Wyatt Was Aid To Barkley Says Son

PADUCAH (UPI) — David Barkley, son of the late Vice President Alben W. Barkley, Tuesday denied charges by Gov. A. B. Chandler that Wilson Wyatt kept his father from getting the 1952 Democratic presidential nomination.

Chandler charged in a Louisville address last Saturday that Wyatt was instrumental in keeping Barkley from getting the nomination.

"Barkley's son said in his denial, 'Gov. Chandler stated that Wilson Wyatt had largely been the cause of the unsuccessful effort of my father to receive the Democratic nomination for the presidency in 1952. This is not a fact.'

"My father knew who was behind the opposition to his candidacy, and he and I discussed this matter many times. I know who was behind this because my father told me. It was not Wilson Wyatt, it was not Bert Combs, it was not Earl Clements and it was not Lawrence Wetherby."

He added that the elder Barkley had made it clear in a 1955 speech for Combs here just who had opposed his 1952 presidential bid at Chicago.

In that speech the night before the 1955 Democratic primary, the former vice president said, "Mr. Chandler was occupying his time in the lobbies of hotels urging delegates to vote against me and to vote for Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia. He even urged members of the Kentucky delegation to desert me... Chandler is creating the false impression that he was battling for me in Chicago while Wetherby and Clements were sticking the dagger into my back," he added.

Barkley had made a similar speech the night before at Louisville in which he charged Chandler had deserted the Democratic Party three times in the preceding 12 years.

He charged Chandler supported the States Rights candidates for president and vice president in 1948 when Barkley was a candidate for vice president with Harry Truman.

Barkley had been considered a front-running candidate for the 1952 nomination when he suddenly bowed out on the eve of the convention, which nominated Adlai E. Stevenson.

Then 74, Barkley was told by several top labor leaders earlier in the day that he was unacceptable to them because of his age.

David Barkley said Tuesday he is supporting the Combs-Wyatt ticket in the May 26 primary.

Girl Turned Into Human Torch

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — A 12-year-old girl, turned into a human torch Tuesday when her clothes caught fire, was saved from death by her crippled mother who smothered the flames with a blanket.

Marilyn McElroy had stayed home from school because she had a cold. The girl was preparing to see a doctor when she apparently got too close to an open gas fire and ignited her clothes.

Marilyn was listed in serious condition at Allegheny General Hospital with second and third degree burns over 30 per cent of her body.

Mrs. McElroy, who has been a wheel chair victim since contracting polio 11 years ago, said her daughter ran down the steps in panic, her clothes afire, following the accident. The mother smothered the flames and called a neighbor who contacted police.

Marilyn's father is a guard at Western Penitentiary.

Above is a group with Ernest Madry, leader, in a work session at the 4-H Tractor Maintenance meeting being held in Murray. This is the third meeting. There are two other groups that are led by Kenneth Murdock and Ernest Madry.

The group is studying the function and the proper maintenance of the Air Clean on the tractor. This is very important for economical operation and long useful life of the tractor.

At this meeting a film "Farm Petroleum Safety" was shown to the group. This showed the importance of being careful in handling and using fuels on a farm and in the home.

There are two more meetings to be held before this project is completed. Those that are enrolled are encouraged to attend these meetings in order to complete the project. This will make them eligible for an award and to participate in the Tractor Driving Derby to be held at the end of the project.

Southwide Drive Goal Of AFL-CIO

By WILLIAM J. EATON
United Press International
SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (UPI) — The AFL-CIO announced today a new drive to organize six million industrial workers in the South and 14 million white collar workers throughout the United States.

Organizing director John Livingston said the new drive would be in addition to plans to charter a new Puerto Rican truckdrivers' union to oppose efforts by James R. Hoffa's Teamsters Union to gain a foothold in the island commonwealth.

Livingston and President George Meany, who presided at the nine-day executive council meeting which ended here Tuesday, belittled the teamster drive to gain 12,000 Puerto Rican members, saying it was "not necessary" to organize a Puerto Rican union.

