DEFEAT IS NOT CONCEDED

They Throw Up The Sponge.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 7.—Augustus E. Willson has been elected governor of Kentucky by a majority that may be as high as 15,000 according to the returns received by the Courier-Journal, with only a few counties to be heard from, but with some precincts still missing.

William H. Cox, of Maysville, is elected lieutenant governor by about the same majority given Mr. Willson, but the Democratic candidates for the minor state offices do not yet concede their defeat and claim that the official returns will cut down the majority greatly. The returns from several of the larger counties show that the state ticket ran ahead of Judge S. Hager considerably.

At Republican headquarters last night it was announced that complete returns had been received from every county in the state and these returns showed that Mr. Willson had a majority of 17,935. The Republicans also claim that this majority will be increased when the official count is made and the returns are in from all the precincts in the mountain counties in the Eleventh district.

It is also claimed at the Republican headquarters that L. P. Tarlton, of Frankfort, the Republican nominee for railroad commissioner in the second district, has won by from 1,200 to 1,500, but these figures appear to be very much too large. They also claim that the Republicans in Judge Lassing's district do not concede his election, declaring that the official count will be necessary to determine the result.

The figures in such of the counties as have been heard from in all the races show that the majorities for the minor officials on the Republican ticket are not nearly so large as the race for governor. In Jefferson county Hager lost by over 8,000 while the remainder of the ticket was defeated by over 5,000, a gain for the ticket over its head of 2,000. In Campbell and Kenton counties there was a difference of about 1,000. The same applied to Bell county and many of the counties which have been heard from. Messrs. Hendrick, Bosworth, Vreeland, Laffoon and Newman claim that the returns on the official count will show that they ran, by

NOT GOV. J. C. W. BECKHAM BUT SOME OTHER DEMOCRAT TO BE UNITED STATES SENATOR

That's the Prediction of the Courier-Journal Which Says There is Not The Remotest Chance of His Election.

The Courier-Journal says: With the Republicans claiming a tie vote on joint ballot and the Democrats claiming a majority of twelve, the general assembly of Kentucky seems to be Democratic by a bare margin. The Courier-Journal's returns show forty-nine Republicans in the house and thirteen in the senate, with one district in that body doubtful. According to these returns, the Republicans will have sixty-three and perhaps sixty-four votes on joint ballot, while the Democrats will have seventy-five or seventy-six.

Although the Republicans will not have a majority on joint ballot, and will not be able to elect a United States senator, it is now certain that J. C. W. Beckham will not be elected senator. There will be enough Democrats opposed to him, and it is now the general talk among politicians in Louisville and at the Democratic state headquarters that another Democrat will be elected.

Many Democrats who have been elected members of the general assembly declare that the defeat of the state ticket nominated by primary which was held last fall releases them, and that Gov. Beckham is not the nominee of the party for senator. They also maintain that the party rules were violated when the primary was called more than a year before the time for the election, and that there will have to be a comparison with their opponents, several thousand better than Hager, and they want to see the official vote before they give up.

WILL NOT RESIGN

UNTIL WILLSON TAKES THE OATH OF OFFICE

So That Republican Governor Will Have Appointment of Judge
Breathitt's Successor.

There has been quite a difference of opinion as to how Judge Breathitt's office as county judge will be filled when he goes to Frankfort as attorney general, and how long his successor will hold the office. When interviewed on this point Judge Breathitt stated that as soon as Willson took the oath of office as governor on December 10th that he would immediately resign as county judge of Christian county. The new governor would then appoint his successor, and by reference to the statutes it was found that his successor would hold the office for the balance of the term for which Judge Breathitt was elected, or until after the election in November 1909. If the election of next year were to be either a state, district or county election, Judge Breathitt's successor would hold the office only until that time, but county officers cannot be elected at a national election.

TAYLOR TO RETURN

FRIENDS SAY HE WILL COME TO KENTUCKY.

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 7.—Friends of W. S. Taylor, exiled ex-Governor of Kentucky, and Chas. Finley, ex-secretary of that state, who are in a position to know, asserted today that that Taylor and Finley will return to Kentucky. Taylor and Finley did not retire until 2 a. m., election night, when they were assured by returns from Kentucky that the state had gone Democratic.

Taylor said he was vitally interested in the result in Kentucky—as he was, perhaps, as Caleb Powers, who is directly charged with complicity in the Goebel killing.

Charles Finley, who with Taylor, has been an exile from that state for nearly seven years, was with the former governor part of the evening, and took a keen interest in the despatches from Louisville.

Rhode Island has re-elected Governor James H. Higgins, Democratic candidate for governor, his plurality reaching 2,307, a gain of 1,000 since 1904. The general assembly is Republican in both branches, insuring the return of George Peabody Wetmore to the United States senate.

Night riders are still after H. C. Wallis, of Rinaldo, Lyon county. A third raid was made into the neighborhood, and people were given orders not to buy merchandise of Mr. Wallis. The first move against him was when a threatening letter was written to him from Wallonia. Later three hogheads of his tobacco were rolled into the river and his barn containing 7,000 pounds of tobacco, was burned. Mr. Wallis estimates his losses up to the present time at $2,000.

