Seen & Heard Around Murray

L. D. Miller is on the ball. He has already met with the ladies of the Garden Department of the Murray Woman's Club to select a tree, a shrub and a flower for Murray.

The idea is to dress up the front yards of Murray. The early tree is the red bud and the summer tree is the mimosa. The shrub is the crepe myrtle and the flower is the day lily.

The mimosa is a fast growing tree and is particularly suited to our area. It will grow fast and has a beautiful blossom. It will attract humming birds from a wide area.

The red bud tree is pretty and blooms early. The shrub, the crepe myrtle, makes one of the nicest plants in a yard. It is slow growing, but makes one of the prettiest flowering shrubs in a yard. The ladies in the Garden Department will probably have some publicity later on as to how to plant them and how to care for them.

Plants and shrubs need care, they just won't grow. You have to keep bugs off of them, keep them fertilized, etc.

The flower, the day lily, comes in several different colors, although the most popular one around Murray is a shade of orange. This is a hardy one and takes little care. It multiplies rapidly and can be kept under control easily.

We commend L. D. and the Garden Department on this project, which will have as the end result, a more beautiful Murray.

Incidentally you can make your backyard as beautiful as your front yard at little expense. Just clean the place up and plant some things that don't cost much.

You can get many things free from folks who have a lot of iris, jonquils, etc.

A fine pair of mules passed the the office yesterday, an uncommon sight today.

Brandon Hill is building a nice home on South 9th Street. Mrs. Hill drew the plans for the house herself.

Limitations Removed On Weed, ARP

Removal of maximum limitations on tobacco for the Acreage Reserve Program-1957, was announced yesterday by the county ASC office.

This affects burley, fire cured, dark air cured and cigar type 42-44 tobacco, but is not applicable to cigar binder types 51, 52, 54 and 55.

Tobacco farmers having old farm allotments may sign agreements for acreage up to 100 per cent of the farm allotment, with regard to the maximum farm limit.

The three stipulations in the removal are: (1) Counties having an allotment of less than 2,000 acres for the particular type.

(2) Counties having allotments of 2,000 acres or more and when state and county committees, on the basis of participation to date, are of the opinion that the total acreage signed would not exceed 45 per cent of the allotment.

(3) Counties having allotments of more than 2,000 acres when state and county committees consider that the total acreage taken would not have serious adverse effect on the economy of the county even though the acreage taken would exceed 45 per cent of county allotments.

Farmers listed on CRS-923 and those who indicate a desire to enter acreage above maximum farm limit will have 10 days from date of notice or from March 1 to sign agreements.

Beshear Team Falls To Purcell Five In Hazel Blind Tournery

The gallant Murray Training School Colts fell to the Clinton Red Devils 7-62, in the opening kick-off of the Blind tournament at Hazel last night.

The drawings held forty-five minutes before game time pitted Murray Training against Clinton and Hazel against Cayce. It was somewhat ironical that the opening clash should place in opposition, two former Murray State stars, Garrett Beshear of Murray Training and Bennie Purcell, coach of the Clinton Red Devils.

Murray Training broke the ice and ran up a quick 6-0 lead that built into a 16-6 first quarter margin. It was a determined Clinton who took the floor in the second stanza and they knotted the score 18-18 with a little over three minutes remaining in the first half.

From this point on the contest was tied seven times and the lead changed rapidly. At halftime, the Colts trailed by two, 26-28.

Murray Training pulled ahead at the beginning of the third period on three free throws by Larry Parker and held on until midway in the quarter when the Red Devils edged past to lead the remainder of the contest. The Colts trailed by five at the start of the fourth quarter, 47-52 and by five as the home sounded ending the contest, 62-67.

Billy Rogers led the MTS scoring with 17, as four Murrayans scored in double figures, and shared game honors with Privity who tossed in 17 as high man for Clinton.

Host Hazel fell to the Cayce Tigers 12-53 in the second contest of the evening.

Cayce scoring on the opening tip-off maintained a slim margin throughout the quarter to lead 11-15 as the first period ended. The second stanza seemed as if it might be a reproduction of the first but the Tigers began to pull away in the closing minutes and led 34-23 at halftime.

Added height and rebound power began to tell in the third period and the visitors were able to roll up a third period lead, 53-37, that swept them on to their 72-53 triumph.

Curlin was high for the Tigers quintet with a 20 point production that gave him high point honors for the night. Duncan paced the losers with 17.

First Game Individual scoring: Clinton; Thompson 15, Jewell 1, Martin 15, Privity 17, Spicer 8, Jackson 11.

Murray Training; Rogers 17, Suter 13, John Shroat 13, L. Parker 5, M. Parker 3, Marshall 11.

Cayce; Mosley 18, Curtisinger 5, Henderson 14, Curlin 20, Brown 2, Shelton 2, Myers 1, Williams 9.

Hazel; Waters 3, Hampton 10, Taylor 8, Curd 7, Raspberry 2, Duncan 17, Hutson 6.

G. W. Edmonds Named Head Bang Drive

The farmers in the Kirksey community are after bang's disease. At an adult class meeting Tuesday night, Feb. 19, Mr. Hamp Brooks, agriculture teacher, explained that Calloway County has been selected as one of two counties in the state of Kentucky to pilot the Area Bang's Eradication Program.

This program is sponsored by both the State and Federal Departments of Agriculture. The county has been divided into areas by school districts.

For the area testing program to get started 75 per cent of the farmers who own 80 per cent of the cattle in the county must sign the petition. G. W. Edmonds was elected chairman of this program in the Kirksey community. Mr. Edmonds and his brother-in-law, John Cunningham, operate a sizeable farm business. Livestock is their main livestock enterprise.

They are considered a pair of the good up-to-date farmers in Calloway County.

According to Mr. Edmonds this drive on the Area Testing Program in the Kirksey community will be completed by Monday, Feb. 25. Others farmers who are assisting in this drive are:

Warren Mills Has Completed Basic

Airman Warren Andrew Mills, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Mills, 1413 W. Main St., Murray, is completing the first phase of his basic military training at the "Gateway to the Air Force," Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

Upon completion of this training, he will be assigned to an Air Force technical training course or an advanced basic training course leading to a specialized Air Force job.

