Income Tax Evasion Trips Johnny Dio

NEW YORK (U.P.)—Income tax evasion charges, the downfall of many a top mobster, today added to the woes of racketeer John (Johnny Dio) Dioguardi, self-styled labor "consultant" whose empire began to totter with the acid blinding of labor columnist Victor Riesel.

Listing of the tax charges Thursday came on the heels of Dio's recent conviction for selling labor peace. And it followed by a week the 43-year-old racketeer's appearance before the Senate Labor Rackets Committee, during which he invoked the Fifth Amendment 141 times in reply to questions about his labor activities.

Dio broke into the headlines a year ago in the Riesel case. The government accused Dio of being the mastermind behind the blinding of the crusading columnist. Subsequently, however, his trial was postponed when two convicted henchmen refused to testify as prosecution witnesses in fear of reprisals.

In the last month Dio was convicted of conspiring to extort $30,000 from two partners in an electroplating firm. He is now in jail awaiting sentencing on the charge, for which he could receive two years in prison and a $1,000 fine.

In addition, Dio faces trial this week for allegedly shaking down 10 firms for $11,500 in his position as a labor "consultant," convicted as a second felony offender, he could be sent to jail for 30 years. In 1937, Dio was sentenced to a 3 to 5 year term in Sing Sing prison for the crime.

Otherwise, however, Dio, aside from a 60-day jail term for failure to file a state income tax return, has managed to steer clear of the law.

In the indictment opened Thursday, Dio is charged with filing to report at least $63,333 in income taxes in 1950, 1951 and 1952, and evading $20,168 in taxes for those three years.

If convicted on the income tax evasion charges, Dio could receive up to 20 years in prison and a $40,000 fine.

Demos Believe Stalemate In Civil Rights Bill Broken

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (U.P.)—Key Democrats expressed confidence today that the House stalemate over the civil rights bill has been broken and that Republicans would swing toward the Democratic position.

The Democrats were elated that Rep. Kenneth B. Keating (N. Y.), a leading civil rights startegist, said he would rather accept the Senate's version of the measure with a jury trial limitation than have "no bill at all" this year.

Rep. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.), another leading GOP rights backer, said he would meet today with three other members of the House Rules Committee to consider their next move. The Senate-passed rights bill has been lodged in the committee since last week.

Smith indicated Republicans will be prepared to offer a compromise if their first plan of sending the measure to a Senate-House conference fails.

Democratic leaders have been pressing Republicans to accept the Senate-passed civil rights bill with only a change to limit jury trials in federal criminal contempt cases to voting rights cases. Republicans have been holding out for a stronger bill.

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N. Y.), House Democratic floor leader for civil rights, predicted the rules committee would approve the Democratic plan "in a jiffy" next week.

Sen. Mike Mansfield (Mont.), acting Senate Democratic leader, said "it looks like the dam has been broken and politics and expediency have been replaced by logic and reason."

Other congressional news: Defense: Key senators urged President Eisenhower and the administration to explain whether military manpower and spending reductions would cut down U. S. defenses. They also wanted to know if it would affect the U. S. position at the London disarmament talks. Sen. Mansfield, a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, said he hoped the reductions would not sacrifice "our security in the name of economy."

FU: The Senate Appropriations Committee has restored a $300,000 administration cut to the Public Health Service to help them combat the oriental flu. The committee approved in all $800,000 to the service to carry out its fight against an expected epidemic of the disease.

Young Father Delivers Son

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Aug. 16 (U.P.)—A magazine article that stirred up a controversy 20 years ago served as a "do-it-yourself" guide for a young father who brought his second son into the world.

Both mother and son were "going well," doctors said after Robert C. Thomas performed an emergency delivery early Thursday morning.

"About 5 a.m. a pretty good job," said Dr. Floyd Boyer, the physician who took over where the 21-year old father left off.

The Life magazine article, which stirred a furor at the time it was published, contained detailed pictures of childbirth taken from the movie "Birth of a Baby." Thomas' mother had stored the article away over the years but gave it to the young couple recently when told they were expecting their second child.

Thomas, head shipper for Columbia Pictures Distributors at Indianapolis, and his wife, Dixie Lou, studied the text and photographs, little realizing they were taking a "practical" course in childbirth.

About 5 a.m. Dixie Lou awakened her husband and informed him she was having labor pains. Thomas said "I didn't pay much attention" at first because he was still groggy.

Then Dixie Lou got out of bed, he said, and told him she thought the time had come.

"She laid down on the bed and... bing!" Thomas said.

Thomas realized there was no time to call a doctor. Whatever had to be done, had to be done immediately. Now fully awake, image of the 20-year old photographs began to take form in his mind, guiding him as he helped deliver his second son.

"I wasn't nervous until it was all over," Thomas said. "Then, I was kind of shaky."

Mrs. Thomas and their baby were taken to a hospital, leaving the "midwife" to glow with satisfaction over his wife's tribute.

"She said it was a lot easier than she ever thought it would be."

Crippled Children's Society Works Toward Rehabilitation

Miss Mary Paxton, Director of the Service Program for the Kentucky Society for Crippled Children, was the speaker yesterday at the regular meeting of the Murray Rotary Club.

Miss Paxton came to Murray from Louisville to acquire the Murray Rotarians with the operation of the Society. She was introduced by Dr. Orvis Wells.

She told the club that the Society is a private non-profit organization and that it is a step toward the aid of the crippled children of the Society. She said the goal of the Society will have been reached, she said.

She emphasized the importance of camps for crippled children. Many of the children have never been to a picture show, church or school, she told her attentive audience. "A camp represents a deprivation of so much."

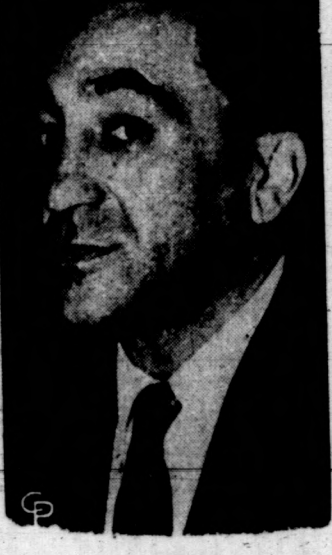

Miss Paxton concluded her talk by showing some slides of crippled children who were receiving aid from the Society, which gave some idea as to what the program is.

Visiting Rotarians were William Steinwedel of Seymour, Indiana who is vacationing on Kentucky Lake, and Herman Reynolds of Paris, Tennessee.

Bernard Harvey had as his guest W. P. Williams of Paris, James Kern was the guest of Ray Kern, C. O. Bondurant had as his guests John Hubbard, Dr. Al Halter, and John Parrish. Harry Broach was a guest of George Hart.

Howard Olla reported membership last week was 87 per cent.

Navy Blimp Falls Into The Ocean

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., Aug. 16 (U.P.)—A Navy blimp carrying a group of reservists on a summer training cruise ditched in the Atlantic during a thunderstorm early today and a fishing vessel later rescued all 16 men aboard.

All were reported in good physical condition.

The blimp set down in the choppy waters of Pamlico Sound near the North Carolina outer banks after notifying the Coast Guard by radio that it was "going to ditch." It was enroute from Glynco, Ga., Naval Air Station to Lakehurst, N. J.

A broad Navy and Coast Guard search involving 50 ships and planes was begun shortly after midnight, combining the hazardous waters off Cape Hatteras. But a fishing vessel located the missing crewmen in Pamlico Sound, between the outer banks and the North Carolina mainland.

A Coast Guard patrol boat rendezvoused with the fishing boat, took on the survivors and all Naval reservists from the Boston, Mass., area — and sped them to Wachese on the outer banks. They were to be brought here by plane.

The blimp was on a leisurely over-water training flight which had taken the reservists to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, and then to Glynco.

The heavenly body was a little west of Northwest at approximately 25 to 30 degree angle with the horizon and was traveling at a high rate of speed.

It was visible about forty-five minutes and reached the horizon at about 8:45.

Activity in the heavens is high during this month of August, the first month of the International Geo-Physical year and many "ghosting stars" may be seen.

Improved Fish Catching Is Reported

FRANKFORT, Aug. 16 (U.P.)—Spokesmen for the state Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources said today: recent rains and cooling temperatures have greatly improved fishing in state lakes during the past week.

At Kentucky Lake, white bass are hitting on spinners just above and below the dam. The best catches are reported in the early morning and late afternoon.

Black bass, bluegill and catfish follow in that order at Kentucky Lake, with bass being taken by casting, trolling and fly fishing.

