Jo's Notebook

I'd like to write a column today, but to tell you the truth I'm in a real fit of confusion and depression.

Nothing serious, so don't worry, if you planned to.

It dawned on me a couple of weeks ago that maybe I'm losing my git up and go, or maybe, I'm just getting too old to devote the next "shears" of my life to a new kind of newspaper publishing.

For this week, and at least for a few more until we find out whether it's our age or the printed page, we're putting out the News in hot type, or letterpress again.

With the horrendous deadline of 2 p. m. for the off-set method, and with having to use paste and scissors to put the new-fangled process together, I was getting to the point where I was on scissors' edge all the time.

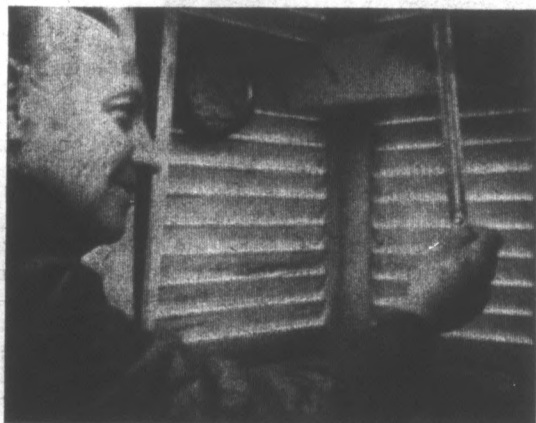

You wouldn't believe it if I told you what a mess we've been in to revert to the old way. But as it is written, thank the Lord for big favors and little ones in proportion.

We are grateful that we have dear old T. C. Taylor and Joe Weak in the back shop and Annabelle Edwards in the front office while we're doing this experimenting.

If it were not for them, Paul and I would have been long gone into another world . . . all cut up into small pieces of trivia.

Until we make up our minds which process is the least painful, bear with us for awhile, won't you?

The Fulton Beat by the Inquiring Reporter . . .

Gene Gardner at WFUL's Weather Station

Question: Doesn't this seem, so far, to be a record-breaking winter for snows in this area?

"According to the records that Tommy Kimbro keeps out here at WFUL, we have recorded at least twenty different snows this far, with the first on November 14th. As far as I can remember, this is the most ever seen in this area in one winter, and the winter may not be over yet.

"We recorded seven different times it snowed before January 1st, nine different snows during January, and four so far in February. Some of these were "traces" or "flurries" to be sure, but it was still snow in case you're interested, here is our record:

"November and December: 14 - 1 1/2", 15-flurries, 19-2", 22-trace, 25-1 1/2", 26-trace, and 31-1/2". January: 1-trace, 6-2", 11-trace, 12-trace, 18-trace, 19-flurries, 20-1/2", 21-flurries and 23-flurries. February: 3-trace, 5-light, 9-trace, 10-trace.

"Here at WFUL we maintain an official weather station for the Weather Bureau at Cairo and keep daily records of precipitation, wind velocity, relative humidity and barometric pressure. I broadcast the first reading every morning at 6: a. m. and we have four of these "current condition" reports through the day, taken right off our gauges. Our station has not been here for many years, so I cannot give you much of a comparison between this and other winters, but I can safely say that never in my memory have we had as many snows in one winter as we have had so far in this one."

What Kinds Of Laws Do Our Senators Introduce? Here Are Examples

by Jo Westpheling
(First In A Series)

How much of a legislator's efforts are directed exclusively to matters dealing with his constituency?

According to a resume of the 20 bills introduced by Senator Carroll Hubbard of Mayfield the answer is not much!

However desirous it may be, an elected representative is obligated to look at all sections of the State when introducing new laws. And this is apparently the way most legislators view their jobs.

Hubbard who represents the First Senatorial District of Kentucky, comprising Fulton, Hickman, Carlisle, Graves and Marshall counties had introduced twenty bills through February 2 in this session of the Kentucky General Assembly and also one Senate Resolution.

Of the twenty bills introduced ed by Hubbard either singularly or with other Senators only a handful, perhaps less than five, would directly affect the majority of Hubbard's constituency. And even these, if passed, would affect all Kentuckians as much as they would the voters and taxpayers in Hubbard's five-county district.

The Senate Resolution sought to adjourn the Senate in honor of the late Graves County Senator Charles Waggoner.

Nearly all of Hubbard's legislation carries some kind of a price tag, either by reducing current State revenue or by adding some board or agency to govern some aspects of his proposed legislation.

The bills range from granting a $600 deduction for annuities received for the military retirement system to eliminating state aid to any mother giving birth to the third or subsequent illegitimate child . . . and declare them wards of the State.

This is a commendable bit of moral legislation, but the cost to the Department of Welfare would be astronomical. According to approximate figures, a dependent child receives about $25 a month, while the cost of committing a child, as a ward of the State, would cost approximately $70 a month.

Then there is the Hubbard bill, SB 51: Requiring continuing education of practicing dentists and penalties for not doing so; SB 113: To limit the liability of sheriffs for the acts or omissions of deputies in an amount not to exceed the amount of the required bond; SB 40: Requiring licensing of electrical contractors and examination and licensing of electricians and SB 17: Reducing from 30 to 20 the number of years of service credit for State Police.

Senate Bills 77 and 154 are especially interesting. No. 77 seeks to relax the state law requiring candidates to file their expense accounts and exempt candidates (from filing campaign expense accounts) in cities of the third class. Hubbard, from Mayfield, lives in a city of the third class.

Senate Bill No. 154 seeks to establish The Business and Consumer Protection Act at a cost of $100,000.00 a year for each of two years to prohibit deception, fraud . . . in connection with the sale or advertisement of any merchandise or service.

Oddly enough, the Act would exempt publication and broadcast media, which of course are the prime sources for advertisement of any products or service.

So that you may be informed as to the work of our State Senator we are publishing herewith the legislation he has introduced thus far.

Here are the bills:

Fulton Teachers Vote To Support KEA Plans

The City of Fulton's Independent School district voted Tuesday to follow the policies of the Kentucky Education Association by engaging in a work stoppage if the General Assembly fails to meet the salary demands of the state organization.

By a vote of 34 for, and 2 against, the local educational group went on record to engage in such a work stoppage if it is called. Frank Moore, president of the Fulton City Education Association told the News that this does not indicate any strong feeling towards what might be called a "strike," but rather, an affirmation of the policies of the KEA.

