton, Kentucky. Admission is free.

Lecturing in three languages — French, Spanish, English—comes naturally to Mr. Irwin who served with the United States Military Intelligence in continental Europe during World War II. After the war, he entered the full time public practice of Christian Science healing. He is currently on tour throughout the United States for the Christian Science board of lecturership.

come "hooked" on almost any kind of leisurely activity, so long as it diverts them from the mundane routine of fifty of the fifty-two weeks out of the year.

In this state however, it looks very much to me like leisure is the norm, the routine takes far less out of the lives of these vacationers than out of the lives of the vacationers that I have seen in other states, even in other countries.

Whether by design or accident, to Mid-westerners, Northerners, Southerners and Easterners, Florida has always had the connotation of sun, ocean, sun-tan, chic clothes, gay nightlife, horse-racing, dog-racing, Jai-lai, leisure and luxury, especially at this time of the year, which the natives hautilly refer to as "the season."

The Florida-image undoubtedly caught on when plebians (like us) became aware that fun, sun and surf was a luxury enjoyed only by the very wealthy, and it still is, as far as I am concerned. But in this day and time of high wages, the ever-diminishing work-week and the super-highways and economy sky-ways, two vacations a year (one hot and one cold) is getting to be part of the great American dream come true.

It is in this context that I have been thinking so much of the potential for a giant new industry that we have if only we could bring into reality the dream a few of us have for establishing the Latin-American Friendship Center in Fulton.

As I view it, in the frame of mind of a family, or a group of friends with two weeks of nothing but fun and leisure at hand, Fulton, Kentucky and South Fulton, Tennessee could easily, effortlessly become another Gatlinburg, Tennessee, or Silver Springs, or Ocala, or Hollywood, or Orlando, Florida or Lookout Mountain or New Orleans, La.

While it is true that the places that I have mentioned here have water, or scenery, or year-round sun, or history and nightlife as INDIVIDUAL characteristics, none of them has ALL OF THEM, which means that these communities have taken one finite ingredient of their communities and made it into something so interesting and compelling that people have put it on their "must" lists for things to see in these United States.

None of the localities mentioned above, nor any locale anywhere in the world has the complete, the one all-consuming, magnet for the avid, leisure-bent tourist.

But all of them have one thing that people want and that's why the average tourist, on the way to the final destination, will take time off to take in other sights of interest along the way.

So it could be with our Friendship Center!

In my mind's eye I can visualize an inter-state highway traveler, enduring the endless miles of monotonous driving from New Orleans to Chicago, or St. Louis to the Southeast Coast, or from Washington to the West Coast, wondering what lies beyond the vast expanse of Americana not visible from the highway.

Suddenly the driver and the traveler alongside him and the couple or the kids in the back, see a highway marker that says:

"Be sure to see The Latin-American Friendship Center at the Banana Capital of America, 40 miles ahead."

Having traveled yourself, on a vacation, what would your normal reaction be? "Bananas in Kentucky? A Latin-American Friendship in the heart of Mid-America? Let's stop and see what it is!"

As the highway markers continue to entice the traveler from all directions into our twin cities, and the distance to the object of their interest gets closer, you can bet your rock bottom vacation dollar that the folks have decided to (a) stop to see the Center, especially if it is as awe-inspiring as I envision it; (b) plan to eat a meal there; (c) plan to spend the night, and get an early start in the morning for wherever they are headed.

But it's like I said in the beginning . . . with proper promotion and exposure, the Latin-American Friendship Center, with our communities offering motels, good restaurants, shopping centers, etc., could become a destination point for vacationers the year-round rather than the casual stop-over point that it might be in the beginning.

It is a mystery to me why our business community and our civic leaders haven't taken this tremendous opportunity to build a giant industry instead of wasting time, effort and money on a lot of piddling little prospects that never materialize.

Frankly I think that an industry, seeking a location, would move on very fast when they realized that a community, with the potential that we have to grow with tourism failed to do anything about it, as apparently we are NOT doing with the Friendship Center project.

Since I have been in Florida I have taken my own time to discuss Florida's giant Inter-Rama project with some of the natives.

Inter-rama is an activity similar to our own Friendship Center project. It is Federally-supported as ours could be, and State-supported as Governor Louie Nunn has indicated that ours could be.

"But," people in the know, here and elsewhere have told me, "a project like this is no big thing in a Metropolitan area. Florida is the gate-way to South America. With its large Cuban population, and it's tourist population geared to fun and sun, the activity Inter-Rama is lost to the vast hordes of vacationers who would normally be interested in such a project."

"On the other hand," a knowledgeable person said to me, "your project, away from all this Latin-American orientation could be something of a Disneyland for your area."

That's exactly the way I feel about it too!

Regrettably, as I have said so many times before, I, personally, as chairman of the Latin-American Friendship Center have gone as far as I can go with the project, alone.

Recently George Collins, of the firm of Ernst and Ernst, who did the feasibility study on the project, called from Washington to ask what had been done on the matter.

I told him this: "We are at the stage now where we have to go out and interest state, county, local and private enterprise in the financial aspects of the matter."

"With encouragement from these sources, and we know that there will be, we must file an application for Federal grants available to build and to finance the matter."

"We have no City Manager, or anybody in our municipal government or our Chamber of Commerce, experienced in the art of filing the forms for the grants and, certainly I am not."

"We have no money nor has the Authority been offered any from the proper sources to hire secretarial help, make phone calls, or personal calls, to seek these finance."

"In other words for want of a shoe a horse is lost."