Text of the Lesson, Josh. xxiv, 14-23.
Memory Verses, 22-24—Golden Text,
Josh. xxiv, 15—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

[Copyright, 1907, by American Press Association.]
The Lord had given rest unto Israel from all their enemies (xxiii, 1); the tabernacle had been set up at Shiloh and was still there when Samuel was brought as a little lad to minister to the Lord in the days of Eli (xxviii, 1; xix, 51; I Sam. i, 3, 24); Joshua was old and felt that his sojourn on earth would soon be over, so he called to gather the elders and officers of Israel and rehearsed to them all that the Lord their God had done for them and how He had fought for them as He had promised, bringing the record down from the days of Abraham to the time when he was speaking. He reminded them that it was "the Lord their God" who had done it all, using that particular phrase about fourteen times in chapter xxiii, and in chapter xxiv, 1-13, the Lord Himself, through Joshua, spoke of more than twenty things he had done for them. Joshua testified to the faithfulness of God in these words: "Not one thing hath failed of all the good things which the Lord your God spake concerning you. All are come to pass unto you, and not one thing hath failed thereof" (xxiii, 14). Solomon at the dedication of the temple used almost identical words (I Kings viii, 56), and it is our privilege to this day and always to live in the faithfulness of God, remembering such assurances as I Cor. 1-9; x, 13; II Thess. iii, 3. Now, in our lesson we have the burden of Joshua's heart for this people whom he was about to leave, "Fear the Lord and serve Him in sincerity and truth" (verse 14), and three times the people reply that they will serve the Lord (verses 18, 21, 24), emphasizing it in verse 24 in these words: "The Lord our God will we serve, and His voice will we obey." Joshua's declared determination, "As for me and my house, we will serve the Lord" (verse 15), and his very strong plea had a grand result, for we read that "Israel served the Lord all the days of Joshua and all the days of the elders that overtook Joshua, which had known all the works of the Lord that He had done for Israel" (verse 31). The people considered the Lord's mercies to them, saying, "The Lord our God brought us up out of the land of Egypt and did those great signs, and preserved us in all the way and drove out from before us all the people; therefore will we also serve the Lord, for He is our God" (verses 17, 18).

Joshua warned them that the Lord is holy and jealous (verse 19), that He will not tolerate other gods, but the people insisted that they would serve Him. Note the other six places where he is called jealous—in Ex. xx, 5; xxxiv, 14; Deut. iv, 24; v, 9; vi, 15; Nah. i, 2—indicating that He will zealously care for and defend His own, but He covets His own all for Himself that He may do His utmost for them. In verse 22 we learn that to serve the Lord means a very decided stand against ourselves, a denial and renunciation of self (Matt. xvi, 24; Phil. iii, 3), knowing that in us—that is, in our flesh—there dwelleth no good thing (Rom. vii, 18). As was the custom, a stone was set up for a witness, as if it had heard all the words (verses 26, 27). See also xxiii, 28, 27; Gen. xxviii, 18, 22; xxxi, 45-49. May it not suggest to us that "the stone of Israel" (Gen. xlix, 24), "the tried stone, the sure foundation, the precious cornerstone" (Isa. xxviii, 16) is a witness always to every word and act and thought of ours? May we lay it to heart that our God is a jealous God and that we cannot serve God and Mammon (Luke xvi, 13).

Israel was redeemed from the bondage of Egypt that they might serve the Lord who redeemed them (Ex. iv, 23; x, 20), and to do this they needed all that they possessed. Not a hoof was to be left behind. Samuel's great plea was, "Only fear the Lord and serve Him in truth with all your heart, for consider how great things He hath done for you" (I Sam. xii, 24). One of our Lord's replies to the devil was, "Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and Him only shalt thou serve" (Matt. iv, 10). The height of future bliss for many is described in the words, "The throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it, and His servants shall serve Him, and they shall see His face, and His name shall be in their foreheads" (Rev. xxii, 3, 4). Paul, who testified of his relation to the Lord Jesus in these words, "Whom I am and whom I serve," and who delighted to call himself a bond slave of Jesus Christ, wrote to the Thessalonians, "Ye turned to God from idols to serve the living God and to wait for His Son from heaven" (Acts xxvii, 23; I Thess. i, 9, 10). Of himself he said elsewhere, "Serving the Lord with all humility of mind and with many tears and temptations which befell me by the lying in wait of the Jews" (Acts xx, 19). If the queen of Sheba was constrained to say of Solomon's servants, "Happy are these thy servants which stand continually before thee and hear thy wisdom" (II Chron. ix, 7), how much more happy and how much higher the privileges of the servants of the living God. Those who hear the name of Jesus Christ and yet turn to the vanities of this present evil world have not heard and observed Him.

BECOMING A MOTHER

Is an ordeal which all women approach with indescribable fear, for nothing compares with the pain and horror of child-birth. The thought of the suffering and danger in store for her, robs the expectant mother of all pleasant anticipations of the coming event, and casts over her a shadow of gloom which cannot be shaken off. Thousands of women have found that the use of Mother's Friend during pregnancy robs confinement of all pain and danger, and insures safety to life of mother and child. This scientific liniment is a god-send to all women at the time of their most critical trial. Not only does Mother's Friend carry women safely through the perils of child-birth, but its use gently prepares the system for the coming event, prevents "morning sickness," and other discomforts of this period.

NIGHT RIDERS BURN DOWN TWO TENEMENT HOUSES IN TRIGG

FORCED FARMER HENDRIX TO GO WITH THEM.

FIRED OFF HUNDRED SHOTS

One of The Houses Was Occupied
And The Family Had to Hurry
Out.

