Night Is Suspense Filled At Inauguration Of Governor

ED NOTE: The following, on the spot article, was written by Charlie Lassiter who covered the Governor's inauguration for the daily Ledger and Times. The article is being printed as written in order not to lose the element of suspense and excitement which pervaded the entire area of the parade time and inauguration ceremony.

By CHARLIE LASSITER
Phoenix Hotel, Lexington, Ky., 6:00 p. m.

There is suspense here in the hotel room tonight as I write this. A news flash has just been released stating that Gov.-elect Bert Combs has been receiving threatening calls from unknown people. The report has just been flashed that Combs will probably be sworn in tonight at about 12:00 at a down town residence.

In order to attempt to avoid all trouble more than 100 extra policemen have been called to the scene of the inauguration that is to take place tomorrow. The town of Lexington which is 22 miles from Frankfort, is running over with people. According to reliable information there is not a hotel or motel room that is vacant in 80 miles of Frankfort. In front of the Phoenix you find cars licensed all of the way from Calloway to Floyd county. Buses are arriving with school bands. I have just looked out the door to find the Floyd county band arriving. Down the street are overflowing with people. Clerks are saying "Where are all of these people coming from?"

Mr. and Mrs. John Keel have just stopped by our room asking us to have breakfast with them the next morning. Mrs. Keel is my former school teacher. The next morning Mr. and Mrs. Luck Burt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Young, Mr. and Mrs. John Grogan, John T. Taylor, Haley Carter and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Lassiter had breakfast with the Keels. Also Robert Young, Jr.

After breakfast we started to the capitol building only to be stopped a half mile from our destination. On our way the capitol we saw Mabel Vinson and Mrs. Susie Vinson. Mabel is the assistant Commissioner of Agriculture. As the day passed on we saw other Calloway people including Jim Scott, Bill Scott, Zack Holmes, Earl Adams, Cohen Stubblefield, Frank Montgomery, Ted Coleman, Mr. and Mrs. Noble McDougal. Noble is connected with the state welfare department. Buron Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Graham.

I am now standing in freezing temperature as the parade is forming. Eating places have been set up along the parade route to the capitol building. Coffee is selling for 20 cents per cup. Mrs. John Grogan has just me a cup to warm me up while I jot down these notes.

It is now 10:00 o'clock. The state police are coming clearing the route to the capitol. Here comes an open convertible, its occupants are retiring Gov. Chandler and Gov.-elect, Combs. You can hear the people saying hello Happy and Hi Bert. Their car is followed by Lt. Waterfield and the m. n. w. to become Lt. Gov. Wilson Wyatt. I am watching for other dignitaries here they come, Mrs. Chandler and Mrs. Combs followed by Gov. Combs daughter.

I will try and catch some of the others as they come by if I can see through this thick line of

Sidelights On The Inauguration

Sen. Earle Clements is not expected to seek the Democratic nomination for United States Senator. Clements is expected to remain as the state highway commissioner and push the nomination of Lyndon Johnson for president.

According to the grapevine around the capital the new administration is expected to back one of the following Wilson Wyatt, William Natcher or John Watts.

John Sherman Cooper will be facing an uphill battle to win his seat for six more years. Sen. Cooper has never been able to win a full term. What makes the job tougher for him this year will be the backing of the Combs administration of a Democratic candidate.

The opera centers around Amahl, a little crippled boy of 12, and his mother. Living with hunger and in poverty, they nonetheless offer shelter to three Oriental kings who are tried and true. These kings are, of course, the Magi following the star which will lead them to the Christ child.

The opera then is the simple story of love and a miracle at the time of the birth of Christ of a small "blessed child who is loved by the Son of God."

Frank Albert Stubblefield is not expected to have anything more than token opposition in the race for governor. Frank has already proved to be a mighty popular man.

Earle Clements was choice of almost everyone for post of state highway commissioner.

When Gov. Chandler made the remark that he paid all of the indebtedness of the state while he was governor, former Gov. Keen Johnson was heard to murmur "Like--you did, you left $8,000,000 for me to pay. Later in his speech Chandler said Gov. Wetherby left him only about $3,000 of the general fund. To this former Gov. Lawrence Wetherby threw his head back and snorted audibly.

