Seen & Heard Around Murray

Frank Lancaster and Lubie Voele put up a sign this week that is really sharp. We haven't seen the various colors that it is composed of, but can imagine that it is very attractive.

If you want to be alone the lake apparently is not the place to go. John Ed Scott or perhaps someone else is spending the night on the lake last week expecting things to be quiet. Instead of quiet, it sounded like old time work with folk going and coming all night long and the sounds of revelry being heard throughout the night.

Fishing apparently is good from all reports and ranks as the number one sport this time of year.

Interesting to see how building a room or carport on to a house changes the general appearance for the better.

House on Twelfth Street is putting in a new roof or porch which will make it not only larger but more attractive.

Jiggs Lassiter is converting his garage which is built into his home, into a room.

Power company took down the one remaining tree in front of the Chamber of Commerce office this morning.

They also installed two poles, opposite one another in front of Ray Munday's place, to be used to hold banners, political and otherwise.

Winder-Tripp proud of his added refrigeration cases at A&P. Groceries use a lot of refrigeration these days.

Joe Dick will be mayor of Murray for a few days beginning April 26. He is mayor pro-tem and will take office while the election is being held.

Janice Reesor, daughter of Mr. Charles T. Reesor, Murray, a senior, she is a graduate of the Foundation High School at Berea.

Making the Dean's Honor List denotes excellence or near-excellence in studies, with at least a B average.

Berea College is a liberal arts college with a Foundation High School, the college and high school both serving the Southern Appalachians. The combined enrollment of the two schools is about 1,500.

LOUISVILLE — Sunny weather last week helped Kentucky farmers make progress with their spring plowing but most are still behind, the state Department of Agriculture and U.S. Weather Bureau reported today.

The weekly report indicated that a little more than a quarter of the plowing is completed and unless the weather should force unusually fast growth.

The outlook for weather from now to mid-May calls for above normal temperatures over the north half of the state with average temperatures for the season prevailing over the south half.

Rainfall for the mid-April to mid-May period is expected to be near normal over all but extreme southwestern counties where above-normal amounts are expected.

Southwest Kentucky — Partly cloudy with scattered thunderstorms today, tonight and Thursday. Windy tonight and Thursday. Warmer this afternoon and tonight. Turning colder Thursday afternoon. High today in 70s. Low tonight around 60.

Some 530 a.m. temperatures: Covington 40, Bowling Green 44, Paducah 55, Louisville 42, Lexington 39 and London 37. Evansville, Ind., 49.

Inspecting and reviewing the purchase of a new infant incubator are a few members of the Board of Constituency of the Murray Hospital Association at last week's meeting.

This new type incubator is constructed of an all plastic hood, enabling an infant to be in clear view at all times, and from any area of the nursery. The purpose of these incubators is to give newborn infants that are a little show, the advantages of controlled oxygen under ideal conditions.

This unit enables skilled nurses to care for and serve infants without opening a window, in that, first holes are provided ensuring a pre-mature newborn of constant temperature control and observation.

The board of directors meets monthly to review the hospital's operation, financial and statistical reports, and to inspect, the building and approve equipment purchases.

Dr. Charles L. Tuttle is the chief of staff, Dr. A. D. Buttersworth is the Vice Chairman of Staff and Dr. C. C. Lowry is Secretary of the Staff for 1958.

Dr. Ralph Woods is president of the Board of Constituency. Preston Ordway is Chairman of the Board of Directors and Luther Robertson is vice-chairman of the Board of Directors and Board Secretary is Guy Bittlington.

CONCORD, N. H. — The 138-year-old wooden eagle atop the State House had to be taken down recently because of dry rot. When examined it was found to have been struck by lightning several times. It also contained two rifle bullets, mementoes of unknown marksmen.

Approximately 200 members of four civic clubs of Murray heard Dr. Forrest Pogue last night at the Woman's Club House.