Mr. Moore, a delegate from the Fulton group and Bobby Snider will go to Frankfort Saturday to attend a state-wide meeting of the Kentucky Education Association when the future action of the group will be resolved.

Here in Fulton the independent district ranks 106 in the state's 195 school districts in the amount of salaries paid its classroom teachers.

A survey by a television station revealed Tuesday that teachers in the Jackson Purchase area of Kentucky overwhelmingly favor a work stoppage.

KEA's Board of Directors met in Louisville Wednesday night to discuss the situation, during which officials called into session the delegation assembly to consider possible sanctions.

A walkout has been one suggestion for dealing with possible inaction by the legislature on the KEA proposals.

The only group of teachers who told WPSD-TV, Paducah, it would not support a walkout was in Calloway County, where the vote was 44-42 against such a walkout.

Other votes ranged from two-to-one in McCracken County to five-to-one in Mayfield.

The salaries of Kentucky's school teachers has become the over-riding issue in this session of the General Assembly as it has almost every session for (Continued on Page Six)

Circuit Court Sessions Banned Here Unless New Law Is Passed

The 66-year old custom of holding sessions of the Fulton County Circuit Court in Fulton may fade into history unless some legislative action is taken to re-establish the court here, the News learned today.

It was in 1904, more than two-thirds of a century ago, that a Kentucky Statute was passed permitting cities of the fourth class to hold sessions of the circuit court in fourth class municipalities, when such cities were in the same county, but away from the county seat, where court is normally held.

In the halcyon days, when a session of the

In a telephone conversation between Mr. Graves and Mayor Nelson Tripp late Wednesday afternoon the four-county Representative advised that he would begin at once to talk to aides in the Legislative Research Commission as the best course of action to take in the matter of maintaining the sessions of Circuit Court here. Meanwhile, Mr. Graves advised Mayor Tripp to secure supporting evidence from City Attorney James Warren and Circuit Court Judge Wood C. Tipton as to the necessity for maintaining the court sessions in the City of Fulton.

court was one of the big events of the year, the City of Fulton proudly guarded this distinction, viewing the sessions here as an element of identity in legal circles.

Even when in 1940 the 1904 law was repealed, the grand jury continued its sessions here, apparently without the protection of the law in jurisdictional matters.

Some 24 years after the law was repealed and in an indictment returned here by the grand jury, the matter of the lack of jurisdiction was introduced in a lawsuit, making it necessary to pass new legislation to permit grand jury indictments to be returned in the City of Fulton.

In 1964 the Kentucky General Assembly passed a law re-establishing the City of Fulton as a legal site for holding sessions of the court and for action by the grand jury. The new legislation stipulated however, that a city of the fourth class, not the county seat, must be situated over 17 miles from the county seat.

The City of Hickman, the county seat of Fulton County, with the expanding city limits of both Hickman and Fulton

Mrs. Wright, Stanley Jones On Key Festival Committees

A group of approximately fifty people, interested in the International Banana Festival and who realize that the national and international publicity received by the twin-cities because of the festival is not measurable in dollars and cents, attended a "brainstorming" session last night at the local Chamber of Commerce.

out the great need for suitable and sufficient housing for our programs and additional manpower to stage the many activities.

Many suggestions were made on possible ways to improve the overall scope of our program. W. P. Burnette, festival president, pointed out the need to enlarge and improve the attractions offered to our visitors, as well as our area citizens.

is now situated just 16.5 miles from Fulton.

It was this technicality that influenced the dismissal of the case of Jerry Atkins, charged with the criminal action of conversion of property.

It also influenced the dismissal of all other indictments returned by the Fulton County Circuit Court Grand Jury issued at the time the Atkins indictment was returned. Several of the other indictments involved violations committed by persons charged during the Perry-Morse Seed Company strike last Fall.

On Monday of this week the grand jury was called into session again and some of the indictments, dismissed because of jurisdictional technicalities were re-issued today. Of necessity the new indictments were not made public since the warrants had not been issued to the persons involved.

The law barring sessions of the circuit court here does not necessarily bar cases from being tried here, if there is agreement between the counsels involved.

At a meeting of the Fulton City Commission Monday night the matter of continuing the circuit court sessions here was discussed. It was the decision of the Commission to contact State Representative Ralph Graves to introduce new legislation for holding legal sessions of the court here.

Here is the law as passed in 1964:

23085 Places of holding court in certain cities containing only fourth class cities.

(1) That in all counties of the state having a town of not larger than fourth class, and containing a population larger than that of the county seat town, according to the last federal enumeration and situated over seventeen miles from the county seat town, the circuit court for each of said counties shall be held alternately so as to divide the time between the county seat and the larger town as the business of the court may require, the first part of such term as now provided by law to be held at the county seat.

(2) All civil cases arising in such counties shall be tried in the county seat town or the larger town nearest to which the defendant, first named in the complaint, resides.

(3) All criminal cases arising in such counties shall be tried in the county seat town or the larger town nearest to which the offense was alleged to have been committed.

(4) Provided that the expense of furnishing a court room and jail at such larger town shall be borne by the larger town, as well as the expense of securing a vault and depository for books and papers pertaining to the records of circuit court of such county, and any other expenses pertaining to the moving of records and holding of said court at the larger town without additional expenses to the county.

Letters To Editor

University of Indiana
Bloomington, Indiana

To all my friends of the International Banana Festival—

I am back in the routine rush of college, a little behind, but so much the happier because of my trip to Ecuador. I cannot possibly begin to relate all the wonderful moments I experienced there. It's a country, so full of love and good will, and the feeling of real relaxation, that perhaps, one day, I'll go there to live, for always!

The highlight of my whole trip was a little chaperone, elf, and friend, named Evelyn. We laughed together, cried together, dined and danced together, and the city was made a much happier place because she was there. I'm sure you, the festival board, are aware of the true worth there is in such a person, and I am forever grateful that you saw fit to send her with me. I miss her very much now, and I'll never think of horses, planes rides, city festivals, and bull fights, without remembering her. She is one of those—few and far between—types, a real person.

How can I say "Thanks" for such an opportunity as I've had? I can only hope I've represented the Banana Festival to the best of my ability, in Ecuador, and that I will continue to do so until I crown a new queen.

Thank you all for everything—and for being such wonderful friends.

Most sincerely,
Debbie S. May

Dear Jo:

How glad I am that Vanderbilt did so well on the College Bowl. It caused you to write your column and send a copy of it to me.