While at Lackland the new enlistee undergoes the transition from civilian to airman through a program which includes processing, aptitude testing, physical conditioning, survival and weapons training, and classroom studies ranging from citizenship to military customs and courtesies.

Like the USAF Officer Candidate and Pre-Flight Schools, also located at Lackland, basic military training lays the groundwork for either an on-the-job assignment or vocational schooling in line with capability of the individual.

Two Murray Seniors Are Recognized

Two seniors at Murray High School have been commended by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation for distinguished performance in its nationwide search for students of unusual ability, according to principal W. B. Moser.

The students honored are Donald Buxton and Beale Canon. They have also been named Kentucky state runners-up in the 1957 Merit Scholarship competition.

"The seniors honored today are among the top one or two per cent in ability in the state," according to John M. Stalaker, President of NMSC. "While they did not quite reach the finals of the 1957 Merit Scholarship competition, their unusual promise deserves recognition. Indeed, we want to encourage every one of them to make a special effort to obtain the best college education possible. Both student and country will profit."

As state runners-up, the local students will be sent letters of commendation by NMSC for use in applying to the colleges they wish to attend.

Lynn Grove Stars Will Join Rex

Two Lynn Grove hardwood stars, who never quite got together in high school, will be team mates at Murray State next year.

Johnny West, who graduated from Lynn Grove four years ago and immediately left for service, has already enrolled at Murray and reports indicate that Coach Rex Alexander is quite pleased with the mobility of the 6-6 center.

Another act that must have pleased the Coach is the acquiring of present Lynn Grove star Tommy McNeely, who does everything with the gift of a basketball wizard. The talented McNeely is second in the Purchase in scoring with 710 points.

It could be that the cage-minded Lynn Grove fans will change the name of Murray State to Lynn Grove University in about two years, and they figure there is more coming.

Thieves Get Tires, Wheels During Game

Thieves played havoc with automobiles parked in the Murray State parking lots last night, while their owners were enjoying the Murray State-Louisville game, making off with tires and wheels.

The city police said this morning that a total of four had been victimized. All were new cars and no clues have been unearthed as to the identity of the bandits.

One fan jumped into his vehicle and attempted to drive off unaware of an absent rear wheel. A 1957 Ford was minus all four.

Murray State To Get $250,000

FRANKFORT —Gov. A. B. Chandler announced Wednesday that each of Kentucky's five state-supported colleges had been allocated $250,000 in state funds toward its building fund.

The $1,250,000 grant from the state's capital improvements fund is the initial allocation for a $3,250,000 building expansion at the five schools.

Chandler said the allocations were made in line with his policy of supporting adequately all of the educational functions of the Commonwealth.

Final determination of projects to be financed will be made from engineers' reports, the governor added.

The state Department of Finance estimated that the five colleges now have a bonding capacity of about $2,270,000 for building purposes in addition to the new grant.

Chandler said the bonding capacity plus the $1,250,000 nucleus should more than satisfy the immediate construction needs of the colleges while the state is converting to a long-rang building program for its schools.

The $1,250,000 allocation was part of more than $6 million in capital improvements appropriations voted by the 1956 General Assembly for the current biennium.

Colleges affected are: Morehead State College, Eastern Kentucky State College, Western Kentucky State College, Kentucky State College and Murray State College.

Thousands Of American Motorists Are Being Saved Each Year With Safety Devices On Cars

By ROBERT J. STERLING, United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK — Thousands of American motorists have been saved from serious injury or death by two safety devices which the automobile industry began to install on new cars last year.

One—now standard equipment on all new cars—is the so-called "safety door lock." These locks are designed to keep doors from popping open in accidents. They cost about 50 cents a door.

The other, offered as optional equipment on new cars, is the seat belt.

Have these two items—belts and door locks—saved lives and prevented injuries?

Yes, is the answer from a group which should know—Cornell University Medical College's auto crash research injury project. For months, the project has been studying detailed accident reports, filed by police officials in twelve states. These reports provide a contrast between accidents in cars equipped with the new safety features, and accidents of comparable severity in cars without these features.

This is what the record shows:

1. Occupants in cars with safety belts had 60.4 per cent fewer injuries of all degrees.

2. Occupants with belts had 60 per cent fewer injuries in the moderate-to-fatal injury grade category.

3. Occupants with belts had fewer dangerous-to-fatal grade injuries, but the difference was "not statistically significant due to insufficient data."

4. Reduced the risk of doors opening during impact by as much as 33 per cent in non-rollover accidents and somewhat less in rollovers.

5. Decreased the risk of occupant ejection through open doors by up to 49 per cent.

6. Reduced the risk of dangerous and fatal injuries by 29 per cent primarily the result of retaining passengers in the protective shell of the car.

7. Aim To Prevent Ejection. Both belts and door locks are aimed primarily at preventing ejection from cars. Ejection is a major cause of automotive crash injuries, and a surprise to many experts who figured that what happened inside the car was the biggest factor in causing injuries.

But the Cornell project since 1955 has studied more than 8,000 separate accidents. It found that ejection is one of the most frequently reported causes of injury, accounting for 29 per cent of injuries and deaths.

The other major injury-causing components: Instrument panel—12 per cent; steering wheel—11 per cent; windshield—11 per cent; door components—six per cent.

8. Seat Belts Criticized. Some safety experts have criticized seat belts, claiming that they can cause as many injuries as they prevent and they are not of appreciable value in preventing occupants from being thrown forward. The Cornell findings appear to refute such charges.

Boris Tourin, supervisor of technical operations for the Cornell project, says critics of belts "ignore that their prime responsibility is to keep occupants from being thrown out of the car."

"When someone says belts are not good because they're only 60 per cent effective," adds Tourin, "that's like condemning a serum because it cures only 60 per cent of the patients. We saw one report denouncing a belt that didn't hold when the test car hit a parked steamroller at 40 miles an hour. Actually, belts are less effective in accidents involving collisions with fixed objects, but such collisions represent less than 15 per cent of highway accidents."

