Goldfine Indicted For Contempt

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Industrialist Bernard Goldfine was indicted by a federal grand jury today on 18 counts of contempt of Congress.

The charges were based on Goldfine's refusal to answer 18 questions—all involving transactions of the Boston Port Development Co.—at House hearings last July on his troubles with federal regulatory agencies and his friendship with former presidential Assistant Sherman Adams.

The indictment charges that Goldfine "unlawfully refused to answer" pertinent questions.

Goldfine told the House Legislative Oversight Committee the questions concerned the "internal affairs" of a private company and were therefore outside the committee's powers of inquiry.

Today's indictment was the second legal action involving Goldfine in two days. A U.S. Court of Appeals in Boston Monday denied Goldfine's appeal from a lower court order that he turn over certain financial records to U.S. tax investigators.

House investigators said Goldfine had borrowed money from Boston Port Development Co., a real estate firm in which he was majority stockholder, over a period of eight years. It said that during this time the company failed to file required reports to the Securities & Exchange Commission.

The House voted, 369-8, last August to cite the New England industrialist for contempt for balky at 22 questions.

Prosecutors said the number was reduced to 18 because of legal technicalities in the way in which four of the questions were asked at the hearings.

Goldfine is to be arraigned in Federal Court here Friday. Judge John J. Sirica set bond at $1,000.

If convicted, Goldfine could be sentenced up to one year in prison and fined up to $1,000 for each count in the indictment on which he is found guilty.

Mariner Ship Meets Last Week

The Mariner ship met Thursday night at the Girl Scout cabin. Those attending were: Sally Sprunger, Carol Jackson, Susan Munday, Lynette Lassiter, Patsey Bailey, Mrs. Everett Outland and Mrs. Arlo Sprunger.

The girls made felt Santa Claus for Christmas decorations. The Mariner Scouts are co-operating with the local civil defense director in distributing defense material to school children. This material is to be taken home and studied by both parents and children.

A new educational T. V. series "Adventuring in the Hand Arts" brings the Girl Scouts of America into nationwide television. It is a series designed to show the history and modern use of such crafts as pottery, weaving, wood carving and music. Each program presents a guest who is an expert in his particular craft. Share Lewis is the hostess along with three Scouts. She was chosen because she is an expert in pottery and also a former Scout.

The program can be viewed at 4 o'clock on Friday over station WPSD-TV, Paducah, Kentucky.

All Girl Scouts in Murray are urged to view this program.

David Kingins Grand Champ Of Show

By GLEN SIMS, Associate County Agent

David Kingins, New Concord 4-H Club, exhibited the Grand Champion burley tobacco crop in the 4-H division of the 4-H and F. F. A. Burley Tobacco Show and sale that was held at the New Enterprise Eosse Leaf Floor in Mayfield. David received a trophy that was presented by the Graves County Farm Bureau.

David sold 992 lbs. for an average price of 67.00 dollars per cwt. His top basket brought 70.00 dollars per cwt. David received second place for the best handled crop.

Other 4-H members from Calloway County that had tobacco at this event were Michael Palmer, and Larry Watkins from Kirksey.

Michael received a red ribbon on his crop. He sold 208 lbs. for an average price of $58.87 per cwt. His top basket sold for $67.00 per cwt.

Larry Watkins received a red ribbon on his crop. He sold 714 lbs. for an average price of $66.00 per cwt. His top basket sold for $68.00 per cwt.

The judging was done on the Danish system. This means that all crops were placed in a blue, red or white ribbon. All entries received some premium money.

Share Your Christmas?

Would you like to share your Christmas with a child in a home less fortunate than your own? The Murray Junior Chamber of Commerce feels that there are many people in Murray and Calloway County who would answer yes to this question. Christmas is a time for sharing, and it is a time for your Christmas with a child that might not otherwise have one.

So that you may personally bring Christmas to some child this year, the Jaycees have proposed the following plan.

For several hours Christmas morning you may invite a child into your home. You may attend the Christmas party and share Christmas with a child there, or you may put Santa's bag on the Christmas party, with some child in mind, without attending yourself.

The Murray Jaycees will bring

Chief Of Soviet Secret Police Is Relieved Of Duties Yesterday

By HENRY SHAPIRO, United Press International MOSCOW (UPI) — A seven-line announcement on the back page of Moscow's official newspapers disclosed today that Gen. Ilya Serov has been relieved as chief of the Soviet secret police.

The announcement in Izvestia and Pravda said the move was made by the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet in view of his transfer to another post. It did not elaborate and it was not known if he was being promoted or demoted.

There also was no indication whether Serov would return to regular army work as a general. He was trained as a professional soldier and was graduated from Frunze Military Academy, Russia's highest.

Since graduation he has worked mostly in security organizations but held important frontline commands in World War II.

Serov was last seen publicly on Nov. 29 when he attended an official reception at the Albanian Embassy commemorating Albania's national holiday.

"Christmas 1958" Program Joint Meeting

"Christmas 1958" will be beautifully portrayed Thursday night at the joint meeting of the Murray High, Carter and Austin Schools Parent-Teachers Association at 7:30 p. m. in the High School Auditorium.