His subject was "Where Do We Stand Today?" Members of the Murray Lions Club, Murray Rotary Club, YBMC and Junior Chamber of Commerce met in a combined meeting to hear Dr. Pogue.

Dr. Pogue, a native of Calloway County, is working with the George C. Marshall Foundation, compiling a biography of the famed general, using original sources. Dr. Pogue has been with the foundation since 1956 and told his audience that he would be in this work for several more years.

The theme of Dr. Pogue's talk centered around the idea that America is strong and that Americans should hold a deep belief in the capabilities of our nation. "We should not panic," Dr. Pogue said, "but rest in the belief that we have the resources, the men (and brainpower) to meet the challenges of today and work out peace on a long term basis."

In continuing his talk Dr. Pogue pointed out that in setting up our foreign policy we must first look at the realities of the present situation. These realities, he said, are the power of Russia, the power of the United States, the panic created by the

Every child preparing for school days needs to develop beyond all things confidence in himself. Learning to be a good listener and to speak distinctly is another of the aims of the kindergarten for these children just barely outside the first grade door. What better program could a parent find for a child than a place to learn, play and grow? The Murray kindergarten began two years ago with a group of interprising young women who felt strongly a need in the city for a place for these pre-schoolers. Plans were made and by long hours of hard work, the plans and hopes became a reality. Each parent entering his child pays a small tuition fee which is used to buy working material for the entire year, pay teachers' salaries, purchase equipment and pay school insurance. To keep the tuition as low as possible and to build a reserve for new expensive equipment, the Sigma members held bake sales, candy sales, sold cookbooks and sponsored a bazaar and Children's Style show. Next fall the kindergarten will be located in a new place. The announcement of its new location will be made sometime in the late spring. Registration date for kindergarten applicants for the next year will be April 26, this Saturday from 9:00 till 11:00 in the College Presbyterian Church kindergarten rooms. Combs Is Not Candidate Of Clements He Says

MURRAY ROTC Cadets Visit In Fort Knox

FRANKFORT — Bert T. Combs Tuesday denied charges that he is the candidate of former Sen. Earle C. Clements for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1959. Combs said in a statement released here by attorney Robert Pearce that he was "the candidate of no man or group of men." Clements reportedly endorsed Combs, defeated in the 1955 gubernatorial primary by Gov. A. B. Chandler, in a statement issued from Washington. The endorsement by Clements brought the comment from Wilson W. Wyatt, who is also seeking the nomination for governor, that "Earle Clements is going to run by proxy, not in person." Combs said Tuesday that he would not "barter my independence or integrity for the support of any man or group of men." Deferring to Wyatt, Combs said, "I'm not opposing Wilson, I'm opposing Chandlerism." Combs said that he would welcome the support of any man or group of men that "I think my last campaign is proof enough to the people that I will

Roses Favored By Hobbyist

Can you name a hobby which lays claim to 50 million fans? No, it isn't golf or tiddlywinks - it is gardening, and the favorite part of the sport is rose growing.

Strangely enough, this most popular of hobbies is also one of the cheapest. There are no greens fees, no caddies, no dues. All that is required is a hole in the ground and a few rose plants. Given these elements almost any amateur can grow roses worthy of the experts.

The popularity of rose growing is hardly a matter of chance. Since time immemorial, man has had a natural affinity for the earth and for growing things. The number of rose growers has grown by leaps and bounds in recent years and their search for an emotional outlet has been materially aided by the research and development program introduced by the industry itself. Not too long ago, the normal gardener was required to take his chances with the plants he ordered and had no guarantee that the results would be worth the effort. Today, however, scientific methods have developed to the extent that rose plants are guaranteed to give results before they reach the consumer.

This comes about through the All-American testing system which requires that new plants be tested for a two-year period in special gardens before they are sold to the public. Plants that have passed these rigid standards are marked by the green and white All-American label and guaranteed to do well anywhere in the U. S.

