Kentucky Windage

(By P. W.)

If you've never had occasion to see Dr. Harry Sparks at Murray State University hand out diplomas, you have missed the most efficient demonstration of speed and coordination in the business.

Dr. Sparks stands there in front of the speaker's rostrum, right hand extended to the oncoming graduate and left hand behind his back. The instant the graduate's name is called, an assistant directly behind him places the heavy, leather-bound diploma case in his left hand, he whips it around, shakes the graduate's hand with his right, hands them the diploma case with his left, and back goes his left hand for the next. The graduate never stops walking.

At last Saturday's Commencement at MSU, we estimated that it took Dr. Sparks about two hours to present some 850 diplomas, which figures at the rate of about seven a minute. He was a study in efficiency as he stood there, never budging an inch, smiling and greeting everyone as his left arm kept gyrating front to back, front to back, front to back, and coming up with a diploma each time.

We wondered which was the more tired: his right hand from shaking hands 850 times or his left arm from handling about 426 pounds of diploma cases.

We also marveled at his ability to give the right diploma to the right person, and we guarantee he didn't get a single one mixed up. (The cases were all blank inside; diplomas to fit the holders will be mailed to the graduates later!).

Our editorial last week casting some doubt on the accuracy of the 1970 census count in Fulton County (our own family forms were never picked up) finds some companionship in an article published last week on the front page of the GAZETTE at Clinton.

Said The GAZETTE:

Jo's Notebook

In case you didn't know it, a columnist feels mighty happy when a reader comments that they miss the "Notebook" when it fails to make an edition. Frankly, I miss writing it because it is the one corner of the paper where I feel that I can chat with you on one subject or another.

Our Son, The Graduate!

The past few weeks have been frightfully busy and sentimental ones. Our son Paul was in the process of graduating from Murray State University, and I was in the unhappy process of trying to condition myself to the realization that he was no longer a boy, but a grown man, who must make his own decisions, his own livelihood, and generally take leave of his parental guidance.

As all of you, who have witnessed such a milestone in the life of your children know, that in our mind's eye, our offspring are always "our children," with the connotation that while they may not be a constant responsibility of our daily lives, they will always be constant warmth in our hearts.

I'd better be careful here. I might find out, in cold, stark print, that I haven't conditioned myself at all to the fact that our son IS a grown man. But he is, and we're proud that he has chosen a fine career, and that he will do the very best he knows how with it.

Our prayer is that we have given him the proper ingredients to make his life happy, and most of all we hope he will be a good and worthwhile citizen. As perhaps you know, he has already joined the news staff of WKLO-Radio in Louisville.

The Political Scene

Yet while I have been in the throes of sentimentality the world has gone on as before. Take for instance the political scene in

HONORED BY FERRY-MORSE AT RETIREMENT DINNER:

National Sales Meeting Honors Two Retiring At Ferry-Morse

It isn't often that the home garden division of Ferry-Morse Seed Company arranges to have its entire national sales staff together for a real national sales meeting; only about once every three years.

And it isn't often that Kentucky and the Fulton packet plant are chosen as the locale for the meeting, either. But Ferry-Morse did just that last week: a 3-day meeting at Kentucky Lake was climaxed by a visit of the entire group to the Fulton plant, followed by a retirement dinner for two of its distinguished salesmen at the Fulton Country Club last Thursday evening.

The retirement dinner honored Ben Burley, Jacksonville, Fla. (a former Fulton resident) who completed 44 years with the sales staff of the company, and Ed Albright, Buffalo, N. Y., with 46 years. Both were saluted by Master of Ceremonies Don Brondyke and presented gifts from the company in an evening filled with congeniality, good fellowship and a bit of reminiscing by the duo themselves.

The 3-day sales meeting introduced the 1971 program of the company to the territory managers; regional awards were given Maurice Janisse, north region; Ben Burley, south region; Don Allison, west region; and Dennis Salmon, southwest region.

For the third consecutive year, Dale Pipkin, Independence, Mo., was honored as the

Breckinridge Announces For Lt.-Governor

John B. Breckinridge, attorney general of Kentucky, today announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

"After serving two terms in the General Assembly and two terms as attorney general," Breckinridge said, "I feel particularly qualified for the office of lieutenant governor and president of the Senate."

Breckinridge stated that he is not aligned with any other Democratic candidate, saying, "I look forward to an active campaign throughout the state in which I shall independently seek the Democratic nomination through the support of the people."

Summer Workers, Including Students, May Be Exempt From Tax Withholding

Students working for the summer, and retired persons and other part-time workers may be entitled to exemption from income tax withholding under the Tax Reform Act of 1969. Forms for claiming this exemption are available from Internal Revenue Service offices in Kentucky.

Any employee who had no income tax liability last year and anticipates none for this year should use Withholding Exemption Certificate, Form W-4E, to claim the exemption, stated Robert J. Dath, IRS District Director for Kentucky.

For 1970, a single person who makes less than $1,725 owes no tax. This is based on the $1,100 low income allowance and a personal exemption of $625. A taxpayer over 65 can earn wages up to $2,350 without incurring a tax liability, Mr. Dath explained.

Any person who qualifies can fill out the form and give it to his employer to claim exemption from income tax withholding on his wages.

Employers needing quantities of the new Form W-4E may obtain them from their IRS District Office.

RESTING WELL
Robert Sanger is resting well in the Community Hospital in Mayfield where he is confined with a heart condition. Mr. Sanger was admitted last weekend. The Courier joins his family and his legion of friends in wishing the prominent Hickman citizen a speedy recovery.

2,772 Countians Now Getting $225,000 In Monthly Social Security Benefit Checks

Social Security benefits paid to residents of Fulton County totaled $195,000 a month as 1969 ended, Charles M. Whitaker, social security district manager, reported today.

A benefit increase, signed into law by President Nixon on December 30, 1969, has since raised the monthly rate of payment by 15 percent for the 2,772 social security beneficiaries in Fulton County, Whitaker noted.

Of the social security beneficiaries living in this area, 1,818 are retired workers and their dependents. Another 646 are receiving benefits as the survivors of workers who have died, and 268 are getting benefits as disabled workers or the dependents of disabled workers.

Whitaker pointed out that although the majority of social security beneficiaries are older people, about one out of every four is under age 60.

In the State of Kentucky, 133,161 people under age 60 are collecting social security payments each month. The 74,987 who are under 18 are receiving payments because a working father or mother has died or is getting social security disability or retirement benefits.

Of the 9,005 who are 18 through 21 years of age, most are getting students' benefits under a provision which permits the continuation of a child's benefits past his or her 18th birthday, and up to age 22 if he or she is attending school full time.

But in this 18 to 22 age group, Whitaker said, are some other types of beneficiaries, illustrating the broad family protection that is provided working people of all ages under the social security program.

A number are the children of retired, disabled, or deceased workers who became disabled before they reached 18 and who will probably never be able to go to work and become self supporting. The benefits of these young people, severely handicapped by physical or mental disabilities, will continue indefinitely and benefits are also payable to their mothers if the disabled son or daughter is in the mother's care.

Another small but significant group of youthful social security beneficiaries are those who are receiving social security benefits as disabled workers. Under a 1967 change in the law, disability benefits can be paid to a person who becomes disabled for work even if he has less than five years of work under social security. As little as a year and a half is required in the case of a worker who becomes disabled before age 24.

All friends of Governor Combs are invited to the press conference Saturday, sources close to Combs said.

Clinic locations will be at the Health Department here from 9 to 11 a. m. and in Fulton at the Community Center from 1 to 3 p. m.

The vaccine will be administered by a jet injector technician from the State Department of Health. Children must be accompanied by a parent or legal guardian.

