Americans Ordered To Shoot If Rioting In Korea Continues

By ROBERT BROWN
United Press Staff Correspondent
INCHON, Korea, Aug. 10 (AP)—Heavily armed U.S. military police were ordered today to "start shooting" if threatening mob of South Koreans attack their compound on Wolmi-Do Island, well-informed sources said.

A high American official said the Army was "getting fed up" after six days of government-inspired rioting in which 19 U.S. soldiers have been injured in the Korean efforts to capture Communist members of the Korean truce supervision team.

Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, U.S. Far East commander, flew to Korea from Tokyo today with Adm. John W. H. Taylor, U.S. Navy defense minister, as tension mounted between the Korean mobs and American M.P.s armed with tear gas, rifles, bayonets and baseball bats.

The ROK government has given the Polish and Czech members of the neutral nations truce inspection teams until Saturday to leave South Korea. The ultimatum accused them of spying for the Communists.

At Panmunjom, the chief delegate of the four-nation Neutral Nations Supervisory Commission called a session today to discuss the ROK ultimatum. The Swedish and Swiss members were not affected.

President Syngman Rhee broke a six day silence and called the riots a "normal expression of patriotism" but an aide said the 80-year-old Rhee made it clear he "strongly objected" to any violence.

But Rhee, who could halt the demonstrations with a single order, gave the stormy mobs his implied support with his reference to "patriotism."

Another 5,000 Koreans were surrounding the U.S. Army's Hialeah compound in Pusan, South Korea's other major port, but an Army spokesman said only about 200 or 300 were "actually demonstrating."

So far the South Koreans have attacked U.S. Army compounds in five Korean cities in an effort to capture the Communists and the situation was approaching the crisis point. The U.S. Army is bound by the truce agreement to protect the inspectors.

The mobs, ranging from a handful to 30,000, have been conspicuously anti-American.

The Koreans marched up to the gate of the Inchon compound.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Aug. 10 (AP)—Eugene W. Landy, who was denied a naval reserve commission because his mother was once a Communist, says he will gladly attend a special Navy inquiry on his case.

Landy, who sailed as an able-bodied seaman shortly after he was graduated from the U.S. Merchant Marine Academy, told the United Press by radio telephone Tuesday he would "be glad to attend if I'm invited."

Landy, aboard the tanker West-Nor Sun off the Florida coast near Jacksonville, was asked for comment on an announcement by Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas that a special board of naval officers has been set up to review his case.

Thomas said Landy would be invited to appear.

Governors Put Pressure On Stevenson

By TOM NELSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (AP)—Democratic governors attending the 47th annual governors' conference trekked back and forth between Adlai E. Stevenson's suburban home today and many put pressure on him to reveal whether he will run again for the presidency.

The two Democrats who were in the forefront of the governors who sat down with Stevenson were Averell Harriman of New York, Stevenson's close personal friend and the man most widely named as his possible opponent at the Democratic National Convention next summer.

Harriman went to Stevenson's Libertyville, Ill., farm home on Tuesday night for dinner and a "good long talk."

The two Democrats declined to say whether they talked about the presidency. But Harriman repeated his support for Stevenson in 1956 and said discussion of whether he will run himself is "too iffy" to talk about.

Main Work Overshadowed
The political showdown all but overshadowed the main work of the governors' conference, which got down to business today with a discussion of highway safety, road-building, and Congress' failure to pass President Eisenhower's highway construction program.

A highlight of the session was Gov. Arthur B. Langlie's report on how his home state of Washington "declared war" on highway slaughter and saved an estimated 200 lives by rigid law enforcement.

But Stevenson and his political plans were constantly in the background, even though the former Illinois governor had no official connection with the conference.

Meanwhile, Stevenson's divorced wife commented tartly that her husband is a "hamlet" who "can't make up his mind" about the presidency.

Mrs. Ellen Borden Stevenson, who won a divorce while her husband was governor, told newsmen: "He loves to be dramatic, you know."

She called Stevenson "indecisive" and said "that's why I don't think he'd make a good president." He says he's determined to do one thing one day and another thing the next.