Most anybody who has viewed the project, including some right influential people in Frankfort and Washington, can hardly believe that a project of such giant financial returns to our community can be apparently, so apathetically viewed by the leadership of the community.

Nor can I.

I have furnished the initiative to bring about the Federal finances for a feasibility study, which many people consider highly favorable.

As an individual, and a private citizen, interested in the progress and development of these twin cities, I can do no more.

I hope you can, or influence others to take action on the matter.

POET'S CORNER

BUM

He's a little dog, with a stubby tail, and a moth-eaten coat of tan, and his legs are short, of the wabby sort;

I doubt if they ever ran;

And he howls at night, while in broad daylight he sleeps like a bloomin' log,

And he likes the food of the gutter breed; he's a most irregular dog.

I call him Bum, and in total sum he's all that his name implies,

For he's just a tramp with a highway stamp that culture cannot disguise;

And his friends, I've found, in the streets abound, be they urchins or dogs or men;

Yet he sticks to me with a fiendish glee. It is truly beyond my ken.

I talk to him when I'm lonesome-like, and I'm sure that he understands

When he looks at me so attentively and gently licks my hands;

Then he rubs his nose on my tailored clothes, but I never say nought thereat,

For the good Lord knows I can buy more clothes, but never a friend like that!

FULTON'S

Library Corner

By Brenda Rowlett

The taste for books is not common to all. It is a spark latent in the individual, most often implanted by heredity, kindled by training or circumstances, and fed and tended by purpose and experience.

PALACE OF HEALING, by Dorothy Clarke. In 1870, the first missionary doctor ever seen in the Orient began administering to the incredible human needs of India. Even in her own country, Dr. Clara Swain was a rarity, for in those days only a handful of women were — begrudgingly — admitted to the study of medicine. To the Indians, both Brahmin and Muslim whose women were confined in strictest purdah, an unveiled female was a rarity; an American woman who claimed healing powers was unheard of.

vitaly important book, Washington's boldest reporting team tells the full, explosive story of the nation's biggest scandal—the misconduct of the men and women who are sent to the nation's capital to write America's laws but who all too often abuse their power and privilege by playing their own interests ahead of those of the American people.

WASHINGTON AND VIETNAM, by Dorothy Dunbar Bromley. In the winter of 1966, the newly formed movement that came to be known as Clergy and Laymen Concerned About Viet Nam felt a great need for a brief, clear and comprehensive account of the events that have led up to the present tragic situation in Viet Nam. This book gives a factual picture of what is happening there now.

THE GREAT DUCHESS, by Iris

Butler. Sarah Churchill, Duchess of Marlborough, was one of the great beauties of the seventeenth century, and there the dissimilarity with her descendant, Sir Winston Churchill, ends. Like Sir Winston, she was the moving force of her era, the backbone of the last Stuarts as Sir Winston was the last bulwark of the Empire. Here is her story, beautifully recounted by Iris Butler, who combines in rare fashion the art of the storyteller with the scholarship of the true historian.

KNIT AND CROCHET, by Pat Trexler. Easy to follow, down-to-earth advice on knitting and crocheting is Pat Trexler's specialty, making her nationally syndicated column "Pat's Pointers" a weekly highlight for millions of newspaper readers from coast to coast. From questions asked her after reading her column, Pat has selected the most frequently asked, to answer in this book. Every knitter, from the beginning to the most experienced, should find something of interest here.

LOOKING AT ART, by Alice Elizabeth Chase. In this unusual book a distinguished art historian and teacher describes how artists throughout the centuries have looked at the world around them and pictured it. The artist selects from what he sees—adds, subtracts, adjusts, and emphasizes. Understanding what he has done and why he has done it can add much to the pleasure we gain from looking at art.

ARMADILLO IN THE GRASS, by Shelby Heaton. The world of Clara Blue—youth wife and mother, becoming an artist, finding herself—will be intimately meaningful to every woman who is not content to be merely a link between generations. In contrast to her husband, a young professor of history who sees life in terms of problems solved, jobs done, his work published, Clara responds to the moods, the colors, the insights, the feelings of the moment being lived.

KENTUCKY POLITICS, by Malcolm Jewell. Kentuckians have long prided themselves on their tradition of colorful and unpredictable politics, and many of them doubtless saw in the election of a Republican governor in 1967—the first to be elected to that office in twenty-four years—but another instance of this tradition. To the author of this study, however, that election por-

Musings From

HALLOWED PLACES

In my years of teaching English I tried to show my students that people hallow places, that rarely is the home of a great man great until he has lived in it. Rarely is there any great feeling attached to some place, except by local people, until some person or event hallows it. Folklore is forever running into this sort of thing, for some folk hero comes into the world in some unlikely place, but it is never regarded as small or insignificant after his time.

And this is not only true of folklore but is equally true of history. Who had ever heard of Walden Pond, except the people of eastern Massachusetts, until Henry David Thoreau lived by it and interpreted it? And what was Gettysburg until around its small hills was fought out a severe battle that changed the course of our history?

In my fairly numerous travels around the United States, I have been equally interested in the actual heroes of our land and the ones made famous by legend and story and song. The first time I ever saw the Mississippi River, I set down in my diary, with the river in sight, my visions of what had happened along the very stretch of the river in front of me: Indians in their canoes, trappers and voyagers, raftsmen, steamboats, Huck and Jim on their raft, the ironclads of an earlier day that were turned back right where I was looking by deadly fire from the Isbell-Meek Nuptials Are Solemnized In Washington, D. C.

