"IT'S THE FIRST TIME we've ever given the same award to TWO men, but you earned it too," says Bowen to Harvey Caldwell (left) recognizing the fact that Caldwell was President of the firm during most of the sales period in which it was earned. (see story below).

Caldwell, Butts, Given Top National Honors

In a presentation made following a dinner at the Derby restaurant here Tuesday night, a Fulton office supply firm received the highest honors that a nationally-known company can bestow on one of its dealers.

The Ditto Division of Bell and Howell named the Harvey Caldwell Company and its successor since January 1st—Office Outfitters, Inc.—as their top-rated dealer in its class last year in sales achievement. The local firm was singled out from among some 180 competing Class III dealers throughout the nation for the greatest sales gain above its quota in Ditto products, bringing singular recognition to this firm.

On hand to present specially-engraved plaques were Bob Bowen, national dealer sales manager, and Bert Griffith, regional dealer sales manager, both from the company's home office in Chicago.

"This is the first time in the history of this firm that we have ever awarded two plaques for the same honor," commented Bowen, "but since this tremendous sales mark was achieved during the period that the company was under two ownerships, we felt it entirely fitting to honor the former owner, Mr. Caldwell, as well as the present owner, Mr. Butts, with like awards," he stated.

The Ditto division maintains only three classes of dealerships in the nation, and annually awards only one "President's Award" to each of the sales leaders in their respective divisions. Division III, in which the local firm is rated, consists of dealers in small cities and under.

The office supply firm, located in Fulton, sells and services a wide area of western Kentucky and northwestern Tennessee. The company was founded here in 1954 by Mr. Caldwell, and was awarded

Mrs. Roy Cruce Finds That Number "3" Is Something To Be Reckoned With

The odds seem for Mrs. Roy Cruce, of Cayce, as "three" is a number which comes into her life often.

She was born November 3, 1893, on a farm where Roper Jeffress lives, on State Line Road, just east of Jordan, Ky. She was the third generation born and living in that home. There were three brothers and three sisters in her family.

She married in 1913 and had three children, three granddaughters and three grandsons, and three great-grandsons; also three grandsons by marriage.

Men from three generations have been in wars - her husband, her son and sons-in-law, and now her grandsons. Her son sailed overseas on August 23, 1943, returned three years later, was married three years when he passed away.

Her husband was the third son of his family. When she married Roy Cruce, that made three Cruce daughters-in-laws with Mary in their names. Her husband passed away the third month of the year.

She was the third child to be born in her family and observed her 50th wedding anniversary in 1963. She has been a member of three Cayce Methodist Churches, on the same grounds.

Ten Charged In Tire Theft From Box Car

Ten Graves County adults and one juvenile have been charged with grand larceny in connection with the theft of a number of automobile tires from a burned Illinois Central Railroad freight car near Lowes several weeks ago.

Charged are: Joe L. Buckman, Fancy Farm Rt. 1; Buddy C. Strong, Lowes; Jim Nicholson, Mayfield; Limmo Biggs, Fancy Farm Rt. 1; Jimmy Womack, Dublin; Collins Willie, Mayfield Rt. 6; Glenn Sears, Lowes; Tommy Goatley, Fancy Farm Rt. 1; Ralph Thomas, Lowes; and Glenn Willett, Mayfield Rt. 2. All are free on $1,000 bond.

Preliminary hearings are scheduled in Graves County Court on Monday, May 25. The arrests followed an intensive investigation by FBI agents, ICCR detectives, city, county and state officers.

Some 250 tires have been recovered by officers after obtaining search warrants last weekend.

The railroad car loaded with tires developed a hot box and was switched to a siding near Lowes. About half the tires in the car were destroyed by fire.

2 Inspection Stations Are Suspended

Alleged violations of Kentucky's motor vehicle inspection laws have resulted in action being taken against two service station operators in the Fulton-McCracken County area by the Department of Public Safety.

MVI Director John Parrott said Dan K. Taylor, Taylor Chevrolet-Buick, Inc., Highway 307 at Fulton, and Marvin C. Richter, Rick's Service Station, Route 1, West Paducah, have both been notified that alleged irregularities in their inspection programs are now under investigation.

Parrott said both operators' licenses to issue vehicle safety stickers have been suspended pending outcome of the investigations.

Lion's Club Horse Show To Be Best Ever Staged

The annual Hickman Lion's Club Horse Show is off and running to a big event with the announcement today by Barney Speight, show manager. To be held on Saturday, July 11, at the Fulton County High School football stadium, cash prizes this year total $905, in addition to the trophies and ribbons that will be awarded. A rain date has been set for July 13.

H. G. Shaw, of Route 4, Hickman is the general chairman of the event again this year. Mr. Shaw indicated that prospective entries this year may supersede the large number of over 100 that participated in the show last year.

The Hickman Horse Show is rated as one of the most successful and prestigious on the horse show circuit. While spectator interest in many of the shows around the area seems to be waning, the Hickman Horse Show draws a large audience each year.

Winners In Fish Contest Announced

The Fulton Western Auto Store has ended its spring "fishing contest" and announces this week the winners in each of the three divisions of the contest.

HOWARD MILAM won the Crappie division with his monster 3-lb. 2-oz. crappie — 17½ inches long—caught April 25 in Kentucky Lake.

SHIRLEY JONES won the Bass division with a 11½-lb. bass caught April 23 in a pond.

Federal Grant To County High School

In its constant efforts to upgrade the standards of education at the Fulton County High School, Harold Garrison, superintendent of the school system, announced today that a "first" in advanced school administration has been achieved.

This week Mr. Garrison was informed by the Kentucky Department of Education that a $15,000 grant has been approved by the United States Commission of Education to employ an advisory specialist to alleviate the problems arising from the desegregation of the schools under the Fulton County System.

Selected to head up the 15-month program is Charles Terrett, a graduate of Murray State University and a teacher in the Cayce Elementary School system. Terrett, with a wide background of training in adult and vocational education, will begin his new duties at once.

The Fulton County School system is the first school district in a large region in West Kentucky, and one of the few school systems in the State, to be given the grant. Specifically, the program is designed to analyze special problems arising in student-faculty relationships, particularly those involved in correcting serious misunderstandings experienced between the races.

Similarly, it will attempt to learn more about particular behavior patterns and attitudes of the pupils to give teachers the necessary ability to solve these disciplinary problems. It will also attempt to develop a deeper understanding, improve communications and effective human relations with a bi-racial student body and faculty. In addition, it will attempt to recruit qualified black teachers and discuss with all the students the avenues to a more effective curricula of black studies.

