Vol. LXXIX, No. 92

TWO ARE KILLED IN HAZEL EARLY TODAY

Seen & Heard Around Murray

Yesterday was the kind of day that makes a person glad to be alive. Nature turned on its full personality and you could almost hear the buds popping out.

It is the kind of weather that makes you wish you had top soil two feet deep in your yard so that plants could take full advantage of the spring weather.

Sporty character in the form of a huge blackbird took over the back yard yesterday. He must have been feeling pretty good, because he thought he was sole owner of all he surveyed. The sun shining on his back brought out all the purples and blacks in the spectrum.

This is National Realtor Week. The word "realtor" has particular significance in Murray this year, because of the formation of the Murray Real Estate Board. A look at the code of ethics which the board follows will give you some idea as to what kind of treatment you can expect at the hands of local real estate men.

It was formed under the leadership of Hiram Tucker and will be mutually advantageous to both real estate men and to the buying public.

Forrest Pogue will be the speaker next Tuesday at an inter club meeting. All the civic clubs will meet together at the Woman's Club House at 6:30 to hear him.

Pogue is a good speaker and can usually be counted on to make a good talk.

Over 200 different proposals have been forwarded as to how to get a man out into space. This includes shooting him out there in some type of missile. That is one department we'll leave to the more adventuresome.

For Men Only: Sport shirts have a piece of celluloid or something in the collar that hold them straight, and for some reason they become lost after you wear them one time. Have found that a bobby pin fills the bill perfectly. If they get lost, you can always find one or two laying around.

How many more lives will the curve at Hazel claim before something is done to straighten it out.

The argument is correct that says if people slow down they will not have a wreck, but since people are not going to slow down, the curve should be corrected.

If people drove more slowly, the slaughter on the highway would take a nosedive, but apparently as long as people are people, they will continue to burn up the highway.

NOTICE

There will be an important call rehearsal for the Music Department Chorus Sunday afternoon at 3:00 at the Woman's Club House.

Support On Tobacco Dropped For That Over 28 Inches

Joe R. Williams, Director, Tobacco Division, Commodity Stabilization Service, United States Department of Agriculture, has advised the Western and other associations handling dark tobacco that the support prices for tobacco over 28 inches in length will be 10 percent less than tobacco 24 to 28 inches (48 length) for the 1958 crop. This announcement followed a meeting held at Clarksville, Tennessee, April 1, attended by representatives of grower organizations, Tennessee and Kentucky Experiment Station, manufacturers, export dealers, and representatives of the Tobacco Division, Washington, D.C., who unanimously agreed that extra long lengths were detrimental to the dark tobacco industry.

Washington officials attending the meeting indicated that consideration was being given to encourage the growing of shorter, more desirable lengths by offering support prices on these tobaccos at a higher level than on the excessive length tobacco.

In recent years there has been a consistent trend toward larger, longer tobacco. United States tobacco commands premium prices, as contrasted with tobaccos from competing sources, because of the superior quality, flavor and taste which our tobacco has traditionally possessed.

In addition to the "rough and wild" appearance of overly large tobacco, it is also considered by manufacturers, both here and abroad, to be less desirable from a flavor and taste standpoint than standard size tobacco.

Mr. Williams has requested the Western Dark Fired Tobacco Growers Association's assistance in informing tobacco growers "that the advance rate for tobacco over 28 inches long will be 10 percent less than the rate for the 24 to 28 inch lengths (48 length). It is likely also that advance rates on the 48 lengths, at least in some grade categories, will be further lowered. As indicated, reductions in advances on the 48 lengths and extra long tobacco will be offset by increased advances on 48 and 44 length tobaccos. The Inspection Service (Tobacco Division, AMS) has indicated that appropriate grade symbols will be used to identify tobaccos over 28 inches long."

This announcement, prior to setting time, will enable tobacco growers to make changes in cultural practices, if desired, to take advantage of the increased support prices on short and medium length tobaccos.

Other officers named at the meeting were Dr. William Pogue, Internal vice - president; John Sammons, External vice - president; Hugh Eddie Wilson, secretary; and Robert Hopkins, treasurer.

The new board of directors will consist of past president Harold Besman, Maurice Crass, Jr., Tom Emerson, Belhel Richardson, Gene Landolt and George Hodge.

The installation of the new officers will be made on May 6 at a banquet which will be held at the Kentucky Colonel.

Assistant Commissioner Delmar Ison said the permit was an extension to Railway Express' existing certificate No. 847 which covers the Louisville - Fulton route and was a temporary grant, not to exceed a period of 180 days from date of issuance.