At Dale Hollow, Herrington Lake and Lake Cumberland, crappie were reported the leader during the week, with bluegill and bass are biting on minnows over the submerged treetops. Bass rates third at Dale Hollow and Cumberland, while catfish are the next best bet at Herrington.

Bluegill are most active at Dewey Lake, with crappie and bass filling the second and third spots.

Some Judges Are Amending Drunk Driving Charges

FRANKFORT, Aug. 16 (U.P.)—State Public Safety Commissioner Don S. Sturgill Thursday said some judges again are amending drunk driving convictions to lesser offenses to allow law violators to regain their driver's licenses.

Sturgill said the practice was greatly reduced last fall when he announced full publicity would be given such cases but it has been occurring more frequently in recent weeks.

He said Leitchfield, Police Court Judge Carl Boone last month caused the return of licenses to two persons convicted on charges of driving while intoxicated.

Boone amended the charges to reckless driving in the convictions of James R. Johnson, 26, and William Turner, 29, both of Leitchfield, Sturgill said.

In other cases, the public safety commissioner said Louisville Traffic Court Judge M. D. Elstone amended the drunk driving conviction of Bobby Gene Woodward, 18, Louisville, to reckless driving July 31.

Magoffin County Magistrate L. O. Perry amended the drunken driving conviction of Bob Helton, 28, Bloomington, to reckless driving July 25.

Somerset Police Judge Thomas H. Reid amended the drunk driving conviction of Roy Estf, 26, Eubank, to reckless driving July 31.

Sturgill also noted that Boone County Judge C. L. Cropper amended the conviction of Thomas C. Highbaugh, 39, Louisville, on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident to a lesser offense. Leaving the scene of an accident also requires a mandatory license revocation.

SILLY PROPOSAL

Ever since the late Henry Ford proposed to take over the Wilson Dam in Northern Alabama and acquire the two nitrate plants built by the government at Muscle Shoals, private interests have dreamed about using funds provided by taxpayers to finance their own interests. Proposals from time to time differ, but the objective is always the same—to get control of something the public provided for itself on the pretext of paying back the money over a period of years, usually fifty.

The first experience municipalities in this section had with private power companies which wouldn't risk their own capital to provide electric plants, but waited until taxpayers built them, was more than a generation ago when high-powered salesmen of the Samuel Insull stripe sold us on the idea that these privately-owned companies could give us better service than we could provide for ourselves.

Those few who will still think so should ask men who had control of the local Board of Public Utilities when we took over the antiquated system from the old K.T. Company. Private power interests were so thoroughly discredited about the time Congress authorized the Tennessee Valley Authority that they have never had the nerve to enter this particular field again. That is, not until now.

About two years ago the Hoover Commission, headed by Herbert Hoover of the Samuel Insull era, recommended that the federal government get out of the power business on the grounds that it was "socialistic." His recommendation wasn't taken seriously at the time because TVA was delivering 60% of its output to AEC developments at Oak Ridge and Paducah, and because it had just finished two multi-million dollar steam plants to replace electricity converted to these two atomic plants classified as "top emergency."

This old proposal of the Hoover Commission is being renewed now by a financial named Walter Von Tresckow of New York who proposes to loan money to the 150 customers of TVA so they can buy, and eventually own, the electric system outright. Private power interests are not even mentioned in connection with the proposal, but anybody who can't see them in the offing is blind indeed.

The way the private power interests obtained all the municipal plants in this area in the first place was to bide their time until rotten local politics practically bankrupted municipal systems and rates were prohibitive. And they are just smart enough to know this can happen again. But even if it never happens all the benefits of TVA would be removed by the requirements of any sort of sales program.

The arguments against the Tresckow proposal are too numerous to take up here, but we want to raise a question as to why it has been renewed at this time. Our readers know full well that the United States Senate only last week passed a bill which would take TVA out of politics and permit it to issue bonds up to 750 million dollars to finance future expansion. The Tresckow proposal is, of course, made at this time to defeat this re-financing plan.

His assumption that anything is better than federal ownership and control of TVA is just like that of Herbert Hoover, and others who have always believed the government shouldn't operate anything for profit; no matter how it may benefit the public. If a proposition is certain to lose it is considered a government function, and anything that can be made profitable should be passed on to private enterprise, even power firms that have been discredited for fleecing the public, charging exorbitant rates and evading taxes at the same time they are shouting to high heaven about how much their tax burden is.

Friends of TVA have suffered reverses ever since General Vogel was appointed as chairman of TVA. We believe his sincere desire is to wreck this great agency, and now that he is the only member on the Board of Directors the private industry may be expected to use every card in the deck to carry out their designs against public power in general and TVA in particular.

Our greatest hope is that they will do like Henry Ford did—show their hands too plainly. Even enemies of public power may revolt over open raids on their treasury and the Tresckow proposal smells just like such an attempt.

Nothing has been said about TVA's benefits to the public other than electricity. Flood control is valuable to everybody in the Tennessee Valley. The same is true of river transportation, soil conservation, increased timber resources and fertilizer production. And last, but the biggest of all, is the rapidly growing tourist trade. It has developed into one of Kentucky's largest industries. It ranks ahead of the production and distribution of electricity. And it's just in its infancy.

Let Mr. Tresckow explain how we can preserve and develop these benefits if we sell TVA to the 150 local co-ops now buying electricity under contract. Will they have the same incentives to develop these benefits? when we need new locks such as the one TVA is now building at Wilson Dam will these 150 new owners feel like providing them when there is no way for them to get a return on their investment?

The argument that it takes the government to develop a river valley, but it should be turned over to private enterprise after it is developed, is invalid. It is like saying it took the taxpayers to build a government printing plant at Washington, but now that it is built, and in profitable operation, the government should sell it to the Ledger & Times for nothing down and so much a year for the next fifty years, thereby permitting us to pay for it through income tax deductions for depreciation.

Colors qualified in this order: yellow, yellow fluorescent, orange, orange fluorescent, red fluorescent, green, red, blue plaid.

At great distances, according to a Navy test, yellow tended to become white and would not be suitable as a "survival color" in snow country. But most hunting accidents occur at 50 yards or less, so far the hunter, yellow is considered far and away the safest.

With about 300 men killed and 300 injured in hunting accidents each year, the purchase of yellow hunting clothes appears as an important link in the art of survival. The general belief is that animals do not care what color you wear — they all are color blind, anyway. Only thing they can see is brightness and movement.

National League Contenders Hope For Miracle Finish To Catch The Flying Milwaukee Team

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer
The National League's chances of heading off Milwaukee's pennant express rested today on the forlorn hope that one of the Braves' bedraggled pursuers can match the 1951 Giants' "miracle finish."

The Braves just about completed "operation" wrap-up Thursday night when they crushed the Cincinnati Redlegs, 8-1, to give their winning streak to 10 games and their first place lead to 6 1/2. Hank Aaron drove in five runs with his 33rd and 34th homers and Warren Spahn spun an eight-hitter as the Braves whipped the Redlegs for the 14th time in 16 meetings.

That 6 1/2-game lead with only 41 games to play places the Braves in almost exactly the same position as were the 1951 Brooklyn Dodgers. The Dodgers led by nine games with 41 to play that year only to have the Giants win 30 of their last 36 games and then win the resulting playoff on Bobby Thompson's famous home run.

Contenders Collapsing
The major difference in the corresponding positions of the '57 Braves and '51 Dodgers is that the "miracle Giants" had already begun to make their move while all the current "contenders" are in a state of virtual collapse. The St. Louis Cardinals have lost 9 in a row, the Dodgers have dropped 7 of their last 10, the Redlegs have lost 8 of their last 12 and the Philadelphia Phillies 10 of their last 13.

Aaron, who had hit only 271 in the previous 15 games with the Redlegs, sent the Braves off winging with a three-run homer off Hal Jeffcoat in the first inning and then blasted a two-run homer off Don Gross in the seventh. Aaron, shooting for the NL's first triple crown since 1937 now leads the majors with 34 homers and 93 runs batted in and holds a one-point lead over Stan Musial, 334 to 333 in the league batting race.

Spahn, beating the Redlegs for the fifth straight time this season and the 44th time in his career, yielded an unearned run in the second inning on Don Hoak's double, an error by Aaron and Johnny Temple's single. Ed Mathew and rookie Bob Hazle also homered for the Braves, who have socked Cincinnati pitching for a .304-team batting average in the 16 games.

Cards Keep Losing
Moe Drabowsky pitched a six-hitter for the Chicago Cubs, whose 4-1 victory extended the Cardinals' losing streak to their longest since 1947. Dale Long and Chuck Tanner homered behind Drabowsky, who struck out seven while notching his ninth win. Sam Jones was tagged with his seventh defeat and his third straight loss as the Cardinals' losing streak.