Night riders are still busy in Trigg county. One night last week quite a number of the marauders went to the home of a Mr. Hendrix, at Tugleville, and calling him to the door forced him to go with them and point out two cabins which belonged to him and when this was done both buildings were set on fire and burned. Only one man called for Mr. Hendrix, but when he came to the door, having only slipped on his trousers over his night clothes, he was covered by several guns and ordered to come with the band. Mr. Hendrix begged that he be allowed to get his shoes and at first this was refused but finally he was allowed to put them on and he then went with the riders.

One of the cabins was unoccupied and this was soon a mass of flames. The other was occupied by tenant and the family were made to get up and move everything out of the house when the torch was applied to it also and it was reduced to ashes.

The riders then fired probably a hundred shots and rode away. The cabins were located within sight of the main Cadiz and Roaring Spring road. They were both unusually good houses, being extra large, roomy, and well built, especially the one which was occupied.

The motive of the night riders in destroying the property could not be learned.

What a splendid type of tireless activity is the sun as the psalmist describes it issuing like "a bridegroom from his chamber and rejoicing like a strong man to run a race." Every man ought to rise in the morning refreshed by slumber and renewed by rest, eager for the struggle of the day. But how rarely this is so. Most people rise still unrefreshed, and dreading the strain of the day's labors. The cause of this is deficient vitality and behind this lies a deficient supply of pure, rich blood, and an inadequate nourishment of the body. There is nothing that will give a man strength and energy, as will Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It does this by increasing the quantity and quality of the blood supply. This nourishes the nerves, feeds the brain, builds up enfeebled organs, and gives that sense of strength and power which makes the struggle of life a joy. The "good feeling" which follows the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" is not due to stimulation as it contains no alcohol. The ingredients are plainly stated on the bottle wrapper. It does not "brace up" the body, but builds it up into a condition of sound and vigorous health.

EX-MAYOR POWELL

Prominent Henderson Citizen Died at His Home.

HENDERSON, Ky., Nov. 4.—Former Mayor J. Henry Powell died suddenly at his home in this city Saturday night of heart disease. He had been in ill health for some time.

Mr. Powell served as mayor of the city four years, was four years county attorney and eighteen years commonwealth attorney and was one of the best known Democrats in this section. He was the son of the late Governor Powell.

Mr. Powell was 68 years old and survived by four sons and two daughters. He retired from the practice of law about two years ago.

A Hard Debt to Pay.

"I owe a debt of gratitude that can never be paid off," writes G. S. Clark, of Westfield, Iowa, for my rescue from death by Dr. King's New Discovery. Both lungs were so seriously affected that death seemed imminent when I commenced taking New Discovery. The ominous, dry, hacking cough quit before the first bottle was used, and two more bottles made a complete cure. Nothing has ever equalled New Discovery for coughs, colds and all throat and lung complaints. Guaranteed by Cook & Higgins and Cook's Pharmacy. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

DR. COOK IS DEAD

ONE OF HOPKINSVILLE'S MOST PROMINENT CITIZENS.

Native of Virginia But Had Resided in Christian County Over Half a Century.

Another of Hopkinsville's aged and prominent citizens passed away Saturday afternoon, when Dr. Edwin R. Cook answered the summons of death at his home on East Seventh street. He had been able, in spite of his advanced age and many months of invalidism, to be on the streets greeting his many friends within the last week, and the news of his death comes to them as a shock. Dr. Cook was one of the best known men in this region, and up to his retirement from the active pursuits of life, had been engaged in many business enterprises. He was public spirited and deeply interested in the advancement and welfare of the community. Since the death, about two years ago, of his beloved wife, his health began perceptibly to fail. Dr. Cook was a native of Virginia and was born in Bedford county April 11, 1824. He was a member of a foremost family of that state. He removed to Christian county in 1850, and since that time has made his home either in or near Hopkinsville. He was a physician by profession and was graduated in 1847 from the Pennsylvania medical university in Philadelphia. He successfully practiced medicine here for many years, but gave up the practice some time after the war to devote his attention to his extensive farming and business interests. He was for many years a member of the board of commissioners of the Western Asylum for the Insane. Four sons survive him. They are Walter C. and James O. Cook, of this city; Frank P. Cook, of California, and Robt. L. Cook, of Texas. Simple funeral services were held this morning at the late residence conducted by Rev. G. C. Abbitt, rector of Grace Episcopal church, and Rev. Millard A. Jenkins, pastor of the Baptist church, and the remains were interred in Riverside cemetery. The following gentlemen were the pall bearers: John H. Bell, Leslie P. Pool, Henry Wallace, T. M. Dalton, Green Champlin, J. B. Allensworth, E. H. Barker and G. B. Underwood.

Appendicitis.

Is due in a large measure to abuse of the bowels, by employing drastic purgatives. To avoid all danger use only Dr. King's New Life Pills, the safe, gentle cleansers and invigorators. Guaranteed to cure headache, biliousness, malaria and jaundice. At Cook & Higgins and Cook's Pharmacy.

WARD-BROWN.

Miss Ethel Ward, of Nashville, and Mr. Kenneth Brown, of this city, were married Saturday morning at 11:20 o'clock at Dixon, Ky. The ceremony was pronounced by Rev. Edward Sisk at the home of Mrs. J. A. Goodson, formerly Miss Lalla Rascoe, of Roaring Springs.

The wedding came as a surprise to Mr. Brown's many friends here. The bride was visiting in Dixon when it was decided to have the ceremony performed at this time. She telephoned to her parents who gave their consent and the arrangements were made accordingly. The young people had been engaged for some time and the marriage was to have taken place in January. Mr. and Mrs. Brown came here on the 6:25 Illinois central train Saturday afternoon and have taken board with Mr. and Mrs. Hunter Wood, Sr., on East Seventh street.

