ON TOBACCO MARKET

ASSOCIATION SALE ATTRACTED MUCH ATTENTION

Little Doing Otherwise.—A. S. of E. Selects Warehouse.—Tobacco is Being Cut Over County.

The feature of the local tobacco market for the past week was the big sale by the Planters' Protective association, which was held last Wednesday for the purpose of closing out what tobacco remained on hand. The sale could not be completed on the one day, and the report of the salesman for the week shows that 539 hogsheads were disposed of. The prices on these ruled very strong, and in many instances even showed a slight advance. While this is supposed to be a wind-up sale, there will be many hogsheads yet offered, these coming from the country prizing houses. At the sale this week the salesroom was thronged with buyers who seemed anxious to get anything which would in any degree suit their trade.

Very little, comparatively, was doing on the general market, the stocks having been about exhausted for this season. What remains unsold, though, is readily in demand, and no trouble is experienced in disposing of it when offered.

The Society of Equity has selected the warehouse of the Abernathy company as their salesroom for the coming season. This is expected to bring a large amount of tobacco into Hopkinsville which has been going to other markets.

The work of cutting the growing crop is now on in full blast, and probably half the crop has been cut already, while the job will be completed, to a large extent next week. A considerable portion will have to grow more yet, as the planting seasons were very irregular, and the plants show a corresponding difference in size. The weather of the past few days has been ideal for the maturing of the crop, the nights having given it the weight which is so much desired.

MANNINGTON ITEMS.

MANNINGTON, Ky., Sept. 15.—Events in this section happen so fast that they tread upon each other's heels.

J. D. Terhune, a capitalist and a member of Vandalla Coal Syndicate, spent several days here this week buying more coal land in addition to the large purchase he made last year, west of the coal property of the Terry Coal & Coke company.

We learn that Mr. Terhune has incorporated The Search Light Coal company, with a paid capital of $250,000, and will open up a new coal mine in North Christian, with a capacity of 20 carloads of coal per day.

The spur track now being built by the Terry Coal & Coke company will be extended up the valley of Drake's creek, over the property of the Terry Coal & Coke company.

Mr. Terhune spent some time in looking over the property of the Terry Coal & Coke company. He says they have a fine quality of coal, and a very valuable plant and property.

Two north bound freight trains had a rear end collision near here. One freight train was standing on the track at New Empire. Another freight train going north, with a long train of cars and heavy mogul engine, came down the Empire hill at a 2:40 gait, smashing the caboose and cars on the first section. Then the engine turned over in the ditch. Railroad men saved their lives by being good jumpers. Wreckers were soon on hand, a temporary track was built around the wreck and traffic was resumed without much delay.

Mr. W. Anderson and Miss Minnie Wilbert went to Springfield and were married. May the silver linings be behind every cloud of their life, and their path through life strewn with bright flowers.

Capitalists are putting down test holes for coal with a view of opening up a new coal mine on the Edmund's property.

Charlie Francis, the polite and accommodating railroad agent at this place, is building a new residence.

The L. & N. R. R. company has just completed a new telegraph office at this place, and it is a modern structure of this kind.

The Terry Coal & Coke company has purchased a tract of land of about 200 acres just south of Mannington. This gives that company a mile frontage on the west side of the L. & N. R. R., and runs west to their new coal mine, near the Madisonville road. This tract of land is regarded as one of the finest tracts of coal property in North Christian on account of its favorable location, its building, timber, coal, and rich soil for cultivation, and its railroad frontage of near one mile, gives it the railroad frontage that controls all the Drake's creek valley to the westward, and this land connected with the other 1400 acres of the Terry Coal & Coke company land and mines up Drake Creek, with the new railroad spur out to their new mines, will open the eyes of the capitalists who have let this land slip from their fingers, and go into the hands of this company.

A petition is being circulated by Mannington and Petersburg citizens for a new public road leading from Mannington up Drake's creek, parallel with the Terry Coal & Coke Co.'s railroad spur out to the Madisonville public road, to intersect and give the public a roadway in this direction to come to and from the postoffice, railroad station and nearest coal mine, and it is hoped that the fiscal court will grant it, as it is needed very badly, by a large section of this community.

Fine tobacco, fine corn, plenty of timber and lots of new coal mines look good to our farmers and business men, and we are just getting started to do things right down here. Just watch us spread out on the map and grow.

SOCIETY OF EQUITY

PROPOSES TO ESTABLISH AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

Location May Be Owensboro and the Prospects of the Institution Seem to Be Rosy.

HENDERSON, Ky., Sept. 15.—The American Society of Equity, probably the strongest organization ever effected by the farmers of this country, is perfecting arrangements for a great agricultural college in Western Kentucky, to be called the Equity College. The location will probably be on the Seven Hills Chautauqua grounds at Owensboro, but every county in the western part of the state is interested, and it is said that six other states will contribute to the opening of the school.

President J. A. Everitt, of Indianapolis, has announced a plan by which he believes money for the college may be raised. He has 3,700 county union in his organization, and it is his plan to draw a small sum from each of these unions for financing the educational movement.

Mr. Everitt states that prominent people in six other states are interested in the movement, and the matter is expected to assume much more than local or state importance. Among those who have already signed the articles of incorporation are: J. A. Everitt, Indianapolis; E. L. Davenport, Cinney, Ky.; R. L. Boyd, Hastings, Neb.; S. D. Kump, Madison, Wis.; Ben Watson, Dixon, Ky.; H. E. Wilson, Homestead, Okla.; the Hon. H. B. Sherman, Greenburg, and Lucien Dolkner, Winchester, Ky. The college will be incorporated as soon as possible.

Doves May Be Killed.

It was stated in Monday's New Era that the game law which went into effect Sunday and which forbids the killing of game until November 15, when the quail law will expire, prevented the killing of every class of game, both feathered and four-footed. Sportsmen who claim to know, state that this is a mistake and that by some unaccountable oversight the dove was omitted from the list when this law was passed and that therefore this bird can be hunted during the two months intervening between now and November 15. This is the only exception to the rule, however, even rabbits and squirrels being safe from the hunters.