Light-hitting catcher Valmy Thomas knocked in four runs with a homer and triple to lead the Giants to a 9-4 conquest of the Dodgers. Ramon Montan received credit for his first win although Red Worthington held the Dodgers hitless over the last three innings. Don Drysdale suffered his 7th loss compared to 10 victories. Philadelphia and Pittsburgh were not scheduled.

The New York Yankees regained a 5 1/2-game lead in the American League when they beat the Boston Red Sox, 6-3, and the Cleveland Indians defeated the Chicago White Sox, 5-4. The Kansas City Athletics downed the Detroit Tigers, 7-2, in the other game.

Turley Wins 10th
Gil McDougald's two-run eighth-inning homer was the big blow for the Yankees as Bob Turley won his 10th game with relief aid from Bob Grim. Ted Williams had two of the Red Sox' nine hits to raise his average to .334 while Mantle went hitless in two tries and dropped to .380.

Chico Fernandez' grand-slam homer in the sixth inning enabled the Indians to snap their six-game losing streak and Chicago's three-game winning streak. Don Mossi went all the way to win his ninth game while Jack Harshman suffered his seventh defeat.

Billy Hunter had a single, double and triple and Billy Martin and Woody Held each homered

Home Run Production Falling Off

NEW YORK (AP)—Major league home run production fell 6.18 per cent this year with only six of the 16 teams showing an increase over their totals at a corresponding point of the 1956 season.

A United Press survey revealed today that the National League's sluggers have hit 4.4 per cent fewer homers this year and that American League home run output is off 8.2 per cent. The figures are based on 441 games played in the NL and 439 in the AL both this season and last.

The league-leading Milwaukee Braves, the St. Louis Cardinals, the Philadelphia Phillies and the New York Giants show increases in the National League but only the Kansas City Athletics and Boston Red Sox are hitting more homers than last year in the AL.

The Braves and Cincinnati Redlegs top the majors with 136 home runs each. That figure represents an increase of eight homers for the Braves compared to their first 110 games in 1956 while it means a loss of 22 for the Redlegs, who hit 158 in their first 110 game last year.

The most amazing increase in the majors has been accomplished by the Athletics, who have increased their home run production by 55 per cent in 108 game last season. The Athletics hit only 79 homers — 45 fewer than they hit in their first 108 games this year!

Clipping Crabgrass Is Necessary

Two suggestions on how to control crabgrass, the annual weed to be found in many lawns at this time of year, come from N. R. Elliott, Extension specialist in landscaping at the University of Kentucky:

(1) Continue to cut the grass regularly to prevent maturing and scattering of seeds, and (2) avoid watering the lawn at this season, as to do so only encourages the growth of the weed.

Bluegrass, on the other hand, is a cool weather crop, now in its resting period. It will come back with cooler weather. Mr. Elliott explained that the Experiment Station at the University has found that September 15 is the best time of year to sow bluegrass seed.

Following are recommended weights at which heifers should be bred, and their satisfactory calving weights in that order: Ayrshire, 600 pounds and 850-950 pounds; Brown Swiss, 750 pounds and 1,150-1,250 pounds; Guernseys, 550 pounds and 800 to 900 pounds; Holsteins, 700 pounds and 1,100 to 1,200 pounds; and Jerseys, 500 pounds and 750 to 800 pounds.

SILLY PROPOSAL

Ever since the late Henry Ford proposed to take over the Wilson Dam in Northern Alabama and acquire the two nitrate plants built by the government at Muscle Shoals, private interests have dreamed about using funds provided by taxpayers to finance their own interests.

Proposals from time to time differ, but the objective is always the same—to get control of something the public provided for itself on the pretext of paying back the money over a period of years, usually fifty.

The first experience municipalities in this section had with private power companies which wouldn't risk their own capital to provide electric plants, but waited until taxpayers built them, was more than a generation ago when high-powered salesmen of the Samuel Insull stripe sold us on the idea that these privately-owned companies could give us better service than we could provide for ourselves.

Those few who will still think so should ask men who had control of the local Board of Public Utilities when we took over the antiquated system from the old K.T. Company. Private power interests were so thoroughly discredited about the time Congress authorized the Tennessee Valley Authority that they have never had the nerve to enter this particular field again. That is, not until now.

About two years ago the Hoover Commission, (headed by Herbert Hoover of the Samuel Insull era), recommended that the federal government get out of the power business on the grounds that it was "socialistic." His recommendation wasn't taken seriously at the time because TVA was delivering 60% of its output to AEC developments at Oak Ridge and Paducah, and because it had just finished two multi-million dollar steam plants to replace electricity converted to these two atomic plants classified as "top emergency."

This old proposal of the Hoover Commission is being renewed now by a financier named Walter Von Tresckow of New York who proposes to loan money to the 150 customers of TVA so they can buy, and eventually own, the electric system outright. Private power interests are not even mentioned in connection with the proposal, but anybody who can't see them in the offing is blind indeed.

The way the private power interests obtained all the municipal plants in this area in the first place was to bide their time until rotten local politics practically bankrupted municipal systems and rates were prohibitive. And they are just smart enough to know this can happen again. But even if it never happens all the benefits of TVA would be removed by the requirements of any sort of sales program.

The arguments against the Tresckow proposal are too numerous to take up here. But we want to raise a question as to why it has been renewed at this time. Our readers know full well that the United States Senate only last week passed a bill which would take TVA out of politics and permit it to issue bonds up to 750 million dollars to finance future expansion. The Tresckow proposal is, of course, made at this time to defeat this re-financing plan.

His assumption that anything is better than federal ownership and control of TVA is just like that of Herbert Hoover, and others who have always believed the government shouldn't operate anything for profit; no matter how it may benefit the public. If a proposition is certain to lose it is considered a government function, and anything that can be made profitable should be passed on to private enterprise, even power firms that have been discredited for fleecing the public, charging exorbitant rates and evading taxes at the same time they are shedding to high heaven about how much their tax burden is.

Friends of TVA have suffered reverses ever since General Vogel was appointed as chairman of TVA. We believe his sincere desire is to wreck this great agency, and now that he is the only member on the Board of Directors the private industry may be expected to use every card in the deck to carry out their designs against public power in general and TVA in particular.

Our greatest hope is that they will do like Henry Ford did—show their hands too plainly. Even enemies of public power may revolt over open raids on their treasury and the Tresckow proposal smells just like such an attempt.

Nothing has been said about TVA's benefits to the public other than electricity. Flood control is valuable to everybody in the Tennessee Valley. The same is true of river transportation, soil conservation, increased timber resources and fertilizer production. And last, but not the least of all, is the rapidly growing tourist trade. It has developed into one of Kentucky's largest industries. It ranks ahead of the production and distribution of electricity. And it's just in its infancy.

Let Mr. Tresckow explain how we can preserve and develop these benefits if we sell TVA to the 150 local groups now buying electricity under contract. Will they have the same incentives to develop these benefits? when we need new locks such as the one TVA is now building at Wilson Dam will these 150 new owners feel like providing them when there is no way for them to get a return on their investment?

The argument that it takes the government to develop a river valley, but it should be turned over to private enterprise after it is developed, is invalid. It is like saying it took the taxpayers to build a government printing plant at Washington, but now that it is built, and in profitable operation, the government should sell it to the Ledger & Times for nothing down and so much a year for the next fifty years, thereby permitting us to pay for it through income tax deductions for depreciation.

At great distances, according to a Navy test, yellow tended to become white and would not be suitable as a "survival color" in snow country.

But most hunting accidents occur at 30 yards or less, so for the hunter, yellow is considered far and away the safest.

With about 300 men killed and 300 injured in hunting accidents each year, the purchase of yellow hunting clothes appears as an important link in the art of survival.

The general belief is that animals do not care what color you wear—they all are color blind, anyway. Only thing they can see is brightness and movement.

National League Contenders Hope For Miracle Finish To Catch The Flying Milwaukee Team

By FRED DOWN United Press Sports Writer

The National League's chances of heading off Milwaukee's pennant express rested today on the forlorn hope that one of the Braves' bedraggled pursuers can match the 1951 Giants' "miracle finish."

The Braves just about completed "operation wrap-up" Thursday night when they crushed the Cincinnati Reds 7-1 to run their winning streak to 10 games and their first-place lead to 9½. Hank Aaron drove in five runs with his 33rd and 34th homers and Warren Spahn spun an eight-hitter as the Braves whipped the Redlegs for the 14th time in 16 meetings.