Mrs. Howard Ollila will present her students in a musical program. The inspirational will be given by Dr. Woodfin Hutson. Mrs. William C. Nail, Jr., president, will preside.

Hostesses for the evening are: Mrs. and Mrs. Norman Hale, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Turner and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hargis.

Parking Lot To Be Open On Thursday

The Municipal Parking Lot will be ready for use Thursday according to Mayor Holmes Ellis. The use of the lot on Thursday will be free of charge and an attendant will be on hand to assist those who desire to use this free service on Thursday.

Free gifts will be placed in the lot which will be painted to mark off parking spaces.

String Orchestra To Give Concert

The Murray State College string orchestra, under the direction of Prof. David J. Gowans, will present a concert at 8:15 p. m. tonight in the fine arts recital hall.

Guest artist at the concert will be Prof. John C. Winter. Professor Winter, a widely known organist, is a member of the MSC music faculty. He will play Handel's rarely-presented Organ Concerto Op. 4, No. 2.

"This work," Professor Gowans said, "is typically Handel in nature. Those who enjoy Handel's holiday 'Messiah' will also enjoy this music."

Other selections on the program will be Corelli, Johann Christian Bach, and Hayden.

No admission will be charged for the concert, which is open to the public.

Ligers To Meet Hoptown Tonight

The Murray High Tigers will try to better a 1-1 record tonight as they battle with a highly regarded Hopkinsville squad here at Murray.

Preliminary action will get underway as the "B" teams clash at 8:45. Varsity game time has been set for 8:00.

Hopkinsville is regarded as a strong contender for the regional championship. Murray High was victorious over Farmington High School but lost to Kirksey in its last outing.

Local fans are urged to be on hand and support the team tonight.

Voting Places For Cotton Ballot Given

Community referendum committees who will be responsible for conducting the cotton marketing quota referendum throughout the county on December 15, 1958 have been announced by the Calloway County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee. All members are farmers eligible to vote in the referendum. Many of the referendum committee men are also elected community committee men.

Arrangements for the establishment of polling places in all of Calloway County's cotton-producing communities have been completed. Notices showing the date of the referendum, the rules governing eligibility to vote and the location of polling places have been posted in conspicuous places in the county. Notices are also being mailed to each farmer who has a cotton acreage allotment, informing him of the place where he may vote in the referendum.

All persons who, as landlord, tenant, or sharecropper, engaged in the production of upland cotton in 1958 are eligible to vote in the upland referendum. If there is any question about eligibility, farmers are asked to check with their County ASC Office.

The community polling places and the referendum committees serving in the December 15 poll are as follows: Murray, Brinkley, Swann and Hazel — Calloway County ASC Office.

East Staggered By Heavy Snows

United Press International

A diminishing snow storm today swept out of the frigid midlands into the East already staggered by record snows in upstate New York.

It sucked sub-zero cold behind it from Montana to the Great Lakes. Readings plunged to 10 below zero early Tuesday at Chicago's O'Hare International Airport.

A dozen huge snow plows worked through the night to dig Oswego, N.Y., on the eastern shore of Lake Ontario, from a record five-foot snowfall Monday. Drifts up to 20 feet paralyzed the city, prompting Mayor Vincent Corsi to declare an emergency.

Mail and milk deliveries, cut off by the towering snows, were being resumed at Oswego, however, schools and industries in the city of 23,000 were scheduled to remain closed a second day.

Weathermen warned more snow flurries were expected along the eastern and southern shores of the Great Lakes and in New England.

Weather Kills Nine At least nine weather fatalities were blamed on the storm, which began during the weekend and spread heavy snow across the northern states to the East Coast.

There were five auto deaths on snow-slicked roads in Illinois and one each in Indiana and New York. In addition, two transients were found dead in Chicago's cold and snow.

The extreme cold also played a part in a rash of home fires.

Forecasters said the cold weather will push into Texas today and spread to parts of the Gulf states and the Ohio Valley. Occasional rain was expected along the northern Pacific Coast with rain or snow inland in Washington, Idaho and Oregon and northern Nevada and Utah.

Ships Flea Ice

Heavy snows elsewhere in New York buried Boonville under 45 inches, Pulaski 24, Rome 21 and Utica 4.

About 30 ships were jammed on the St. Lawrence Seaway at the Lachine Canal south of Montreal trying to clear the locks before they are frozen in for the winter. Another ship went aground near Massena, N.Y.

At Houghton, Mich., the Coast Guard cutter Woodrush freed itself from ice Monday and sought to break a path to a freighter icebound in the Keweenaw Waterway. The Brown Steamship Co. freighter James McAlphine has been locked by ice since last Thursday. The ship was en route from Buffalo, N.Y., to Duluth, Minn.

since the weekend which killed 10 persons, nine of them children, in Michigan, Minnesota and North Carolina.

The storm hit Pittsburgh, Pa., during the evening rush hour Monday night, dumping four inches of snow on the city and delaying home-bound motorists as much as two hours. Pennsylvania state police reported roads, including the Pennsylvania Turnpike, snow covered and dangerous throughout the western part of the state where accumulations reached up to 17 inches.