Ison explained the routing as: Between Mayfield and the junction of US 641 and US 62, approximately 10 miles north of Benton, serving the interstate points of Murray and Benton, but restricted to handling express shipment which service is auxiliary to or supplement of auxiliary or air express. All shipments handled shall move on a through bill or heading or express receipt from Mayfield over KY 121 to Murray, thence over US 621 to junction with US 62, approximately 10 miles north of Benton and return over the same route.

The Safe Driving Road-e-o sponsored each year by the Murray Junior Chamber of Commerce will be held May 10th (Saturday) morning at 10 a.m. at the local high school. The contest will be held in the school parking lot. The contest will be held in the school parking lot. The contest will be held in the school parking lot.

The Road-e-o is held on a community level. High scoring contestants then go on to the state eliminations and the state winners are flown to Washington, D.C. for the national finals. The local contest will consist of a written test on driving knowledge and a performance test in four obstacle-type exercises. Callaway County Schools are being contacted now for possible entrants. Evidence Supports Fact Russia Had Atomic Accident

LONDON — The New York Chronicle reported today that evidence supports a belief that the Russians had an H-bomb disaster.

A story bontered across its front page, the newspaper said. Vietnamese scientists report radioactivity has increased twelvefold in Eastern Europe.

It pointed out that Vienna kept the track of winds from southern Siberia. The Austrian scientists reported rises in radioactivity on April 1, 4, 11 and 14.

The New Chronicle said the heavy fall-out from Siberia could mean: 1. Russia, as a finale to her nuclear tests, set off a "dirty" super-bomb; or 2. a badly - fused H-bomb dropped close to the ground and threw out huge clouds of dust.

California Will Handle Redwood Crop Carefully

BERKELEY, Calif. — California foresters are giving some thought to replacing the redwood forests that grew along the coast hundreds of years ago and have supplied lumber for generations.

Young stands of redwoods are growing up where the venerable giants were cut down. Some of these "young" trees — now 50 to 60 years old — are ready to cut. Forestry experts have undertaken a program to manage the new crop of redwoods "most efficiently."

The project of research on redwood logging is being conducted by the University of California, with the aid of a grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Interest On GI Insurance Taxable

CHICAGO — Although payments for Veterans' Administration benefits are tax-free and need not be reported on 1957 Federal income tax returns, interest earned on GI life insurance dividends left on deposit with the VA is not a "benefit" and is taxable.

Robert Beer, manager of the VA regional office in Chicago, said the ruling on dividend interest was made last year by the Internal Revenue Service.

One Man And One Woman Die In Crash On Dangerous Curve

Two people met almost instant death this morning at 12:40 o'clock on the S-curve at Hazel, the scene of many accidents in the past.

Two other people received injuries and were taken to the Murray Hospital by a Miller ambulance. Those listed as dead are: Betty Jean Watson, age 19, of Paducah.

William Ray Oliver, age 23, of Paducah.

Injured were Luther Curtis Gibbs, age 27, and Miss Margaret Mays Washburn, age 15, both of Paducah.

According to information received today, the automobile in which they were riding a 1952 Mercury, failed to make the curve, struck a tree, then was spun around onto the north side of the S-curve, located on the south side of the state line, must be negotiated to enter the street running directly through the center of town.

It is the scene of many accidents, several of which resulted in fatalities.

A witness at the scene of the accident this morning reported that Miss Washburn and Oliver were planning to be married next week, however this could not be substantiated.

It is not known where the two couples had been, however it is known that they were returning to Paducah.

Wife Of Chandler Foe Is Fired

MAYFIELD — State Sen. Wayne Freeman, an insurgent Democrat, said Wednesday night his wife has been fired from her state Department of Economic Security job, effective at the end of business April 30.

Freeman, an outspoken foe of the administration of Gov. A. B. Chandler, said, "we are going to fight this all the way, we want the people of Kentucky to know both sides of this."

He said he and his wife would appeal her dismissal to the State Merit Board.

Mrs. Freeman, an employee of the department for the past seven and a half years, had said earlier she would resign rather than comply with a transfer to the department's office at Louisville.

Freeman's brother, Theron (Short) Freeman was fired recently from his job at the state Department of Highways garage here.

Freeman charged his wife's dismissal was "a politically inspired move on the part of the governor who is still attempting to punish me because I exercised my rights as a state senator in representing the people on legislative matters that came up in the recent session."

"In my opinion the merit system of Kentucky does not practice fair play in any respect. It is a partisan political spoils system. I think the federal government would be rendering a service to the people if it would make a thorough investigation," Freeman said.

Freeman said State Economic Commission Vego Barnes told him Jan. 5 that as long as he was commissioner and Mrs. Freeman did her duty she would not be transferred or fired.

"I hope that Barnes will now have the moral courage to admit he made this statement," Freeman said.

Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK — The opening day schedule read:
"Dodgers at Giants."
But in the bowl under Coogan's Bluff, the Polo Grounds, dozed forgotten in the sunshine. One car sat forlornly in the huge parking lot and the silence was broken only by the squeaking wheels of a stroller pushed slowly along the sidewalk by a woman airing her child.
"Report any change shortages by mail," proclaimed the sign over the gate.
Air mail. For the Giants this day were opening in their new home 3,000 miles away, in San Francisco. And their opponents were the new "Los Angeles" "Like the Hanson—No More" It was a funeral silence, there on the banks of the Harlem River. For it was a day which marked the end of an era.

Gone was a team which had been a fixture here since the elegant 80's, since the New York of the brownstone house, the gaily striped, the fog hat and the handsome cab and such as John L. Sullivan and Diamond Jim Brady.
The yawning subway entrance, built to accommodate eager thousands humming "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," echoed hollowly with one man's footsteps. It was a concrete catacomb under the graveyard of a club named one day in 1888 when frock-coated Jim Mutrie, its first manager, leaped to his feet in the frenzied heat of a close game and cried:
"My big fellows. My Giants!"

In those days, goats browsed on the heights of Coogan's Bluff. On this day blank-faced apartment houses stared down in sad farewell.

Whatever Happened To TOMMY MILTON

By United Press
Tommy Milton, for years one of the public's favorite racing drivers, won the 500-mile at Indianapolis twice and provided many a thrill in every race he drove at the brick oval. In 1920, Tommy won the AAA big car, driving championship and picked up his first Indianapolis crown the following year, a victory that helped him win his second straight AAA crown. Milton won his second Indy 500 in 1923 and became the track's first two-time winner. Despite his daring behind the wheel, Tommy admitted in later years he was scared a good part of the time but figured that was probably what kept him alive.

Whatever happened to Tommy Milton? Now 64, Milton is a consulting automobile engineer and lives in Mt. Clemens, Mich., a suburb of Detroit.

CARDS TRIM TWO

ST. LOUIS — Right-handed pitcher Lynn Lovenguth and a 13-year-old Lloyd Merritt were cut by the St. Louis Cardinals today, leaving the player roster at the legal limit of 28. The Cardinals said they had not as yet decided to which clubs Lovenguth and Merritt would be sent.

Behind those closed gates, on a day lost in the baseball ages, a rookie named Mel Ott stretched a single into a head-down double and looked up to see teammate Freddie Lindstrom gazing down at him.
"A helluva slide, kid," quoth Lindstrom, "but one of us is out."
A flight of pigeons wheeled into the eaves and you saw again the way they scattered that afternoon in 1951 when a man named Bobby Thomson poked a pennant-winning home run which provided "the little miracle of Coogan's Bluff."

Then, as you took one last look and walked away down the deserted street, it came to your mind how Bill Terry of these Giants demanded facetiously in 1934:
"Brooklyn? Is Brooklyn still in the league?"

And you knew that now it was no longer a joke. Brooklyn was no longer a team, neither were those storied Giants.

Sift together 2 1/2 cups sifted cake flour, 3 teaspoons Clabber Girl Baking Powder, 1 teaspoon salt, and 1 cup sugar into large mixing bowl; add by cup shortening and 2 1/2 cup liquid. Beat 2 minutes using medium speed of electric mixer, or by hand beating 150 strokes per minute. Keep batter scraped from sides and bottom of bowl with rubber scraper. Add 2 eggs and remaining 1 1/2 cup liquid. Beat 2 minutes longer as before. Blend in fruit mixture. Pour into a greased and floured 9 x 9 x 1 1/2 inch baking pan. Bake in a 350° F. (moderate) oven about 45 minutes. Cool. Frost and decorate as desired. Cut in squares. Yield: 1-9 x 9-inch cake.

The "most important" thing about baking...

It's the balance of ingredients in baking powder that governs its leavening action. Only when these are scientifically balanced can you be sure of uniform action in the mixing bowl plus that final, balanced rise to light and fluffy texture in the oven.

Balanced Double Action means Better Baking!

TV Flubbs Opportunity To Come Up With A Big Show

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK 4P — Television flubbed its chance Tuesday night to come up with a show that would do honor to itself.

I'm sure that many of those associated with the 10th annual "Emmy" award show — seen on NBC-TV — will be laying the blame on Milton Berle today for his outrageous hogging of the camera. Berle spun out an extended monologue (to give him his due, it was quite funny) that forced everyone else to cut short their routines and seemed to throw the show into a kind of panic.

But it seemed to me that the show's troubles were more basic. To put it simply, it was an uninspired production.

Like the Hollywood "Oscar" show a few weeks back, the Emmy awards were presented against a bare backdrop while confusion ran rampant on the teleprompter and on camera. There seemed to be an excessive amount of audio bugs; the camera shots often ran behind the announcing, and there was a frantic race of "how the heck I'm going to get down the aisle" about it all.

