Rockefeller May Be Candidate

By JOHN L. CONSIDINE United Press International ALBANY, N. Y. (UPI) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller said today he might run for president if he could be convinced he could "deal effectively and constructively with problems facing the country."

"I would never decide to be a candidate for higher office unless I was convinced these factors were true," Rockefeller told a news conference.

Asked if the availability of other candidates would influence his decision, he replied:

"I think one can't dissociate any decision from all surrounding factors. I would stress that my own decision is made on a positive basis on terms of opportunity of service which I feel I might be able to perform under certain circumstances."

In reply to a question of whether popularity polls would determine his decision, Rockefeller said, "I think the professionalists give more weight to the polls than the general public."

The governor said he was aware of the fact that some people have said he depends a lot on polls but added, "I think the best referendum is the fact that I chose to run for governor when the polls showed I was 20 points behind Governor Averell Harriman."

"I ran for office (for governor) because I have deep concern for the security and well-being of the country, a concern for freedom and opportunity for all, its preservation and extension."

"I think elected public leaders are going to be a big factor in determining the course of our country in the next crucial years," Rockefeller emphasized he was not a candidate for any public office at this time. He pointed

NEW LONDON, Conn. (UPI) — A fire broke out in the galley of the atomic submarine Triton April 7, the Navy disclosed today.

The Navy said the fire started when deep fat fryer was used in the world's largest submarine.

Three crewmembers, Lt. George A. Sawyer Jr., sonarman first class George W. McDaniel and Ensignman first class Donald R. Quick were commended last Thursday for their speedy action in extinguishing the blaze, it was revealed.

"The prompt and direct action of the three crew members resulted in the saving of the ship's equipment and possible loss of life," the Navy announced today.

The Navy disclosed Saturday a ruptured waterpipe aboard the Nautilus, world's first atomic submarine, partly flooded a compartment while the sub was submerged off Newfoundland four months ago. There were no injuries.

Investigate Shortage Of County Funds

MADISONVILLE (UPI) — Hopkins County Fiscal Court was scheduled to hold a special session today to investigate an alleged shortage in funds of the county treasurer's office.

Hopkins County Treasurer Charles K. Reid was reported recovering from a head injury suffered when he was struck by a train Friday. Physicians said he may be able to attend the Fiscal Court session.

The alleged shortage of $11,217 was reported as a "preliminary determination" by state Auditor Mary Louise Foust. The report came several hours before Reid was struck by a Louisville and Nashville Railroad engine as he walked along the tracks here.

Reid has served as Hopkins County treasurer for the past 15 years and is bonded for $50,000 by a Louisville firm.

A routine auditor's check last April showed four oil production tax checks made out to the county which had been cashed but no record was found of the money from the checks being deposited.

"The discovery of the checks brought on the investigation by the state auditor's office."

Labor Cools Toward Demos

By WILLIAM J. EATON

United Press International UNITED HOUSE, Pa. (UPI) — Stunned members of the AFL-CIO Executive Council met today to consider their next move in a battle against what they term union-busting labor legislation.

The council is certain to discuss future opposition to the polls to Congressmen who voted for the House-approved Landrum-Griffin Bill when the chips were down last Thursday.

"You can say that labor is growing cooler toward the Democrats," he told a reporter referring to heavy Democratic support for passage of the House bill favored by President Eisenhower and Sen. Robert P. Griffin.

One union official said only a handful out of 54 House members who received labor support in political campaigns last fall voted for the Landrum-Griffin proposal.

The measure passed with "yes" votes of 114 Republicans and 95 Democrats. All but three of the latter were from either southern or border states.

"We did the right thing but we did not do enough of it," the official contended.

Dairying Studied By Combs-Wyatt

LOUISVILLE (UPI) — Democratic gubernatorial nominee Bert T. Combs and his running-mate Wilson W. Wyatt will fly to Wisconsin today to study the dairying industry and problems of mutual interest in both states.

Information gathered will be used by the nominees in their program for Kentucky, a state in which the dairy industry is second only to tobacco as a source of agricultural income.

Combs and Wyatt will be accompanied on the one-day trip by Wendell P. Butler, Democratic nominee for state superintendent of public instruction, and Golladay LaMotte, Christian County, vice president of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation.