Unlike most other hobbies, rose growing affords an outlet year after year, without additional investment. For instance, to buy six plants of the current All-American award winners - Publisher, Gold Cup and White Knight - will cost less than $15 and will afford a continuous supply of flowers for years to come. For the dividends it pays, rose growing is a hobby that's hard to beat.

Things Look

Up For Mr. Benson

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON 22 - The best-kept secret word from the press today is that things are looking up a bit for Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson.

This word comes via Republican channels and could be interpreted with justifiable suspicion of exaggeration.

Most specifically, the word is that Benson's reduction of dairy support prices from 82 to 75 percent of parity effective April 1 has not, as many predicted, had a blow as had been forecast.

Specifically also, a related press meeting summoned this month in Wisconsin as a forum for attack on Benson's farm policies was a dismal flop. Fewer than 100 of an expected 1,500 or more persons showed up.

Some Political Significance
The foregoing applies to a single community or, at most, to a single state, but it could be of great political significance. William Proxmire, Democrat, was elected in August, 1957, to the Senate seat vacated by the death of Joseph R. McCarthy, Republican. Proxmire defeated Walter J. Kibler Jr., former Republican governor of Wisconsin and a popular figure in the state.

Benson was blamed for that, and Republican members of Congress have been demanding that President Eisenhower fire Benson. Most of them believe privately that their chance of reelection next November depends largely on getting Benson out of the cabinet. It would be good news for Republican politicians if the heat were getting off.

Stranger things have happened. The Agriculture Department reported about three weeks ago that farm prices rose 4 percent between mid-February and mid-March, the highest monthly gain since early 1955.

Benson reported this week that preliminary figures indicated that realized net farm income in the first quarter of 1958 may be fairly close to an annual rate of 13 billion dollars compared to an annual rate of 12.7 billion dollars in the first quarter of 1957.

Reflects Price Improvement
Benson said most of the gain was due to delayed marketing, especially of cotton, but that most of it reflected a real price improvement. Final figures on the first quarter will be out next week, perhaps to improve Benson's position with the farmers and brighten Republican election prospects.

Another straw in the wind - no more - is that by Frank O'Gehe, Kan. Olathe is in eastern Kansas about 25 miles southwest of Kansas City. Like all Kansas towns, it is basically dependent on the farm community which surrounds it.

Hedges Brothers is a long-established Olathe business engaged in selling builder's and farmer's supplies. A letter from Frank Hedges Jr., this week sounded a note of good cheer.

"We have had a slight setback in our business around here," Hedges reported, "but feel confident that by the end of the year we will have caught up on the last year, maybe a little better."

These could be isolated instances but they could be much more than that. A great deal more might help Republicans a lot.

Is Disc Jockey On The Way Out

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD 22 - Is the disc jockey - like the whooping crane and Elvis' sideburns - becoming extinct?

Yes, says a Hollywood radio station owner who is trying the DJ to his lineup of plaster-sprinklers.

In one fell swoop M. W. Hall, president of station KMAC, cleaned house of his jabbering jockeys this week in favor of more music and less personality boy chatter. Hall believes other stations will follow suit.

Trend Under Way
"In the major marketing areas, disc jockey programming will slowly but inevitably come to an end. The trend in this direction has already started," says Hall.

"An intense survey that we've had under way for over eight months in Los Angeles and six other cities brought to light the fact that people want music, music, music, interlaced with news and features. The fact that 'Somebody' brings it to them doesn't interest them one bit anymore."

"The same thing is happening in TV and movies, too. To a great extent I lost the star - it's the material."

Hall will aim his new programming schedule at specific audiences.

Something For Everyone
"Popular hits mixed with a few standards will be played in the early morning before the young audience leaves home; during the late morning more standards will be added to appeal to housewives; in the late afternoon when father returns, hits, standards and albums; and so on throughout the day," Hall said.

"We'll have more air time for music than we've ever had due to eliminating all the DJ chatter."

"Changes that ours will be a canned operation and rock 'n' roll programming are altogether untrue. I expect that we will be operating on a wholesale basis throughout the United States within a short time."