SENSATIONAL SUIT

IS FILED IN THE HOPKINS CIRCUIT COURT.

Bailey Light & Water Company Charges Inkerman Bailey, Sr., With Embezzlement of $2,400.

Suit has been filed in the Hopkins circuit court by the Bailey Light & Water Co., against Mr. Inkerman Bailey, Sr., charging embezzlement and asking a judgment of $2,400. The petition recites that the defendant has been the president and general manager of the Bailey Light & Water Co., for the past five years, until June, last. The said defendant had full charge and the management of the financial affairs of the plaintiff company. From August, 1904, to August, 1906, the plaintiff avers that the defendant embezzled sums aggregating $2,400.

The petition further recites that the defendant made written confession that he had converted to his own use and embezzled $100 during each month, and has refused and continues to refuse to make restoration and pay the plaintiff. The petition therefore prays for judgment to the amount of $2,400.

The case will come up for trial at the coming term of circuit court.—Madisonville Hustler.

GRAYSON FIRE

Destroys Three Hotel Buildings With a Loss of $35,000.

GRAYSON SPRINGS, Ky., Sept. 18.—The three hotel buildings at this place, the "New Orleans," the Memphis, and the Louisville, all of which were under the same management, were entirely destroyed by fire last night. The blaze originated from some unknown cause in the kitchen of the New Orleans and spread rapidly. The loss is about $35,000 which is only partially covered by insurance.

No one was hurt.

Hopeful to the End.

Stomach Muscles in Old Age

People should be more and more careful, as age advances, to see that their bowels move regularly. In this way they can keep themselves in good health and prolong life. The bowels are not as active in middle-life and old age as they are in youth, and with the majority there is a tendency to constipation of a chronic and obstinate nature.

To ward off the possibility of serious diseases use Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the great herb laxative compound. It is especially suited to the use of elderly people because it is prompt but gentle in action, and does its work without straining or weakening, as is the case with salts, purgative waters and cathartic tablets. These should not be used by children, women, old folks or weak people because they are too violent in action and generally grip. Furthermore, the results are temporary as reaction sets in and the bowels are bound up more than ever.

A remedy like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is very gentle in action and yet thoroughly effective, and as it contains tonic properties, it strengthens the system instead of weakening it. The results are permanent because gradual, and many can in a short time do away with the use of all laxatives. It will cure the most chronic constipation, dyspepsia, liver trouble, biliousness, flatulency, sour stomach, weak stomach, bloating, drowsiness after eating and such other stomach, liver and bowel troubles.

To prove how effective it is in serious cases the experience of Mr. Armstrong of Decatur, Ill., can be cited. He suffered from a gunshot wound during the Civil War which caused a partial paralysis of the bowels and he had had ever since to use a laxative. He says he never found anything so effective, or which worked so near to nature, as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Try it and you will say the same. The price is 50 cents or a bottle at any drug store.

FREE TEST Those wishing to try Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin before buying can have a free sample bottle sent to their home by addressing the company. This offer is to prove that the remedy will do as we claim, and is only open to those who have never taken it. Send for it if you have any symptoms of stomach, liver or bowel disease. Gentlest yet most effective laxative for children, women and old folks. A guaranteed permanent home cure. THE PUBLIC VERDICT: "No Laxative So Good and Sure as DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPSIN." LAST BOND IS PAID

INDEBTEDNESS INCURRED IN 1897 WIPED OUT.

State Cancels Obligation Created During The Bradley Administration.

FRANKFORT, Sept. 14.—The last of Kentucky's bonded indebtedness, incurred by the issue of bonds by the Bradley administration in 1897, was wiped out when State Auditor Hager took in and cancelled a bond for $25,000, presented by the National Branch Bank of Frankfort.

The bond paid was the last of the issue of $500,000 authorized by the general assembly in 1896 to pay off indebtedness to the commonwealth. All of the bonds of the state were taken in several years ago with the exception of this one paid. An effort was made to secure it at the time the others were cancelled, but it could not be located. The bonded indebtedness of Kentucky was cancelled shortly after the state recovered the war claim from the national government.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect it.

Prevalency of Kidney Disease. Most people do not realize the alarming increase and remarkable prevalence of kidney disease. While kidney disorders are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

What To Do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. "Good news travels fast" and the thousands of bad luck sufferers in Hopkinsville are glad to learn that prompt relief is within their reach. Many a lame, weak and aching back is bad no more thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Many people are telling the good news of their experience with the old Quaker remedy. Here is an example worth reading: R. H. Buck, living on South Franklin street, Madisonville, Ky., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills is an exceedingly good remedy for kidney complaint and backache. I was never seriously troubled until about nine months ago I was taken with an attack of backache caused I think by a strain from overlifting. I was annoyed a good deal. I saw Doan's Kidney pills advertised and concluding to give them a trial, got a supply. They proved very satisfactory, curing the attack in a short time. Some time later there were symptoms of a recurrence and I appealed to Doan's Kidney pills again. They relieved me in a short time and they kept my kidneys in an excellent condition."

SPECIALIST PRESCRIBES CUTICURA

A Famous French Specialist on Diseases of the Skin Prescribes Cuticura as the Most Effective Remedy Known to Him, Charging as His Fee 100 Francs ($20).

ALSO PRESCRIBED IN HOSPITAL SAINT LOUIS

"Gentlemen: You may be pleased to learn that a patient suffering from an irritation of the skin, caused by molar, on consulting a noted physician in Paris, for which a fee of one hundred francs (twenty dollars) was charged, was advised to use Cuticura, which advice, although received with astonishment, was followed and resulted in a perfect cure." (Signed) Lewis Gower, 1123 Broadway, New York, U. S. A., December 16, 1906.

French physicians, particularly those making a specialty of the treatment of skin diseases, have for many years regarded Cuticura as a specific and have prescribed it freely. It enjoys the rare distinction of being prescribed in the Hospital Saint Louis, Paris, one of the largest and most famous hospitals in the world devoted exclusively to the treatment of diseases of the skin.

