DEMOCRATIC

EXPRESS MAN ROBBED AT DEPOT IN PADUCAH

The night manager of the express office at the Union depot in Paducah was accosted about 4:30 o'clock Monday morning and the safe robbed of about $100. The south bound passenger train had just left and the express man was in his office checking up the business received on the train when he was approached by two strange men, one a tall and the other of rather short build. One wore a blue handkerchief and the other a red handkerchief over the lower parts of their face. The robbers presented pistols and ordered the safe opened and the expressman obeyed. The robbers quickly secured the contents and departed as mysteriously as they came.

B. Emerson 2 1/2 miles north of Lynnville. It measured 11 inches in circumference and is the largest peach so far brought to The Messenger office this year.

NEWS FROM CITY COURT

County Attorney Asks Bonds of Jodie Wood and Jack Wilson Be Raised to $500.00.

Six automobilists were before Judge Bunk Gardner in police court Monday morning to answer the charge of not having lights on the rear of their automobiles while driving on the streets of Mayfield at night. The arrests were made at times, since the city council ordered the law enforced, by Policemen Sam Mahan and Sam Yarbrough. All six of the defendants were dismissed from paying any fine, although Judge Gardner admitted that they were technically guilty. He gave an exhaustive lecture pertaining to the automobile laws, saying that they should be regulated and enforced. He said that the reason for not assessing the fines now was that he did not feel that the persons, who had been accustomed to having no tail-light on their machines for a year and more, should be summarily fined without giving them a chance to make preparations to obey the law. He said that he desired that he should make a public announcement on the law to give the public a chance to learn what his determination would be in the future. As to the tail lights the court announced that it had been the law for two years, but it had not been enforced here. Hereafter he declared that it would be enforced and no circumstances will warrant anyone to believe that he would not be fined if brought before him. "The law regulating the speed and lights and turning of corners by automobiles was put on the statute books by the legislature and certainly it was intended that it should be enforced and it will be done from this day," said the court. It is difficult to keep the tail lights on popular priced machines, he said, and it could not be expected that they would stay lighted for long at a time, but it is the owner's misfortune that he has no high grade car such as the lights will stay lit. Judge Gardner announced that the law would be rigidly enforced if a person is caught operating a car at night with no lights in the front part of the car. He made it plain what he would do to a person who was so careless and oblivious to the safety of others to go on the streets with a blind car. As to turning the street corners the court was correct in saying there had been a noticeable change since the new law went into effect and he also said that he would fine persons for not observing that section of the law. He related some instances where he felt very unsafe in machines when the driver would see how near he could miss a vehicle on the street. Also he stated that some drivers would accelerate the speed of the machine as they passed a horse instead of reducing the speed as they should do. The law pertaining to the operation of automobiles has been published several times and it has also been announced by Judge Gardner what may be expected from his court and from this day on those arrested for failure to observe every letter of the law both in regard to lights and speed may expect to get fined just what the statute directs. Other Cases in Court. Fred Alcott, the garage man of Fulton, who was arrested last week by Policeman Alf Brown for exceeding the speed limit, was fined $20. His case was called and, failing to appear, it was taken for confessed and a fine assessed. This is the man whose auto tire was punctured by Officer Brown by shooting into it with a pistol when told to halt and refused. Forest Melton failed to appear to answer the charge of disorderly conduct and was fined $5. Pink McKinney, who was recently fined $100 and sentenced to forty days in jail, was ordered arrested on the old capias and placed in jail if the fine was not paid. McKinney's fine was upheld at the time on account of the condition of himself and family. Judge Gardner said he had been informed that numbers of men were seen to go to and from his home and the indications pointed to the fact of him selling whiskey.

LAST CHANCE TO ESCAPE A FINE

The examining trial of Will Holland, for shooting and wounding Sam Holcomb, was continued until Friday, August 28, on account of Holcomb being unable to attend court. It was announced that Holcomb was improving.

County Attorney F. B. Martin asked the court to raise the bonds of Jodie Wood and Jack Wilson from $300 to $500. The motion to increase the bonds was set for a hearing Wednesday morning in city court. It was stated that the defendants were likely to give the $300 bond hence the reason for desiring it increased. They are charged with breaking into J. W. Traugher's grocery.