Marlow Cook In Support Of War Policy

Senator Marlow W. Cook (R-Ky.) today reiterated his support for President Nixon's conduct of the Indochina War.

The Senator did, however, repeat his previously expressed conviction that "our national security is not threatened in the least by events in Southeast Asia." Further, he called the Indochina War "the worst foreign policy blunder in American history."

Cook said he considered the Cambodian military operations necessary to speed completion of the President's program to end the war and felt that "time will prove the President correct in his decision to pursue this limited move into Cambodia."

Tobaccomen In Area Will Meet June 15

State Farm Bureau officers and staff and tobacco specialists from the University of Kentucky will conduct the meeting.

Special invitations to attend the meeting have been issued to county Farm Bureau presidents and tobacco committees. Other persons interested in the tobacco situation also are invited to attend, and should make reservations through their county Farm Bureau offices. In addition to special visitors, a record total of 1,825 students will enroll for the two sessions of the summer quarter, according to Henry C. Allison, dean of admissions and records.

A vocational guidance workshop for 40 West Tennessee high school and technical school guidance counselors will be conducted June 15-19, under the direction of Dr. Jack G. Mays, vice chancellor for development.

Thirty-one teachers of high school vocational home economics will be on campus June 15-July 3 for graduate level courses taught by Miss Brenda

The first camp will be held during the period July 26 - August 1 with the second scheduled for August 2 - August 8. Increasing popularity of the camps over the years has necessitated holding two sessions this year instead of one. UTM's Coach Floyd Burdette and admissions counselor Paul Kelley will coordinate the two sessions.

Some 30 high school teachers have registered for a drivers education workshop to be conducted August 3 - August 14 under the auspices of the State Department of Education and UTM's School of Education, coordinated by Dean Karl E. Keefer.

Approximately 2,000 public school teachers and administrators will attend an inservice training program during the period August 17-20 with UTM's Professor J. H. Rochelle acting as chairman.

Commencement exercises August 23, with approximately 155 graduates receiving degrees, will conclude the summer activities.

Stop Credit Spending, Institute Economy In Government, Urges State Finance Head

By S. C. Van Curon
Editor, Frankfort State Journal

Finance Commissioner Albert Christen isn't buying the idea that the governor will have to increase taxes to provide state services at comparative levels with today's economy.

There have been some conservative estimates floating around here, Christen says, that the state will need $252 million in new revenue in 1972.

"I say we ought to be doing something to keep from increasing taxes," Christen says. "The only time you can soften the blow of taxes is now—before the legislature meets in 1972. That's what we're doing right now."

He explains this by saying the primary project the Department of Finance wants to promote and lend assistance to is:

1. Reject the philosophy that it is necessary to raise or find new tax revenues to meet the needs of the people on the state level.
2. To assist in improving the economy of the state.
3. Reduce waste, duplication and unnecessary spending in all agencies.

Christen, a tough taskmaker where spending is concerned and still oriented to the private enterprise concept of "cutting the cloth to fit the pattern," believes strongly in a continuation budget—a budget that embraces normal growth in the economy. He shakes his head in puzzlement about the philosophy of spending for things and services many persons want, and then hunting for the money to pay the bill.

"We must get away from this credit card theory," he says. "There is coming a time when the public has to pay." He even thinks there may come a time when the taxpayers will rebel.

Christen believes that more economies can be effected in state government through an ambitious program now under way to develop an informational system through coordination of the computer within the state.

As I walked into his office, he was just completing signing a bunch of 'price purchase contracts.' "Departments can order off of these at will," he said. "All the control we have (the Finance Department) is through quarterly allotments by the budget department."

These are contracts that specify certain prices for certain products, particularly for the state cafeterias and state Parks Department for food items. Other every day supplies fall under the same system.

Christen, in his two and a half years as finance commissioner says he has found out that four years is too short to get many changes made in state government procedures. "In the next year and a half, we ought to accomplish a lot more in effectively reorganizing outdated record systems," he said.

What has Gov. Louie B. Nunn's Task Force on Efficiency and Economy accomplished? "A great deal," Christen says. About 40 per cent of the recommendations have been put into effect. More will come in the remainder of Gov. Nunn's administration.

Christen said he realizes that not all of the recommendations were practical, but it was a move in the right direction for economy.

The average growth in the state's economy has been eight per cent for the past two years, "but I don't know how long that will continue," Christen said.

This means an additional $31 million or more in the general fund each year without any increase in taxes.

If Christen had his way, department heads, the universities and the Education Department, would get stern lectures on economy in preparing their budget requests. In replying to the big increase the universities got in the upcoming biennium budget, Christen said debt retirement costs was what boosted this amount. However, he said, "They still seem to have plenty of money to buy computers and other expensive equipment."

If there were a lesson coming from Christen in the interview, it was: "Stop credit spending and institute economy in government operation."

In Supporting Governor Nunn's Safety Plan Drunken Drivers Will Be Known

There are times when it's nice to see your name in the paper.

There are also times when it is not.

The News is serving fair warning to all residents of this area that we are cooperating fully with Governor Nunn's 2-month campaign (now underway) against drunken driving in Kentucky. Each week we are being furnished a list of all offenders in this trade area who have been convicted of drunken driving and have had their licenses suspended. We are publishing the lists, and leaving no names off.

We think this campaign is well worth supporting. More than 28,000 Americans died in 1969 because of drunken drivers, with alcohol being a factor in more than HALF of last year's fatal accidents.

Governor Nunn announced the campaign in a prepared speech read at a Frankfort meeting May 13. The meeting, called by the Kentucky Traffic Safety Coordinating Committee, was attended by women's leaders from throughout the state.

In his speech, Governor Nunn said he has asked police to strictly enforce the state's drinking and driving laws and urged county judges to interpret them with the utmost stringency.

The Governor said most Kentucky counties now have "breathalyzers," the devices used to determine the blood-alcohol content of arrested violators, and that the sobriety of offenders is no longer in question.

"The problem," he said, "is not in determining whether or not they are drunk, but in getting them convicted."

POET'S CORNER

SWEET PERIL

Alas, how easily things go wrong!
A sigh too much or a kiss too long,
And there follows a mist and a weeping rain,
And life is never the same again.

Alas, how hardly things go right!
'Tis hard to watch in a summer night,
For the sigh will come and the kiss will stay,
And the summer night is a wintry day.

And yet, how easily things go right,
If the sigh and a kiss of a summer night
Come deep from the soul in the stronger ray
That is born in the light of the winter's day.

And things can never go badly wrong
If the heart be true and the love be strong,
For the mist, if it comes, and the weeping rain
Will be changed by the love into sunshine again.

SECRET FILE, by Hank Messick. The fifty-year history of the Intelligence Division, from its inception in 1919 to the present, is the story of the development of organized crime in America—and its insidious infiltration into politics from precinct to national level. All over the United States the "silent investigators" of the IRS have not only cracked down on tax evaders but nailed top criminals other agencies found too hot to handle. For the first time the veil has been lifted from the secrecy surrounding the Intelligence Division, reports never before made public.

THE TEEN-AGER'S COOK-

BOOK, by Charlotte Adams. The cooking novice of any age will welcome these step-by-step directions for the preparation of complete meals. The simple, yet imaginative menus are suitable for a wide range of occasions, festive as well as everyday. Instructions for each meal include a precise schedule for the order of work, with the timing for the preparation, cooking and serving of the food. Even a beginner can be assured that everything will be ready to eat at the same time! Each menu also has a market list, a check list of staples and utensils needed, and easy-to-follow recipes.

MY THREE YEARS WITH EISENHOWER, by Harry C. Butcher. This book is a new kind of history, a backstage account of the movements of the most important actors in the greatest drama ever played. It is a unique combination of intense human interest and grand strategy, providing countless intimate glimpses of the key members of the Allied family, their relations with each other, their private and hitherto unpublished views on the greatest questions of the era, their human failings and their essential greatness. It is a book written in the midst of mighty happenings as they were occurring.