You aren't the only one who was inspired by the Vanderbilt students' performance to go to your typewriter. Last week I spent a day on the Vanderbilt campus. The College Bowl was a major topic of conversation. Everyone was proud of the students on the team. I was told that Chancellor Heard had received hundreds of letters from people all over the country congratulating him and the University. I spent a good deal of time with Professor Avery Leiserson, whose son was one of the members of the team. He said that everywhere he goes people he hardly knows stop him to shake his hand and congratulate him.

You ask how to get in touch with McGeorge Bundy. You just address him as "President, The Ford Foundation, 320 E. 43rd Street, New York, N. Y. 10017."

COFFEE CUP CHATTER

Pattern in drapery fabric often presents a problem when the fabric is draped. A pattern that is pleasing on a flat surface will not always look well when hung in folds. This three-dimensional distortion can be a trap when you purchase fabric unless you hold it in folds and stand far enough away to view the total effect.

Do you ever wonder about the white twisted, ropelike strands of material found in raw eggs? Known as "chalazas", these strands are highly concentrated white appearing on each side of the yolk. They are a perfectly natural, wholesome part of the egg and serve to anchor the yolk in place. Chalazas are found in all eggs, with varying degree of prominence.

Do you know the difference between sterling silver and silverplate? Although at a glance it is impossible to know, sterling is 925 parts pure silver to 75 parts of an alloy. The alloy adds hardness. While silverplate has a base metal coated with pure silver by the electroplating process.

Miss Roma Foster And Mr. King Wed In Candlelight Ceremony

In a candlelight ceremony, marked with quiet reverence, Miss Roma Kay Foster and Mr. James E. King were united in marriage, on Saturday, January the thirty-first, at 7:00 o'clock in the evening at the Pilot Oak Baptist Church. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Mose B. Foster and the groom is the son of Mrs. Lenora King and the late W. H. (Molly) King.

Rev. W. D. Lowry, who had married the bride's parents, performed the ceremony before the altar flanked only with candelabra holding burning tapers and fern, as were the windows of the church. Family pews were marked with satin bows.

handmade by her mother. It was an old fashion design with victorian neckline and bouffant sleeves, ending at the wrist with wide cuffs accented with re-embroidered Alencon lace and closed with rows of tiny covered buttons.

As the guests assembled, a program of both old and modern love songs was presented by Miss Susan Bostick, pianist, and Miss Randa Nabors, vocalist, sang "One Heart, One Hand" by Bernstein, and "Give Us This Day" by May. As the couple knelt at the close of the ceremony, Miss Nabors sang Malott's "Lord's Prayer."

Escorted by her father down an aisle adorned with hurricane lamps holding burning tapers set in balls of fern, the bride wore a gown of candlelight bridal satin, designed and

The high rise bodice, featuring a silk organza yolk, was accented with the lace and closed in back with tiny covered buttons. A very deep inverted pleat, falling from a Dior bow at the waist, formed a self-train with a panel of lace from waist to hemline, which was encircled with scalloped Alencon lace and motifs. All lace accents were heavily encrusted with tiny seed pearls.

She chose to wear her matron of honor's elbow length, candlelight silk illusion veil, which fell from a full blown lace rose with each petal outlined in tiny pearls. Her bouquet of garden-

ias was arranged on a Bible given to her by the groom.

Mrs. Carolyn Allen Dunavant was her matron of honor and wore a royal blue velvet gown with victorian neckline and bouffant sleeves closed with velvet buttons. The A-line design was accented with candlelight lace inserts from shoulder to hemline and edging the neckline and sleeves. Her royal blue silk illusion shoulder-length veil was attached to a double bow and she carried a kissing ball of illusion puffs and pompoms. Bridesmaids were Miss Cindy Homra, Fulton; Misses Rita Craven, Fonda Adams, Melissa Trevathan, sorority sisters of the bride, and Miss Donna Rushing, cousin of the bride. They wore gowns and carried kissing balls identical to that of the matron of honor. Little Gina Hargis, niece of the groom, was a miniature of the attendants as she strewed flower petals from a candlelight lace basket.

Eddie Williamson was the best man, and groomsmen and ushers included Rodney Foster, Bill Lyles, Jerry Allen, Eugene Dunavant and Jerry Kell. Little David McClanahan, nephew of the groom, carried rings for the double ring ceremony on a candlelight satin and lace pillow.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Foster wore a deep gold double knit dress with matching embossed sleeveless coat and whimsy. Her corsage was a bronze cymbidium. Mrs. King, mother of the groom, wore a soft green double knit suit with matching accessories and a bronze cymbidium corsage. Mrs. Clifton Austin, maternal grandmother of the bride, wore a soft lavender dress and coat ensemble and a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Elzo Foster, paternal grandmother of the bride, chose a royal blue bonded knit suit and wore white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's parents were hosts to a reception at their home. The old-fashioned oval dining table, covered with a lace tablecloth, held a four-tiered wedding cake and guests were served from a crystal punch bowl and other appropriate crystal appointments. The couple's gifts were on display and assisting at the reception were Mrs. Michael Butts, Mrs. Fred Fahl, Mrs. James Faulkner, Miss Margo Mantle, Miss Nancy Watson and Miss Susan Crittenden. Little Sherry King, niece of the groom, handed each guest a tiny rice bag.

As the couple left for a short wedding trip, the bride wore a navy knit dress featuring her new initials monogrammed in gold, a sleeveless gold suede coat and tam, and gold and navy accessories, with a gardenia at her shoulder. They will be at home at 215 North Thirtieth Street, Murray, Kentucky, while they continue their studies, the bride in the School of Nursing, and the groom a major in Industrial Arts.

Mrs. King Is Hostess For Bridal Party

Mrs. Lenora King entertained at her home Friday night following rehearsal for the wedding of her son, James E. King and Miss Roma Kay Foster.

Guests were served buffet style and ate by candlelight seated at two long tables decorated with the wedding colors and featuring bride and groom arrangements. A gift from the bride and groom was at each attendant's place.

Miss Foster chose for the occasion a pale blue embossed crepe dress with tiny covered buttons at cuffs and neckline.