Miss Reed Whitson Isbell and Mr. John Martin Meek of Washington D. C. were married on January 31 at 8 p. m. in the chapel of Bolling Air Force Base.

The ceremony was performed by Chaplain A. A. Maase, U. S. A. F., assisted by the Rev John Wing of St. John's Episcopal Church, Georgetown. Preceding the ceremony the bride's cousin, Col. William P. Reed, of McLean, Va. who is also her godfather, read a favorite passage of the bride's from the Prophet by Kahlil Gibran.

The bride is the daughter of Brigadier General (ret.) and Mrs. James H. Isbell of Anchorage, Alaska. Mr. Meek is the son of Mrs. James Burr Meek and the late Mr. Meek of Oklahoma.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin with long court train, both gown and train appliqued with quipere lace re-embroidered in seed pearls. Her veil of illusion was held in place by a medallion of the same lace. She carried an heirloom handkerchief which had been carried also by her mother in her wedding and wore a three-penny bit in her shoe. Her bouquet was a crescent of gardenias, white pansies and hyacinths.

Mrs. Harrison Pendleton Breese II of Orange, Virginia, the bride's only attendant, wore a gown of robin's egg blue chiffon with accent of yellow and carried a bouquet of daffodils and yellow acacia.

Mrs. Isbell for her daughter's wedding chose a floor length gown of pale blue stiff silk with standing flared collar and wore a jeweled tiara ornament in her hair.

Mr. Gerald Huard of Washington served Mr. Meek as best man. The ushers were John Bailey Jr. of Washington and the bride's brothers, Thomas Gordon Isbell of Anchorage, Alaska and James Isbell Jr. of New England College, New Hampshire.

The bride's mother is the former Virginia Anne Fleming of Fulton. Her maternal grandmother was the late Mrs. Jessie Lee Reed Fleming of Fulton. Her paternal grandparents were the late Mr. and Mrs. James Gordon Isbell of Union City.

The bride attended schools at Chalfont St. Peter, England, Chevy Chase, Maryland, Mills College in California and was graduated from Smith College, Northampton, Mass. She served on the staff of Senator Edward Cannon in Washington and was active in the presidential campaigns of President Lyndon Johnson and Vice-President Hubert Humphrey.

Mr. Meek was graduated from the University of Oklahoma and received his Master's degree in Journalism from Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y. He served as assistant to Chairman John Bailey of the Democratic National Committee and was coordinator of the 1968 Democratic National Convention in Chicago.

Following the wedding a reception was given by General and Mrs. Isbell at the Watergate Terrace. For traveling the bride wore a geranium red coat with matching dress. After March 1st Mr. and Mrs. Meek will be at home in Chicago where he is vice-president of the public relations firm of Daniel J. Edelman.

When a country such as the United States is handed the opportunity to meet its enemy and discuss the terms of a peaceful settlement to the Viet Nam War, it appears that the U. S. should do her best to put an end to the slaughter of Americans in South Viet Nam. Unfortunately the countries involved in the Paris Peace Talks seem to find it more enjoyable to squabble over the shape, size, and design of the table at which the delegates will be seated.

It is my opinion that the delegates to an event of such world-wide importance should begin to realize that they are not little children playing house while their "make-believe children" are playing "cowboys and Indians" or "coops and robbers." While these delegates enjoy their stay in Paris and thumb through books of furniture designs, their country's men are not firing blanks at each other. This is no war game. This dirty little war is the "real McCoy." Men are bleeding and men are dying.

Whether this so-called peace delegation sits at a round table, a square table, a pink or purple table, will not alter any decisions that will be made. It is disgustingly shameful for educated men who hold high government positions to delay peace talks because of a discrepancy in furniture design while men belonging to both sides die by the hundreds and thousands.

The Chemical Analysis of the Green Foliage Which Covers 1/4 of the Globe.

The chemical analysis of the green foliage which covers 1/4 of the globe is something very few men of science have tried to accomplish. Grass is very nutritional in nature, food-wise, for the cow-type animal, which may be seen grazing in pastures of this green foliage which is very nutritional and covers 1/4 of the globe. As far as grass is concerned, the cow likes it because they think it is very good to eat and besides, what else is there for cows to eat for breakfast, lunch, and supper except the green foliage which is very nutritional in nature, food-wise, for the cow-type animal which may be seen grazing in pastures of this green foliage which covers 1/4 of the globe? Regarding cows, the grass is very beneficial in the development of the animal. In short, grass is good, food-wise, for the cow type animal.

The Storm

They move... silently without an invitation. They dance around gaily for a time before fusing into one solid mass. Turning black with impending rage, the clouds are now ready to make their music of thunder, lightning, wind, and rain. With this ominous prewarning of blackness, every one seeks shelter. Once in safety the spectators wait in loathsome moods for the opening curtain—the falling rain. It starts slowly and then crescendos to a roar of falling water. Then the great accent—lightning! Following the brilliant flash the clouds clash together to send thunder down upon the ears of the hapless audience. On and on it goes: rain, lightning, and thunder. Mysteriously the falling drops slacken, the brilliant flashes are dulled, and the thunder smooths to distant rumbles. As they depart, they come, likewise do they.

Football Players - One of Three

Football players can be divided into three main categories. First, there's the hustler. This is the guy to watch out for. He had just as soon kill you as look at you, and all the time he might be your best friend. Next, there's the mediocre player. This fellow will do his part alright, but when it comes to pulling out that little bit of extra energy, he looks first to see if the coach is watching. Last, and worst of all, there's the team loafer. There seems to be one of these on every team. The only reason he's out there is so he can tell everybody he plays football, and his first concern is for No. 1 himself. Football is truly a blend of these three qualities, and I think Fulton High is no exception.

