Seen & Heard Around Murray

Elvis Presley is one of the most controversial figures to emerge on the American "show screen" in a long time.

He has a great appeal to young people which is all right.

He has been branded as the idol of the delinquents also, which should make him sit up and take note of example that he is setting. The reason that he is the idol of delinquents is because of the "zoot suit" appearance that he affects. The long hair, long sideburns, and general unkempt appearance.

How much nicer it would be if he was clean cut and neat, and how much better an example would he set.

Nearly every delinquent has over long hair, very long sideburns, and is unkempt. In recent days, we could not help but compare what is considered the high type American boy, the Boy Scout, with the Elvis Presley type.

All the Scouts who received high awards at the Court of Honor the other night were clean cut boys who exemplified what we all try to bring out in a boy. None of them looked or dressed like Elvis Presley. And, they all had hair cuts.

Maybe if the Army does get Elvis, and cuts his hair off, he may take a new slant on life.

There are six times as many alcoholics in the United States as there are cancer patients.

Lynn Grove Wins Over Kirksey At Darnell Hits 49

The Kirksey High School Eagles played host to the Lynn Grove Wildcats last night and the visitors walked with the victory, for the third time in as many clashes, by a score of 97-85.

Kirksey was out in front 23-17 as the first period ended but fell behind in the second stanza to rail by five, 45-40, at half-time.

The free scoring contest presented a net burning duel of guard against guard. Little Rod Darnell scampered up several rungs of the ladder of total points with a cord ripping 49 point performance. Wildcat guards, Tommy McNeely and Rod Warren made it a duel as they chalked up 36 points each. Crouch and Paschall aided Lynn Grove with 14 and 10 respectively. Crick and Edwards tallied 12 each for the losers.

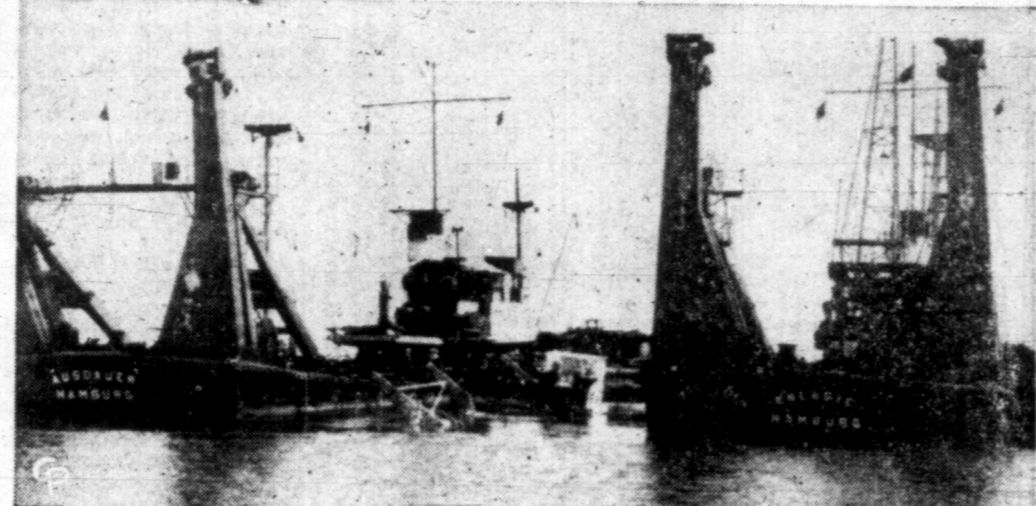

Kirksey will journey to Farmington tonight. You can bet your bottom dollar that all the points Darnell gets at his old stomping grounds will be well earned, as it is a sure thing they will be out to slow down their old team mate.

TWO GERMAN SALVAGE VESSELS, the "Ausdauer" and "Energie," reputed to be the world's most powerful lifting team, are raising the Egyptian LST "Akka" from the bottom of the Suez Canal, where, filled with cement, it was sunk on November 1. The Akka is said to be the last major obstacle blocking the waterway. When lifted, the ship is to be hauled to Bitter Lake and dumped.

Jesse Roberts Bids Farewell To Mail Service After 32 Years

Jesse J. Roberts of 108 North 10th Street, Murray, will deliver the mail on Murray route three for the last time on February 28.

Mr. Roberts is retiring as a rural mail carrier after having served the Post Office department for thirty-two years.

He started his career as rural carrier on March 1, 1925 and loway County on October 23, 1927 and grew up on the farm. After he became a young man he obtained a position with the tobacco association and remained with them for a period of four years.