Livingston said AFL-CIO unions won 59 per cent of all National Labor Relations Board elections since the rival federations merged in December, 1955 and that more than one million new members had joined the union.

He said his organizing department now has more requests for help from affiliates than at any time since the merger, especially in Louisiana, Florida, Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama, the Carolinas, Maryland, Delaware and Virginia.

Meany, who will be 65 next August, advised the council at its final session that he had no plans to retire. His reelection for a third year term was assured at the AFL-CIO convention in September.

Meany acknowledged to reporters that a dissension had developed in the federation's ranks during the winter meeting here, and he indicated he rejected A. W. Reuther's resignation as chairman of the key economic committee to present an outright split in the federation.

Instead, Reuther was named the chairman of a four-man committee to draft plans for a mass Washington conference to "shock" the administration and the Congress into action to provide jobs for nearly five million unemployed workers in the United States.

State Farmers Vote For Price Supports, Burley

LEXINGTON (UPI) — Kentucky farmers voted overwhelmingly Tuesday to continue marketing controls and rigid price supports on burley tobacco for the next three years.

With votes counted from 107 of the state's 120 counties Tuesday night, the balloting stood at 111-869 for continuing controls to 1,116 against.

In the 17 states where burley is grown, 184,888 votes were cast, with 98.7 in favor of controls.

The state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee said the Kentucky vote also was approximately 99 per cent in favor of continuing the controls from 1959-1961.

The vote concerns whether marketing quotas should be continued for the three years beginning next Oct. 1. The quota system has been approved overwhelmingly in previous referendums.

In two other referendums Tuesday, growers of cigar filler tobacco Type 41 and of Maryland tobacco voted down control programs.

Preliminary returns showed that only 7.7 per cent of the 2-375 growers voting in the referendum on cigar filler tobacco in Pennsylvania approved the control support program. Two-thirds of those voting must approve to put the program into effect.

The Agriculture Department said 4,799 votes cast in Delaware, Maryland and Virginia on the Maryland tobacco program, only 64.1 per cent favored the program.

In Virginia, 99.7 of the 998 Virginia sun-cured growers approved the program.

Khrushchev's Blunt Speech On Tuesday Dims Hope For Success

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press International
MOSCOW (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain and Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev talked for four hours today.

In a situation made tense by the Soviet leader's blunt, cold-war speech of Tuesday, the two resumed their little summit conference at the villa outside Moscow where Macmillan is staying.

Khrushchev arrived for lunch and then they held a business meeting.

A British spokesman said Macmillan sounded out Khrushchev about the Soviet leader's speech in which he turned down a proposed sign ministers meeting as proposed by the West.

Other Officials Present
"Since Mr. Khrushchev did make a speech like that, it is better for him to have made it while the prime minister is here than after he left, as it gives the prime minister an opportunity to question him on the issues he raised," the British spokesman said.

Others at the lunch were Soviet First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan, Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, Ambassador to Britain Jacob Malik, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd, Undersecretary of State Sir Anthony Rumbold and Ambassador Sir Patrick Reilly.

The British spokesman said Khrushchev and Macmillan would have another conference Thursday at the Kremlin before going to Kiev for a visit.

Appears III
He said Khrushchev definitely would be taking the trip and probably would fly in Macmillan's plane.

Macmillan looked tired and a bit glum and, observers said, Khrushchev's speech rejecting a foreign ministers' conference on Germany had cast doubt on the success of his Moscow mission.

The British spokesman appeared to be feeling ill. He was suffering from a cold when he went to Moscow last Saturday, and it was obvious today he had not recovered.

Changes Nothing
If Macmillan looked tired and possibly upset over the Khrushchev speech, the Soviet premier was his usual joyful self as he drove to his suburban villa where Macmillan spent the night.

Up until Tuesday the Anglo-Soviet talks appeared to be going well. Then without Macmillan's advance knowledge, Khrushchev delivered his strong speech to a political rally calling for a summit conference instead of foreign minister talks.

The official British position here was that Khrushchev's speech changed nothing since what the Soviet premier said in public he already had told British leaders in private.

But the British were dumfounded over the timing of the speech—delivered while the talks were still in progress.