GENERAL FORREST

REUNION WILL BE HELD IN MEMPHIS OCTOBER 17.

Barbecue Planned.—Only Surviving Members of Famous Cavalry Will Ride in Parade.

MEMPHIS, Sept. 14.—The annual reunion in honor of Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest will take place at Memphis, Oct. 17. Those who have seen the parades in the past will remember how a long line of old vets, all members of Forrest's command, rode down Second and Main streets. They were revived with youth and might have reminded those who had gone through the trying times during the '60s of the boys who rode out with their intrepid commander and who returned when the war was over, to their duties as private citizens.

This year the same parade will take place, but some of those who rode in former years will be missing, some have gone to their last abode. The parade will be one of the features of the reunion, but at East End park there will be waiting for the old vets a magnificent barbecue. At the park there will also be speaking and music.

There will be no carriages in the parade, except those used for old and infirm veterans who will be unable to ride horseback. There will be no sponsors or maids of honor.

As the members of Forrest's command are scattered all over the United States, veterans from every commonwealth in the Union are expected to be on hand. An effort will be made to get many to come who did not attend last year in order that they may take the place of those who rode in the ranks at the last reunion and have since passed over the river of death.

TELLING THE TRUTH

IN A PLAIN WAY FOR THE VOTER'S BENEFIT.

Shows Beyond Question of a Doubt That Democracy is Kentucky's Hope and Refuge.

Gov. Beckham's opening speech was a masterly effort and is creating wide interest in the present campaign. The array of facts which Kentucky's next United States senator is using is unanswerable.

In recounting the achievements of the Democratic administration Gov. Beckham tells the truth in a plain way. He takes the voters into his confidence and turns the record page by page showing that the commonwealth does not owe a dollar and has a credit that is unsurpassed.

Contrast this with the wreck of bankruptcy and "red carnivals" of military usurpations and bloodshed left by the Republican administration of affairs in Kentucky and Democracy can review its career with extreme satisfaction.

When Gov. Beckham declares to his constituents that, not alone is the state's indebtedness wiped out, but behind the doors of the state's vaults there is one million, three hundred thousand dollars; that a magnificent capital building, costing more than a million dollars, and all paid for, is nearing completion; that out of a reduced tax rate, now 50c, she gives 25c to the public schools and normal schools, one-half cent to the State college and two cents to the sinking fund to pay the interest on school bonds, making 25c to that cause, leaving 25c for all the general expenses of the commonwealth in all its branches and all of its institutions; that new laws enacted have advanced the moral and social life in Kentucky until other states are recognizing Kentucky as a criterion in such laws by adopting like laws; that, as a result of Democratic administration, the industrial welfare of the state has enjoyed greater advancement in the past eight years than in the thirty years preceding that time; that out of Kentucky's 119 counties 93 are dry and the state stands about first in the high development of her local option laws; that the banner of Democracy means "Peace, Prosperity and Happiness to all Kentuckians," there is awakened in the voters the pride that is characteristic in Kentuckians to have all that is good, true and honest. It means victory for the Democracy; it means the election to the United States senate of Gov. Beckham, who has proved himself to be the ideal Kentucky Democrat; the one who has faltered at no duty and the one who has brought order out of anarchy, solvency out of bankruptcy and moved the dial of progress forward, instead of backward, as was done by the Republican leaders, who have always had at heart the spoils of state and federal patronage rather than the welfare of the people of the commonwealth.

RADFORD REELECTED COUNTY CHAIRMAN BREATHITT ENTERS UPON HIS CAMPAIGN

WINS IN HARMONIOUS CONTEST
WITH W. T. FOWLER.

LATTER MADE VICE CHAIRMAN

W. A. Glass Unanimously Chosen
Secretary and Consents to Serve
Again.—Every Committeeman Present.

The election which was held at the courthouse Saturday afternoon for the purpose of selecting a chairman vice-chairman and secretary for the Christian county executive committee of the Planters Protective association resulted in the re-election of the old officers, I. C. W. W. Radford, chairman; W. T. Fowler, vice chairman and W. A. Glass, secretary.

When nominations for chairman were called for both Mr. Radford and Judge Fowler were placed in nomination. Each gentleman then stated his case in a short speech, the utmost harmony prevailing throughout. The vote was taken by secret ballot and when the totals were drawn it was shown that Mr. Radford had received 17 votes and Judge Fowler 12, and Mr. Radford was therefore declared elected.

Before the candidates spoke, a ballot had been spread, and was on the table uncounted while they were addressing the committee. At the conclusion of the speeches, the ballot, on motion, was destroyed, and a new vote taken, with result as announced above.

For vice-chairman Judge Fowler, Dr. J. L. Barker, of Pembroke, and Robert McGaughey, of Newstead, were nominated. When the ballots were counted Judge Fowler had 19 and each of his opponents five. Upon motion of Dr. Barker, Judge Fowler's election was then made unanimous.

The formalities of a secret ballot were done away with when the election of a secretary was reached, and Mr. Glass' name was put in nomination and he was elected by acclamation. Mr. Glass has served the committee most faithfully for the past three years and at first he positively refused to accept the office again but both Chairman Radford and Vice-Chairman Fowler pleaded with him until he consented to accept the office for the coming year.

Everyone of the twenty nine voting precincts in the county was represented and a full vote was polled each time. When the matter of electing officers was reaching Mr. R. C. Rives was named as temporary chairman and he conducted the elections.

The regular monthly meeting of the committee is being held at the courthouse today.

TWENTY-FOUR DEAD

WHITE RIVER JUNCTION, Va., Sept. 16.—Twenty-four excursionists returning from the Canadian provinces met death and many others were injured yesterday in a fearful train wreck, due to a head-on collision on the Concord division of the Boston and Maine railroad about four miles west of Canaan, Vt. The badly injured numbered nearly thirty, some of whom, it is thought, may not survive. A misunderstanding of orders by the crew of the freight train caused the accident.

JUDGE JAMES BREATHITT.