He served in the army during World War I and spent one year overseas. Mr. Roberts is married to the former Miss Patty Beale and they live on North Tenth Street. They have one daughter, Mrs. Betty Frances Farris, and one granddaughter, Debra Jo Farris.

Many pleasant memories fill the past thirty-two years. Mr. Roberts said he is most grateful to the postmasters under whom he has served and to the other employees of the postoffice who he has worked with.

"I will always be grateful to him," he said, "for making my work so enjoyable and pleasant."

Mr. Roberts said that he is grateful too for all the patrons that he has served on his route, for being so patient and understanding with him.

"They are aware of the many difficulties and obstacles that go with rural service," he said, "and they have always shown a understanding which I appreciate."

Mr. Roberts has seen a great improvement in both automobiles and roads since he first started rural delivery service.

Rural roads are much better and the automobile, of course has kept pace with the improved roads and highways.

Mr. Roberts did not commit himself as to what he might do on his retirement. He will probably rest for a while. He is the owner of a nice farm on the East side of the county and it will take some time in over-seeing its operation.

Snow Falls This Morning In County

Snow was falling thick and fast this morning in Murray with the mixture of sleet and snow sticking to the ground.

By UNITED PRESS
Highway traffic in eastern Kentucky was hampered by heavy snow in most of the mountain sections today.

An unofficial report from Berea indicated that at least five inches of snow had fallen in that area.

The state Department of Highways said that Ky. 80 in Meigs County and Burkhart road was extremely hazardous due to snow and ice.

Highway department crews were clearing the roads and applying abrasives on hills.

The Somerset District office of the Highway Department also reported snows of one inch or more in Rockcastle and Pulaski counties. State police said that reports from Pikeville this morning indicated it was snowing heavily in that area.

The Weather Bureau at Charleston, W. Va., reported from two to five inches of snow in mountainous areas of West Virginia near Beckley.

The weather bureau at Louisville called for between two to four inches of snow in the mountainous areas in eastern Kentucky. Reports at 11 a.m. CST, said that it had been snowing since 9 a.m. today.

Snow was expected to taper off in south central Kentucky this afternoon and in eastern Kentucky tonight.

Three Injured As Car Leaves Road Monday

Three Calloway County men were injured yesterday, about 2:15 o'clock when their 1956 Dodge left the road and struck a tree. The accident occurred just East of the Russell Chapel Church, according to State Highway Patrolman Guy Turner.

Most seriously injured was Louis Calhoun, age 47, who received a broken pelvis, broken right knee and lacerations.

William Calhoun, the driver of the car and Clifford Garland, both suffered lacerations and abrasions. They are listed as fairly good at the Murray Hospital.

Louis Calhoun will be transferred to Nashville today. Turner said that he and Max Churchill went to the scene of the accident and found no one else there but those involved in the wreck.

Two of the men were in the car and the third was outside at the edge of the automobile. The car was travelling west at the time of the accident, and apparently left the road, plunged down a ten foot embankment, and struck a tree solidly.

Artell Tucker, who was servicing a television set just below the scene of the accident, aided in removing the victims and carrying them up the steep embankment to the ambulance.

Basketball To End In Calloway

County and city high schools call it quits this week as far as regular season hardwood play goes, but as usual there is a full menu of fast and furious ball featured by a final tournament at Hazel.

Lynn Grove's pawing and clawing Wildcats clinched the county cage championship Friday night with a broad sided win over New Concord. This gave John Canon's play makers a perfect won-lost record in Calloway competition, including a 37-35 nod over Murray High.

Tonight, three games are on tap: Kirksey at Farmington; Almo at North Marshall; Hickman at Murray Training. Friday night will find Milburn at Lynn Grove where the Cats are favored to avenge an earlier defeat; Hazel at Kirksey and Almo at New Concord.

The Murray High Tigers travel to Dixieland where they hope to partly dispell a dim season with a win over the Union City Golden Tornado. The Tigers of Ty Holland have won only 6 while losing 12.

Brochure To Be Given At Meeting Today In Paducah

A brochure covering virtually every phase of agricultural life in eight western Kentucky counties, essentially those in the Purchase area, will be presented to farmers, processor plant officials, and special agricultural workers at a meeting in the courthouse assembly room at Paducah today.

The brochure was prepared by the U. K. Agricultural Experiment Station at Lexington. Presentation is a follow-up to 1956 meetings held at several locations in Kentucky; the Purchase area is one of three of eight such areas for which brochures were prepared in late 1956.

The idea is to stimulate production of fruit and vegetables, and to interest processing companies in locating in the area to handle such produce.

