Kirksey Takes Surprise Victory Over Hazel

By DON BRUMBAUGH
KIRKSEY, Ky.—The Kirksey High School basketball team took a surprise victory from the Hazel High Lions here last night by a 38-33 score. Kirksey came back after the half and out scored the Hazel quintet for the win.

Adams put Kirksey into a short-lived lead at the beginning of the game with a foul shot. The Lions came back with two foul each by Brannon and Taylor. With the first quarter half over the score stood at 4-1 in favor of Hazel without a field goal being scored.

Capt. Bailey of the Hazel squad hit a long shot as Wilson of Kirksey also dropped one through the hoop. McGee got a foul shot for the home team as the quarter ended with Hazel leading 6-4.

Brannon started things off for Hazel with a field goal as the second quarter started. Hargrove hit a long shot and got a free toss to knot the score at 7-7.

Taylor hit a field goal and a charity toss for Hazel while Lassiter got a charity toss and Brannon another field goal from close quarters to put Hazel ahead 13-7. Wilson dropped one or Kirksey and Taylor one for Hazel to keep things even.

Hargrove and Adams hit shots for Kirksey while Outland dropped one for Hazel. Hargrove hit a free-throw to make the score 16-14 at the end of the first half.

Adams got a long one to start things off in the second half. Brannon got a free throw and Bailey a foul shot for Hazel to give the Lions a 19-16 lead. Adams made it 19-18 still in favor of Hazel.

Taylor got a lung shot for Hazel and Wilson one for Kirksey. Brannon hit a pivot jump shot to give Hazel a 22-20 lead which was the last time they were to be in front.

Adams hit two long shots and Wilson one for the Kirksey squad as they took a 26-22 lead. Brannon and Wilson traded field goals as the third quarter ended with Kirksey out in front 28-24.

Top Livestock Honors Go To Farm Boy & Would-Be Nurse

CHICAGO, Dec. 3 (UP)—A boy who wants to stay down on the farm and a girl who wants to head for the big city set out to make their fortunes today with the highest honors offered by the International Livestock Exposition.

Old hands among farmers, ranchers and breeders continued to compete for lesser awards but the highest honors already were in the hands of the two teen-ager farmers.

Claude Millwee, 18, Fort Cobb, Okla., captured the Grand Championship steer award with "Big Boy," an 1,110-pound Shorthorn, that cost him $75 when he bought it from a breeder. The big animal may bring him a record $15,000 when it goes on the auction block.

Miriam Meyer, 16, Crescent City, Ill., became the first woman to win the Grand Championship Barrow ribbon in the 48 years the exposition has been held. She won with a 260-pound Chester White she calls "Pal."

Both said they were convinced that the awards were the beginning, not the climax of their careers. But their ambitions differ greatly. Millwee wants to stay on the farm and become a big time stock man. Miss Meyer wants to be a nurse.

Stock experts predicted today that both would start their careers with record riches as result of their stock show winnings.

They pointed to the attention that Millwee, a shy, serious six-foot-two-inch youth, had received while "Big Boy" was winning his way up through minor awards to the Grand Championship. The National Shorthorn Breeders Association took special interest in the steer. If "Big Boy" drew the predicted $15,000 at auction, he would exceed the $14,500 paid for last year's champion.

Miss Meyer's barrow may bring her $2,000 if the 1945 record of $7,000 is exceeded, the experts said. Millwee's grand champion and the University of Wyoming's reserve grand champion, Homestead, will be auctioned off tomorrow. The sale last year brought a record $10,500 a pound for the top steer, Oklahoma A. & M. College's Shorthorn, Royal Jupiter.

Miss Meyer's Chester White goes on the block Friday when the grand champion weaver, owned by Oklahoma A. and M. also will be sold.

ONE WORLD UNDER ONE ROOF—Mrs. Wendell Wilkie looks over plans shown to her by Dr. H. W. Waters, President and General Manager of the International Exposition to be held in Atlantic City in 1948. George A. Hamid, Jr., treasurer of the exposition, is at the right. Carrying out the ideals of the late Wendell Wilkie, the group plans to help maintain everlasting world peace by bringing nations of the world together in industry by creating world trade and prosperity.