WHAT'S WEATHER GOING TO BE? ASK THESE FOLKS

THESE ILLUSTRATIONS from the Denver, Colo., laboratory of Dr. Irving Krick symbolize a new "industry" which is growing in the U. S.—weather forecasting. There are around 15 private weather forecasting organizations in addition to the U. S. government's far-flung system, and Dr. Krick is a pioneer among them. Standards are set by the American Meteorological Society. Aside from forecasting tornadoes, hurricanes and such, they are able to tell such people as promoters of events what to expect in the way of weather—and thus perhaps save them a big investment. And city governments, for instance, may save a great deal in snow removal costs by knowing beforehand that there will be a heavy snow.

Map illustrates day-by-day, hour-by-hour report of hurricane's progress up storm-battered east coast. Information on intensity of these sea-born storms also is reported.

Hoover Will Speak At Dedication

NEWBERG, Ore., Aug. 10 (AP)—Former President Herbert Hoover celebrates his 81st birthday today by speaking at ceremonies dedicated as a national shrine to the home where he spent part of his boyhood.

Mr. Hoover was scheduled to speak at 6 p.m. EDT. The speech will be rebroadcast over a national network at 10:30 p.m. EDT.

The home is that of his late uncle, Dr. Henry John Minthorn where Mr. Hoover came as an orphan at the age of 10 and lived for about five years.

Mr. Hoover has recalled that when he arrived at his uncle's home in the rich fruit-growing Willamette Valley that his aunt and cousins were making pea butter for the winter supply in a boiler over a fire in the yard.

The home, which has been restored to its 1884 condition, will become a national shrine largely through the work of the Herbert Hoover Foundation, headed by Oregon historian Dr. Bert Brown Baker.

Secretary of Interior Douglas McKay, whose home is in Salem, will introduce Mr. Hoover at the dedication ceremony.

Miss Universe Buys Ticket To Europe

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 10 (AP)—Hillevi Bombin, blonde Swedish beauty chosen as Miss Universe last month, plans to leave for her native land today for a visit with her fiancé, 1st Lt. Nils Benker of the Royal Swedish Air Force.

The beauty contest winner caused a furor Tuesday when she bought a one-way ticket to Europe after completing a one-line role in a movie, but she soon squelched speculation that she might give up her film work.

She explained she was not needed by Universal-International Studio for three weeks and had decided to visit Sweden for a visit, returning here next month. The studio said she would not appear in another picture immediately and was free to visit Europe if she desired.

President's Wife Resting

By RICHARD E. MOONEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
GETTYSBURG, Pa., Aug. 10 (AP)—Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower has been resting in bed at the Eisenhower farm since the weekend, but a presidential aide says she is "not ill... merely tired."

President Eisenhower disclosed Tuesday that Mrs. Eisenhower's doctor sent her to bed to rest for three days after an active weekend. But the President added that "she is all right."

The President made the remark to a group of Maryland cattle breeders, apparently to explain why Mrs. Eisenhower was not on hand "with him to greet them. She had some guests. The doctor told her to get a little rest. You know, it has been very hot up here."

Mrs. Eisenhower's health became the subject of political controversy last spring when Democrats questioned whether her physical condition would keep the President from running for reelection. Republicans struck back angrily at the Democrats for bringing up the subject. Later Mr. Eisenhower told a news conference his wife is basically in good health.

Mr. Eisenhower plans to fly back to Washington Thursday morning, but Mrs. Eisenhower will stay at the farm.

After Friday's cabinet meeting, the President will return to the farm for a day or two before leaving for an extended work-and-play vacation in Denver, Colo., probably on Sunday.

It is expected Mrs. Eisenhower will wait to go to Denver until after her husband has returned east to address the American Bar Association in Philadelphia on Aug. 24.

Atlantic Seaboard Battening Down For One Of Worst Blows

CAPE HATTERAS, N.C., Aug. 10 (AP)—Hurricane Connie ground to a near halt 225 miles at sea today and spun around in a giant circle of 125-mile-an-hour winds.

The slow-down gave coastal residents time to flee inland and roads were jammed with vehicles.

It was still uncertain just where the mighty storm, somewhat diminished in power but still a killer, would smack against the U.S. mainland.

Connie is just spinning around now but our present forecast is that she will head toward Carolina when she begins moving again," Miami Chief Forecaster Gordon Dunn said. "We are just waiting it out now."