STANLEY: NEITHER SAINT NOR DEVIL

James N. Banks, a special correspondent of the Henderson Gleaner, attended the tobacco rally in Hopkinsville when Congressman Stanley spoke, and wrote to this paper as follows:

The wire has told you of the immense gathering of Kentucky and Tennessee tobacco growers at Hopkinsville, this August 30th, to hear the Hon. A. O. Stanley's defense of the co-operating farmers against the malevolent assaults of the Tobacco Trust's press agents.

I wish every member of the Stemming District Tobacco Association could have been there. Thousands of happy, hopeful, prosperous farmers were there, and I judge that there were quite fifteen hundred from Tennessee in that vast throng. For second to Felix Ewing alone is Stanley placed by Tennesseans in the upbuilding of that immortal aggregation known as the Dark Tobacco Protective Association of Kentucky, Tennessee and Virginia. I have heard the most prominent leaders down there ungrudgingly yield that place to Stanley. And the rank and file of the membership, whether Kentuckians or Tennesseans, simply idolize the great young leader who has donated so much of his time and money to freeing the tobacco growers of that vast district from the galling chains of Trust slavery. During the first two years of the existence of that Association, Stanley was ever at the beck and call of Felix Ewing. Night or day, rain or shine, fair weather or foul weather, when the summons came from Felix Ewing it met with prompt compliance on the part of Stanley. For Stanley knew the sick leader was hard pressed and all but exhausted and overwhelmed by the fierce assaults of the powerful and merciless Tobacco Trust. And the gratitude of Felix Ewing knew no bounds, as was evidenced by his generous tender of compensation to Stanley for his timely and invaluable services.

But Stanley would none of it; "I can't," he simply said to Mr. Ewing. "I cannot take compensation for my services in this noble cause. My people have been good and generous to me, and it has afforded me the keenest delight to seize the first great opportunity where my capacities supplied me with sufficient power to be of some assistance to my oppressed, insulted and plundered friends. Leave to me the comforting reflection of being done without thought of compensation."

Service is religion; service to one's fellow man; service to some noble cause.

Measured by that standard, Stanley is a saint.

Seems odd seems sorter reckless—to call Stanley a saint—don't it?

Trust people call him Night Rider, devil, demagogue.

What is definition? Define man? Any individual? At best a mere approximation. Define a Stanley? Impossible!

Since it is impossible to any to define a Stanley, this writer has as good right as another to attempt it: say then, liberally, he is half child and half genius, with flashes of illuminating executive practicability, a fascinating reincarnation combination of Dickie, Steele, Oliver Goldsmith, Brinsley Sheridan, Chief Justice Robertson and Count of Monte Cristo. He is a realist, poet, dramatist, great lawyer, great orator and Henry Ford all in one. Actually all that, or potentially so. Neither saint nor devil, not yet Night Rider—rather a big-brained, big-hearted, lovable sinner. And with all a rattling good Congressman and a most efficient Trust Buster.

Go thy way, old Mirabeau and Israel Putnam rolled in one, since thou can't not go another's. And I guess, yes, that Stanley and Bobby Burns will, somewhere, sometime be rewarded for services to humanity. For it is my belief Stanley as a statesman is as clean as a star.

FEW WEEKS OF PEACE

FOR THE BIRDS FROM GUNS OF HUNTERS.

Bird Season Closes Saturday—No More Hunting Until November 15.

Saturday was the last day for sportsmen until November 15. The bird law, which was out on August 1, and which closed Sunday, ended one of the most enjoyable bird seasons local sportsmen have had for many years. Birds have been plentiful and many were killed. Not only is the bird law closed, but no one is allowed to shoot a squirrel, rabbit, or any kind of game. The law will be rigidly enforced this year. The quail law, when the most favorite bird can be killed, opens on November 15 and remains open until January 1.

THE HOPKINSVILLE CANDIDATE
MAKES SPEECH AT MARION.

FAMILIAR TALK OF "MACHINE"

Harks Back to Goebel Law and Gracefully Sidesteps Burning Issues of The Campaign.

MARION, Ky., Sept. 16.—Judge James Breathitt, of Hopkinsville, Republican candidate for attorney-general of Kentucky, spoke here this afternoon, and began his stump campaign in western Kentucky. He characterized the present race for state offices as one of the most important in the history of the commonwealth. He asserted that the Democrats were seeking suffrages without any platform or declaration of principles, each candidate being left to promise what he pleased, without the power to perform. He discussed at length the platform of the Republican party. He made a plea for the voters to put the welfare of the state above party allegiance, and charged that the Democratic party was dominated by a political machine.

Judge Breathitt spent considerable time in discussing the Goebel law and its results. He ridiculed the assertion of his opponent, John K. Hendrick, that there is no Democratic machine, after the latter had made a similar charge in his race for governor in 1903. "I don't believe," he said, "that big-hearted, courageous John Hendrick belongs to any political machine; there is too much honor and manhood in him, but he is tied to one of its wheels and it is whirling him to political ruin." He impugned the motives of Governor Beckham in naming reform candidates in Louisville, and said it was only a move of the machine for the purpose of fooling the moral element in Louisville, and it was never intended that they should be dominated for the offices to which they were appointed. He talked at length of the financial condition of Kentucky, and charged the administration with the manipulation of tax lists, attacked the new revenue law and alleged gross extravagance and mismanagement in public expenditures. He assailed "night riding" and said: "The criminal laws were better enforced under Governor Bradley than under the present administration, the Lord knows, for he said to the shame of Kentucky, that there has been for last few years a perfect saturnalia of crime in the state. In certain parts of the state life has been constantly in danger, property amounting to thousands of dollars destroyed by the torch of the midnight marauder, peaceful citizens have been taken from their homes and subjected to humiliation and torture, homes have been fired into and women shot, either accidentally or purposely, and the highways have been infested with roving bands of lawless men bent on all manner of depredations and wrongs against inoffensive citizens."

Judge Breathitt said that the declarations of the Democratic candidates on temperance were about as binding as the vapors of a backwoods candidate for magistrate, while the Republicans favored a uniform local option law with the county as the governing unit. In closing he spoke humorously of the Louisville lid, and said the governor had no more jurisdiction in the matter than he had in the Philippine Islands.