"Do You Want To Continue The Chamber Of Commerce?"

In a communication sent recently by the Chamber of Commerce, the question is asked, "Do you want to continue the Chamber of Commerce?" There is only one answer to that question, and that is, BY ALL MEANS, YES. The Chamber is THE connection that the city of Murray and indeed Calloway County, has with the factors that influence our growth.

We must have some means by which we can attract industry, tourists, and gain the recognition that is due us. A unified Chamber of Commerce is the best means that we can think of to do this.

The work of the Chamber of Commerce is a full time job. It is a full time job to do what has to be done. If a then someone or some agency must be employed whose sole job is the promotion of the town.

We feel that our Chamber of Commerce has done a great job for the time that it has been in existence. To terminate this important function at this time, would be to cut ourselves off from any immediate future developments. The present body has made a good many important contacts over the past three years, some of which will undoubtedly bear fruit.

So, our answer to you, Mr. Hurt, is YES, WE DO WANT TO CONTINUE THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE. We think that the present membership will re-subscribe ONE HUNDRED PER CENT.

LATE BULLETINS

Slogan Pays Off
SAN JOSE, Calif., Dec. 3 (UP)—A soap company's slogan contest today netted Mrs. Pansy Haywood a $20,000 Cape Cod house with four bedrooms and $1,500 for a lot on which to build it.

Mrs. Haywood's winning slogan was not revealed. She mailed her 25-word entry with a box top last month saying at the time, "Nobody ever wins these things."

She now lives in a one-room apartment with her husband, Max, a plasterer, and their two children.

Price Index Soars
NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (UP)—The index of wholesale food prices in the week-ended December 2 soared to a new all-time high, Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., announced today.

The index reflected 30% increase in 13 of 31 foods in general use and rose to $7.17 from $7.06 in the preceding week. This compared with $6.39 in the corresponding 1946 period. The previous all-time high was established in the week ended September 16 at $7.12. The all-time low was $1.49 on January 31, 1933.

Fare Increase Asked
WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (UP)—American airlines today asked Civil Aeronautics Board permission to increase its fares 10 per cent December 12.

It thus joined 10 other major domestic airlines in seeking an increase. Previously, American was the lone major holdout against a fare boost. The request would raise airfares to 5.5 cents per mile.

Russia Needs Only 24 Hours
WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (UP)—Chairman Charles A. Eaton of the House foreign affairs committee, pleading for speedy handling of the emergency foreign aid bill, said today Russia is in a position to take over all of Europe by force in 24 hours.

Unrest Grows
PARIS, Dec. 3 (UP)—The government moved late today to mobilize 80,000 army reservists to deal with a national crisis intensified by mounting sabotage which killed an officially reported 20 persons in a train wreck outside Paris.

CATTLE FEEDING SITUATION

United States Department of Agriculture Bureau of Agricultural Economics Louisville 2, Ky.
The cattle feeding situation to the end of October continues to show an overall reduction in the number of cattle fed for market this fall and winter from the near record high of last year, the Bureau of Agricultural Economics reported today. However, the reduction is less marked than seemed probable a month ago. Cattle feeding in the Corn Belt States is expected to be generally reduced with the largest decreases indicated for the Western Corn Belt, especially in 1948. Feeding activities in the Western States are expected to be larger than last year because of increases in the important areas of California and Colorado. Little or no wheat pasture is available for cattle feeding in the Great Plains due to continued drought.

Shipments of stocker and feeder cattle into the Corn Belt States in October were about 17 per cent below the same month last year. Except for the last 2 years, the movement is the largest since 1940. The total movement of stockers and feeders into the Corn Belt for the months July through October, although about 15 per cent below last year, was the second largest since 1940.

In 8 of the Corn Belt States for which records are available total shipments for the months July through October were 1,560,000 head—a 15 per cent reduction from the 1,616,000 head shown for July-October 1946. Comparable shipments of stockers and feeders for earlier years are as follows: 1945, 1,515,000; 1944, 1,224,000; and 1943, 1,189,000. Of the 8 Corn Belt States, only Indiana, Wisconsin, and Minnesota show larger shipments of feeder cattle than last year. Ohio, Illinois, Michigan, Iowa, and Nebraska all have a reduction from 1946 with Iowa's leading cattle feeding State, markedly reduced by almost 23 per cent. Shipments were down in Nebraska, Illinois, and Ohio by 7 per cent, 13 per cent, 13 per cent, and 25 per cent respectively.