Bit Parts: ABC-TV sharpened the ax for four series scheduled to be dropped: "Love That Jill," the Betty White Show, "Colt 45" and Mike Wallace. Still uncertain for renewal: Frank Sinatra... Dean Martin's opening quiz for his Coconut Grove debut this week: "How do you like the new way I open my act - sober?"

Montgomery Clift may be teamed with John Wayne in his next picture, "Rio Bravo" at Warner Brothers.

Walker Brennan is one actor who isn't upset by the fact his old movies are on TV and he's not getting paid for it. Says Brennan, "When I got those jobs I was darned glad to get the money in the first place."

WORKERS LAID OFF

IRONTON, Ohio, 22 - Some 200 workers will be laid off at the Ironton division of the Dayton Machine Co. effective Sunday, officials said today. A slack in automobile production nationally caused the layoff, company officials said. The Ironton plant makes auto parts.

SEARCH FOR BODY

MT. HOPE, W. Va., 22 - Fayette County authorities continued dragging the New River today near Thurmond for the body of a Scarbro fisherman presumed drowned when his boat capsized two days ago. Police said John Ward, about 20, was fishing with two others when the boat overturned. His companions swam to shore.

Whatever Happened To

DICK BARTELL By United Press Temperamental and talkative, Dick Bartell soon became known as "Rowdy Dick" after he broke in at shortstop for the Pittsburgh Pirates in 1928. All told he put in 16 seasons with the Pirates, Phillies, Giants, Cubs, Detroit and back with the Giants. He never stopped his chatter, was a timely hitter, fiery competitor and for all except his one season with the Cubs (1939) he was sure-handed in the field. In '39 for reasons that baffled him, he couldn't make an accurate throw to first base but he regained his form when the Cubs shipped him to Detroit. In 16 years, Rowdy Dick hit 285, topping 300 three times and once as late as 1941. Whatever happened to Dick Bartell? Now 49, he is out of baseball after coaching for several seasons and is living in Alameda, Calif., where he is a wholesale representative for the Berkeley Farms Creamery, a large independent.

Johnny Podres, Once The Toast Of Brooklyn Is No. 1 Dodger Hero In New L.A. Home

By FRED DOWN United Press Sports Writer It's taken Johnny Podres, once the toast of Brooklyn, just a week to become the Dodgers' No. 1 hero 3,000 miles away in their new Los Angeles home.

Johnny Podres, Dodger

The World Series hero of 1955 pitched the Dodgers to their first victory of the season April 16, and Tuesday night was the winning hurler as they downed the Chicago Cubs, 4-2, in the first major league arc-lighter ever played in Los Angeles. Podres retired with a sore elbow after 6 1/2 innings but gained credit for his second straight win.

In the bargain, he also demonstrated that a good pitcher—even a left-hander—can overcome the hazard of the Coliseum's trick 250-foot left-field fence. The Cubs loaded their lineup with six right-handed hitters but Podres pitched no-hit ball for five innings before Ernie Banks hit a two-run homer in the sixth.

Cimoli Hitting

Gino Cimoli, a native of San Francisco, sent the Dodgers off in front with a two-run homer in the first inning and they added single tallies in the second and sixth. Glen Hobbie, $50,000 bonus right-hander, was knocked out in an inning and two-thirds and suffered the defeat.

At San Francisco, meanwhile, the St. Louis Cardinals prevented San Francisco from taking over first place in the National League when they whipped the Giants, 7-5. Del Ennis knocked in three runs, two with a homer, and Stan Musial lashed out three hits to lift his average to .464. Lindy McDaniel got credit for the win while Johnny Antonelli was charged with the defeat. "A three-run homer by Hank Aaron enabled the Milwaukee in eight games. Tom Sturdivant went 8 1/2 innings and Ryne Duren retired the last two batters in the ninth as the Red Sox lost their fifth straight game. Ted Williams went 1-for-2 to lift his average from .167 to .214.