Door Locks

1. Reduced the risk of doors opening during impact by as much as 33 per cent in non-rollover accidents and somewhat less in rollovers.

2. Decreased the risk of occupant ejection through open doors by up to 49 per cent.

3. Reduced the risk of dangerous and fatal injuries by 29 per cent primarily the result of retaining passengers in the protective shell of the car.

Boost In Bond Interest Is Requested

WASHINGTON — The Treasury asked permission of Congress today to boost interest on federal savings bonds sold after Feb. 1 from 3 to 3 1/2 per cent.

If the increase is needed because sale of E savings bonds is lagging and cash-in are soaring.

A bill to carry out the Treasury's request was introduced in the House Public hearings on it will be held next Thursday.

The Treasury asked fast action. Several key congressmen have said they approve the proposed hike.

Interest on bonds bought on or after Feb. 1 automatically would be computed at the new rate. The maturity period on such bonds would be shortened to eight years and 11 months from the present nine years and 8 months. There would be no change in the interest rate on bonds bought before Feb. 1.

Many commercial banks already have boosted interest on savings to 3 1/2 per cent and many savings and loan associations, say 3 1/2 per cent, some 4 per cent.

The Treasury said savings bond sales fell $600 million short of the goal last year. In January, cash-in on E bonds hit a monthly high of $1.5 billion. They topped $1 billion for the first time since 1952.

As of now, some 40 million persons own more than $41 billion of E and H bonds.

Other congressional news: Oil for Europe: Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today that the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees. He said he will call the measure before the Senate soon, probably Monday.

RESTAURANT SURVEY SHOWS BUYING HABITS

The vegetable buying habits of restaurants, as learned in a survey, are of interest to vegetable growers, as well as to patrons of restaurants.

In a USDA Agricultural Marketing Survey made of 342 restaurants that served meals of $1 or over, it was found that 31 per cent of the vegetables used by them were in frozen form; 38 per cent, canned and 31 per cent, fresh.

The researchers learned further that if a customer orders broccoli, lima beans or cauliflower, the chances are six out of 10 that the vegetables will have been frozen.

If the customer orders sweet corn, green beans, green peas, or asparagus, it is most likely they were canned. Carrots and leafy greens are the only two vegetables that are consistently served fresh, it was learned.

As for fruit, more apples are bought fresh, more cherries and strawberries frozen, and more peaches are canned, according to the restaurant survey.

All firms or individuals violated the anti-trust laws in the recent price increases, they should be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law.

Civil Rights: Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. asked Congress not to tack an anti-lynching provision to President Eisenhower's civil rights program. He said lynching is primarily a local problem. Adding special amendments to the program would "guarantee its defeat," Brownell said.

Doctrine: Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson announced support of the softened version of the Eisenhower Middle East doctrine approved Wednesday night by the Senate.

Shrimp Invades Toy Industry

NEW YORK — Nature has come up with an assist to the toy industry this year. Its contribution is the shrimp.

The shrimp, or rather the eggs of same, were a highlight of the annual Toy Fair this month. The eggs are part of the equipment that comes with a microscope set for children. They can be kept indefinitely and hatched at will for the budding scientists to observe.

The A. C. Gilbert Company has inspired to add shrimp to its long line of practical and educational items for children by heavy rains in the west a few months ago. A lake bed was covered with water for the first time in 25 years. A few hours later thousands of tiny shrimp were observed in the water.

Artemia is the name of this brine shrimp, notable for the great length of egg hibernation. The eggs withstand extremes of temperature and climate. They hatch when in contact with water. The toy firm discovered there was a huge supply of such eggs in desert areas of the Southwest had no trouble getting them for the microscope sets.

The Artemia has a brief life span. An egg hatches in two hours and the tiny shrimp matures in a day, outliving three hawks in 30 days. It provides the answer to a Gilbert dream of years—to be able to give its youthful microscope students the means of watching a living organism's life cycle.

P. S.—Mother: These shrimp are not for table use.

Here's how to lay water pipes between farm buildings as they need—never be dug up! Lay a 4-inch line of cemented-joint sewer pipe or composition asphalt pipe in the trench and simply push the water pipe through it so it can be removed for repairs in case of freeze, but air can be blown through the jacket pipe for thawing.

The red bud tree is pretty and blooms early. The shrub, the crepe myrtle, makes one of the nicest plants in a yard. It is slow growing, but makes one of the prettiest flowering shrubs in a yard. The ladies in the Garden Department will probably have some publicity later on as to how to plant them and how to care for them.

Plants and shrubs need care, they just won't grow. You have to keep bugs off of them, keep them fertilized, etc.

The flower, the day lily, comes in several different colors, although the most popular one around Murray is a shade of orange. This is a hardy one and takes little care. It multiplies rapidly and can be kept under control easily.

We commend L. D. and the Garden Department on this project, which will have as the end result, a more beautiful Murray.

Incidentally you can make your backyard as beautiful as your front yard at little expense. Just clean the place up and plant some things that don't cost much.

You can get many things free from folks who have a lot of iris, jonquils, etc.

A fine pair of mules passed the the office yesterday, an uncommon sight today.

Beshear Team Falls To Purcell Five In Hazel Blind Tournery

The gallant Murray Training School Colts fell to the Clinton Red Devils 67-62, in the opening kick-off of the Blind tournament at Hazel last night.

The drawings held forty-five minutes before game time pitted Murray Training against Clinton and Hazel against Cayce. It was somewhat ironic that the opening clash should place in opposition, two former Murray State stars, Garrett Beshear of Murray Training and Bennie Purcell, coach of the Clinton Red Devils.

Murray Training broke the ice and ran up a quick 6-0 lead that built into a 16-6 first quarter margin. It was a determined Clinton team that took the floor in the second stanza and they knotted the score 18-18 with a little over three minutes remaining in the first half. From this point on the contest was tied seven times and the lead changed frequently.

At halftime, the Colts trailed by two, 26-28. Murray Training pulled ahead at the beginning of the third period on three free throws by Larry Parker and held on until midway in the quarter when the Red Devils edged past to lead the remainder of the contest. The Colts trailed by five at the start of the fourth quarter, 47-52 and by five as the home team ended the contest 67-62.