May Conclude Treaty
Western observers believed, if Khrushchev's call for a summit conference goes unheeded the Soviets will conclude a separate peace treaty with Communist East Germany. The West emphatically does not want the Russians to do this.

Observers believed Macmillan would question Khrushchev closely about Tuesday's speech which included expectations that a Berlin showdown could be postponed beyond May 27—expiration date of the Soviet six-month offer on Berlin.

Khrushchev on Nov. 27 proposed that West Berlin be turned into a demilitarized "free city," that the Western Allies withdraw and that access to Berlin be turned over to the East German Communist government. He set a six-month time limit on carrying this out.

Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan recently said that if East-West talks were held Russia might postpone its decision. Khrushchev's speech Tuesday appeared to have upset this idea.

The Nation's Worst School Bus Disaster Occurred One Year Ago Saturday; 27 Drowned

By JAMES R. RENNEISEN
United Press International
PRESTONSBURG, Ky. (UPI) — Painful recollections of the nation's worst school bus disaster still weigh on the hearts of the families of the children who died in an early morning accident near here one year ago next Saturday.

Wyatt is planning a full-day campaigning activities in Calloway County. Detailed plans for Wyatt's visit to Murray and Calloway County are being coordinated between the Combs-Wyatt State Headquarters here and Robert Young, Route 2, Murray, Calloway County campaign chairman for the Combs-Wyatt ticket.

Wyatt, Combs' running mate, will be in the First Congressional district all week. Prior to coming to Calloway County, he is scheduled to campaign on Monday in Ballard and Carlisle counties during the day and attend an organizational meeting for Hickman that evening at the Jackson High School. Wyatt's scheduled visit to Fulton County is on Wednesday in Graves County. In addition to being in Calloway County, Wyatt is scheduled to be in Marshall and Lyon Counties on Friday.

A few hundred yards of almost-new steel girded rail along U.S. Highway 23 stands as a grim reminder at the spot along the Knottley Hollow curve where a Floyd County school bus plummeted down an 80-foot embankment into the chill waters of the Big Sandy River.

Of the 41 children on the bus, 28 drowned in the rain-swollen river. The bodies of 15 of the children and the driver, John Alex DeRossett, were found entombed in the shattered bus when it was recovered from the river two days later.

A State Police investigation and a court of inquiry failed to establish exactly what happened on that February morning, but these were the acceptable facts:

The bus, fully loaded after picking up children in the Buffalo Creek, Cow Creek and Emma communities, was following a wrecker north along the sweeping half-mile curve of the Big Sandy River at the mouth of Bull Creek.

The wrecker slowed and stopped to offer assistance to the driver of a pickup truck which had skidded into a ditch along the right side of the road earlier that morning. The bus failed to slow down and crashed into the left rear of the wrecker.

The bus caromed across the highway, glancing off a parked car and plunged over the river bank. One youngster flung open the rear emergency door and scrambled to safety along with 14 others before the waters closed over the bus just seconds later.

Gov. A. B. Chandler has proclaimed Highway Safety Memorial Weekend on the anniversary of the disaster, but there will be no memorial services here.

James B. Goble, whose three children were among the victims, said he had been approached by school authorities about a proposed service, but the families or the children opposed the idea.

Goble said, "Everyone felt it would only awaken bad memories. Our feelings are healing, and it would only reopen old wounds. Most of a families wouldn't have attended if they had services."

There had been a moment to erect a monument at the scene of the accident, but this proposal also has been rejected because as Goble put it, "Some people would commercialize on it."

The proximity of the bus wreck perhaps accounts for the apparent prosperity of Benny Blackburn, who operated a country store in an ancient frame building along the highway there.

Blackburn, who claimed to have witnessed the crash, now has three new buildings and a new house trailer set up on the narrow strip of flat land where the bus recovery operations were based last year.

The bus accident is seldom discussed anymore in the communities where the children lived, but the pangs of loss and loneliness are sharp in many homes.

Goble's simple, eloquent comment was, "Have you ever lost a child? Have you ever lost your whole family?"