A two-inch snowfall in the New York metropolitan area during the night snarled traffic in mid-Manhattan and caused numerous minor traffic accidents.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth.
Genesis 1:1.

No one denies this, but some imagine the Creator lost interest in His creation and forgot all about it. The truth is that the hairs of your head are numbered. God is very much present in His universe.

Santa Claus Favorite For 1958 Christmas Cards

By MARGARET RICHARDS
KANSAS CITY, Mo. — (UPI) — Santa Claus is a one-to-eight favorite in the 1958 Christmas card derby.

At first glance, such odds wouldn't accord the old gentleman preferred status. But, considering the thousands of other designs against which he will compete, Santa's position is strong.

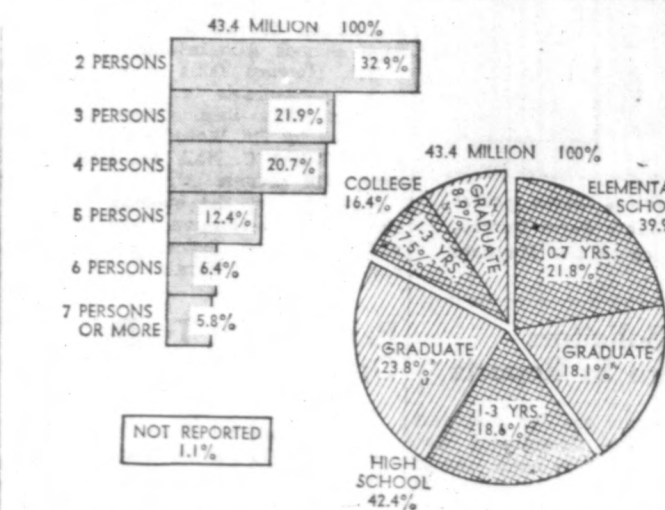

St. Nick occupies the pinnacle this year because that's where the American public has placed him, said a spokesman for Hallmark Cards, world's largest greeting card publisher. And public preferences are always honored in the Christmas card business.

The 300 artists who create the company's 11,000 new greeting card designs each year are guided by experience, research and an alertness to changing consumer tastes. This knowledge has ranked brightly-colored ornaments, candles and floral designs, in that order, behind Santa Claus as customer favorites this year.

Although familiar symbols of the holiday lead, the cards are distinguished by many new styling touches. Santa Claus, for example, wears a beard fashioned of stand-up plastic granules on some of the cards. On others, his traditional red suit is reproduced in luminous ink, for a glowing appearance.

The Air Age finds more and more travelers carrying their cameras with them as they board planes on business or vacation trips. Making photographs from airplanes is fairly simple if you abide by a few simple rules.

The best seat for picture-taking is in the rear, on the side away from the sun. The camera should not touch any part of the plane or window. It should be focused on infinity and used with the fastest shutter speed.

The lens opening should be decreased with increasing altitude. Between 1000 and 2000 feet, it should be approximately one third of a stop smaller than for ground subjects; between 2000 and 4000 feet, about one stop smaller.

If your camera has a lens as fast as f/2.8 you can try interior cabin shots at 1/250th of a second on bright days with Kodachrome film, daylight type.

You can make interior movies at 1/19. Cloud banks with the wing tip of the plane in the foreground are subjects worth a few exposures: 1/200th of a second will do the job.

A guide for aerial exposures with Kodachrome would be 1/200th at f/5.6 for views from the plane window in bright sun. With Kodachrome film, 1/200th with the aperture set between f/8 and f/11 should give excellent results.

Your movie camera can be set:

Testimonial To Own Product

NORTHFIELD, Minn. — (UPI) — Because the G.T. Scheldahl Co. here believes in its own product, it has built a home for itself out of the plastic it manufactures, a building 340 feet long and 30 feet wide.

The quonset-shaped structure has solid ends, but otherwise is made entirely of semi-transparent plastic. This semi-transparent "skin" will permit solar heating and reduce fuel costs considerably.

The "skin" has another feature. It can be taken off and re-

TO MARRY PRINCE

SAN FRANCISCO UPI — A blonde, 20-year-old San Francisco photographer's model announced Tuesday she would marry Prince Abol Bakhtiar, a cousin of the Shah of Iran. Sharon, Daugherty said she met the 30-year-old member of the Iranian royal family at a party here more than a year ago.

AN ISLAND RECIPE for homemade bread features batter flavored with Hawaiian macadamia nuts and mashed bananas. The two together make this simple recipe a gourmet treat.

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

THERE'S one Christmas present we count on getting every year—a batch of Aunt Maureen's homemade cookies. They're really special, and so is the container that holds them.

Every Christmas it's different. Last year, the cookies came in an unusual canister. The year before, she wrapped them in cellophane and packed them in a beautiful hatbox.

It's always a double gift—cookies plus a present for the house!

Two Suggestions

Giving goodies? Then we've two suggestions.