Billy Rogers led the MTS scoring with 17, as four Murrrayans scored in double figures, and shared game honors with Pruitt who tossed in 17 as high man for Clinton.

Host Hazel fell to the Cayce Tigers 72-53 in the second contest of the evening.

Cayce scoring on the opening tip-off maintained a slim margin throughout the quarter to lead 14-11 as the first period ended. The second stanza seemed as if it might be a reproduction of the first but the Tigers began to pull away in the closing minutes and led 34-23 at halftime.

Added height and rebound power began to tell in the third period and the visitors were able to roll up a third period lead, 33-37, that swept them on to their 72-53 triumph.

Cutlin was high for the Tigers quintet with a 20 point production that gave him high point honors for the night. Duncan paced the losers with 17.

First Game
Individual scoring: Clinton, Thompson 15, Jewell 1, Martin 15, Pruitt 17, Spicer 8, Jackson 11.
Murray Training: Rogers 17, Suter 13, John Shroat 13, L. Parker 5, M. Parker 3, Marshall 11.

Second Game
Cayce, Mosley 18, Curstin 20, Brown 2, Shelton 2, Myers 1, Williams 9.
Hazel: Waters 3, Hampton 10, Taylor 8, Curd 7, Raspberry 2, Duncan 17, Hutson 6.

G. W. Edmonds Named Head Bang Drive

The farmers in the Kirksey community are after bang's disease. At an adult class meeting Tuesday night, Feb. 19, Mr. Hamp Brooks, agriculture teacher, explained that Callaway County has been selected as one of two counties in the state of Kentucky to pilot the Area Bang's Eradication Program.

This program is sponsored by both the State and Federal Departments of Agriculture. The county has been divided into areas by school districts.

For the area testing program to get started 75 per cent of the farmers who own 80 per cent of the cattle in the county must sign the petition. G. W. Edmonds was elected chairman of this program in the Kirksey community. Mr. Edmonds and his brother-in-law, John Cunningham, operate a sizeable farm business. Dairying is their main livestock enterprise.

They are considered a pair of the good up to date farmers in Calloway County.

According to Mr. Edmonds this drive on the Area Testing Program in the Kirksey community will be completed by Monday, Feb. 25. Others farmers who are assisting in this drive are:

Jim Washer, Doris Ezell, Crawford Hanley, Virgil Gibbs, Rex Parker, Douglas Tucker, James Potts, Kenneth Palmer, A. A. Doherty, Truman Edwards, Twyman Edwards, Max Oliver, Urban Belcher, O. L. Cain, Jr., H. A. Swift, Brooks Watson, John Cunningham, O. L. Limitations
Removed On Weed, ARP

Removal of maximum limitations on tobacco for the Acreage Reserve Program-1957, was announced yesterday by the county ASC office.

This affects burley, fire cured, dark air cured and cigar type 42-44 tobacco, but is not applicable to cigar binder types 51, 52, 54 and 55.

Tobacco farmers having old farm allotments may sign agreements for acreage up to 100 per cent of the farm allotment, with regard to the maximum farm limit.

The three stipulations in the removal are: (1) Counties having an allotment of less than 2,000 acres for the particular type. (2) Counties having allotments of 2,000 acres or more, and when state and county committees, on the basis of participation to date, are of the opinion that the total acreage signed would not exceed 45 per cent of the allotment. (3) Counties having allotments of more than 2,000 acres when state and county committees consider that the total acreage taken would not have serious adverse effect on the economy of the county even though the acreage taken out would exceed 45 per cent of county allotments.

Farmers listed on CRS-823 and those who indicate a desire to enter acreage above maximum farm limit will have 10 days from date of notice or from March 1 to sign agreements.

Murray State To Get $250,000

FRANKFORT — Gov. A. B. Chandler announced Wednesday that each of Kentucky's five state-supported colleges had been allocated $250,000 in state funds toward its building fund.

The $1,250,000 grant from the state's capital improvements fund is the initial allocation for a $3,520,000 building expansion at the five schools.

Chandler said the allocations were made in line with his policy of supporting adequately all of the educational functions of the Commonwealth.

Final determination of projects to be financed will be made from engineers' reports, the governor added.

The state Department of Finance estimated that the five colleges now have a bonding capacity of about $2,270,000 for building purposes in addition to the new grant.

Chandler said the bonding capacity plus the $1,250,000 nucleus should more than satisfy the immediate construction needs of the colleges while the state is converting to a long-rang building program for its schools.

The $1,250,000 allocation was part of more than $8 million in capital improvements appropriations voted by the 1956 General Assembly for the current biennium.

Colleges affected are: Morehead State College, Eastern Kentucky State College, Western Kentucky State College, Kentucky State College and Murray State College.

Two Murray Seniors Are Recognized

Two seniors at Murray High School have been commended by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation for distinguished performance in its nationwide search for students of unusual ability, according to principal W. B. Moser.

The students honored are: Donald L. Tolley and Bennie Cutlin. They have also been named Kentucky state runners-up in the 1957 Merit Scholarship competition.

"The seniors honored today are among the top one or two per cent in ability in the state," according to John M. Stalnaker, President of NMSC. "While they did not quite reach the finals of the 1957 Merit Scholarship competition, their unusual promise deserves recognition. Indeed, we want to encourage every one of them to make a special effort to obtain the best college education possible. Both student and country will profit."

As state runners-up, the local students will be sent letters of commendation by NMSC for use in applying to the colleges they wish to attend.

Tyra, Et Al, Defeat Murray Last Night

Murray State fought gamely but could not outdo the stylish Louisville team in a 97-82 defeat before 5200 fans in the season's home final.

The two Cardinals who broke the Rabers back were All-American Charley Tyra and classes Jim Morgan. The latter hit with amazing accuracy before fouling out early in the game.

Tyra controlled the boards with the fury of a lion copping game honors with 29 points, 13 in the foul line. Morgan followed with 26.