When bonded fabrics came to the market, they presented many problems. Dry cleaners got complaints on separation of fabrics which were bonded together. Problems of puckering, bubbling, and peeling resulted. Manufacturers of bonded fabrics are now setting standards for performance in bond and wear as well as performance in washing and dry cleaning. These standards can be expected to upgrade the quality of bonded fabrics. These higher standards may mean the biggest future for bonded fabrics is in untapped fields—men's wear, home furnishings and industrial goods.

Graded sizes offer rhythm to a room. Imagine an all black & white room with one red wing chair. Then, add a painting with a dash of red and a bunch of red carnations on a table. WHAT IS MEANT BY MONEY MANAGEMENT?—It is planning, organizing, controlling and evaluating the use of the family income. Here are four points in money management: (1) Define your goals—recognize and define goals because they set the pattern for spending. What are the family's needs and wants? Which are of greater importance? What does the family want for the future? (2) Family should know how much income they will have or expect. (3) Family may use past records of spending as a basis for planning. (4) Family should plan expenses and savings for the future. Some will ask why have a written record? A written record will reveal whether the family is extravagant, conservative or a middle of the road spender. Leaks and loopholes are easier to find.

● AUSTIN SPRINGS

By Mrs. Carey Frieled

Rev. Bobby Copeland filled his regular appointment at New Salem Baptist Church the past Sunday at 11 a. m. Sunday School met at 10, with the attendance up again over previous Sundays. The evening worship begins at 6:30 p. m., followed by sermon by Bro. Copeland. This church has reached its 100th year, having been organized in the year of 1869, has worshipped in four different buildings. First, was Walnut Grove, before this writer remembers; Unity Baptist Church in our village; Salem Church, a large frame building, and now New Salem Baptist, the present building and location. Many pastors, a large membership, with huge congregations, have attended worship here in the past 100 years.

Mrs. Lottie Cantrell returned home, near here, the past Friday by Jackson ambulance, from the Baptist Hospital in Memphis, where she has been under treatment for the past three weeks for a broken limb. She is doing nicely at the present time, which all friends will be glad to hear.

Mrs. Buton Lassiter has improved over the past few days and has been under medication of her family physician, Dr. Wells of Dresden. She is able to be out some.

Hal Bynum has been indisposed from an attack of chicken pox the past week. It is a malady that is prevalent in Palmersville Elementary School; a number of students have had it and others have been exposed, causing many absences the past few weeks.

Mrs. Ralph True will arrive this week from Tampa, Fla., for a visit with her in-laws, Mr. and Mrs. Grover True, near here. She has spent the winter in Florida and is now on her way to her home in Missouri.

The entire community extends profound sympathy to the family of Ernest Poyner, whose death occurred the past week in Murray Hospital, after a lingering illness. The deceased is survived by his companion, a sister, several half-sisters and half-brothers. He was a member of Lynnville Methodist Church, where services were held, with interment in Old Bethel Cemetery, Palmersville-Boysville Road. Jackson Funeral Home was in charge of the arrangements.

I have just spent the week end with my brother, Buton Lassiter, and his wife. We attended church at New Salem Sunday, seeing my friends and relatives.

Spc. 4 Lester B. Lassiter, U. S. Army, 43rd Div., of H. & E., who has been stationed in Kaiserlautern, Germany since the early fall months, is doing nicely at the present, according to report from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buton Lassiter. He is enjoying his packages from them and from relatives. All have reached him in perfect conditions and he wishes to thank everyone for their generosity and thoughtfulness.

Westvaco Company To Establish Papermaking Plant In Brazil

Rigesa, Ltda., a subsidiary of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, has completed engineering studies for a new liner-board mill and expansion of a corrugated container plant in Brazil to cost an estimated $20 million; it was announced today by David L. Luke III, Westvaco president.

Preliminary site preparation is expected to begin early in 1969. The new papermaking facility will be located on the Negro River at Tres Barras in the State of Santa Catarina in southern Brazil. The box plant to be expanded is in Valinhos, Sao Paulo, the location of an existing linerboard mill operated by the Brazilian company.

Mr. Luke said the new mill would be designed for a capacity of 200 tons of kraft linerboard per day and laid out to accommodate future expansion. The new facility will be fully integrated with a pulp mill, chemical recovery, lime burner and power generator.

Because reserves of native Parana pine are rapidly diminishing throughout Brazil, Rigesa has invested nearly $3 million over a period of 13 years to develop the timber resources needed to supply the new mill. The company now owns more than 60,000 acres in the vicinity of the new mill site, a third of which has been planted in loblolly and slash pine species from this country. The company is continuing to buy additional acreage and is establishing new plantations at the rate of 5,000 acres annually to support future expansion of the mill. Rigesa's planting program is supported by its own nursery in Santa Catarina, capable of producing more than six million loblolly and slash pine seedlings a year.

Mr. Luke said the first phase of expansion of the Rigesa container plant at Valinhos had been started and that the second phase would begin in mid-1969. When the expansion is completed, the Valinhos box plant will be one of the largest corrugated container plants in the world, capable of producing 110 million square feet of corrugated products a month. The box plant presently is supplied by Rigesa's existing mill in Valinhos and until the new mill at Tres Barras is on stream, its linerboard requirements will be supplemented by shipments from Westvaco's Charleston, S. C., mill. Plans are being made to install a complete line of multiwall bag manufacturing equipment at Valinhos.

