DEMOCRATIC

ROAD QUESTION BEFORE COURT

MAGISTRATES WILL LOOK AFTER SOUTH PART THIS YEAR.

Number of Accounts Allowed By the Graves County Fiscal Court This Week.

The fiscal court met in its regular semi-annual session Tuesday, April 4th, with the county judge, county clerk, sheriff, jailer and all of the justices of the peace present.

On account of the road question, the court was not able to conclude its business Tuesday and was in session Wednesday. As is the case with all fiscal courts, the road question is paramount when it comes up. The gravelling of roads this year brought forth remarks from Yates, Kinsey, Pryor, Jones, Monroe, Edwards, Hughes and Hollifield.

The court seems to have its focus on the south part of the county this year and the object is to build one or more gravel roads from Mayfield to the Tennessee line. Justice Yates and Kinsey want one built from Mayfield to Dukedom, while Pryor and Byrd want one built from Mayfield to Sedalia, Lynnville and Boydsville if possible.

Anyway they are all in favor of gravel roads and will do the best they can in order to build the greatest number of miles during this year.

The outlook for gravel roads is better than we have ever seen it before in Graves county. Justice Jones is very much in favor of building a road from Mayfield to Fancy Farm and on to the county line.

About all the work that was done on Tuesday was the allowance of claims, which are as follows: Miss Cora Morehead, $124.80; Messenger Pub. Co., $47.00; Evans & Covington, $6; J. J. Judge Monroe held quarterly court Wednesday afternoon for a short while. There were several gaming cases on docket for trial, but owing to the absence of an important witness, the cases were continued until Wednesday, April 19. Several other cases were also continued.

GALT HOUSE CO. IS DECLARED BANKRUPT.

A. E. Cooper, the Former Manager in Charge of Hotel, Is Receiver.

Louisville, April 4.—The New Galt House company was adjudged a bankrupt by Judge Evans in the Federal Court today.

A. R. Cooper, formerly manager of the Galt House, was appointed receiver of the hotel by R. C. Kinkead, referee in bankruptcy, after a consultation with the attorneys on each side.

His bond was fixed at $10,000. The creditors will elect a trustee within a few days.

An involuntary petition was filed against the company two months ago by the Camden Coal Company and others. The case was set to be heard today, but the Galt House Company failed to plead and the judgment went by default.

Judge Mat O'Doherty, attorney for the company, says the liabilities are about $170,000 and that the assets, including the building, good will, etc., are $300,000. He says the company will be reorganized and new life put into the hotel. Attorney W. W. Davies represented the creditors.

The Galt House is one of the oldest hotels in Louisville, and for decades was the principal hotel of the city. The original Galt House stood at Second and Main, but when this building was destroyed by fire the hotel was rebuilt on its present site. The building of the Seelbach took business from the Galt House, and the changes in the city affected its location, but it is believed that a reorganization will permit it to be conducted successfully.

The officers of the New Galt House Company are W. S. Miller, president and manager, and John T. Malone, secretary and treasurer.

No stomach dosing when you breathe HYOMEI. Just pour a few drops of the liquid into the inhaler, and breathe it in.

SEVEN YEARS OF MISERY

All Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Sikeston, Mo. — "For seven years I suffered everything. I was in bed for four or five days at a time every month and so weak I could hardly walk. I cramped and had backache and headache, and was so nervous and weak that I dreaded to see my mother or have anyone leave in the room. The doctors gave me medicine to no avail. I tried those times and said that I ought to have an operation. I would not listen to that, and when a friend of my husband told him about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it had done for his wife, I was willing to take it. Now I look the picture of health and feel like a new woman. I can do my own housework, and my garden, and milk a cow. I can entertain company and go for walks as far as any one. Every day in the month. I wish I could talk to every suffering woman and girl."

Mrs. DENY H. HARRIS, Sikeston, Mo. The most successful remedy in this country for the cure of all forms of female complaints is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

It is more widely and successfully used than any other remedy. It has cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing down feeling, indigestion, and nervous prostration, after all other means had failed. Why don't you try?

STRAYED OR STOLEN.

One large red brindle cow strayed from my home one mile west of Dean's phone station. She had some white under her flanks and bush of her tail white and cropped off; has long steer-like horns with ends sawed off. A small bell on with old rusty tap for clapper. Strayed about 10 days ago. I will pay $200 for any information leading to her recovery. P. O. Cunningham, Ky., Route 1, J. A. ATON, Lowes, Ky.

THOUSANDS OF VOTES MARK THE BEGINNING OF THE MESSENGER EASTERN TOUR CONTEST!

Q NEVER in the history of Mayfield and vicinity has the public manifested such intense interest. Votes have been received from all sections, and from now on the race will grow livelier from day to day.

With the initial announcement of the number of votes received by the various contestants in The Messenger's great prize voting contest today marks the real beginning of the friendly conflict for the attractive prizes, which consist of seven trips to New York, Washington and Philadelphia. From now on the interest will grow daily in volume, as the fluctuating tides of favoritism bring out first one new leader and then another.

