One of Murray's most popular young couples was united in Marriage here Wednesday night, last week, when Miss Fay Wall and Mr. T. Sledd, Jr., Thoroughbred football star, were married.

The only attendants at the ceremony were Miss Edna Risenhoover, the maid of honor, and Mr. Harlan Brodie, captain-elect of the 1930 Thoroughbreds, who was best man.

A survey for a state highway from Murray through Concord and on to the Tennessee line, connecting with the highway bridge now under construction across the Tennessee River just below the Calloway line.

The years have been long and happy, life has been peaceful and full of service for two venerable Murray citizens, who will, next Monday, celebrate their fiftieth wedding anniversary. No couple in Calloway County is better known than they: Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Diuguid.

Averaging $14.18 on opening day Tuesday and $11.97 on mostly inferior leaf Wednesday, with few rejections marring either day's sales, the Murray Tobacco Market got off to an auspicious start this season.

Murray's new council, which will serve for the ensuing two years, was sworn into office at the City Hall Monday afternoon by Judge W. W. Baker. The new council is composed of Dr. W. H. Graves, J. K. Farmer, H. C. Broach, Henry Elliott, J. K. Strader and Jesse Wal-

FENTON'S FIRESTONE

Don Carter Reigns As Bowling King

CHICAGO (AP) — Deliberate Don Carter reigned as "world" bowling champ for the second time in three years today by virtue of the rallying power that won him the world's invitational match game bowling championships.

Carter staged a heated finish Friday night by rolling 320.32 Petersen points to the 316.27 for Detroit's hard-challenging Bill Gombiewski.

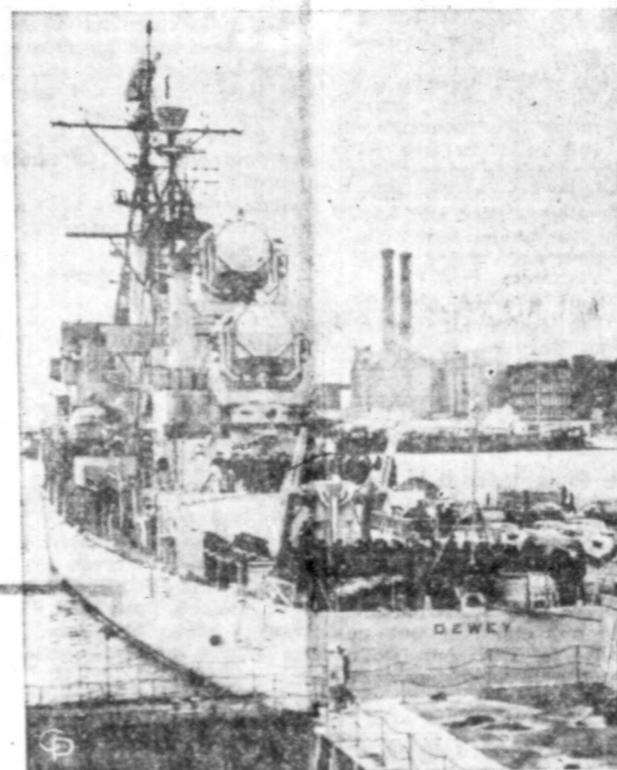

Oleg Gloor of Chicago rolled past Donna Zimmerman of Akron, Ohio, in the final round, with 149.02 Petersen points to the runner-up 145.41, to take the women's "world" title.

Carter set a new record for the three-year history of the tournament by totaling 14,107 pins and received the $5,000 winner's share of the purse for men while Gombiewski and Mrs. Gloor got $2,500 apiece for the men's runner-up and the women's championship shares.

Carter bounced back from a second-place finish in the tournament last year, was not himself at the start of the final round this season but shook the poor start and closed fast on the leaders Friday and Thursday.

NEW ALTITUDE RECORD—Comdr. Lawrence E. Flint, Jr., 29, Berkeley, W. Va., climbs down from his McDonnell F4H Phantom II jet plane in Los Angeles after setting a new altitude record of 93,560 feet over Edwards Air Force Base, Calif. The record beats the 94,658-foot mark set by a Soviet flier last summer. The record is not official.

MISSILE DESTROYER COMMISSIONED—The U. S. Navy's first guided missile destroyer, the U.S.S. Dewey, rests at dock of Boston Naval Shipyard during commissioning ceremonies. Armament includes latest in anti-submarine weapons. Guided missiles are the ASROC and Terrier III, to repel air attack. Two missiles can be seen pointing skyward.