ON ORIGINAL FARM

The Louisville Post says: While it is not generally known, there is a memorial church on the birthplace of Jefferson Davis at Fairview, Todd county. This fact has given rise to some discussion as to the possibility of converting the farm on which Mr. Davis was born into a national farm, a resolution to which effect was offered by Gen. Simon Bolivar Buckner at the recent annual gathering of the famous Orphan Brigade at Glasgow.

After the civil war the citizens of Todd county presented Mr. Davis with a tract of land on the farm on which he was born, and he later gave it to the Baptist congregation, which, after his death, built a memorial church on it. This tract of land consists of less than nine acres of the original farm, which comprises 300 acres, all of which will be utilized if the plan matures.

Neither the memorial church nor the land on which it stands will be disturbed, but will be made one of the attractions of the national farm.

MOTORCAR WEDDING

UP-TO-DATE ELOPEMENT IN CHRISTIAN COUNTY

Miss Van Cleve and Mr. Russell Are Married on the Highway by the Rev. A. P. Lyon.

(From Saturday's Daily)

With the modern feature of an automobile conspicuous, but with a background of Arcadian simplicity, an elopement occurred yesterday afternoon and two young lovers pledged their troth under the blue canopy of the sky amid the carolling of birds as a wedding hymn.

The contracting parties were Miss Ermine Van Cleve, the lovely and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Van Cleve, of South Christian, and Mr. T. Mack Russell, a prominent young citizen of Todd county.

The couple had long been sweethearts, but, owing to the young lady's age, there were strong maternal objections. So the young folks decided to take matters into their own hands. Details of the elopement were arranged by mail and telephone, and Mr. Russell, bearing a note from the bride-to-be, obtained a license here.

Miss Van Cleve, who was visiting her brother, Mr. Thomas Van Cleve, in Cadiz, left there yesterday afternoon in a buggy with Mr. George Mimms, of Trenton, and started toward Hopkinsville. Mr. Russell, having with him the Rev. A. P. Lyon, pastor of the Methodist church, left here in an automobile. The parties met a short distance east of Gracely, and with the motor car as an altar assumed the nuptial vows. Mr. Mimms and Chaffeur Leslie were the witnesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell came on to Hopkinsville in the automobile and remained at Hotel Latham until midnight, when they left over the Louisville & Nashville railroad for Louisville, where they will spend a few days and then go to the bridegroom's farm near Trenton.

CHAT ABOUT PEOPLE AND THINGS

The following item is clipped from the Blytheville Courier, of Blytheville, Arkansas. Uncle John Sergeant, of Salubria, was an easy winner of the $5 prize offered by the Guthrie fair for the tallest man in attendance. Uncle Johnny reports a very pleasant day at the fair, except that his new No. 16 patent leather shoes pinched his feet considerably.

Forty years of experience has proven its superior worth as a blood purifier and invigorating tonic for the cure of stomach disorders and all liver ills. It builds up the run-down system as no other tonic can, in which alcohol is used. The active medicinal principles of native roots such as Golden Seal and Queen's root, Stone and Mandrake root, Bloodroot and Black Cherry bark are extracted and preserved by the use of chemically pure, triple-refined glycerine. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce at Buffalo, N. Y., for free booklet which quotes extracts from well-recognized medical authorities such as Drs. Bartholow, King, Scudder, Coe, Ellingwood and a host of others, showing that these roots can be depended upon for their curative action in all weak states of the stomach, accompanied by indigestion or dyspepsia as well as indolent bilious or liver complaints and in all "astounding diseases" where there is loss of flesh and gradual running down of the strength and system.

The "Golden Medical Discovery" makes rich, pure blood and so invigorates and regulates the stomach, liver and bowels, and through them, the whole system. Thus all skin affections, blotches, pimples and eruptions as well as scrofulous swellings and old open running sores or ulcers are cured and healed. A Traveling Man's Experience

"I must tell you my experience on an east bound O. R. & N. R. train from Pendleton to Le Grade, Ore.," writes Sam A. Garber, a well known traveling man. "I was in the smoking department with several other traveling men when one of them went out into the coach and came back and said, 'There is a woman sick unto death in the car.' I at once got up and went out, found her very ill with cramp, colic, her hands and arms were drawn up so you could not straighten them, and with a deathlike look on her face. Two or three ladies were working with her and giving her whiskey. I went to my suitcase and got my bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. (I never travel without it), ran to water cooler, put a double dose into the medicine in the glass, poured some water into it and stirred it with a pencil; then I had quite a time to get the ladies to let me give it to her, but I succeeded. I could at once see the effect and I worked with her, rubbing her hands and in twenty minutes I gave her another dose. By this time we were almost into Le Grande where I was to leave the train. I gave the bottle to the husband to be used in case another dose should be needed, but by the time the train ran into Le Grande she was all right, and I received the thanks of every passenger in the car." Dr. Southgate is one of the most popular and best-liked ministers of this city, and those present at the meeting this morning adopted resolutions of esteem and regret at his approaching departure. He has been president of the Ministers' Alliance of Nashville and was succeeded by Dr. A. C. Cree, who still occupies that position. In returning to Kentucky Dr. Southgate will be going back to his old home, though he has learned to like Nashville even as Nashville has learned to like him."

Talmage Sermon

By Rev.
Frank De Witt Talmage, D. D.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 15.—In this sermon the preacher shows that to the man or woman who is living aright and in harmony with God's laws those laws are no longer a burden, but are transformed into a continual song of encouragement. The text is Psalm cxi, 5, "Thy statutes have been my songs in the house of my pilgrimage."

