FOUR SCORE AND FIVE—Former President Herbert Hoover looks pleased to end at this one-candle cake for his 84th birthday. He is shown in New York, where he lives.

- SPORT PARADE -

By OSCAR FRELEY

United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Fearless Freley's facts and figures:

Baseball men are cautious about jumping on the Willie McCovey bandwagon despite the phenomenal start of the San Francisco Giant first baseman whose bat has blasted the junks out of the doldrums since he was called up from Phoenix.

What will the second time around be? "Remember Hurricane Hazel?" Well, two years ago he performed the same wonders when he got a shot with the Braves. The next season he could hit the floor with his hat and drift back to the minors.

The Giants' second "Wonderful Willie" isn't perturbed, however. He reveals they have been finding "me all over trying to find weaknesses" . . . hinting that he personally doesn't feel he has any.

Demaree Will-Annoche — The pro golfers can't wait to play in the new all-star golf series which opens Oct. 10 with Jimmy Demaree at the commentator. It isn't only that they get paid for appearing with extras for sub par rounds, holes-in-one, etc. They also collect in medals.

Example: Sammy Sneed won $25,000 on his series of 13 victories last year — and just has picked up a juicy slice of the $30,000 prize being paid to golfers in connection with television re-run of "Foster get into Donald Digging dreads. Duddy."

Louisiana State University's Sugar Bowl champions, unbeaten last fall and with 33 lettersmen returning are being touted as the "champs" from again on the women's college program. Army, Oklahoma and Iowa are figured as the teams which will give LSU a big race — and there's a "Jim standy race shaping up in the Big Ten among the Hawkeyes, Wisconsin, Ohio State and Purdue. . . . Notre Dame, even with a pro coach, is another year away. . . .

Becoming More Popular — A diamond may be a girl's best friend, but the boys are crowding into the act, too. Baseball variety, that is. Proving the point more than 2,147,000 youngsters have been competing in young baseball organizations this season. They report that the game, long popular in Japan, Mexico and Cuba, also is growing in Europe, South America and Southern Asia. It's no feat to predict that eventually it will be an Olympic sport, but of even greater merit is J. Edgar Hoover's comment that "A boy can't steal a car when he's stealing a baseball."

Russia and Poland will enter the international spearfishing contest at Malta, Aug. 15, for the first time. The United States, after finishing fourth last time out, hopes to get among the top three in a five-day event with Italy, France, Spain and Brazil. The competition is a test of one-minute stays on a 100-foot bottom for a period of 40 hours with points for each fish caught and total weight.

TOADS WIN AT CRICKET — INSTON, England (UPI) — The North Devon Forest cricket match was delayed Tuesday when thousands of toads took over the field. The toads arrived after a heavy rain, and the cricket match was resumed only after they had been driven away. Some of them even became all out in a bit of British courtesy by being permitted into the bar and cricket pitch fields.

SAN BERNARDINO FOREST BLACKENED—Smoke rises from the forest fire which had by this time blackened 10,000 acres of the San Bernardino National forest in California. The fire is in the Lake Gregory area. Lake Arrowhead is in foreground. Some 1,700 fire fighters were battling the blaze.

Nellie Fox Will Swap Chew For Chunk Of First Pennant Melon

By MILTON RICHMAN

United Press International
Little Nellie Fox loves that chewing tobacco, but just for a change, he wants to sink his teeth into a sweet chunk of World Series melon.

And now after 12 seasons of catching the World Series on radio or TV, Fox looks like he's going to get into his first one with the pennant-bound Chicago White Sox.

Along with a crack at a World Series ring, the five-foot-nine, 135-pound second baseman also has an excellent chance to wind up the American League's most valuable player of the year. His performance in an 11-6 victory over Detroit Wednesday was typical.

He drove in three runs and scored three more with a single and a double that boosted his average to .332, fourth best in the league. He leads the league with 145 hits and hardly anyone can remember the last time he took a day off.

Offsets Tiger Homers — Fox's timely hitting and a three-run homer by Sherman Lollar helped offset homers by Harvey Kuhn, Al Kaline and Frank Bolling in Wednesday's victory, which was credited to reliever Gerry Staley.

The Indians mauled the Athletics, 9-4; the Senators beat the Yankees, 3-2; and the Red Sox overcame the Orioles, 5-4, in other AL contests.