SUNUP — The Japanese flag flies over University High school in Santa Monica, Calif., where it was hoisted by students in protest against removal of a Japanese-American from senior class office. The students pleaded with the photographer to skip the photo because "it would look bad for the school." He wouldn't, so while he was making this photo, students flattened one of his tires.

SPORTS PARADE

By OSCAR FRALEY

United Press International SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Fearless Fraley's facts and figures: Marchie Schwartz, the one-time Notre Dame star and Stanford coach, is a fit and successful construction and real estate man in San Francisco and glad to have left the rigors of football behind him.

Marchie took over at Stanford in 1946 after war and had a winning season. But he went for nine losses without winning a game in 1947, observing sadly: "Well, you can't win 'em all." He hung on three more years but in 1950, after a season in which in his last two games he lost to Army and tied California he had it. Marchie, a broader who locked himself up incommunicado after defeat, led the West to victory in the East-West Shrine game and quit a winner.

With the 100th anniversary of the British Open coming up next year, a movement was started at the recent Ryder Cup matches to have the Professional Golfers Association send former American winners and the top 10 tournament professionals over for the big event.

When the PGA holds its annual meeting at Clearwater, Fla., it is going to be asked to foot the bill for such winners as Gene Sarazen, Tommy Armour, Walker Hagan, Ben Hogan, Jack Hutchinson and Sam Snead - as well as the top 10 players of today. Snead will may qualify on both counts. . . . The only fly in the British-U. S. ointment is a feeling among our professionals that the British should qualify the winner of the U. S. Open championship automatically instead of making him play qualifying rounds.

Everyone Wearing Bandages. There is a great deal of drum beating on the West Coast for Dick Bass of College of Pacific and quarterback Bob Schiroff of Washington.

Bass has been handicapped all season by a pulled leg muscle but coach Jack Myers insists that it isn't chrome and that Bass, "one of the greatest I've ever seen," will be a natural in pro football.

Woman Bowler Rolls 300 Game

CHICAGO (AP) — Sylvia Wene of Philadelphia today rolled a 300 game in the World Invitational bowling tournament, the first in the tournament's three-year history to be accomplished by a woman. She was bowling in the 14th round of the women's division. Her perfect game followed one of 139. It was only the second time in the three years of the world's invitational that a perfect game has been recorded. Only six days ago, Lou Franz, Louisville, Ky., rolled the first 300 game in the tournament's records.

CLERGYMEN DISAGREE ON BIRTH CONTROL — Disagreement on the U. S. role in birth control comes from two clergymen: In Milwaukee, Wis., Bishop Arthur Lehtenberger (left), presiding bishop of the Episcopal church, argues that the U. S. has every right to embark on a program of helping other nations with birth control problems. In St. Louis, Mo., the Rev. Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, head of the National Council of Churches, says he does not believe the government should be involved in providing birth control information to underdeveloped nations.

NEW NAME FOR THEATER
NEW YORK (AP) — The Broadway playhouse recently rededicated the Eugene O'Neill Theater to honor the late playwright formerly was the Coronet and before that it was the Forrest. The original name was in memory of the 19th century American tragedian, Edwin Forrest.

AT PAYOLA PROBE—Singer Eileen Rogers (top) leaves the New York District Attorney's office after being questioned about her appearance on radio and TV shows conducted by disk-jockey Alan Freed. She denied having ever given any "payola" to Freed. She said that she was paid for her appearances on the disk-jockey's show. Singer Bobby Darin (bottom), current idol of the teen-agers, was also questioned about his appearance on Alan Freed's programs.

THE BEST CHRISTMAS OF ALL

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Mommy said that this year I could help trim the tree, if I'd be very careful. The ornaments are so shiny and bright, and it's such fun to decide where to put them.

Mommy let me help fix our little crèche, too. I put in the figure of the Christ Child and He looked so pretty... all sort of pink and gold.

We fixed the crèche first because Mommy said that we must always remember that Christmas is, first of all, the Christ Child's birthday. When we finish trimming the tree, Mommy is going to read us the story about the first Christmas... about the shepherds and the angels... about the Wise Men and their star... about the little Jesus, born in Bethlehem, in a manger.

Mommy's told me the story before but she says that this year I'm big enough to stay up with the rest and hear her read it. And, of course, we'll go to Church, and Mommy says I can carry my fur muff.

I think this is going to be the best Christmas I've ever had!

dishwasher... declaration of independence

Down with dishwashing by hand — up with extra time to relax. That's the kind of independence your dishwasher declares for you.