Maxwell Hits Homer Charley Maxwell smacked a three-run homer in the first inning and Billy Martin doubled in two scoring innings to lead the Tigers to their fifth victory in eight games. Billy Hoelt, a big Detroit disappointment last season, struck out six and scattered nine hits in winning his first game of the new campaign.

Surprising Kansas City scored its third straight victory and fifth in seven games as Bob Cerv drove in four runs with two homers and Billy Hunter hammered a three-run round-tripper. Ned Garver got credit for his second win although kayped in 6 1/2 innings while Bob Lemon, attempting a comeback for the Indians, was clouted for five hits and two runs in one frame.

Brooks Robinson's three hits paced the Orioles, who got four-hit pitching from Jack Harshman for seven innings and protected the lead by bringing bonus boy Billy O'Dell out of the bullpen. Rookie Ralph Lumenti started for the Senators and yielded eight walks and two hits in 3 1/2 innings.

UCLA, MICHIGAN TO MEET

LOS ANGELES - UCLA and Michigan will meet in football at Ann Arbor, Mich., on Sept. 30, 1961, giving the Bruins seven intersectional games on that season's schedule. The two schools last met in football in 1956 with the Wolverines gaining an easy 42-13 victory.

Murray Takes Track Meet At Clarksville

The Murray State College track and field team swept over Austin Peay College at Clarksville, Tenn., 92 1/2-38 1/4 for its third victory of the season. Marshall Gage led the Racers with 20 points on four first place wins. Marshall won the 100, 220 yard dash and the high and low hurdles. The next meet will be at Bowling Green with Western on April 30.

Desperado Recalls Old Days Of West

By VERNON SCOTT
United Press Hollywood Writer
HOLLYWOOD 9 — The last of the Western bad men is still alive and kicking about the sorry plight of TV outlaws.

"Ain't no real bad men in TV," says white-haired Jennings. "Hells fire, they all carry two guns, twirl 'em around their fingers and hang 'em low in the holsters. They can do everything but hit a target."

"I killed several men in Texas — rich ones they were, too — and I seen many a gunfight, but it was dang soddin' law officers or cowboys ever got the drop on a outlaw."

Recalls Best Gunfighter
"Best gunfight I ever saw Jim Stanton. I killed 20 men. Al said, squinting into the sun. 'When I was 15 years old I seen him play a man right between the eyes. The most beautiful gun fight I ever saw.'"

"I knew Jesse James personally," he added. "Got the drop on him once myself. Some of the finest men I knew were those thieves."

Al was an outlaw for three years in Oklahoma, Arkansas and Texas, and admits to robbing trains and banks. He skips many details because "the statute of limitations ain't run out on some of the things I done."

In 1935 he was given a life term in a federal penitentiary.

Difference Seen In Two Eras

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON 9 — The old timers who were around for the big depression which began about 30 years ago will note some differences between then and now.

The principal difference is that now it is more a matter of political debate than a matter of fact whether there is or is not a depression in the works or on the way.

Not so in the early autumn of 1929. The big depression began then with a bang — bang which blew the ceiling of the New York Stock Exchange down somewhere into the rocky substructure of Manhattan Island. That's how hard and fast stocks fell on the black Thursday and black Friday which marked the end of the Coolidge boom.

That was only a beginning, however, and when the real market collapse came some months later the panic was on. Rich men caught in the market were rich no more, and many of them left their plush offices by high windows instead of the sidewalk below.

F.D.R. Closes Banks
Shocking speculators were wiped out by the multi-thousands. Country banks began to fold. City banks folded, too. In the fourth year of depression, the governor of Michigan decreed an eight-day bank holiday to prevent wholesale closings. Franklin D. Roosevelt took office as president within a month and immediately closed all of the banks to protect them against withdrawals by frightened depositors.