In the National League, the Braves defeated the Reds, 6-4; the Pirates downed the Phillies, 6-2; and the Cubs outlasted the Dodgers, 11-8. The first-place Giants and Cardinals were not scheduled.

Minnie Mizeo, Russ Nixon and Jim Baxter hit homers in a 15-hit Cleveland assault that carried Gary Bel'ito victory over Kansas City. Pinch-hitter Julio Becquer of the Senators ruined the Yankees.

He hit a three-run homer if reliever Hays Duren in the eighth inning after the Yanks had built a 2-0 lead off starter Pedro Ramos.

Geiger Counters Orioles — A ninth-inning homer by Gary Geiger proved Boston's margin of victory over Baltimore. Geiger hit his ninth homer of the season off reliever Hoyt Wilhelm, who suffered his eighth loss.

The Braves simply overpowered the Reds with home runs Eddie Mathews hit his 32nd with one on in the first inning and then connected for his 33rd with a man aboard in the third. That tied the score at 4-4 and Hank Aaron tied it with his 30th homer in the fifth.

Scutpaw Harvey Haddix of the Pirates won his ninth game by beating his former Phillie teammates for the fourth straight time this season. Pittsburgh broke a 2-2 tie by knocking on Robin Roberts for four hits in the seventh.

The Cubs used four home runs to undo the Dodgers, who dropped to third place behind the Braves. Ernie Banks started the fireworks when he hit his 34th homer with two on off loser Don Drysdale in the first inning. Sammy Taylor, Irv Noren and Alvin Dark also homered for the Cubs.

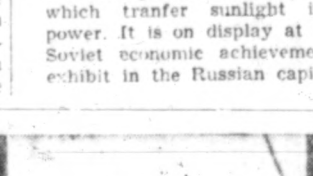

EFFICIENT THIEF CAUGHT — PASADENA, Calif. (UPI) — Joseph Crescimano, 26, may not have committed a perfect crime, but according to police it was an efficient one. Police said Tuesday that they arrested him after he walked out of a department store with four shirts he hadn't paid for and discovered he had made off with a "shopping list" of other clothes he planned to steal.

SUNLIT — This Soviet buoy is self-lit, using solar batteries for power to turn on its own lights at night. The cone-shaped beacon has specially treated discs which transfer sunlight into power. It is on display at the Soviet economic achievements exhibit in the Russian capital.

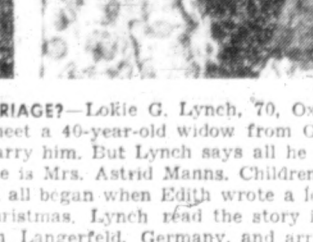

HELL SHOW KRUSHCHEV — Defense Secretary Neil McElroy points a finger for emphasis in Washington as he tells reporters he would be "glad" to show Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev American military installations in September. McElroy said it would be "constructive" for Khrushchev to see at first hand "what the military strength opposing him is sizable . . . and competent" to carry out his mission.

HELL SHOW KRUSHCHEV — Defense Secretary Neil McElroy points a finger for emphasis in Washington as he tells reporters he would be "glad" to show Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev American military installations in September. McElroy said it would be "constructive" for Khrushchev to see at first hand "what the military strength opposing him is sizable . . . and competent" to carry out his mission.

MARRIAGE? WHO SAID MARRIAGE?—Lottie G. Lynch, 70, Oxford, Miss., widow, is shown at pier in Hoboken, N. J., to meet a 40-year-old widow from Germany and her children (above), who came to the U. S. to marry him. But Lynch says all he wants is a housekeeper, and there was no talk of marriage. She is Mrs. Astrid Mann. Children (from left) are Edith, 17; Klaus, 10; Mechtild, 6; Lotbar, 8. It all began when Edith wrote a letter to Santa Claus, Ind., last fall asking for a daddy for Christmas. Lynch read the story in a newspaper, and is reported to have visited Mrs. Mann in Langerfeld, Germany, and arranged for family to come to U. S.

Archie Moore Tries For Triple Million Fight With Johansson

By JACK CUDDY

United Press International
MONTREAL (UPI) — Light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore, "old man dynamite" who again knocked out challenger Yvon Durelle today, planned a "quick-money" South American tour next month while negotiating for a "three-million-dollar" fight with heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson.