Application for the program was made by Superintendent Garrison in late March of this year. Asked by a reporter if the application was an effort to obliterate any future instances of a possible lack of communication between the students and administrative disciplinary policies Mr. Garrison said:

"I can say that the new program is certainly an effort to create an awareness among the students, faculty and administrators to maintain an orderly and harmonious relationship with each other." "I am proud," he added, "that we were successful in securing the grant, not only as a means to bolster the morale of our faculty and students, but to institute in our school system the most modern programs to continue our philosophy of a very modern school system."

Mr. Terrett's background and qualifications made him eminently suited to carry out the program. Following his graduation from Murray, he enrolled in the University of Tennessee to pursue studies in business administration and psychology. He, with Cayce School principal Jeff Lester, was a member of one of 20 two-man teams to be invited to attend the nine-week course of studies in the Disadvantaged Youth Institute at the University of Tennessee in Knoxville. He has taught basic adult education at night for two years and is now conducting night classes in adult education at Paducah Tilghman Vocational Training School. He will be an instructor for the four-county Head Start program when it begins this summer under the auspices of the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Terrett will spend the first several weeks of the program making plans, delineating programs, consulting and advising with students, faculty and parents of school children the vital ingredients necessary to the success of the program. His findings will be put into full execution when the school year begins this fall.

The program is completely financed by Federal funds with no cash outlay required from local tax monies.

Ferry Morse Official Tells Lions Of Huge Seed Industry

Robert B. (Bob) Morgan, general manager of the Ferry-Morse Seed Company in Fulton held the rapt attention of the members of the Hickman Lion's Club last Friday when he told the story of the "glamour and romance" of the seed industry.

Stating that the seed industry is the only "necessary commodity for the future of civilization," Mr. Morgan traced the interesting history of the growth of seeds from the earliest known history of man and the impact of growing seeds on the development of civilization. Morgan quoted a poem by Edgar Guest that called a packet of seed "a dime's worth of something known only to God."

Stating that he had no formal training as a seed specialist,

Morgan said that he was attracted to the seed industry by the "glamour and romance" of its production.

Morgan told something of the Ferry-Morse Seed Company plant in Fulton and the fact that the community was chosen because of its proximity to the theoretical center of the company's operation. He said that about 80 billion packets of seeds are filled in Fulton which are distributed to about 55,000 dealers in the United States. The Fulton company, now a subsidiary of the Purac Corporation, employs about 175 persons, in a seasonal operation of seven to ten months out of the year. Two-thirds of the employees are women and one third are male.

Mr. Morgan was introduced by Sam Holly, who was program chairman for the day. President Sam Ezelle reported that the sales of tickets on the television set, to be given away, were going slowly, but that plans for the annual horse show to be held in July, were progressing nicely. The meeting was the last for this club year.

Mr. Holly had as a guest of the club Mrs. Paul Westpheling, editor and publisher of the Hickman Courier.

Padgett Indicted By Clinton Grand Jury

Former county judge Elias H. Padgett has been indicted by the Hickman County grand jury on a charge of misappropriating public funds.

Padgett, who served as Hickman County judge for 20 years prior to his defeat by the present judge, Willis Jackson, in May 1969, was charged in a warrant issued in late March following a complaint by James Jones, Clinton.

He later waived a preliminary hearing on the charge of misappropriating funds and was permitted to remain free under $3,000 bond.

Several witnesses were called to testify before the grand jury in the case.

"DOC" MYERS won the Bass division with an 11-ounce bream caught April 27 in a pond.

After A Lifetime of Work, The Caldwells Are Enjoying Their Leisure

(by P. W.)

Harvey and Elizabeth Caldwell are realizing a life-long ambition that every business couple aspires to after they retire from the active hurly-burly of business life, and that is "just taking off" on carefree trips seeing the children, grandchildren — and even great-grandchildren — with scarcely a look at the clock, or the distance.

And not a worry about what is going on around home, or the office, or the business any more.

"It's great," they chimed together to this reporter last week after just returning from a two-month sojourn to Florida, Virginia and North Carolina. This fall they plan another trip, this time to Los Angeles and West Coast points.

The carefree trip just concluded was the first they had ever managed for such a length of time. "We didn't worry about when we had to leave, or when we had to get back, or worry about calling in to the store to see how business was, and all that sort of thing" the couple laughed. "It was just a great trip of relaxation."

The auto trip began on March 14 with a drive from Fulton to Cookeville, Tenn. to see a daughter, Barbara (Caldwell) Atkins and her husband, who is a professor at Tennessee Tech University there. Barbara herself is a teacher in the Cookeville city schools.

The pleasant visit in Cookeville consumed ten days, and the couple then headed for Miami, Florida to visit Mrs. Caldwell's son, Robert Snow and his family, taking a leisurely three days to make the drive. Robert ("Bobby") is manager of the Royal Palm Ice Company in Coral Gables, Fla.

"Bob entertained us royally," said Harvey, "even taking three days off his busy schedule to take us on a remarkable drive down to Key West, an area we had never seen. We had a wonderful time in and around Miami with Bob and his family.

"One night we were all in a restaurant at Miami Beach waiting for them to call our table, and just as they did, a voice almost next to us exclaimed, 'Why! Elizabeth Wade! What are you doing here?' Said Elizabeth, 'I turned around, and there was Doris Wiley's sister, Mary Clardy, and her doctor-husband from Danville, Ky.! This restaurant was huge, and crowded with people, and what a coincidence that we would find somebody there from Fulton.'"

When we left Miami we drove up the coast to Newport News, Virginia to visit Lt. Commander Don Wright, taking another leisurely three days to make this leg of the trip. Wright, a native Fultonian and a career Navy officer, is married to the former Ruth Caldwell and they have two children, Hank and Wendy, and are getting ready to welcome another son.

The carefree two weeks in Newport News included a visit to the "Enterprise" (the world's largest nuclear aircraft carrier) now in dock there. A side trip to colonial Williamsburg and to Jamestown, provided by Ruth, was also enjoyed tremendously.

From Newport News, Harvey and Elizabeth journeyed to see another son, Robert Caldwell, in East Flat Rock, North Carolina. Robert, the youngest of the Caldwells, is a graduate engineer associated with the General Electric Company. He is married and has two little girls, one two years old and one two months old.

"We stayed at the Robert Cald-wells for two weeks, and, like the others, we sure hated to leave because we were having such a good time," Harvey smiled.

"On the way back to Fulton we stopped in Gatlinburg to visit this unique and interesting area," Elizabeth continued. "It was spring, the scenery everywhere was beautiful, and we thoroughly enjoyed it all. We covered 4,700 miles on this trip, consumed two months time, and it was great. But we WERE glad to get back home again," said Harvey.