The groom is a brother of Dr. Manning Brown and is a young man of sterling worth and possessing business ability to a marked degree.

The bride is a charming and talented young lady.

PEMBROKE POINTS.

The following items of local interest are taken from the Pembroke Journal:

Rev. Millard A. Jenkins, the well known Baptist minister of Hopkinsville, will deliver a lecture in this city on Friday evening November 8 under the auspices of the Library committee. The lecture will be delivered at the Cumberland Presbyterian church. Dr. Jenkins has a wide reputation as a lecturer and is a most interesting speaker. He will doubtless be heard by a large audience.

Lewis S. Chilton, of the United States navy, arrived in the city from Norfolk Monday night. He will spend a short time with relatives and friends here before starting on a cruise to be gone three years.

Mrs. O. E. Layne, who accompanied her brother, C. B. Fulcher, to Colorado several weeks ago, has returned home. Mr. Fulcher is at Ordway and is getting along so well that he will probably remain there. His wife will join him in the near future.

The meeting at the Baptist church continues, with good attendance and much interest. Dr. Wilson is preaching excellent sermons both morning and evenings. To date there have been nine additional eight professions of faith and one by letter. The bad weather of the past few days has interfered somewhat with the attendance.

A series of meetings will be held in the Christian church in this city commencing Sunday, November 10. The meetings will be conducted by Elder J. T. Hawkins, of Elkton.

REGULAR MEETING

Of Planters' Association Committee at the Courthouse.

(From Monday's Daily.)

The county executive committee of the Planters Protective association met in regular monthly session this morning in the circuit court room. They did not complete their business before noon and this afternoon they are continuing their session in the county courtroom, the circuit court room being occupied with political speaking. There is a good attendance of the members of the committee and much business is being transacted. The time for holding the regular monthly meetings of the committee has been changed from the third to the first Monday in each month.

Mr. A. C. Morgan, the government expert who has been in this region for several weeks experimenting with the tobacco worm and trying to find a way to exterminate the pest, addressed the committee and told what he had done. He urged that a request be made of Congressman Stanley used his influence to secure another appropriation with which to continue the work.

Thomas A. Edison, the great American inventor, says "Fully eighty percent of the illness of mankind comes from eating improper food or too much food; people are inclined to over-indulge themselves." This is where indigestion finds its beginning in nearly every case. The stomach can do just so much work and no more, and when you overload it or when you eat the the wrong kind of food the digestive organs cannot possibly do the work demanded of them. It is at such times that the stomach needs help; it demands help, and warns you by headaches, belching, sour stomach, nausea and indigestion. You should attend to this at once by taking something that will actually do the work for the stomach. Kodol will do this. It is a combination of natural digestants and vegetable acids and contain the same juices found in a healthy stomach. It is pleasant to take. It directs what you eat. Sold by R. C. Hardwick.

BUSINESS OF CIRCUIT COURT IS CONCLUDED

AN APPEAL IS TAKEN IN THE MERCER SUIT.

NATIONAL BANK TAX CASE

Mrs. King Granted Divorce and Given
Custody of Her Children.—Recording of Decrees.

(From Saturday's Daily)
Circuit court did not adjourn yesterday afternoon as was expected, the business of the day occupying more time than was anticipated. It only required a short time this morning, though, to wind up the loose ends and the session was finally adjourned about ten o'clock.

The motion made by S. C. Mercer for a new trial in the suit for damages which he brought against his son, Prentice Mercer, in which a fine of $100 was returned against the defendant, was argued yesterday afternoon and Judge Cook overruled the motion. An appeal was granted.

The case of the First National bank against the city of Hopkinsville to recover $750 in taxes paid last year because the bank was not allowed any deduction in the assessment for the $50,000 government bonds held by the bank, was decided in favor of the city. The plaintiff alleged excessive assessment, but the court held that there was no equity in the claim of the bank, that its capital stock was worth $80,000 at least, and it had not been assessed for more than $80,000. The court held further that the bank should have made its complaint before the bank board of equalization within the time allowed by law. The case will be appealed. Other similar suits are pending over the state.

Mrs. Mary E. King was granted a divorce from her husband, J. B. King, on her petition charging cruelty. Mrs. King was also given the custody of the three infant children, Carter, Minnie and Claycomb King. Claud King, being eighteen years of age, was left to choose which of his parents he would rather be with.

An order was spread on the records authorizing the clerk of the court to record divorce decrees when ever the court costs had been paid. Heretofore it has been required that the attorney's fee should be paid also before the decree was allowed to go to record.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY FARMERS PLACED UNDER ARREST

Taken to Clarksville When They Furnish Bond.—Said to be "Prominent Citizens."

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 2.—George Saunders, Dr. Tom Haskins and James W. Cross, three prominent citizens of the Fredonia vicinity in the Fifteenth district, were arrested and brought into the city upon the charge of scraping plant beds and pulling up tobacco.

The news of their coming had preceded them and they found many of the prominent farmers of various sections of the county already waiting to sign their bonds. Mr. Saunders' bond was made for $1,000 and the other two for $250 each.

The office of the clerk was filled with parties desiring to sign the bonds.

These men were indicted under the recent law to punish "night riders" and are three of the most reputable citizens of their section. The cases will probably be tried at the November term of the criminal court.

Rain turning to Sleet and Snow "Up North" This Week.—Some Other Guesses.