The ring's all-time knockout king and record-equalling light-heavyweight defender will receive a guaranteed $175,000 for betting out Canadian Durelle Wednesday night at 2:32 of the third round, and he wants to pick up "a couple hundred thousand" in September and October fights in Argentina and Brazil.

Manager Jack Kearns has relayed to heavyweight ruler Johansson the offer of a one million dollar guarantee to defend against 43-year old Moore. In Kearns' cable to Johansson at Goteborg, Sweden, he said the million guarantee would be in a bank when Ingemar signs for the defense.

Kearns declined to identify for the press the "very important Canadian and American interests" he says will put up the guarantee but predicted a Moore-Johansson fight would draw a three million dollar gate.

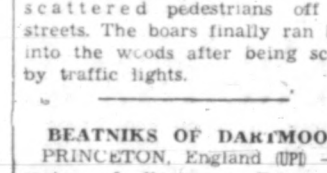

Eager to Meet Ingemar — "Certainly I like to fight Johansson, Moore said, "but right now I want to get busy with South American fights. Yes, I may make a defense down there."

Another successful defense would break the record he equaled Wednesday night before 11,533 at the Montreal Forum, where his eighth defense tied the 175 pound division's mark set by Maxie Rosenbloom.

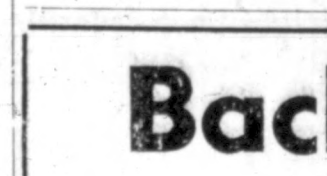

Archie stretched his all-time, all-division knockout record to 128 Wednesday night when he floored 29-year old Durelle four times in the third round for a kayo that was counted out by referee Jack Sharkey — with heartbroken Durelle flat on his back.

Moore, weighing 174 1/2 pounds for their return title fight, shook up the British Empire champion seven times in the first round.

Downgrading Of Tonsils Has Gone Far

By DELOS SMITH, IPE Science Editor
NEW YORK — (IPE) — Public downgrading of tonsils has gone so far that parents aim their emotions of guilt, frustration, and anger at the tonsils of their offspring. In the view of Dr. Robert A. Furman, a pediatrician, "Somewhere public education in the tonsillar aspect of medical science has miscarried. The public, Furman said, is now convinced that tonsils are in throats for one reason only to give surgeons something to cut out. Furman, who is a member of the faculty of Western Reserve University, Cleveland, wants to rehabilitate tonsils in the public mind. At least to this extent: "A child may survive very nicely even if the tonsils never have to be removed."

energy. Instead of being grateful for all his parents' sacrifices, the child seems to respond with more illnesses and more demands." And finally there is the parental anger of which the child's tonsils may become the innocent victim, he continued in the technical journal, "Pediatrics." The child has developed a problem, such as "bed-wetting, a refusal to eat or almost anything else that has baffled and frustrated the parents." So what happens? "Almost unbeknown to themselves, the parents switch the area of conflict from one in which they have been constantly unsuccessful to one in which they feel they can be successfully active, namely, securing A.T. and A. medical jargon for tonsils and adenoids excisions." Furman urges baby doctors to defend and explain baby's tonsils to its parents from the start. After all, tonsils do have a useful purpose in the body; they're part of its lymphatic system. And if they're healthy, they should be left alone. But it's no go to assume parents know this. They don't, and they have to be told again and again, so low have tonsils fallen in public esteem.

THE BARE TRUTH

LOS ANGELES (AP) - Truck driver Billie Thornley, 37, of Elberia, Utah, arrested for brawling with two other truck drivers, was assigned, unprotesting, to the men's division of the county jail. When the driver stripped for a shower, attendants blushed, tossed her a towel, and hustled her out to the women's jail.

TIPSY TEEN CYCLIST

BLAKESTON, England (AP) - A drunken driver was placed on probation after confessing he had drunk several bottles of beer on the job and had steered a bit wobblingly on his way home. The offender, whose name was withheld, was a 15-year old boy-sitter, on a bicycle.

Mrs. Mary Louise Baker has had as her guest this week her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Gravette, Karla and Jennifer of Mississippi. Mrs. Baker has also had as guests her brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. John N. Stitt.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mason Baker and sons, Mike and Richard left Wednesday for Daytona Beach, Fla., where they will spend several days vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward West Jr. and children, Gary, Janet, and Beverly of St. Louis, Missouri, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Anderson Friday night. The Wests were returning from a vacation in the Smoky Mountains. Mrs. West is a niece of Mrs. Anderson.