The wheat-pasture, feeding area of central and western Kansas, Oklahoma, and the Panhandle of Texas as well as parts of Oklahoma, Wyoming, Idaho, New Mexico, and Arizona, and Utah will all probably show an increase in the number of cattle fed this season. Present information indicates that cattle feeding in Oregon and Washington will be substantially reduced from last year, while in California it is on a considerably larger scale. Feeder shipments into the Lancaster County area of Pennsylvania are down materially from last year.

Throughout most of the Corn Belt, October weather was generally very favorable for maturing corn. Consequently, there is less need for cattle to utilize soft corn than had been anticipated earlier. In many of the feeding areas, the short supply of feed is a factor in reduced operations. The current price of feeder cattle has been a factor causing hesitancy among some operators to go into the feeding business this season. Prices of feeder cattle in October were generally lower than in September. The seasonal decline in Kansas City prices this fall was less than usual. October feeder prices were the highest on record for the month and more than $4.50 per hundred higher than last year. According to reports from the 4 leading markets the average cost of feeder steers bought at these markets in October was $191 per head compared with $125 last year. The average price for all slaughter steers at Chicago reached an all-time high in October. The average price-4yr choice and prime slaughter steers set a new record although prices for common steers were down from September and averaged nearly $3.00 lower than the record high last June.

Miss Geneva Fougt of Owensboro, spent Thanksgiving with Dr. and Mrs. William G. Nash and family.

Survey Shows Santa Claus Will Have Tough Time Finding Presents For Men

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (UP)—A nationwide Santa Claus survey proved today that the woman who thinks her man is hard to shop for is absolutely right. Ladies, if it's any use to you, five per cent of the gentlemen button-holed by United Press want you to give them guns. Less than two in 100 would rather have a necktie than anything.

But hordes of them can't think of anything at all to ask for. And many of those who tried obviously dug hard and came up with exactly what you gave them last Christmas, and the one before that.

A man between 30 and 40 or a single son or sweetheart under 30 you're shopping for, you're a little better off than average. Men in these groups had more varied ideas and expressed more sentimentality than any others.

A young man in St. Louis will settle for an angel food cake from his mother's oven. Another wants a picture of his girl.

Clothing and sports or hobby equipment were mentioned equally and accounted for more than half of the requests. Jewelry and watches will make 10 per cent happy, most of them in their 30's.

Others want promises: "A budget book with a note promising she'll stay within it," said a Des Moines man. "A pledge to stop backseat driving," said another. An Indianapolis husband just wants "plenty of love."

"Married men in their 30's like books, too. 'Forever Amber' is wanted in Los Angeles, an encyclopedia in Minneapolis. This group also wanted more liquor than any other, but not much at that."

Jewelry requests were half watches, the rest cuff links, a diamond stick pin, rings, pens and pencils and a pocket knife.

Inauguration of Clements Tuesday To Be Plain Affair

FRANKFORT, Ky., Dec. 3.—It will be a plain people's inauguration when Earle C. Clements and Lawrence W. Weatherby are installed next week in the Governorship and Lieutenant Governorship respectively. There will be no frock-tailed coats, no silk hats nor morning suits adorning the principal participants in the ceremonies. They will wear plain business suits.

"I am a plain man, and care little for the frills and fancies," said Governor-elect Clements. "I shall wear a plain, business suit typical of the type administration I shall endeavor to give the people of Kentucky.

"All the people are welcome to attend the inauguration functions, and I wish to extend my hearty congratulations to the citizenship of Frankfort for the splendid arrangements they have made to care for the inaugural affairs. This is a plain people's affair. All are welcome."

Clements and Weatherby will be inducted into office about high noon next Tuesday. Both are Democrats. They succeed retiring Gov. Simeon Willis and Lieut. Gov. Kenneth H. Tuggle, both Republicans.

An elaborate parade is being planned which will include military units from Fort Knox, marching units from many counties, bands and many forms of pageantry. Practically every county in the State will send a marching unit.