Dunn said Connie's antics approximate almost exactly those of her 1954 sister, Carol. Carol came two or three days last August, then took off on a north-northeast course, brushed by Cape Hatteras and hit New England Aug. 31 with a punch that killed 66 and caused 500-million dollars damage.

A huge area from South Carolina to New England was alerted for the oncoming storm. Evacuation was started on an orderly basis.

At Wilmington, N.C., the Weather Bureau reported offshore winds had reached steady 45-50 miles per hour velocity at 12:20 p.m. EDT.

House-to-house check were made by N.C. state troopers at Holden's Beach, Long Beach, Topsail Island, Surf City and other nearby beaches.

Local authorities issued evacuation orders at Carolina Beach, Wrightsville Beach, Kure Beach and in the Morehead City area.

Police designated churches, the community center and the boys brigade club as emergency shelters in the city of Wilmington.

All police in the danger area were on standby alert and 24-hour duty.

Marine volunteers from Cherry Point stood by at Atlantic Beach assisting in the mass evacuation work.

Towering waves crashed over the sea wall at Atlantic Beach prior to the high tide at noon, but there had been no property damage reported.

Waves just off Wightsville Beach were estimated at about seven feet high at 11 a.m.

Highest winds were 135 miles an hour—powerful enough to rip up concrete pavement. Hurricane warnings cracked from North Carolina to Chesapeake Bay. Coastal residents as far north as Provincetown, Mass., were put on storm alert.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 10 (AP)—With only 292 scattered precincts unreported in Kentucky's Democratic gubernatorial primary election today, victorious A. B. "Happy" Chandler held a lead of 17,519 votes.

The tally in the 3,873 reported precincts was 242,965 votes for Chandler; 225,446 for Combs.

There was a possibility the unreported precincts might cut Chandler's final margin slightly, since a large proportion of them lay in Logan, Breathitt, Floyd and Pike counties, all of which Combs carried. They could not possibly have any material effect on the outcome of the election, however.

Reflective Tape Aids In Safety

Kentucky farmers can make their machinery safer for after-dark rural highway travel by having 4-H Clubs, FFA members, and other youth groups apply reflective tape to their equipment.

This community service project got under way last month with a kick-off demonstration on the farm of Earl S. St. Clair, Falls of Rough, president of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation. Leaders of youth groups at this meeting heard how youth people's organizations throughout the United States are developing the "Lite-Farm Equipment" program by applying special reflective safety material to farm equipment.

The Kentucky Association of Future Farmers was represented at the meeting by its president, Sam Whittaker, Stanford, while Fred Strache, Paducah, president of the Kentucky Association of 4-H Clubs, represented that organization.

Twenty states already have made strides toward their goal of complete statewide reflectorization of

Iced Coffee, Greatest Refresher of All

WE doubt whether the First Aid Book gives any hints on the care and feeding of slightly wilted friends on hot summer afternoons, but we're going to remedy the deficiency, right now. Our suggestion is that you feed them iced coffee — lots of iced coffee — in tall, elegant glasses with little droplets of frosty cooing clinging to the outside of each glass.

Of course, you must be certain that the coffee is just the best you know how to make. It will always be that if you bear in mind the very simple rules of good iced coffee-making.

First, remember that good iced coffee starts with good hot coffee, and that takes two level measuring tablespoons or one Standard Coffee Measure of coffee to each three-quarters of a measuring cup of fresh cold water. You have a choice of several ways to convert it into iced coffee.

Quick Method with Coffee Ice Cubes: Freeze regular strength coffee in your freezer tray to make coffee ice cubes. This may easily be done by leaving extra coffee or breakfast time for the purpose.) When the time comes that you need your iced coffee, make it regular strength and pour it immediately into tall glasses filled with coffee ice cubes. They will cool the coffee quickly without diluting it.

Quick Double Strength Method: Make coffee double strength by using half the amount of water to the usual amount of coffee. Pour over regular ice cubes in tall glasses. The extra strong coffee allows for the dilution caused by the melting of the ice.

Pre-Cooled Method: Make regular strength coffee. Cool in a non-metallic container for not more than three hours or, if the container is tightly covered, chill in the refrigerator. Pour over regular ice cubes when the iced coffee is needed.