Any Fresh Ideas?
It seems puzzling that an industry equipped with the sort of production brains capable of turning out the Dinah Shore, Perry Como and Steve Allen shows is unable to handle a single award dinner with dignity, distinction and fresh ideas. Only the most groping of efforts was made to add production values to the show. That wonderful melody "Military Medley" — the Phil Spector platoon — was paraded onstage to the tune of the "March from the Rich Man." Once, a four-way screen was tried — unsuccessfully — while Jill Corey, Shirley MacLaine, James Garner and Louis Nye tackled a parody of "Love and Marriage."

There was also some talk about running a 10-year-coverage of TV, but only one year, 1958, ever made it on screen and after watching the brief mishmash of clips from that year, I would say it was just as well.

I would say the show only registered on one count — it had a kind of homey air about it, an off-the-cuff informality that was pleasing.

It boils down to this: TV simply will have to make up its mind about the Emmys and set itself for an overhaul of both the awards and the award show.

Categories Unwieldy

For one thing, the categories are unwieldy. A category like "best continuing performance (female)" in a series by a comedienne, singer, hostess, dancer, m.c., announcer, narrator, panelist, or any person who essentially plays herself is a patient absurdity. The categories should be sliced to about half their number or better still, done away with entirely and awards just presented to those shows or performers who merit them.

There is something very wrong with a system that decides "The Comedian" on "Playhouse 90" is the best single show of the year, that bestows an award on "Omnibus" and is forced to slough off "See It Now," that gives a statue to "Schulzky" of "The Bob Cummings Show" and forgets "The Edsel Show," "The Miracle Worker," Jack Paar, Sid Caesar and "Hallmark Hall of Fame."

The New WAYNE D. OVERHOLSER Thriller

THE LONE DEPUTY

© 1957, Wayne D. Overholser. From the novel published by The Macmillan Co. Distributed by King Features Syndicate.

It was the only man Price had ever seen who carried that gun. His clothes were expensive but not gaudy. He was average height, average weight, average face. Price was puzzled. Price was the kind of man who would never attract a second glance, in a crowd, yet Price sensed he was a dangerous cold-blooded killer.

Nance had been in the Elk River country about two months. Who he was and where he had come from were questions Price could not answer. The talk was that Weston had brought him here to kill Price, and Price believed the talk.

Irritated by Weston's contemptuous silence, Price said "Get him to the doc, damn it." "No hurry," Weston said. "You handle your pretty well, Regan."

"I've been here a year," Price said. "You should have known that before."

"I'd heard," Weston said, "but I hadn't seen you in action before." He paused, the silence "Carew has sent other deputies here who always got along. What's the matter with you?"

"Nothing," Price answered. "Always before Ralph let you pick your man, but some of the folks hereabouts thought it would be a good idea to have a deputy who wasn't your man."

Price saw interest sharpen in Weston's expression. He asked, "Who?" "Ralph didn't tell me," Weston looked past Price at Blue, who hadn't stirred, then brought his gaze back to Price's face. "Regan, I've been a patient man, but I'm about done waiting. What are you going to do with Cronin and his woman?"

"Nothing until I've got evidence against them," Price said. "I've already told Barry Madden. Then the anger that was close to the surface broke through. "You had it set up fine, didn't you? Real fine Barry promises me a house so I can get married. I don't take it, so he puts you off and Curly bumps me. Then after I get bumped up, Nance is supposed to smoke me down." He wheeled to face the gunman. "Any time, Pete. I'm tired of waiting."

"Who now," Nance said in his soft voice, "so an L but the boss is kind of careful. We wait, but I don't know why. You'll have to ask him."

Without taking his eyes off Nance, Price said, "All right, Cole, I'm asking."

Turning to the answer to a lot of problems, Weston said, "but maybe too much patience is a failing of mine. I'm still hoping you'll take care of Cronin. If you do, you'll have no more trouble."

There was nothing to be gained by pushing now, Price thought. Through his rank, Madden controlled the townpeople, and Weston controlled Madden, but Nance was the boss. This morning the townsmen had seen Weston's bully boy beaten into submission.

Mike Curtiz

"Discovered"

Elvis Presley

By HAZEL K. JOHNSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD — Director Mike Curtiz admits that he let out a loud hoot of laughter the first time he was asked to direct Elvis Presley in a motion picture.

"He needs someone who can really discover him," Curtiz was told by producer Hal Wallis who was then in the initial phase of planning Presley's final pre-Army movie, "King Creole."

"Elvis needs to be discovered as much as Marilyn Monroe and Jayne Mansfield do," Curtiz said in an attempt to end the controversy. But he finally did agree to see the sideburn king's dramatic test.

"After the first few lines Elvis spoke," Curtiz said, "I began to sit up and take notice."