MELVIN CLAPP AGAIN ARRESTED; GOES BACK TO THE CLINTON JAIL

Melvin Clapp, a young man, who has been living in the western part of the county and who has been a source of trouble of long standing, was captured Saturday night about 9:30 in Carlisle county. He was taken to Clinton Sunday by Sheriff W. B. Sullivan and turned over to the jailer, who paid Mr. Sullivan the reward of $25 for the capture of Clapp.

Clapp was in jail at Clinton on the charge of housebreaking. The arrest was made by Sheriff W. B. Sullivan and Deputies Nunley, Andrus, Skinner and Elliott. Clapp had hidden upstairs in a house and was preparing to jump out a window in an effort to escape, but Officer Lee Andrus let the young man gaze down the barrel of a healthy looking revolver and caused the young man to change his mind and surrender meekly.

FIRE DESTROYS HOME OF L. O. FULCHER MONDAY

The home of L. O. Fulcher, on South Eleventh street, caught fire about 2:30 o'clock Monday morning and most all the contents and the building were a total loss. The fire is thought to have originated from a spark from the stove. When first observed the roof was in a mass of flames and preparing to fall in when Mrs. Fulcher was awakened. Mr. Fulcher was not at home, having gone to spend the night with his brother in the country. The house was insured for $1,250 and the household goods for $600. Some of the things were saved.

The shooting of a pistol and the loud and shrill fire whistle succeeded in getting all slumberers within a wide radius awake. TWO ROOMS WANTED. Wanted, two rooms, furnished, in private residence, for man, wife and child. Anyone having same call at F. T. Gorman Tailoring Shop.

JAPAN DECIDES TO GET INTO THE SCRAP

Germans and Allies Have Artillery Clash.

TWO IRONCLADS SUNK

Fighting Now in Belgium and Great Expected Battle is Under Way.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—A dispatch to Reuters Telegram Company from Nish, Serbia, under date of Sunday says:

"A naval battle between French and Austrian warships began off Budua, Austria, in the Adriatic, at 9 o'clock this morning. The French squadron, coming from the southwest, attacked the Austrian warships. Two Austrian ironclads were sunk, one was set on fire, and a fourth fled northward toward Cattaro. The fight lasted over an hour."

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The Daily Mail's correspondent, telegraphing from Delmont, Switzerland, near the German and French frontier, says fighting has begun again in upper Alsace between Belfort and Altkirch. The sound of gun fire continues to be heard near the frontier. The French force which retired from Mulhausen has been re-enforced and has renewed the attack.

LONDON, Aug. 17.—The advance guards of the French and German armies are now fighting in Belgium and the news of a sharp artillery duel at Dinant on the Meuse, 15 miles to the south of Namur, indicates that the great battle, upon the result of which hangs the destiny of Europe, is under way.

GERMAN COLONIES IN PACIFIC.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Japan's superior military and naval position in the Pacific Ocean puts all of Germany's colonial possessions in those waters in jeopardy. These colonies have an area of 96,000 square miles with a white population of 1,284 and 634,000 natives.

Most important of all is Kiauchau, the surrender of which Japan has already demanded. This is a district of 200 square miles on the east coast of the Province of Shantung, China. Its population is 170,000. The principal port is Tsing-Tau, which is strongly fortified and has a garrison of 3,125, composed of German marines and Chinese soldiers.

Second in importance from a military standpoint are the islands of Savali and Upou, of the Samoan group. Possession of these islands would give Japan a most important naval base. It is here that the United States might intervene to protect her interest against any upset of the status quo in the Pacific.

Other German colonies in the Pacific are the Bismark group, the Caroline and the Pelew, the Marianne, the Solomon and the Marshall Islands. All of these are of commercial value and would be rich prizes in the hands of Japan, which seeks outlet for her surplus population. German Togoland, on the west coast of Africa, of an area of 33,700 square miles, already has been seized by the British.

WAR NEWS AT A GLANCE.

The chief event in the war situation yesterday was the ultimatum sent to Germany by Japan, demanding that Germany withdraw all of her warships from the Orient and turn over Kiauchau, a German protectorate in China, to Japan.