Those attending were Miss Foster, Mr. King, Mr. and Mrs. Mose Foster, Rev. and Mrs. W. D. Lowry, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bland and Sherry, Mr. and Mrs. John McClanahan, David and Steve, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Hargis, Gina, Lisa and Ricky, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Dunavant, Miss Cindy Homra, David Dunn, Miss Fonda Adams, Humphrey McKendree, Miss Melissa Trevathan, Rodney Foster, Miss Susan Bostick, Miss Randa Nabors, Miss Donna Rushing, Eddie Williamson, Bill Lyles, and Jerry Allen.

ANN LANDERS

— Your Problems Bring Answers —

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 16-year-old girl who has been told a dozen times never to ride with strangers but I paid no attention. I was sure those terrible things I read about in the papers always happen to someone else. It was 11:00 o'clock at night, and getting cold. I decided to save the bus fare and hitch a ride. I got into the first car that stopped—a blue sedan. A middle-aged man was driving. Within two minutes I knew I had made a big mistake. The man looked as if he'd been drinking. He asked me some crazy questions. Suddenly he turned into a side street then onto a dirt road.

I thought of jumping out, but the doors were locked and he was driving pretty fast. Suddenly, he stopped behind a clump of trees, dragged me out of the car and tried to rape me. I managed to get free and ran for my life. He chased me and I fell. Before I could get up, he literally pulled me up by the hair and began to beat me to "make me behave." I got loose and started to run again—this time into a barbed-wire fence. Somehow I crawled through a hole in the fence and hid behind a clump of bushes. He lost sight of me so I kept my head down and remained still. I must have lain there for 20 minutes when I heard his car drive off.

I then began to walk home. It was the longest walk of my life. I had hurt my knee and my head was bleeding where he hit me. I stopped at the first house I saw and called the police. They came and got me and drove me home. I'm still recovering from sprains and bruises, but I'm lucky to be alive.

If my letter can save just one girl from going through what I experienced, it will be worth the effort it took to write it. — Dumb and Lucky

Dear D & L: Congratulations — on being alive, that is.

Dear Ann Landers: I'll bet you've had a zillion letters from people who are furious with Los Angeles Bub — the man who wrote to say he doesn't dislike cats — it was children he hates. Bub went on to say he is sick of our child-centered society — that most parents are scared to death of their kids. They cater to them, bribe them and live in fear of incurring their disfavor.

Bub made an excellent case for an unpopular position. But he missed the most important point — that the kids are not to blame. It's the parents.

Children are born unspoiled and lovable. They are taught to be rude, inconsiderate, destructive and obnoxious. They are constantly testing to see how far they can go — how much they can get away with. When no limits are set and they can do as they please, children become insecure and unpredictable, like a car without brakes. Nothing is sadder than a hostile, pesky, disobedient, disrespectful kid. You know at once that he is also lonely and miserable. — Bub No. 2

Dear Bub No. 2: You are right, I did get a zillion letters from readers who were furious with Bub No. 1. But I received half a zillion letters from people who wrote as you did. But your letter was best. Thanks for writing.

Letters To Editor

University of Indiana
Bloomington, Indiana

To all my friends of the International Banana Festival—

I am back in the routine rush of college, a little behind, but so much the happier because of my trip to Ecuador. I cannot possibly begin to relate all the wonderful moments I experienced there. It's a country, so full of love and good will, and the feeling of real relaxation, that perhaps, one day, I'll go there to live, for always!

The highlight of my whole trip was a little chaperone, elf, and friend, named Evelyn. We laughed together, cried together, dined and danced together, and the city was made a much happier place because she was there. I'm sure you, the festival board, are aware of the true worth there is in such a person, and I am forever grateful that you saw fit to send her with me. I miss her very much now, and I'll never think of horses, planes rides, city festivals, and bull fights, without remembering her. She is one of those—few and far between—types, a real person.

How can I say "Thanks" for such an opportunity as I've had? I can only hope I've represented the Banana Festival to the best of my ability, in Ecuador, and that I will continue to do so until I crown a new queen.

Thank you all for everything—and for being such wonderful friends.

Most sincerely,
Debbie S. May

Dear Jo:

How glad I am that Vanderbilt did so well on the College Bowl. It caused you to write your column and send a copy of it to me.

You aren't the only one who was inspired by the Vanderbilt students' performance to go to your typewriter. Last week I spent a day on the Vanderbilt campus. The College Bowl was a major topic of conversation. Everyone was proud of the students on the team. I was told that Chancellor Heard had received hundreds of letters from people all over the country congratulating him and the University. I spent a good deal of time with Professor Avery Leiserson, whose son was one of the members of the team. He said that everywhere he goes people he hardly knows stop him to shake his hand and congratulate him.

You ask how to get in touch with McGeorge Bundy. You just address him as "President, The Ford Foundation, 320 E. 43rd Street, New York, N. Y. 10017."

Miss Roma Foster And Mr. King Wed In Candlelight Ceremony

In a candlelight ceremony, marked with quiet reverence, Miss Roma Kay Foster and Mr. James E. King were united in marriage, on Saturday, January the thirty-first, at 7:00 o'clock in the evening at the Pilot Oak Baptist Church. The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Mose B. Foster and the groom is the son of Mrs. Lenora King and the late W. H. (Molly) King.

Rev. W. D. Lowry, who had married the bride's parents, performed the ceremony before the altar flanked only with candelabra holding burning tapers and fern, as were the windows of the church. Family pews were marked with satin bows.

As the guests assembled, a program of both old and modern love songs was presented by Miss Susan Bostick, pianist, and Miss Randa Nabors, vocalist, sang "One Heart, One Hand" by Bernstein, and "Give Us This Day" by May. As the couple knelt at the close of the ceremony, Miss Nabors sang Malott's "Lord's Prayer."

Escorted by her father down an aisle adorned with hurricane lamps holding burning tapers set in balls of fern, the bride wore a gown of candlelight bridal satin, designed and

handmade by her mother. It was an old fashion design with victorian neckline and bouffant sleeves, ending at the wrist with wide cuffs accented with re-embroidered Alencon lace and closed with rows of tiny covered buttons.

The high rise bodice, featuring a silk organza yolk, was accented with the lace and closed in back with tiny covered buttons. A very deep inverted pleat, falling from a Dior bow at the waist, formed a self-train with a panel of lace from waist to hemline, which was encircled with scalloped Alencon lace and motifs. All lace accents were heavily encrusted with tiny seed pearls. She chose to wear her matron of honor's elbow length, candlelight silk illusion veil, which fell from a full blown lace rose with each petal outlined in tiny pearls. Her bouquet of garden-

ias was arranged on a Bible given to her by the groom.