Frank Lebus, head of the agricultural division of the Kentucky Department of Economic Development, will preside. George Marlowe; Dudley Martin; C. D. Phillips; and S. C. Bohanan, all of the U. K. Agricultural Experiment Station or Agricultural Extension Service, will give short talks. The session opened at 9:30 a.m.

The brochure will be given to farmers, county agents, vocational agriculture teachers, several Purchase area promotional clubs, processing plant officials, chambers of commerce, the Kentucky Farm Bureau, local Farm Bureaus, and other interested persons and organizations.

It covers a variety of subjects pertinent to production, such as population, town data, industries, banks, transport, market availability, farm land values, farm products value, rainfall, weather and climatological data, soils texture and nature, irrigation facilities, streams and other water sources, types of farming, crops such as lima beans, snap beans, green beans, sweet corn, tomatoes, fruits, and market outlets, labor supply, taxes and utilities. In addition, results of fruit and vegetable test plots in the Purchase in 1956 will be listed.

Counties included include Fulton, Carlisle, Ballard, McCracken, Graves, Marshall, Calloway, Trigg, Lyon and Livingston.

Electronic Range To Be Shown Here

Dave Shelley of the Tappan Stove Company, Mansfield, Ohio, will give a demonstration of the Electronic Range at an open meeting of the Home Department of the Murray Woman's Club at 2:30 p.m. on Thursday.

The general public is invited to this meeting to see Mr. Shelley demonstrate the latest in cooking equipment for the home.

The electronic range was developed by the Tappan Stove Company, parent company of the Murray Manufacturing Company. It was demonstrated in Murray once before the Murray

Dairy, Forage Problems To Be Discussed

Dairy cow feeding and management and forage production for 1957 will be discussed at a county-wide meeting at the County

One of the most important discoveries being made by housewives now cooking on the Tappan Electronic Range is that it is safe for children to use.

"It didn't take me long to realize that our 10-year-old daughter could use the electronic range without danger of being burned," a mother said.

Homemakers who have used the range for more than a year in pre-production field tests as well as those who have recently purchased the unit have found that microwave cooking, although it sounds mysterious and complicated—is simple and safe.

The electronic unit will not operate unless the oven door is latched. Thus, it is impossible for the user to come in contact with the microwaves that cook the food. The only heat produced is in the food. Therefore, when the dish is removed from the oven, the only heat it has picked up has come from the food—never from the cooking unit.

The electronic range actually uses the same type of radio energy which transmits the Ultra High Frequency signal on a television set. Because the electronic unit in the range transmits microwaves, it is licensed by the Federal Communications Commission—just like the equipment used by thousands of amateur radio operators to transmit radio signals from their homes. The electronic unit operates on 2400 megacycles and will not interfere with radio, TV or other electronic equipment.

When microwave energy comes in contact with a substance, any one or a combination of three things can occur. It can be reflected, transmitted or absorbed. Only when it is absorbed, does microwave energy convert into heat. Foods in the electronic oven absorb the energy and consequently become hot. Air and many (but not all) glass, china and paper products transmit the energy, but do not absorb it. Metal reflects the energy.

Tappan engineers say perhaps the simplest parallel to microwave cooking is what happens when the sun's rays stream through a window to warm a person in their path. Although

Queen Dazzles Portugal With Royal Crown Jewels

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 19 AP—Queen Elizabeth II dazzled Portugal Monday night with a display of regal charm and priceless jewels at a state banquet where she and her smiling husband dined off solid gold plates.

The Queen wore the emerald and diamond tiara she inherited from Queen Mary—a museum piece—and was clad in a gold tissue dress embroidered with gold and pearls.

She had received tumultuous greeting from a million Portuguese who lined the streets of Lisbon and she thanked President Francisco Higueiro Craveiro Lopes for what she called an "unforgettable welcome."

During the formal dinner at the Palace of Ajuda she stole several sideways glances at the handsome Duke from whom she had been separated for four months.

Lopes told the Queen, "The youth and charm which you bring have awakened in the hearts of the Portuguese people the enthusiasm which you witnessed."

That enthusiasm was demonstrated most romantically Monday when groups of young Sir Walter Raleighs spread their cloaks before the Queen's coach and car.

Wherever she went the students pursued, hoping to reenact the legendary Sir Walter Raleigh. They were thwarted by the throngs until they raced ahead to the Queen's official residence, the Palace of Queluz.

The Queen spotted the students placing their cloaks in the mud-spattered road and ordered her chauffeur to slow down. She nodded to the almost prostrate cavaliers and then burst into an unrestrained grin.