Never did sculptor's chisel create two statues of more opposite character than are Michael Angelo's "Moses" and "David." When you study these two wonderful figures it does not seem possible that the same human brain could conceive both. They are different as the storm cloud and the sunshine, as the rumbling onrushing avalanche breaking loose from its anchorage and the bubbling, laughing, leaping, happy brook gurgling down the mountain side. They are different as the shrieks and the groans of the carnage of battle and the soft cooling lullabies of a mother rocking her baby to sleep. In other words, the one statue represents power and the other love. The one represents the crags and the cliffs and inaccessible heights of old Sinai, with its bare rocks indicated by the sword cuts of the lightning, and the other represents the melodious harp of the young shepherd boy singing to his sheep among the wild flowers of the valley and the dreamy relaxation of the poet while, lying upon a couch of softest leaves, he watches the parent birds feed their young among the swaying branches overhanging his noddle resting place. Never did Phidias's colossal statue of "Zeus" at Elis or Canova's "Theseus" at Vienna represent greater strength than does Angelo's "Moses" at Rome. Never did Praxiteles' "Aphrodite" at Chidrus or the "Sleeping Ariadne" at Rome reveal more love or poetic symmetry than does Angelo's marvelous statue of "David" at Florence.

But, though we have a perfect right to think of David the musician, David the poet, David the imaginative youth, who is always singing the praises of God, I wonder if we have not sometimes overlooked the fact that David sang his songs of triumph under the shadow of old Mount Sinai and that he had but a vague and shadowy idea of the tenderness of the cross of Jesus Christ. The poetic eyes of David in the statue may not search us from out of deep sockets or from under overarching forehead, as do the penetrating eyes of Moses the lawgiver, but the same thought that teemed in the brain of Moses lived and throbbed in the brain of David. All through the Psalms I find that the Ten Commandments of Mount Sinai are the skeletons upon which David the psalmist based his praises. When David writes his most beautiful songs he seems to be echoing in rhyme what Moses, the great lawgiver, had written 500 years before in the books of the Pentateuch. David's poetry is only Moses' laws and commandments set to music.

The Law of God.

It was so with the other poets whose compositions are in that great hymnal. Turn almost anywhere in the Psalms and you can find this fact illustrated. What is the burden of the One Hundred and Nineteenth Psalm? It is the law, the rock ribbed law of God. "Oh, how I love, thy law! It is my meditation day and night." Is the song, "What is the burden of the First Psalm? It is the law of God. What is the burden of the Thirty-seventh Psalm and the Fortieth Psalm and the Seventy-eighth Psalm? It is the law of God. And today in the words of my text the shepherd poet tells us that the statutes of God have been his songs in the house of his pilgrimage all through his life. The law of Moses is here found to be the theme of the sweetest singer Israel ever produced.

Did you ever stop to think that the laws of God could be set to music? Oh, how prosaic a book of common law is to the average man! When my brother was a young student in the law college he one day came to my father and placed before him a lawbook and said: "Father, read that. Did you ever read any set of rules so dry or so uninteresting?" Truly, for a young man a lawbook is a dry and uninteresting book, but when the young man has mastered those dull codes and uses them in his practice they are changed from dry skeletons into living forces. Then he sees how those legal enactments are the great barriers by which the rights of men are protected against the assaults of evil-doers. So with David. When he mastered the principles of God's laws he was able to clothe them with poetic imagery. He saw the far reaching effect of those laws. Instead of being a collection of skeletons bleaching in a cemetery they became to him a living power. As living principles they welcomed him at the cradle. They guided him through childhood's hours. They led him forth into the struggle of young manhood. They were the crown of glory of his old age. Thus as an aged servant of God he celebrates the glory of old Mount Sinai as he sings, "Thy statutes have been my songs in the house of my pilgrimage." Now let us try to understand how God's laws have become the keystones of David's songs.

His Lullaby Song.

In the first place, the statutes of the Lord were the psalmist's cradle songs. They were the lullabies with which his mother used to sing him to sleep. They were the divine promises with which God adopted him as his child. The covenant with which Abraham's children and children's children became part of God's great redemption plan was the same covenant with which Christians enter into adoption as God's children. And they are the same divine promises with which our children enter into covenant relations with God.

Now, the great practical question which comes before us today is, How can a child of Christian parents become a child of the covenant? In the old dispensation the rite of circumcision made a child a partaker in the covenant. Abraham was a child of God. He was to inherit Palestine, and, besides this, he was to have the divine protection. His descendants were to enjoy the same privilege so long as they obeyed God's law. The promises of God were to be continued from one generation to another to all of Abraham's descendants who fulfilled the obligations of the covenant. It was a bargain, and the seal of it was the outward rite which marked the child as an heir of the covenant. In other words, the sealing of a parental contract with God. Let me illustrate. You come to me and want to buy a tract of land for $10,000. I say, "Mr. Jones, why are you buying this land?" "Oh," you answer, "I am buying this land for a homestead where I can live and my children can live after me, generation after generation." "All right," I say, "I can sell you the land, but you will have to pay the taxes and fulfill your obligations to the county and your children will have to do the same when they inherit." You understand that, and I say: "Then in consideration of $10,000 I will give you a deed of that land for yourself and your heirs forever. That deed will seal the bargain." Just so the descendants of Abraham entered into covenant with God. They were under obligations of which the rite was the visible sign. But the rite counted for nothing if the obligations were not fulfilled. The later history of Abraham's descendants proved that the real condition was obedience and that when this was not rendered the outward sign was not accepted. It became a mockery when it no longer represented a change of heart.

My brother, do you wonder that David said, "Thy statutes have been my songs when I was a baby in the cradle?" Was not David consecrated to God when he was a child by a godly father and mother? Will you not allow Christ to take you and hold you close to his loving heart because your Christian mother gave you to him by prayer and pledge when you were a little innocent child? Thou divine Father, by the sacred wounds of my father's and mother's graves, I thank thee that thou art and always wilt be a covenant making Christ and wilt save me in answer to the prayers of my loving parents for Christ's sake.

The Songs of Childhood.