Harvey, who is proud of his long perfect attendance record in Rotary, pointed out proudly that he "made up" every week's attendance with Rotary clubs in whatever community he happened to be, enjoying some unusual fellowships and experiences while doing so.

Both Harvey and Elizabeth Caldwell are now retired business people here and during their careers were prominent in the affairs of Fulton and this area.

Elizabeth, a native of Fulton and a member of the prominent Wade family, began her career as an accountant in Montgomery, Alabama, where she worked as head of the department in a government agency for some eight years. She returned to Fulton in 1943 and bought a half-interest with Mrs. Guy Irby in "Irby's Fashion Shop," a well-known specialty shop for women whose clientele extended from Paducah to Memphis. On the death of Mrs. Irby, Mrs. Caldwell bought the complete business, renamed it "Elizabeth's" and operated it until she retired in 1968 and closed it.

"I loved the business, but my health wouldn't permit me to run it any longer," Elizabeth fondly recalled. "I loved the trips to New York, and to Chicago, and to St. Louis. I used to make these trips twice a year, buying for the store."

Some of the former employees of Elizabeth's and its predecessor, Irby's Fashion Shop, included Rosa Smith (deceased) and Mrs. Flossie Conley, alterations dept.;

Catherine Bradley, Lola Roach, Mrs. Felix Gossum, Sr., Edna Earl Hilliard, Lona Farabough, Mrs. Don Hill and Mrs. Bernard Houston (deceased). The shop was founded by Mrs. Tom Irby and Mrs. Guy Irby in a one-room location upstairs over the old Evans Drug Store on Lake Street. They were there several years before they moved to 300 Walnut Street (now occupied by Wood Television), and then to their last location on upper Main Street in the Graham building.

Harvey Caldwell opened a small office supply business in 1952 in a small one-room shop on Commercial Avenue. He worked hard at it, the business grew, and the following year he moved to the larger quarters that the present "Office Outfitters, Inc." now occupy at the corner of Walnut and Plain Street here. He personally traveled throughout West Tennessee and Kentucky selling for his firm and "got it established" as he put it.

There Is Only One "Shopper" In Fulton And That Is The Fulton Shopper

There is only ONE "SHOPPER"—by that name—circulated in the entire Fulton-South Fulton trade area, and that is THE FULTON SHOPPER. Any other publication riding on the coat-tails of this name in claiming any of its advertising prestige and pulling power is creating a deliberate misrepresentation.

In the recently-completed local marketing survey conducted by the Marketing I class at South Fulton High School, the name "SHOPPER" was rather loosely thrown around by the students making the survey. This was unintentional, we are sure, since there is only ONE "Shopper"—by that name—circulated in this area. The Fulton daily publishes a free-circulation paper called "The Leader", and until last week denied ever publishing a "Shopper." The Union City Messenger publishes the "Buyer's Guide". Nowhere in the name of either of these two free publications is the name "Shopper" mentioned.

Free-distribution papers, popular around the country these days because of their very effective mass coverage of market areas, are known in the publishing trade as Penny-savers, Buyer's Guides, Advertisers, Shoppers, Shopping News and any of a dozen different names.

But when one asks a SPECIFIC question about a SPECIFIC publication, the SPECIFIC name of the paper must be mentioned, in all fairness, if an accurate answer is to be determined. Unfortunately, the student survey did not properly identify the correct names of the free publications circulated here. All three were specifically called "Shoppers."

The management of the Fulton Shopper is of the strong opinion that the survey should be discarded as worthless and another survey, using the exact names of the publications involved, be made again if any value is to be attached to the findings. We would welcome the survey, if there is time to make it before school is out.

We wouldn't be raising all this fuss except for the fact that another local publication, who began publication of a free-distribution paper three years after our "Fulton Shopper" was firmly entrenched and proven, has grabbed some figures using our name and ballyhooed them without justification, to their benefit. In the Twin-Cities area, the "Shopper" is a SPECIFIC publication, not to be confused with any other.

The Fulton County News publishes the "Fulton Shopper", and has since 1965. The Fulton SHOPPER, delivered entirely by mail, and COMPLETELY by MAIL to EVERY HOME IN SOUTH FULTON AND FULTON that does not subscribe to The News, is by far the dominant advertising and most powerful advertising medium in Fulton. It was designed to be. It has been tested and found to be. Don't take our word for it: ask our regular advertisers! No other publication can claim either its circulation or its name.

Based HONESTLY on the fact that most people know the SHOPPER, even though they may not know—or care—who publishes it, The Fulton Shopper defends this fact:

60% of the residents in Fulton and South Fulton agree that THE FULTON SHOPPER is the medium here that most influences them to buy!

New Decade Begins With Social Problems In Our Land Unsolved

The new decade begins with the tormenting awareness that social problems in our land remain unresolved.

Each of us, in the words of Charles Lamb, is unconsciously a "bundle of prejudice". But it is within our power to rid ourselves of such a load... an unnecessary burden which only halts our personal progress as well as that of our fellow men.

If we can but set our sights on the goal of true brotherhood... the belief that one should act brotherly toward one another regardless of race, creed, or nationality... the load will lighten.

The National Conference of Christians and Jews calls this the "brotherhood commitment". They ask us to establish our own Brotherhood Week this week and next week and the next, all through the year.

This need not necessarily be an act of love, but of respect. Brotherhood begins with respect. As a human being simply engaged in the act of living in these difficult and divisive times, each of us is entitled to respect.

Yes, give us this day our daily bread and give us this day our daily dignity.

A Train Trip Can Beat Both Autos And Planes

Flying may be the popular thing these days, but surveys indicate that in many cases it is neither the fastest nor the cheapest.

For instance, the crowded 59-mile trip from Toledo to Detroit can be driven in 1 hour and 15 minutes at a cost (11c-per-mile base) of $6.49, while air time is 2 hours and 50 minutes for $31.75; the 86 miles from Milwaukee to Chicago can be driven in 1½ hours for $9.46, and by air takes 2 hours and 25 minutes and costs $25.15; the 105 miles from Cincinnati to Indianapolis can be driven in one hour and 45 minutes for $11.55, while air time is 2 hours and 46 minutes at a cost of $26.95. Flying time naturally includes cab to and from downtown, waiting and checking time and baggage pickup delay; flying cost includes cab fares and tips.

So driving is much cheaper, but highways are also jammed.

The great puzzle today is that rail travel continues to sag, even though it would seem to be a logical gap-filler. The Board Chairman of the ICC recently testified that the railroad would have been about $8 million dollars better off last year if it had not run a single passenger train. The Penn-Central testified that it spent $2.50 for every $1 it took in on passenger service last year.