R. R. Parker has returned home after visiting his daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond C. Small Jr. and Johnny, of Birmingham, Michigan. Mrs. Small and Johnny accompanied her father home to spend two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Parker.

SIDEWALK DRIVE-IN
DUNDAS, Ont. (AP) - Residents of Ogilvie St. complained about a new kind of drive-in theater. James Heffernan and Mrs. Ed Sund told police that motorists pull up to parking meters located only 30 inches from their houses, put in the right coins, then sit and watch television through their living room windows. They want the parking meters removed.

Isaac Hull, on August 19, 1812, sunk the British frigate Guerriere with broadsides from the USS Constitution. Constitution lost seven men, the Guerriere lost 78.

DOWN CONCORD WAY

It won't be long now till school bells ring, calling me away from this weekly hobby of writing.

Peoples vacations will all soon be ending. Wilma Loving Harris will have lots to tell her students when she arrives back in New Jersey.

Miss Sandra Spiceland spent a week in Fort Worth, Texas with Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Kirks.

Cody Weatherford will have many places to think of as he opens his Car Body Shop again after his trip to California.

Joe Montgomery former Concord postmaster is not exactly vacationing two weeks in a Veteran's Hospital.

Mrs. Porter Elkins packed a suitcase too, Monday to leave for treatment in a Memphis hospital. Tony Lovins spent a few days in Murray Hospital after sustaining bruises in a fall from a disc.

Mrs. Leon Jones of the former Charlie Stubbfield store attended the graduation of her mother, Mrs. Ruby Miller, who received her Master's degree from Murray State last week.

Mrs. Mary Wisehart and many of her friends and relatives enjoyed a birthday dinner given in her honor Sunday by her daughter, Mrs. Rainey Lovins. Two girlhood friends now in their eighties, Mrs. Virgie Lovins and Mrs. Matt Steele were present.

Slipher Springs church enjoyed the sermon Sunday the young Graves County minister, Rev. James Hopkins, Mr. and Mrs. Doug Shoemaker came too.

Why is Concord having to lose the postoffice after all these years. Who wants to go to town to mail a package. I certainly would miss it.

Most Consumer Inventories In Good Shape

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Most consumer inventories were in good shape today as the nation-wide steel strike headed into its third full week.

A survey by Steel Magazine showed that only 14 per cent of the respondents had metal inventories of less than 30 days. About 46 per cent said they would be able to hold for more than 60 days.

However, a continued trickle of new orders for steel was seen as a clue that buyers are uneasy and will become more so as holes show up in their stockpiles. Heavy consumer pressure to place new tonnage is not expected to show for several weeks. A slowdown in 1959 auto production with the end scheduled for most producers in a couple of weeks, will take some of the pressure off stocks. By tonight, the strike will have cost the steelworkers an estimated 208-million dollars in lost wages and the steel companies 388-million-dollars in lost sales.

Suffer Tax Losses

The metal working weekly said the strike also will have cost the economy 5,662,000 in lost tons of steel and the companies 112-million dollars through overhead, depreciation and salaries of non-production workers.

In addition, each week of the strike costs the government an estimated 5-million dollars in tax losses.

Fifty companies still are producing steel. Most of those whose contracts were to expire July 31 won 14 day extensions. Ingot operations last week were estimated at 12.5 per cent of capacity, off a little less than 3 per cent from the preceding week's revised rate of 12.9 per cent.

The trade weekly said hopes are high for labor peace in the nonferrous metals industry. Contract extensions in the aluminum industry were seen as a sign of no strike with eventual settlement patterned after the steel contracts. Copper, lead and zinc industries also watched the steel negotiations.

Settlement Bright Future

A settlement of the strike by mid-August will give the metalworking industry record profits in the second half and for the full year, according to steel. Earnings of many firms hit all-time highs in the first half. Only ten companies reported lower profits than last year.

The strike is setting the stage for the best fourth quarter in the nation's history. The longer the strike lasts, the quicker will be recovery once a settlement is reached. The high peak for the fourth quarter is expected in mid-November, with a repeat just before Christmas.

The scrap market continued steady to strong last week. Steel's composite on first grade heavy melting was unchanged at $36.67 a gross ton for the third straight post-strike demand and heavy exports support the market.