Japan's ultimatum gives Germany until Aug. 23 to comply with the demands. Owing to cable interruption, Japan has not been able to deliver the ultimatum to Germany, and it is announced from Washington that the United States will undertake this task. Peking reported that three British regiments have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to go aboard transports, and it is presumed they will co-operate with the Japanese land forces, if force of arms is resorted to. The German advance guard in Belgium came into contact with the allies at Dinant, south of Namur, and an artillery duel resulted, the allies claiming the advantage.

A New York Times cable says fighting has been resumed in Southern Alsace, near Altkirch, while the Associated Press reports a French offensive movement from Luneville to Saarburg.

The New York Herald's St. Petersburg correspondent says that the czar will go to the front with his troops.

Definite information has been received a strong offensive movement by the French troops on the Franco-German frontier, extended from Luneville to Sarrebourg. Official announcement is made that Blamont, Crecy and Avricourt were reoccupied after a Bavarian army corps was driven out. The retaking by the French of Thann, in Alsace, is officially announced and the wounding of Gen. von Deimling, commander of the Fifteenth German army corps.

The French war ministry prepares the public for a great battle, which will extend over a line more than 250 miles in length, and in which several millions of men on either side will be engaged.

Nothing is known of recent operations around the Liege forts.

The Japanese Press Association says no protest from the United States against Japan entering the war has been received; and that Japan would ignore such protest if made.

The Washington government has announced itself as opposed to the floating of loans in the United States for the benefit of any belligerent power. The United States government also has notified European powers that it will regard as neutral ships chartered for the sole purpose of bringing back Americans, and has asked these powers for a declaration on the subject.

The Austrian warships are at Pola, the great Austrian fortress, and the entire coast has been mined.

OBITUARY.

On the morning of June 26, 1914, the death angel entered the home of J. J. and L. M. Morgan and claimed as its victim their youngest son, James Dalton Morgan, who was born in Graves county, Ky., Aug. 20th, 1838. He was married to Miss Ella Collier April 14, 1912, and to this union was born one child. He leaves, besides his young wife and child, a father, mother, one brother, four sisters, a number of relatives and a host of friends to mourn his untimely death, for he was just in the morn of manhood, just beginning to build up a home of his own, just entering into the great battle of life with its attendant duties, privileges and blessings, and having the true conception of life, that is "worth living" he desired greatly to remain here and fight its battles and discharge its obligations, but that dread disease, tuberculosis, baffled the skill of the physician, and in spite of his own indomitable will and the untiring efforts of loved ones he at last yielded to its power.

Dalton was always a good boy, and to know him was to love him. No young man had more friends, or was more generally beloved. He was not a member of any church, but through faith in Him, who came to seek and to save the lost, he experienced that peace that comes to those who believe in the Lord Jesus Christ, and told his loved ones that all was well, and asked them to meet him in heaven. Then weep not, dear ones, as those who have no hope, for we shall see him again. "In the sweet by and by." In the Father's house on high. We shall meet our loved, our own. And "shall know as we are known." J. R. WOMBLE.

THE TEACHER.

"What is a teacher worth," we ask. "Is she worth just money to you? Can you estimate in dollars and cents The things that the teachers do?"

She takes the child and builds for him, With infinite patience and pain. A temple of knowledge grand and fair, Where nothing before has lain.

On the desolate wastes of the yet unmade She builds him a mind supreme, That can grasp, and reason and grow To the size of its cherished dream.

She gives him a power and poise, The imperial power of thought, Which makes the animal, man; And man, the noblest work wrought.

She builds him a character, noble and fair, That holds him in righteous bonds; She calls to his undeveloped soul And the "Image of God" responds.

Shall she who lends such potent force To man's ever onward stride, Innocent becomes the sacrifice And just recompense denied.

THAT BOY AGAIN

The boy stood on the burning deck, Whence all but him had fled, Far he thought to get clippings by the peck Of what the papers said.

The boy stood on the burning deck, He made no move to go; He stood there 'till they made the film For the moving picture show.