Big Jet Liner Loses An Engine

LONDON (UPI) — A Pan American World Airways jetliner dropped an engine on a training flight but made a safe landing at London Airport.

The big four-engine Boeing 707, a type put into transatlantic service by Pan American last fall, was taxied into a hanger immediately after the landing and reporters were barred.

A Pan American spokesman said the plane was carrying six persons—a crew of five and an observer from the U. S. Civil Aeronautics Authority.

The plane was reported to have dropped its No. 4, outboard, starboard engine somewhere over the Rheims area of eastern France, northeast of Paris.

"We do not know yet what caused this to happen," the spokesman said. "We have not established exactly where it fell would have fallen straight down. There's only a gap in the wing of about two feet where the engine fell out."

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

He is despised and rejected of men.
Isaiah 53:3.

Many hundreds of years before Christ was born the prophet foretold the kind of reception humanity would give Him. He is no longer despised, but many do ignore Him.
That amounts in the end to rejection.

Jensen Differs With Mantel On Finance

By TIM MORIARTY
United Press International
Jackie Jensen and Mickey Man-

Jackie Jensen
Red Sox

tle, two of the American League's most feared sluggers, have a lot in common but it doesn't extend into the field of high finance.

Mantle has maintained he won't leave for the New York Yankees' spring training camp until he receives an acceptable contract. He received an estimated $75,000 last year and wants at least a $50,000 raise.

"Once you arrive in camp you're dead," claims Mickey, who will be listed officially as a hold-out if he isn't in uniform when the world champions open full-scale drills Thursday.

Jensen, however, doesn't agree with Mantle. Although he has already turned down two contract offers and insists he won't sign for less than $40,000, Jackie says he will be "on hand" when the Boston Red Sox' entire squad reports at Scottsdale, Ariz., Thursday.

Tigers Sign Kuenn
Jensen's decision to join the Red Sox indicates he already has agreed to accept their latest offer or he plans to carry his contract
squabble to General Manager
Bucky Harris in person.

In a wire to Harris Monday, the American League's Most Valuable Player of 1958 said: "Received contract today. Will arrive in Scottsdale Thursday with same."

While the Yankees and Red Sox were seeking to line up their last stragglers, the Detroit Tigers landed their "big guy" Monday
when Harvey Kuenn signed for an estimated $40,000.

Converted from shortstop to center field last season, Kuenn enjoyed a great year as he led the Tigers in hitting with a .319
mark—third best in the A.L.

The Baltimore Orioles branded pitcher Billy Loes, their perennial problem child, a holdout when he failed to report along with other battersmen. Loes, who won only three games in 1958, has refused to accept a pay cut.

Monzani Asks Release
The San Francisco Giants also were engaged in a running battle with veteran right-hander Ramon Monzani, who has asked for his release so he can remain in his native Venezuela another contract with a raise and we anticipate he will play," said Giant Vice President Chub Fenney.

However, Monzani replied he would not report "for all the gold in the world." He added he plans to work for an oil company in Venezuela and will limit his pitching to winter league competition
if he gets his release from the Giants.

Other training camp news: The Milwaukee Braves revealed they have received several "feeler"
offers with the Boston Celtics basketball team: Manager Solly Hemus of the St. Louis Cardinals said Jim Brown will be his No.
1 relief pitcher this year; pitcher
Barry Latman was the lone hold-out when the Chicago White Sox opened full-scale drills, and J. W.
Porter unloaded several "boppers"
in a workout with the Washington Senators.

Zebco Model 33 Has Polished Stainless Steel

The 1959 version of the famed Zebco Model 33 spinning reel features sparkling stainless steel front and back covers which are impervious to rust or corrosion.

The Model 33, already reported to be the most popular spinning reel in America, will undoubtedly create a new market among surf fishing enthusiasts.

Features still include anti-reverse, interchangeable spool, easy thumb control, adjustable drag
and Zebco's exclusive FEATHER-erman to control the line control DURING

Mantle Contends He Could Be A Babe Ruth In Reverse; Pitching

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fearless
Frale's facts and figures:
Mickey Mantle of the New York Yankees figures he could be a Babe Ruth in reverse, contending that if he switched to pitching he could win 15 games with one of the finest knuckle balls these tired old eyes have ever seen.