Mrs. Carolyn Allen Dunevant was her matron of honor and wore a royal blue velvet gown with victorian neckline and bouffant sleeves closed with velvet buttons. The A-line design was accented with candlelight lace inserts from shoulder to hemline and edging of the neckline and sleeves. Her royal blue silk illusion shoulder-length veil was attached to a double bow and she carried a kissing ball of illusion puffs and pom-poms. Bridesmaids were Miss Cindy Homra, Fulton; Misses Rita Craven, Fonda Adams, Melissa Trevathan, sorority sisters of the bride, and "Miss Donna Rushing, cousin of the bride. They wore gowns and carried kissing balls identical to that of the matron of honor. Little Gina Hargis, niece of the groom, was a miniature of the attendants as she strewn flower petals from a candlelight lace basket.

Eddie Williamson was the best man, and groomsman and ushers included Rodney Foster, Bill Lyles, Jerry Allen, Eugene Dunevant and Jerry Kell. Little David McLanahan, nephew of the groom, carried rings for the double ring ceremony on a candlelight satin and lace pillow.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Foster wore a deep gold double knit dress with matching embossed sleeveless coat and whimsy. Her corsage was a bronze cymbidium. Mrs. King, mother of the groom, wore a soft green double knit suit with matching accessories and a bronze cymbidium corsage. Mrs. Clifton Austin, maternal grandmother of the bride, wore a soft lavender dress and coat ensemble and a white carnation corsage. Mrs. Elzo Foster, paternal grandmother of the bride, chose a royal blue bonded knit suit and wore white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony, the bride's parents were hosts to a reception at their home. The old-fashioned oval dining table, covered with a lace tablecloth, held a four-tiered wedding cake and guests were served from a crystal punch bowl and other appropriate crystal appointments. The couple's gifts were on display and assisting at the reception were Mrs. Michael Butts, Mrs. Fred Fahl, Mrs. James Faulkner, Miss Margo Mantle, Miss Nancy Watson and Miss Susan Crittenden. Little Sherry King, niece of the groom, handed each guest a tiny rice bag.

As the couple left for a short wedding trip, the bride wore a navy knit dress featuring her new initials monogrammed in gold, a sleeveless gold suede coat and tam, and gold and navy accessories, with a gardenia at her shoulder. They will be at home at 215 North Thirteenth Street, Murray, Kentucky, while they continue their studies, the bride in the School of Nursing, and the groom a major in Industrial Arts.

First Of Three Workshops By Art Guild Set For Next Week

COFFEE CUP CHATTER

Pattern in drapery fabric often presents a problem when the fabric is draped. A pattern that is pleasing on a flat surface will not always look well when hung in folds. This three-dimensional distortion can be a trap when you purchase fabric unless you hold it in folds and stand far enough away to view the total effect.

Do you ever wonder about the white twisted, ropelike strands of material found in raw eggs? Known as "chalazas", these strands are highly concentrated white appearing on each side of the yolk. They are a perfectly natural, wholesome part of the egg and serve to anchor the yolk in place. Chalazas are found in all eggs, with varying degree of prominence.

Do you know the difference between sterling silver and silverplate? Although at a glance it is impossible to know, sterling is 925 parts pure silver to 75 parts of an alloy. The alloy adds hardness. While silverplate has a base metal coated with pure silver by the electroplating process.

ANN LANDERS

—Your Problems Bring Answers—

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 16-year-old girl who has been told a dozen times never to ride with strangers but I paid no attention. I was sure those terrible things I read about in the papers always happen to someone else. It was 11:00 o'clock at night, and getting cold. I decided to save the bus fare and hitch a ride. I got into the first car that stopped—a blue sedan. A middle-aged man was driving. Within two minutes I knew I had made a big mistake. The man looked as if he'd been drinking. He asked me some crazy questions. Suddenly he turned into a side street then onto a dirt road.

I thought of jumping out, but the doors were locked and he was driving pretty fast. Suddenly, he stopped behind a clump of trees, dragged me out of the car and tried to rape me. I managed to get free and ran for my life. He chased me and I fell. Before I could get up, he literally pulled me up by the hair and began to beat me to "make me behave." I got loose and started to run again—this time into a barbed-wire fence. Somehow I crawled through a hole in the fence and hid behind a clump of bushes. He lost sight of me so I kept my head down and remained still. I must have lain there for 20 minutes when I heard his car drive off.

I then began to walk home. It was the longest walk of my life. I had hurt my knee and my head was bleeding where he hit me. I stopped at the first house I saw and called the police. They came and got me and drove me home. I'm still recovering from sprains and bruises, but I'm lucky to be alive.

If my letter can save just one girl from going through what I experienced, it will be worth the effort it took to write it. —Dumb and Lucky

Dear D & L: Congratulations — on being alive, that is.

Dear Ann Landers: I'll bet you've had a zillion letters from people who are furious with Los Angeles Bub — the man who wrote to say he doesn't dislike cats — it was children he hates. Bub went on to say he is sick of our child-centered society — that most parents are scared to death of their kids. They cater to them, bribe them and live in fear of incurring their disfavor.

Bub made an excellent case for an unpopular position. But he missed the most important point — that the kids are not to blame. It's the parents. Children are born unspoiled and lovable. They are taught to be rude, inconsiderate, destructive and obnoxious. They are constantly testing to see how far they can go — how much they can get away with. When no limits are set and they can do as they please, children become insecure and unpredictable, like a car without brakes. Nothing is sadder than a hostile, pesky, disobedient, disrespectful kid. You know at once that he is also lonely and miserable. —Bub No. 2

Dear Bub No. 2: You are right. I did get a zillion letters from readers who were furious with Bub No. 1. But I received half a zillion letters from people who wrote as you did. But your letter was best. Thanks for writing.

Introducing Our Churches - God's Agency For Spreading His Love

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

The pastor, the Bible and the Christian Science text book, "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy.

The organization of Christian Science Society, Fulton, Kentucky, was the culmination of a desire by students of Christian Science in Fulton to establish a church where Christian Science services could be held regularly. Since the first meeting regular services have been maintained.

The first service was held in October 1927 in the home of one of the group. After meeting three Sundays, they and other interested Christian Science students met in the American Legion Hall, over L. Kasnow's. In the spring of 1928 a room over Fall and Fall Insurance Company was rented. Here, in July 1928, they were organized as a Christian Science group.