The other floats and band followed in this order: Oldham County band, Boone county band, Pendleton Democrat club, Bracken county float saying "We're behind the 'Little Judge,' Paris band, Boyle county float, Ashland high school band, Woodford county float, Meade Memorial band, Lincoln county float, Madison county float, Jessamine county float saying "We furnished John Watt," Lincoln Dunbar band, Fayette county float, Lafayette band, Frankfort float, Ky. Jaycees float, Scott county band, Scott county float, Georgetown band, Breathitt county float, Odd Fellows float, Frankfort high school band, Ky. As the last band passed a gentleman, standing close by, was heard to quietly say "Thank God it's over," referring to the outgoing administration.

Historical Society To Meet Next Week

The Jackson Purchase Historical Society will meet on Dec. 15 at 8:30 p. m. in Mayfield at the Steak House.

This will be the Society's fifth meeting. The first two took place on Saturday, the third at Fort Heiman, the fourth in Paducah. All those interested in the history of the Jackson Purchase are invited to attend this meeting.

Music Department To Present 'Amahl And The Night Visitors'

Gian-Carlo Menotti's Christmas opera, "Amahl and the Night Visitors," will be presented tonight in the ballroom of the Student Union building on the campus of Murray State College.

The opera is being presented by the Music Department under the direction of Blaine Ballard. Mr. Ballard will conduct and his wife, Mrs. Betty Ballard, will be accompanist.

The opera centers around Amahl, a little crippled boy of 12, and his mother. Living with hunger and in poverty, they nonetheless offer shelter to three Oriental kings who are tried and true. These kings are, of course, the Magi following the star which will lead them to the Christ child.

Federal Assistance Now Ready For Work To Begin On East Fork Clark River Watershed

By YANDALL WRATHER - SOIL CONSERVATION SERVICE

Rudy Hendon, chairman of the Calloway County Soil Conservation District, and L. D. Miller, chairman of East Fork Clark River Watershed Conservation District, received a letter stating federal assistance is now available for the installation of work of improvement in the East Fork Watershed in accordance with the work plan as approved by directors and supervisors May, 1959.

Before construction can get under way a lot of work will have to be done in chronological order by local people. Their work plan calls for a five year installation period.

A generalized work schedule for the five years has been worked out by directors. High priorities for fiscal year 1960 will be given those structures and channel improvements for which easements and right-of-ways are most easily obtainable.

According to the generalized work schedule now being worked out, probably two floodwater retarding structure sites will be

Symphonic Band To Give Concert

The Murray State College Symphonic Band with Prof. Paul W. Stashan conducting will present a unique concert program on Tuesday, December 15, when it presents a festival of music of George Frederic Handel (1685-1759) in commemoration of the bicentennial of his death.

Highlights of the concert will be "An Occasional Suite" which includes melodies from "Rinaldo", Handel's first London opera (1717) and an aria and chorus from his "Occasional Oratorio" (1747).

Other well known works to be presented are "The Royal Fireworks Music", A Ballet Suite--"The Gods Go A-Begging" and "Water Music".

As a final presentation, the Murray State College choir will join the symphonic band to perform the famous "Hallelujah Chorus" from "The Messiah".

This is truly a rare opportunity for all to hear and enjoy Handel's great music written more than two hundred years ago. The concert will be presented in the college auditorium at 8:15 p. m. without charge.

The Murray State College Thoroughbreds claimed a rough and tumble victory over a scrapping Texas Wesleyan five 67-61 last night in the sports arena before a large crowd of fans.

Gene Herndon again paced the Racers to victory with deadly jumpers and good rebounding. Big Red led all scorers with 23 points.

Texas took an 8-2 lead in the first ten minutes of play as the Murray squad had trouble finding the range. The offense finally caught fire and caught the visitors off guard in 12 minutes left in the period as 13-all. The score was tied several more times before Murray snared its first lead.

A second Racer Platoon took the floor with the count tied at 17-17 and battled the Rams on even terms but was never able to grasp command. The starting platoon managed to close the game to one point, 34-32. Herndon paced the Racers to victory with deadly jumpers and good rebounding. Big Red led all scorers with 23 points.

The Thoroughbreds took the lead early in the second half and held it to a one to six point lead throughout the period for the victory although the Rams stubbornly held a threatening position all the way.

Down by three points, 59-62, with 2:18 remaining, the Texans tried an all-out press, that was ineffective against the calm Racer. O'Riordan and Greene combined baskets to give Murray a safe margin. 63 points topped all scorers. Graham hit for 12 to add to the Racer cause. Jody Giesler was high for Texas with 21, Don Rega hit for 18, and Dey James paced up 10.

Murray State will meet Stetson University at Deland, Florida Saturday night.