That 2½-game lead with only 41 games to play places the Braves in almost exactly the same position as were the 1951 Brooklyn Dodgers. The Dodgers led by nine games with 41 to play that year only to have the Giants win 30 of their last 36 games and then win the resulting playoff on Bobby Thompson's famous home run.

The major difference in the corresponding positions of the '57 Braves and '51 Dodgers is that the "miracle Giants" had already begun to make their move while all the current "contenders" are in a state of virtual collapse. The St. Louis Cardinals have lost 9 in a row, the Dodgers have dropped 7 of their last 10, the Redlegs have lost 9 of their last 12 and the Philadelphia Phillies 10 of their last 13.

Aaron, who had hit only 271 in the previous 15 games with the Redlegs, sent the Braves off swinging with a three-run homer off Hal Jeffcoat in the first inning and then blasted a two-run homer off Don Gross in the seventh. Aaron, shooting for the NL's first triple crown since 1937 now leads the majors with 34 homers and 93 runs batted in and holds a one-point lead over Stan Musial, 334 to 333 in the league batting race.

Spahn, beating the Redlegs for the fifth straight time this season and the 44th time in his career, yielded an unearned run in the second inning on Don Hoak's double, an error by Aaron and Johnny Temple's single. Ed Mathews and rookie Bob Hazle also homered for the Braves, who have socked Cincinnati

Cards Keep Losing

Moe Drabowsky pitched a six-hitter for the Chicago Cubs, whose 4-1 victory extended the Cardinals' losing streak to their longest since 1947. Dale Long and Chuck Tanner homered behind Drabowsky, who struck out Kluken, who struck out for Detroit.

Home Run Production Falling Off

NEW YORK 40—Major league home run production is off 6.18 per cent this year with only six of the 16 teams showing an increase over their totals at a corresponding point of the 1956 season.

A United Press survey revealed today that the National League's sluggers have hit 4.4 per cent fewer homers this year and that American League home run output is off 6.2 per cent. The figures are based on 441 games played in the NL and 439 in the AL both this season and last.

The league-leading Milwaukee Braves, the St. Louis Cardinals, the Philadelphia Phillies and the New York Giants show increases in the National League but only the Kansas City Athletics and Boston Red Sox are hitting more homers than last year in the AL.

The Braves and Cincinnati Redlegs top the majors with 136 home runs each. That figure represents an increase of eight homers for the Braves compared to their first 110 games in 1956 while it means a loss of 22 for the Redlegs, who hit 158 in their first 110 game last year.

The most amazing increase in the majors has been accomplished by the Athletics, who have increased their home run production by 55 per cent. In 108 game last season the Athletics hit only 79 homers—45 fewer than they hit in their first 108 games this year!

Turley Wins 10th

Gil McDougald's two-run eighth-inning homer was the big blow for the Yankees as Bob Turley won his 10th game with relief aid from Bob Olin. Ted Sox' nine hits to raise his average to .393 while Mantle went hitless in two tries and dropped to 380.

Chico Fernandez' grand slam homer in the sixth inning enabled the Indians to snap their six-game losing streak and Chicago's three-game winning streak. Don Mossi went all the way to win his ninth game while Jack Harshman suffered his seventh defeat.

Billy Hunter had a single, double and triple and Billy Martin and Woody Held each homered

Blanching Of Vegetables Is Explained

There is confusion among some housewives, as to whether blanching of vegetables must be done before freezing or canning. It is seen in the number of telephone calls made to Extension foods specialists at the University of Kentucky.

All vegetables to be frozen must be blanched or scalded to halt the action of enzymes that would otherwise cause loss of food value, flavor, color and texture, says Mrs. Pearl Haak, UK canning authority.

She recommends blanching a small amount of the vegetable at a time in a wire basket or cheese cloth. Use a gallon of boiling water to a pint or pound of vegetable, so that boiling will not stop when the vegetable is lowered into it, or so that it will resume boiling quickly.

After the recommended time for scalding, chill the vegetable in ice water, drain well and pack for freezing immediately.

It takes about as long to cool vegetables in ice water as to blanch them in boiling water.

Vegetables will keep best and have a fresher flavor if they are frozen within 6 hours after being gathered, says Mrs. Haak.

Here are the recommended minutes for scalding, depending on the size of vegetables:

Limas and green beans, 2 to 3 minutes; broccoli and cauliflower, 4 minutes; corn on the cob, 7 to 11 minutes; whole kernel corn, 4 minutes; cream style corn, add 1/4 cup water to 1 cup of corn and bring to boil; kale, turnip, mustard or spinach greens, 1 to 2 minutes; okra, 3 to 4 minutes; and summer squash cut in 1/2-inch

Tips Given On Buying Lambs

When buying ewe lambs this summer for breeding purposes, make sure they are the type that will fit in well with Kentucky sheep production, says R. C. Miller, Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service sheep specialist.

Make sure the lambs weigh about 90 pounds at breeding time, he says; buy them in carload lots — on a community pool basis if possible — and purchase them "in wool," not shorn.

Unshorn early blackface-cross ewe lambs weighing around 90 pounds should shear at least four pounds of wool, which will help pay shipping costs, he notes.

The early blackface-cross ewe lambs normally produce a lamb crop of 70 to 80 per cent the first year when bred as lambs; their breeding does not appreciably affect their later usefulness as breeders.

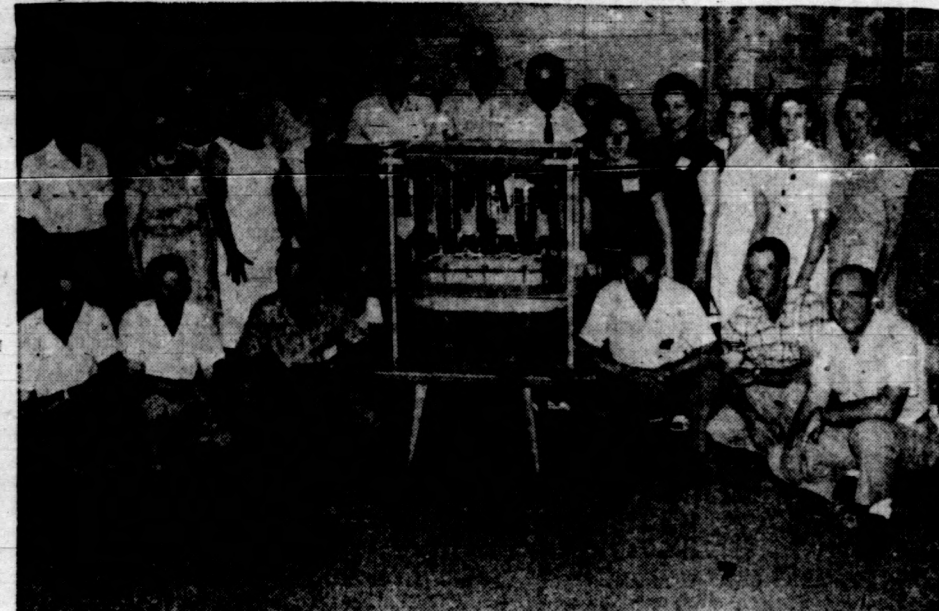

However, Miller notes, inexperienced sheepmen should not try this type of program. The lambs, being immature, have more difficult lambings than older sheep, give less milk, and their lambs are longer in finishing; they also require more feed, as they must provide for their own growth.

Vegetables that are to be canned may be packed raw into glass jars or tin cans or they may be preheated and packed hot. Raw food should be packed lightly in the jar as it shrinks during processing; hot food should be packed fairly loosely, and should be at or near the boiling point when placed in the jar.

All vegetables except tomatoes should then be processed in a steam pressure canner.

Tomatoes (an acid food) may be processed in the hot water bath canner.

Planning And Reorganization Make For Step Saving Kitchen

If kitchen work is a chore, the chances are it can be made easier by moving some of the food supplies and pieces of equipment to the places where they are usually used. Even modern kitchens sometimes benefit from simple reorganization.

Convenience and efficiency go hand in hand in well-organized kitchens, says Mrs. Gladys M. Lickert, Extension housing specialist at the University of Kentucky.

During the coming months, she will be helping homemakers in Kentucky realize that dream as she holds clinics in housing, works with Farm and Home Development programs, and confers with individual families on how to solve their kitchen problems.

Mrs. Lickert offers these tips to housewives in reorganizing their kitchens to save steps and to make work easier:

Think of your kitchen as having several "centers" for doing the day-after-day jobs, such as washing dishes, mixing biscuits and other foods, and the actual cooking; then store the things together that are used in any one of those centers. For example, at the sink have the dishpan, drainer, dish cloth, soap or detergent, etc.; but also have nearby the saucepans used with water before they go to the stove. Frying pans should be stored near the stove.