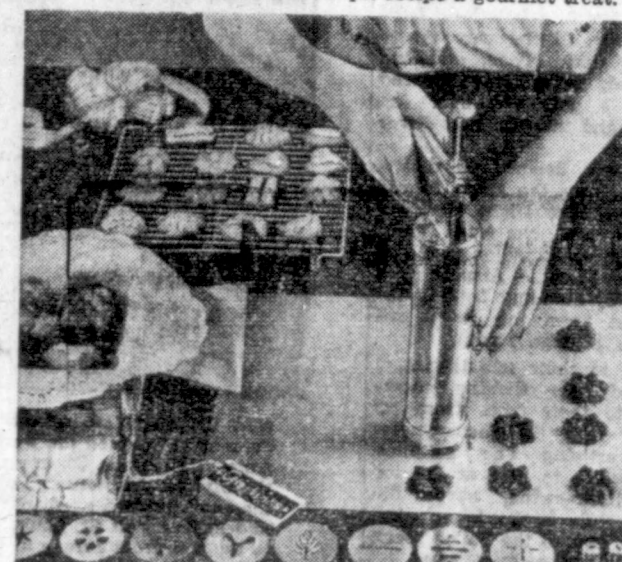

First, hit on an extra-good recipe, and make it your annual specialty.

Second, pack goodies pretty!

If you're planning to bake up a batch of gift cookies, and try the cinnamon recipe given today—arrange them on a cookie sheet and include a cookie gun as a bonus gift. The gun comes with discs that shoot batter out in nine different shapes. Wrap all up in cellophane and tie with a big ribbon!

Bake Howland Bread

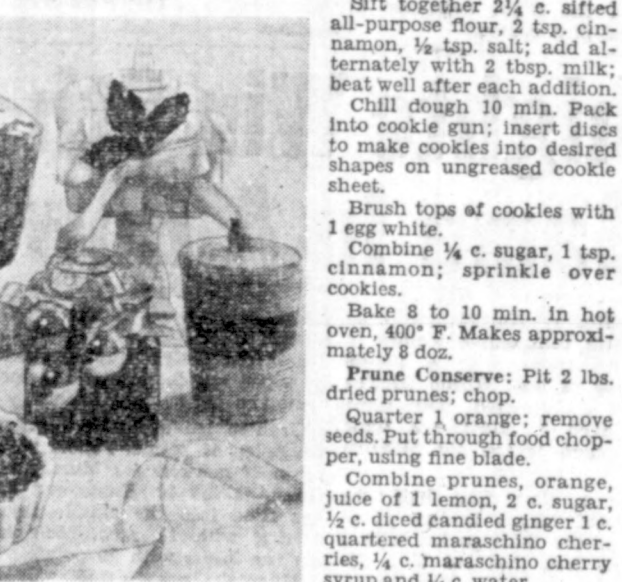

You might also bake homemade bread for holiday presentation. There's a recipe that's easy and delicious in which batter's flavored with mashed bananas and exotic macadamia nuts from Hawaii. Pack your gift bread in a loaf pan and include the recipe so the recipient can bake some herself.

SHOOT STAR-SHAPED cookies from a gun. This novel gadget comes with nine discs to make different-shaped cookies.

Consider preserves, too. They're pleasing presents. A prune recipe that includes chopped orange, lemon juice, candied ginger and maraschino cherries is one suggestion. It makes more than 5 cups of conserve.

For gift-giving, pack the preserves in a variety of inexpensive machine-made glassware containers. Look them over in variety stores. Candy and apothecary jars are, we think, among the most attractive.

FOR GIFT-GIVING, prune conserve is prettily packed in inexpensive but handsome machine-made glass containers.

Mrs. Jack Belote Hostess To Program Meeting of Circle

Mrs. Jack Belote was hostess in her home recently to a meeting of the Grace Wyatt Circle of the College Presbyterian church. Dr. Edwin Larson played tape recordings of passages from Luke and Christmas music. Presiding was the chairman.

Miss Norma Edwards To Marry This Month

New officers for the year are Ginny Sueco, chairman; Hattie Laura McConnell, secretary; Joy Pogue, treasurer; Martha Battle, devotional leader.
MORE HILTON HOTELS
AMSTERDAM, The Netherlands (UPI) — The Conrad Hilton hotel chain will open two new 500-bed hotels in Amsterdam and in Rotterdam in 1960, the company announced. Each will cost five million dollars, they said.

The wedding has been set for December.

Mrs. Guy Battle, Mrs. A. G. Wilson gave the devotional from the study book "Met. Dr. Luke." She showed the teaching was love to save the lost. The heart of the story is love, the giving of His son the greatest demonstration of love, she said.
Coffee and doughnuts were served to Martha Battle, Beth Belote, Hattie Laura McConnell, Joy Pogue, Ginny Sueco, Carol Ann Warren and Joan Wilson. Two new members were welcomed, Diane Miller and Sylvia Spearman.

Miss Norma Deane Edwards

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Edwards, 141 South 12th Street, announce the engagement and forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Norma Deane, to H. L. Lord, MM2-USN, of Route One, Murray.
The wedding has been set for December.

INFECTIOUS DISEASES

According to modern science, germs are the cause of infectious diseases.

What are germs? Germs of bacteria are defined as single-celled plants. They are so small they can be seen only with the aid of a microscope.