In October 1931 the group, with members from Fulton, Hickman, Martin and Crutchfield, was recognized as Christian Science Society Fulton by The Mother Church, The First Christ of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. As additional room was needed, the present site of the church was purchased in August 1934.

The residence was remodeled and made suitable for church services, Sunday School meetings and a reading room, open to the public.

In April 1951 the old building was torn down and the present building begun. The cornerstone was laid July 4, 1951 and the first service in the new church was held October 7, 1951.

Dedication services were held Sunday, December 7, 1952. A Christian Science Church must be free of debt before it can be dedicated. On January 16, 1958 it became the First Church of Christ, Scientist.

She was the oldest member of Oak Grove Church of Christ and was laid to rest in the cemetery there. She was the mother of John Colley and Mrs. Virginia Davis. To know Mrs. Colley was to love her.

Funeral services were held Thursday at Old Bethel for Mrs. Laura Urey, who was 96 years old. She was the sister of Mrs. Maggie Pankey and Mrs. Ammie Seay. She leaves her children and grandchildren to mourn her passing. Our sympathy to all this family in their great loss.

Neal Jones visited his brother, Clarence Jones, Wednesday morning and found that he had passed on in his sleep Tuesday night. His body was taken to Jackson's Funeral Home and services were held there Friday afternoon, with Rev. Gerald Stow officiating. His body was laid to rest in Old Bethel Cemetery. Clarence had lived in the old Kingston Store community for his 80 years of life. He leaves to brothers, Tom and Neal Jones, and several nieces and nephews to mourn his going. Our sympathy goes to all mourning his passing.

Mrs. Inez Smith, of Hattiesburg, Miss., is spending a few days with Mrs. Eva Williams and attended the funeral of Mr. Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Jones and daughter Dana, of Paducah, spent the week end in Fulton with Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Bushart.

Uncle Bob Cannon was taken to the Obion County Hospital in Union City last Monday. We hope he can soon be home again.

Elder Bobby Crouch filled his regular second Sunday appointment at Old Bethel Sunday morning, with several attending services. Elder Crouch, Mrs. Crouch and son visited with Mr. and Mrs. Pete Winstead and family after the church service.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Williams, of Mayfield, visited Mr. and Mrs. Everett Williams Sunday, after attending church at Old Bethel, and all drove down near Fulham to visit Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Bailey.

It looks like we are in for another snow this morning. Think they say this is our 24th snow this winter.

We were sorry to hear of so many deaths the past few days. Our sympathy goes to all these folks who have lost their loved ones. We hope things will look brighter by the time we write again.

Chestnut Glade

By Mrs. Harvey Vaughan

Another week is beginning with winter weather, this second week in February. The snowfall on February 9 is reported to be the 24th of this winter. However, there are but few more days of the winter months and we can look forward to the hopes of spring.

Mrs. Lula Colley, who was reported critically ill last week, passed away on Monday. Mrs. Colley had lived a long and useful life in the community for almost eighty-eight years. She had been a member of the Oak Grove Church of Christ congregation longer than any other living person. It was an inspiration to have the privilege of the association with her and her devoted family.

Funeral service was at the Oak Grove Church on Tuesday. Sympathy is extended to the family of Mr. and Mrs. John Colley, with whom she had made her home, and to her daughter, Virginia Davis, and to the grandchildren. She will be missed by members of the Oak Grove congregation, where she attended so regularly and was always seen at the same place in the church. It was her happy privilege to be able to attend the service during the first of December.

Brother Harry Owens conducted the regular Sunday service at Oak Grove Sunday. After the night service a social hour was enjoyed by the young folks and the adults, with refreshments in the basement of the church. Visitors are cordially invited to each service, which are at 9:45 and 11:45 a. m. and at 6:30 p. m. on Sundays, and at 7 p. m. on Wednesdays.

Sorry to report that Mrs. Dal Gilliam, who has been thought to be slowly improving since being so severely injured in a car accident in October, was suddenly taken much worse on Saturday and is a patient in the Fulton Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John Colley were dinner guests with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vaughan after attending service at Oak Grove Sunday. Mrs. Colley and Mrs. Vaughan visited Mrs. Eula Rogers, who has been a shut-in for the past several weeks. Mr. Colley and Mr. Vaughan visited the Morrisons, who have been shut-ins for some time.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Inlarena Harwood, of this community, and to other members of the family of Mrs. Urey, who passed away at her home in Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vaughan and Mr. and Mrs. John Colley visited Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williams Sunday afternoon. The Williams have been shut in for several weeks and Mrs. Williams is unimproved at this time. Their daughter, Judy, and grandson, Billie Milam, from Arkansas, visited them last week end.

MRS. WRIGHT

"We realize there is a void to fill. Although we have a wide range of activities and exhibits each year, there are many people we do not reach. We are interested in having programs that appeal to each segment of our population," Burnette said.

Committees will be appointed within a few days to pursue many of the suggestions made during this meeting. Two appointments were announced at last night's meeting. Mrs. Hendon Wright was appointed as Programs Chairman and Stanley Jones accepted the appointment as International Relations Chairman.

Woodrow Coots, Kentucky Extension Office, Paducah, Kentucky who attended last night's meeting on invitation of Mr. Burnette, congratulated the leadership of our community on the tremendous work being done through the Banana Festival.

"Satisfaction will come from your labors. I know of no other activity that has helped to encourage the growth of the twin-cities as much as your unique festival," Coots said. Mr. Coots pledged his help to the Board and expressed his desire to attend the regular board meeting.

HAPPY HOGAN

of many of the former Kitty League baseball players who have gone to the far corners of these United States to make their respective homes.

He was an ardent fisherman. He and now Governor Louie B. Nunn were fishing "buddies" long before the Glasgow resident achieved the highest elected office in the Commonwealth of Kentucky. It was a well kept secret that when the chief executive wanted to get away to some fishing hideaway in this section of the State, Happy Hogan was invariably in the small party.

He was also a fishing companion of former Governor Lawrence Wetherby. One of the proudest moments in Happy's life was when the former governor made a handsome fishing boat available to him and his friends.

We knew him well. He was a devout Catholic, a generous and kindly man, and a sentimentalist of the first water. He had an unabiding devotion to his wife, his children and his grandchildren. He revelled in making some small incident about his children, or grandchildren into a lengthy story, while his Irish sense of humor got carried away with it all.