At the mixing center will be the baking supplies and the equipment usually used, such as mixing bowls, measuring cups and spoons and the like.

Duplicate sets of certain inexpensive articles, such as measuring spoons, and cups will be handy, as will the small supply of flour near the stove for gravies and sauces, and salt at the stove, the mixing center.

Wettable sulfur dust and fixed copper dust in combination give good control of black spot of roses, says the Kentucky Experiment Station's horticulture department. Experiments by the USDA with this combination have been successful.

Interaction of the sulfur with the copper produced an effect "far greater" than the use of either alone.

Plenty Of Water Helps Milk Output

Tests show that cows which have free access to clean water produce up to 25 per cent more milk than cows watered only once a day, says Ed Troutman, Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service dairy specialist.

Providing plenty of clean, fresh water is one way to beat the summer milk-production slump, he says. Dairy cows require about 300 pounds of water to produce 100 pounds of milk, and the average daily water consumption per cow will be from 12 to 15 gallons; and there is a very definite relationship between amount of milk a cow produces and amount of water she drinks.

Pipe clean drinking water to drinking cups in the barn or outside to watering troughs, he says; where cattle are allowed to run in ponds, the water frequently will become contaminated; drainage from the barn or barn lots to water supplies also can carry germs.

Body temperatures are higher in the summer, Troutman notes, which means water needs are more pressing then.

Milk Production Jumps As Body Weight Increases

Studies of dairy cows made by a northern state indicate that as body weights increase within breeds, milk production increases.

Garland M. Bastin, Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service dairy specialist, said the study showed that when Jerseys, for instance, weighed 100 pounds more than the usual weight for that breed, milk production went up 490 pounds annually; for Guernseys, each 100-pound body weight increase resulted in 750 pounds more milk; and Holsteins, 970 pounds.

The larger cows consumed more feed, he said, but had a higher income over feed costs than did smaller cows of the same breed.

For that reason, he says, dairymen should try to improve their program of raising herd replacements, "larger animals within a particular breed will usually have less trouble at their first calving and also will have a higher milk production level for the first lactation; heifers not properly grown out will usually be less efficient throughout life than heifers with normal growth."

In breeding heifers, dairymen should watch for proper size; if this proper size is attained earlier than normal, take advantage of it by breeding for an earlier calving.

Following are recommended weights at which heifers should be bred, and their satisfactory calving weights in that order: Ayrshire, 600 pounds and 850-950 pounds; Brown Swiss, 750 pounds and 1,150-1,250 pounds; Guernseys, 550 pounds and 800 to 900 pounds; Holsteins, 700 pounds and 1,100 to 1,200 pounds; and Jerseys, 500 pounds and 750 to 800 pounds.

Clipping Crabgrass Is Necessary

Two suggestions on how to control crabgrass, the annual weed to be found in many lawns at this time of year, come from N. R. Elliott, Extension specialist in landscaping at the University of Kentucky.

(1) Continue to cut the grass regularly to prevent maturing and scattering of seeds; and (2) avoid watering the lawn at this season, as to do so only encourages the growth of the weed.

It is a serious mistake, he said, not to clip the lawn at regular intervals, even though the bluegrass shows little or no growth. Crabgrass is an annual, and cutting off the weed seeds, followed by raking and burning, is a step in next year's control, and should be continued until after two heavy frosts.

Bluegrass, on the other hand, is a cool weather crop, now in its resting period. It will come back with cooler weather.

Mr. Elliott explained that the Experiment Station at the University has found that September 15 is the best time of year to sow bluegrass seed. It should be of exceptionally high quality, and free of all other seeds.

If the soil is reasonably good, use 1/4 pound of seed to 1,000 square feet, and if it is on the "light" side, increase the amount to 1/2 pound, he advised.

Sowing should follow the clipping and raking of the lawn.

Peachtree Borer Control Tip Given

The insecticides DDT or parathion are effective in controlling the peach tree borer, says the Kentucky Experiment Station horticulture department.

Both materials have been found more effective than the material PDB, the department says.

Use 6 pounds of 50 per cent wettable DT powder in 100 gallons of water; or 3 pounds of 15 per cent parathion wettable powder per 100 gallons of water.

Murray Group Have Returned Frob Kentucky Meeting

Mrs. Goldie McKeel Curd, state manager of the Woodmen Circle, accompanied by Misses Loretta Culver, Rose Dyer, Shirley Kilgore, June Garrison, Glenda Culver, and Lorna Alexander went to the Mammoth Cave this week to attend the Woodmen Circle Central Kentucky Area meeting. While there the girls took a sight seeing trip through the Mammoth Cave.

Miss Loretta Culver, state captain, directed the drill work for the occasion and Miss Dyer, who is Southern States warden of the Tau Phi Lambda Society, served as assistant attendant. The other four Murray girls lead the team work.

Unusual in the initiation ceremony was the acceptance and initiation of an eighty-two year old candidate, Mrs. Lawrence Baize, Caneyville. Mrs. Baize has been interested for many years in the Woodmen Circle Society and has attended several of its open meetings, but because of her age she has not been eligible for any of the insurance protection plans. She made application for honorary membership and a d was accepted. She was extended a very warm welcome by the state president, Mrs. Nell Churchwell, Louisville, who presided during the meeting, by Mrs. Nola Moltenberry, national representative, Bowling Green, who served as past president, and by Mrs. Mary Brink, Louisville, past state president, who acted as first vice president.

Mrs. Amie Abraham, state musician, Louisville, had charge of the musical numbers, and Mrs. Mamie Lee Myers, Russellville, former state president, directed the group singing.

Representatives from nine groves participated in the day's activities. Plans were made to make the event an annual affair, and officers were elected to serve at the next meeting.

Men Outdone By Women Says Briton

LONDON — The American woman can out-drink, out-smoke, out-talk and out-muscle the American man now and is growing in superiority by leaps and bounds, a British columnist said today.

Cassandra, widely-read columnist in the Daily Mirror, said American manhood "firmly pinned down by the ears."

He said his information came from conversations with American women visiting London, recent personal observations in the United States and opinions of American writers.

"Come the year 2,000 the average honeysuckle - chile - cumcutie - sweetie - pie will be topping six feet four inches in her bylons and looking stance at any Romeo from Dallas, Denver or Des Moines who weighs less than 250 pounds and can get under a six-foot door without stooping," he wrote.

Car Replaces Magic Carpet

By Jeanne Smith, Dodge Safety Consultant

THAT FAMOUS PRINCE in "The Arabian Nights," who whisked about the country on his magic carpet, had nothing on today's mechanical steeds.

In fact, compared to the modern motorist, the prince was more of a stay-at-home than an explorer.

Today's automobile—safe, dependable and comfortable—has made almost everyone a traveler. A coast-to-coast jaunt is now almost as commonplace as a trip to the supermarket.

This year, for instance, over 75 million vacationers, in an estimated 25 million cars, will travel the nation's highways. More than a quarter of these cars will average from 2,500 to 5,000 miles—and a good share of the time they'll be piloted by feminine drivers.

A few words of caution, however, to women who plan to share vacation driving duties this summer or to handle the job alone.

Physical and mental fatigue are great hazards to a safe motoring trip. To avoid fatigue when traveling, follow these suggestions from the American Automobile Association:

Rise early and accomplish as much driving as possible before the highway becomes crowded. If you become tired, either stop and rest or let a driving companion take over.

Remember that daylight vacation driving is best only when a motel or hotel for the night. Try to get eight hours' sleep if you plan to drive the next day.

Beware of highway hypnosis, particularly when driving alone. This malady often occurs when driving on long, straight and uneventful roads—and can cause a serious accident. Break up your trip with frequent stops.

Dress comfortably so that you won't become restless behind the wheel. Don't over-indulge in food or drink. It results in fatigue and lessens your control of the car.

To avoid tiring your eyes, wear sunglasses whenever there is a glare from the sun or highway.

If you follow these basic tips, you'll safely reach your destination, relaxed and ready for fun.

YOU CAN DIE LAUGHING

By A.A. FAIR (ERLE STANLEY GARDNER)

CHAPTER 19

SAID to Corning. "You probably have some things to do, and I want to visit with Mrs. Raleigh for a while. If you want to go on, I'll take a cab back."

He grinned. "I'll stay right here, Lam. I'm not in any hurry at all, and I'd like to see Mrs. Raleigh has to say. After all, I'm interested in this, too, you know."

"I said to Mrs. Raleigh, 'You remember Sergeant Sellers, the officer who was here. Now, you remember when Sergeant Sellers and I were calling on Mrs. Wells just before we came to see you?'"