The boy stood on the burning deck, And he did not sing a bit The boy stood on the burning deck, It was too hot to sit.

The boy stood on the burning deck, He's stood there many a time, But just now he is posing for 'This horrid little rhyme.'

The boy stood on the burning deck, You wonder why he laughs, He's read about a half a peck Of "Pasted Paragraphs."

We're glad that he laughs at the things, And doesn't raise a kick; We must confess the rhyme sometimes, Makes us swear like old Nick.

POTATOES PROFITABLE.

During the week ending May 20 the little town of Foley, in Baldwin county, Ala., shipped out forty-six carloads of Irish potatoes which sold for $25,000, a very handsome sum to come in at the season of the year when the farmer in the north is preparing his land for the season's crop.

The yields ran in the neighborhood of 100 bushels to the acre. This is only the first crop that will be secured from these productive lands. In most instances a crop of hay and a late crop of potatoes will be taken from the same acre from which the Irish potatoes were harvested.

The Messenger would like for a few men or boys to try one, two or more acres in potatoes and hay and see how much profit can be made each year in this war of farming. Try it and let us know.

THE WAGE IS THE FOUNDATION.

When a country is prosperous, wage earners buy homes, and those homes must be built for them. It is a question of supply and demand. Of course we can't import homes. They are built here and by labor employed by builders on this side of the Atlantic.

If wage-earners home seekers are not enjoying an income from their labor that enables them to purchase homes, the building industry languishes.

As a matter of fact, the wage is the foundation upon which the home is erected, and anything that interferes with the wage and reduces it seriously affects the building industry.

In these prosperous times all can earn good wages if they will only work. It requires energy and capability to hold a job at good wages.

WILSON A GREAT PRESIDENT.

The United States has the distinctive honor at this time of having one of the greatest presidents that ever presided over the destinies of this country.

President Wilson, as a patriot, a statesman and a man of unselfishness, has not a superior, either in this or any other country.

He is not playing politics, neither is he trying to re-elect himself president of the United States, but he is doing all in his power to serve his country, especially according to the Democratic platform, which was made at the Baltimore convention.

He is a man capable in every way of taking hold of the great questions of the day. From the beginning he proposed to keep Congress in session until the demands of the people were satisfied by the enactment of great and wholesome laws.

Such a man was needed at this hour and the leaders of all parties are looking to Mr. Wilson to satisfy the people and save the country from the ravages of the trusts and the perils of war.

A CORRECT COMPARISON.

Two ex-governors were nominated for United States Senator at our recent primary election, one a Democrat, the other a Republican. The Democrat is ex-Governor J. C. W. Beckham, and the Republican is ex-Governor Augustus Wilson.

The Cadiz Record hit the nail on the head when it made the following comparison:

"When Beckham retired as Governor of Kentucky he left a handsome new Capitol building and over a million dollars in the treasury; when Wilson retired as Governor of Kentucky four years later he had spent this million dollars, was in debt a million and a half dollars more, and had not built anything. Then is there an honest Democrat or a Republican with a reasonable amount of business ability that will hesitate for a moment as to where he will put his mark in November?"

The above is a fair and true comparison of the two ex-governors.

VOTE IN FIRST DISTRICT FOR CONGRESS.

Barkley 11,027, Scott 2,543, Williams 893 and Swann, 284, making a total of 14,747, a good primary vote, Barkley receiving 7,307 more votes than all his opponents. For United States Senator, Beckham 7,530, Stanley 6,116 and McCreary 1,946, making a total of 14,592; only 155 votes less than in the Congressional race, Beckham lacking only 532 votes receiving as many as both of his opponents, his majority over Stanley 1,414 in the old First.

MEMBERSHIP OF THE W. O. W.

There are 720,784 Woodmen of the World in the United States scattered among thirty-seven states. Kentucky has a membership of 17,935 and is fifteenth in number, only fourteen states having a greater number than she, which shows that Kentucky has a healthy membership of this valuable order.

MONOPLANE AND DIRIGIBLE BATTLE; NINETEEN KILLED

PARIS, Aug. 17.—An American family residing in Paris for many years has just received a letter from a son, who is lieutenant in one of the crack Parisian regiments at the front. He details a battle in midair between Perrin, the noted French aviator, and a big Zeppelin dirigible near the village of Chatueu.