BETTER REGULATION NEEDED

Since we decided to experiment with alien customs and substitute a welfare state for the one which led us to the head of the list of nations in material prosperity we have fallen behind on certain regulations which can be more easily put into effect under a dictatorship, and one relates to nursing homes.

The nursing home as we know it today is something new, and some of them could not exist without the support of taxpayers who provide old-age and disability pensions which make it possible to house large numbers of older men and women in homes and thereby relieve younger members of their families of their support and care.

The well regulated nursing home is a blessing to any community and it is rapidly becoming an important part of our modern facilities, but it seems we have too many which are fire traps, also some that are not sanitary when judged by modern standards.

Any home for old people should have above-normal facilities so far as fire and health standards are concerned for the simple fact old people can't take care of themselves as well as younger ones.

Those who are so anxious to provide pensions for people who reach the age of retirement were short-sighted in not anticipating some of the undesirable developments that have taken place.

Catering to human needs for profit is standard practice in a free enterprise system and those who operate nursing homes for private gain are to be commended for their enterprise rather than criticized.

At the same time law enforcement agencies owe it to older people to see that all institutions are safe and sanitary.

We are having too many tragedies at nursing homes such as the fire at Warrenton, Mo., Sunday, which snuffed out the lives of seventy-one inmates.

The operator of the old folks home says it was inspected a week ago by the fire marshal and declared to be in good condition. If such is the case there must be something wrong with regulations.

It may be standards should be raised, but a more rigid enforcement of present regulations may prevent recurrence of this sort of tragedy. But it is plain to see that something should be done.

The general public will forget this tragedy within a few days, but the authorities should not forget it, nor should they leave a stone unturned until nursing homes and other institutions for old folks are made safe.

Chamberlain Drops To 5th Spot

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

Wilt Chamberlain's bid for the national scoring title suffered a near-disastrous blow today in the wake of the Kansas giant's worst performance in his college career.

The seven-foot Chamberlain scored a mere 14 points Monday night while Kansas routed Oklahoma, 76-58, and dropped into fifth place in the scoring derby.

South Carolina's Grady Wallace ranks first with a 30.57 average. Columbia's Chet Forte is second with 29.55 and Elgin Baylor, who tallied 40 points in Seattle's 99-87 win over Gonzaga Monday night took over third place with a 29.13 average.

Chamberlain's average after 18 games is 29 points a game. Wallace plays against Furman tonight while Forte sees action against Yale on Wednesday.

Chamberlain scored only four points in the first half and fouled out for the first time in his career with 8:56 to go in the second half.

Despite the Stilt's poor showing, Kansas breezed to a 36-20 halftime lead. The Jayhawks led, 59-42, when Wilt fouled out and soon increased the margin to 22 points. Sophomore Ronnie Lonesski paced Kansas with 28 points while Don Schwall tallied 30 for Oklahoma. The victory was the 17th in 18 games for Kansas, the nation's second-ranked team.

Kentucky in Clincher

Third-ranked Kentucky, Bradley tied with UCLA for the No. 3 rating and 11th-ranked Indiana all scored impressive victories while Oklahoma City whipped Memphis State, already in the National Invitation Tournament, 106-96, in other important games.

Kentucky virtually clinched its 17th Southeastern Conference title with an 80-78 decision over Vanderbilt before 12,000 at Lexington, Ky. The Wildcats blew a 17-point halftime lead and had a narrow brush with a tie when Vanderbilt guard Al Rochelle missed a last-ditch set shot with eight seconds left. Johnny Cox led Kentucky with 23 points.

Bradley scored its 18th win in 21 games when it tripped Wichita, 78-72, after leading by as much as 16 points. Barney Cable scored 21 points and Shellie McMillon 19 to lead the Braves.

Indiana retained its lead in the Big Ten Conference as Archie Dees sparked the Hoosiers to a 90-76 win over Iowa. Dees connected for 15 field goals and seven free throws for 37 points.

Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY

United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — This could be the year of decision in the Hall of Fame case of Mickey Mantle, and the portent today is not too encouraging.

Mantle finally had a great year last season as he won the triple crown. But guys like Willie Mays and Jim Konstanty could tell him that one swallow doesn't make a spring.

And there is evidence again that, while the Oklahoma kid may have the power of Babe Ruth, the speed of Ty Cobb and the fielding ability of Joe M. Magglio, he also has the fragile legs of a Chippendale chair.

Everyone Gets The Shakes
The Yankees—from brass hat to batboy—got the shakes over the weekend when it was reported from the Ball Players' Golf Tournament in Florida that Mantle's right leg was swollen and painful.