"You mean you didn't see us over there?"

"I saw you two over there, yes, but I don't know whether you knew or not. Mr. Lam, that I have too many other things to do than to keep an eye on my neighbors all the time."

"That's the spirit!" Corning said. "And furthermore, Mrs. Raleigh, if you'd like a little advice from a man who's been around a bit, if you've signed a statement under oath and given it to an attorney and haven't a copy of what was in that statement, I'd be pretty careful about saying anything to anybody. After all, you might be contradicting yourself for all you know."

"I'm not contradicting myself. I do wish I had a copy of what I signed, that's all. However, I guess Mr. Corning's right. I've said everything I'm going to say."

"Prominent people who are being interviewed have one stock expression when they don't want to talk," Corning said. "They just say, 'No comment.' That's something that can be misconstrued, twisted or distorted."

Her sharp eyes took in his grinning countenance. She said, "Well, now, that's an idea. I was just trying to explain—"

"Explanations can be twisted," Corning interrupted again.

"Yes, I suppose they can."

"I said, 'I'm just trying to get things straight. Mrs. Raleigh, you remember telling me that you felt Drury Wells had murdered his wife?'"

"No comment."

"Well, what did you tell Sergeant Sellers about that, Sergeant?"

"No comment."

Corning grinned. "That's the spirit, Mrs. Raleigh. I don't want to do anything that would inconvenience Donald Lam here, but you could get in quite a mess over this thing. The lawyer is getting evidence for a lawsuit, is he?"

"I understand he's filed suit for a hundred and fifty thousand dollars."

"Well, well, well," Corning said. "Under those circumstances, Mrs. Raleigh, I think it would be very poor policy for you to continue talking with Mr. Lam or with anybody else. You'd better just say, 'No comment,' and let it go at that."

"You're being a big help," I told Corning.

He drew himself up. "I am trying to be absolutely scrupulously fair. I can see that Mrs. Raleigh doesn't know much about her rights in the matter, and apparently has never stopped to consider the probable liabilities she may have incurred."

"Liabilities?" Mrs. Raleigh demanded. "Liabilities? I've incurred?"

"Well, of course, it depends on what you said," Corning told her. "But that could include you in that suit."

"Well, they certainly have no reason to, I never said anything to anybody."

"I started for the door," I may see you again, Mrs. Raleigh."

Corning said, "Do you have a lawyer?"

"A lawyer?" she asked. "What on earth would I want with a lawyer? Certainly not!"

"I have a very good law firm here in the city that does some business for me," Corning told her. "I'd be glad to speak to them in case you wanted a consultation."

"What do I want with any lawyer? What do I want with consultation?"

"It might be a good idea. I'm quite certain that a lawyer would tell you not to talk to anybody, not to make any statements at all to anyone except in his presence."

"Well, I'm not going to any lawyer, but I'm not making any statement. I guess I've already talked enough."

"Okay," I told Corning. "Let's go. Perhaps I can do something for you sometime."

"Don't mention it," he said. "The thing you could have done for me was something that you could have done two days ago when you found Mrs. Wells was home. You didn't notify me then. I suppose you were keeping the place under surveillance and waited until she'd left before you told me she'd been home."

"I tell you I was busy yesterday. I gave you the information as soon as I got back."

"You could have telephoned me."

"If you'll remember it," I told him, "the employment had been terminated."

"That's right," he said. "The employment had been terminated. You don't owe me anything and I don't owe you anything. But I do feel obligated to Mrs. Raleigh here, because Mrs. Raleigh was very friendly when I called and talked with her. And if I were you, Mrs. Raleigh, I would just say, 'No comment,' to all questions that are asked you by anyone about the Wells case. I certainly know you never told me anything, and my suspicion that you had that a murder had been committed. You were really very close-mouthed."

"Thank you, Mr. Corning. Thank you very much."

"Not at all. I'm just telling Mr. Lam that my experience with you certainly didn't indicate that you'd be inclined to gossip about anyone, and I never heard you even intimate you had any idea a murder had been committed."

"Thank you, Mr. Corning. This more I think of it, the more I appreciate that you have my best interests at heart."

"We got up and went out. We both shook hands with her and told her how much we'd enjoyed the visit."

"We got in Corning's car. Corning started the motor and said, 'Now then, you little runt, I know why you were so nice to come and tell me about Mrs. Wells being home, and I know why you sat tight with the information and let the deal slip through my fingers. Now we're even. You don't owe me anything, and I don't owe you anything.'"

I told him, "That's not exactly correct."

"What's wrong with it?"

I said, "I owe you something, and I intend to see that you're paid. . . . I'll get out at the corner here and take the bus back."

"You want to double back to Mrs. Raleigh and try to get that statement?" He grinned again.

"If you get out of this car, it won't be at the bus stop. We're going back to town by a different way."

I got back in the seat. There was nothing else to do.

He didn't say anything more until we reached his apartment hotel. Then he parked the car, opened the door and said, "You a detective? You make me laugh!"

I got out of the car. "You can die laughing," I told him, and walked away.

"I wouldn't be surprised if there was something phony about the wedding ceremony," Donald is told. Continue "You Can Die Laughing" here tomorrow.

DAIRY BABY by RYAN MILK CO. Grade 'A' Division

That's wonderful! I'm glad that you tried it! I knew you would prefer Sunburst milk!

An angry man is Sylvester T. Bly. Who today was sold a piece of "blue sky." He'd stepped in a showroom—out of the rain, Was sold a new car before he could explain! How he hated the styling—so high and square And in new features it was really bare. "I got a real bargain—the buy of my life— But how do I ever convince my own wife?"

Moral: You're paying for a new car... make sure you get one!

When you buy a new car, put your money on tomorrow—not yesterday. Swept-Wing Dodge actually obsoletes other cars in its field. Should you invest in high, boxy styling when Dodge offers the low, low look of tomorrow? Should you invest in outmoded coil springs when Dodge offers new Torsion-Aire Ride? Should you invest in an old-fashioned lever-type transmission when Dodge offers the ease of Push-Button Driving? In other things, too—engines, brakes, interiors—Dodge is years ahead. So put your money on tomorrow. See your Dodge dealer. Join the swing to the Swept-Wing Dodge!

Murray Group Have Returned Frob Kentucky Meeting

Mrs. Goldia McKeel Curd, state manager of the Woodmen Circle, accompanied by Misses Loretta Culver, Rose Dyer, Shirley Kilgore, June Garrison, Glenda Culver, and Lorna Alexander went to the Mammoth Cave this week to attend the Woodmen Circle Central Kentucky Area meeting. While there the girls took a sight-seeing trip through the Mammoth Cave.

Miss Loretta Culver, state captain, directed the drill work for the session and Miss Dyer, who is Southern States warden of the Tau Phi Lambda Sorority, served as assistant attendant. The other four Murray girls lead the team work.

Unusual in the initiation ceremony was the acceptance and initiation of an eighty-two year old candidate, Mrs. Lawrence Baize, Caneyville. Mrs. Baize has been interested for many years in the Woodmen Circle society and has attended several of its open meetings, but because of her age she has not been eligible for any of the insurance protection plans. She made application for honorary membership a day was accepted. She was extended a very warm welcome by the state president, Mrs. Nell Churchwell, Louisville, who presided during the meeting, by Mrs. Nola Moltenberry, national representative, Bowling Green, who served as past president, and by Mrs. Mary Brink, Louisville, past state president, who acted as first vice president.

Mrs. Annie Abraham, state musician, Louisville, had charge of the musical numbers, and Mrs. Mamye Lee Myers, Russellville, former state president, directed the group singing.

Representatives from nine groves participated in the day's activities. Plans were made to make the event an annual affair, and officers were elected to serve at the next meeting.

Trousseau Party Is Held On Monday At The Jellison Home

Miss Jenne Lou Jellison and Mrs. C. G. Jellison entertained with a trousseau party at the Jellison home on Poplar Street on Monday morning. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

CLARK GABLE, CONFIDENTIALLY

Left: Tita Furdon raises a threatening finger as she announces she is suing Confidential for $3,000,000. She is former wife of Edmund Furdon, and suit involves statements in a Confidential article entitled, "What Edmund Furdon Didn't Tell." Right: Howard Bushmore sues court. He is former Confidential editor. He said Frances de Scafta told him she got into for an article on the first Mrs. Clark Gable by having an affair with Gable, in Hawaii, said he "never met the lady in my life."