The Racers wind up the road trip on Monday night at Miami with Miami University. Murray now sports a 4-1 season record, all in non-conference play.

One Official, Not Counted On, Is Found Expensive

By JAMES R. RENNEISEN
United Press International
FRANKFORT (AP) — Gov. Bert T. Combs still looking for qualified persons to fill two key cabinet posts found today that his administration had one official he hadn't counted on.

That was Orba F. Taylor, commissioner of finance in the administration of Gov. A. B. Chandler, who turned up today with a $1,000 a month job as a full-time special assistant to the governor as executive secretary of the Interdepartmental Committee on Aging and the Citizens Advisory Commission on Aging.

Taylor fills that post under a state contract negotiated during the last week of the Chandler administration.

It specified that he will be paid $1,000 a month after Dec. 9, the day he was replaced as Commissioner of Finance, plus travel expenses.

The contract lists his duties as: "To provide staff services of compiling material and planning programs for the Commission on Aging sometime during 1960, and the White House Conference on Aging in Washington in January, 1961."

Wednesday's contract was effective until June 30, 1961, although it can be renegotiated after the first six months. It is signed by Taylor, Chandler and former Commissioner of Economic Security Vego E. Byrnes.

The new commissioner of finance, Dr. Robert R. Martin, said, "We are asking Taylor for information concerning it and the work of the commission."

Before he was finance commissioner, Taylor was executive secretary to the director of the Legislative Research Commission—Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield.

A list of 11 top officials appointed by Combs and sworn into office in the executive suite Wednesday afternoon was headed, as expected, by former U. S. Sen. and Gov. Earle C. Clements as commissioner of highways.

In announcing the Clements appointment, Combs said, "I have adopted the policy of appointing the best qualified people I can find for every job in the state government. That is the rule."

Until he started to speak Combs wore the light colored trench coat that became famous on the long campaign to the governor's chair. In his inaugural address Combs pledged to "bring the people at the capital."

A bright spot came before the inauguration of Combs, when Congressman Frank Chelf presented him with a nail keg. The Governor then held the keg for everyone to see. It had painted on it "Bert's Nail Keg." Combs had previously said that he had rather be sworn in standing on a nail keg than for any person to be elected in helping to pay for the inauguration.

Combs told the overflow crowd that honesty and integrity would be the key to good government. He said that he was once a state employee drawing a salary of $125 per month. He said that it was his sincere hope that he could have the respect of all the people of the state of Kentucky.

Boos Greeted Happy As He Addressed Inaugural Crowd

Tuesday, December 8

With his hand on the Holy Bible and Chief Justice Morris C. Montgomery administering the oath of office Bert T. Combs became the new Governor of Kentucky at exactly 2:12 this afternoon.

Until he started to speak Combs wore the light colored trench coat that became famous on the long campaign to the governor's chair. In his inaugural address Combs pledged to "bring the people at the capital."

A bright spot came before the inauguration of Combs, when Congressman Frank Chelf presented him with a nail keg. The Governor then held the keg for everyone to see. Combs told the overflow crowd that honesty and integrity would be the key to good government. He said that he was once a state employee drawing a salary of $125 per month. He said that it was his sincere hope that he could have the respect of all the people of the state of Kentucky.

The governor said that state employees would be treated in a fair and honest manner. He said there would be no sleepers and drones on the state payroll.

It was the first loss for North in 28 starts that dated back to mid season of last year when Fulton City slipped upon the Jets by one point.
The Purple Flash led by six points at the end of the first quarter and by one, 25-24, at halftime. North pushed to a five point lead early in the third quarter by a 6-5 substitute center for the Oakers turned on 13-point performance that buried the Jets in defeat.
Both R. M. Spiceland and Jerry Powell, state champion starters, are still sidelined with injuries.
Owen and Powers led the victors with 15 points each but had to give up seconds in honors to North's Wormack with 19 points. Goheen

Time Runs Out For New Clock

LONDON (UPI) — At the Hampton Court Palace of Henry VIII, there is an astronomical clock that has been ticking away steadily every day since 1840.
When the Financial Times put up its new building, it copied Henry's clock down to the last sprocket and proudly unveiled the second astronomical clock of its kind in Britain.

for Calloway Cagers thus far this year with a whopping 40-point out-hold the high-scoring pivoter.

Kirksey held a 39-27 lead at half-

St. Louis Entertains Ohio State Tonight In The First Collision Of Top Rated Colleges

By TIM MORIARTY
United Press International
After a week of preliminary sparring, seventh-ranked Ohio State entertains fourth-ranked Ohio State Thursday night in college basketball's first collision between top-rated teams this season.