Backstairs At The Whitehouse

By MERRIDIAN SMITH, UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House:

The people around President Eisenhower speak admiringly of the detachment with which he can view a crisis—and a new one seems to come over his desk with increasing frequency these days.

On the other hand, this same detachment can produce apprehension in others who come steaming to the White House with a burning problem and find him somewhat unimpressed.

The study of his reaction to crisis becomes further complicated when he seems to blow up over something inconsequential—a bad golf shot, a minor malperformance by some subordinate, scalding coffee or the weather.

Actually, the detachment toward major matters, according to those with an opportunity for first-hand knowledge, stems from his days as a military commander. He could not afford in those days to be worried into excitement when he was moving tens of thousands of men into battle.

Thus, when the world seems to come tumbling down in these days of the cold war, the President tries to play it cool.

If there is a White House staff member mentally packing his bags in the hope of a nice late summer vacation on the seashore with the President, here's a piece of kind advice—unpack.

The President really meant it the other day when he wrote the mayor of Newport, R. I., that he didn't "dare" think of vacation plans. If and when Congress adjourns, and if and when there is a summit meeting, it probably will leave Eisenhower no time at all for anything but some weekends on the farm at Gettysburg.

The President thinks that the great French statesman of the World War I era, Clemenceau, had it right when he said that liberty represented essentially the right to exercise self-discipline.

He remembers this axiomatic philosophy when he examines such pressing domestic matters as the steel strike and the battle against inflation.

Eisenhower believes that if he went back to Dennison, Tex., his birthplace and sat around in a social hall session with such ardent Democrats and fellow Texans as Speaker Sam Rayburn and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, the three of them would not be far apart on most issues.

FISHING EXPEDITION?—Minnesota's Gov. Orville Freeman adjusts his face mask for a skin diving plunge in San Juan, P. R., where, at the Governors conference, he issued a presidential nomination challenge: Humphrey to meet Massachusetts' Senator John Kennedy in Wisconsin Democratic primary.

Uses Home To Shoot Film

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Home movies are an abomination to everyone save the amateur cameraman and his proud family, but a writer-director has filmed a feature picture in his own home, starring his wife, for the public.

Leslie Stevens, an easy-going character with an abundance of studios, turned his house into a makeshift set and started the cameras whirring.

Utilizing his living room, den, patio and swimming pool, he saved a fortune in studio rental space, overhead production costs and excess crew requirements.

"I figure I've saved at least half a million dollars," Stevens said with satisfaction. "I'm not allowed to say how much my picture cost me, but we brought it in for very little compared with the average picture."

Neighbors Unaware

"More than 80 per cent of the film was shot right here in the house, and in the vacant house next door. Our schedule was a mere 2 1/2 weeks, and things went so smoothly our neighbors were unaware that a movie was being made."

Stevens' home is a rambling ranch-style place perched atop the Hollywood hills overlooking the Sunset Strip. Only a few scenes were shot away from home base, but none was filmed on a soundstage.

"I think more movies should be made entirely on location," Stevens said. "Few stories really need to be shot on soundstages."

"My picture, 'Private Property,' is a dramatic story about a pair of things who move into an abandoned house in an exclusive neighborhood. Right from the beginning I decided to shoot the story in my house."

"Why not? This is an exclusive neighborhood. I have a very nice house, and the place next door is empty. So why bother with a studio?"

Kate Makes Entrance

Stevens was interrupted by the entrance of his dazzling blonde wife, Kate Marx, togged in form-fitting white slacks and an air-conditioned blouse. For some reason the subject changed abruptly. "This is my first movie," Kate said, stretching out on a couch. "It seemed strange performing in my own home, but once the cameras began rolling I forgot all about it."

"I must say, I worried about the 40-man crew tearing up the place, but they were as thoughtful as if they were working on a $100,000 set. Everything was left in its place and nothing was broken. The only catastrophe was the loss of our geraniums. They were trampled during the swimming pool sequences."

"Biggest problem during the filming was the hum of traffic and noises of the city drifting up the hills. Stevens' performers had to shout over the din."

"We were shooting during the big fire in Beverly Glen Canyon which is just across the way," Stevens said. "Every time the fire engines went by—which was every 10 minutes—we had to start over again."

Tavern Owner's Pair Of Buffalo Are Hard To Keep

HENRY, Ill. — (UPI) — Two "vanishing Americans," a pair of buffalo, are being ghouled on Fred Ely's farm near here for a tavern owner who wants to develop a zoo.