Finally, don't forget that instant coffee, made according to the directions on the label of the jar, makes a truly delicious brew with a minimum of fuss and bother.

Serve all iced coffee with a pitcher of cream and sugar, or a simple sugar syrup, to taste.

Chicago Cubs Hold On To Ernie Banks

By JACK CUDDY United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The delighted Chicago Cubs, who wouldn't take a half million dollars in cold cash for him right now, are firmly convinced the spectacular young Ernie Banks has blossomed into the most valuable player in the National League.

Banks, at 24, "can't be had at any price," according to officials in the Cubs' front office who feel the slender Negro infielder will make baseball fans forget Willie Mays within the next few years.

"There's no question that Banks is the best shortstop in the league," says his manager, Stan Hack, "and from my point of view, there aren't many better all-around players than him, either."

Hack, who might possibly be enchanted with Banks' 37 home runs so far, isn't the only big league manager who takes his cap off to the Dallas-born shortstop.

"The Cubs have a gem in that boy Banks," says Cincinnati Manager Birdie T. Tetsch. "Everyone talks about his hitting but he can get 'em with anyone at shortstop."

Fred Haney, the sharp-eyed Pittsburgh skipper, is another Banks booster.

"He ain't ruined us in our last series with Chicago," Haney said. "We tried pitching to him several ways but he looks like he has this hitting business all figured out."

Pee Wee Reese of the Dodgers also has paid tremendous tribute to strong-armed Ernie, who is putting in only his second full season in the majors, while General Manager Frank Lane of the White Sox said not so long ago that if he had his choice of any player in the National League, he'd pick Banks.

Such praise might tend to turn a youngster's head but there has been no difference noticeable to any of Banks' teammates.

"He's the same quiet kid that came up to the club late in 1953," says veteran catcher Clyde McCullough. "Before he's through, he's liable to break a lot of home run records but he isn't the kind who'll make a big fuss about it."

Breaks Shortstop Record: Banks already has broken the old record for home runs by a National League shortstop which was set by Glenn Wright of the Philadelphia Athletics in 1920. Wright hit 36 home runs in 1920.

Banks' record in 1955 is 37 home runs in 100 games.

He has also hit 10 home runs in 100 games, a record set by Fred McGriff of the Philadelphia Athletics in 1908.

Banks' batting average is .300, which is a record for a shortstop in the National League.

Slumping Of Baseball Stars Being Noticed

By STEVE SNIDER United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — What's wrong with slumpers? Usually they can't explain it themselves but it's a fact that some of baseball's greatest stars have been slumping all season with no relief in sight.

Even Stan Musial isn't immune. The man with a .344 batting average over 13 sensational years with the Cardinals is having his worst season and might fall under 300 for the first time in his career unless a rally is forthcoming.

Bobby Avila of the Indians, last year's American League champion at .341, tumbled farther than any other slumper. He's roughly 80 percentage points off his winning mark for 1954 and that's a little fall for a lad who had an idea he might hit 400 some day.

But Bobby has plenty of company in the slump league. Minnie Miñoso of the White Sox, Johnny Antonelli of the Giants, Warren Spahn of the Braves, Irv Noren of the Yankees and Mike Garcia of the Indians are having the same sort of troubles—and that's just a piece of the list.

Minoso, key hitter for the White Sox in other years, is off some 55 percentage points from his .320 of last year and can't explain why "I don't hit any more."

Denies Being Plate Shy: Minnie denies emphatically his slumping by Bob Grier of the Yankees last May. "I made him plate shy or otherwise impaired his batting talents but base hits haven't been rattling as usual nevertheless."

Antonelli was the toast of the majors a year ago with a 21-7 record for the world champion Giants but even the club's top trouble-shooters couldn't figure out what reversed the trend this year. Although he tossed an impressive five-hit shutout at the Cardinals on Aug. 2, that only made him 9-13 for the year.

In six of the last eight seasons, Spahn won 20 or more games for the Braves. This is one of his few off years and so far he has lost more than he has won.

Noren has been roughly 70 points below last year's .319 although he has delivered several key hits. Garcia has been pitching in miserable luck and like Spahn finds it a struggle to get up to 500 in the weakest department.