The Kentucky delegation will meet with Wisconsin Gov. Gaylord Nelson in Madison, Wis., the state capital.

Butler will confer with officials of the University of Wisconsin on the state's farm marketing program.

Combs and Wyatt visited North Carolina last Monday in the first of a series of information gathering trips to other states.

Seek Cause Of Crash Of Big Jet Plane

CALVERTON, N.Y. (UPI) — Investigators tried today to determine why a huge, swept-wing American Airlines Boeing 707 jet passenger plane crashed here on a training mission, killing all five crewmembers.

Thirty-two investigators from the Civil Aeronautics Board joined with American Airlines probes in sifting through the charred wreckage of the five million dollar plane, which crashed and burned in a Long Island potato patch Saturday.

It was the first fatal crash of the commercial version of the Boeing 707. Witnesses said the plane was flying at a height of about 300 feet when the right wing seemed to dip and the craft nosed to earth.

A Gruman spokesman said the plane should have been flying at about 1,500 feet at that point. The victims were Capt. Harry C. Job, chief pilot instructor of Redwood, N. J.; flight engineer Arthur Anderson of Jericho, N. Y.; Capt. Fred Jeberjahn of Los Angeles; Capt. William T. Swain of San Francisco; and flight engineer E. A. Freeman of Los Angeles.

Segregation Of Classes Seen In Arkansas School

By BRUCE MILLER United Press International LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (UPI) — Two Little Rock high schools began the second week of token integration quietly today with school administrators facing the prospect of setting up segregated facilities inside the schools for Negro students.

There was no disturbance as the three Negro girls who have integrated Hall High School waited into the front door at 7:50 a.m. White students scarcely gave them a glance.

Jefferson Thomas, the Negro boy who has integrated Central High School, arrived at 7:55 a.m. About two dozen white students were standing around the front door when he arrived. They appeared to pay him no attention.

Uninformed police and detectives were at both Central and Hall High schools this morning. Other than newspapermen and photographers, they were about the only ones to watch the students go to class.

Beth Hall and Central scheduled half-day classes from 7 a.m. to noon this week. School officials said it was still too hot to start full schedules. Last week students

Three Arrests Are Made By City Police

The City Police reported this morning that Murray had a quiet weekend this week. Officials said that little other than routine action was taken. There were three arrests made during the past two days. Two persons were arrested for public drunkenness and one for reckless driving. All these were fined and released, according to the city judge.

No action was taken by the county sheriff's office during the weekend, according to a statement from officials in that office.

Anonymous Phone Calls Are Again Received By Model

CANOGA PARK, Calif. (UPI) — Patricia Faye Smith, 30, bounded for four years by a would-be rapist whose face she scarred with a hot iron, again has been receiving anonymous phone calls.

Police advised the family to move. They did but a short time later the man walked up to her and her husband in the dark of a drive-in theater and said, "Remember me? I'm not forgetting you. I'll be back."

"I'm Coming Back" Two days later they saw him on their street. They moved to their present home where they felt secure for two years until last May when their phone-an-unlisted number-began ringing. First it was just sinister laughter. Then it was threats.

"I'm coming back to finish the job," the voice said.

The man with the scar returned last July 29, surprised Mrs. Smith and forced her at knifepoint into her bathroom. For 30 minutes they were alone. He turned out the lights, ripped off some of her clothing and then began cutting her.

"Now you're going to know how it feels to be ugly," he snarled.

Jimmie's arrival scared him away. Police found her in hysterical condition although her wounds were not serious.

"The house is under surveillance," Austin said. "In addition, we have been checking out 15 to 20 possible suspects who have been suggested by citizens and our own records."

OAS CALLED TO ORDER HERE—Here is the Hotel Carrera in Santiago, Chile, where the Organization of American States foreign ministers are meeting. A policeman stands guard. U. S. Secretary of State Christian Herter is there.

books in 1958 among a package of segregation bills. It provides that no student shall be forced to attend classes with a member of another race.

In effect, it would provide for segregated classes in integrated schools.

Attack On Law Expected
Everett Tucker Jr., president of the Little Rock School Board, said the law would be complied with as long as it is still valid. He said he is "confident" it will be attacked.