An affiliate of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company since 1933, Rigesa, Ltda., presently supplies about one quarter of Brazil's corrugated container requirements. The company employs more than 1,000 persons, including 200 in its forest operations in Santa Catarina.

One of the fastest moving trends in agriculture is the use of capital to increase volume of business per farm.

A recent study made by farm management specialists for the University of Kentucky of a pilot farm in this area showed that additional capital could increase annual net farm income by 20 percent of the additional capital invested. If your farm is lacking this capital - you may be lacking in net farm income.

This capital may be obtained through a short or intermediate - term loan from the Jackson Purchase PCA.

War Widows Eligible For Benefits To Finance Homes And Education

A reminder that war widows are eligible for G. I. Bill-type education and home loan benefits was issued today by the Veterans Administration.

The education benefits are also available to wives of veterans who are permanently and totally disabled as the result of military service.

Under a new law which went into effect Dec. 1, 1968, the widow of a man who died and the wife of a veteran who was permanently and totally disabled as the result of military service is entitled to 36 months of educational assistance from the VA.

An allowance of $130 a month is paid for full-time training with lesser sums paid for part-time training.

Unremarried widows of veterans who served in World War II, the Korean Conflict, or in the Post-Korean period (since Jan. 31, 1955) and who died in service or as the result of service are eligible for VA-guaranteed G. I. home loans.

This eligibility expires July 25, 1970, for World War II widows, with widows of Korean Conflict veterans having until Jan. 31, 1975, to use their entitlement. Generally, widows of Post-Korean service veterans have 20 years from the date of their husband's death or discharge from service to obtain loans.

The VA will guarantee 60 percent - up to a maximum of $12,500 - of the loan obtained by the widow. Long term mortgages (up to 30 years) and little or no down payments remain the principal advantages of G. I. loans.

The VA also listed some other benefits of particular interest to women:

Dependency and Indemnity Compensation: Monthly payments for widows and children of men who died in service or as the result of service. Payment is generally $120 a month plus 12 percent of the monthly basic pay now being received by a serviceman whose rank and years of service are the same as those of the deceased serviceman. Minimum payment is $133 a month.

Death Pensions: Monthly payment for unremarried widows and minor children of veterans whose deaths were not related to military service. The amount of the pension is keyed to income.

Reimbursement of Burial Expenses: Payment not to exceed $250 may be made within two years to the widow, undertaker, or any other person who bore a veteran's fun-

"Up With People," Says Sing-Out Express

(From The FHS Kennel)

The audience sits patiently awaiting what has promised to be a performance they will never forget. Suddenly the sound of a thundering drum breaks the silence and an onslaught of laughing, screaming teenagers come crashing down the aisles as they quickly maneuver themselves onto the stage. The drums, laughter, and lights reach a climax and then the teenagers deliver their message - "Up With People" - with music composed for and by the youth who believes in his country and people in general.

Throughout the United States, audiences are being introduced to the many "Sing-Out" groups composing the national "Up With People" program, and Fulton High students are no exception. Along with students from South Fulton and Martin, Tennessee, numerous Fulton students have formed this area's Sing-Out group, "Sing-Out Express."

THE SING-OUT EXPRESS is very fortunate to have two very helpful adults. Mrs. Charles Walker, Sr. serves as director and Mr. Kimbel Coburn assists the group's band. The members of Sing-Out Express meet each Thursday night in the Methodist Church and enjoy a very lively and rousing practice session.

The members soon find that Sing-Out is not just singing. There are business matters, costume designs, selection of music and other numerous details which must be taken care of before there is a performance. This group has been working hard for several months and is accomplishing more than a "good sound."

These kids have been placed in charge of sound equipment, light stage arrangements, engagements, finances, ticket sales, other words - they run the show. Ask any of them; they'll tell you what they're doing!

SOME OF THE MUSIC WILL BE "Up With People," "The Star Spangled Banner," "The Ride of Pegasus," "Gee, I'm Looking Forward to the Future," "Which Way to America?" "What Color Is God's Skin?" and "Sing-Out Express." The music expresses the positive attitude which this group stands for.

Plans are underway to appear at such places as South Fulton, Union City, Obion County Central, Paducah Tighman, and numerous other area high schools. Also shows at the Lions and Rotary Clubs, and performance in Fort Campbell may be somewhere in the near future.

This is just a preview of coming attractions. All signs read "GO" - Twin Cities, get ready, because Sing-Out Express is on the move.

eral expenses."

Children's Education: In addition to education benefits for qualified wives and widows an allowance of $130 a month for full-time college level training is paid to children (under 25) of veterans who died or were permanently and totally disabled as the result of military service.

Women who have questions about possible VA benefits should write or call or visit the Veterans Administration Regional Office, 1405 West Broadway, Louisville, Kentucky 40201. Telephone number is 582-5811.

In a saucepan melt butter; blend in flour. Remove from heat; gradually add milk. Return to heat and cook, stirring constantly, until mixture thickens. Reduce heat and cook an additional 2 minutes. Cool slightly. Meanwhile, combine macaroni, cottage cheese, onion, salt, dill weed and pepper. Add white sauce and toss to blend thoroughly. Chill for ease in handling. Shape mixture into 12 croquettes; roll in crumbs, dip in egg and roll again in crumbs. Fry 3 croquettes at a time in deep fat fryer preheated to 375 degrees 1-2 minutes or until golden brown. Place in preheated 350 degree oven 10-15 minutes. Serve 2 per serving.
Serve with "Sauce Gloria" (made with evaporated milk), buttered green beans, a tossed salad with sour cream dressing; and cheese rolls.