POET'S CORNER

IF THE SHOE FITS

How easy it is to judge what is right
When we're not the one who's on trial.
The shoes that were worn
By a soul who's forlorn
Must be heavy when walking that mile.

How easy it is for a finger to point
And a tongue to tell every mistake.
The sole of a shoe
Can wear out, it's true,
But the soul of a human can break.

How easy it is for the gossiping tongue
To cut into the soul of another.
Be willing to choose
To take stones from the shoes
That have to be born by a brother.

FULTON'S

Library Corner

BY LUCY DANIEL

A youngster looking in a bookstore window asked his mother, "What are those things?"

"Those are books, dear. That's what movies we see on television are made of."

A TALE OF TWO FAMILIES, by Dodie Smith. It is a cause for rejoicing when an author as loved as Dodie Smith writes a thoroughly engaging novel about delightfully nice people and the events in their lives during one spring and summer of country living. May and June are devoted sisters, married to the devoted Clare brothers. After twenty-five of their marriages, the four still enjoy each other's company. Read this book and find out how it turns out.

THE DEAD SEA CIPHER, by Elizabeth Peters. The door of Dinah's hotel room burst open and Tony Cartwright staggered in, falling to the floor unconscious. Dinah rushed to him and lifted his bloody head. When Tony had warned her that the bits of conversation she had overheard in Beirut meant danger, she had ignored him. After all, she was a harmless American tourist, a young girl on an organized tour of the Lands of the Bible. And Tony was a stranger—handsome and attentive, but enigmatic. Now she had to believe him.

YOUR CHARACTER IN THE ZODIAC, by Rupert Gladwin. What did Adolf Hitler, Charlotte Bronte, Fred Astaire, and Sigmund Freud have in common? The answer lies in the stars—for each of these notables was born under the zodiacal sign of Aries. The lore of the zodiac is based on the same system of observation and deduction that made possible the annual prediction of the Nile floods and led to the first regular systems of irrigation and farming.

DIAMONDS ARE DEADLY,

by James Eastwood. Twelve scripts for a proposed new spy series have been stolen from a London television station. No one is terribly concerned until several months later, when the scripts begin to be translated into horrifying reality. Just as if taken from the scripts, a series of mysterious disasters begins to take place.

UNEXPECTED DEATH, by Dell Shannon. Things were certainly humming around Homicide, L. A. P. D. Lt. Luis Mendoza and his colleagues couldn't remember ever having been beset by such a varied and baffling series of crimes. Among them: the beautiful young girl, found murdered in an alley, stripped of all means of identification except the label in her elegant evening gown; five small children, assumed dead from food poisoning until the autopsy report came in; a suicide that wasn't; a rape that was; and the puzzling absence of heretofore responsible parents from home and their two teen-age sons.

THE ASSASSIN, by Evelyn Anthony. While traveling in Lebanon, Elizabeth Cameron agrees to do a favor for her rich and powerful uncle, Huntley Cameron, whose super-patriotic politics are well known.

With no questions asked, she will help to see a brooding, cynical man named Bruno Keller safely out of the country and into the United States. Too late she learned that she became a part of a dark and terrible plot that threatens to reach to the highest ranks of national politics.

THE IRON CLEW, Phoebe Atwood Taylor. Leonidas Witherall, who is the spitting image of Bill Shakespeare, runs pell-mell into another amazing mystery, written in superlative humor-cum-homicide manner. His next book, he has decided, is to begin with an innocent-looking brown paper package. This simple decision sets off an incredible chain of events that leads to the most challenging plot he has ever tackled.

DEATH IN THE STOCKS, by Georgette Heyer. In the moonlight the man sitting in the stocks appeared to be either drunk or asleep. But the man, in face, was dead, as the police constable discovered when he tried to move him. And thus the quiet English village green where the fatal stocks stood became the focus for one the most puzzling cases the police had ever tried to unravel.

C. P. Freeman of Fulton, has entered a litter of 9 purebred Duroc pigs in the National Duroc Ton Litter Contest, according to word received from B. R. Evans Secretary of the United Duroc Record Association, Peoria, Ill.

The children of St. Edwards Catholic Church presented a play, "The Rehearsal" Monday night. The cast included all of the children of the school.

Mrs. Clarice Thorpe was gracious hostess to the Tuesday luncheon club. Members present were: Madames White, Elizabeth Snow, J. H. Maddox, and Leon Browder. The guests were Mrs. Clyde Williams, Sr. and Mrs. Fred Gibson.

FORTY-FIVE YEARS AGO MAY 22, 1925

R. P. Dee, vice-grand-President of the Brotherhood of railway and steamship clerks, freight handlers, express and station employees, addressed Fulton division lodge No. 801 this week.

Edd B. Kelly announced his candidacy for County Court Clerk.

The following pupils of the eighth grade at McFadden received their diplomas Thursday afternoon: Misses Lena Tuck, Marie Wolbertson, Annie Mae Bruce, Annie R. Ferguson, Clevia Bard, Laura Mae Pickering; Messrs. Chalmers, Ferguson and Fort Dillion.

Ernest Arrington, Lonnie Roper, Joe Lane, Roper Fields, and Earl Oliver, all of Cayce left for Akron, Ohio to find summer employment. They plan to spend the summer there and be ready to enter college in September.

The delightful piano recitals this past week were a rare treat for Fulton music lovers. Those giving recitals were: Miss Ruth Fields, Miss Doris Huddleston, Miss Blanch Waggoner, Miss Loretta Nix and Miss Ivora Cantrell.

The engagement of Miss Eula Lee Bennett of Water Valley, Ky. to Mr. Richard Murray Boaz of Fulton was announced by her parents.

GOING FOR THE MAIL

It is a raw day in mid-winter. I have already eaten a very hearty breakfast, with plenty of smoked sausage and hot biscuits and sorghum molasses. I have fed the stock, brought in a lot of wood, fidgeted for an hour or so trying to get up enough nerve to ask to go to Fidelity to get the mail. Beginning away off on suggestions, I want to know whether Mother has a basket of eggs ready to take to the store; of course, she hasn't, for hens do not lay many eggs in such weather. The few household things that must be bought at the store are in good supply in the kitchen and elsewhere. School has been out for several weeks, ending with a series of speeches and the annual treat. Sunday School froze out along about Thanksgiving Day. Some people have reported that some of our relatives, away over on the other side of the county, have telephones, but no such new contraptions have yet arrived in our neck of the woods. I have made scrap books until the smell of homemade paste nauseates me; I have read and reread most of the poems I can find, and I know most of them by heart anyway. I just want to go adventuring, such as a walk in the brisk air will bring, being sure to arrive about the time the horseback rider gets to the combination drugstore-hardware store-post office with one or two mailbags. Mother, who sometimes seems to remember her own childhood, sees the irritation I am having at being shut in on a bad winter day and finally thinks that she needs a spool of white No. 60 thread. She even suggests that I might buy some peppermint stick candy with a nickel. Within less time than it takes to tell it, I have on my overshoes, my overcoat, my cap with the flaps that pull the ears down with them, and my warm, woolly gloves. And out into the weather I sail, facing nearly a mile of strong winds and a blowing snowstorm of sorts. But I am on my way to the store at last.