Murray stayed in striking range of the tall invaders throughout the contest with superior outside hitting. Sherrell Margrave marking his last home game, his best one, paced the Rabers with 24 points. Gerald Faber turned in another maximum performance with 23. Terry Darnell garnered 14 on a last half spurt.

The game changed hands frequently in the first few minutes, but Morgan pitched in six quick points to break an 11-11 tie and give the invaders a commanding lead.

Farmer And Wife Work As Team

CHICAGO — The farmer and his wife have combined jobs, an insurance expert disclosed.

"Once the farmer was king of his acreage and his wife was queen of the farm home," said Mrs. Marion S. Eberly, Institute of Life Insurance women's division director. "But now the farmer and his wife plan and work together on long-range family goals."

Mrs. Eberly said the change in family roles was brought about by these factors: (1) Farming now is conducted more on a cash basis than it was a generation or two ago; (2) a farm family now has increased prosperity through greater production caused by improved and more efficient agricultural methods and machinery.

Lynn Grove Stars Will Join Rex

Two Lynn Grove hardwood stars, who never quite got together in high school, will be team mates at Murray State next year.

Johnny West, who graduated from Lynn Grove four years ago and immediately left for service, has already enrolled at Murray and reports indicate that Coach Rex Alexander is quite pleased with the mobility of the 6-6 center.

Another star that must have pleased the Racer mentor, was the acquiring of present Lynn Grove star Tommy McNeely, who does everything with the gift of a basketball wizard. The talented McNeely is second in the Purchase in scoring with 710 points.

It could be that the cage minded Lynn Grove fans will change the name of Murray State to Lynn Grove University in about two years, and they figure there is more coming.

Thieves Get Tires, Wheels During Game

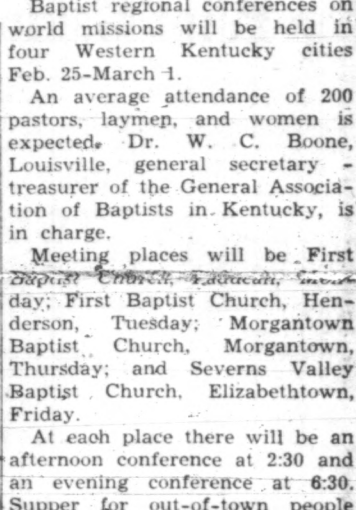

Thieves played havoc with automobiles parked in the Murray State parking lots last night, while their owners were enjoying the Murray State-Louisville game, making off with tires and wheels.

The city police said this morning that a total of four had been victimized. All were new cars and no clues have been unearthed as to the identity of the bandits.

One fan jumped into his vehicle and attempted to drive off unaware of an absent rear wheel. A 1957 Ford was minus all four,

Homestretch Bids Begin On Top Point Making Of Year

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer

Chet Forte fired and fell back, and now Wilt Chamberlain opens his homestretch bid for the national basketball scoring championship—probably reaching 36 points per game by Feb. 23.

Forte, the 5-9 Columbia star, led in his effort to overtake the reigning Grady Wallace of South Carolina Wednesday night when he tallied only 24 points in a 72-57 loss to Yale. The little Lion thus dropped from second to third in the hot five-man race.

Wallace now leads with 30.41 points per game, followed by the Gibson of Mississippi at 29.38, Forte at 29.28, Elgin Baylor of Seattle at 29.13, and Chamberlain at 29.00.

Wilt Needs 56 Points
The seven-foot Chamberlain, leading against Oklahoma A&M, will be the only contender in action tonight—opening a drive to regain the No. 1 spot that he held season-long until the last two weeks. It's almost impossible for him to catch Wallace tonight—he needs 56 points and the Oklahoma Aggies, the nation's best defensive team, keep whole teams from scoring that many points.

Forte went into Wednesday night's game at New Haven, Conn., needing 46 points to catch Wallace and didn't come close, although his 24 top game scoring honors Yale, leading all the way after zipping to a 16-6 lead after five minutes, took a tighter grip on first place in the Ivy League race as George Thompson led the way with 19 points.

Another piece was fitted into the tournament jigsaw Wednesday night with the announcement that Manhattan (13-5) has been picked for the National Invitation Tournament at Madison Square Garden. The Jaspers, winners of the Holiday Festival Tournament, were the sixth NIT team chosen, following Seattle, Memphis State, Cincinnati, Dayton, and St. Bonaventure.

Xavier Upsets Dayton
Dayton, however, suffered a 68-65 upset Wednesday night at the hands of Xavier of Ohio. Sophomore Hank Stein hit 29 points to pace Xavier in its revenge for an early-season setback, bagging 10 of them in the last six minutes.

In other leading games Wednesday night, Notre Dame rallied for a 99-88 win over Detroit, as Tom Hawkins of the Irish and Bill Ebben of Detroit tied at 29 points each. Wake Forest rolled up its top score of the season in beating Eastern Kentucky, 102-76.

Eighth-ranked Louisville rolled over Murray State, 97-82, for an 18-4 record; 17th-ranked Canisius nipped Syracuse, 67-65; Villanova nipped Washington & Lee in overtime, 70-69; St. Joseph's (Pa.) downed Pennsylvania, 79-71; and NIT-bound St.

Rubber Match To Command $110,000 Gate

By JACK CUDDY
United Press Sports Writer

CLEVELAND 20 — Friday night's gate for the Carmen Basilio-Johnny Saxton welterweight title "rubber match" will range between $110,000 and $150,000, the biggest fight gate here in 26 years.

"It will be the biggest since Max Schmeling defended his heavyweight title against Young Stribling here in 1931," promoter Larry Atkins predicted. "Schmeling and Stribling, fighting outdoors, drew 37,390 fans and $349,415."

Champion Basilio and ex-champ Saxton of New York are tangle indoors for the third time. The crowd will range between 11,000 and a capacity 12,700 at the Cleveland Arena, the promoter said. Ticket prices range from $5 to $20.

Atkins has been pleasantly surprised by the heavy sale for this scheduled 15-round, nationally televised and broadcast bout. It was originally slated for Jan. 18, but was postponed five weeks because the champion suffered a postponed right hand in training.