It was said by other players that his legs looked wobbly and the American League's Most-Valuable Player used a motor cart, reserved on most courses for players over 60, to cut down on his walking.

Small wonder the Yankees were alarmed. Because Bill Dewart, who left the Yanks recently after a hitch as assistant general manager, revealed subsequently that the management pays every time Mickey takes a shower, for fear he might slip on the soap, and almost faints every time he goes after a tough fly ball or slides into a base.

Those legs are the answer—frail bric a brac which could collapse and end his career at just about any moment.

First there is the dormant osteomyelitis in his left shin. Then there is that right knee, which dropped him as if he had been shot in the 1951 World Series. The cartilage subsequently was removed but Mantle has to play even now with the knee tightly wrapped.

Suffers Much Pain
"You'd be surprised what pain he is in from that knee, particularly after a double header," Dewart revealed. "He has to keep it in a special support and requires constant whirlpool treatments."

Now, Mickey says, the swelling is something new again and the question rises as to how much his brittle underpinning can take.

When you think back to three years ago, and remember how they were lauding the since-eclipsed Mays, you wonder what now for Mantle. One big season isn't a ticket to Cooperstown and, while he has the gas, it's a question now on whether he has the wheels.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19 (AP) — The North Carolina Tar Heels led the United Press college basketball ratings today for the fifth straight time, but their point-margin over the Kansas Jayhawks narrowed for the third week in a row.

The 35 leading coaches who rate the teams for the United Press gave North Carolina 23 first-place votes and a total of 384 points. Kansas received 11 first-place votes and 315 points.

The Jayhawks trailed by 19 points after being behind by 21 last week.

The ballots were based on games played through Feb. 16. There were no newcomers and only one minor change of positions in the top 10.

Kentucky and Southern Methodist were 3-4 for the fourth straight week with 233 and 196 points, respectively.

UCLA advanced from sixth into a tie with Bradley for fifth place. Seattle remained seventh, Louisville eighth, California ninth and Iowa State tenth.

Points are distributed on a 10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1 basis for votes from first to tenth place. Indiana replaced Canisius in 11th place. Brigham Young was 12th and a Vanderbilt 13th. Dayton was 14th.

SETH COOPER

Candidate For

JAILER

To The Voters of Calloway County:

For many years I have wanted to be Jailer of Calloway County, and I have asked for this office and have been given a good vote, for which I thank each of you.

Most of you know that I have been an officer for many years and that I am experienced and qualified for the office of Jailer.

Many of you have encouraged me to run this time and have assured me of your support, for this I thank you.

If you elect me your Jailer, I promise to attend to the duties of the office to the very best of my ability. I will keep all of the court house and grounds in good condition. My service will be for you at all times.

I am a member of the First Baptist Church of Murray, and a member of the Woodmen of the World. My home is at 507 Chestnut Street, here in Murray.

I have always had to work hard for a living, having hauled sawdust, ice, farmed, and been police officer.

I will try to see each of you personally and to ask you for your vote. I realize that I can not possibly see every one, so please consider this as my appeal to you for your vote and influence.

Please give me a chance to serve you as Jailer by electing me in the May 28th Democratic primary.

Yours truly,

Seth Cooper

Back To The Auld Sod Says Scotty

By DOC QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — It was several months ago on a rainy, miserable day when I walked past the barber shop and into the No. 10 car in the bank of elevators in our building and said to Scotty, the veteran operator of No. 10:

"Bet it's a swell day right now in Scotland."

Scotty shot the elevator upward, turned a beaming face toward me, and said in his quiet burr: "Next spring, I'll be there."

He said it had been 33 years since he left — a lad of 25 — his native Fifehire, a maritime county between the Firth of Forth and the Firth of Tay, a place of lowlands, moors, and the loch hills, of gorse and heather and green grass.

The nameplate on No. 10 said "John Feely," but everybody in our building always called him Scotty. A soft-voiced, pleasant man with a black brush of hair, sprinkled with gray, who never argued or quarreled, but who upheld with a passion the glory of his native sod.

There's no place like home, he'd say. And many times, especially during the last five years, his friend Walter Kuzmics, a fellow operator, recalls, he would add: "Some day I'm goin' to go to Scotland."

some day I'm goin' to go back home."

Scotty grew up in Glenora, a coal mining village not far as he was fond of pointing out, from Dunfermline, where the great Andrew Carnegie was born. His boyhood sweetheart was Jean Woodworth. Scotty worked in the mine. When Jean moved to neighboring Valleyfield, he took the trolley 14 miles on week ends to see her.