Happy Hogan might have been called one of "the last angry men." He abhorred injustices to people in high places and to the man on the street. He was a true disciple of the Irish temper when it came to defending those incidents that he deemed unjust.

He loved and respected his family and friends with the same dedication.

Happy Hogan was born in Memphis, Tenn. on December 27, 1907, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Harry Hogan. At the time of his death he was the owner of a retail package store.

He came to Fulton from Paris, Tenn. where he was an employee of the L. & N. Railroad Company. About the time of his marriage to the former Miss Dorothy Ford he was manager of the old Usona Hotel. At the outbreak of World War II he went to Birmingham, Ala. for employment in defense contracting in the shipyards there. Mrs. Dorothy Hogan died on Nov. 5, 1946. At one time he made his home in Union City.

Mr. Hogan returned to Fulton after the war to manage the Little Clothing Company after which he entered the retail liquor business.

He was a former president of the Fulton Rotary Club, a member of the Young Men's Business Club, a member of the Knights of Columbus, and of the Men's Club of St. Edward's Catholic Church.

Surviving Mr. Hogan are his wife, the former Mrs. Pearl McClellan; a daughter Mrs. Doty Cole of Fulton; two sons, Don Hogan of Memphis and Jimmy Hogan of McComb, Miss.; two sisters, Mrs. John P. Murphy of Sun Prairie, Wisconsin and Mrs. Charlie Miller of Memphis; two stepchildren, Mrs. Charles Thomas, of Fulton and Hugh Mac

McClellan of Scottsdale, Arizona. Ten grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services for Mr. Hogan were held on Tuesday morning at ten a. m. with a requiem mass at St. Edward's Church. Burial was in Eastview Cemetery in Union City with Father William Hagman, pastor of St. Edward's officiating. Hornbeak Funeral Home of Fulton was in charge of arrangements.

TEACHERS

the past 30 years or more. In reviewing the progress that has been made with the Minimum Foundation program, together with increased local taxes in some sections of the state, the beginning salary of a classroom teacher is still not competitive with the salary scale of surrounding states.

This is particularly true here in the City of Fulton. Across the border in Tennessee the scale is from approximately $500 to $700 lower, according to the academic training of the teacher.

Here are some comparisons: Grade I, Master's Degree and 30 months experience: Starting salary in Fulton is $6100 and progresses to $7550 after ten years of teaching; in South Fulton the scale is $6680 to $7180.

Grade II, Master's Degree and no experience: Fulton, $5650 to $7100; South Fulton $6300 to $6840.

Grade III, BS or AB Degree and no experience: Fulton, $5200 to $6650; South Fulton $5900 to $6400.

If an increase is passed by the General Assembly it will be paid from state funds under the Minimum Foundation program and not from local tax revenues, except in some special instances, the News was informed today.

Two Killed, Two Injured In Highway Collision Saturday

Two persons were killed and two injured, one critically, in a four-vehicle accident near here late Saturday night.

Killed in the crash were Gary L. Latham, 22, of South Fulton, and Miss Beverly Overby, 19, also of South Fulton. They were pronounced dead on arrival at the Fulton Hospital about 12:30 a. m. Sunday, about 40 minutes after the accident occurred.

Both Latham and Miss Overby were passengers in a car driven by Steve Bell, 18, of Union City, Tenn., Rt. 4. Bell was injured in the accident and was taken to the Obion County General Hospital at Union City. He was transferred to the Memphis Methodist Hospital at 2 p. m. Sunday. A spokesman at the Memphis hospital said Bell suffered fractures of both arms, a head injury and an eye injury. His condition was listed as critical.

Also injured in the accident was Daryl R. Beasley, 21, of Wingo Rt. 2. He sustained numerous cuts and bruises, but was listed in satisfactory condition at the Fuller-Morgan Hospital in Mayfield.

State Trooper James Fennel, who investigated the accident, said the Bell vehicle attempted to pass a car driven by Glen A. Dowden, 16, of Martin, Tenn., Rt. 4, on a hill about two miles north of Fulton. At the crest of the hill the Bell car collided headon with a pickup truck driven by Beasley.

The impact of the collision drove the truck about 25 feet backwards and into the rear of the Dowden vehicle, the trooper said. The truck's hood was knocked from the vehicle and struck the left front portion of a fourth car, driven by James Gordon Williams, 18, of Fulton, Trooper Fennel added. Neither Dowden nor Williams were injured.

However, the trooper said Dowden has been charged with reckless driving and failure to stop and render assistance at the scene of an accident, and Williams has been charged with reckless driving. No charges have been filed against either Bell or Beasley.

Miss Overby, a native of Fulton County, was employed as a file clerk at a bank in Memphis, and was a member of the South Fulton Baptist Church. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Goble Overby; a sister, Miss Brenda Overby, of South Fulton, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John T. Hawks of South Fulton and Mrs. Mattie Overby of Fulton Rt. 5.

Funeral services for Miss Overby were held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Hornbeak Funeral Home with the Rev. Gerald Stow officiating. Burial was in the Obion Memorial Gardens.

Out-of-State Tuition Increase Causing Loss For Universities

Any outlandish increase in tuition for out-of-state students can result in great financial damage to the state universities involved and to Kentucky's economy, a study of the problem released this week by the Student Government Office of Murray State University revealed.

Pointing out the huge revenue losses that are accruing as the result of a sharp decrease in the enrollment of out-of-state students the statement shows that at Murray State University the loss of income amounted to a half million dollars for the 1969-1970 school year. In the 1970-1971 school year, the loss is anticipated at nearly a million dollars.

Here is the report:

On November 20th, 1969, the Council of Public Higher Education approved a report of the out-of-state student committee limiting out-of-state student enrollment in the freshman classes at the state-supported institutions of higher education to twenty percent beginning with the Fall Semester 1970; and that by the Fall Semester 1973 the out-of-state institutions be limited to fifteen percent of the combined total undergraduate enrollment with no individual institution exceeding twenty percent out-of-state enrollment.

Presently Murray has 25.6% of its total enrollment as out-of-state students. Other schools have the following percentages: Western Ky. University 14.2%, Eastern Ky. University 17.1%, Morehead State Univ. 23.5%, Ky. State College 27.1%, University of Ky. 19.5% (Percentage does not include foreign students.)