And it gets dishes, pots, pans so sparkling clean — much cleaner than you can get them with the old dishpan method.

This freedom-giver comes in portables (you roll these right up to your sink's faucet) and models for permanent installation in your sink area. One is certain to fit your dishwashing needs.

See your electric dealer for your dishwasher now — for your declaration of independence from dishwashing forever!

Murray Electric System

SURPRISE the family this Christmas with the most useful gift of all — the Smith-Corona SILENT-SUPER portable typewriter. Four models to choose from, five decorator colors. Full-size keyboard, Page Gage, and a host of other features. Come in for a demonstration today!

Corn Crib Details Need To Be Watched

LEXINGTON, KY. — Most harvested ear corn in Kentucky is stored in reasonably useful and time-honored cribs says the UK Cooperative Extension Service agricultural engineering department.

But certain rules should be followed in crib construction, to make them easily ventilated, and rodent and bird-proof. These rules are particularly important this year when a record corn crop — most of which must be stored on farms — is expected in Kentucky.

Here are some rules to keep in mind:

Clean out and spray cribs three weeks before harvest with a recommended cleaning agent and insecticide; see the county agent for particulars.

Cribs can be made rectangular, square, or round, with sides slatted to get more natural air circulation. Keep these cribs eight feet wide or less; if wider, plan for artificial drying methods. Locate cribs for convenience in filling and unloading; use a well-drained site away from other buildings to assure dryness and natural ventilation. Form concrete floor eight inches above the outside, natural grade; a layer of plastic or rolled roofing (with joints sealed) under this floor will help prevent dampness. Leave wooden floors start 12 to 18 inches above ground to get circulation.

Wire mesh and pole cribs, perforated metal cribs, open building type cribs, and concrete stave cribs are useful. If wire mesh, the diameter should not be more than 1/4 inch, more than 14 feet, plan for artificial drying methods.

The engineering department at Lexington and county agents have plans for corn cribs.

Voter Is Explained For Cotton

Just what is meant by "eligible voters" in the upcoming referendum on 1959-crop upland cotton marketing quotas was explained today by H. B. Fulton, Chairman, Calloway County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

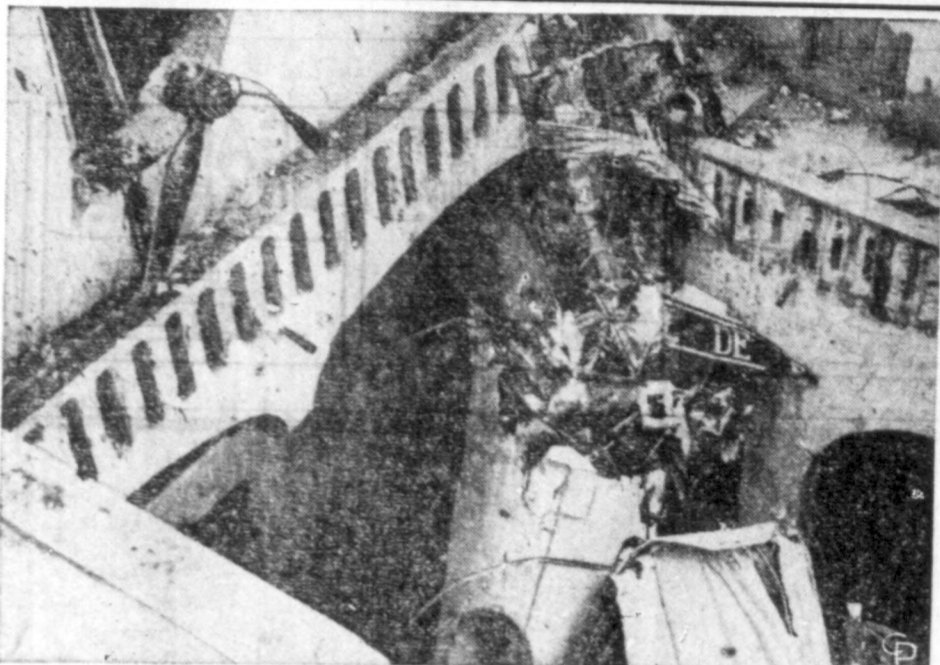

Generally speaking, anyone who is engaged in the production of upland cotton in 1959 is eligible to vote in the Dec. 15 referendum," the Chairman declared. "This would include all persons — whether owner-operator, cash rent, share tenant or share-cropper — who had an interest in the 1959 upland cotton crop.