THE WAR ON THE POOR, by Clarence B. Carson. In modern crises, "there breaks out an epidemic that, in all earlier epochs, would have seemed an absurdity—the epidemic of overproduction . . . Because there is too much civilization, too much means of subsistence, too much industry, too much commerce." So wrote Marx and Engels, enunciating the theory of affluence that lies behind a century's effort to eradicate poverty, that has expanded government power to fantastic dimensions, that stirs the rhetorical juices of every campaigning politician.

RICKSHAW BOY, by Lau Shaw. Peking, a thousand years old and more, is the setting of this novel of China by one of its best-known writers. It is Chinese in its plot, characters, and atmosphere. Its flavor is biting and strong. It is China toiling and sweating, China loving and suffering, hoping and blundering, falling and getting up again and again. And laughing too, whenever it can—deeply earthy laughter. This is a story that could have happened anywhere, at any time—it's the moving story of a man who fights the battle that all men everywhere must wage with never ceasing hope.

LANGUAGE IN THOUGHT AND ACTION, by S. I. Hayakawa. "This is a book on how to think straight, and it is one of the best ever written, it is the adventure story of the daily mind. Its pleasure consists not only in the reading but in its effect upon everything else you may subsequently read, say or hear." Semantics is concerned with language in terms of its meaning and its uses—the language of persuasion and propaganda, of slogan and advertisement, of news and information, of emotion and prejudice, of poetry and imagination.

YANKEE FROM OLYMPIA, by Catherine Drinker Bowen. This is the story of Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes, and in a broad sense the story of his country. This was a man whose presence carried tradition. His roots reached deep into American earth. It was the strength of these roots that permitted so splendid a flowering.

Musings From

The Philosopher

HOW SERIOUSLY?

In my years of collecting folklore, I have made no effort to separate the beliefs that are taken seriously and those that are known but merely laughed at. I have always felt that a folklore collector had better stick to his knitting and make no effort to change the opinions of the ones he is interviewing; I am sure any such effort to set people right in their beliefs and superstitions; if you like, would so put them on their guard that they would not give an interviewer a full account of their beliefs. In my writings I have given beliefs as I found them, some of them sensible and well-grounded in observation and even in science, others plainly nonsensical or even harmful.

With the rapid passing of so many of the things that older generations knew, I wonder whether beliefs and figures of speech may not be adapted to newer objects and experiences. It is well-known that the early settlers brought with them a belief that the badger comes out of his burrow, looks around, and decides to remain out or return for six more weeks of winter. Since badgers are not to be found in many parts of America, it was easy to transfer this belief to our woodchuck or groundhog. The funny thing to me has been that, in my part of the state, where we had never seen a groundhog, the belief in the animal's prophetic powers was as strong as in any other area, where the animal has always been known. I wonder why the Jackson Purchase people did not associate this age-old belief with some well-known animal. It amuses me to find hundreds of city-bred people, who never saw a groundhog and may never see one, but regard the belief, sometimes, as very true. And lots of people who have seen groundhogs refuse to believe me when I mention having seen the animals at every possible time in winter; their groundhog, of tradition rather than of the woods, comes out only on Groundhog Day, February 2.

When an elderly woman, of considerable educational background, told me she would starve to death before she would eat a bite of any animal that had been killed by lightning, was she fooling or serious? I do not know, and I am sure that she doesn't, for she is not likely to have any one coming to her house with a dish of lightning-struck squirrel or raccoon or other game animal or bird. And when a well-to-do merchant declared his belief in the power of faith-doctors—curers of thrush, warts, rubbers, gitter-rubbers, blood-stoppers—and in water-witches, I was equally uncertain as to whether he was serious or had probably never thought to question the powers of a good many people whom he had known in a rather long life. Or maybe he had had a relative who belonged to this mysterious group and needed some family support in his mysterious acts and beliefs.

Similarly, in many folk medicines there may remain a mixed belief: in broad-open daylight, when all one's senses are alert, and when one is well and happy, most of the things that Granny used to dispense seem silly. But away along in the night, when the prescribed medicines seem to be doing no good, and the baby keeps on screaming with pain in the tummy, I suspect that many a cynic, remembering what used to be, would try some catnip tea or even some other folk remedies not nearly so likely to do good as some warm tea, maybe dashed with a bit of corn liquor.

Lucky and unlucky acts seem widely known, still, but a great many of them will have to be updated if they are to scare anybody into following them. Coal-oil lamps used to sputter, and wisecracks said that this was a sure sign of rain; but they rarely sputter now for the simple reason that they can't find any coal-oil for fuel. Breaking a lamp-chimney used to be a very unlucky act, but most youngsters that I know would ask, "What is a lamp chimney, Grandpa?" There are not so many opportunities for horseshoe snakes to be as there were when horses were numerous; and Junior, fresh from high school, can tell even Grandpa

Dear Jo and Paul,

I have just read last week's "News" and would like to thank you for your article informing the public of our recent installation of the new depository system for the collection of police fines at the City Hall.

I am feeling a little better today but having to "sweat it out" waiting for surgery Wednesday.

I have received many many cards, letters and telephone calls from friends in the Twin Cities for which I am most grateful.

I'm hoping it won't be too long until I will be back home and in the swing of things.

Sincerely,
Nelson Tripp

SOCIETY - WOMAN'S INTEREST

Letter From Washington

By
Mrs. John Sherman Cooper

At lunch time the Senate dining room was unusually crowded and cheerful. The Senate Floor was crowded and tense. The Senators were debating before the vote on the self-amended preamble of the Church-Cooper Amendment which reads,

"In concert with the declared objective of the President of the United States to avoid the involvement of the United States in Cambodia after July 1, 1970, and to expedite the withdrawal of American forces from Cambodia, it is hereby provided that unless specifically authorized by law hereafter enacted, no funds authorized or appropriated pursuant to this Act or any other law may be expended after July 1, 1970 for the purposes of—"

(This preamble is the introduction to the following provisions):

"(1) retaining United States forces in Cambodia;

"(2) paying the compensation or allowances of, or otherwise supporting, directly or indirectly, any United States personnel in Cambodia who furnish military instruction to Cambodia forces or engage in any combat activity in support of Cambodia forces;

"(3) entering into or carrying out any contract or agreement to provide military instruction in Cambodia, or to provide persons to engage in any combat activity in support of Cambodian forces; or

"(4) conducting any combat activity in the air above Cambodia in support of Cambodian forces."

The change in the preamble was made by Senators Mansfield, Aiken, Church and Cooper to underline the bipartisan effort of Senators to help the Administration bring our troops home.

After listening to some of the jabs of the opposition, Senator Aiken spoke as tartly as his own Vermont vinegar.

"We are getting mail that says, 'Support the President.' They say, 'Support the President' when he is doing what they want him to do."

"I notice that this morning the President asked for $500 million in aid in carrying out the desegregation program. When the President talks about improving the lot of the workman or the relief of the poor, or of ending discrimination a great many of those who now say, 'Support the President and expand the war,' say, 'Don't do what the President wants you to do. Be against him if he is helping the poor people in this country. Good Heavens, what right have these people to expect help at taxpayers expense? We have to use that money for the war going in Asia. Use the money for that.'

"Well, I say that if you want to help the President, help him resist the pressure that he is bound to be under to carry on this war further—support the Cooper-Church amendment." Senator Griffin responded with some remarks inferring that the Senators who were for the Church-Cooper amendment were not concerned with the safety of our troops. This caused former Private, Lieutenant and Captain Cooper to respond icily: "I challenge you from the very bottom of my soul. All we are saying is that before the operation is extended and leads us into a war in Cambodia, under the Constitution, the President must come to Congress and get its approval."