Campus disorders at Universities and Colleges throughout America have caused a rising alarm in attitudes of members of state legislatures. As a result, various legislatures have proposed legislation to prevent this situation from arising in Kentucky. In 1968 a member of the Kentucky General Assembly proposed to increase non-residents fees to $900. The measure was voted upon, passed and sent to the Governor. Governor Louie Nunn vetoed the bill after the legislature adjournment. Prior to action taken in the General Assembly, the Council on Public Higher Education has raised the non-resident fee to the present level ($760 for the six state-supported institutions of higher learning, and $980 for the University of Kentucky.)

The General Assembly is again meeting according to law. In expectation of further attempts to raise the tuition of out-of-state students, the Council on Public Higher Education has accepted a recommendation from the out-of-state student committee to again raise the non-resident tuition. After a careful study made of 32 colleges from other states surrounding Kentucky of the size of these six state supported institutions of higher learning (Murray, Eastern, Western, Morehead, Kentucky State College, and Northern Kentucky State College), the Council decided to raise the tuition rate to $800 for the school year. Research from the 32 schools of the Bench Mark Institution showed that the media of such schools like Ball State, Eastern Illinois, East Tennessee, Kent State, and Indiana State was $803. By allowing the Council to raise the rate of tuition, the General Assembly might be less likely to do the same but raise it out of apportion.

In the last few weeks some members of the legislature have advocated raising the fees above the Council's new rates. Even though the Council is allowed to establish rates, the General Assembly can pass legislation above their proposal.

Murray State University and Morehead State University have higher rates of out-of-state students primarily because their school is situated near other states. For instance Murray is within 8 miles of Tennessee, 45 miles of Illinois, 47 miles of Missouri, and within 120 miles from Indiana and Arkansas.

The Murray State University Student Government is quite concerned about this problem. This year there has been a decrease in enrollment of Illinois students. Last year there were 701 students and this semester there are 598 students. This is a decrease of 15% in one year.

There are presently more junior male students than there are freshman male students as a result of restrictions on the number of out-of-state students to be allowed in the freshman class.

It is estimated now by the cost of tuition rates and the amount of money spent in state while attending a Kentucky school that by next year it will take four Kentucky students to make up the revenue loss of one out-of-state student who has been turned away either by restriction of out-of-state in-state ratio proportion rates or by increase of out-of-state tuition.

Any outlandish raise by the state legislature can only result in damage to the Universities involved, and Kentucky's economy. As a result of tuition increase the following factors have occurred.

There is actually a decrease in the Murray State University's income. Actual reports show the following: For the 1968-1969 school year a total income from student tuition was $4,622,832. It is estimated that 1970 will be $4,109,751 or one-half million dollar loss ($513,081) from last year. It is estimated that the total fee income for 1970-1971 will be $3,659,070 or almost one million dollar loss ($963,762). This shows only the loss of tuition income and does not show the loss of income for dormitory living, books, materials, or other services provided by this institution.

Murray State University has now had to alter its present plans of expected student enrollment for the next ten years. Such states as Illinois (15%), Indiana (17%), Missouri (30%), and Tennessee (19%) have considerable decrease of students. Comparison figures showed a drop of 204 students from the fall semester of 1968 to the fall semester of 1969. This figure does not include foreign students.

Resulting from the loss of revenue, the University has had to rely on larger requests from the state. In the 1970-72 biennium of Murray State University the following figures appeared. Request for state appropriation for 1968-1969 was $6,214,220. State appropriations for 1969-70 is $6,152,050, and for 1970-71 is $12,489,980. Figures would show an almost two million dollar increase for the 1969-70 fiscal year, and for the 1970-71 fiscal year the increase would be a little over six million dollars. Request always rise with the cost of living and building expansion but not to this degree. This is the only way that the University may find substitute funds.

Another factor often overlooked by members of the state legislature is the loss of the money to the community and to the state. Besides the $760.00 paid yearly in tuition the out-of-state student encounters considerably more expenses. A student pays for gasoline, transportation, books and school supplies, entertainment, clothes, food, medical and dental care, drugs, and various taxes such as state 5 percent sales tax, school tax paid with phone bill, employment tax, and toll road tax. Often the non-resident will attract relatives to Kentucky who also help to supply more revenue income.

The Kentucky Parks Department promotes out-of-state travelers to visit Kentucky and the excellent park systems.

The Student Government is concerned about the possibility of such future hikes. We are asking students to talk with members of the General Assembly and encourage them to support the proposal of the Council on Public Higher Education, and not to make any further raises.

OBION COUNTY FARM NEWS

BY
Joe Martin, County Agent

1 PART PER MILLION

Most people have been reading or hearing about the residue problem of certain insecticides or herbicides used on farm crops. The tolerance allowed is always measured in parts per million. Do you realize that 1 part per million is: 1 inch in 16 miles, or 1 pound in 500 tons, or 1 minute in 1.9 years, or 1 ounce of sand in 31 1/4 tons of cement, or 1 ounce of salt in 62,500 pounds of sugar.

HAYWOOD LUCK HONORED
We know Obion County farmers join us in congratulating Haywood Luck on being selected as the Progressive Farmer Man-of-the-Year in Tennessee Agriculture. All recognize Haywood as an Agronomy specialist with the Agriculture Extension Service Station at Jackson. He has always done an extra-ordinary job in helping to conduct the corn, cotton, and soybean meetings that are held each winter in Obion County as well as working with farmers individually on various problems that come up in row crop operation.

As the honor states, we all recognize Mr. Luck as "Mr. Cotton" and "Mr. Soybean" in West Tennessee. A more dedicated friend of farmers and helper of farmers would be hard to find.

Congratulations to Haywood Luck for a most deserving honor.

REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON

Much has been written in the news lately about the need to improve our environment. It is easy to dismiss this problem as some people's desire to beautify the countryside and reduce ugliness, which is all right even if it is not a top priority need. But there is a great deal more to the problem than this. What is actually at stake is the balance of nature. Let me explain what I mean.

Wherever there are people, certain needs must be met. There must be breathable air, edible food, and drinkable water, but what I want to stress is that there must also be a means of disposing of waste in a manner which does not jeopardize the air, food, and water. In rural areas and in small towns, this necessity does not present a large problem generally, but as people live in larger groups, the problems begin to grow.

A small town can buy a piece of land in the country for a garbage dump and can dump its sewage into a nearby stream without too many ill effects. Because of the small number of industries in small towns, the air is not as likely to be over polluted by