Herb Jefferies (middle), former husband of "party girl" Rosalie Quillan, looks over his suspects with two court guards. SCENES FROM the Confidential magazine criminal libel drama in Los Angeles indicate further testimony will be in conformity with August weather. (International Soundphotos)

Men Outdone By Women Says Briton

LONDON — The American woman can out-drink, out-smoke, out-talk and out-muscle the American man now and is growing in superiority by leaps and bounds, a British columnist said today.

Cassandra, widely-respected columnist in the Daily Mirror, said American manhood "firmly pinned down by the ears."

He said his information came from conversations with American women visiting London, recent personal observations in the United States and opinions of American writers. "Come the year 2,000 the average honeysuckle - chile - cum - cutie - sweetie - pie will be topping six feet four inches in her nylons and looking askance at any Romeo from Dallas, Denver or Des Moines who weighs less than 250 pounds and can get under a six-foot door without a sledge," he wrote.

Ten Years Ago Today

Members of the United Nations atomic energy commission formally condemned Russia's atomic control proposals as inadequate today and shelved them indefinitely over the protests of Soviet delegate Andrei Gromyko. Landlords are having "voluntary" 15 per cent increase authorized by the last session of Congress, the office of the housing expediter reported today.

Mrs. George Hart, secretary of the Murray College Alumni Association, today announced the results of the balloting for class representatives of the association. The Murray Lion's Club fell before the Paris Lions Club last night by a score of 15-7 in a game played at the Murray High School field. Anti-saloon forces won a 6-1 margin victory in Henry County (Tenn.).

YOU CAN DIE LAUGHING By A.A. FAIR (ERLE STANLEY GARDNER)

CHAPTER 15 I SAID to Corning, "You probably have some things to do, and I want to visit with Mrs. Raleigh for a while. If you want to go on, I'll take a cab."

"I understand he's filed suit for a hundred and fifty thousand dollars." "Well, well, well," Corning said. "Under those circumstances, Mrs. Raleigh, I think it would be very poor policy for you to continue talking with Mr. Lam or with anybody else. You'd better just say, 'No comment,' and let it go at that."

New Jet Plane Lands Tail First

WASHINGTON — Even the brass hats who dream up weird war machines rubbed their eyes today when a jet plane, hovering in the air at the Pentagon with nothing but an invisible column of hot gas to hold it up.

In a glimpse of the future, the Ryan X-19 Vertjet rose into the air, nose first, from a concrete pavement beside a tarmac at the Defense Department and remained there supported by the exhaust gas from its engine.

Test Pilot Peter F. Girard, 38, veered away from the vertical launching level off the detached plane and circled Washington.

Before a throng participating in Air Force 50th anniversary celebrations, he scooted back over the lagoon and again stood over the plane on its tail. The exhaust splattered water in all directions.

Then he eased the jet down to the concrete pad, hooked the nose onto a crane and came to a stop.

The X-19 is considered by many the forerunner of future interceptors which will do away with the need for long runways and complicated aircraft carrier launching mechanisms.

The power to rise vertically is bound to come as a by-product of other aeronautical developments, if for no other reason, scientists say.

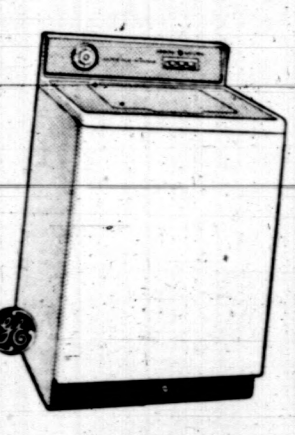

The Ryan airplane is a research vehicle, but still a full-sized airplane. It is 24 feet long with a 21-foot wingspan and will fly close to 400 miles an hour.

Developed for the Air Force, it is powered by a British Rolls Royce Avon jet engine with about 10,000 pounds of thrust.

The vertjet is controlled on take off entirely by throttle variations and deflection of the jet exhaust, but is maneuvered in level flight by conventional means.

Deflation Feared Too

By ELMER C. WALZER
United Press Financial Editor
NEW YORK — Wall Street seized upon a rise in the prime interest rate to sell stocks.

What rise didn't actually do the trick, but it was a good excuse, according to market men.

Higher prime rates and eventually higher discount rates are foreseen. The discount rate of far too low on the basis of other money items.

As far as the market itself is concerned it is practically a cash affair.

The market's interest in money rates on that basis is on the 8 1/2-cent tight money has on general business. So far that effect hasn't been too great, it is noted.

But the experts insist that money tightness will catch up eventually. If one can interpret what they mean one would guess business would get a smack in the face and fall down.

But market men aren't at all worried over such a situation. They feel that the federal reserve is ready to step in if the situation there is a real threat of deflation.

One market man said he'd be a lot more worried over the present market if it weren't for that belief.

Another item that Wall Street has been expecting daily for a long time is the freight rate increase. The rise—about 7 per cent for Eastern and Western roads and 4 per cent for Southern roads—is less than some had anticipated.

But, the freight boost gives the railroad an additional revenue of $79 million dollars yearly.

Higher freight rates will raise costs of transportation of most items in interstate commerce and thus add fuel to the wage-price spiral, it is pointed out.

If Wall Street is consistent over its inflation views it would tend to sell the rails even though they do get higher rates, the experts point out. Rails with their fixed income are not considered the best kind of stock to buy in an inflationary period. Neither are utilities.

Right now, however, the market men seem to be more afraid of deflation than of inflation.

In periods of deflation stocks tend lower, while bonds rise. Commodities decline too. Recently no one wanted bonds even though yields were high.

Odd Laws Are Passed

CHICAGO — State legislators in one of their busiest years have found time to pass laws affecting minnow pickers and moss gatherers.

Legislative oddities such as these were turned up in quantity in a survey by Commerce Clearing House, national reporting authority on tax and business law.

Now you can be fined $25-$100 in Nebraska if your clock doesn't show standard time.

Picketing a cemetery during a funeral is illegal in Ohio.

Giving out trading stamps is a crime in Kansas.

In Tennessee it's illegal to use the telephone to embarrass someone. Indiana passed a similar law but made the offense punishable only if it occurs repeatedly.

Cash on liquor prizes at bazaars or raffles are illegal in Connecticut.

New Hampshire has established a navy militia.

Trying to kill wild birds with salt is illegal under a new law in Michigan, but its legal now to use firecrackers to frighten birds away from fish hatcheries in Florida.

A legislative committee in Massachusetts is studying the feasibility of tax machinery used for gathering moss.

In Minnesota, dealers in pickled minnows must now comply with the state's requirements for licensing regular minnow dealers.

And Indiana amiably passed a law permitting persons and corporations who are not subject to tax to donate whatever they wish to help pay the state's bills.

Russia Ready For Airline Competition

By BETT MARSH
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON — The door is open for Russia's newly jet-propelled state airline to join the International Air Transport Association and compete with its 79 other members outside the Iron Curtain.

Sir William P. Hildred, director-general of IATA, told the United Press that "open door statements" made at IATA meetings in Edinburgh last year and in New York in 1955 "still stand."

He said that if the Soviet line, Aeroflot, took up IATA's invitation to join it would be free to charge whatever fares it wanted within Russia and "have the right" to make any suggestions to the association's other members about what it would charge for flights outside the Iron Curtain.

It would be up to individual governments, however, to rule whether Aeroflot could operate into their countries. Such decisions are expected to be contingent on the Russians letting Western airlines fly into the Soviet Union.

Hildred commented on the Western airlines' attitude to Aeroflot, which for several months has been operating jetliners in Europe and Communist China, in an exclusive interview with the United Press.

The globe-girdling, British aviation veteran answered a series of questions submitted to his Montreal office.

He also reviewed the West's readiness for big U.S. jetliners which are expected to start operating in two to three years, and

Commercials Hard To Film

By ALINE MOSSBY
United Press Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD — MGM turns out super-colossal, slick movies in the Leo the lion tradition, but some these days are one-minute television commercials.

The biggest studio of them all is one of three major movie factories that have hustled the MGM TV commercial business away from New York.

MGM sound stages where famous epics, from "Rainbow Valley" back to "Dinner at Eight" and "Grand Hotel" were shot, now feature such scenes as ladies putting on lipstick or opening refrigerator doors.

Though these movies are shorter than the three-hour epics they are tougher to make, according to Virgil Ellsworth, general manager of the studio.

"By and large," he said, "airports and other facilities for the fast, heavy jets capable of carrying more than 100 passengers are not ready."

"We expect, however, that thanks to the joint efforts and planning of governments and airlines these facilities will be available when the jets start operating, as the need arises. The task is immense, and we cannot hope to have everything we shall need provided fully and at once."

Hildred said he hoped "we shall have enough facilities at any point to meet the operational needs of jets as they unfold." Priority areas probably will be the north Atlantic route and the United States and European areas at each end of the Atlantic route, he added.