Rev. Irl R. Hicks predicts several stormy periods during the month of November. A reactionary storm period is central on the 5th, 6th and 7th. Rain will turn to sleet and snow in the north. A regular storm period is central on the 12th, extending from the 10th to the 15th. Change to warmer with autumnal storms. A reactionary storm period falls on the 18th, 19th and 20th. This period will bring falling barometer, with rise of temperature, followed by rain and possibly snow. Change to much colder about the 10th to 22nd. The next regular storm period extends from the 22nd to the 28th. Look for higher temperature and rain, turning to snow in north and west. High barometer and change to colder, frost and freezing will follow the disturbances of this period.

November will go out with rain, and possibly lightning and thunder south and rapid change to colder leading down from the northwest with the incoming of December. Much fair and open weather will alternate with storm periods. The rainfall will be light.

THROUGH A WINDOW

OF PASSENGER COACH A STONE WAS HURLED.

J. W. Williams, of Princeton, and P. C. Dix, Y. M. C. A. Representative, Were Both Injured.

As the 6:25 Illinois Central passenger train was coming along between Gracey and Green's crossing last night, some miscreant threw a good sized rock through one of the windows. Mr. J. H. Williams, of Princeton, was sitting on the seat by the window but fortunately on the end next to the aisle. Quite a good sized hole was broken in the window and the glass was shattered into bits which flew over several of the passengers and Mr. Williams received two or three slight cuts on his right cheek.

Seated one seat behind Mr. Williams and on the opposite side of the car was Mr. P. C. Dix, a traveling representative of the Young Men's Christian association. The rock whizzed uncomfortably close to Mr. Williams head and struck Mr. Dix in the right side. The blow was sufficient to cause him considerable suffering for a few minutes.

The rock was evidently thrown before the train got abreast of the man who hurled it. It was an unevenly shaped stone and was fully as large as a turkey egg.

ADDRESSES OF WIDE INTEREST WILL BE MADE

Episcopalians will be much interested to learn that plans are now being perfected for a great missionary made meeting to be held in Louisville, under the auspices of the Laymen's League Sunday afternoon, on November 24, at Macaulay's theater. Bishop Charles E. Woodcock, while in attendance at the general convention of the Episcopal church, held in October in Richmond, Va. secured as speakers for this occasion the Rt. Rev. Joseph M. Francis, D. D., bishop of Indianapolis, and the Rt. Rev. Lucian Lee Kinsolving, D. D., bishop of Brazil.

Both of these bishops are well qualified to speak on the subject of missions, both foreign and domestic. Bishop Francis was at one time a missionary priest in Japan, and Bishop Kinsolving has for a number of years resided in Rio de Janeiro. Bishop Woodcock will preside at the meeting and introduce the speakers, and the music will be rendered by the combined choirs of the city Episcopal churches, under the direction of Ernest Simon, choirmaster of Christ Church Cathedral.

S.S.S. CURES BLOOD POISON A SAFE HOME TREATMENT

In S. S. S. nature has provided a certain, safe, home cure for Contagious Blood Poison. It is a medicine made entirely of roots and herbs of recognized blood-purifying value, and is the one medicine which is able to get down to the root of the trouble and remove every particle of the virus, and at the same time benefit and build up the system and general health. No harmful effects ever follow its use, as is so often the case when strong mineral medicines are used. As soon as the system gets under the influence of S. S. S. the disease begins to improve, and when the remedy has thoroughly purified the blood and driven out every trace of the poison, no signs of the trouble are ever seen again. The general manifestations of Contagious Blood Poison such as falling hair, copper-colored spots, ulcerated mouth and throat, sores and ulcers, etc., are merely symptoms of the poisoned condition of the blood, and in most cases respond quickly to local treatment, while S. S. S. is doing the necessary work of cleansing the blood. Our "Home Treatment" book is of great assistance along this line. It is a complete guide for treating the trouble, containing instructions for the different stages of the disease, and also valuable suggestions about the local treatment, that will be most helpful in effecting a cure. We will be glad to send a copy of this book, free of charge, to any who desire it, and if special medical advice is wanted our physicians will take pleasure in supplying it without cost to the patient. If you are suffering with Contagious Blood Poison you can cure yourself in the privacy of your own home by the use of S. S. S., an absolutely safe remedy.

Do You Want to Make The Women Happy?

Shopping by Mail is vastly unsatisfactory to the Female.

There isn't a woman in Christendom—or in Islam—who doesn't prefer ten times over the trip through a store to the trip to the postoffice.

Why, Lord bless their hearts, the ladies love to shop! It's just as unsatisfying and artificial to shop by mail as to make love by mail—and that's the limit.

But, while the women love to walk through aisles of bargains, they love also to read about the bargains. When a newspaper comes to the house, which page does the woman peruse first? The page with the biggest shopping ads. Sure thing! Won't fail one time in ten. Test it and see.

In communities where the merchants don't advertise big enough to tempt the women, what happens? The Mail Order Catalogue comes along, full of attractive ads, with prices put down in black and white. The women read the catalogue; they are tempted by the bargains offered; they send their money by mail.

Thus they miss nine-tenths of the glory and joy of shopping. But what else can the poor ladies do?

Now, Mr. Merchant of Our Town, be good to the ladies. Give them some interesting, reading matter. Print some of your bargains in your home paper. Put the prices there in black and white.

Isn't it really a pity to deprive the ladies of one of their supreme delights—shopping, seeing things, inspecting before taking?

BE GOOD TO THE LADIES AND YOU'LL BE PROSPEROUS.

Talmage Sermon

By Rev.
Frank De Witt Talmage, D. D.