But the statutes were more than the guardian angels which sang the songs of the Nativity over the manger of Bethlehem of Judaea. They sang for David the happy songs of childhood. The statutes became songs of rejoicing. They were the conditions of sonship and inheritance which it was a joy to fulfill. They were the sweetest recollections of the old homestead when he was a growing boy. They were the songs which made his father and mother and brothers one at the family altar. They were the songs which taught him how to say his evening prayers at his mother's knee. They were the songs which made him as a child study the old Mosaic laws. They were the songs by which he was corrected when he did wrong. And they were the songs which taught him faith in God as well as faith in his fellow men. In other words, they were the same laws by which you and I as boys and girls were developed in a Christian home for our life's struggle. If you did not learn these statutes of God when you were young, then you are poor indeed. If you did learn the laws of God when you were young, then the memory of them makes you rich indeed.

The happiness of our childhood days was not dependent upon the size of our father's pocketbook. But to a great extent it was dependent upon whether our parents obeyed and made us obey the statutes of our Lord in the house of our pilgrimage. Some time ago a sorrowing son was on the way back to the village of his boyhood to bury an aged parent. "How much was your father worth?" asks he of one of his friends. "Nothing," I think he was worth less than nothing. I suppose I shall have to bury him." But the day after the funeral the young man was going down the village street. As he walked along he met an old man, who held out his hand and said: "God bless you, my boy. Jim, you had a good father. I knew him for over forty years and I never knew him to do one act which did not stamp him as a noble, brave Christian hero." And a little further on a young girl stopped him and said: "Jim, your father was the best friend my mother ever had. When papa died he gathered in all our harvests and has made it possible for us to live." A little further on he met another man, who said: "Jim, there is not a man, woman or child in this whole region who has not been brought nearer to God on account of the noble life of your father." When the young man turned his steps toward the old home he said to himself: "Well, my father did not have much money, but he was rich. He lived rich in God's grace, and he died triumphant in God's love, and I guess I have inherited as much good as any boy could receive from any parent."

Sweet Memories of Home.

Tell me, friend, was not the religious training of your boyhood the sweetest memory you have of the old homestead? When your parents were bringing you up you thought those statutes of God were awfully strict. It did seem at times as though Sunday would never get through. When you got up early in the morning there were the new baseball and the fine bat. "No, no," said mother; "you cannot use them today. Better put them away in the closet, and then you will be out of temptation." And then when the other boys were ready to go off fishing you had to come back for family prayers. Then those long tramps with the delicate food for the sick neighbors—it did seem that mother was always sending food to some one. And then those Bible stories you had to learn when "Robinson Crusoe" and that new book of Jules Verne were lying so near—my, how you did grumble and snarl and fume and worry! And then it seemed as though your father kept a regular hotel for all the ministers who came to your town. Then your father would never let you play cards or go to the country dances. The other boys went, but not you. Oh, how strict those old folks were! Why, your mother would not even let your sister wear a low necked dress, because she said it was immodest. But, tell me, do you not today glory in those strict ways of your old home? Those old folks were so strict that they would never do anything they thought the statutes of the Lord forbade them to do. But did not those strict laws of God bring a peace to your old homestead which not any of the so called liberal ideas of the present time have ever produced? Yes, I think we have a right, like David, to sing, "Thy statutes have been my songs in the happy days of my childhood."

Singing to Keep Step.

But the statutes of the Lord were more than a sacred memory of the scenes of David's boyhood. They were the songs by which the young man and the middle aged man kept step in the journey of life. Just the same as the German soldiers when on a line of march invariably start up one of their national airs and sing as they tramp along and all in unison keep step to the music, so this marvelous man of my text kept step to the laws of God during his journey of life and sang as he walked along. I am very much impressed with this figure by an experience I had some years ago in the German capital.

At that time I was a young boy and physically very much fatigued from sightseeing. I had crawled into bed through tired out and almost instantly he fell into one of those deep sleeps which come to healthy boys and girls after a long day's tramp. Suddenly I awoke in the early hours of the morning. Like Paul in his vision, I knew not at first whether I was in the flesh or out of the flesh. From everywhere and yet from nowhere there seemed to roll into my room great tidal waves of harmony. The volume was so great and yet the time so perfect that the voices sounded like the chimes of many waters. Louder and louder swelled the song. I leaped out of bed to see what was the matter. Then I heard the tramp, tramp, tramp of a long line of soldiers marching. As these soldiers marched they sang with their deep, powerful Teutonic voices. As they sang they kept step to the music. So in David's journey of life the laws of God were the songs by which he kept step after he had left the old homestead.

David the Ancient.

In the first place, there was that overwhelming bugle call by which David was set aside when yet a mere lad as the future king of Israel. Oh, could David ever cease to praise the law of God for that tremendous day in his history when Samuel came into the home of his father Jesse and poured the anointing oil upon his head? For days and weeks and months do you not believe he pondered over his coming glory? When he was an aged king, with his hair white as the almond tree in blossom, do you not believe he still gloried in the fact that God had set him aside as one to fill a throne? And yet has there not anointing come to us? Has not each one of us been set apart to do some special work which cannot be done by any one else? We have not been called to fill a throne, but we have been called, as David was, to serve our generation and to testify to others that it is good to obey the statutes of God.

Then, like David, we should glory in the fact that God has not only called us for an especial work of life, but also because God has cared for us and guided us and protected us while we are doing that work. That would be a careless father who would tell a son to go and do something and then not care for the welfare of the child while he was carrying out the parental orders. So God's divine protection during all of David's life and during all of our lives has been hovering over us and helping us upon our feet when we have fallen and bringing us back to the straight path of virtue when we have wandered away and been caught in the entangled thickets of sin. Do you wonder that David gloried in the old divine commandment which said, "This book of the law shall not depart out of your mouth, but thou shalt meditate therein day and night that thou mayest observe to do according to all that is written therein, for thou shalt make thy way prosperous and then thou shalt have good success?"

It Does Not Pay.

And today I would especially impress upon the young the fact that God still protects and cares for those who obey his laws. Sometimes the young are so nearsighted that they cannot understand this. Life in its earlier days seems to be such a struggle for most young people that at times they do not think it pays to be good. Thus some of them play the fool, as did David down in King Achish's court. But, my young friend, I have a wide and varied experience, and I want to tell you that it never pays to break one of God's laws. And I also want you to know that some of the trials and troubles of life of which you are now complaining are yet to be the keystones which are to sound forth your most glorious and happy songs of praise.