The changes which Senators Church and Cooper wanted in the preamble of their amendment were approved 82-11.

I wish that I were a real reporter and could tell all of the Allen Drury-like activities that have taken place in this house in the last few weeks. But as I cannot, I will give you a simplified version of what all of this is about.

Under the Constitution, when this country is at war, the President has wide powers as Commander-in-Chief, in particular, the power to protect our troops. However, the power to declare war is vested by the Constitution in the hands of Congress. This creates an area of some confusion between the power of the Congress and the power of the President.

Senator Cooper and Church with the Majority Leader and the Senior Republican Senator from Vermont, wrote an amendment to the Military Sales Act to try to help the Administration to keep from widening the war and going in to a neutral country to which we have no commitment.

Mrs. Walter Magee, President of the General Federation of Women's Clubs asked me to be one of the five judges to select the Military Wife of the Year at a fantastic banquet held last night at the Shoreham Hotel.

The contestants represented the five branches of our Armed Forces — Army, Navy, Coast Guard, Air Force and Marines. It was a most difficult decision. We judges sat at a table just below the dias looking at the contestants and their husbands. I could imagine with what intelligence and discipline they had conducted their lives under continuing pressure. These five women have a total of 32 children, have been married an average of almost 20 years and all are active members of the Roman Catholic Church.

The awards were presented by television's Art Linkletter who in 1967 decided to become the Bob Hope of service wives overseas. I had met the finalists and read their biographies, but as they were interviewed, I really wished it could be a dead-heat as every one of them was deserving of the award given to Mrs. Sanford, wife of Army Lt. Col. Albert Sanford, and a former science and public school teacher who after her marriage turned her attention to girl scout and community leadership welfare work.

The amount of good things these women have done as wives, mothers, and leaders in their community activities, putting down new roots in new communities—one of them was moved 17 times in 19 years — filled me with awe and admiration.

"The star is a symbol of the heavens and the divine goal to which man has aspired from time immemorial. The stripes are symbolic of the rays of light emanating from the sun. Both themes have long been represented on the standards of nations."

"The first flags adopted by our colonial forefathers were symbolic of their struggles with the wilderness of a new land."

"Many Americans still believe that Betsy Ross made the first flag, although historians dispute the story. Another disputed story is that the first Stars and Stripes displayed in the face of an armed enemy was at Fort Schuyler, August 3, 1777. The flag was improvised. The white part came from a soldier's shirt; a captain's cloak supplied the blue of the union, and the red stripes came from the flannel petticoat of a soldier's wife, who gladly donated it for the purpose. However, this was probably a Grand Union Flag."

"Continental Congress passed a resolution that established the Stars and Stripes on June 14, 1777, but did not specify the arrangement of the 13 stars on the blue union, except to say that they should represent a new constellation. As a consequence, there were a variety of forms. The first army flag, known as the Betsy Ross flag, had them arranged in a circle, based on the idea that no colony should take precedence."

"The Resolution of June 14, 1777, establishing the Stars and Stripes has an interesting history. When first flown by the Continental Army, George Washington is said to have described its symbolism as—'We take the stars from heaven, the red from our mother country, separating it by white stripes thus showing that we have separated from her and the white stripes shall go down to posterity representing liberty.'"

"A law of April 4, 1818, requires that a star be added for each new state on the Fourth of July after its admission."

"Henry Ward Beecher said, 'A thoughtful mind when it sees a nation's flag sees not the flag but the nation itself, and whatever the symbols or insignia, he reads the truths and the history that belongs to the nation that sets it forth.'"

"The American Flag has been a symbol of liberty and men rejoice in it. To fly our American Flag is just one way of showing our patriotism. On this June 14th, may we in our churches, businesses and homes, show our patriotism and love of our great country by letting 'Old Glory' wave."

The Fulton County Homemakers will use Flag Day, June 14, to show their patriotism for their great country by displaying the American Flag and letting "Old Glory" wave. They urge every member to display the flag and ask others in the county to join them in celebrating Flag Day by displaying theirs.

Mrs. Clyde Fields, Issues and Concerns Chairman of the Fulton County Homemakers in her report says—

"Why is June 14 called Flag Day? The story of the origin of our national flag parallels the story of the origin of our country. As our country received its birthright from the people of many lands who were gathered on these shores to found a new nation, so did the pattern of the stars and stripes rise from several origins emblazoned on the standards of our infant republic."

Mrs. Rozzell Is Honored At Gift Tea

Mrs. Barry Rozzell, the former Miss Rita Cash of Fulton, was the inspiration for a gift-tea, Sunday, May 31, in the Fellowship Hall of the First Baptist Church. The hostesses for this eventful occasion were: Miss Paula Hutchins, Miss Deborah Hutchins, Mrs. Max Britt, Miss Karen Treas and Mrs. Tony Taylor.

Mrs. Rozzell, the honoree, wore a yellow crepe dress with matching accessories. Her courage, a gift from the hostesses, was made of white mums, with small inserted pearls.

Mrs. W. Z. Cash, mother of the bride, and Mrs. E. B. Rozzell, mother of the groom, stood in the receiving line, while Miss Karen Treas cordially welcomed the guests and presided at the register.

Refreshments consisting of punch, squares of cake, nuts and mints, were served. The color scheme carried out in the decoration of the tables was chintilly lace over pink cloth. Crystal candleholders were the main centerpiece.

The tea was held from 2:00 until 4:00, and about 40 guests were present. The hostesses presented Mrs. Rozzell with pieces of china from her chosen pattern, and she received many other lovely gifts.

Decoupage Work Is Set At Mayfield

Two decoupage workshops to explore a technique of the popular art form are scheduled for the Kevil Mental Retardation Center in Mayfield June 26.

Sponsored by the Community Women's Club, the three-hour sessions from 9 a. m. to noon and from 1:30 to 4:30 p. m. will be conducted by Mrs. Kathy Ward, developer of the technique, and Thomas Spoerner, assistant professor of art at Murray State University.

Each workshop will be limited to 35 persons, according to Spoerner, with a fee of $6 per person charged to enroll. He said anyone interested is invited to participate, including children 10 or older who will be accompanied by an adult.

Mrs. Ward, who has developed her technique over the past five years, has sold her work locally and to some of the nation's largest department stores.

All materials will be furnished for the workshop except paint brushes and something to protect the participant's clothes. During the workshop each participant will complete a plaque comparable to work often sold commercially for as much as $15 to $20.

Applications may be obtained at the Chamber of Commerce office, 328 South 9th Street, Mayfield, Kentucky.

Ann Landers

— Your Problems Bring Answers —

Dear Ann Landers: I have just gone through HELL Week. I wish I had written to you and asked for advice two months ago, but I thought I could handle it. Now I am writing in the hope that you will print my letter, along with some answers. Maybe you can help the graduating class of 1971.

Do you realize that one-third of all the students in our high schools and colleges are the children of divorced parents? We are allowed to invite a limited number of relatives to graduation services. Six, to be exact. So who does a person invite?

My mom has been married three times and my dad is on his fourth wife. I like my real dad very much but Mom doesn't even want me to mention his name. Mom's second husband isn't allowed in our house, but he pays for my support, so I feel I owe him something. Mom's present husband is a creep but I have to treat him like he's my father because he is married to my mother.

As if this isn't enough, both grandparents on my mother's side have remarried so there are several extras there. To put it in a nutshell, Ann, I have three "fathers," four "mothers" and so many step-grandparents I can't count 'em. I was such a wreck trying to decide who to invite to my graduation that I asked the dean to mail the diploma and I didn't even go to my own graduation.