It does not take long for me to fight against the wind and snow. I soon see the unpainted store building and the smoke coming up from the big stove within, smoke that dances and bounces on the winter wind. Inside, the regular crew of loafers are on hand, ranged around the stove, whittling knives in hand and chews of tobacco in cheeks. And for the fortieth time that I remember, Uncle Winston is telling how he fought the Yankees and captured whole companies of them, even though an actual uncle of mine, who "fit" through the four years of the war, said our local hero never smelled any powder except from squirrel rifles and that he got into the Confederate Army too late to share in any fighting. But local manners kept me and the rest, who knew the old boy's tales by heart, from showing anything but silent interest in the exploits of our neighbor. All the chairs are occupied by older men, but some goods boxes not too far from the warm stove offer good enough seats for youngsters like me. I cannot help noticing that the conversation becomes slightly more chaste than it was when I unsuspiciously came into the august throng.

Suddenly, above the roar of the wind, we hear hoofbeats; the mail-carrier, a husky black man, properly clad in winter garments and immensely proud of his government job, swings off his horse and hands the mailbags to the postmaster. We have left the stove for a few minutes to watch this thrice-a-week arrival of the post, as English people say. The postmaster soon sorts out the few letters and a big pile of pulp magazines. And each one of us is eager for his portion of this priceless assortment of continued stories and age-old jokes that appeared month by month in our favorite magazines. And, as the first of the family to lay hands on COMFORT or AMERICAN WOMAN, I can get at least one installment ahead of the others before I have to head back home "with my spool of thread, my sack of candy, and the treasures of continued stories. Is this 1970 or when? Let's settle for 1968, but it is still vivid enough in memory to have happened yesterday.

Twin City Art Guild Ends First Year With Goals Accomplished; More To Come

by Jo Westpheling

The first year of operation of the Fulton-South Fulton Art Guild was brought to a close last Monday night.

In the short span of just nine months the organization has accomplished many community projects of heroic proportions. And these projects have brought about an awareness of the unprecedented interest in the arts and the native talent that abounds here among our adults and children alike.

When the new officers were elected Monday night at the Woman's Club building, Mrs. Hendon Wright, and the small band of local persons who assisted in helping her form the Art Guild, looked back with a great deal of satisfaction at the strides they had made in the first year of the organization.

And moreover, a grateful community snared with them the new horizons of cultural achievement that have been opened up for them.

The organization began its club year on the occasion of the opening of the lovely Community Center built under the auspices of the Municipal Housing Authority. As a program the Art Guild chose to have a showing of the favorite portraits from the private collections of Fulton and South Fulton residents. Nearly 200 persons attended the opening and the Art Guild program, which made it evident that there is more appreciation for the arts here than in any community of its size in the area.

Soon it was Christmas time in the program planning for the Art Guild. And what would be more appropriate, they thought, than to involve young people in the activity of artistic pursuits.

And so there was born the first "Spirit of Christmas" program for young people when the choirs from seven Fulton and South Fulton churches gathered in Cabana City (which the Art Guild dubbed The Christmas Mall) and there the resonant voices of youth sang their carols, while interested persons strolled on the Mall to view the spirit of Christmas on canvas and cardboard as seen through the eyes of the little people who drew them.

While appearing to take a respite from the two previous programs, which were acclaimed successes from every point of view, the busy members of the Art Guild were planning to enhance their own spheres of creativity in the artistic world by scheduling five two-day workshops with learned experts in the brush and canvas whirl.

Two prominent and talented instructors were secured to delve with them into the intricacies of putting thoughts, visions, impressions and interpretations on the canvas.

Robert Jackson, of the Art Department of Murray State College and Neil d'Teresa of Berea College had a large group of avid and "hungry for expertise" individuals in their classes for each of the sessions. A long-time friend of the art lovers in the twin cities, Aaltje Vandenberg of the Art Department of the University of Tennessee at Martin also brought some advanced techniques to the Art Guild members. Mrs. Vandenberg may have pioneered in the organization of the Art Guild here, for it was this enthusiastic and talented lady who long ago found talent here, and came weekly to give art lessons to her "students," adult though they may have been.

In addition to the workshops, several art lectures were enjoyed by the members, employing the use of slides to demonstrate the artistic touch.

With the success of their own workshops fresh in their memories the Art Guild members felt it was apropos to make available to budding artists in the local schools similar workshops, of a less technical nature.

It was in this area that the members of the Art Guild received perhaps more gratification than in any other endeavor of the year's program.

At the first of four scheduled classes in April, art student major from Murray State University who were to be teachers, and Mrs. Wright, felt that if 30 young people had come to the class it would have been something of a coup de grace. But when 56 children, in the age group of eight to ten came eagerly prepared to learn something about the art of painting, the two instructors, Julie Studer and Jacqueline Farrell nearly flipped.

More surprising was the fact that on each subsequent Saturday, until the four-week course ended, there were from 45 to 50 young people in attendance.

And the work these young people produced was beyond the wildest imagination of even the most astute teacher. Asked to take their little brushes and paint some of the familiar scenes in their minds, the budding Picassos came up with their impressions of the space flights, a child in a dentist's chair (it was too real with that youngster's tongue hanging out in fury), and scenes around Lake Street, the Country Club and the railroad yards.

As a matter of fact, some of the work was so outstanding, honest to goodness, that it will be shown at some future art exhibit at Murray State.

Culminating a busy and rewarding year of work and planning was the sidewalk art show in the Southern Village Shopping Center. There the members of the club took some of their favorite work, and some new canvas and paints, and just painted away, oblivious to spectators and interested citizens. It was an interesting and colorful sight to see the ladies working away, while a goodly number of people enjoyed their work and the "best of the show," work done by the young people during the April art classes.

Yet, the endeavors of the Art Guild have not been a selfish undertaking for the aggrandizement of its members. Through the Art Guild, the enthusiastic assistance of the Arts Commissions of both Kentucky and Tennessee have pledged even wider support to the International Banana Festival. It was the Kentucky Arts Commission, through the efforts of William Hull, its executive director, and James Edgy, the assistant director, that Lionel Hampton was able to come to last year's Festival. Similarly, the Berea Dancers were brought here last year to participate in the 1969 Inter-American Music Fiesta.