Wiley A. Branton, Arkansas attorney for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said the law would be attacked if one of the four Negroes attending Central or Hall High School is denied the use of school facilities or classrooms with white students because of race.

Both Branton and Roy Wilkins, executive secretary of the NAACP, pointed out the U.S. Supreme Court ruled in the 1954 case of McLaurin vs. Oklahoma University

Board of Regents that "a Negro once admitted to an integrated school could not be segregated within the school."

McLaurin was a Negro teacher who entered the university to study for a doctorate and was segregated in the cafeteria, library and in one instance forced to sit in an alcove off a classroom.

Attorney Invokes Statute
Terrell Powell, superintendent of schools, said he told the principals of Hall and Central to honor McLaurin's request, and any other similar requests.

He said he expected more persons to ask that their children not be assigned to classes with Negro students.

Tucker said if parents of all white children at the two high schools ask for segregation classes, "I assume we'd have to go along. As long as it (the law) is on the books, we'll abide by it."

Breakup Occurs On Clark Show

By VERNON SCOTT
UPI Hollywood Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A teen-age version of the Laurette Walker-Alice Lon breakup has occurred on the Dick Clark "American Bandstand" TV show.

Clark, messiah of the nation's juvenile music fans, bounced one of his scream-agers in a beef over publicity.

Out in the cold is 16-year-old Pat Mollittier, a dark-haired, dark-eyed Philadelphia miss who claims the high riding disc jockey-TV star asked her not to return to his program.

This is Pat's side of the story: "I appeared on the show for two years," she said. "At first I used to go down to the TV station and wait four hours in a long line so I could dance on the program."

Committee of Regulars
"After about three months I became friendly with Dick and he liked the way I danced. So with a dozen other kids he formed a dancing committee of regulars, and I was one of them. We never were paid anything for appearing on the show. We just loved to dance. And about every two or three weeks Dick would interview us."

According to Pat, some of the regulars built up a sizeable following among teenagers throughout the country. She said her fan mail was running between 300 and 500 letters a week—and all was well with the world.

For some reason, unknown to Pat, Clark disbanded the "committee" and she and the other regulars were forced to stand in line again.

"But I still appeared on the show" almost every day, even though it meant an hour's bus ride - with four transfers - to the studio," she said.

Took Exception To Story
Then, again, according to Pat she goofed. The pert brunette wrote a story for Teen Magazine about the show and her pal Dick Clark. The disc spinner took exception to the story and made clear his displeasure.

"That was last June," she explained. "All of a sudden the camera didn't follow me while I was dancing. Then Dick called a meeting and told some of us we were getting ideas about being stars, and for weeks he wouldn't talk to me."

"It wasn't long after that happened that I stood in line one day and wasn't able to get on the show. On my final appearance on the show I tried to straighten things out with Dick."

"When we were through talking Dick said, 'Goodbye.' And when he says goodbye he means it."

Thereafter Pat never appeared on the show.

Three weeks ago the leggy youngster junketed to Hollywood to become a columnist for Teen Magazine with pay to capitalize on her popularity with teenage

Chicago Cubs Bank On Ernie Banks To Get A Unique Honor This Year. He May Get It Too

By NORMAN MILLER

United Press International
The Chicago Cubs are banking on Ernie Banks to achieve one of the most unique three-ply feats in National League history.

At the rate that he's been pounding the ball, Ernie could wind up the NL's biggest RBI producer, in 22 years; break his own home record for shortstops, and become the first man ever to win the league's Most Valuable Player award two straight seasons.

All this and help the Cubs finish in the first division for the first time since 1946.

Ignoring a bruised back, Banks hit a two-run first-inning homer and Lee Walls followed with a three-run fourth-inning blast that gave the Cubs a 3-4 victory over the league-leading San Francisco Giants Sunday. The triumph prevented the Giants from widening their 2 1/2-game lead over the Los Angeles Dodgers and gave the Cubs a 25-23 record against the league's three leading pennant contenders.

Banks Swats 36th
Banks' blow, off lefty Johnny Antonelli, was his 36th of the year and raised his runs-batted-in production to 112. Project that over a 154-game schedule and the totals are 47 homers and 139 RBIs.

Willow Ernie set the major league homer-hitting record for shortstops last season with 47. While the Cubs were making the most of Banks' hitting to move into a tie for fourth place with the Pittsburgh Pirates, the three top contenders in the NL all missed an opportunity to gain ground.