I realize now it was a dumb solution. What should I have done? — Sorry Now

Dear Now: You should have invited the people you felt most warmly about and made no excuses. Parents who put their children in such a difficult position because of multiple marriages should keep their own wishes and suggestions to themselves.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a middle-ager badly hooked on cigarettes, but I am trying doggedly to free myself of this wretched habit. I am working out my own system of cutting down since I am not able to attend the Stop Smoking Clinics as some of my friends have done. At the moment I have reduced my smoking to about half. Will I be able to lessen the number gradually until I get down to zero? I am doubtful that I could quit suddenly after so many years of smoking from two to three packs a day. At times I crave a cigarette so desperately, I can think of nothing else.

Do the authorities recommend the tapering off method? How did you stop?—Watt To Unhook

Dear Watt To: I never had to stop because I never started. And for the benefit of you teen-agers out there who think it is smart to smoke, let me assure you it's just about the dumbest move you can make.

Most authorities feel the cold turkey approach is best, particularly when the depend-

The honoree wore a char- treuse dress, with matching shoes, and was presented a corsage of yellow daisies.

The tea table was covered with blue and overlaid in white lace. Centering the table was an arrangement of white gladiolus and daisies, with blue net adorning each side, and blue candles in crystal candelabras. Punch, nuts, mints and cookies were served to the guests.

Introducing Our Churches - God's Agency For Spreading His Love

CHAPEL HILL METHODIST CHURCH

The Chapel Hill Methodist Church, on the east edge of Obion County, is one of the oldest churches in the area. It is located four miles south of South Fulton, just west of Highway 45E.

Frank Sellars, one of the oldest members of the South Fulton Circuit, says that the earliest records show that the church became a part of the Hickman Circuit in 1856, but that it was organized a number of years before that date. In fact the church records reveal that W. M. Jones joined the church in 1854, and W. S. and Jane Underwood joined in September 1855.

A few years before 1856, a young minister by the name of Simpson Weaver came into the community to preach the Gospel. Although no records are available, it is not at all improbable that Bro. Weaver organized the church and was a charter member.

The deed to the four acres of church property was made January 20, 1874, from F. M. Johnson to Simpson Weaver, William Jones, J. W. Rankin, J. S. Lennox and B. E. Dodd, trustees, for $52.20 cash in hand. Deed No. 2 was for one acre from Mary W. Johnson to W. M. Jones, Martin Chambers and other trustees for $15.00 cash, January 23, 1892.

There have been three houses of worship on the same location, the first being a log church. In 1879 a building committee was appointed and, since no records can be found from 1880 to 1906, it is the assumption that the frame structure was built the first part of 1880. The present church building was erected in 1912. The building committee was composed of B. B. Jonakin, R. A. Gossum, M. L. Chambers and George Thomas. Not much is said in the records concerning this. At the second quarterly conference, in April 1913, it was reported that "the membership at Chapel Hill has completed and paid for a beautiful new church building at a cost of $2,000." After some repairs it is still very beautiful.

In July 1953 the church school decided to build some classrooms under the church. The church was air-conditioned in 1950.

The W. S. C. S. was organized February 7, 1954, with twelve members. The Youth Fellowship was organized in 1953.

The cemetery near the church is well-kept and contains monuments for the early church members and first settlers of the community.

Rev. Raymond Wright has just been appointed pastor and will conduct services each 2nd and 4th Sundays at 11 a. m. Sunday School is held each Sunday at 10 a. m.

Vacation for the school children in this community began today. No doubt, most of them will eagerly welcome the beginning of school as they have the vacation. Congratulations and best wishes to the graduates, and especially to those from this community, Freeman Brundige, Joey Taylor, David Parrish and Judy Holmes.

Brother James Jones will be the speaker at the Homecoming service at Ruthville next Sunday. Everyone is invited to enjoy the day with this congregation and all singers have a special invitation to attend the singing in the afternoon.

The Chestnut Glade Home Demonstration Club will meet in the home of Mrs. Laverne Owensby on June 18 at 2:00 p. m. Bob Glisson will explain the Stamp Program, so that those attending will be able to answer questions concerning this project correctly. Visitors are cordially invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Joe Brundige and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Brundige last week.

Congratulations and best wishes to Sheila Hazelwood, who will represent Weakley County in the 4-H poultry project in Milan. She will compete counties in the District.

Dean Morrison, who was severely injured at work several weeks ago and who was a patient in the Baptist Hospital several weeks, has been dismissed from the hospital, but is not able to go back to work and remains under the doctor's care.

A welcome is extended to Mr. and Mrs. Billie Frank Phillips and family, who recently moved into the community, after living away for several years. They are living in the former James Clark home. The Clarks moved to Martin, where they are employed, several months ago.

Boss to secretary: "Miss Jones, when the little bell on your typewriter rings, it doesn't mean it's time for a coffee break."

By Mrs. Carey Fields

Rev. Bobby Copeland filled his regular appointment at New Salem Baptist Church the past Sunday at 11 a. m. Sunday School was held at 10 a. m., with a good attendance. Many visitors were on hand to meet old friends and make new ones. At noon lunch was spread on long tables on the lawn, under the pines. The afternoon was devoted to gospel singing, with various singers taking part. One of the largest crowds attended than on any Homecoming Day, the first Sunday in June.

Get Well wishes are extended to Mrs. Esther Cunningham, who has been on the sick list the past few weeks. We hope she will soon be feeling better.

News from the bedside of Mrs. Dave Mathis, Weakley County Rest Home, are that she shows signs of improvement, which all friends will be glad to hear.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex Fields, of Los Angeles, arrived Tuesday for a week's visit with their mother, Mrs. Ed Fields, and relatives in the Palmersville area, Paducah and Union City. Enroute here, they attended the graduation of their son Mike Fields, who received his diploma in pharmacy at the University of Arizona in Tucson on Saturday night, May 30. Mike will be employed as a pharmacist this summer and will enter medical school this fall.

All our farmers will get into fields the next few days and finish planting crops of corn and beans. Quite a bit of spraying for weevils has been done. Golden shades of wheat are shown at this writing and the harvest will begin in a few weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lassiter and sons, Mark, Stevie and Barry, of Martin, were Sunday guests of parents, Mr. and Mrs. Buton Lassiter, near here.

The Fields family enjoyed their gathering Sunday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eric Cunningham, Dresden, honoring their mother, grandmother and great-grandmother, Mrs. Ed Fields, who has already reached her 90th birthday. At noon a bountiful repast was enjoyed by those attending. They were: Mr. and Mrs. Rex Fields of Los Angeles, Mr. and Mrs. Randall Cunningham, Steve, Beth and Lori of Washington, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Argo, Chad and Kim of Hickman; Doyle Fields and son, Kerry, of Tylahoma, Tenn.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Smith, daughters, Meloye and Tracy, of Dresden, and your writer. Each enjoyed the family gathering and hope to gather again each year as opportunity affords.

Kentucky.

This week-end former Governor Bert T. Combs will announce his candidacy for a second term as governor of Kentucky. As I look upon the ten years that have passed since Combs first became governor I am amazed at the changes in political philosophy that have taken place in the electorate.

'Twas a time when the support of the "courthouse politicians" was a great asset to the state-wide campaign for candidates. Now, in some areas, it is a liability, for the accent is on youth—the eager young Kentuckians who want their own world, and the oldsters are welcome to it, if the "old-timers" can "dig" the hopes and aspirations of the people who must assume the responsibility for their destinies.

It is perhaps this philosophy that is making Lt.-Gov. Wendell Ford a more formidable candidate each day against the veteran Bert Combs. It is truly surprising to find the growing strength of Ford in West Kentucky, and particularly here in Fulton County.

Ford's appeal is so great that even some of the old pros around these parts are getting on the "Youth Bandwagon" because they know that Ford is and talks a young man's language, and that's where the power is these days.