Had His Ticket

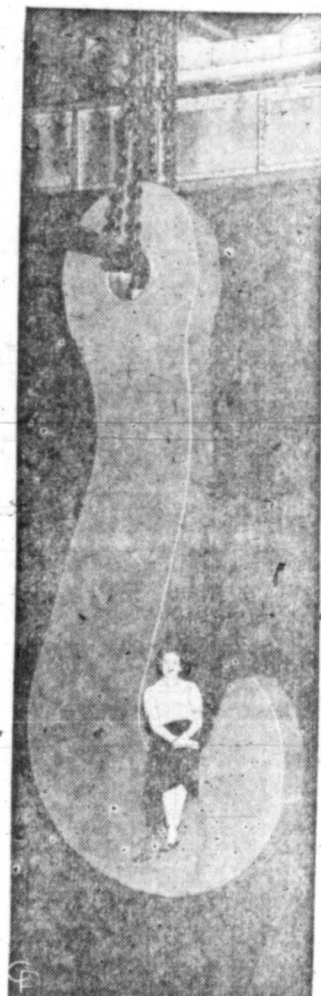

His older brother, Jim, and many of Scotty's friends came to America, and in 1924 his friends enticed him here. He and Jean were married in New York and they had one son. But as Jim says: "He had that desire to go back. He said everything was so quiet there, everything was so quiet there."

Finally, last year, there seemed to be enough money, and Scotty's promise of "some day" changed to "next spring." Then, this year, "I've got my ticket." He confided to Kuzmics: "If things turn out right, I won't be back."

Scotty sold the furniture in his apartment. He cleaned out his locker in our office building. He and Jean and their son Martin, now 26, boarded the Queen Elizabeth, headed home. As the liner came in sight of the British shore, Scotty died of a heart attack.

"It was always his desire to go back home," Jim said. "He went — but not as he desired."

the person gets warm, the glass in the window remains relatively cool, because the glass merely has transmitted the rays.

Because the walls of the electronic oven are metal, they reflect the microwave energy. Since there is no absorption, both the walls and dish remain cool.

Microwave energy penetrates the food from all sides. It generates instant heat to depths of about two and one-half inches. On the other hand, conventional cooking depends upon the slow process of conduction to carry the excessive heat exposed on the surface to the interior of the food.

The food gets hot because of the friction created by the food molecules as they rearrange themselves under the influence of microwaves. Although the reaction is quite complex, it does not create any physical changes in the food except those normally produced by heat.

The Tappan electronic range operates on 220-volt electric current, just the same as ordinary electric ranges.

South Murray Club Meets In Home Of Mrs. Perry Cavitt

"Learning to Make Draperies" was the subject of the lesson for the all day meeting of the South Murray Homemakers held in the home of Mrs. Perry Cavitt on North Sixteenth Street on Thursday, February 14.

Points brought out were that with the modern home of many large windows, much money can be saved by being able to make your own draperies. Before buying the material much consideration should be given to the selection.

Mrs. Ollie Brown gave an interesting landscape lesson. She said that slugs and snails are destroying many of the tulips, dog lilies, and other spring plants that are coming up. This can be prevented by removing the mulch from the plants. She also reminded the group that now is the time to reseed the lawn if needed. Sow blue grass seed on the frozen ground at the rate of 14 to 15 pounds per 1000 square feet of lawn.

Twelve members answered the roll call with a helpful hint. Mrs. L. E. Fisk gave the devotion with Mrs. E. C. Jones leading in prayer. Those songs were sung by the fifth grade who plan to sing over the local radio station soon. Eight past presidents of the PTA chapter were present. They were J. V. Starks, Mrs. Johnnie Walker, Mrs. Kenneth Palmer, Mrs. Howard Bazzell, Mrs. Doris Ezell, Mrs. Hanzell Ezell, Mrs. Vernon Tucker, and Mrs. James Gray. The absent ones were Mrs. Otis Patton, Mrs. Loyd Cunningham, and Mrs. Frank Blankenship.

A moment of silence was observed for Mrs. C. C. Salmon, now deceased.

Plans were completed for the community supper to be held Thursday, February 21, at six-thirty o'clock in the evening. A door prize will be awarded. Tickets may be purchased from Miss Hazel Smith and Mrs. A. D. Butterworth at the school.

PROTEIN FOOD NECESSARY IN DAILY DIET OF OLDSTERS

For people of advancing years, the importance of eating the right foods in proper amounts cannot be over-emphasized, says Mrs. Pearl Haak, UK Extension foods specialist.