Congress in special session got busy and passed in a single day — March 9, 1933 — a complex banking bill designed to effect some reforms and to enable the reopening of sound banks. There were nearly 13-million unemployed in the U.S. in 1933, and F.D.R. soon was off on what looked like a massive government spending campaign to create jobs.

F.D.R. either spent to little money or the policy of massive government spending is no unemployment cure. The record will support one conclusion or the other.

By 1936 F.D.R. had unemployment down to a little more than 9-million which was 16.9 per cent of the available labor force. By 1938 it was up to more than 10-million — 19 per cent of the labor force.

The boom boom years of 1953-54, F.D.R. spent on, but unemployment refused to waver and so away. There remained 5,600,000 unemployed in 1941, 10 per cent of the labor force. Then along came World War II and unemployment began to taper off. The jobs in 1946, after long years of war production, numbered 2,270,000 or about 4 per cent of the labor force.

The least unemployment on record since the big depression was 1,600,000 in 1953. That was 2.5 per cent of the labor force. In the boom boom years of 1953-

Couple Will Try To Make Own Way

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa. — Bill Beucher, paralyzed from the hips down, and Bonnie Jean Pfue, born without arms, have finally set a wedding date.

"They will be married May 10 at the Church of God in Bonnie's hometown of Means, Ky."

"We've saved up enough money for a wedding," Bill said. "But after that it's anyone's guess."

The courageous couple had planned to wed earlier this month. But lack of funds forced a change in plans.

Bill, a 24-year old Navy veteran, was paralyzed as the result of a highway accident along Springfield Pike, not far from his nearby home.

Orphaned since childhood, he has been staying with an uncle and aunt. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Buchholz Bill has been confined to a wheelchair since October, 1954.

Born Without Arms

His bride to be wears an engagement ring around her neck and pours coffee with her feet. She was born without arms 19 years ago.

Despite her handicap, she had demonstrated an amazing degree of dexterity.

"She can even bake a cake," Bill said.

By most standards, the young couple has little that would evoke happiness. But it is never discernible from their glowing faces.

"We're going to settle down in Means," Bill said. "We don't have money for a honeymoon, but we'll be all right."

Bill said he hopes to find a job that does not entail much physical labor.

"Something like a switchboard operator or watch repairman's helper would suit me fine," he said. "There aren't too many jobs I could work at, but I'm sure God will lead me."

Met Last Year

Bill and Bonnie Jean met last year at the Woodrow Wilson Rehabilitation Center at Fishersville, Va. Bonnie enrolled at the

"the masses in China," he said.

Dr. Pogue told his audience that we must work to relieve this tension in the world. We must out across the idea, he said, that the United States has no designs on any country and wishes to enslave no one.

Tension will also be relieved in some measure, he continued, if a division could be placed between Russia and Red China. This could be done through jealousy of one for the other. If this tension cannot be removed, the nation must remain strong, its retaliatory power increased and strong deterrents placed in the path of any would be aggressor.

Dr. Pogue touched on the problems of diplomats of the United States and the military might of Russia.

We must continue our present policy of a strong defense, he said, and present the most dynamic leadership to the peoples of not only the United States but to the peoples of the world.

He touched on the fact that Russia also has problems which cause them concern. As examples he pointed out Hungary, the Berlin-Urline, Red China's increased strength, and their relations with Tito of Yugoslavia.

Dr. Pogue concluded his talk by telling his interested audience that we must train leaders in all fields of endeavor and maintain our position as the defender of the underprivileged and enslaved.

His final point was that America must believe in itself and

Editor Will Be Hero Of Western

HOLLYWOOD — Another new Western series gallops into the nation's living rooms next week, but the hero vanquishes his enemies with editorials instead of six-shooters.

Jeff Richards stars as a crusading newspaperman in "Jefferson Drum," an NBC-TV horse opera which makes its debut Friday, April 25.

Jeff Richards is a tall, 6-foot, 3-inch handsome young buck who is built along the lines of Jim "Maverick" Garner. He hopes his switch from second-rate movie actor to TV star will open the same golden gates that Garner unlocked with his TV program.