The tubercle bacillus is supposed to cause tuberculosis in an individual. It is a well known fact, however, that the tubercle bacillus is very prevalent, yet only a small percentage of individuals come down with tuberculosis. The tubercle bacillus is often found in the sputum of persons who show no signs of the disease. The corynebacterium diphtheriae, the organism which supposedly causes diphtheria, can be found in the throats of healthy children. Therefore, it cannot be scientifically correct to say that germs are the cause of disease.

Even in a so-called epidemic of measles, not more than ten per cent of the children in a certain school would come down with the disease. Surely, it is not scientific to accept a theory that works in one case out of ten.

Germs can produce disease only when a person has a lowered resistance. Lowered resistance is caused by lack of rest, improper nutrition, poor personal hygiene, but most important, by nerve interference. Spinal misalignments produce pressure on nerves. The nervous system controls all functions of the body. Nerve pressure interferes with the normal nerve supply of organs and tissue, thus lowering resistance and THEN various germs can produce disease. Therefore, it is only logical to conclude that the presence of disease is due to nerve interference caused by spinal misalignment which lowers the resistance of the body.

The trained and experienced Chiropractor is able to determine the exact point of nerve interference in your spine. You'll be surprised at the rapid recovery you'll obtain in such infectious diseases as polio, leprosy, mumps, colds, flu, etc., under Chiropractic care.

Mississippi Wins Over Murray S.C.

The superior rebound power of Mississippi University enabled the Rebels to post a 67-61 win over the Murray State Racers last night at Oxford. It was Murray's first defeat in three starts.

Murray grabbed an early 8-1 lead but "Ole Miss" slowly fought to a 20-20 tie and forged ahead to take control although a second half rally gave the Rebels some trouble in recording the win.

The Thorobreds trailed by only five points, 33-28, at the half but dangled 32-39 at one point in the second period. Murray made a determined rally but could not catch up with the taller host squad.

Mike O'Riordan, Terry Darnell and Ken Peterson spearheaded the Racers scoring with 11 points each. Waters was high for the evening with 19 points. Griffin pushed in 16 and Richman hit for 14 in giving the University of Mississippi its fourth win.

Murray will meet Mississippi State and famed Bailey Howell on the "Bred hard" Saturday night.

Whatever Happened

GEORGE TUCK STAINBACK

United Press International
Tuck Stainback, a major league outfielder from 1934-46, usually managed to combine baseball with business. The personable young man came up to the Chicago Cubs in 1934 and in his first four seasons became more distinguished as an off-season salesman for his employer's chewing gum than as a big league ball player.

But "Tucker" found steady baseball work at St. Louis, Philadelphia and Brooklyn in the National League and kept going in the American for seven more seasons with Detroit, the Yankees and the Athletics.

Whatever happened to Tuck Stainback? Now 48, he is a director of special ticket sales for the Dodgers in his native Los Angeles.

Today's Sports Parade

By OSCAR FRALEY

United Press International
BROOKLYN NAVY YARD, N. Y. (UPI) — The U.S. Navy called on four golf pros to prove that it had the biggest war canoe in the world.

This is the U.S.S. Independence, the 1,046-foot aircraft carrier which will be commissioned early in January. The idea was to demonstrate to the civilian mind just how far 1,046 feet stretches when laid end to end.

The four pros, "Light Horse Harry" Cooper, Al Brosch, Mike Turnesa and women's champion Marilyn Smith, told their fairway luggage all the way up to the flight deck. Then, standing at one end, they were supposed to knock a golf ball over the other end and into the East River on the fly.

They were doomed to disappointment from the start. In the first place, that flight deck of some four and one-tenth acres looks when standing on it about the size of Idlewild Airport even though a by-standing fly-boy insisted that from the air it resembles a postage stamp.

To add to their tribulations, a raw wind was flicking snowflakes into their faces from off the river and the thermometer was advertising for eskimos. Cooper, asked to pose at the top of his back-swing, never did get the club back down until they took him to the boiler room.

Turnesa Gets Best Belt
They all finally gave it a go, but, as noted, 1,046 feet is an awful lot of carry. Even to a fellow who failed algebra three times, and still can't spell it, it comes out to about 350 yards. And despite all reports to the contrary, not even big George Bayer can belt a ball that far on the fly and into the wind.

Turnesa got off the best belt, a 230-yard effort, and every tooth-chattering soul aboard uttered a prayer that none of the Independence's complement of 85 planes would ever come that close to the edge.

"I can see," said Capt. Robert V. McElroy, who will skipper the 180-million-dollar Independence, "that we will have plenty of room on the flight deck for a pitch and putt course."

Cowboy From Brooklyn Drops In 19 Big Points

By TIM MORIARTY

United Press International
Kentucky, aided by a "cowboy" from Brooklyn, galloped past its first dangerous opponent of the new basketball season with ease but Notre Dame and Kansas weren't as fortunate.

Sid Cohen, who grew up in Brooklyn's tough Williamsburg section and spent two years at Kilgore (Tex.) Junior College before transferring to Kentucky last summer, dropped in 19 points in leading the Wildcats to a 78-64 victory over Duke Monday night at Durham, N.C. The Blue Devils always have been a jinx team for Kentucky, having won five of seven previous meetings, but they were no match for the defending NCAA champions this time around. The Wildcats opened a 36-28 bulge at intermission, repulsed a Duke rally early in the second half and then pulled away again in the final minutes.