The St. Louis Cardinals stymied the Dodgers' attempt to close in on the Giants by beating Los Angeles, 3-3; and the Milwaukee Braves could gain only a split of a double-header with the Pirates, winning the nightcap, 5-2, behind Warren Spahn after dropping the opener, 2-1. The Philadelphia Phillies swept a twin bill from the Cincinnati Reds, 8-5 and 6-0.

In the American League, the Chicago White Sox also lost a half-game of their lead by succumbing to the Kansas City Athletics, 7-2. The runner-up Cleveland Indians were rained out after taking a 5-0 first-inning lead over the Detroit Tigers. The New York Yankees divided a double-header with the Boston Red Sox, losing the second game, 4-2. The Washington Senators defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 6-1.

Spain Wins 16th
Spain, bidding for his 10th 20-victory season, ran his record to 16-11 with an eight-hit nightcap victory over Pittsburgh. Dick Stuart's 400-foot-plus homer drove in the two runs for Pittsburgh's opening game triumph against Juan Pizarro.

Rookie Gene Oliver drove in three St. Louis runs and Bill White hit a homer to sink Roger Craig and the Dodgers.

Gus Bell hit two first-game homers for Cincinnati, but the Phillies exploded for a six-run sixth-inning rally to win the opening game for Robin Roberts. Don Cardwell's six-hit shutout pitching in the nightcap completed the Phillies' sweep.

In the A's victory over the White Sox, Preston Ward, Bob Cerv and Russ Snyder hit home runs to make Ned Garver an easy nine-hit winner.

Mickey Mantle's 24th homer sent the Yankees off to a second-game victory that stappaw a five-game losing streak. Mantle also hit a first-game homer, but a six-run second-inning outburst clinched the Boston victory.

Three Baltimore errors gave the Senators five unearned runs that sent young Jerry Walker down to defeat.

KILLED BY SHARK

PANAMA CITY Fla. (UPI) — Army Lt. James C. Neal of Fort Rucker, Ala. may have been eaten by a shark while skin diving in the gulf six miles off Panama City, authorities said today.

Officers said he had gone on an underwater "sightseeing tour" Saturday with four other persons. Neal remained behind after the others went back to their boat.

Communist China Uses Capitalism

By ALBERT E. KAFF United Press International. TAIPEI — (UPI) — Capitalistic practices still lurk in Communist China's mass labor communes. Nationalist Chinese officials reported that the Reds have watered down some of the pure Marxism they attempted to inject into their revolutionary experiment with human labor.

New Industry Is Seen For West

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (UPI) — Possibility of a new West Coast industry was suggested with the recent discovery of an undetermined amount of phosphoric deposits in the sea not far from here. A half ton of the mineral was dredged from the ocean bottom during a preliminary expedition headed by scientists from the University of California.

MAN WHO MISSED THE MOON by EDMOND HAMILTON

CHAPTER 14 with Lund, forestalled him. "I was going to send for you, Marden. Marden wants to talk to you." Hammond stared. "With me? Why on Earth—? Interrupted, saying uneasily, 'I still don't like it. You know the Vramen. It's a trick of some kind.' "Possibly," Wilson said. "But she won't even talk to us. Hammond might be able to persuade her not to resist the encephalogram."

Continuation of the 'Man Who Missed the Moon' story.

THERE'S FUN FOR ALL on the home grounds. While one older sister skips rope and the other is engrossed in a game of jacks, the baby of the family paddles in a plastic pool.

SUMMER PLAY

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN
EXHAUSTING! That's what watching children at play can be. They leave an adult wondering how they do it—running, jumping, hopping, skipping, scurrying about every single minute, or so it seems.

On the Go
But it's summer! With school out and all the day reserved for play, the kids are on the go every waking minute.

Leave 'em to their own devices and they either get bored or into trouble. Yet Mom can't drop everything to become a round-the-clock baby-sitter.

That's where toys come to the rescue. Properly chosen, they can keep youngsters happily engrossed and out of mischief.

Variety Important

The thing for Mom to remember, says the Toy Guidance Council, is that a child needs variety, because his attention and interest are, like the weather, subject to rapid change.