Warsaw, Poland — Jacob Beam, new U.S. ambassador to Poland, took over his post today. He arrived yesterday by plane and was welcomed by foreign affairs officials and members of the American Embassy staff.

U. S. ENVOY ARRIVES
WARSAW, Poland — Jacob Beam, new U. S. ambassador to Poland, took over his post today. He arrived yesterday by plane and was welcomed by foreign affairs officials and members of the American Embassy staff.

"The timing is so difficult—58 seconds exactly. And the scenes are much more critically viewed than a feature film. The sponsor studies everything so closely."

Some days the electricians spend as much as five hours just to properly light the close-up of a product so it will be shown to its best advantage.

Food scenes are big headaches. Soup has to be steaming beautifully, but if the shot isn't successful a new pot of soup has to be brewed.

"And often toast has to be sprayed with color to make it look like toast," Ellsworth added.

The talents that go into MGM feature movies, from the make-up wizards who powder Ava Gardner's nose to the designers of lavish sets, now also work on TV commercials.

Dancer Marc Platt and actors Billie Burke and Edward Everett Horton are among feature film performers who now come over bowls of pancake flour.

An outdoor MGM set of Fifth Avenue was used in a cosmetic commercial; the set of a New England waterfront was the location for a cake mix spiel.

"Just for one scene we had to fly a girl 70 feet through the air," enthused Ellsworth. "That took three days to shoot. They never could make commercials like that in New York. But we have all the MGM facilities for our use."

Cool Ride Is Aid To Swine

Get all the profits to which you're entitled in shipping hogs to market, says Grady Sellards, Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service swine specialist. Give them a cool, comfortable ride.

Use sand for bedding, he advises, and wet it down. If the sand is to be long, sprinkle the hogs en route with wet bedding again. Cracked ice can be put in burlap sacks and suspended above the hogs for cooling purposes too.

Here are some more swine-travel tips:

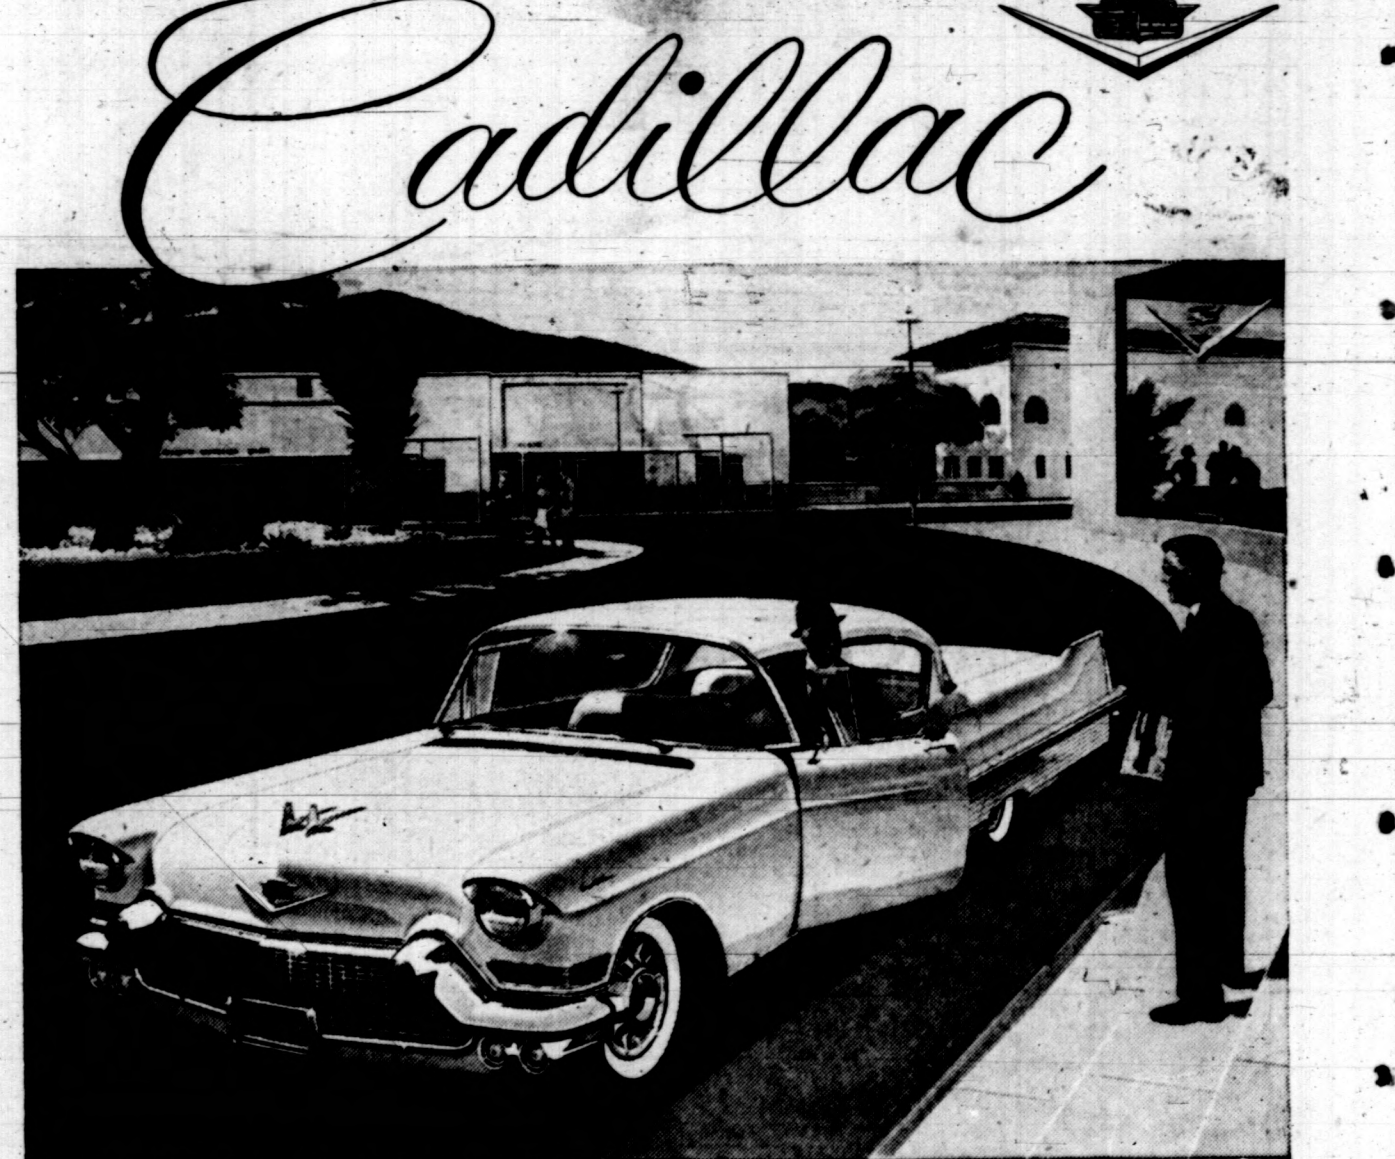

Feed on arrival at market to reduce shrinkage, rather than just prior to loading; use good loading chutes; remove sharp objects from the carrier (bolts and nails, that protrude, etc.); load the animals quietly; use slippers for loading rather than shoes; share profits or your feet; avoid crowding; separate boars, sows and large hogs from small hogs in transit; and watch handling practices (to avoid bruises) in unloading and driving to market pens.

Keeping Current... For Economy!

In the illustration above, you see a very happy man at a very wonderful moment. The title, the keys and the car are his—and he's starting out on his first journey at the wheel. Of course, there's not much doubt as to why he decided to purchase a new Cadillac.

Like everyone else who selects the "car of cars," he did it to "keep current", so to speak, on all of Cadillac's new miracles of performance and beauty and comfort.

But coming to Cadillac, as he did, at this particular time of the year, we also suspect that he was inspired by the added motive of practicality.

For in addition to the normal Cadillac economies of modest purchase price, low operating cost and high resale value—Cadillac dealers are, at this time, seasonally prepared to make Cadillac ownership even more attractive than ever.

Because of the demand for used cars and because of increased production of the Cadillac car itself, the odds are that this gentleman received both a generous allowance on his previous car and prompt delivery of his new Cadillac.

Have you considered how wonderful it would be to step into a Cadillac of your own? Then, you should pay your dealer a visit—spend an hour on the highway in the luxury of Fleetwood coachcrafting—and get the facts for yourself.

You'll agree, we know, that the car is Cadillac—and the time is now!