Four players, in addition to Cohen, scored in double figures for third-ranked Kentucky. Sophomore guard Dick Parsons totaled 16 points, Don Mills had 12 and Johnny Cox and Phil Johnson added 10 each.

Wildcats Beat Irish
While the Wildcats coasted to their third straight victory, seventh-ranked Northwestern defeated fifth-ranked Notre Dame, 68-63 behind center Joe Ruklick's 30-point barrage and Denver upended Kansas, 73-60.

The Northwestern-Notre Dame game was a see-saw affair with the lead changing hands 13 times. Forward Phil Warren also had a big hand in the Irish upset, tossing in two successive jump shots in the clutch to wind up with 15 points.

Kansas sorely missed Wilt Chamberlain in its tussle with Denver. Bob Grinstead and Steve Lesauz both 6-foot-7, dominated the backboards for the Pioneers, who wrecked Kansas' zone defense with accurate outside shooting in the second half. Ron Lorenski scored 21 points for the Jayhawks while Doug Campbell led Denver with 16.

Spartans Clobber Butler
Fourth-ranked Michigan State

clobbered Butler, 72-46, but three other Big Ten conference teams suffered shocking defeats. Oklahoma rolled to an 80-57 triumph over Iowa, Southern Methodist spanked Wisconsin, 81-63, and Iowa State outlasted Minnesota, 81-75, in double overtime.

John Green's 18 points paced Michigan State to its easy victory over Butler. The Spartans opened an 11-point lead in the first four minutes and never were threatened thereafter. Bill Scott scored 17 for the losers.

Oklahoma converted 27 of 51 field goal attempts and added 26 of 33 free throws in sinking Iowa. Five of the Sooners, led by Roger Potts' 15 points, scored in double figures. Dave Gunther totaled 22 for Iowa.

SMU Downs Wisconsin
Bobby James scored 21 points and Max Williams added 17 as SMU downed Wisconsin while Larry Fie scored five points in the second overtime session to carry Iowa State home in front of Minnesota.

Bradley scored 52 points in the second half to lick Louisville, 78-48; Bailey Howell's 29 points helped Mississippi State down Arkansas State, 72-57; North Carolina 83 Virginia 61; W. Kentucky 80 Miss Southern 56; W & M 59 Hampton-Sydney 48; Florida 73 Stetson 62; Tenn. Tech 65 Texas Western 60; Northwestern St. 63 La. College 60; Fla. A&M 107 Albany, Ga. St. 48; Abil. Knights Win 5th. Game In A Row

The Murray Knights swept to their fifth consecutive victory in as many starts with a 124-98 trouncing of host Wilson Service Station at Mayfield. The game was played on Mayfield's home court which is the old Milburn gym.

After a close first half, the undefeated league leaders swept away in the third period with a 14-point lead that led to a 26-point victory in the final canto.

Wilson trailed by three points at the end of the first period, 26-23 but rallied in the second quarter to lead 49-47 at halftime. The strong Knight quintet quickly wiped out their lead and took command in the third stanza.

Graham led all scorers with a whopping 41 points. Tabors pushed in 27 markers for Murray and Green tallied 16. Husse and Miller tied into the double figure scoring with 10 each. McAlpin led the losers with 29 points. Murray's next game will be with Bardwell on the latter's at the end of the first period.

Makes history by making sense!

Check the new official price labels for Edsel's new, low prices

The new law says that every car must have a label showing the manufacturer's suggested retail price—and Edsel Dealers are even happier about it than the public! Because Edsel prices didn't go up this year—they went down! The 1959 Edsel is now priced with the most popular three—and the price labels prove it! Edsel's four new high-efficiency engines prove something else important—real gas economy. They include a thrifty six with a great test-track record—and a new, economy V-8 that uses regular gasoline! Edsel's new size makes sense, too. Six-passenger room inside—less length outside. And less useless car weight. So it's much easier to handle than long, bulky cars. Try the car that's proud to wear its price—proud to prove it makes sense! See your Edsel Dealer! THE APRIL ROBIN MURDERS

CHAPTER 21 "Yoo-hoo! from the far side of the garden wall. It was Waldo Hibbing, waving cordially to Bingo Riggs and Handsome Kunkin. Bingo walked over to the wall, wondering how long she'd been there.

"Well," she said, "Gruelious! For newcomers, you two boys certainly have a lot of visitors."

"We were taking pictures," Bingo said, from where she'd been kneeling for a while, looking at the camera. "We collect faces. Interesting faces. And while we're getting established here, we're collecting as many faces as we can." He handed her one of their business cards.

She looked at it and said, "My! Then she flashed a toothy smile at him. "Maybe you could get me taken on a studio tour sometime. I've wanted to go on one ever since I came to Hollywood!"

"Cladly," Bingo said, wondering just how it could be done. "Of course right now we're pretty rushed."

"I can see you are!" she said. "And heavens! I saw the papers this morning! Imagine a murder happening right after you moved in here!"

Bingo agreed with her that it was a terrible thing. He added, "Did you know this Pearl Durzy?"