Rosen War Off Form: Jim Busby, returning from Washington to the White Sox, is down about 60 points and Al Rosen, Cleveland's consistent closer, has been hitting in the 250 class — rare for him.

Hank Sauer, who hit 41 homers for the Cubs last season, is only a part-time and Ralph Knerl, switch from the Cubs to Cleveland wasn't exactly the cure-all he had hoped for.

Among other hitters with bat troubles are Andy Carey and Joe Collins of the Yankees, Joe Adcock of the Braves before his recent injury, and even Willie Mays of the Giants. Willie is about 40 points off his .345 that won the National League title last year.

Pitchers with pale percentages compared to last year's stardom include Brooks Lawrence and Harvey Haddix of the Cards, Dean Stone of the Senators and Eddie Lopat, the ex-Yankee now at Baltimore.

Most of them can't tell you why, either.

Scout Reservation On Kentucky Lake Now In Operation

The new Boy Scout Reservation on Kentucky Lake is again available for week-end camping by units of the Four Rivers Council. The two week period of organized summer camping closed on July 31. During this two week period boys from Paducah, Reidsland, Lone Oak, Union City, Benton, and Lynn Grove participated in the full summer program. The Scouts camped under canvas, cooked their own meals, and were under their own adult leadership. They enjoyed boating, canoeing, swimming, hiking, campfires, archery, riflery, and campcraft.

The staff for the camping period consisted of Dave Thornton, Benton, Gene Williams, Union City; Bill Robertson, Murray; Chuck Drummond, Paducah; Sam Freeman, Lone Oak; and Harold Stephens, Clinton.

A waterfront beach and float system was set up on a temporary basis during this period and will be available for use by units for week-end camping. Also, many hiking trails have been established. Each trail is marked by wooden arrows of different colors and will be a popular activity of the Scouts hiking on the Reservation. Thus far this year, over 930 Scouts and 5,400 leaders have made use of the Scout Reservation. Many more are expected to use the camping site in the next few months over week-ends and during organized Camporees of the five Districts of the Scout Council.

There are 600 people traveling with the King Bros. and Cole Bros. Combined Circus this season in addition to 30 advance men. The performance is given in three rings, on two elevated stages, huge aerial gyration and on giant hippodrome track. There are 150 performers, including the celebrated Barbara Jones, daring elephant trainer.

One of the great features of the King Bros. and Cole Bros. Combined Circus from season to season, has been its comprehensive and diversified menagerie. More than 250 animals are carried with the vast organization, including giraffes, hippopotamuses, exotic species of American animals, seldom exhibited outside of metropolitan zoos.

The King Bros. and Cole Bros. Circus is now in its 35th year. It has grown from a small show traveling on two railroad cars to its present eminence in the circus world. Team work and perseverance of a remarkable family of poor boys combined with ingenu-ity and an unswerving policy to give a bigger and better performance each season has justly won laurels.

Their mutual understanding is a co-partnership arrangement of the simplest form. A child would have no difficulty in grasping the agreement which binds these famous showmen together, yet a world marvel of achievement.

Doors to the menagerie will open at 1 and 7 p.m. Performances will be given at 2 and 8 p.m.

A spectacular street parade will be given at 11:30 a.m. on downtown streets. Circus day, Rumbling wagons of red and gold, gaily caparisoned horses will be seen along with open cages and dens. Trumpeting bands and tooting calliopes, lumbering elephants and parading animals—all form part of the picturesque street pageant.

MINNESOTA'S GROWTH — MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota's 1955 population is estimated at 3,138,272 by the state registrar of vital statistics, Dr. A. J. Chesley. The 1950 federal census placed the state's population at 2,982,483.

King Bros. and Cole Bros. Combined Shows will exhibit in Murray Friday, August 19, at Waldrop Showgrounds.

Women's Class To Meet At City Park

The Young Women's Class of the First Baptist Church, Mrs. A. G. Oulund is teacher, will meet at the City Park on Monday, August 15, at six-thirty o'clock in the evening. Mrs. Myrtle J. Wall will be the guest devotional speaker and each member is urged to attend. The supper will be furnished by one of the local drive-ins and each member is to take her reservation with her group captain.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

Eggs make a wholesome and satisfying main dish for supper or lunch. Mrs. Pearl Haak, specialist in foods at the University of Kentucky, suggests this tasty, chilled egg loaf, to be made oaty in the day.