The military demonstration will be headed by Major General John W. Leonard, Fort Knox, and several battalions from that post, followed by Kentucky National Guard units and U. S. Marine Corps reserves.

The Fort Knox contingent will include a battalion of 400 men in four companies, another 300-man battalion in four companies, and a unit of 150 youngsters from the Universal Military Training Experimental Unit.

Adj. Gen. Gus H. May has asked that all Kentucky National Guard units send contingents to participate in the parade. Participation is on a volunteer basis with those taking part receiving regular drill pay.

National Guard fighter planes will zoom over the Capital during the parade. Marine Corps reserves will be under command of Capt. Vernon Reeks.

Colonel Carl Norman is grand marshal of the parade. He has served in similar capacity for several past inaugurations and will be under command of Capt. Vernon Reeks.

General Inaugural Chairman Louis Cox said the parade will start in downtown Frankfort about 9:30 a.m., going to the New State Capital.

Both incoming and outgoing Governors and other State officials will ride in the parade from downtown Frankfort to a point near the Capital Building when they will leave the line or march and go direct to a reviewing stand in front of the new Capital.

Lead position in the parade will be held by the drum and bugle corps of the James Wallace Costigan American Legion Post, Newport, followed by the Morganfield High School band.

Among the celebrities expected to be on hand are United States Senator Alben W. Barkley, Paducah; the five Democratic members of Congress from Kentucky—Noble J. Gregory, Mayfield; Frank L. Chief, Lebanon; Brent Spence, Fort Thomas; Virgil Chapman, Paris; and Joe B. Bates, Greenup. Gov. Jim Nance M. Cord, of Tennessee, also will attend.

Former Democratic Governors Augustus Owsley Stanley, Henderson, (now chairman of the International Joint Commission, Washington, D. C.); William J. Fields, Grayson; A. B. (Happy) Chandler, Versailles; Present High Commissioner of Baseball, and Ken Johnson, Richmond, also will attend.

Sees No Need for Late, Thin Lambs

Use of a drug called phenothiazine has solved the late-lamb problem for thousands of Kentucky farmers, according to Richard C. Miller of the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

"Light, thin lambs which still show up on some markets late in the season are the result of failure to carry through with a simple parasite-control program using phenothiazine," Miller declared.

"Year after year thousands of farmers have demonstrated that there is no excuse for marketing such lambs, regardless of when they were dropped."

The time to prevent having thin, late lambs next season is right now. This month all sheep, both ewes and rams, should be dosed with phenothiazine, although pregnant ewes should not be treated.

NEWEST R.R. COACHES PERMIT SLEEPING

CHICAGO (U.P.)—The post-war Day-Nite coach is appearing on the nation's "name" trains. It is being heralded as an answer to the railroad's need for a coach that provides the long distance traveler with sleeping comfort.

The Day-Nite coach, a post-war innovation of Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing Co., is being featured on four of the nation's streamliners—the Great Northern Empire Builders, the Illinois Central's City of New Orleans, the Rock Island's Golden State Limited, and the Northern Pacific's creek trains.

Seating 48 passengers instead of the usual 60, the Day-Nite coach has been designed with seats farther apart. That means seats can have an extra degree of recline, enabling travelers to assume a comfortable sleeping position. At night the passenger gets a full-length sleeping surface by pulling down from the seat ahead a large upholstered leg rest.

Pullman-Standard has provided the new coaches with individual spot-type lights for each seat. The fixtures throw a cone of light about 30 inches in diameter at the reading level. As they are individually controlled and focused, the light from one seat will not disturb the passenger in the adjacent seat if he wishes to sleep.

Shall we feed our Wheat to Cattle... or to Children?

Millions of bushels of wheat and other grains—in fact 3/4 of our grain supply—are normally used for animal feeding. It takes about 4 pounds of this grain on the average to produce 1 pound of meat.

Western Europe is desperately hungry—her children stunted, underfed, her men lacking strength to work effectively. We must send them the wheat they need—for our sake as well as theirs.