There is something else that makes Ford extremely attractive to the dyed-in-the-wool Democrats. They have a loyalty to him. While some other candidates now in the state-wide races were entrenched in safe positions of courts and things, Ford was in there arm-twisting, cajoling, begging, pleading, speaking and fighting for the Democratic party when the chips were down and the cubbard was bare. For the first time in many years the party treasury is more than solvent.

You've just got to hand it to the guy, for whatever others may have blared out for the sake of publicity, Ford was the real leader of his party when a leader was needed, outside of the glare of the TV camera.

The Judge Was There!

Fiscal Court Judge Buck Menees seems to be at the right place, at the right time, when he is needed.

Tuesday Buck was on his way back to Hickman from Fulton and was driving down the Hickman By-pass in Highlands. A little two-year old youngster darted out into the street almost into the path of the Judge's car. Buck stopped, found the child in soaking wet training pants and then proceeded to go door-to-door looking for the parents.

The child could only say that her mother worked. With some diligent searching Buck found that the little tot had strayed away from her grandmother, across the viaduct, across two streets, and onto the busy highway.

Can't beat that for public service, can you?

Not My Cuzin!

In answer to some of your questions. Cuzin Tuny who wrote to me last week, and who has recently written a song to answer Welfare Cadillac is not my real cousin.

That's her radio name, and she just calls everybody cousin.

Welfare . . . Well Fare!

The Hickman Courier is in need of some reliable carrier boys who can be depended upon to show up each week and make from $3.50 to $5.00 for an hour's work.

I think I have heard the classic welfare remark ever made in this world. In discussing a paper route with a 10-year old boy he asked about how much he would make.

I quoted the above figures to him, whereupon he said he'd let me know. He did. He said that his parents told him the money they got from the welfare was enough for them to get along with.

So where's that Cadillac?

Small World

Every day it seems to get smaller too. Grace French told me of a recent incident where Margaret (French) and Haydn Williams were in Washington recently visiting "on the hill." Dropping in to see Senator Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, who do you suppose they met there? . . . Elvis Stahr of Hickman. And then it was old home week.

of Commerce in a meeting last week questioned the accuracy of the preliminary figures released the week before by the Paducah office of the US census for Hickman County. Chamber President Robert Black said the directors have written a letter to the Census Bureau outlining their reasons for questioning the report.

"Black said that it is possible that hundreds were not counted here, and it is a known fact that the census questionnaires had not been picked up at all in one community after an enumerator failed to complete the job."

Both Fulton and Hickman Counties have been reported as losing substantial population. Just how thorough a job have our enumerators done? We would like to know, and hope somebody will find out and tell us.

A notice this week from the US Department of Commerce announces that the EDA has allotted $225,000 to add to the $365,000 provided by other Federal agencies for another year of study of the "catfish farming" industry. In case you didn't know it, "catfish farming" is concentrated in a total of 100 counties in Kentucky and 15 other neighboring states. The story indicates that all this cash will be spent either in Alabama, Arkansas, or in the Tower Building in downtown Little Rock. If YOU would like to become a catfish farmer I suggest you write "Catfish Farmers of America" at the Little Rock address.

Kentucky newspapermen maybe ought to take a promotional cue from the distillers, who like to prop their feet up on the desk and talk about how their product was developed from a century-old recipe.

Our product was developed from a recipe five centuries old.

But with all the modern electronic gadgetry, surveillance, monitoring and calculating injected in today's manufacturing, we don't see that in either case the date of origin makes much difference!

Conley Seeks State Office

Bruce Conley, Union City attorney and partner in the firm of Maness and Conley, announced today that he will be a candidate for the Tennessee House of Representatives, subject to the Democratic primary here on Aug. 6.

He will be a candidate for the 36th Floterial District post which is composed of Obion, Lake and Weakley counties.

Mr. Conley is married and has one son. He is a member of the Bishop Street Church of Christ, a Mason, a member of the Union City Jaycees and the Loyal Order of Moose. He is a veteran of the U.S. Army paratroopers.

In addition to his legal training, the candidate has a degree in public administration and political science from the University of Tennessee at Knoxville. "I would like to ask the people of Obion County to consider my qualifications for this office and my desire to be a working representative for the district," said Mr. Conley in his announcement.

"I have a degree in public administration in addition to a law degree. I worked in the state

David Sams Is Awarded Scholarship

David Sams, an honor graduate of Carlisle County High School in the class of 1970, has been awarded a four-year full scholarship to the U.S. Air Force Academy.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Sams Jr., of Bardwell, Sams received the appointment from U.S. Rep. Frank A. Stubblefield.

He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Sams Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cheniae of Fulton, and attended grade school at Carr Elementary before his family moved to Bardwell.

Outstanding in basketball at Carlisle, Sams was twice named to the All-Purchase team (1969 and 1970) won honorable mention this year on the All-State team, and was named the Carlisle Comets' most valuable player during his sophomore, junior and senior years.

As a senior he was elected president of the Beta Club, a high school honor society and also served on the school's Annual staff.

Sams is expected to play basketball for the academy. He was offered scholarships by several other major colleges and universities, including West Point.

qualification is that I want to work. If I am elected, I will make every effort to insure that our district receives favorable consideration when state programs are enacted and funds allocated."

Mr. Conley is the only announced candidate from Obion County for either of the two House seats that Obion County shares with Lake and Weakley. Both the 35th and 36th Floterial Districts are composed of the same three counties. Ned McWhorter of Dresden is presently serving in the 35th District and has no announced opponent. Mr. Conley's entrance into the race, however, brings to three the number of persons seeking the 36th Floterial District seat. The others are from Weakley and Lake counties.

Businessman Nabbed On New Beer Charge

State and county officers filed two charges involving the illegal sale of beer and the illegal possession of untaxed cigarettes against Raymond Muse after lawmen said another officer made a purchase at Muse's jerry junction on the Fulton highway. Oblon County Sheriff T. C. McCullough made the arrest accompanied by Jack Charlton of Dyersburg, agent for the Tennessee Bureau of Criminal Identification, and Joe Chadwick of Tiptonville, agent for the state Department of Revenue. Muse, whose beer license was revoked last month after he pleaded guilty to selling beer to a minor, was charged Wednesday with selling beer without a license and with possessing and offering for sale cigarettes not bearing Tennessee tax stamps. He posted $500 bond on the beer charge and $250 bond on the cigarette charge and was released, Sheriff McCullough said. Sheriff McCullough said 2,036

cans and bottles of beer, approximately 83 cases, were confiscated by the officers, along with 14 cartons of cigarettes bearing Kentucky tax stamps. "We had a number of reports that beer was still being sold at the business, despite the fact that Mr. Muse had lost his beer license," Sheriff McCullough said. "So an off-duty officer visited the store to see if he could make a purchase and Mr. Muse personally sold him two cartons."

Sheriff McCullough said the purchase was made about 3:25 p.m. The officers arrived about two and a half hours later, armed with search warrants, confiscated the beer and cigarettes and made the arrest.

Muse's troubles with the law began last month when he was charged with selling beer to a minor. On May 14, he waived a jury trial in Oblon County Circuit Court and pleaded guilty. Judge Phil Harris imposed a fine of $50 and costs.

The county's beer board met May 19 and revoked Muse's beer license. Later that same day Muse and his wife became involved in an altercation with Bill Blakemore, a member of the beer board, and blows were exchanged. As a result, Muse and his wife were charged with assault and battery and, in General Sessions Court on May 25, were bound over to the grand jury on the charges. They were released on bonds of $125 each.

"There are other places in Oblon County where intoxicants are being sold to minors and where other kinds of illegal traffic in intoxicants have been reported," said Sheriff McCullough Wednesday night. "Whenever it is possible to obtain evidence, we mean to put a stop to such violations."