This year, Norman Worrell, director of the Tennessee Arts Commission has promised active support with the possibility of some nationally known artists coming here under its auspices.

In addition, there is an almost firm agreement that the Louisville Children's Theatre will perform here next Spring. And in the realm of "top secret" is the possible performance here of one of the world's (yes, the world's most outstanding pianist. There are a few very sensitive arrangements that must be made for this artist to appear here, but viewing the past record of performance of the Art Guild, it is possible that local music lovers might just start getting in line for tickets.

At the meeting Monday night the following officers were elected: Mrs. J. R. Green, president; Mrs. Abe Thompson, vice president; Mrs. Smith Atkins, secretary; Mrs. Jack Allen, treasurer; Mrs. Earl Sensing, program chairman; Mrs. Clarence Reed and Mrs. Mary Butler, publicity chairmen.

Mrs. Hendon Wright was appointed co-ordinator of arrangements between the Kentucky Arts Commission, the Tennessee Arts Commission and the International Banana Festival program and other related programs.

At the meeting there was discussion for possibly holding a series of painting lessons this summer for beginners in art. As few as five persons will be taught by members of the Art Guild, if enough interest is shown in the program.

And so a year of fantastic accomplishments are recorded for the first year of the Fulton-South Fulton Art Guild.

If the predictions of this writer come true, an old Amos and Andy saying will be in order indeed . . . "you ain't seen nothing yet, folks."

Taking a good look at one of the lovely scenes painted by Mrs. Nell Rose of Water Valley is Bob Lowry who stopped by the sidewalk art show for a view of the paintings. Mrs. Rose has sold many of her paintings to art lovers in St. Louis and elsewhere.

Miss Beverly Ann Bizzle

Miss Beverly Ann Bizzle Engaged To Mr. McDaniel

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bizzle, of South Fulton, are today announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Beverly Ann, to Gary Lynn McDaniel, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McDaniel, also of South Fulton.

Miss Bizzle is a 1970 graduate of South Fulton High School. She is presently employed at the City National Bank. A July wedding is being planned.

Mr. McDaniel is a 1969 graduate of South Fulton High School, and is employed at the Western Auto Store.

Julie Studer, an art major at Murray State University was one of the instructors for the children's art classes held for four weeks at the Woman's Club. The talented young lady seems to be having as much fun as her students Patricia and Allen Stepp.

Admiring the work of their fellow artist Mary Butler (seated) are Mrs. Ann Sensing and Mrs. Betty Sowell of Clinton. All three ladies have been avid members of the Art Guild.

Task You Women!

Oh, wouldn't life be joyous And wouldn't life be gay If I could go to theaters And bridge teas every day. And never have to wash and iron And mop and bake and stew And all the other things a busy Lady has to do? That would be an ideal life, Quite heavenly, and yet — Perhaps it wouldn't, after all — Just think how fat I'd get.

Will Exhibit At Berea Guild Fair

Trudy Thompson of Airport Road, Fulton, will join other members of the Kentucky Guild of Artists and Craftsmen at the Indian Fort Theatre in Berea, May 21 - 24, for the fourth annual Kentucky Guild Fair.

Many of the exhibitors will have sales booths and demonstrations. Handmade items will include such traditional products as cornshuck dolls and flowers, hand-dipped candles, pottery, quilts, and rugs as well as contemporary art in the form of paintings, prints, sculpture and jewelry. Miss Thompson will have an exhibit of weaving and macramé.

NAMED DIRECTOR

Hampton W. Lillard, a former resident of Hickman County and the son of Mrs. T. H. Goodwin of Water Valley, now the advertising manager of the Southern Illinoisan, has been named a director of Southern Illinoisan, Inc.

A Letter From The Art Guild President

Dear Friends of the Twin Cities:

The month of May terminates the activities for the first year of our Fulton-South Fulton Art Guild. We will continue our regular monthly meetings, workshops, lectures, etc. in October.

Accomplishments for our club year have been far beyond our expectations. The hours have been hard and long for the few dedicated members who made this possible.

We have reached the point in the history of our cities when we know that the attention and support we give the arts - especially as they affect our young people - represent a vital part of our commitment to enhancing the quality of life for this community.

Through our association with as well as assistance from the Kentucky and Tennessee Arts Commissions, we know that the full richness of this Nation's cultural life need not be the province of relatively few citizens centered in a few cities.

Much is said in these times about the "culturally disadvantaged." We talk of needing industries to make our communities grow. And, yet, how many of us realize that industrialists seeking new locations are always interested in what we have to offer in cultural advantages.

Informed members of small communities have a certain responsibility to see that the arts are developed.

Last year, a large part of the success of the International Banana Festival was made possible through the Kentucky Arts Commission. It was through this Commission that we were financially able to have Lionel Hampton and the Berea Folk Dancers.

This year we also have the interest and enthusiasm of the Tennessee Arts Commission.

We speak of being "a border town" - and perhaps it may have disadvantages - but, when we think of the enviable position that is ours in having support from two art commissions, we should consider ourselves lucky!

As we close our meetings for the summer months, we want to thank you who believe in us and subscribed to the Fulton-South Fulton Art Guild. We give special thanks to the City National Bank, Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Nelson, The Fulton Bank and Messrs. Foad and Fred Homra for their generous patron memberships of $100.00.

We wish to sincerely thank the news media for their excellent coverage of our activities.

We know that the small community Art Guild is not the only way in which the arts can be brought to the small community. It is, nevertheless, a method which has proven successful in integrating the arts into the fabric of community life; thus, adding a new and much needed dimension to the lives of small town citizens.

As Miss Nancy Hanks, chairman of the National Council of the Arts, has said, "Art is one of the social necessities. It may be a long time before the public accepts the arts and cultural expression as a necessity."

The National Foundation on The Arts and Humanities, under present legislation, will expire on June 30, 1970. President Nixon has requested a new three-year authorization for the National Foundation at a substantially expanded level of activity.

All citizens concerned for the future of the Arts in this country should write to their congressmen, urging their support to increase the funds available.

Write to your congressman. Help our children grow culturally in our community.

It is our belief that you, and yours, will help us in our cultural growth.

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Hendon Wright,
Retiring President
Fulton-South Fulton Art Guild

Mrs. Deborah Ann Laird Weds Mr. Richard Floyd

On Saturday afternoon, May 9th, Miss Deborah Ann Laird became the bride of Mr. Richard Franklin Lloyd in a wedding of unusual beauty in the Chapel Hill Methodist Church, near South Fulton, Tennessee. Rev. David Hilliard officiated at the ceremony.