"It would also include a farmer whose cotton allotment acreage was included in the Soil Bank's 1959 Conservation Reserve program, or a person whose 1959 farm cotton allotment was regarded as planted under program provisions.

"A person may also qualify to vote as a guardian, administrator, executor or trustee for another person. In such a case, however, the person for whom he is acting may not also vote.

"Each person's right to vote depends upon his or her own individual qualifications," Mr. Fulton concluded.

Any question about eligibility to vote in the Dec. 15 referendum on 1959-crop upland cotton marketing quotas should be referred to the local County ASC office.

C-47 'LANDS' ON APARTMENT—Parts of the fuselage and engine of the two-engine C-47 which struck a Pueblo, Mexico, apartment building can be seen dangling from the wreckage of the crash caused. The plane was flying from Mexico City to Merida, and was a National Electricity commission craft. Seven of its eight occupants were killed.

Eligibility Requirements Are Changed

Price-support eligibility requirements for 1959-crop corn have been changed to increase the maximum permitted moisture-content by one-half of 1 percent, according to H. B. Fulton, Chairman, of the Calloway County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

This is the approximate effect of the change in the basic method of determining the moisture-content of corn under the new U. S. Grain Standards, revised this year. The revised standards became effective October 1, 1959.

To be eligible for farm-storage loans under the revised eligibility requirements, 1959-crop ear corn must have a moisture-content not in excess of 21.0 percent through Feb. 1960, 19.5 percent during April 1960 and 16 percent during May 1960. Maximum permitted moisture-content is changed from 15.5 to 14.0 percent for shelled corn under farm-storage loans and for corn in approved warehouse.

Further information about price-support loans on corn and other crops may be obtained from the County ASC Office.

Tobacco Loan Rate Is Announced

Schedules of loan rates for the 1959 crops of burley, fire-cured and dark air-cured tobacco have now been announced, according to word received at the Calloway County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Office.

The grade rates for burley, based on an average loan level of 37.2 cents per pound, range from 24 to 72 cents. Fire-cured rates, based on an average of 28.5 cents per pound, range from 12 to 64 cents. Rates for dark air-cure range from 20 to 52 cents.

Price support will be made available to cooperating growers through farmers cooperative associations, which will utilize the services and facilities of auction warehouses and seed-packing firms.

Feeder Calf Sales Twice 1958 Total

LEXINGTON, KY. — Kentucky Feeder calf sales for 1959 accounted for 15,333 animals sold, nearly double the total for 1958 sales.

So says Zack Sautley, UK Cooperative Extension Service marketing specialist, who worked with the Kentucky feeder calf sales on the project.

The 15,333 calves sold averaged $26.43 a hundredweight, Sautley said, and the calves averaged 487 pounds weight.

He noted this year's average per hundredweight price was slightly under the 1958 figure but attributed the drop to a somewhat weaker cattle market.

Total receipts for the calves was $1,981,275, an increase of more than $90,000 over 1958. Cattle sold this year graded higher generally than those in 1958.

Pre-sale inspections were held, and quality standards were eliminated. The calves were put into one of three grades and penned according to weight, grade, breed and sex. In many sales, horned and polled calves were sold separately from dehorned; the latter generally brought higher prices, Sautley said, and several sales offered combined and polled cattle.

Marketing calves of similar quality and weight helped buyers get lots of desired size, and generally the larger pens of uniformly sorted calves brought more money.

Sales were held at Albany, Russellville, Q. F. Hartung, London, Shenandoah, Somerset, Campbellsville, Burkesville, Mayesville, Lexington, Danville, Leitchfield, Springfield, Burns, Lebanon and Ligonville.

Most of the calves were purchased by out-of-state buyers, Sautley said, indicating the growing value of organized feeder calf sales for Kentucky farmers.

Responsibility Of Grower Is Listed

H. B. Fulton of the Calloway County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation committee today reminded tobacco growers of their responsibilities in the handling and use of their marketing cards during the current tobacco marketing season.

The growers' chief responsibilities, Mr. Fulton said, are as follows:

1. The marketing card must be used to identify all tobacco marketed from the farm for which it was issued.
2. The marketing card must not be left in the possession of the buyer.
3. The marketing card must be returned to the ASC county office when all tobacco from the farm has been marketed or when all memorandums in the card have been used.
4. All farmers must return their marketing cards to the county ASC office within 30 days after the close of the markets in their area.