Protein foods — milk, meat and eggs — are particularly needed, she said, to repair and build-up body tissues. The daily use of such foods will contribute to a feeling of well-being and to those physical characteristics that reflect good health, she said.

In general, more protective foods — the vitamins and minerals — are needed along with proteins, but fewer starches and sugars, the high-calorie foods.

The daily food supply, which should include the following for each older person, might be served in the usual three meals with mid-morning and mid-afternoon snacks, said Mrs. Haak:

1 pt milk
1 1/2 lb lean meat
1 egg
A serving of citrus fruits or tomato juice
Green or yellow vegetable
Three other servings of fruits or vegetables (total of five)
Whole grain and enriched bread and cereals

Hazel WSCS Meets At The Home Of Mrs. Owen Brandon

The home of Mrs. Owen Brandon was the scene of the regular meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Society of the Hazel Methodist Church held on Thursday, February 14, at seven o'clock in the evening with Mrs. Robert Taylor, chairman, presiding.

Mrs. Claude White was in charge of the program on the theme, "Whom Shall I Send." Mrs. Rex Huie gave the devotion. A dialogue, "Those Who Serve," was presented by Mrs. Claude White and Mrs. Claude Anderson.

An interesting story, "US Two Paradise," from the Methodist Woman was read by Mrs. Taylor. Mrs. Huie closed the meeting with prayer.

Lovely refreshments in the Valentine motif were served by the hostess to the thirteen members and three guests—Mrs. Guy Caldwell, Mrs. John McCulloch, and Mrs. John Deale.

Woman's Society Of Christian Service Meets Saturday

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Gales Camp Ground Methodist Church held its regular meeting at the church on Saturday, February 16, at two o'clock in the afternoon.

"Those Who Love" was the theme of the program presented with the president of the WSCS, Mrs. Boyce Norman, in charge. She was assisted by Mrs. Charlie Lassiter and Mrs. Raymond Wraher. Mrs. Emily Lassiter led in prayer.

Mrs. Golda Cird, district supply secretary, was the guest speaker and gave a report on the things the rural churches are expected to do in the supply work.

During the social hour delightful refreshments were served by the committee to the fourteen persons present.

Butter
Fats and fried foods retard digestion, and should be reduced in amount by older people, said Mrs. Haak.

Crackers, doughnuts and sweet rolls are not usually made of vitamin-enriched flour, she said. When they are used for snacks, the body is deprived of necessary vitamins.

How's that again? Maurice Gosfield, who plays "Pvt. Doberman" on the Phil Silvers show, will make his Carnegie Hall debut Feb. 24 as guest soloist with the West Point Glee Club. ABC-TV and Liberate couldn't see wallet-to-wallet on plans for a planned daytime variety show. Twentieth Century Fox is pitching a long-term contract at Tony Randall, the former "Harvey Weskit" of the old "Mr. Peepers" show.

"Lysistrata," scooped, as a spectacular by NBC-TV this season after Marilyn Monroe pulled out, is in the works again for next semester — John Huston will direct. "You Are There" returns for a new 20-week run after May 5 on CBS-TV.

Russia And Satellites Face Trouble

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Soviet Russia and its satellites are facing serious economic difficulties.

The situation stems from the rebellions in Poland and Hungary. Russia itself, East Germany, Czechoslovakia and Hungary are the countries chiefly affected.

But the difficulties extend also to other Soviet satellite nations. The Soviet government has disclosed some of the problems involved in a series of announcements that started in December with the dismissal of Deputy Premier Maxim Z. Saburov, its chief economic planner.

Russia has sharply cut back the rate of its industrial expansion. East Germany and Czechoslovakia are threatened by possibly the biggest shortage of coal since the end of World War II. Hungary's whole economic situation is little better than chaotic.

Reasons For Troubles

What has happened is that the tightly interlocking economic systems of Russia and the satellites have been thrown out of gear.

For years, Russia was able to direct, exploit and loot the industries of its Communist satellites.

Now Poland is directing its industry for its own good under Wladyslaw Gomulka, its independent Communist leader.

Poland's coal was used, for instance, for Russia's benefit until its rebellion. The coal was sold by Russian demand, at lower than world prices. Now the Soviet government has been compelled to agree to renegotiate its coal contracts. But even with that, Poland is getting first hand in its own production.

Hungary, which was a source of food, raw materials and industrial products for countries of the Soviet bloc, has become a liability instead of an asset and is crying for aid from Russia.