On this page will be found the names of the young ladies who have been entered in this competition up to today, and these candidates grouped together form a solid phalanx for the grand charge on the prizes. The track is clear, and every fair contestant has the "right of way." Nomination votes have been pouring into the Messenger office ever since the first announcement of the tour was made, and as the days go by more candidates are sure to be nominated and the contest will become more and more exciting.

Never before has such a large number of young ladies been drawn together by a popular enterprise. Votes have come from every section of the territory, indicating that friends will back their favorites to the very end. Vote-getting, with the exception of the nominating ballots has not been started yet, but now that the names and standing are announced, balloting will be stronger, and it is predicted that before many days pass "frenzied" voting will be the order of the day.

Contestants who are not in the lead in their respective districts should not be discouraged on that account. The difference of a few hundred votes or even of a few thousand is of little consequence at this time, as the contest has more than six weeks to run, during which time any contestant may bridge the chasm which may exist between her name and the top of the list.

The standing of contestants will be published again in The Daily Messenger of next Saturday and The Weekly Messenger each week, and later on in The Daily every day.

Contestants and their friends will bear in mind that every vote counts and should clip the ballots from The Messenger every day and either bring to The Messenger or send them by mail to The Messenger. The voting is entirely secret and confidential and no one will know for whom you are voting unless you disclose the fact yourself.

The opportunity to take a trip to the East with every expense of the trip paid, may never again be repeated. No lady who wishes to make a tour of the East should fail to make the most of the opportunity here presented, and from the manner in which many people have already expressed themselves, it is believed none will. Irresistible as the prizes are, the opportunity to secure them, is equally irresistible.

It should be borne in mind by the contestants that seven Eastern trips are to be given in this contest, prizes which will mean the realization of the dreams of a lifetime to every lady who is fortunate enough to win one.

All candidates stand an equal chance in this contest and none is starting handicapped. Candidates compete against those in their own districts, but can secure subscriptions and votes anywhere. The lady receiving the largest number of votes will be allowed to name a chaperone for the party.

Candidates will find their greatest success in amassing a large vote by getting subscriptions to The Messenger, although ballots should be secured whenever possible.

The special ballots which are issued on subscription payments count up amazingly and enable the candidate with little personal effort on the part to secure a total vote that will exceed her first and most sanguine expectations. From the fact that practically everyone in the territory covered by the contest will be enlisted as a partisan of some one of the candidates, the candidates will find vote-getting a genuine pleasure.

It will be to the advantage of every contestant to see that her vote is increased each day. This shows that she and her friends are taking a lively interest in her candidacy and as people like to help those who help themselves, those contestants whose vote keeps climbing higher and higher each day will be more apt to receive assistance from an interested public than those candidates who make little or no advancement.

Those who wish to win one of the magnificent prizes should start at once in order to insure success. There are several urgent and compelling reasons why a contestant should make an early start.

It is the easiest thing in the world to secure subscriptions for The Messenger, the popular paper of the community, preferred for the superiority of its local and telegraphic news service, and its special facilities for reaching the people within a very short time after the paper has come off the press. Contestants in The Messenger contest will meet with ready support at the hands of the people and be thus encouraged to put forth the efforts necessary to the attainment of success.

Get in and win, but first telephone or call upon the contest manager, for full information about the contest and just how best to set about the work of winning the splendid prizes.

Every human being with a soul has felt the lure of the wander-lust at one time or another. The desire to see strange lands, to explore foreign climes is innate human nature.

For the tourist no lands hold such fascination, are so rich in interest as those to be visited by the seven women of Mayfield and vicinity on their weeks' tour, the entire expenses of which are borne by The Messenger.

On this page is the list of candidates nominated up until last evening:

Important News of the Great Discovery

WHICH IS CURING SO MANY PEOPLE.

It is good news, indeed, to those who are sick, when informed of the many remarkable cures which are being made by Root Juice throughout the country. The remedy is certainly doing wonders for scores of people, as it did for Mr. Sam Anderson, a well known farmer of Gas City, Ind., who wrote:

"I tell you, Root Juice is a great medicine. I suffered several years with rheumatism and stiff joints. When I awoke in the morning I could hardly raise myself from bed. My feet and hands were sore, stiff and painful, more especially during rainy weather. I also had to get up many times during the night, on account of my kidneys, and had a great deal of pain in my back. Root Juice cured one of my neighbors of a bad stomach, trouble so I thought I would give it a trial and see what it would do for me. After taking it a week I felt so much better that I went back to the drug store and bought six more bottles. In a few weeks every symptom of my trouble was gone, and I now feel as well as I ever did in my life, for it is certainly a wonderful medicine."

Root Juice has proved its wonderful merits to many people of this locality, and the people at Evans & Covington's drug store are pleased to sell it because of the great good it does.