Miss Laird is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Laird of South Fulton, Tennessee and Mr. Lloyd's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Franklin Lloyd of Lexington, Ky.

Centering the choir rail was an arrangement of white mums and fern. Candelabra held tall white candles. The reserved pews were marked with white satin bows.

A program of pre-nuptial music was presented by Miss Peggy June Sturgis, pianist, and Mrs. David Hilliard, soloist.

Miss Sturgis also used the traditional wedding marches for the processional and recessional.

The lovely bride, escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, wore an exquisite street-length, high-neckline, bell-sleeved dress of white lace over taffeta. She wore short white gloves and carried a white Bible with two red roses, tied with red and white satin ribbons.

Matron of honor was the sister of the bride, Mrs. Charles Bruce Hallman. Her street-length dress was of white organza, with a red and white silk linen overskirt. She carried an arrangement of white daisies, with red and white satin ribbon and puffs of red net.

The groom was attended by his brother, Kenneth Lloyd, as best man and ushers were Jeff Lloyd, brother of the groom, and Ralph D. Vance. Immediately following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Laird entertained with a reception in the downstairs area of the church, after which the young couple left for their home in Lexington.

Rev. Bobby Copeland filled his regular appointment at New Salem Baptist Church the past Sunday at 11 a. m. and also at the evening worship.

The attendance at Sunday School and church services was better than the former Sunday. It has been announced that the Homecoming will be held on June 7, the first Sunday, as in former years. Services held at 11 a. m. Lunch will be spread on the grounds at noon. Singing will be held in the afternoon, with well-known singers taking part. All singers are invited by the church and the pastor.

Over at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Grover True the past Sunday, their visitors were Rev. and Mrs. Dallas Hemphill of Union City and Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Cruise.

Mrs. Clay McConnell, of Park Forest, Ill., arrived Sunday for a few days visit with her dad, Will J. Reed, District No. 17. She is enroute to Macon, Ga., and Miami, Fla., where she will visit her daughter, Mrs. Donald King and family in Macon, and Mrs. Howard Ertter in Miami. Mrs. Ertter is returning the last of the month from Frankfurt, Germany, and will locate in Miami, where she formerly lived. Spec. 5 Howard Ertter will report to Fort Dix soon to receive his discharge, then will join his wife.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Barber, a fine young miss a few days ago in the Hillview Hospital. Mrs. Barber is the former Janice McClain and the little miss is the first born to this young family.

Your writer spent a few days last week with my brother, Buton Lassiter, and Mrs. Lassiter. It was my first visit with them in some time and a nice time was enjoyed by us.

Ray Robinson continues to build on his home in this village. It is being done in spare times, a do-it-yourself project. The building adds much to the appearance and convenience.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Vincent are adding a new coat of paint to their home, both inside and out.

Miss Elizabeth Olive Mathis is a graduate of Cuba High School and exercises will be held on June 8. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mathis. Congratulations are in order!

Chestnut Glade By Mrs. Harvey Vaughan

Farm work is progressing very slowly at this time in this community, due to the excessive amount of rainfall. Many farmers are far behind schedule, with plants now rushing them, and the ground is too wet to work.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Reed, from Nashville, visited his mother, Mrs. Ada Reed, and other relatives in the community last week end. They attended the Sunday morning service at the Oak Grove Church of Christ.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Killebrew and son, from near Chicago, attended the service at Oak Grove Sunday morning. She will be remembered as Doris Stewart, formerly of this community. They reported that their oldest son was graduating from high school this year.

Sympathy is extended to Mrs. Herman Potts in the death of her sister, who was fatally injured in an automobile accident several weeks ago. Her niece, who was injured in the same accident, has not regained consciousness and her condition is serious.

Decorations Day will be observed at the Oak Grove Cemetery next Sunday, the fourth Sunday in May.

Friends are happy to learn that Mrs. Henson Jones seems to be improving nicely and has returned to her home, after several days in her daughter's home, after being dismissed from the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Vaughan were happy to accept two invitations to very pleasant banquets and programs. On Monday night they attended the Weakley County Teachers Banquet at the Student Center in Martin. This, according to many of those attending, was one of the outstanding programs presented by this group. The chorus, conducted by Miss Bettie Lou Winstead and composed of Dresden School students, was an unusually delightful entertainment, to be followed by a rare privilege of seeing and hearing "The Tennessee Teacher of the Year," Mrs. Vallie Hunter, from Cookeville, tell her experience in forty-one years of teaching in Tennessee schools. Mrs. Hunter is a most interesting speaker and those having this privilege are indebted to Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Shanklin for inviting Mrs. Hunter. They also attended the Junior-Senior Banquet on Thursday night. To say that the Juniors went all out for this pleasant occasion would be putting it mildly. The decorations and arrangement of the Student Center ballroom was beautiful beyond words. The food was delicious and the program was entertaining, amusing and wholesome. An evening spent with a group like this is most encouraging, with hopes for a future of progressing in the right direction.

The Cancer Crusade has been completed in this community and those who gave their time for collecting the contributions to this most worthy cause are appreciative to all who contributed. We think that the 17th District exceeded any previous year in the contributions.

Mrs. Harvey Vaughan, Mrs. S. T. Bowlin and Mrs. William Hunt attended a work shop in Milan last Thursday for the Nursing Homes Auxiliaries of West Tennessee. After learning of the experiences of the projects in other counties, they were encouraged that Weakley County is making progress and are hoping that many other interested people will join the Auxiliary and assist in bringing pleasure to those who are in the nursing homes of Weakley County.

The Chestnut Glade Club will meet in the home of Mrs. Jerry Webb in Martin, with Mrs. Ellen Brown the hostess for the May meeting. Visitors are cordially invited.

Ann Landers

— Your Problems Bring Answers —

Dear Ann Landers: I was interested in the letter from the girl whose boyfriend asked her to have a butterfly tattooed on her hip. It seems the kook wanted a highly personal symbol of her undying love and devotion — something no one but he could see.

Please tell the girl not to be a fool. Four years ago I had my backside tattooed to prove to my fiancé that I'd do anything for him. We are married now but not a day goes by that I don't regret my lunacy.

I, too, thought nobody but my true love would see it, but I was wrong. A lot of people have seen it. When I was hospitalized for my babies I was the talk of the maternity ward. Last year I joined an exercise class and had to drop out when the word got around. Everybody wanted to see the "tattooed lady." I felt like a circus freak.