A postponement usually cuts down the gate. Cleveland had several previous TV-radio bouts, but this is the first time it ever had a local blackout. Despite it, the TV-radio money is $60,000.

Basilio of Chittenango, N. Y., is favored at 13-5 to register his second victory over streamlined Saxton in their series of three title fights, despite the fact he has been training with a tender hand.

Saxton recaptured the 147-pound crown from Carmen in their first engagement on a questionable decision, at Chicago, last March 14. But Basilio won it back from Johnny on a ninth-round TKO at Syracuse, N. Y., last Sept. 12.

National League Opens Training Camp Officially

By UNITED PRESS
Catcher Roy Campanella will be the center of attraction today when Manager Walt Alston formally opens the National League champion Brooklyn Dodgers' Vero Beach, Fla., training camp.

"If Campanella's sound again, he'll solve a lot of our problems," conceded Alston, who lists the veteran catcher and Navy-returned Johnny Podres as the Dodgers' two "big ifs" of 1957. Campanella, bothered by "D" hands, hit only 219 last season but has been insisting all winter that he's sound again.

Only pitchers and catchers are actually due for today's workout but Alston was pleased to learn that veteran outfielder Carl Furillo and rookie first-baseman Jim Gentile also will be present. Gentile is the powerful armhand who led the Dodgers in hitting on their post-world series tour of Japan.

At Tucson, Ariz., meanwhile, General Manager Hank Greenberg of the Cleveland Indians revealed that pitcher Bob Lemon has agreed to terms. Lemon, a 20-game winner for the seventh time in his career last year, is believed to have settled for about $45,000. The Indians still have 12 players unsigned.

The Philadelphia Phillies announced that former infielder Gran Hamner, who is trying his arm at pitching this year, has signed. Hamner was forced to the toe plate because of an injury to his left shoulder which hobbled his play at both shortstop and second base. The Phillies are hopeful that a knuckler and good control can make him a surprise winner of the mound.

On other fronts, outfielder Hank Bauer signed with the world champion New York Yankees, who now have 29 players under contract. Bauer hit only 241 but drove in 84 runs and walloped 26 homers last season. Carey, a .237-batter in 1956, will have to fight to retain his job this year.

The New York Giants reported "all signed" when rookie pitcher Curtis Barclay, 15-11 at Minneapolis last season, came to terms. The Giants are the first of the "three" New York teams to sign up their full roster.

The Pittsburgh Pirates reported the signing of righthander Bob Garber, who compiled an 11-6 mark at Hollywood of the Pacific Coast League last season. Catcher Jack Shephard and outfielder Les Walls remained as the only Bucs who have not yet inked contracts.

Love Amidst TERROR! Above, Don Megowan and Joyce Holden find time for romance in the above scene from the "THE WEREWOLF", which opens tomorrow at the Varsity Theatre as a double feature along with "EARTH VS. THE FLYING SAUCERS", with Hugh Marlowe and Joan Taylor.

PARADE SPORTS

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK 20 — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures:

The secretout along the boxing boulevards is that Carmen Basilio still is nursing a sore hand but it hasn't effected the odds for his welterweight title defense against Johnny Saxton at Cleveland next Friday night.

Basilio, the erstwhile onion farmer from Chittenango, N. Y., is 2-2 to chop "axton" down again, just as he did in September when he regained the crown. And the price should be better than that time.

Birdie Tebbets, manager of the Cincinnati Redlegs, claims that his Roy MacMillan is the best shortstop in baseball.

Lot Of Selling
"When I was in the other league, I had to rate Phil Rizzuto as the best," Birdie says. "But McMillan is better. Phil was the greatest coming in on a slow ball but McMillan has greater range and better arm." Which will take a lot of selling in the American League.

Seattle, first team, to accept a bid to the NIT basketball tournament, is beating the All-America guns for 6-foot, 6-inch, 225-pound Elgin (Rabbit) Baylor. There's support from Al Lightner, veteran Pacific Coast referee, too, because without a bush he calls Baylor "the best player I've ever seen." Proving to some that, as suspected, all referees are blind.

Scorns Spring Training

Frankie Frisch scorns spring training as a "plush country club" but it is a practice which started long before he was born. Before the birth of the major leagues, the Chicago White Stockings of the National Association went to New Orleans for training in 1870. They were in such advanced shape when the season opened that the other association teams adopted the practice.

Bloodhounds Lose To This Prisoner

BARTOW, Fla. — There's one stockade inmate the Polk County sheriff will never call on again to help train his bloodhounds.

Henry Thomas Lott 32, serving 60 days in the county stockade, parts unknown, was asked to lay a trail for bloodhounds to follow. But was told to lay the trail, then climb a tree and wait for the hounds to find him.

The prisoner did as he was told, except for one thing. Instead of climbing the tree, Lott hitched a ride and headed for

Dewey Crass FOR County Judge

TO THE PEOPLE OF CALLOWAY COUNTY:

In announcing my candidacy for the office of Judge of Calloway County, I would like to take this means of thanking you for all past favors including the support which you gave me during my previous campaigns for the office of Tax Commissioner. Furthermore, I will always feel grateful to you for the support and courtesies which you conferred upon me during my term of office.

If you see fit to select me as your next County Judge I will assure you there will be no partiality shown regardless of ones position or station in life. In humbleness I will always remember that I am merely your servant and not a superior due to the position which I hold. If elected, my time will be your time and I will never turn a deaf or listless ear to the problems which may confront you in the dealings with this office.

I feel that my former experience as your Tax Commissioner and my years of training and dealing with the youth of our county as a school teacher will be of great aid to me in solving the problems that are common to the office of County Judge.

I will put forth a strenuous effort to see each one of you personally, but should I fail I take this means of soliciting your vote and influence.

Sincerely yours

Dewey Crass

Girl Scout News

If you noticed the large number of girls moving about Murray in the lovely spring sunshine Saturday and thought they seemed unusually purposeful, you were right. This year is the hundredth anniversary of the birth of Lord Baden-Powell, founder of scouting, and through the year scout events will celebrate the man and his work.