Revenue Agent Chadwick pointed out that transporting out-of-state cigarettes into Tennessee in substantial quantities is a violation of state law. Persons are permitted one carton each and no more.

"Transporting 25 cartons or more is a felony and can mean a penitentiary sentence," he explained. "If it's fewer than 25 cartons it's only a misdemeanor. Even so, the fine can range from $100 to $1,000 and a person can be sentenced to as much as 11 months and 29 days in jail."

Following the criminal action, the agent continued, the state is empowered to file a civil suit in an attempt to confiscate the vehicle in which the cigarettes were transported. Agent Chadwick also pointed out that transporting more than five gallons of out-of-state beer into Tennessee also is a violation of the law and the penalties are similar.

End Of Surtax May Aid Economy

Pay envelopes grow a little fatter next month when the income tax surcharge, imposed in Lyndon B. Johnson's last year as president to help pay for the Vietnam war, becomes history. The tax, originally 10 per cent, was cut in half last January and dies altogether July 1, the day the government's new fiscal year begins. Its passing will cost $4.5 billion in federal revenue.

Ending the surtax won't mean much to the average taxpayer—an extra 70 cents a week for four-member families with $5,000 yearly incomes, $1.70 if income is $10,000—but taken together it will be a substantial economic stimulant matching the one that accompanied the January cut.

Dr. Harold C. Passer, the Commerce Department's chief economist, last week listed the expiration of the surtax as one of the major factors behind official administration forecasts of a business upturn. The others were smaller—$4 billion from higher Social Security payments and $3 billion from higher federal pay.

The cut will be especially welcome to taxpayers with incomes of $5,000, because their withholding taxes actually rose in January despite the surtax reduction.

Last year, $5.70 was deducted from weekly pay of $96.15. Since then it has been $6.10, an anomaly the Internal Revenue Service called a "quirk." It was caused, the IRS said, by bugs in the complex mathematical formulas needed to figure out the new low income allowance included in the Tax Reform Act Congress passed last December.

The taxes are collected at the rate of 4.8 per cent until they reach a maximum of $374.40 for the year.

Population Up In Weakley

Fourteen of 20 West Tennessee counties registered population gains in the 1970 census, but the net increase for the decade amounted to less than one per cent, according to preliminary reports of the Bureau of the Census.

Weakley and Madison counties scored the largest increases, while Haywood and Fayette counties suffered the biggest losses in the 20-county

West Tennessee area, excluding Shelby County.

In a preliminary report, District Census Director John V. Howse listed a total population of 459,404 for the 20 West Tennessee counties. The 1960 census gave the area a population of 456,039.

The City of Jackson had a gain of 4,886 with a 1970 population of 39,262. Dyersburg increased from 12,499 to 13,942 and Humboldt's population climbed from 8,482 to 10,000.

Madison County's population increased by 3,272 to 63,927, but there was a net loss in the portion of the county outside the corporate limits of Jackson.

Weakley County, helped by the soaring enrollment at the University of Tennessee at Martin, had a population increase of 3,888 for the decade. The preliminary report showed Weakley with a population of 28,115 in 1970, compared to 24,227 in the 1960 count.

Counties losing population, in addition to Haywood and Fayette, were Tipton, Crockett, Lauderdale and Lake. All are predominantly agricultural areas.

REPORTS FROM WASHINGTON

This is the time of year that high schools, colleges, and universities grant diplomas to their graduating seniors. For centuries this ceremony has been firmly entrenched in tradition.

All across the country during this time of year, graduating seniors will be gathering to hear speakers congratulating them and give them advice. Congratulations are certainly in order, and there are few of us who could not profit from some occasional sound advice.

It is not my purpose here to offer advice to the new graduates. Instead, they could probably give me a few pointers. There is no doubt in my mind that they have been exposed to a better education than I had been when I was in their position. They are more aware of the world they live in than I was at their age, and it is a good thing they are because the world they face is much more complex than the one I faced.

The members of the Class of 1970 have never lived in a world free of the nuclear bomb. They grew up in a world of instant communication, with television news telling them of world events almost as soon as they happen. Their constant awareness of possible destruction has given a cast to their lives that no other generation has ever experienced.

The class of 1970 faces other problems that no previous generation has ever had to face head on. For example, we have known for a long time that the world's population has been growing faster than our ability to sustain the additional people. But now we have reached the point where the earth's population is doubling every 37 years. In fact there are 150,000 more persons living on this planet right now than there were just 24 hours ago. This population problem is staring the Class of 1970 squarely in the face, and this generation of graduates must find the solution before it is too late.

This generation must also find ways of coping with pollution. Until fairly recently, the pollution of our land, air, and water could be treated as mere eyesores or unpleasant odors. But now the problem of how to dispose of wastes has become a threat to man's survival. This generation must learn how to prevent the contamination of the basic necessities of life—the air, food, and water supplies.

Many other problems are begging for solutions from this generation. How to redistribute the nation's population, which has flocked to the cities and deserted the countryside since World War II, must be worked out by those who are now graduating. This population imbalance has produced many serious side effects such as increased crime, drug abuse, and poverty. These problems too must be met by this generation.

The tasks awaiting the Class of 1970 are monumental. They will require hard work, determination, a willingness to work together, and an acute sense of responsibility. The vast majority of these graduates possess these qualities, and I am confident that they can rise to meet the challenges that lie ahead.

When the seniors march across the stage to receive their diplomas, I want them to know that we have a great deal of faith in them. The world is depending on them.

MAJOR POINTS & MINOR, TOO

By GORDON M. QUARNSTROM

OCHO RIOS: This settlement got its name from the Spaniards and from the fact there were eight rivers here. The Spaniards gave way to the British early in Jamaica's history and one of the rivers got lost in an earthquake. But Ocho Rios remains a good name, and it is famed throughout the Caribbean for the fine beaches and hotels along the nearby coastline.

Best-known is the luxurious Playboy Club-Hotel, which has been booked to a reported capacity since it opened in 1965. It is a tremendous resort on a white sand beach.

The familiar Playboy bunnies are here, and some of them even double as lifeguards. They add a certain touch, but the costumes they wear are maybe just a shade less revealing than the bikinis worn by most of the feminine guests.

Tourism is brisk, with new hotels abuilding, along the entire north coast of Jamaica, where the trade winds are so delightful. Prices could strain your budget, however, particularly during the winter season, so investigate carefully before you come. And if you are planning on Ocho Rios, remember it is 1 1/2 hours by road from Kingston and 2 1/2 hours from Montego Bay.

VACATION AHEAD?: It will be wise to make a reservation ahead, too, says Ed Brockman, travel expert of the Allstate Motor Club. Many resorts already have heavy bookings. And if you're thinking of the Osaka Expo '70, be doubly sure you have a confirmed room reservation. All of Japan will be tight, very tight, during the spring and summer, the Allstate people are advised.

A man swallowed a table tennis ball and was rushed to the hospital for emergency surgery. Upon awakening he was alarmed to find incisions all over his torso. "Why?" he asked the surgeon, "was it necessary to cut me up so badly?" "Well," the doc replied, "that's the way the old ball bounces." — Roman Brandt.

MSU Graduates Told Ballot Box Is Most Effective

MURRAY, Ky., June 6 — The ballot box is a more effective means of obtaining desired legislative action than disrupting a college community, the 1,287 members of the 1970 graduating class at Murray State University were told today.

Dr. Forrest C. Pogue, executive director of the George C. Marshall Research Foundation at Arlington, Va., and a 1930 alumnus of Murray State told the graduates:

"Campus militants must face the fact that while they may be able to burn down a school, drive presidents and deans from their offices and seize buildings, they cannot coerce the legislators of the states.