The game also will feature a duel between two strong All-America candidates — Big Bob Nordmann of St. Louis and Ohio State's Jerry Lucas.

Although only a sophomore, Lucas already has lived up to his press notices as the most publicized college star since Wilt Chamberlain left Philadelphia for Kansas. The 6-9 center averaged 25 points a game as the Buckeyes trampled Wake Forest, Memphis State, Pittsburgh and Butler in their first four outings.

Nordmann, a ponderous, 6-10 junior center, captivated New York fans last week when he led St.
Louis to an upset victory over St.
John's, the 1959 National Invitation Tournament champions. The Billkens also whipped Abilene Christian and Kansas State in recording a 3-0 early season record.

Bunge Goes On Binge Maryland, Louisiana Tech, Notre Dame and Texas Christian scored the most notable triumphs on Wednesday night's slim schedule.

Al Bunge, Maryland's 6-8 senior center, enjoyed the greatest night of his collegiate career in leading the Terrapins to a 70-62 victory over Virginia. He scored 10 of Maryland's first 12 points and wound up with 34. Little Tony

Lyon County (61)
McDaniels 20, Stovall 4, Boyd 9,
Cannon 2, Anderson, Oliver 19,
Etes 4, Jarrett, McKinney 2.

Laquintano paced Virginia with 18.
Moreland led the way with 16 points.
Mike Graney tallied 30 points as Notre Dame outlasted Northwestern, 93-88, in two overtime sessions. Emmett McCarthy chipped in with 25 points and John Tully had 18, including a pair of clutch baskets in the second overtime period, for the Irish. Floyd Campbell led Northwestern with 30 points.

TCU Rips Tulsa
Texas Christian, the defending Southwest Conference champions, breezed to a front-run, 99-77 victory over Tulsa. Six ..... of the Longhorns, led by 1 by Bernard's 18 points, scored in double figures.

Dan McFadden's 23 points sparked Yale to an 82-53 triumph over Fordham. Connecticut opened defense of its Yankee Conference crown by spanking New Hampshire, 75-51, Temple rallied to edge Princeton, 68-65, as Bill Kennedy scored 29 points. Holy Cross col-led to an 85-71 victory over St. Anselm's, and NYU whipped Rutgers, 82-58, in major Eastern games.

Elsewhere, Dayton outclassed Mi-

FUTURE CAMPUS—A preview of what many campus structures of the future will look like was given at Cornell University, Ithaca, N.Y., when it announced the establishment of a Center for Radiophysics and Space Research. The University will build a transmitting station for probing the universe (top) and a radio astronomy receiver. The transmitter dish (top) and a radio astronomy receiver. The transmitter dish (top) will be 28 feet in diameter, and will be constructed on a pivot which will enable it to send signals to any area of the visible sky. The receiver will feature a 500-foot long antenna between two towers and have a reception area of 150,000 square feet.

Boos...

Combs said the bonus bill was something he inherited from the retiring administration. In closing Combs invited all to return to see but it would be better if all didn't arrive the same day.
Chandler who had been critical of Combs in the past wished him well. Chandler's final words were: "May God Bless and keep in the hollow of His hand the people of the Commonwealth of Kentucky and God save the Governor."

LI Gov. Wilson Wyatt spoke briefly. He said: "By politics we win our victories, by statesmanship we deserve them. There is no greater trust than that chosen by democracy on those chosen to lead."
Wyatt had previously said that some suggested he have a subject. He said if he should use a subject it would be a report to Happy on "HOW OLD ANKLE BLANKETS FADED IN PLOWED GROUND." Chandler had said early in the campaign that Wyatt wore ankle blankets and he would snow him under in plowed ground.

The federal assistance now available in the state will go to watersheds in the state now ready to take advantage of program and on anyone watershed such as East Fork, the assistance to go to that portion of the watershed first meeting such requirements as land treatment, easement and right-of-way necessary to starting structure, channel improvement, critical area work etc.

Brown Tucker reports that land owners on Clear Creek in West Fork have already met and agreed to easements and right-of-way for large structures being planned for Clear Creek. I think it is a good example of people taking the initiative in the watershed program.

Prospecting For Gold In Canadian Comeback Is Told

By NORMAN M. MacLEOD

United Press International
OTTAWA — (UPI) — After a period of temporary eclipse by oil and uranium, gold is once more winning the spotlight in the drama of prospecting for minerals in Canada.