4 ways YOU CAN HELP THEM HELP THEMSELVES
1 Use no meat on Tuesdays. Do not serve any cuts of beef, lamb, veal, pork or ham at home nor ask for them in restaurants. On days you do use meat, buy the cheaper grades.
2 Use no poultry or eggs on Thursdays. Do not serve chicken, turkey, duck, goose or eggs at home and do not order them in restaurants. On days you do buy fowl, buy the cheaper grades such as stewing chicken.
3 Save a slice of bread every day. Every slice of bread, every bun, roll or muffin you save means more wheat to fight hunger abroad.
4 Remember when eating out, restaurants will serve bread and butter only on your special request.
WASTE NOTHING—Clean your plate at every meal!

Ravaged by 6 years of bloody war, plagued by freeze and drought that cut crops to the lowest point in recent history, our friends in Europe are tragically in need of food.
Wheat is the one answer—enough wheat merely to hold their diets at least at subsistence levels.
This is the job that faces us today—a job we can do and must do. We must cut our direct use of wheat products—just one slice of bread saved every day by every person saves about 70 million bushels of wheat a year.
We must cut down our use of meat—and start now buying the cheaper grades—to save the extra wheat that's fed to animals.
For our own sake as well as theirs, we must do this. Let us help our friends to help themselves. Let us help them get the strength to join with us in building a decent, peaceful world to live in.

A RICH GIRL

BY MARGARETTA BRUCKER

Michele (Mickey) Ryan, rich Detroit society girl, bumps into Peter Stansh, poor young lawyer, when they both lose their hats on a windy corner. She has coffee with him and seeing that he has no money she tells him her name is Mickey Brooks. He thinks she's a working girl and, to her dismay, says he hates the rich. When he talks enthusiastically about going into the Army, she begins to think seriously about the war for the first time, for her Aunt Henrietta, with whom she lives, has influenced her to know it. She and Peter are strongly attracted to each other and, as she returns home, she thinks she has fallen in love with him, but fears he would despise her if he knew her true identity. She's engaged to William Wayne III, but does not love him and knows he's marrying her for her money. That evening, she started when William brings Peter to dinner. Afraid for Peter to discover who she is, she does not appear. Meanwhile, her aunt becomes enraged by Peter's socialistic views and, discovering that he's employed by her firm of lawyers, determines to have him fired. The next morning, Mickey, after donning her simplest outfit, sets out to keep a date with him.

CHAPTER V
BEFORE Mickey left the house, she stopped in the library to see her aunt. Aunt Henrietta gazed at her critically. "What have you done to your hair? Good thing William won't see you like that. He doesn't like church mice."

"Love!" shouted her aunt. "What does that matter? You are making a suitable marriage."

Mickey smiled. "I'm going downtown. On the bus. The bus! Why ride on the bus with five dollars in the pocket and a maid's dress on your back? I'm going downtown. On the bus. The bus! Why ride on the bus with five dollars in the pocket and a maid's dress on your back? I'm going downtown. On the bus. The bus! Why ride on the bus with five dollars in the pocket and a maid's dress on your back?"

wind blew as it had blown yesterday. The sun shone just the same—an April sun, bright and dazzling. She walked around the newsstand twice and then walked around it again. Peter was nowhere in sight.

Suddenly she felt as though she could not bear it if Peter failed her. It was twelve-fifteen. It was twenty after, as Mickey slowly turned to walk away. Racing downtown to meet a man she had met only once seemed silly now and senseless. What could she have expected? Then, she heard a quick step behind her. Someone caught her arm, whirled her around—and Peter smiled down into her face. He said, "Sorry I'm late. I was afraid."

Law Librarian Has Charge Of Rare Volumes

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 2.—UP—Librarian Richard W. Neal has probably the "most exclusive" set of book-borrowers in the state. Neal is in charge of the Alabama Supreme Court Library—his clientele includes Supreme Court justices and Appeals Court judges.

Personal Paragraphs

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Phillips and son, Billie, and Mr. Ted Orr and daughter, Miss Doris of Detroit spent last week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Orr and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Phillips and other relatives, returning home on Saturday.

Social Calendar

and is open to all judges and attorneys. Most experts agree that Alabama's law library ranks second in the South only to the great collection built by the late Sen. Huey P. Long for Louisiana. The library had its greatest growth under the late Junius Moore Riggs, who had its charge from 1874 to 1934.