But there is one word in reference to my text to which I want to draw your attention. It is the last word: "Thy statutes have been my song in the house of my pilgrimage." Now, what is the pilgrimage? "Oh," you answer, "a pilgrimage is a journey: it is a long tramp; it is a long, wearisome, tiresome trip." Is that your definition of a pilgrimage? Then, my friend, it is a wrong definition, for you have only told me half the truth. "This true, a pilgrimage is a journey. But it is distinctively a journey to a shrine. Now, what was the sacred place toward which the pilgrimage of David was heading? Why, there is only one rational answer: It is the sacred place of heaven. It was toward the sacred place where Christ and all David's dear ones were to greet him. It was not a pilgrimage which began at the cradle and ended at the grave, but it was a pilgrimage which began at the cradle and ended at the great white throne of God. Oh, was it not a glorious destiny toward which the ancient psalmist was heading? It was to enter the presence of the God whose statutes had become songs to him. That is the man who will enjoy heaven. Not the man to whom the laws of God are burdensome and painful, but he whose delight it is to obey and serve God. To him, even in this world, there come echoes of the songs of heaven. His ears acquire a miraculous power. Why, as he listens he can hear all the redeemed of heaven singing their songs of triumph. Yes, the statutes of the law have been his song so long that he can catch the songs of the heavenly lands. Christian, as you are now, can you not catch a faint whisper of your dear ones singing in the other world?

Through the harsh voices of our day
A low, sweet prelude finds its way;
Through clouds of doubt and creeds of fear
A light is breaking calm and clear.
That song of love now low and far
Ere long shall swell from star to star;
That light the breaking day, which tips
The golden spired Apocalypse.

"BONNIE BOY" IS A BEAUTY.

As announced yesterday the deal for "Bonnie Boy," the pony which to be given away in the children's popularity contest, was closed Saturday by telegraph, the pony being purchased from the Kiverside Pony farm, of Kalamazoo, Michigan. Below we give a detailed description of the pony.

Yesterday we mailed shipping instructions and ordered the pony to be forwarded at once, and he should arrive here by the latter part of this week or the first of next. He will come crated like a big dog and will be shipped by express instead of freight.

The following description of the pony is given in a letter which was received Saturday morning from the Riverside Pony farm, and on the strength of these statements we wired for the pony at once. Read this carefully and see what a perfect specimen "Bonnie Boy" is:

Kalamazoo, Mich., Sept. 12.
The Kentucky New Era,
Hopkinsville, Ky.

Gentlemen:
We beg to acknowledge receipt of your esteemed favor of September 10th.

We have noted the kind of pony that you desire, and we have one at this time which we know will meet your requirements in every way. It is a beautiful bay gelding, "Bonnie Boy." This pony is a very pretty brown, almost black in color, is about 42 or 43 inches in height, two years old and is a very nicely finished pony; very active in and out of harness. He is a perfect individual, carrying a little head with small round and a beautiful mane and foretop on a rather short neck, arched and well set. His eyes are full, round, very bright and intelligent looking. He carries sloping little shoulders, rounding back to a well-coupled middle, giving him a short, strong back and muscular quarters, under which are tucked good straight legs. He is upheaded and stylish and goes with the style and action so highly desirable in a good road horse and driver.

Now in regard to his habits and whether or not he is a safe pony for the purpose you wish him. "Bonnie Boy" has always been a clever pony and quick to learn. He is very thoroughly broken, absolutely afraid of nothing, he passes street cars, trains and automobiles with ease, and is a tireless driver, capable and willing to go all day. In fact, he is one of the best workers we have had. Besides this, he is an excellent saddle pony and has been ridden a great deal.

He has been used by the children on our farm and they have made a perfect pet of him. Taking everything into consideration, he is a good pony for any purpose and we don't know where you could get one that would suit you anywhere near as well. He is one that we can recommend in every particular.

This pony represents the highest degree of docility, and is absolutely without the taint of a vicious trait. There is no more kick in him than in a kitten, no more run-away than in a donkey.

This pony is one of the finest ones on our farm, but we know he will more than please you in every way and for that reason we have described him to you.

MARVELOUS CURES MADE BY THE REMEDIES.

A LADY'S STATEMENT.

Suffered for Forty Years From Stomach and Female Troubles.

DOZENS OF TESTIMONIALS

To say that this city is in the midst of an excitement beyond any thing it has known in years, is expressing it lightly, was the remark made by a traveling man in the presence of a reporter in the lobby of one of the principal hotels.

The cause of this most unusual commotion is the result of the almost miraculous cures wrought by the use of the Haas' celebrated Shaker Remedies that are now being introduced in this locality. People in this place had heard of the wonderful cures made elsewhere, but until they were actually introduced here, little attention was paid them; however, after little over a week's introduction here, people have become beside themselves with excitement. Just when all this fervor will cease it's a matter of conjecture. However it must be said in justice to the remedies they seem to be accomplishing a great deal of good.

Mrs. Hattie Stevens, said, upon being interviewed that for a number of years I have been suffering with vertigo, swimming in the head in the morning, stomach and female troubles, the last of which was caused by the birth of my child over four years ago. My health in the past had been most miserable indeed; not sick enough to go to bed; not well enough to be up; have tried many different remedies, none of which ever cured me. When the Shaker Remedies came here and I heard L. A. Johnson was agent I decided to give them a trial and now with little over a week's use I can truthfully say that they are the only preparations that ever gave me any relief. I cheerfully recommend the use of Shaker Remedies to all my suffering sisters.

Yours Respectfully,
Mrs. Hattie Stevens.

FROM CHURCHYARD

Three horses and buggies were stolen from a church yard just across the line in Todd county Sunday night. Two of the vehicles and the horses were found within a short distance of the church, but the third, which belonged to John Keeling, was not found until Monday when a negro was arrested in Princeton charged with stealing it. The negro's name is Will Roland and he will be brought back here today to answer the charge against him.