So stock up on a few things that will entertain Junior and Sis, leave you free to relax or run about getting housework done.

Outdoor Toys

If you've a yard, invest in outdoor playthings.

An inflatable wading pool will give the kids a real cool time. Or, less expensive but most enjoyable are dime store toys such as jacks, jump ropes, pails and shovels, toy-type gardening tools.

Jai Lai Game

Youngsters of all ages will go for a plastic version of the popular South American Jai Lai game. For two players, it comes with specially-shaped scoop-type rackets that catch and toss a plastic ball.

Baseballs and bats come in plastic, too, so your small King of Swat can hit-home—runs to heart's content without breaking windows.

If summer's spent at the beach or lake, new water toys are welcome.

Kusan, Inc. THE HOSTESS POURS for a guest that's a real doll! For storage, the table-top's removable; base and seats fold flat.

One's a Junior fishing rod that's just like the "real" thing.

Shoots Water
The other, a cross between a fire extinguisher and a guided missile, is a plastic pump and hose that shoots a stream of water into "outer space".

For little girls, there's a child-size tea table—easily portable—for sunny days out or rainy ones in. Four seats are permanently attached to the base of the table, which folds flat for storage or carrying. The table top, 20 inches in diameter, is removable.

Rainy Days

We mentioned rainy days. Mom should really keep them in mind and stock a supply of playthings to occupy restless shut-ins. Such toys and games are also most useful when youngsters are taken on long car trips.

In this quiet-play category, look for the newcomers—novel hand puppets and a board game about auto travel that includes such true-to-car trip hazards as highway sections under construction. Doll carriages that fold into doll car beds will be a delight to girl motorists.

Educational Cards
Flash cards, featuring multiplication and division tables or spelling words, make rainy days or car miles fly by enjoyably and educationally! (P.S.: Don't worry, Mom, flash cards have answers printed on the back!)

Wherever your summer's spent, you'll find it pays to do some toy-scouting. Then purchase a few of the toys that will keep the kids occupied, leaving you happily at ease.

Bobs Nose And Gains A New Career

By VERNON SCOTT
HOLLYWOOD—(UPI)—Actresses attention: If your career isn't all it should be, try having your nose bobbed.
That's what Marie Windsor tried, and with startling results. For years the sleek blonde was disturbed by a bump on her schnozz which gave her a slightly sinister appearance in profile. The result was a succession of female "heavy" roles in which she languished unhappily.
For 10 years Marie brooded about being nosed out of sympathetic parts, but was afraid to travel the "bob bit." Last May she succumbed to plastic surgery. And like a Hollywood scenario, she has found a new career, happiness, a different outlook on life, and like that.

Afraid Of Operation
"I was afraid to have a nose job because I'd seen so many bad ones," Marie said, tilting her new proboscis at a fetching angle. "But I became so tired of cameramen instructing me to keep my profile hidden that I decided to go ahead with it. Full-face shots didn't reveal the bump. But when I turned for a three-quarter shot or a profile I didn't look like the same girl."

"Now look at me!"
There appeared to be a slight up-lift to Marie's new nose, and a thin, aquiline bridge.
"My doctor removed the bump, lowered the sides along the bridge and took a slight bone chip out from between my eyes," she explained. "It wasn't my intent to change my appearance."

Few People Notice
"In fact, few people have noticed the change, except the cameramen who think I'm much more photogenic."

"I inherited the old bump, and compounded it when I broke my nose as a child. Now my personal life has changed. People have a different reaction to me. They don't know exactly why, but they treat me as if I couldn't take care of myself as well as I used to."

Producer Mike Kraike for whom Marie has worked many times said:

Can Play Helpless Girls
"One never had the feeling Marie could ever be in distress. Now, with her new look and personality she can play helpless girl roles."

"I've appeared in three TV shows since the operation. In two of them I'm the heroine. But I did backslide in a 'Markham' segment CBS-TV, July 18. I play another bad girl, but at least the audience doesn't realize it until the final scene," she said.

Most glamour girls who have their noses worked over keep it to themselves. Why, then, is Marie so vocal about her bob job?

"Women should be encouraged to have their noses fixed if it will help their careers, or make a big difference in their personal lives" she said. "I recommend it for every girl with an unattractive facial problem."