"Really, I've tried just about every Bourbon there is. But this one seems to have more taste. What is it, Jim?"

The answer is Yellowstone.

When guests arrive, make sure Yellowstone's on hand.

No other Bourbon comes through as spirited in mixed drinks or as smooth over the rocks.

The reason? Yellowstone is the only Bourbon in the World smoothed by the Mellow-Mash process.

It gives Yellowstone a taste that's noticeably smoother. A taste no other Bourbon can match.

ORCHARD CLINIC—TOMORROW

Spraying and Pruning of fruit trees will be the main topics for discussion and demonstration tomorrow at a fruit tree clinic in the Luther Kendall Orchard beginning at 9:00 a. m. near Shaw Town. The Kendall Orchard is located on Possum Trot Road between Hornbeak and Dixie. Dr. Don Williams and John Clark, Horticulturists, with the University of Tennessee Agriculture Extension Service, will lead the discussions.

The Kendall family are long time growers of apples and peaches. If you want to visit a busy farm, you'll need to visit the Kendall Orchard where this time of the year you will find Mr. Luther Kendall and his two sons Ted and Donnie working every possible day during the winter months pruning their 100 acre of apples and peach trees. They have already sprayed their fruit trees with the dormant sprays and before harvest time will have sprayed all the trees between 10 and 15 times.

Most Obion County people do not realize that Obion County has more apples and peach trees than any other county in Tennessee and is the leading tree fruit producing county in Tennessee. About 900 acres in Obion County is devoted to the production of apples and peaches. Horticulturists have told us that the hill area between Union City and Reelfoot Lake may be the most ideal fruit growing area in Tennessee.

LOUSY CATTLE

During the past few weeks we have observed more lice on beef cattle than we have observed in the past few years. If beef cattle producers will spray and control the lice they will be amazed at how much more efficient production they will be able to secure from their cattle.

On the first warm day spray the cattle with one of the following insecticides: Methoxychlor, Toxaphene, Co-Ral, Malathion, Delnav, or Lindane. Dairy cattle will have to be sprayed with insecticides such as: Rotenone, Pyrethrins or Ciodria.

PAPER FACES, by Michael Grater. How many times has every child wished to be some other person or thing? This book shows how masks may be created using little more than bits of paper, string, cardboard and crayons, but with expert flair the author demonstrates how each mask may become for the child a unique opportunity to express through his handiwork his personal impression of the people he sees around him.

The photographer had just taken a picture of an old gentleman on the latter's 98th birthday. He thanked the oldest, saying, "I hope to be around to take your picture when you're 100."

"Why not?" the old man replied.

"You look pretty healthy."

ALUMNI SECRETARY

Sherman Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Walker of Route 1, Fulton, has been elected alumni secretary of Alpha Gamma Rho social fraternity at Murray State University. He is a junior, majoring in agriculture.

VOTE FOR HENRY MADDOX

For State Representative Of Carlisle, Hickman, Ballard and Fulton Counties.

We are sure MR. FARMER you know that Bill No. 84 which exempts new farm machinery from the sale and use tax was passed in the 1968 session of the Legislature.

Industrial and processing plants have always been exempted from the sales tax on their machinery. Why should not a FARMER have the same privilege? As an example—a few years ago the Dairy Farmer who sold Grade A Milk was compelled to change to a bulk plant for his milk. The change cost several thousand dollars for the new machinery and he paid sales tax on the new machinery. When this milk went into the processing plant the machinery there had been purchased tax exempted. This is the kind of Legislation that HENRY MADDOX went to work for and did something about it so the Farmer would have an even break. Such legislation as this does, not just happen, you have to have a legislator with experience and know how to get the job done.

HENRY MADDOX and other legislators have promoted their interest in the farmer and farm problems in Kentucky. Being a farmer himself he knows the farmer is the backbone of the nation. We the Implement Dealers know that agriculture is our largest industry. Your town is just as good as your farmers and farm land surrounding it. Have you ever considered who the farmer supports? He supports our machinery dealers, grocers, clothiers, hardware dealers, electrical dealers, plumbers, building suppliers, grain dealers, fertilizer dealers car and truck dealers and every business man in our town. Ask your local banker if they would like to do without the income from the Farmer and consider the amount of money that an average farmer spends in your county and town in a year from his farm operation. Yes, we are for other industry but lets not forget the hand that feeds us, the hand of the Farmer.

We, the Implement Dealers and Friends of Representative Henry Maddox say he has worked for us, so it is time for us to work for him to see that he is re-elected on May 27th.

Henry Maddox is a business man not a spectacular official but his judgment is sound and his experience as a legislator should not be overlooked.

RE-ELECT -- HENRY MADDOX As Your State Representative

Rotary Tabs Homra As Delegate To Institute On World Affairs

Kim Homra

From The FHS "KENNEL"

In the February meeting of the Fulton-South Fulton Rotary Club, Kim Homra from Fulton High School and Bill Bard from South Fulton were selected to attend the 23rd Annual World Affairs Institute in Cincinnati, Ohio.

The Institute, a three day seminar on current world issues, has been held annually since 1946 in the Cincinnati Hilton Hotel. The International Rotary Club sponsored Institute has an attendance of over 500 interested young people a year. Last year's institute had delegates from eight states and 10 foreign countries.