Production Goods Missed

On January 30, the Soviet government announced that there was a rise of 11 per cent in industrial production in 1956. But it disclosed that the basic industries of steel, coal and building materials, among others, had failed to meet their quotas for the year.

Last Saturday the Supreme Soviet, the parliament of the Soviet Union, approved a 1957 budget which provided for the biggest cutback in 20 years in the rate of economic expansion.

On Feb. 6, Bruno Leuschner, chief economic planner for East Germany, announced that 1957 production quotas must be cut and the program for capital investments whittled down because of the failure of Poland and Hungary to meet their export agreements.

The most serious immediate problem for the East German Reds is the coal shortage. Communist leaders have started to appeal to technicians and ordinary workers to volunteer for service in German mines to help make up the shortage.

Worst Since War

Western Intelligence sources in Berlin report that the coal shortage threatens to be the most serious since the war, and that lack of fuel has caused cuts in electric power to factories.

On Feb. 8, Czechoslovak Premier Vilam Siroky announced that unless Czechoslovak miners increased coal production there would be a serious decline in the output of industrial goods.

In addition to all these developments of the last few weeks, there is the fact that many leading economists are most skeptical of all Russian statements boasting of industrial expansion. Especially they doubt all fig-

Announces As A Candidate For

JAILER of Calloway County

Subject To The Democratic Primary May 28, 1957

TO THE VOTERS OF MURRAY AND CALLOWAY COUNTY —

I wish to take this opportunity to announce my candidacy for the office of Jailer of Calloway County.

I do not have to introduce myself to many of you good people of Calloway County, as I came here as a boy of six and have lived here the rest of the time.

I was born in Trigg County, the son of William McCage and Mary Cunningham McCage. I am married to the former Harlin Steele, daughter of "Uncle Tom" and "Aunt Hattie" Steele.

I know many of you people and I do not feel I will have to campaign with those of you who know me, but take this opportunity to earnestly solicit your vote.

I shall try to personally contact those of you who do not know me, and make every effort to know you better, and know the kind of jailer you desire, for I shall be a servant of the people.

I promise to do my best to keep the court house clean so that it will not be objectionable to the women working there and to the women whose business takes them there. I promise to keep the grounds so they will be attractive and free of litter.

This is a personal request to each of you should I fail to see you to please remember me at election time.

Sincerely,

W. Floyd McCAGE

Sammy Davis Is Hard Working Gent

By DOC QUIGG

United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — One of the hardest working persons in our town is a Harlem-born gent, who started off toward juvenile delinquency but was rescued by an intense desire for the stage.

This tornado of energy now is 31 years old, stands 5-feet-6, weighs a hefty 121 pounds, drinks a case and a half of cream soda a week, works efficiently at professional photography, makes phonograph records, plays benefits, and practices the Old West fastdraw so assiduously that he can get a 45 drawn from the hip, cocked, and fired in one-half second.

Between these activities he appears six nights and two matinees a week in a Broadway show in which he sings, dances, plays trumpet, drums, bass, and guitar, does impressions and impersonations and a bit of dramatic acting.

He Wastes No Time

Three years ago, he lost an eye in an automobile wreck. It slowed him up for only 11 weeks, during convalescence. Then he plunged into work as hard as ever.

His name is Sammy Davis Jr. When his show, "Mr. Wonderful," closes this month, after a run of a little more than a year, he is scheduled for a two-day vacation before starting night club work. "Mr. Wonderful" is a two and one-half hour show, and Davis is on stage for an hour and 15 minutes of it.

Sammy did not go immediately into show business. He lay around the house, doing nothing and earning no money, until he was two and a half years old. Then his father and uncle, who were headlining at a Philadelphia theater, entered him in an amateur contest there.

He sang, "I'll Be Glad When You're Dead, You Rascal You," enunciating clearly and hitting every note. He won, and he's been winning audiences rather regularly ever since.

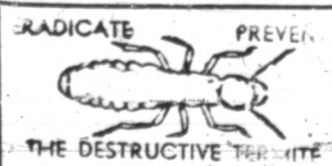

Headed For Movies

The Davis show-business ability has been so headlined that his photography career gets little public attention. He has been accepted by the Society of Magazine Photographers, top grade organization.

His fast-draw study grew out of a hobby—collecting guns. He has about 75 single-action Colts, many of them with papers vouching for their rarity and authenticity.

Sammy is headed for the movies next fall. His first picture will be "The Jazz Train" with Frank Sinatra. Then, he is interested in doing the life of Henry Armstrong, the three-weight boxing champ.

He was asked what, of all the varied possibilities for the future, he wanted to do most. "Get some sleep," he replied.