I can't describe the misery this ridiculous thing has caused me. Please tell that gal to prove her undying love and devotion some other way—or better yet let him prove his by dropping the idea.—Sisters Under the Skin

Dear S. U. S.: One might call this exchange "The Tail of Two Sitties." Thanks for the testimonial. I hope your letter shook the Dickens out of her.

Dear Ann Landers: What has happened to decency, kindness, and love of one's fellow man? Every day I hear about another incident that causes me to mourn for the way our world is going. This morning my dear, sweet neighbor received the cruelest blow imaginable.

Her youngest son underwent surgery a few days ago. He was a lovable, bright-eyed boy of 13. The operation was a success, according to the doctor, but complications set in and he took a turn for the worse. His parents were with him until 9:00 p. m. last night. He seemed to be resting comfortably. The doctor assured them he was out of danger. This morning at 8 a. m. his mother phoned the hospital to ask the floor nurse if the patient had had a good night. She was told there was no point in trying to locate the floor nurse because "the boy died early this morning." The mother sank to her knees and her husband took the receiver from her hand.

How can people be so brutal? What can be done to prevent such acts of cruelty? Please print the name of the hospital. I think the world ought to know about things like this.—Sick At Heart Friend

Dear Friend: It wouldn't be fair to print the name of the hospital. Why give the whole world a black eye because of one stupid employee?

Most hospitals have a standard procedure for informing the family of a death. A nurse phones and says the patient is "very low" and suggests they come to the hospital. When the family arrives, doctor or clergyman—someone who can handle the situation gently breaks the news.

Your neighbors should make an appointment with that hospital's chief administrator to inform him of the heartless manner in which they were told of their son's death. Perhaps they can spare someone else.

What awaits you on the other side of the marriage veil? How can you be sure your marriage will work? Read Ann Landers' booklet "Marriage—What I Expect." Send your request to Ann Landers in care of your newspaper enclosing 50c in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Introducing Our Churches - God's Agency For Spreading His Love

WALNUT GROVE METHODIST CHURCH

REV. Wm. A. SMALLING

The Walnut Grove Methodist Church meets with only one thing in mind and that is to worship the Lord our God.

FRIENDLY - We try to make each one feel welcome and let them know that we have a God that is very much ALIVE.

CONCERNED - We are concerned about each soul and want everyone to have the opportunity to know about God and His love.

SMALL - But we try hard to carry the Cross that our Lord has called upon us to carry. That is, to speak the Word to all men.

EVANGELISTIC - "Go into the highways and the hedges and compel all to come in." We would like to give each one a special invitation to come out and worship with us.

Walnut Grove - Sunday School every Sunday at 100 a. m.

Church services 2nd and 4th Sundays at 11 a. m.

Dukedom - Sunday School every Sunday at 10 a. m.

AFTER A—

Butts, made him sales manager and turned over some of the sales territory to him. In seven or eight years, Jim bought a one-fourth interest in the business, a few years later another fourth, and on January 1st of this year bought it all.

The firm was originally known as "The Harvey Caldwell Company", and later as "Harvey Caldwell Office Outfitters", and now that he has retired, the "Harvey Caldwell" part of the firm name has been dropped and the firm is known simply as "Office Outfitters, Inc." But for many people in and around Fulton, the name "Harvey Caldwell" will long be associated with the firm through long usage and association enjoyed here with its founder.

Present personnel consists of James Butts, President, Mike Butts, Bill Bennett, who has been with the firm for some ten years as service manager, and Mrs. Novella Stephens. Some of the former employees include Cleo Peoples, Jack Snow, Bob Austin, Cecil Bolin, Mrs. Lucia.

"I don't guess that either of us ever thought we would be able to take a trip of two months duration," the couple

Lubrication

Improved... and proved superior...

Texaco's new Havoline motor oil.

Texaco's new Havoline has been improved to reduce friction better, neutralize acids better, and resist heat better. Texaco tested it against four other leading premium oils. And while rankings varied, none protected against all these things as well as new Havoline. Next change-over, drive in for new Havoline. It's tops, just what you'd expect from the company that sells more gasoline than anybody else. Texaco means it when they say, "We're first... and we think that's a big responsibility." And we mean it when we say you can count on us to live up to that responsibility.

GUN FOR HIRE.

It's the best...MARFAK.

This gun, loaded with Texaco Marfak, can protect your car's chassis against enemies like ruts, bumps, water, and dirt. It assures you of a smoother ride, and a safer one, for 1,000 miles or more. And when we apply Marfak, we do so by chart, not by chance—make sure every lubrication point is serviced. Marfak is Texaco's tough chassis lubricant that stays on the job. Won't jar out, leak out, or dry out. It's the dependable lubricant you'd expect from the company that sells more gasoline than anybody else. Texaco means it when they say, "We're first... and we think that's a big responsibility." And we mean it when we say drive in and put us to the test.

Fulton County: Mrs. Sara Davidson, 300 Eddings, Fulton, and Amy Bonduant, 300 Moulton, Hickman.

Hickman County: Ruth Craddock, 533 Mayfield Road, Clinton.

Students named to the list represent the upper six per cent of the students enrolled in the college.

Apples Must Lose Field Heat Quickly

RICHMOND, Va. — Field heat must be removed from apples as soon as possible after harvesting to ensure satisfactory storage life and to maintain quality. Generally about 10 days of storage life are lost for every day that apples remain at field temperature after harvesting.

What goes down should come up.

Seed. Fertilizer. Irrigation. Pesticides. Put them all together and you've got a whale of an investment.

That's why profit-minded farmers and stockmen are calling on Production Credit Association money for greater output. The more that goes into the land, the more that should grow up on it.

We lend money for anything that will make your spread a better income producer and a more pleasant place to live—money for equipment and supplies to money for improvements and personal needs.

Talk over your money needs—any season of the year—with a seasoned money pro: the man at PCA.

Smoke Of Parents Endangering Young?
MOSCOW — A Russian researcher, Dr. Nikolai Blokhin, claims that the inhalation of smoke from other persons' cigarettes could lead to lung cancer. He refers to this as a "time bomb" that ticks away in the lungs of children as a result of repeated exposure to smoke from parents.

Shopping Survey Is Completed

The local "shopping" questionnaire for the Fulton-South Fulton area, prepared by the Marketing I class of South Fulton High School for the retail merchants association, was completed this week and the results announced by Wyatt Cunningham, class instructor.

In undertaking the survey, the class took the local telephone book and attempted to call the 2600 residents in this area. (Reprint From The News MAY 14, 1970)

Here are the results of the survey. (It will be noted in some cases that since the percentages do not add up to a total of 100, obviously some callers listed several choices in their answers.)