When it comes to returning books, Alabama's top legal minds are as bad as the average reader, Neal admits ruefully. "Sometimes I almost have to go to court to get a book back," he adds laughing. But I guess it wouldn't be ethical to sue a Supreme Court judge. Besides, it'd take a pretty good lawyer.

However, Neal could probably present a pretty good case himself. A law graduate of Jones University here, he is a member of the Montgomery and Alabama Bar Associations. Neal has been connected with the court since 1937. He was in the clerk's office under the late Robert L. Jagen. Then he was secretary to Chief Justice Lucien D. Gardner. He has been librarian since returning from service in March, 1946.

Neal, who is married, is an ideal man for the job. Outside of golf, his favorite hobby is reading the "Southern Reporter"—a publication of reports on all southern Supreme Court cases.

Bulletin Discusses Use of Cheaper Meat

Ways to use less expensive cuts of meat, thereby reducing the meat bill at the same time, the family is supplied with necessary protein foods, are discussed in a 46-page bulletin recommended by Miss Florence Imlay, specialist in foods at the UK College of Agriculture and Home Economics. Called "Meat for Thrifty Meals," Farmers Bulletin No. 1908, USDA, it includes recipes for the preparation of beef, pork, and veal. Copies of the bulletin may be had without cost by writing to the college at Lexington.

WAA Official Inspects Campus

MSC's industrial arts department is putting machinery which it got from government surplus to good advantage, according to Mr. R. E. Sturgis, War Assets Administration priorities chief.

Mr. Sturgis visited the campus recently and said, "I am very pleased with the use to which the machinery and other equipment is being put."

The prominent official indicated that there were other MSC departments which could utilize war surplus stocks, notably the physical sciences and that he would recommend that such material be given to the college.

Mr. Sturgis was shown around the campus by Mr. Marvin O. Wraether, assistant to the president, and other administration officials.

Procedure in getting surplus goods from the government was outlined by Mr. Sturgis. The War Assets Administration has a system of priorities, with governmental agencies, state and local, entitled to first choice.

Five Tobacco Floors In Murray Are Making Preparations To Receive Tobacco For Opening Of Sales On January 5

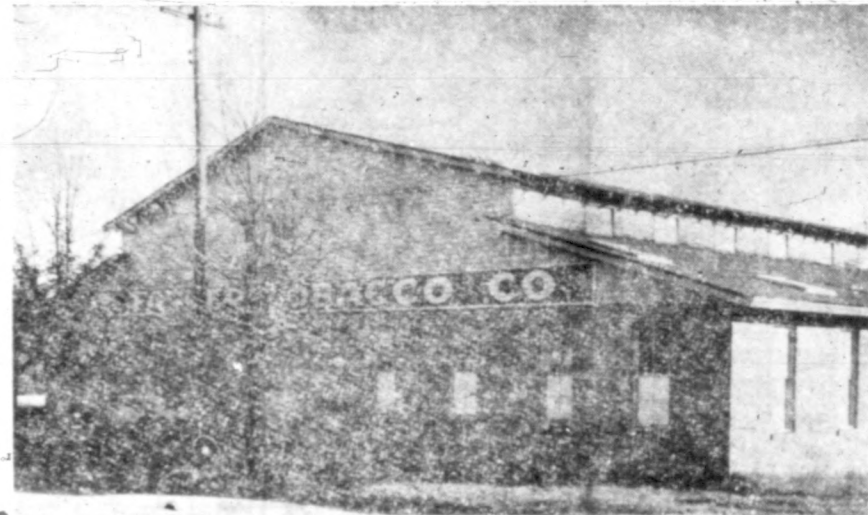

Five tobacco floors in Murray are prepared to receive tobacco for the sales which begin January 5. Local officials anticipate one of the best seasons in the history of the city. Present indications are that both quantity sold and prices received by growers will break previous records.

Murray is the largest market in Western Kentucky for dark fired tobacco. Its warehouses aggregate the largest floor and storage space to be found in this part of the state.

Calloway County produces the highest quality of dark tobacco and a large acreage of dark, air-cured and burley is also raised. Murray is the headquarters for the Western Dark Fired Tobacco Growers Association with a membership of 12,000 growers.