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 3.—In this sermon the preacher shows how man may rise to the highest spiritual dignity and universal honor by living in harmony with the divine will and by showing love and kindness toward his fellow men. The text is I Peter II, 17, "Honor all men."

There are three great sources of knowledge. Though the intellectual reservoirs may be wide and deep, yet for the most part they are fed from the waters of three streams, which, like pure, sparkling fountains bubbling out of the mountains of perpetual youth, never seem to lose their strength or to exhaust their source. The first stream of education is that which we receive from the old homestead. Though we may live on our three-score years and ten and our hair become white as snow, yet what our mothers and fathers taught us continually recurs to the mind with new significance.

The second stream of knowledge comes from books. By that I do not mean simply what we learned when we were at school. The teachers of our youth imparted comparatively little knowledge to us. Their chief work was to teach us how to study. They lowered the bars so that we could enter the fields of truth and browse in them, as cattle step over the lowered bars to get their fill of the rich sweet clover. And I believe that most college men will agree with me when I say that their chief education from books came to them after they left their alma mater. The third great source of information comes to us not from the home or from books, but from the haunts of nature and in the busy markets of the world, studying the endless procession of multitudes of men. Oh, how many men there are and how many the different lessons which they teach!

When some one once asked Henry Ward Beecher how he knew so much about the human heart he replied: "By studying men. I am indebted much to books, for I have always been a great reader. But I am most indebted to the speaking lips of men. I never ride upon a street car but I try to talk with the driver. I rarely talk to a driver but he tells me something I do not know. I never cross the Brooklyn ferry but I try to mingle with the other passengers and have them tell me about themselves. Books have a part in the great intellectual uplifting of mankind, but no true public teacher can do his full duty unless, for a time at least, he takes off his priestly robes and mingles with men."

Peter Was No Bookworm.

One of the reasons why the author of my text takes such a deep hold upon all our human sympathies is because he gathers most of his information from living men. You cannot imagine Peter as a bookworm. You cannot think of him as a gowned and capped graduate of some classical university. You cannot think of him as a hermit or a cloistered recluse. Peter was essentially a man of affairs, a man among men. When he came to a town or village I do not believe he sought the retirement of his room, where he could read and rest, but with that intense energy of his he used to go to the place where the people were gathered. There he would talk and draw them out. After awhile he would get them telling him the innermost secrets of their hearts. Then when he was thrown among the wealthier classes, as he surely must have been at times, he dropped the fathom line into the depths of their hearts as well. And if I were to send a warning to my brother ministers I would make this blunt statement: If the Christian pulpit is making any mistake today, it is that some of the ministers are becoming so dignified that they are not willing to take off their black clothes and don tweed suits and wander about in their vacations incoherent among all classes of people. The true preacher must get acquainted with living men or else he cannot be a helpful messenger of Christ.

Now, after Peter, the rough, uncut diamond among the apostles, had spent so much of his life among all classes of people he sums up his experience in one general law. He says, "Honor all men." He declares that one of the chief duties of the true Christian is to learn to respect man, no matter where he may be found. As there are so many people who in the social as well as the theological sense are talking about the "total depravity" of man, I am today going to speak about man as the noblest creature God has ever produced. Thus I shall try to point out four or five great reasons why we should have a universal respect for the human race.

Man's Supremacy.

First I bid you honor man's intellectual supremacy over the beasts of the field, the birds of the air, the fish of the sea and the mineral and vegetable worlds. If there is emphatically one animal to whom God has given the right to rule over all other living animals and over the elements, that creature is man. Though man can aptly be likened to a farmer with a large landed estate which he has not all under cultivation, yet more and more, like Joshua with the land of Canaan, he is going up to possess it.

He is reaching out and continuing to reach farther out and is making the wealth of the land and of the sea and of the air tributary to his wealth and to his power.

Man looks upon the mighty mountains and says: "I must have gold for the basis of my monetary system. Ye mighty hills, ye must open your sealed vaults and give me your treasures." Then the miner lifts his pickaxe and begins to tap at the huge doors of rock and they open, and the mints of the world send out the gold in coins stamped with their signs of monetary value. Man comes down to the sea and says, "O sea, thou must feed me!" Then the great hatching plants are built and the small fish are developed in the same way as the farmer's wife hatches out her chickens in the barnyard. Man says to the fields, "Ye must support me!" Then the plow goes forth to turn over the soil, and the harrows with their steel teeth crush the big clods into pieces, and the sower scatters his seed, and the reapers cut down the heavy grain, and the mills grind the wheat into white flour, and the ovens are heated, and the bread comes forth crisp and brown for the table. Man says: "I must have the treasures of other regions brought to me. I must sell my goods to foreign lands." So he gathers together his iron ore and melts it and molds it and tempers it, and the iron rails are laid, and the steel steamships are launched, and the Atlantic ocean becomes a ferry, and San Francisco and New York are made next door neighbors. Wherever man's magic wand is lifted the beasts of the field, the birds of the air, the fish of the sea, are compelled to do his bidding. Wherever we turn we see man intellectually supreme over the animal, vegetable and mineral worlds.

Man's Perfect Hands.