Scouts reported a dirigible approaching in the distance flying low and evidently carefully reconnoitering the country. The colonel commanding the regiment at once ordered Perrin to seek and destroy the balloon. As Perrin hurriedly donned his air clothes and started to ascend he laughed and joked with the crowd of soldiers who crowded about the monoplane as it was being tuned up by the mechanics. As he rose he shouted out: "Watch me pepper the gas bag."

In a few moments Perrin was high in the air, and at once seemed to catch sight of the Zeppelin, which now had come in view over the regiment. Darting like a hawk at the big air craft, he circled high over it—and in an instant it seemed there could be seen first a spark, then a "cloud of smoke at the top and near the center of the gas bag, and then the whole thing seemed to burst in fragments, which fluttered to the earth. Not one of the 19 men in the balloon lived. Perrin was loudly cheered as he flew back to his regiment.

Aeroplane Brought Down.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—A Reuter dispatch from St. Petersburg says a message from Vilna states that a German aeroplane, making observations of Russian military movements in the Polish government of Suwalki, was fired on and brought down. Its occupants, four German officers, were killed, according to the dispatch.

WORRY OVER EUROPEAN WAR CAUSES GERMAN CITIZEN TO END LIFE

PADUCAH, Aug. 17.—Crashed with worry because of the war in his native country, Lieberorius Petter, aged seventy-seven, a well-known German citizen and former soldier, ended his life early this morning. Petter remained up most of the night, and when his daughter, Mrs. Louise Spann, attempted to quiet him he made an attack upon her and assaulted her with a stick he had found. Before help could be summoned Petter walked into another room and slashed his throat.

NOAH IS GLAD THAT AT LEAST FOUR ARE LEFT

MADISONVILLE, Ky., Aug. 17.—Fourteen of eighteen prisoners made their escape from the Hopkins county jail last night about 12 o'clock while Jailer Noah Day was asleep. Otho Armstrong broke the lock and set them free. Armstrong has been a prisoner at several different times and this is the third time he has broken jail last night about 12 o'clock while prisoners remained and these gave the alarm. Only three of the escaped prisoners have been located. Two have returned. County officers and citizens were busy through the night in search of the jail breakers.

FEARING MOB VIOLENCE FLEES

P. L. Perkins, a Rural Mail Carrier, Gives Up His Job.

PRINCETON, Ky., Aug. 17.—P. L. Perkins, a rural mail carrier at Cobb has given up his job and fled on account of fear of mob violence.

He sided with Postmaster Sizemore, of Cobb—who was waylaid and shot and his job has been threatened.

Others of the Sizemore faction have also left Cobb.

Sizemore was wounded from ambush last week and is now said to be in Paducah. The Paducah Sun says:

"Postmaster Sizemore has resided in Cobb all his life and has been proprietor of a store there for a number of years. He has never been in any trouble and he says the attack was made upon him solely because he secured the postoffice appointment. "Cobb is a little station on the Illinois Central railroad, ten miles east of Princeton, and it sprang into publicity during the night rider troubles because Dr. A. D. Amoss who was known as the night rider general, resides there. Miss Florence Lindsey a sister-in-law of Dr. Amoss, had been in charge of the postoffice until Postmaster Sizemore took charge of the office."

A HEALTHY, HAPPY LIFE

is the greatest inspiration a man can have and the life of the family, yet how many homes in this fair land are blighted by the ill health of wife and mother!

It may be backaches, headaches, the tortures of a displacement, or some ailment peculiar to her sex which makes life a burden. Every woman in this condition should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, to restore her to health and happiness.

GENERAL MIXTURE.

There isn't much class to a liar. But no man can be polite and adhere to the truth.

If a princess can't land a fellow who can roll a cigarette with one hand and run fifteen ball at pool, she has to compromise on a mutt who has nothing but brains and talent.

Every woman is quick to detect flattery when it is applied to some other woman.

She can yell for suffrage all she pleases. But a woman is never unsexed until she ceases to worry whether or not her hat is on straight.