"Goodness no," the widow said. "I scarcely ever saw her, in the whole two years I've lived here. She just never went out of that house. She had her groceries delivered and everything. It was like she haunted it, I mean."

She paused suddenly, her eyes widening. "Now that's funny! I guess the only time I did see her leave the house was last night!"

Bingo said, as casually as he could, "About what time?"

"Well," she said, "well, I don't know the absolute exact hour. But it was a while before you got here. Before you moved in. I just happened to be looking out the window and I just happened to see her."

"You didn't see what time she came back?" Bingo asked.

She shook her head regretfully. "I went out to a movie," she said. "I didn't get back until almost midnight."

Bingo turned, looked, and recognized the car even before he saw Detective Perroni getting out. "Important business," he said, and headed back to the April Robin mansion.

Handsome was ushering the two police officers into the cavernous living room, which suddenly seemed darker and more dismal than it had ever been.

Perroni looked at Bingo as though he had been somehow offended. "I checked," he said sourly. "Clark Settle—" ing expert, says it's Julien Latimer's signature. Now, where's Julien Latimer?"

"I don't know," Bingo said. "Handsome and I were looking for him. Courtney Budington must know where he is, if he got those papers signed."

"That's Perroni said cordily. 'Is final. There is no Courtney Budington and never was a Courtney Budington.'"

Detective Hendenfelder said mildly, "Once we find the man who called himself Courtney Budington."

"That will be the day," Perroni said. "The day to remember. If we do." He glowered at Bingo and Handsome as though they were personally responsible for all the troubles he'd had in his life, including corns, stomach ulcers and income tax. Meantime, Mr. Reddy says you can stay on. Until further notice. And I'm going to have another look around the house."

He stalked off toward the staircase. Hendenfelder sat down on one of the two sofas and said, "You know, this really breaks Perroni all up. The handwriting expert, I mean."

Bingo said, "Maybe he signed those papers a long time ago. Before he was murdered."

"Uh-huh," Hendenfelder said. "According to Clark Settle's office, those signatures were written with a liquid graphite pencil. And that pencil didn't come on the market until sometime in 1955." He sighed. "This is really rough on Perroni."

"It's rough on a lot of people," Bingo said, "including various people who seem to have gotten murdered." He drew a long breath. "In fact, we were going to call you up to ask a couple of questions."

From overhead he could hear Perroni's footsteps, slow, measured and patient.

"About Pearl Durzy," Bingo went on recklessly. "There's a lot about her we don't know."

"Brother," Hendenfelder said. "There's a lot about her nobody seems to know."

"You mean," Handsome asked, "like who murdered her?"

"Not only that," Hendenfelder said. "But mostly—who was she?"

"She was Pearl Durzy," Bingo said, a little helplessly. "She was identified."

"Sure," Hendenfelder said. "You identified her. How many times had you seen her? Once, and by your own story you weren't even introduced. So you say she was Pearl Durzy. She was pointed out to you by someone who said she was Pearl Durzy, and now nobody knows where he is, or who he is, either."

Bingo scowled. "But somebody must have known her." He added, "Everybody has somebody who knows them. Like friends. And relatives."

"Yes, yes, yes," Hendenfelder said. "But can you see?"

Robbery the cause of the murder of Pearl Durzy? He added, "on earth isn't a cause of murder? Continue the story here tomorrow."

Capital Is Bustling Port Again

By LES WHITTEN
United Press International

PORT ROYAL, S. C. (UPI) — Port Royal, once the blood-drenched capital of the Spanish Main, is stirring again, but this time with peace-time commerce.

Port Royal, 50 miles south of Charleston, S. C., was officially the first ocean vessel of the new Port Royal era was the Georg Russ, out of Hamburg, Germany. From now on the modern 500-foot pier will berth an increasing number of large freighters.

The peaceful plying of world trade in the old port is in sharp contrast to the bloody days 250 years ago when "Blackbeard" struck out at shipping from hide-aways in the Port Royal area. He was followed in 1706 by "Blackbeard," who "raged" coastal commerce with four ships and 400 gold - seeking men. Stede Bonnet, the most curious of pirates a gentleman, well-educated and the most cruel of the lot - plundered the Port Royal area in 1718.

But a stubborn and courageous governor at Charleston Robert Johnson — impressed merchant vessels into service and went out after the black-flagged ships.

Teach was captured in a bitter fight. Bonnet was hanged and the renegade British officer Richard Worley was killed on deck. Aboard Worley's swift ship were found 30 young women being held as hostages. Worley had planned to sell them as indentured servants to unscrupulous planters and townsmen.

By 1740, Port Royal had become a bustling center for the indigo trade and 20 years later the "seed from Madagascar" — rice — was moving from the sea-port.

The Revolution halted the burgeoning commerce, through the battle of Charleston in 1776 saved Port Royal for four years from British occupation. Then Charleston fell, and with it the thriving little port to the south.

Rice and indigo again began moving eastward from Port Royal after the war and by the Civil War, Port Royal was challenging Charleston as a major Atlantic port.

But on Nov. 7, 1861, seamen and troops conquered the two forts outside Port Royal harbor, ending its days as a Confederate bastion.