"These men have been threatened by experts," he said, "but they react poorly to demonstrations. Much more effective are the returns from the precincts."

Pogue, who also was awarded his second honorary degree in two days by his alma mater during its 47th annual commencement program, said it was apparent at the most recent protest rally in Washington that the next student move would be in the fall elections.

"A few of the more militants ruled out this move and called for revolution," he observed, "but this last group made two fundamental errors in judgment — one a failure to see that the revolution has been made and the other the failure to recognize that the base for the more violent revolution they desire does not exist."

America's universities have been developed without the historic European tradition of violent confrontations with police and troops, he noted, and American students have had a tendency, until recent years, to be onlookers rather than participants in the upheavals in political and economic life.

In addition, he said, the universities in the U.S., to some degree owed their economic support to a certain neutralism in political and economic strife.

"Private institutions have depended on gifts by the wealthy, while the state institutions, dependent often upon the goodwill of governors and legislators, found it expedient to court the favor of state authorities.

"For some reason, student activists of the present day have never understood this compromise and have assumed that presidents and deans are free agents who can be forced to grant only changes within the universities proper but also made into agents who can coerce the state," he went on, adding:

"Although within the past 50 years, administrators and older professors have won great freedom of action in their own affairs and have built up considerable immunity against alumni and legislative censorship of their programs, they are dependent on a continued flow of income from increased endowments and legislative appropriations."

Amid inflated costs and increased demands from student groups, the private institutions are particularly vulnerable today, Pogue said in emphasizing that student demonstrations which frighten conservative or moderate donors place the universities in intolerable situations.

"The state universities are in almost even worse plight," he observed, "despite generous appropriations in recent years."

"Without large endowments, required to admit ever-increasing numbers, the state schools have struggled to provide new classrooms, dormitories, greatly enlarge facilities amid spiraling costs.

"Legislatures already overwhelmed by demands for funds for public school education, for highways, and welfare programs look increasingly for a place to cut appropriations."

The revolutionary change in today's institutions, he said, requires a broader base than student protest as opposed to revolution "for the hell of it."

"Millions of older people are as uneasy or as outraged as students are about many of the national and international problems we face today," he said, "but the small band of activists — by their clowning, their flouting of every rule of free discussion and their scorn for tolerance and moderation — are depriving their movement of the sentimental advantage that American students have possessed for generations."

"Although students have upset their parents and neighbors for centuries, there has been a wary tolerance and a forgiving approach to college pranks and extravagant actions through the years, but that advantage is drying up."

In the class, the largest in the history of the university, were a record-shattering 124 honorees graduated, including 22 graduating summa cum laude with four-year academic averages of 3.8 or above of a possible 4.0. Ten had averages of 3.9 or above.

Twin girls, Joyce and Lois Wootton, Madisonville, were tops in the class with identical 3.99 averages. They were followed by Gary Wallis, Melber, with 3.98, and Dara Austin, Benton; Diana Cavitt, Murray, and Connie Barrett, both of Murray.

Vandy Students

To Give Medical Exams To Poor

NASHVILLE — With Tennessee Valley Authority assistance, a group of about 65 Vanderbilt University students will set out soon for East Tennessee on "Project Community Outreach."

The students, mainly from Vanderbilt's colleges of medicine and nursing, will give medical examinations to the poor in several East Tennessee counties.

TVA is assisting the program by making available its mobile health clinic and staff.

With Vanderbilt faculty supervision, students will be in charge of scheduling, examining patients and following up abnormal test results.

MSU Baccalaureate Speaker Cites Great Moments In A Person's Life

MURRAY, Ky., June 6 — going all the way; and the moment you realize you are not going to be here forever." "I maintain that it is the greatest life moment of all when you accept the fact that the beat goes on — for you, for your world — even though you do not go on here forever," Dr. Smith said.

He stressed the idea of hope, particularly as related to the continuity of life. "You have come so far so soon, you have come so far so soon," he concluded. "God bless moments in a person's life are: the moment when you realize class it probably had had the moment when you realize you are not doing it alone; the moment when you realize you are not going to be here for moment you realize you are not ever."

No Electric Power Shortage Anticipated In W. Kentucky

Despite reports of an impending nationwide shortage of energy, several utility firms operating in Western Kentucky today expressed unanimous optimism for serving the needs of area consumers.

This is possible because of the ready availability of electrical power by suppliers and long range planning by natural gas utility sources.

Western Kentucky RECC, which serves over 20,000 customers in parts of five counties, has experienced no difficulty in meeting the demands of the consumer, according to John Ed Walker, manager. The co-op, which obtains its power from TVA, used over 400 million kilowatt hours last year.

Walker said that due to almost 30 per cent all-electric homes, the co-op peaks its power consumption in the winter months. Paducah Power System and RECC both peak in the summer with additional consumption caused by air-conditioning and a lower percentage of all-electric units.

Western Kentucky RECC has invested a little over $750,000 per year in new equipment and facilities for the past 10 years, Walker continued, and it is adequately prepared for additional hookups and consumption.

Kean McKinney, assistant plant manager for Jackson Purchase Rural Electric Cooperative, said the co-op anticipates consumption will double in the next seven years, partially because of new hookups, but mainly due to increased power consumption by present consumers. JPREEC serves over 13,000 residential consumers who used over 125 million kilowatt hours of electrical power last year.

Miss Parham is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Parham and Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Blackstone of Fulton, and the great-granddaughter of Mrs. S. R. Mauldin of Vicksburg, Miss.

The wedding will be an event of June 30 at St. John's United Methodist Church, Texas City, at 5 o'clock in the evening.

Betty Tucker Honored With Bridal Shower

FULTON, Ky., June 6—Miss Betty Tucker, bride-elect of Buddy Mosley, was honored with a household shower at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Reed of Latham, Tenn., the grandparents of the prospective groom. Mrs. Eulane Moubrey and Mrs. Spencer Travis of Dresden were co-hostesses.

Miss Tucker wore a pink knit dress with a corsage of white carnations.

Game prizes were won by Mrs. Guinnell Tucker, Mrs. Eugene Killebrew and Mrs. Pete Killebrew.

Head Start Plans Told

The Obion County Head Start program will begin a special six-week session June 22 for students who will enroll in kindergarten program in the fall, according to Head Start officials.

The program will be dismissed after the special session until the beginning of the regular 1970-71 school term.

Children eligible for school this fall are not eligible to attend Head Start for the summer and the following year. Eligible students must be five years old on or before Oct. 31, 1970.

There will be two centers, at Troy and South Fulton Elementary. Officials said students will be selected primarily from these two cities, with some exceptions for children who need special help.

The program is limited to a total of 20 students in each center.

Computer Program

Kentucky has adopted what may be one of the first computerized systems in the nation to pinpoint and correct abuses in its Medicaid program.

The heart of the operation is identification of both welfare clients and medical vendors whose claims under Medicaid seem to be out of line.

The Jackson Purchase Historical Society has gathered material for this Edition for many months. Many people throughout the area contributed material. Time did not permit the use of some material which the Society hopes to use at a later date. This 124-page Edition is in newspaper form with advertising from area businesses. Several hundred pictures and several hundred thousand words are used in the edition to tell a portion of the history of this eight-county area. Much of the material is new and the entire edition is the largest volume in one edition covering the Purchase ever compiled.

A part of the revenue from the sale of the Edition will be given to the Jackson Purchase Historical Society to assist them in their continuing their efforts to gather and preserve the history of the Jackson Purchase. This newspaper appreciates the tremendous work of the Historical Society in this unusual undertaking. Micro-film copies of this Edition as well as bound copies will be presented to area libraries for use in their counties by interested students and historians. The Society appreciates the public's contributions to the Edition and regrets that some of the material was too late to be incorporated in the history.