Max Eckhardt bought the busi-falo recently from a Nebraska cattle dealer for $250 apiece. Each animal weighs 800 pounds.

Eckhardt said the animals are gentle — they eat out of their keeper's hand — but expensive. For example, it cost $300 to ship them here, due to an old railroad regulation that considers buffalo extremely dangerous.

Eckhardt apparently is trying to bring a touch of the Old West to Illinois for, along with the buffalo, he has three deer on the farm and plans to buy two antelopes from the Brookfield Zoo in Chicago.

Then he will have a home "where the buffalo roam and the deer and the antelope play."

ACTRESS SEEKS DIVORCE

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — French-born actress Corinne Calvet Tuesday filed for a divorce from actor Jeffrey Stone, to whom she had been married for four years. Miss Calvet, 33, charged extreme cruelty and sought custody of their child. She and Stone have been separated since last March.

AFTERMATH OF EXPLOSIVES TRUCK BLAST — A parked truck loaded with six and a half tons of dynamite and explosive fertilizer caught fire from a burning building and blew up like a huge bomb in Roseburg, Ore. At least eleven persons were killed and a hundred more were injured, some seriously. Property loss was estimated in the millions. A six-block square area was wrecked and practically every building in the main business district was damaged. At top, left, is Mary-Ellie Unrath, who miraculously escaped with her life. She and a girl friend were on the roof of a house near the center of the blast area when it occurred. At top, right, a youth walks down what was one of the main streets of this city of 13,000 residents. At bottom is an aerial view of the middle of Roseburg, showing the devastation wrought by the explosion. Hole-like a bomb crater, fifty feet in diameter and ten to fifteen feet deep, can be seen in the center.

Skin Diver Rides Whale To Obtain Underwater Picture

WELLFLEET, Mass. (UPI) — Philip Amero of East Dennis thinks he may be the only person ever to go riding on a whale.

The rugged skin diving instructor had a group of pupils in a boat a quarter mile outside Wellfleet Harbor when he saw four whales breaching the water.

He jumped overboard with the hope of driving them into shallow water where he could photograph them with an underwater camera.

But the whales didn't frighten. So Amero swam right up and grabbed one by the dorsal fin, securing his hold by plunging a short knife into the whale's blubber, but not deep enough to hurt the big mammal.

Not until one of the students started up the boat's motor did the whale streak for the open ocean. Amero estimates he traveled 50 feet before he was washed overboard.

URGES PRAYER CRUSADE

BOSTON (UPI) — Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston Tuesday night called for a "crusade of prayer" while Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev is in this country next month.

Cardinal Cushing said he would recommend that all the persons in his archdiocese pray for "the ruled and rulers of Russia, for nations in bondage, for the sorrowful languishing in prisons and refugee camps for suffering people everywhere and for universal peace."

Two Chevy middleweights prove their rawhide stamina!

Top hands on high-country hauls!

Ask any trucker who's been over Wolf Creek Pass, 10,850 feet up in the San Juans: a 9-mile pull to the summit and low gear all the way down. Mr. C. H. Phillips of Alamosa, Colorado, has a 6403 and a 6503 Chevrolet truck that are up over this route the year round, taking sheep and beef to pasture, later marketing the stock in Denver. In less than a year, his Chevy middleweights have averaged about 50,000 miles of this kind of treatment—and they're going stronger than ever!

Watch Chevy trucks at work out in range country. It's a sight to see the way they pack into high-up mountain pastures and handle through brush and rock like a cowman's favorite cutting horse. Take any truck work for that matter. Chevy middleweights probably handle a bigger variety of jobs than any trucks alive. About anything you name, including work that used to be reserved strictly for bigger rigs. When a truck's built the way a Chevy is, lean-muscled and rawhide-tough, it takes to ugly trails the same way most trucks roll over the highway. It just keeps going without a big to-do, but looking good every mile of the way. How they do it is your Chevrolet dealer's department. He'll be glad to supply details and specifications on the type of models you need.

No job's too tough for a Chevrolet truck!