Concocted Egg Loaf
6 hard cooked eggs
1 T gelatin
1 1/4 c cold water
1 1/4 c boiling water
3/4 c mayonnaise
2 T lemon juice
1/2 t salt
1 drop tabasco sauce
1 1/4 c chopped parsley
1 1/4 c green pepper chopped

Hard-cook eggs by placing them in cold water, cover and bring to boiling point. Reduce heat to keep water below simmering temperature for 6 minutes. Cool promptly in cold water to make shells easier to remove.

Add cold water to gelatin to soften it, then add boiling water. Cool. Add mayonnaise, lemon juice, salt, tabasco sauce and grated onion. Chill to syrupy stage. Separate egg yolks from whites. Force yolks through a sieve and place in oiled pan or individual molds. Add half the gelatin mixture, then green pepper and parsley. Cover with finely chopped egg whites and remaining gelatin mixture. Chill until set.

Summer Is Checkup Time

Summer months are ideal for making home repairs. Don't overlook masonry surfaces. They need as much attention as other exterior surfaces even though deterioration may not be as apparent. Check foundations, porch floors, outdoor fireplaces, and other masonry. New rubberized masonry finishes are easy to apply, offer lasting protection and are available in many colors.

Iced Tea—Ideal Thirst Quencher

WHEN the gang's all here—full of pangs of hunger, whip up one of those popular big super-duper sandwiches frequently referred to as grinders, heroes or wedges—depending on what part of the country you come from. They're made with a large or small crunchy loaf of French or Italian bread, and filled with slices of tomato, ham, cheese, salami, lettuce and sometimes even potato salad. If that doesn't fill them up, nothing will. And, to quench the thirst—what else is better, less expensive and satisfying than a big, tall glass of iced tea. But be sure to make it right! There's nothing quite so disappointing as weak tea-colored water pretending to be iced tea! A good rule of thumb to keep in mind is the iced tea requires 4 more tea than hot tea. For example, 4 cups of hot tea require 4 tea bags,

There's nothing quite so disappointing as a tea-colored water pretending to be iced tea! A good rule of thumb to keep in mind is that iced tea requires 50% more tea than hot tea. For example, 4 cups of hot tea require 4 tea bags, while 4 glasses of iced tea require 6 tea bags. Although a teapot always makes the best tea, you can improvise if you don't have one large enough to make a big pitcher. Here's how - just bring 2 quarts of cold water to a full rolling boil in a saucepan. Remove from heat and immediately add 5 level tablespoons tea (or 15 tea bags). Brew, uncovered 4 minutes. Stir and strain. Serve in iced-filled glasses with lemon and sugar - and if you like, a sprig of mint for added glamor and appetite appeal.

To drink a glass of refreshing iced tea is like walking into an air-conditioned movie or restaurant. You feel relieved of the heat, relaxed and revived all at once. So drink plenty of it - especially on sweltering hot days when your body needs plenty of liquid.

World Peace Helped By Agriculture

By ROBERT SHORTAL, United Press Financial Writer. NEW YORK (AP) - A top expert in foreign trade said today the United States can strike a blow for world peace by helping Russia improve agricultural production. "It is usually hungry people and have-not nations that start wars," said Gottfried Neuberger, an official of a firm that sponsors international trade fairs and exhibitions.

would pave the way for the first major display of American products behind the Iron Curtain. Neuberger warned against viewing the project as a propaganda stunt or as a means of showing the Russians how superior we are. "It would be a mistake to show off," he said. "The people of Russia won't judge us by our material wealth, but by our attitude toward them as human beings. "We'd do more harm displaying a gold-plated Cadillac than a simple tractor they could utilize on their farms." Neuberger's plan calls for top American companies in the fields of farm implements and machinery, irrigation, soil conservation and other facets of the overall agricultural picture setting up major displays in Moscow. "The exposition would include areas where the companies could demonstrate methods of improving crop yields or irrigating the soil," he added. "Want Presidential Approval Neuberger said many business men have expressed keen interest in the idea. However, he added, the plan hinges on the project getting President Eisenhower's personal approval. "The exposition would be a tremendous opportunity for American industry to open up a whole new