Mantle practices it constantly,
much to manager Casey Stengel's consternation, the skipper being fearful that Mantle will damage
his arm. But a lot of Mickey's teammates believe, too, that he could make a quick switch to the mound as a winner.

Coaches of high school championship teams in the various states, polled by Scholastic Coach Magazine, voted 31 to 22 in favor of moving the goal posts back to the goal line. Six teams, incident-than 200 pounds with Austin, the Chicago city champ, at 215 pounds per man.

Last Minute Basket Ends Game But Raiders Decide Battle With Accurate Free Throws

A Blue Raider basket just as the horn sounded gave Middle Tennessee an 84-82 victory over foul-plagued Murray State in an overtime game in the MSC sports arena last night. The defeat dumped Murray into the OVC cellar.

Even though the last second bucket gave Middle the victory the game was actually decided at the charity lane from a statistical stand-point. The Raiders poured in an amazing 32 of 39 free throw attempts while the Racers could muster only 18 of 32.

Plagued by fouls in the first half, Murray State fell behind the Raiders despite a much larger output from the field. Middle Tennessee took 22 free throws in the first period and missed only four. The Thoroughbreds connected on 6 of 13.

Middle broke the ice 2-0 and held a brief lead before Murray State went ahead 6-5 on a basket by John Brooks. For more than 13 minutes the lead tilted back and forth as each squad fought for as time went by. Then Johnson fouled Alexander and the left handed guard hit both tosses with 50 seconds showing on the clock. Murray stole the ball on Middle's out-of-bounds play and two seconds later knotted the count 7-7 on Terry Darnall's jumper.

Middle drove toward its own basket and Darnall committed his fifth personal. Price walked to the line and pushed in both free throws for a 7-7 advantage with 33 seconds left to play. Murray went on the attack and Alexander pushed in the dead-locking basket with 18 seconds to go. The Racers pressed hard and Johnson, unable to get past hawking Alexander, was called for taking too much time in getting across the 10
second line.

The Thoroughbreds immediately called time out on gaining possession of the ball. The ball came back into play with five seconds left in the contest but the hurried Racer shot went wide of its mark.
Murray took the lead 7-10 on the basket by Wilkins at the outset of the five minute overtime that ensued. Smith retaliated for the Raiders but Wilkins hit two in a row and Murray held the upper hand, 82-78. Smith scored again for the Raiders and Middle stole the ball on the Racers return trip down court. Again Smith found the range and the score stood 82-82 with 1:59 to play.

The Thoroughbreds attempt to score was unsuccessful and Coach Eddie Diddle, Jr. ordered "one last shot." Pressed hard by Murray the Blue Raiders were late in starting their drive to the goal and a hurried shot rimmed off
but the Middle squad rebounded.
Ralph Bryant slipped in a basket
that slowly settled in the netting
as the horn sounded.

Big Mike O'Riordan, the most improved player on the Murray roster, turned in an outstanding performance for the Racers. The rugged forward worked hard on the boards, was strong on defense and just to round out a good night, tipped and powered his way to 23 points, 10 of them on 11 attempts from the charity lane.

Dale Alexander scored only four points in the first half but came out strong late in the game to finish with 20 points. Harold Wilkins' three overtime baskets enabled the former South Marshall star to finish the contest with 13 markers, the only other Thoroughbred to score in double figures.

John Price, Don Smith and Robert Burden shared scoring honors for Middle Tennessee with 17 points each.

Murray connected on 32 field goals and the Raiders hit 26. The Racers were charged with 26
personals and Middle with 22, most of them in the last half.

The Thoroughbreds wind up the current season with Tennessee
Tech at Cookeville Saturday night.
Murray took two games in three nights from the Golden Eagles early in January, winning over the Tennesseans in the Senior Bowl
at Mobile, Ala. in then returning at Mobile on Saturday night of that week for the second win in a thrilling come-back from a halftime deficit.