MAN WHO MISSED THE MOON
by EDMOND HAMILTON

WHAT WAS HAMMOND'S... "Take a look at the way that flier keeps circling back over this area," said Quobba to Jon Wilson. "Wilson bent to one of the crewmen, concussed, peepholes, so did Lund. After a minute Hammond located another of the peepholes and peered through the lens of the tiny aperture. The lens was cleverly designed to give a wide field of vision. It was a bright, sunny morning out on the rocky coast. He could see white waves creaming into white against the distant beach. It all looked remarkably familiar to Hammond, very lovely, very peaceful. "Until he saw the Vramen flier. It came suddenly into his field of vision, a long shimmering torpedo without wings or jets and partly transparent. It was flying slowly and rather low, in steadily tightening circles. "They surely can't have found us," Wilson said. "Their spy-rays wouldn't penetrate our shield." He sounded worried just the same, and Hammond understood why even if he did not understand much about spy-rays and shields. The Vramen flier was coming ever closer in its circling. Finally it poised motionless in mid-air, only a few hundred feet above the masked lookout-post. Wilson groaned. "No doubt about it now. We've got to bring that flier down fast before they can call more Vramen here." "Fab Quobba's massive face flamed with excitement. "I'll bring it down. Open the ceiling, Tammus!" With eager quickness the little Musartus swung singularly unimpressive that the thing was a weapon. Quobba had jabbed switches and a low, powerful drone was now coming from the base of the "telescope." He sighted swiftly and then pressed a button. "A little puff of shining vapor sprang silently up from the end of the tube. Hammond had just time to think that it was indeed a weapon it was a singularly unimpressive one, and then he stopped thinking that very quickly. For as the little puff of vapor sped upward it almost instantly changed size and shape and ballooned into a whirling, shining vortex that got bigger by the split-second. The Vramen flier made a sudden frantic dart away from there, but a shade too late. One arm of the glittering, expanding vortex touched the tail of the flier and that whole tail section melted into dust. The flier plunged earthward but the vortex spun on higher and higher, still glittering and growing. Hammond followed it with awe-filled eyes as it swooped... flier snap out of existence. Then he did the rest at the Vramen flier. The craft crashed down onto the ground a hundred yards away from the lookout and rolled over and over until it stopped up with a loud impact against a massive boulder. "Got him," said Quobba. His eyes had with fierce excitement. "Wilson said, "Gurth-Rab—stretches all trace of that flier before they find it here." He pushed open the concealed door in the side of the camouflaged lookout and ran out into the sunlight with Lund and Quobba close behind him. Hammond yielded to the impulse to follow and ran after them. His legs were a little snaky under him but the sun was a welcoming brightness in his eyes and the wind from the sea was clean and cold in his face after the sterile conditioned air of the catacombs. He saw now that the whole front part of the torpedo-shaped flier was a crumpled wreck. Certain sections of the hull or fuselage were transparent and others were of opaque and silvery metal, and it came to him as a minor sharp surprise that in spite of that the hull was all of one piece, with a solid part of its metal treated to make them transparent. Quobba tore aside an unhinged door that now hung like a broken jaw. He squirmed into the interior of the wreck with Wilson and Lund after him, heading toward the wrecked forward part of the flier. "They're dead—two of them!" the Vegan shouted. Hammond, crawling in after them, glimpsed beyond their shoulders two men pinned and crushed and almost hidden by crumpled metal plates and stanchions. He was scrambling to follow them forward for a better look when he heard a slight sound behind him. He turned, and then gaped like a fool. Back in the shadowy opaque mid-section of the flier, a figure was moving, rising from the floor. This was no man but a woman, for he glimpsed a mop of ashen-blond hair as she got unsteadily off the floor. She was young, and she was superbly beautiful. Wide blue eyes still stunned by shock stared at Hammond and at the Hoomen beyond him. He thought that her face, even now when it was blank and dazed, was one of the most beautiful he had ever seen, and one of the strongest. To Hammond, the strength-detracted from the beauty. He resisted the woman because he felt instantly that in many ways she was his superior, and always would be.

RED WRITERS VISIT U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — Eight Soviet writers and journalists toured New York Wednesday on the first leg of a two-week American visit, strictly as tourists paying their own way. The writing profession in the Soviet Union is a well paid one, said Mrs. T. G. Mamedow, cultural attache to the Soviet embassy in Washington. She says men can afford a visit such as this.

NIXON ASKED TO GAMES

CHICAGO (AP) — Mayor Richard J. Daley Monday asked Vice President Richard M. Nixon to take President Eisenhower's place in opening the Pan American Games here Aug. 27. The President had to cancel plans to appear because of his European trip.