Unfinished Crime by Helen McCloy

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX SARA moved to an oak her own door. Judith, following her, sat primly on the settee. The pseudo-Gerry, lounged in an armchair, glass in hand, looking as much at home as if he had come to stay for a week-end. Sara looked at her watch. "Thirty minutes." "What do you mean?" demanded Judith. "I was in that elevator about 30 minutes. It seemed like a thousand years. Whether you realize it or not, Judith, I think you saved my reason. I'd like to say thank you, but I can't find the right words." "Don't you think you owe Gerry an apology?" said Judith with asperity. "You really do, Sara." The pseudo-Gerry looked at her reproachfully. "Lord, you dragged everyone I know to it-my partner, my cousin, my cleaning woman, my secretary, my landlady, the police. And you still weren't satisfied." "Yet everything you did just proved all the more that he was Gerry," put in Judith, fiercely protective. "You will admit it now, won't you?" Sara drew strength from her knowledge of the real Gerry. How could Judith mistake this weak carbon copy for the real Gerry? "Just a minute, Judith." Sara was angry. "Gerry did disappear and he's not here now. Have you forgotten the three little moles that make a rough triangle on his right cheek? This man has no moles on either cheek. There's only one explanation-you're in the conspiracy with this impostor who's taking Gerry's place." "Moles?" For the first time the impostor was startled. His fingertips flew to his right cheek. A buzzing like the hum of an angry insect cut him short. "You have visitors?" Judith rose. "Gerry Hone never had a mole in his life, as you very well know." "Let it ride, Judith," said the young man. "Why? I think she's unbalanced." "Unbalanced?" At sound of a new voice, all three turned toward the door. Dickson Clive came into the room. "I didn't mean to eavesdrop, but..." His glance reproved Judith. "Your voice was rather loud."

Picture Of America Not Distorted

By DORE SCHARY
Written For The United Press
HOLLYWOOD — There are two recurrent rumors about Hollywood films in connection with the international market that I should like to consider.
One of them is the criticism that we give a distorted picture of America.
Essentially, I believe this to be a snobbish attitude on the part of some of the critics who say this European audience are quite sophisticated and have the power of selection and understanding on which we pride ourselves. They are quite able to be discriminating, and if they see a lousy technical musical comedy in which the leading lady has a bathtub twenty feet wide, they take for granted that these bathtubs do not exist in all American homes.

They can see a picture in which mayhem and murder are committed on a public street, without assuming that this is a casual, daily happening on all streets in America.
We Americans can look at an Italian picture like "Bicycle Thief" and accept it as a searching piece of work, without coming to the conclusion that all Italians steal bicycles. Why do we not assume that Italian audiences are capable of the same reasoning with which we are blessed?
The truth is that in surveys made by the State Department our films have consistently proven to be a wonderful ambassador for the American way of life.

Pictures Criticized
Recently we have begun to be criticized for certain pictures which are sent overseas because they depict some seamy hides of America. We have made surveys overseas and we find these pictures actually reflect very well upon us because audiences seeing them realize that if America can produce pictures of self-criticism, we are living in a healthy political atmosphere.
The charge is made that if the Russians could get their hands on one of these pictures they could use it for propaganda purposes by changing a few words here and there.
The answer is that if the Russians got hold of any American films they could change a word here and there and turn it into active propaganda. They could take another picture and say it is a common daily truth.
No one picture can be protected against the professional liar.

Pay-As-Seen TV Is Out Says Cantor

By EDDIE CANTOR
Written For The United Press
HOLLYWOOD — A popular song some years ago had a phrase—"No, No, They Can't Take That Away From Me."

And that is exactly the way I feel about free television as opposed to pay-as-you-see TV. There are so few things in life that are free, and the air, thank God, is one. I don't feel that anyone has the right to say you cannot see a certain show if you cannot pay $2 for the privilege.
What about the theaters, you say? We—you and I—do not own the theaters. But we do own the air, and that's the difference. I personally could pay $2 to see a top Broadway show or a big fight on TV, but I wouldn't, because I know there are many, many people in this country who can't afford the $2. I feel that pay-TV is discriminatory.