While a man may not openly regret having married his wife, he often secretly wonders why he married her.

The one good thing about every man is his own opinion of himself.

No real boy is ever tempted to steal the sort of dog that a woman carries around in her arms and kisses.

When you run across one of the pests who has nothing to say, but who holds you up for a hour while he says it, you always wonder why you don't hear of more of justifiable homicide.

After they have been married for a few weeks and she suddenly realizes that he is nothing but a common ordinary man like her father and brother, the poor honeymoon goes out and takes bichloride tablets by mistake.

If the weather forecaster says it will be fair tomorrow and a man bets that it will rain and it does rain the man spends the next six months bragging about how much money he could save the government.

Every time a girl gives herself the once-over in the privacy of her bedroom she wonders why some famous artist had not modeled her for a model.

Every time a girl believes she has two good reasons for purchasing a pair of silk stockings.

A COSTLY SHAVE FOR THIS NEGRO

Judge Gardner Increases Fine On Account of Negro's Attempt to Deceive the Court.

Dick Senter, alias Dick Nuckles, in an effort to fool the officers, got fooled himself Monday morning in city court. Instead of him getting the usual fine of $60, Judge Gardner inflicted a fine of $100 and forty days for selling whiskey.

Dick, who is a negro that has been in police court many times before on the charge of dealing in the red spirits, thought that he had introduced a new scheme whereby he would escape identification. Both the buyer and seller being strangers the buyer stated that he was not certain that Dick, when in the court, was the same negro that he bought the whiskey from, but looked mightily like him. The only difference, said the witness was that the negro from whom he got the whiskey, had a little mustache. And thereby hung the tale. Dick's upper lip was as slick as a peeled onion Monday morning.

City Attorney S. T. Boaz asked Dick if he had not been "supporting" a mustache and the negro admitted that he had one once. There was nothing further for Dick to do but let Judge Gardner finish the case.

Dick said that he did not remember anything about it and to this statement Judge Gardner dealt a few sledge hammer knocks and then said that this negro had, in order to evade the consequences of the act charged against him and to prevent identification, sought to practice a fraud and deceit upon this court for which it would not stand. "The negro should have been at work, just as he attempted to prove by a colored comrade, and therefore I will not assess the usual fine, but will fix it at $100 and forty days," said the court.

Dick will doubtless refrain from a shave for some time, owing to the high cost of the last one.

A camping party composed of Walter Rowland, Tom Cross, Jim Scoggins and about eighteen boys composing the Junior League of the First Methodist church, left today for Backusburg to remain until Wednesday camping. They carried cooking utensils and plenty to eat so as to insure a good time.

Mrs. Walter Wright will entertain this evening with a few couples in honor of her visitor, Miss Edwina Gossett, of Hopkinsville, who will arrive this evening at seven o'clock.

LITTLE ANNIE LUCILE KESTERSON

Death, oh death, the unwelcome intruder, who came on Friday morning and claimed for its victim, Annie Lucile, the little daughter of Clyde and Bertha Kesterson, of near Brown's Grove, Ky. She was born Dec. 1, 1911, and departed this life Aug. 7, 1914, making her stay on this vile earth two years, eight months and six days. She suffered untold agony for nine days of that dreadful disease, flux and brain fever. She leaves to mourn her death a father, mother, many relatives and friends. All that loving hands could do was done. But all in vain. "God's will, not ours, be done." He had a little angel band that was not quite complete so he took Annie Lucile to fill the vacant seat. Oh how sad it was to say goodbye, Lucile, but Jesus said, "Suffer little children to come unto me and forbid them not, for such is the kingdom of heaven." Weep not, dear father and mother, for Annie Lucile is resting in the arms of her loving Saviour, waiting to welcome us home. To meet her was to love her. She was too pure and sweet to live in this vile world of sin. She is now resting in the arms of Jesus. A place is vacant in our home. A gentle voice is still. A fresh-made mound lonely rests On a silent graveyard hill. Cheer up dear father and mother: Strive to be good and true; The same spirit that called for her Will some day call for you. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Lockman. The body was laid to rest in the Farmington cemetery. One who loved her. VERA TAYLOR.