Reconstruction came hard to Port Royal, while Charleston returned to its position as a world port. The rice trade dwindled out in 1912 — indigo had gone almost a century before.

The last deep sea vessel called at Port Royal in 1922, except for some tuna schooners which put in four years ago from fishing grounds off Peru and Chile. But now Port Royal is reborn.

attempt to settle the area was made until Captain Jean-Rebault of France sailed into the harbor in 1562 and saw a port "large enough to float all the navies in the world."

The French called the harbor Port Royal, a garrison of some 30 men set up camp in the area in preparation for families which were to follow.

But the men of the garrison were discontented, and when Rebault left for France, they mutinied and butchered their captain, Albert de la Piere.

Spanish settlers came in 1566, but Indians drove them off. When another Spanish settlement was attempted in 1587, England's Sir Francis Drake staged a raid and captured the lot.

Lord Cardross of Scotland brought a hardy band of Scots to Port Royal in 1684, but two years later the Spaniards staged a raid from St. Augustine. They slaughtered men, women and children as well as razing nearby English plantations.

Meanwhile, the pirate flag had gone up on ships along the Carolina coast and Robert Searle struck out at shipping from hide-aways in the Port Royal area. He was followed in 1706 by "Blackbeard," who "raged" coastal commerce with four ships and 400 gold - seeking men. Ballet Composer Likes R & R

NEW YORK — (UPI) — A young American composer who dabbles in rock 'n' roll at home has scored a major symphonic success abroad.

Robert Prince, 29, won rave notices for his ballet, "New York Export: Opus Jazz," performed by the Jerome Robbins troupe as part of their "Ballets: U.S.A." program at the Brussels World's Fair. Prior to Brussels, the ballet scored at the Festival of Two Worlds in Spoleto, Italy.

A native New Yorker, Prince was educated at the High School of Music and Art and the Juillard School of Music.

Robbins "discovered" him through an original jazz album, "What's New," which was commissioned by George Avakian, formerly a Columbia Records executive.

Prince has written arrangements for Johnny Mathis, Louis

'INCRIMINAL' — Frank Cammarata, ex-convict and onetime Michigan hoodlum, sits calmly at the Senate racketeers subcommittee microphone in Washington, where about all he would say was that answering questions might "incriminate" him. The subcommittee is dealing into the juke box situation, but Cammarata, scheduled for deportation, wouldn't make music.

Armstrong and Tab Hunter, along with dozens of rock 'n' roll performers.

"I'd just as soon not name the rock 'n' roll records," said Prince. "There have been so many. My main interest, of course, is serious composition, with a basic jazz orientation."

Ketchikan TV Has Audience

KETCHIKAN, Alaska — (UPI) — The world's most unusual television station operates in this city of 7,500 on the island of Revilla-Gigedo with a 100 per cent pre-paid audience.

While cities in the "other" 48 states are torn gro and con on pay television, Station KATV in Ketchikan has made a paying proposition of it for five years.

There are about 1,000 television sets in the city and immediate neighborhood, according to station vice president Wally Christiansen, who also is chief engineer.

"We do not put our programs on the air," said Christiansen. "Instead we use cable lines direct to each house."

"We charge each home $12.50 a month, which includes about $1 tax, and for that amount they can watch every program we present."

"We open our shows around 5:30 p.m. each day and run until 11:30 or a bit later, depending upon the length of the late movie."

KATV has very little in the way of commercials. It also owns a radio station and it gives all the advertising to that outlet.

"Maybe we could pick up an extra $2,000 a month by using advertising," said Christiansen.

"But why endanger the $12,500 a month business we do for the extra $2,000?"

It is Christiansen's belief that at least 90 per cent of the subscribers turn on their TV sets as soon as the station opens and leave it on until the station is closed.

"When people pay for something, they usually try to get their money's worth," he said. "We have what you might call a real captive audience."

As for politics, Christiansen said, "we sometimes interview the candidates to put them before the public. But we do not allow them to campaign on our station, because that might endanger the goodwill of half our subscribers."

The station operates with a total of six persons on its payroll, including the president and the vice president. And this includes a secretary.

Most popular program? "I guess it would be our 'video' bingo that we play over the air."

"This is a game something like bingo that we play over the air, giving prizes. We expect as many as 5,000 persons to hold cards and watch the show during the winter months. The neighbors come in to watch, too, you know."

TOP 4-H FOLK — The nation's top boy and girl in 4-H club work receive their prizes in Chicago, chests of silver presented on behalf of President Eisenhower. Top girl is Linda Lou Gould, 19, Lafayette, Ind. Top boy is Roger Hunsley, 20, of near Pierre, S. D. Presenting the awards is E. W. Aiton of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington.

SOUTH BENTON NEWS

Dear Ledger and Times:

As our thoughts turn to that first Christmas scene in Bethlehem so long ago, so my thoughts turn to you and your staff to wish you Peace and Happiness at this joyous Christmas time and throughout the new year.

I do not know if I have sent any news to you are not since I returned from Murray Hospital, anyway I hope you took everything under consideration, and I will try to do better, for I certainly like to get the Ledger and Times.