"What do you consider the most conspicuous sign of man's intellectual supremacy?" I once asked the most brilliant physicist I ever knew. "That he can do this," he replied, touching each one of his fingers with the end of his thumb. "Do you know that man is the only animal in the world that has a perfect hand? At the base of man's thumb God has placed a little hypothetized bone about the size of the half of a small pea. This little round ball of bone allows man to fashion and to do. All other animals have paws simply for motive power. But man's supremacy is revealed in his perfect hand." Thus whenever you look upon man's moving thumb you can see a sign by which God is saying to him: "You can now mold iron, tunnel mountains, conquer the wild beasts of the woods, sail across the seas, plow fields, build cities, lift a throne which shall dominate all the animal and vegetable and mineral kingdoms. By the joint of your moving thumb I have given you power to do all these things." Thus whenever you see man, even in his vilest and lowest form, you see an animal that by the power of brain and hand can accomplish what no other living creature upon the face of the earth can do. Therefore "honor all men." Honor them on account of their intellectual and physical supremacy. Honor them wherever they may be found.

But man has more than intellectual and physical pre-eminence to distinguish him from the rest of the animal creation. He is the only being alive today who, after he has been born, has immortality of existence. Man is the only being to whom God has given the assurance that when he is born he shall live on forever. The eagle is supposed to be the longest lived bird. The elephant is supposed to be the longest lived of the mammals. The deep sea turtle has been known to live hundreds of years. In the Galapagos Islands, off the western coast of South America, there have been found living deep sea turtles at least 500 years old. But, though man's earthly life may seem insignificant when compared to the longevity of a turtle, an elephant or an eagle, yet his immortality stretches on through centuries after the longest lived turtle has died of old age. Man is immortal; he never dies.

Man's Immortality.

But I am never more impressed with man's immortality than when I study his existence in the geological library of the rocks. When I tramp along a country road through the dirt, as I walk I say: "This soil may soon pass away. The spring freshets may come and wash it down into the valleys below." When I watch the birds flying overhead or the squirrels and the rabbits scurrying into their holes, I say, "Every few years the woods have a new generation of inhabitants." When I look upon the great trees of a Calaveras grove I say, "Even these trees must die." But when I look upon the rocks, old and furrowed and with many indentations from the storms and the lightnings of centuries, I seem to see them forever standing there in all their majestic grandeur. I look upon them and say: "These rocks were just the same thousands upon thousands of years ago. These rocks may be standing there in all their grandeur thousands upon thousands of years hence. Long after I have been laid in the grave my descendants may be camping under their shadow as I am doing now." But longer than even those rocks will endure I shall live. Long after the mighty heights of the Himalayas are melted in the last conflagration of a burning world the meaneast and the poorest and the most insignificant of human beings who was ever clasped in a mother's arms shall live.

We honor the vases and the rings and the stones which have been exhumed from the ruins of Memphis, Babylon and Nineveh because they are old, no matter how filthy and defaced they may be. Shall we not honor human life wherever it is found when we realize that a man, once born, will never cease to exist, no matter how long time may be? Shall we not honor the life which shall last throughout eternity?

But there is another fact for which we should honor the human race. God has placed within every human heart a conscience by which man, to a greater or less extent, is able to distinguish right from wrong. This conscience is to man what the mariner's compass is to the sailor at sea. It tells him what he should do and what he ought not to do, where he should go and where he ought not to go, what he should say and what he ought not to say. And the more the man truly follows his conscience the more it will point out the true ways of life to protect him from the shallows and the destroying rocks of error and sin.

Man's Conscience.

Have you ever watched the wheelman in the pilot-house steering the ship? In all probability he will not see you or heed your presence while you are watching him. His whole mind and thought will be concentrated upon the quivering needle in the square box just ahead of him. Every wave, every current, every gust of wind that throws the prow of that boat even a few feet off its course, that trembling needle at once shows the change. At once his strong hands grasp the handles of his wheel, and the boat is pulled back upon its right course. These currents and winds and waves are continually causing the prow of the boat to head wrong. Thus the quartermaster has to be always heeding the warning of his compass. So with the human heart. God has placed within every human breast a moral compass called conscience. That conscience is unceasingly at work. It is perpetually showing man the error of his way and pointing to the right course. Conscience is continually saying: "You ought to do this because it is right. You ought not to do that because it is wrong." And no man, I care not how low he may be in the scale of humanity, is without this flaming torch of conscience showing him the path of purity and truth. Is there any other animal on earth that has a moral compass quivering and trembling in his heart besides the human animal?

If you are a careful student of zoology, you know that without exception the human instinct of all animals but the human being ceases when the young are weaned and able to care for themselves. Among the birds, after the fledglings have been taught to fly, the parents have absolutely no use or love for their young. Among the fishes, which are a lower form of life, we do not find the parents caring at all for their young. The salmon swim up the rivers at spawning time. They deposit their eggs in the shallow waters. Then the mother fish at once becomes a cannibal and will eat her young if she has the chance. But in the human family everything is changed. There love has its throne. There human heart clings to human heart. There the old love the young and the young love the old. There the strong help the weak and the weak help the strong. Though in some human hearts you find the love power stunted in its growth, yet everywhere in man you can find the moral compass telling him what is his duty to his fellow men. There is no eye so dull but it can sparkle at the thought of some sacrifice. There is no ear so deaf but it quivers at the wall of anguish. There is no hand so weak but it grasps the hand of some other human being in friendship. There is no human heart so dead but in it somewhere can be found affection pulsating with life. Yes, the lowest form of human being is infinitely above the highest form of the brute creature, for in every human heart is the trembling needle of the moral compass pleading with man to be a better man than he is and showing him his duty to his fellow men. "Honor all men." On account of their powers of affection, however meager they may be, honor all men.

Judge Not Harshly.