Saturday the girls of Troops 12 and 15 were playing the Wide Game which consists of following clues, performing certain feats, progressing to the next station were further, commemorative activities were performed and, in conclusion, letters written, carrying out the Friendship theme of scouting to be sent to Our Ark in London, Our Chalet, Switzerland, Our Cabana, Cuernavaca, Mexico, and Our Birthplace, Atlanta.

Throughout the year, scouts the world over will be playing variations of the Wide Game, extending and strengthening the ties of friendship between young people wherever the scout laws and promises prevail.

Monday afternoon, Mrs. George H. Hallman, Jr. and Mrs. Wayne Williams, chairman and vice-chairman of the Murray Girl Scout Council will visit the two troops at Douglas High School. The troop leaders who received their training here in the Murray training course conducted last year are Miss Thelma Lindsey and Mrs. Desiree McGehee. Chairman of the Douglas High Troop Committee is Mrs. Elizabeth Williams.

BRUCELLOSIS ERADICATION PROGRAM IS BEING PUSHED

Kentucky's brucellosis-eradication program is getting a big push this year from state and federal authorities, who have set January 4, 1959, as the date when it is hoped the disease will be under tight control.

Brucellosis is also known as Bang's disease, or in humans to whom it is transmitted, as undulant fever.

Kentucky has appropriated a considerable sum for the fight against brucellosis.

Ring tests of milk, a special method of locating brucellosis herds in the state, of about 336,000 cattle, about 7,553 "suspicious" herds were found.

Officials point out that eradication of brucellosis grows important every year. The disease is dangerous to cattle and humans; it is a production-reducer in dairy herds; it has great effect on breeding capabilities of the animals, and at least 23 Kentucky cities have milk ordinances requiring that cows furnishing milk to those cities be negative in brucellosis tests.

The 1956 testing figures indicated that about one-third of the cattle in the state were tested that should have been. A step-up in this testing figure is one of the 1957 goals of the anti-brucellosis drive.

Kentuckians will emphasize the "area plan" as a method of getting wholesale testing. Under this plan, workers will try to get one county to have all its breeding animals tested for brucellosis; then adjoining counties are "convinced with the same idea in mind."

Turn Winter Into Spring In The Home

By the calendar, February is the shortest month of the year. But to most of us — mothers, particularly — it often seems like the longest. By this time we've had enough winter — last us a lifetime — enough head colds, floating bills, and muddy boots — yet we still have weeks more of the same ahead of us.

What's the remedy? Well, we can spend the rest of the winter feeling miserable — or we can take positive action to speed up the arrival of Spring — inside ourselves if not outdoors.

Put Spring on the dinner table. No matter how meat-and-potato loving the family may be, spring-type foods can tempt even the dichard away from his regular diet. You don't have to make a trip to Florida. You'll find strawberries, asparagus, early peas, baby carrots, and many other similar taste-tempters frozen or in cans, at your local market. And they're not only delicious to eat but full of important vitamins and minerals as well.

Next, plants and flowers. Philodendron, ivy, Chinese evergreen are a surprising note of cheer to any room. Branches of spring flower trees and bushes can be brought into the house and forced into bloom.

Third, sports. By February, many of us are so tired of being cold that we either avoid going out or huddle in our coats as we race from one heated spot to another. But if we wear enough protective clothing, there are many outdoor activities that can bring color to our faces, oxygen to our lungs, and zest to our outlook.

There are many other possibilities — you can probably

Marriages On Increase In The U.S.

MARRIAGES IN THE UNITED STATES INCREASED LAST YEAR, REACHING AN ESTIMATED TOTAL OF ABOUT 1,367,000, COMPARED WITH 1,242,000 IN 1955, AND 1,291,000 IN 1954, ACCORDING TO THE STATISTICIANS.

These other aspects of last year's marriage record are reported: The rate of 94 marriages per 1,000 population, including the Armed Forces overseas, compared with the post-war low of 92 per 1,000 in 1954.

Most states reported small increases in marriages. In two states, Indiana and Oklahoma, there was a pronounced upswing — almost 17 per cent in Indiana, and about 11 per cent in Oklahoma.

Eleven states reported a decrease in marriages. In most cases relatively small — under five per cent in Nebraska and Georgia, and two per cent or less in the other nine states.

In cities with at least 100,000 population, the trend was similar to that for the States — there were increases in 74 of these cities and declines in 26.

Among cities with at least 100,000 population, only Philadelphia reported fewer marriages than in 1955. In New York City, marriages increased from 48,613 in 1955 to about 50,250 in 1956. The rise was about two per cent in Detroit, and over six per cent in Chicago and Los Angeles.

How Frustrated Can A Bridge Get?

CHICAGO — A unique bridge is being built on the Northwestern University campus in suburban Evanston.

It doesn't bridge anything. It won't carry any traffic. And it's being constructed of all places — in a parking lot.

But it will get as much of a workout, before it is dismantled in five years or so, as it would if it were part of a heavily traveled

The bridge is part of a $250,000 research project to be conducted by Northwestern Technological Institute on truss members and connections. The purpose of the project is to improve bridge design.

The bridge will have a span of 100 feet. It will be 20 feet wide and 16 feet high. It will be supported on concrete caissons.

Leading tests will be made by means of hydraulic jacks anchored to the caissons. The jacks will supply sufficient pressure to simulate most loads.

To simulate "greater shocks" engineers will swing a great steel ball at the bridge with the help of a crane.

The Army, the Bureau of Public Roads, the Association of American Engineers and seven private corporations are lending financial support to the research.

The statisticians predict that the annual increase is likely to be small for the balance of this decade, but that after the early 1960's the number of marriages should rise rapidly as the large number of persons born after World War II come of age.

Hybrid Corn Yield Test Figures in New Booklet

Results of the Kentucky hybrid corn performance test for 1956 are in a booklet available at the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.

The booklets used 56 hybrids at six locations. It was the first year that many hybrids used seem adapted to Kentucky in general.

Purpose of the booklet is to give Kentucky farmers a ready reference on performance at seed-buying time. All the hybrids available in the state. The test should provide "meaningful information on the relative merits of the various hybrids offered for sale in Kentucky," the booklet notes.