What about the big prizefights and football games which are not shown in our homes? It seems to me that were the TV rights for these events made available to a sponsor, one of the bigger corporations would be happy to pick up the tab merely for good will.
I am thinking now of the magnificent show that co-starred Ethel Merman and Mary Martin some months ago. That sponsor was so unobtrusive in selling his product that I wanted to go out and buy one out of sheer gratitude for his giving me such fine entertainment. That is as it should be.
When we make the initial expenditures for a TV set, I feel that all the entertainment it brings us should be included, without our having to pay anything extra. When we buy a car, we are free to drive to the beach or the mountains. It works the same way, I believe, with television.

Let us consider radio. Oh yes, I know some people feel it's dead, but actually it's the liveliest corpse that ever happened! There was never any question about paying for radio entertainment. And radio is still very healthy. Statistics show that there are still more radio sets sold than TV receivers.
While I am doing a weekly TV show, I am also doing a radio show five times weekly, and I am frank to tell you that I'm going to be in radio until the last radio is sold!
But back to TV. I refuse to get excited about the problem of pay-TV. It isn't controversial, as far as I'm concerned, for I feel there never will be pay-television. As the Gershwins said, "They Can't Take That Away From Me." And I do mean free air.

Publicity Division Receives Awards

Frankfort, Ky. — Kentucky's Division of Publicity has swept the field in receiving awards on printed promotional literature entered in competition for judging by the Southern Graphic Arts Association. Two first place awards and a second place award were extended to the three publications entered by the Kentucky promotional agency.

In Kentucky Travel Annual, a four color forty page tourist promotion piece, was awarded the Highest Award of Merit by the Southern printers group as the outstanding printed area promotion piece. The Kentucky State Park Rate Book received the same award for top excellence among hotel, motel, and park rate books. In addition, the official Kentucky Tourist Map received the second place certificate in the maps classification.

The awards were announced at the 34th Annual Convention of the Southern Graphic Arts Association at Hot Springs, Arkansas. Framed copies of the award certificates were presented to Mack Sisk of the Division of Publicity. The awards were judged in recognition of general excellence of content, photography and art, layout and general appearance, and printing quality. All of the publications were lithographed by the Courier-Journal Lithographing Co.

In addition to Sisk, those receiving principal credit for production of the prize winning publications were: Marshall Peace, associate director, John Whisman, publications editor, and Ernest Gilancola, artist, for the Division of Publicity.

Kentucky's Division of Publicity has received a number of national awards in the past two years in recognition of its promotional activities. Last year the division was cited by the National Association of Travel Organizations as having done the nation's outstanding job of area promotion.

Additional Employees Get Security Coverage

Frankfort, Ky. — More than $3,000,000 a year is being paid by state and local political subdivisions for social security coverage on their employees. H. B. Fithian, director of the Division of Personnel Security in the State Department of Economic Security, reported today.

$1,500,000 Hoard

76-YEAR-OLD Mrs. Delores Vasquez, who said she was a former nurse in Pancho Villa's army in Mexico, summoned officials to her bedside in Imperial Valley hospital, San Diego, Calif., and told them of five places in Texas in which a gold hoard of $1,500,000 is hidden. She thought she was dying, but is recovering. She said she was a colonel in Villa's army and one of his trusted aides, and that the gold was left by the revolutionary. (International)

The first quarter of 1955 found 19,062 employees of 130 state agencies—including educational institutions and regular governmental activities—on which contributions of $516,846 were paid. In addition, 18,693 employees of counties, cities and independent groups were included on which contributions of $338,412 were made.

Employees of all state agencies already are under social security, but a number of those in other political subdivisions are not yet covered, according to Fithian.

Coverage of separate political units includes 84 of 120 county school districts; 78 of the 108 independent school districts; 89 of the 120 counties; 79 independent groups such as electric and water plant boards, public libraries, housing commissions and hospitals. Municipal employees covered include:

Louisville, the only first class city; four of the seven second class cities; eight of the 11 third class cities; 41 of the 58 fourth class cities; 45 of the 74 fifth class cities and 19 of the 147 sixth class cities.

During the last year, 13 school districts, 11 counties, 18 cities and 10 independent agencies, such as public libraries, municipal utility plants, housing commissions and hospitals elected to place their employees under social security coverage.