The selections of the delegates were based upon speech presented to the Rotary Club during the February meeting. Kim Homra talked about World Communism and the steps we would have to take to relieve world tension. Jamie Pawlukiewicz presented a speech on how the youth of today should be interested in the world situation. Bill Bard's topic was Leadership in the Community. The other South Fulton delegate, Johnny McGuire, talked on the honor of serving one's country.

The boys were treated to lunch at the Park Terrace Restaurant, allowed to present their speeches, and then asked to return to school while the club made it decision.

Last week the first trailer load of cattle was moved through the point.

On that bright spring day, ages ago, the canoe of Chief Paducah (as we now spell it) seemed to glide by as he returned to the present site of Memphis after signing away what we now know as the Jackson Purchase. But that real Indian, living in a real time, not too long ago, was no more real in my wide-awake dream that hundreds of his predecessors who had glided down that mighty current or fought it as they made their way upstream. And the ferry that was taking people across the Mississippi, in plain view, was no more real than the vanished ones that had transported thousands of emigrants and the Cherokees on this portion of the Trail of Tears.

When I stood by the modest tomb at the grave of Kit Carson some years ago, I could see, with eyes wide open, the westward throngs that he symbolized. I could almost hear the shouts of the drivers of the ox team and the grind of sand on the wheels. What was a place like the Ranches of Taos to the people of the world until Kit Carson lived and died there?

A mere house, no matter how fine, no matter how expensive, is just a house until someone lives in it and makes it something else. Or a poet sees it and makes it a shrine ever after. Or some great event takes place in or near it, and it is ever after a hallowed spot.

No wonder places where some great events have taken place are regarded as haunted. No matter how many times I have roamed over the old farm where Abraham Lincoln was born and lived his first years or over the one in Indiana where he grew to maturity, I never have ceased to find the places possessed of something that no monument or poem or song can exactly tell. I can see quite well why millions of people have sought out, often spending their last money, the spots associated with sacred places. I am sure that many a pilgrim to the Holy Land, especially those who have been used to lush vegetation and rich soil, have at first had a sort of disappointment at not finding things more nearly ideal. But the genuine pilgrim, who sees through mere things, brings away a feeling that hallows the plainest, even ugliest spots because those spots were a part of sacred lives.

If you wonder why millions of people listen to the same folk song through the years and pay good money for copies of it and journey long distances to see interpreters of it, think again of the way some life, real or imaginary, for that matter, adds something to the landscape that a mere seeker after facts has never and will never find.

A message of importance to all people at The Rebellious Age.

There comes a time in your life when it seems absolutely right to rebel against old ideas. Against all the things that seem to be stacked up against your generation.

Unfortunately, religious faith is one of the things that may get discarded right about now.

But should it be?

Your Faith echoes the very feelings you probably have right now. About injustice. Inhumanity. Poverty. Cruelty. Prejudice. Hate.

That's why your Faith is the very thing you should be working with.

It can strengthen you. It can make things happen. In yourself, and in all the world around. But only if you let it. And only if you put it to work.

President John F. Kennedy said: "God's work must truly be our own." What do you say?

"World Day of Prayer" Service Will Be Observed Here March 7

March 7, World Day of Prayer this year, sponsored by Church Women United, will mark the time when millions of women, including those in the Fulton area, will further close the gaps—national, racial, economic and religious—that divide us.

The local service will be at 10:30 a. m. in the Cumberland Presbyterian church. All women are invited and urged to attend.

Offerings collected on that day are used for many significant projects. A special national program this year will concern our own crisis in the nation and the racial prejudice that perpetuates unequal distribution of wealth and power. Also, migrant farm workers are aided, as are Indian-Americans in off-reservation colleges; rural pastors and lay leaders needing continual education; children in Vacation Church Schools, and other groups of people.

Women in 130 counties, territories and protectorates will join in a common plea to overcome prejudices and responsibly utilize their increasing knowledge and power for the sake of, rather than AGAINST, one another.

Offerings are also used to help educate women in 13 Christian colleges in Africa, Asia and Latin America; welcome 40,000 students coming from abroad each year to study in the United States; support more than 30 Christian magazines and books for new literates in eighteen countries.

In many communities World Day of Prayer has marked the turning point toward an ecumenical concern. Today in numerous communities Catholic women are joining in this global celebration. In many areas this has marked the first time people of Protestant, Orthodox and Roman Catholic faiths worshiped together.

MD Collections Net $150.03 For County

David Will, district director for Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, Inc., reports a collection of $150.03 in Fulton County.

In regard to this collection Mr. Will said, "I wish to thank all the wonderful people who contributed so generously to this worthy cause. May I remind those who have not given, to please mail their donation to Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America, in care of Charles Reams, Pepsi Cola Company, Fulton, Kentucky.

Muscular Dystrophy is a progressive disease of the muscles, causing a weakening effect. The patient first develops symptoms of frequent falling and rapid inability to perform even simple physical feats. There is no known cure or treatment at the present time.

CHESTNUT GLADE

By Mrs. Harvey Vaughan

"Things are not always as they look," was demonstrated by Mrs. V. O. Simpson when she presented the Home Furnishing lesson at the meeting of the Chestnut Glade Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. Jim Burke at the February meeting. She explained and demonstrated that desired effects may be obtained by the proper use of lines in furniture and accessories. She showed an example of the effect of a vertical and horizontal line on identical sheets of paper.

The meeting was opened with the president reading the thought of the day, "It is nice to be important, but it is more important to be nice. It is easier to be nice for others than for ourselves."