But there is another reason why we should heed the injunction of my text. We should honor all men because of the bitter struggles through which most of them have gone before they have yielded the reins of sin and cut themselves adrift from their own higher ideals and from the love and respect of their fellow men. It is easy to sit superciliously upon the self righteous thrones of our own guided egotism and look down upon the fallen and the low and say, "We would not have done as they did if we had been in their place." It is a far different matter to have had the same environment as they and to have turned out differently.

The older I grow the less harshly I judge the moral weaknesses and shortcomings of those who fall into sin. In nearly every case I have investigated I have found that these so called social outcasts had certain trials and temptations, injustices practiced against them, which would have flung me if in my own strength I had been compelled to contend against them. Then I might have turned out as badly as they did. This fact is not only true about the men and women whom I meet in daily life, but also of those whose crimes have become the horror and the loathing of two hemispheres. If you will investigate the causes of crime with an impartial mind you will be compelled to become more and more lenient in your criticisms, as all men should.

Men do not start out intending to be bad. They do not want to be enemies of society, but the temptations of life sometimes flame up in the blood on account of the sins of their ancestors or on account of their own evil surroundings, or injustices are practiced upon them, or wrongs have been done them. They are battered and beaten and trodden in the dust until at last they arise, desperate. Then their evil passions are let loose, and their hate of the world breaks like a destroying conflagration. So, my friends, before you judge men harshly think of the temptations which they have had to meet. Think how inadequate is their human strength to overcome those temptations. Think of what you would have done had you been placed in their surroundings with their tainted ancestral blood. If you do all this, will you not have a better idea of sinful mankind than you ever had in the past? "Honor all men."

Honor All Men.

But we should honor all men because we can see the work of grace which the gospel can perform in the heart of even the vilest sinner. We see how God's love can enter a sinful heart and purify it and recreate it. It is not the raw, crude material of physical life that is of so much value, but when that raw material has been made over by the skilled hand of the divine Workman then the finished article becomes of great intrinsic worth. Man may be in the beginning repulsive and repugnant to the eyes of others, but cleansed by grace he is worthy to be honored not only by the inhabitants of earth, but also by the denizens of the skies.

In the marble quarries near Rome years ago there was cut a massive stone for a great sculptor. But, alas, after this huge piece of marble was dragged from the side of the mountain it was found that an unsightly seam ran through it, and it was cast aside. Many sculptors came and looked at its white surface, but rejected it as useless. One day a young man, not yet twenty-five years of age, named Michael Angelo, came and looked at the stone and ordered it taken to his studio. Then with mallet and chisel he began to work on it day in and day out. He cut in and around this ugly seam until at last the greatest of his early masterpieces took form and that stone became the marvel of the age as "David the Shepherd" preparing for his battle with the mighty Goliath. So God can take man, rough, uncouth, sinful man, man with all his imperfections, and chisel him and cleanse him, and "man the sinful" will become "man the pure," to dwell with him forever.

Oh, if we could only catch an inspired vision of what God can do for us, then there would be no difficulty in realizing what he can do for others! In the sight of the world a little baby does not amount to much. Babies are born by the hundred every day. That baby does not know anything but to eat and sleep when he is well and cry when he is in pain. But to his mother that baby is no ordinary child; she hovers over him; she cares for him; she has beautiful visions of what that baby in the future may become. And when, as time passes on, the baby grows into a boy and the boy into an intellectual giant and becomes a leader of men the mother sits sweetly by and says: "Oh, I am not surprised! Even when he was a little boy I thought all this success might be his. I dreamed about the success he was to achieve even when he was a little baby sleeping in my arms or when I was rocking his cradle."

If you will only surrender your heart to Christ, God can see you growing more and more each day like himself. Then God sees you learning to love men and women and children, no matter how sinful they may be. Then God sees you bringing the humblest and the weakest of his children to his mercy seat. Then God sees you ascending into glory to sit by his side. Oh, my friend, will you not let this divine idea come true? It can and it will if you will only yield your sinful heart to Jesus Christ. You cannot honor men unless you allow yourself to be honored by the cleansing and purifying blood of Jesus Christ. Get right with God, friend. Get right with God now.

Hearburn Comes From the Stomach

The heart is an organ that people are not inclined to trifle with, but a person may have fluttering of the heart, heartburn and similar troubles, and yet have a perfectly sound heart. Nine times out of ten the disorder comes from the stomach through dyspepsia, constipation or some other digestive ailment.

So instead of taking "heart cures," or other such things that contain stimulants and narcotics, take a harmless but effective remedy like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin which will correct the digestive disorder and in that way cure the supposed heart trouble. The remedy is guaranteed to do this, and you can obtain it of any druggist in 50 cent and $1 bottles. As there are about 150 doses to the latter the cure will cost you but a few cents.

The experience of Mrs. Knight, of Bellevue, Tenn., in this regard should be of interest to all who suffer from heartburn, etc. She writes that for five years she suffered from indigestion and constipation, from fainting spells, fluttering at the heart and heartburn. She couldn't eat meat or anything seasoned with meat. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin was recommended to her and after a few doses the indigestion and constipation were relieved and the fainting spells and heart trouble soon disappeared. She takes a dose of the remedy after eating and now never feels any ill effects no matter what she eats. It would be well for those who suffer in this way to do as she did and be cured.

There is no question that Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is the best tonic laxative and digestant at the disposal of the American people. It is gentle in action and pleasant in taste. It cures gripes, it is the ideal remedy for stomach, liver and bowel complaints, and owing to its gentle action is especially to be recommended to children, women and others who cannot stand the violence and griping of salts, purgatives and cathartic tablets.