Similar tests will be run this year and in succeeding years. The testers noted that 1956 was "ideal for corn production" from the standpoint of growing conditions. In 1956, the state average in bushels per acre was 84.5, compared with 45 only twice before has the state average been higher than 40 bushels an acre. The state-wide testing average of the 56 hybrids was 82.7 bushels an acre, the booklet shows.

Locations were as follows: James Wilson farm, Wickliffe;

NEW VIEW OF STATUE OF LIBERTY

MISS LIBERTY, who has been photographed from almost every conceivable angle over the years, finds there is always something new and here it is. This unusual view was achieved by an official photographer traveling in a New York Port Authority helicopter. The camera takes in an angle of 140 degrees and is part of a collection of photographs on exhibit at Grand Central Terminal in New York.

John H. Gregory farm, Owensboro; W. G. Duncan III farm, with Pennyrile Grain Improvement Association, Hopkinsville; W. J. Ashbrook farm, Greensburg; Experiment Station farm, Lexington; and Robinson Agricultural Experiment Substation, Quicksand.

The booklet is listed as Progress Report No. 46, and is available at county agents' offices, or at the Experiment Station, Lexington.

ELIZABETH SEIFERT'S NEW NOVEL

A Call for Doctor Barton

CHAPTER 15

THE Christmas day after Grady Barton was depressed and worried. It showed in his face, though he exerted every effort to keep his voice and manner free of his mood.

After he had eaten his lunch and made a couple of house calls, he decided that he had a free hour before office hours and would do well to get some exercise in the open air.

As had become his habit, he cut across the street to the Cowan yard and whistled for Candy. The dog came lumbering, an ecstatic grin above his whiskers. The day was clear and cold, and in the direct sun the snow was dissolving into watery sponges. Grady struck off toward the hills, the dog ahead of him, wooding and sniffing in a fine imitation of a hunting dog.

Grady glanced at his watch, ready to follow his usual pattern of walking for half the time available and allowing the rest for the return trip. He was disappointed that June Cowan had not popped out of the house.

Soon little ice balls weighted Candy's whiskers, and he came twice to his friend to have a drop of snow dug from his foot pads.

"Really rugged, you are!" Grady laughed.

Candy licked his face, then with a nip of recognition and a wild waving of tail and ears, he bounded away toward a distant red figure—Grady followed him as gladly, if not so swiftly.

"A lady needs a little time to get into her snowsuit," June informed him when he came within hearing. "You two just ran out on me!"

"You could have waved your hand from your tower window," she glanced up, laughing. "So I could. What'd I do? Get here in time for the return trip?"

"Within five minutes," said Grady, warmly plugging that his habit had become familiar to this girl. She looked half her age in that red suit and cap; her cheeks were scarlet, curls peeked from the tight hood, and her eyes were sparkling blue.

She regarded him as critically. "I don't think" he was saying, "that I properly made my manners on leaving your house yesterday, June. But I do want you to know how much I appreciate being asked for Christmas dinner. And of course I was sorry to be called away."

She nodded, her eyes still intent on his face. "Is something worrying you, Grady?"

For a minute he didn't answer her, and she walked along beside him, not speaking further.

"I'm not much of a poker player," he said then.

"I don't suppose I could help you, but—" Her mitten lay up on his coat sleeve. "I'd do what I could."

He paused, standing for a minute to gaze out across the hills and the fields—at the snow and the trees.

Then, without looking at his watch, he touched June's elbow and they turned back toward town, Candy close at their heels.

"Maybe you can help me, June," he said slowly. "You're right—I do have a problem. And while of course it is not my custom to discuss cases, I find that I need some light thrown on the personalities concerned in this particular case."

Then, concisely, impersonally, much as he might have stated a case to a class of medical students, he told of the problem which had arisen the night before. He described the Kopp grandchild, the symptoms, voiced his own opinion that there was some foreign body obstructing the bronchus, and he detailed the signs of a developing infection; he told of the family diagnosis of croup. Finally he stated his professional position.

"I don't feel that I should accept a lay diagnosis and act upon it, but of course there is that baby—completely dependent upon the judgment—and the mistakes of his elders."

"No wonder you're worried!" cried June. "Kopp is a character! He's ignorant, and he's mean!"

"Yes, yes, he is. And if I had him alone to deal with, I'd let his ignorance finish him off. But what should I do about that baby? Not two years old—and helpless."

She was warmly sympathetic. Grady was definitely in a spot! And she was sensible. "Could it be croup, Grady?"

He looked at her, then nodded. "Yes, it could be."

"You specifically told him what you thought should be done?"

"Oh, yes."

"But you're helpless to make him do what you advised?"

He nodded, his eyes watchful. "Well, then—since you're helpless of being able to do anything about your own diagnosis, maybe we'd better just hope awful hard that they're right and that you're wrong."

"If hoping is all you're backed to do," he agreed. "I couldn't treat that child for croup, I'm afraid."

"You won't get a chance, will you?"

"No, Kopp assured me of that. But, June, at least half of this worry-load I'm carrying is regret that I should have made a personal enemy so soon."

"Oh, Kopp?"

"You called him ignorant and mean, and that combination makes a dangerous enemy. But—if I could have my drawers, I'd rather not have enemies of that kind here in the holidays. I'd like to be able to stay here, and do good work and have people like me."

"But, goodness, Grady..."

"I should have handled things differently, yes."

"I don't see how you could. In this case..."

"Well, I couldn't see either, at the time. But I should have, just the same, because now—" He lifted his shoulders in a shrug.

"Can Kopp hurt you, Grady? I mean, he can't drive you away, can he?"

"I don't know. He said something about the same thing being able to get rid of me as brood, at me here. And just maybe he's right in that."

"But we don't know, June! They must have some way to get rid of a doctor whom they think to be unethical or of bad moral character—they'd have to be protected."

Her pretty face was thoughtful. They walked for a hundred yards, automatically stirring the puddles.

By then they had reached the edge of town and the corner where it would be "handiest" to part and go their separate ways. For another minute they stood at this point before Grady said, "Bye, and thanks — it always helps to talk to you."