Mrs. W. C. Morrison led the song, "There Shall be Showers of Blessings" and Mrs. Johnny Hazelwood gave the devotional, using the topic "Seed Catalogs," advising that we give consideration to the kind of seed we sow each day and what kind of harvest to expect. She gave several appropriate scripture selections for this topic.

Plans were made to observe National Home Economic Week by presenting a radio tape concerning the work done by the club.

The committee reported that material has been obtained to make clothing for the clothes bank and plans were made for this work at an early date. Mrs. Jim Burke demonstrated the making of bags she made at the craft meeting she attended recently in Dresden. Mrs. Grace Prince gave an informative lesson on "Foods for you and your family," and showed a film.

Mrs. Ada Rhodes directed the recreation, with Mrs. Johnny Hazelwood winning the prize. Mrs. Ela Fields, Mrs. Rob Fowlkes and Mrs. Paul Reams received door prizes.

Refreshments were served to seven visitors, Mrs. Martha Croft, Mrs. Ela Fields, Mrs. Everett Terrell, Mrs. Lydia Rogers, Mrs. Norman Rogers, Mrs. Rob Fowlkes and Mrs. Lillie Ray, the 100 percent attendance of members, and to Mrs. Prince.

The March meeting will be with Mrs. Ellen Brown on the third Thursday at 1:00 p. m. Mrs. Ada Rhodes will be co-hostess. Visitors are cordially invited.

'Fats' Statue Plans Advance

Twenty-four men, all friends of the late U. S. Rep. Robert A. 'Fats' Everett, gathered at the Biltmore Sunday afternoon to lay preliminary plans for a permanent memorial to the longtime Union City legislator.

As soon as preliminary planning and the organizational structure have been completed, a campaign will be launched in all 14 counties of the 8th Congressional District to raise funds for the project.

The project includes a statue of Mr. Everett, probably made of granite and to be erected on the east side of the courthouse lawn in Union City.

Also included are nursing scholarships at the University of Tennessee at Martin, a school which Mr. Everett aided many times when expansions were needed, and scholarships to Murray State University at Murray, Ky., the congressman's alma mater.

Six counties in the 8th District and Fulton County, Ky., were represented at the meeting.

Randall Burcham, Union City attorney who has volunteered his services to the campaign, announced that a state charter has been received establishing the Robert A. 'Fats' Everett Memorial Foundation and that an application has been made to the Internal Revenue Service for a tax-exempt status. If this is approved, donations to the campaign may be deducted for tax purposes, Mr. Burcham said.

Under arrangements agreed upon at the Sunday meeting, each county in the district will name a campaign chairman and each chairman will become a member of the foundation's board of directors. In addition, each county chairman will appoint assistant chairmen for the various towns and communities in his county.

"Because 'Fats' loved and was loved by so many people, we want as many of his friends as possible to have an active role in this effort to demonstrate the extent of our appreciation for everything 'Fats' did for the 8th District and our love for the man who proved he was a friend of each and every person he represented so ably in the halls of Congress," said Union City Mayor Charles 'Red' Adams, president of the foundation.

Other foundation officers include: vice presidents, Dr. M. A. 'Pete' Blanton Jr., Highway Patrol Lt. Bill Moore, Patrol Sgt. Tom Kilpatrick and State Troopers P. T. English and W. C. Tate; secretary, D. W. 'Smokey' Stover, and treasurer, Barry White.

In addition to the various county chairmen, members of the board of directors will include the foundation officers and two other close friends of Mr. Everett, Aaron Prather of South Fulton and David Welles of Dresden.

Mayor Adams said another meeting will be held in the near future, after the various county organizations have been established.

In addition to the officers and directors mentioned above, those attending the Sunday meeting included: Buck Fuqua, C. M.

'Randy' Randolph and Hudson Alexander, all of Milan; W. F. 'Babe' Howard of Millington; Harry Montgomery, R. E. Phelan and Bob Holman, all of Trenton; J. R. Donnell of Trimble; Elbert Burcham Jr. of Hickman, Ky.; J. L. Norris of Tiptonville; Wendall Avery and Jerrel Reasons of Alamo; Harold Holt of Dyersburg and Bill King of Union City.

$1,000 Reward Is Posted In Death Of Fulton Coed

LOUISVILLE, Ky.

The City of Louisville offered a $1,000 reward Friday for information leading to a conviction in the apparent rape and murder of 20-year-old Laura Hefley, a University of Louisville coed from Fulton.

Miss Hefley's body was found Feb. 3 behind a building on the campus here, and authorities said she apparently had been raped and strangled.

Louisville police have interviewed numerous people in connection with their investigation, but few leads have been revealed.

Mayor Kenneth Schmied Friday authorized Safety Director Kenneth Newman to offer the reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the death.

Fulton City 94 Wingo 71

FULTON, Ky.—Fulton's Bulldogs posted their third victory in a row by blasting the Wingo Indians 94-71 here Friday night.

The victory was Fulton's sixth of the campaign against 12 losses. Wingo has a 4-18 mark for the year.

The Bulldogs broke on top and continued to increase their lead. Sam Pirle scored 27 big points to pace the Bulldogs, followed by Kim Homra with 23 and James Pawlukiewicz with 19. All five Fulton starters registered in the double figures.

Homra had a perfect night at the charity stripe, hitting 17 of 17. His eye wasn't quite that good from the field, however, as he connected only 3 times in 11 tries.

Randall Wilson scored 15 for the losers, James Wilson added 13, and Ronnie Wiggins and Bobby Fisher each scored 11 points for the Indians.