Center of the revival of interest in gold is the Sub-Arctic region of the Northwest Territories. Recent discoveries by prospectors on the shores of Great Slave Lake have sparked a flurry in prospecting which some mining sources are predicting will equal the famed Klondike gold rush of more than 50 years ago.

The new strike is close to the Yellowknife area where four producing gold mines already are operating. One of them — Giant Yellowknife — is Canada's fourth largest gold mine.

While officials of the Federal Department of Mines admit that the Great Slave Lake area discoveries are extremely interesting, they are cautious about predicting a rush of prospectors on a Klondike scale.

For one thing, they point out that prospecting has emerged from the days of the individual miner with his pack mule and his pick and shovel and has become big business. Large mining companies already are operating in the Great Slave Lake area, securing a head start of several months on the individual prospector who must wait for the spring thaw.

Several factors are cited by government officials as responsible for the revival of interest in gold mining in Canada. At the base is the fact that the oil and uranium developments, which at the close of World War II had the greatest attraction for mining capital, are now paying off and beginning to return the funds invested in them.

As a result, capital is available once more on a large scale for promising gold mining ventures. In addition, gold mining costs have undergone favorable changes over the past few years. Cheaper air freight rates from the northern wilds where the metal is mined, coupled with technical advances which have lowered mining costs, have helped to make the production of gold once more profitable on average grade ore.

And while costs in the industry have been coming down, the market for the yellow metal has been remarkably stable. The Canadian equivalent of 35 United States dollars an ounce.

Gold in the Great Slave Lake area actually was discovered back in 1948. But at that time mining costs were high, air communications were difficult and expensive, and the future of the demand for gold appeared uncertain.

As a result, the Great Slave Lake gold finds occasioned only a passing interest with development capital pouring instead into the oil and uranium industries. Now, once again, its gold's turn.

AA Helps DC To Rehabilitate Drunks

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — A man who has been arrested 386 times for being drunk reported proudly to his parole officer recently that he had been sober so long he had to get his hair cut in a regular barbershop.

It was the first time in 30 years, he said, that he had had a haircut outside a jail.

This man, whose sobriety has been maintained now for what is to him the unbelievably long period of more than a month, is one of the "alumni" of a new alcoholic rehabilitation program in the District of Columbia.

It is operated by the municipal courts on the tried-and-proven principles of Alcoholics Anonymous.

"Without AA," says probation director Robert J. Conner, "we'd have nothing to work with."

Officials estimate that the rehabilitation program saved local

Mrs. Jerrell Bristow Hays McCallion, and Mrs. and Mrs. Clay Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Tyner Noel and family had as their Sunday guests Tyner's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Noel, and his parents Mr. and Mrs. Ledge Noel of Cadiz.

taxpayers about $260,000 last year. Here's how they arrived at that figure:

In the past, "repeater" drunks have spent, on the average, three 30-day terms in the District penal farm each year.

It cost the taxpayers $2.85 per man-day to keep them there.

Last year, 2,719 of these repeaters were selected as possible candidates for rehabilitation. They were taken out of jail after five days of drying out, and were put on probation for participation in the AA-style rehabilitation program.

Fewer than half of them—about 45 per cent, to be precise—were arrested again for drunkenness.

Court officials say that the other 55 per cent—had they not been rehabilitated—would have an aggregate of 90,000 additional days in jail last year.

Local courts have worked with AA-style rehabilitation for years, but they had only one overworked parole officer to supervise the program. The break-through came in September, 1958, when Congress voted an additional $28,800 for parole officers' salaries.

Conner set up a five-man unit, headed by Edward W. Soden, a veteran parole officer. Two of the men are AA members who haven't had a drink for years.

The key to their success admittedly lies in screening the men who have a chance to straighten out.

"Nobody can do that but some-

Conner says.

Britain's 'Unknown General'

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. — (UPI) — Britain's "Unknown general" of the War of 1812 finally achieved recognition here 147 years after he helped turn back and American "invasion" of Canada.

A plaque was dedicated in honor of Sir Roger Hale Sheaffe, who took command after Gen. Sir Isaac Brock, commander of British forces in North America, was mortally wounded on Oct. 13, 1812.

SOME PEOPLE HAVE TO GET UP IN THE NIGHT—An unidentified man clad only in his nightshirt rushes out door of a midtown New York house as a mattress burns furiously under a window ledge. A police patrol saw the fire, turned in an alarm and routed out other occupants of the house. No injuries, but this guy's sleep sure was disturbed.