Got 'B' Roles

Under contract to MGM for 6 1/2 years, the black-haired actor was given poor roles in "B" pictures. Contract players Robert Taylor, Glenn Ford and Stewart Granger nabbed the parts that Jeff might have been given.

"Television is much better for young guys," Richards says. "The choice roles in pictures go to old, established stars, and the cheap films I appeared in didn't mean anything because nobody sees them."

Jeff may have a difficult time being seen on TV, too.

His new show is "pitted" opposite that wily old scoundrel, Sgt. Bilko, a top-rated program with a large and loyal following.

But Richards contends age epics still rule the TV roost, and that "Jefferson Drum" is the most adult of Western offerings.

"Drum is a small town editor who helps establish law and order in the Southwest," Jeff said. "He uses his paper, 'The Star' instead of a gun."

Seldom Shoots

"There are times when he does have to shoot it out with the bad guys, but not very often."

"I can't compare the program to other Western shows because I don't own a TV set. I rarely have a chance to see what the other actors are doing."

A late starter in the 1957-58 season, "Jefferson Drum" replaced "Court of Last Resort," which has suffered brutally in the ratings race with Bilko.

"We'll only be on the air for eight weeks or so, before taking off for the summer," Jeff said, adding hopefully, "If we're well received we'll be back in the fall."

Pills Quiet Fears Of Dogs And Cats

By RICHARD LANEY

SALT LAKE CITY —

Neurotic dogs take note: tranquilizer pills are for you, too.

That's the word from Dr. Charles O. Seward, a veterinarian from Bremerton, Wash., who has been conducting clinical analyses on one type of tranquilizer for dogs and cats. He addressed the recent convention of the Inter-mountain Veterinary Medical Association.

Even dogs, he pointed out, suffer from supposedly "human" ailments such as arthritis, hiccups, acute cough and neurosis. Tranquilizers won't cure those ailments. But they make it so the pet doesn't mind so much, while other drugs are used to treat the specific illnesses.

Tranquilizers, Dr. Seward said, also are good for "Forth of July frights" — the fear that some pets have of exploding firecrackers and other loud noises.

Home Factors

To calm the pet, a veterinarian can give it a tranquilizer.

A dog or cat also may become highly nervous whenever it rides in an automobile. Yet, its owner may want to take it along in the car on a vacation trip instead of leaving it with persons who are strange to the animal.

Again, a tranquilizer pill for the pet is the solution to the problem.

"A tranquilizer," Dr. Seward explained, "does not in itself relieve pain. It sets up a barrier between the patient and his pain but the pain does not distress him."

Neurosis in dogs and cats, the veterinarian said, is quite common "due to disturbing factors in the home."

Todd Will Is Filed

NEW YORK — The will of producer Mike Todd, equally dividing his estate between actress Elizabeth Taylor and Mike Todd Jr., was filed in Surrogate Court of Westchester county, N.Y., today.

The will, dated April 16, 1957, was filed by former attorney general Herbert Brownell Jr., an old friend of the late producer. It was filed with Surrogate Samuel Di Falco, who said he would announce at a later date the appointment of a guardian for Elizabeth Frances Todd, infant daughter of Todd and Miss Taylor.

Todd and three others were killed in March when his private plane crashed while on a flight from Los Angeles to New York.

Mike Jr. was named executor of the estate and he and Miss Taylor were named co-trustees.

Although the estate has been estimated as high as five million dollars, Herman Odell, another of Todd's lawyers, said "we have no basis now for an estimate of its value." Odell said "value of the estate was described in filing the will as 'over $20,000,' pending an inventory."

He said the bulk of the estate was found in Todd's biggest and healthiest asset — the movie "Around the World in 80 Days."

Todd's estate included a number of other investments and insurance policies "that I would call pearls," Odell said. But he said the big Todd asset was "80 days."