By observing these responsibilities, Mr. Fulton points out, farmers help to assure fair treatment for all in the marketing of tobacco under the acreage allotment and marketing quota program.

Rat Poison Needs Time To Do Job

LEXINGTON, KY. — Anticoagulant rat and mouse poisons, used to protect grain bins, etc. from these rodents, need time to do the job.

Anticoagulants are materials which prevent clotting of blood; when absorbed by rodents they are usually fatal to the rats or mice.

B. R. Truitt, U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service rodent control specialist working with the UK Cooperative Extension Service, says: "Don't be discouraged if you can't find any signs within a few days that the baits are working effectively. They are slow compared to old-fashioned violent poisons. But they are more effective because of their slow-killing action."

Truitt said rats get alarmed when violent, quick-acting poisons kill off a number of rats quickly. Remaining rats get suspicious and feed with more caution, he says. But with the anticoagulants, their fears are not aroused because of the slow action; they feed without fear.

Anticoagulants can be purchased under a variety of trade names. Truitt points out they can be bought mixed or you can mix them yourself. Put baits where rats can find something to eat, he says; make entrances to the covered bait station large enough for rats but too small for cats or children. Keep the stations well supplied with poison bait and poison water. Water contains the anticoagulant poisons.

Bridal Party Given Honoring Miss Alice Marie Morton Here

Miss Alice Marie Morton, bride-elect of Billie Roy Mayfield, was honored with a bridal shower Monday evening at the Murray Electric building. Hostesses were Mesdames Vernon Coburn, Harold Hopkins, Hayden Rickman, Elizabeth Cutbey, Cletus Hubbs and Herman Lovins.

Miss Morton chose from her trousseau a royal blue dress. She was presented a corsage of white carnations by the hostesses. Both Mrs. Morton, the honoree's mother, and Mrs. Ernest Mayfield, the groom's mother, were given corsages.

A mint green cloth covered the refreshment table, which was centered with an arrangement of tall candles wreathed with eggplants and covered with pink snow. Two small pink Christmas trees were placed on each side.

Pink, mint green and white cakes, punch and a party mix were served by Mrs. W. J. Lovins and Gladys McNutt assisted with the serving. Mrs. Hayden Rickman kept the register. Sixty-five guests attended and sent gifts.

Tips On How To Modernize Fireplace

LEXINGTON, KY. — A fireplace adds warmth and beauty to any room, but it can also make a room look out-of-date. Kathryn Sebree, UK Extension specialist in home furnishings, offers some tips for bringing you can use one or more of these suggestions to improve the appearance of your rooms.

The fireplace could be painted the same color as the walls to help make the room look larger; or you might paint it white like the woodwork.

If there are high shelves or a mirror above the mantel, removing them will give a more modern look. Use care in choosing things to hang above the mantel; many small pictures and objects grouped above or on the mantel may give a cluttered look. One large painting above the mantel can set the theme for the entire room.

Do you really need a mantel? Why not remove the mantel ledge and have a floor-to-ceiling fireplace wall of birch or rustic stone? This adds height to a low-ceiling room and makes a striking center of interest.

When the fireplace isn't being used for heat, close up the chimney and leave the fireplace open. Place birch logs or similar ones in it; these are pretty and give your home a friendly touch.

With modern or Early American furnishings, consider painting the wall around the fireplace in pine, birch or some other wood. If this wall has tiny windows, you might remove them and close the wall, building bookshelves on either side of the fireplace.

Plan to have useful and interesting fireplace accessories, such as a basket or container for firewood and kindling and tools which are helpful in making and caring for the fire.

MAMIGO
The Exciting New Novel by W. R. Burnett, The Man Who Works Little Caesar

NATTY BUGWORTH his brown coat and the long fringe on his buckskin coat flying burst into the park like a charging bull scattering goats, chickens and broods yelling, "Where is he? The Soldier? Where is he?"

It was evening, with a misty dark-blue sky arching over the big desert town of Agua Prieta; and at Salzedo's the supper fires were roaring, smoke was rising from the well-known three chimneys, men were singing in the long bar, and lights were springing on all over this bewildering warren, this haphazard collection of one-story adobe buildings, which was part hostelry, part dancehall, and part saloon.

Salzedo's! — the oasis, the Paradise, of Army scouts on leave, visiting rancheros and officials, prospectors who'd hit it rich, and even a sprinkling of intrepid tourists who arrived by train and stagecoach from the big resort town to the north, San Geronimo.

Natty, still roaring, grabbed a breed boy and shook him. "Fetch my horse, mules, and I left em out in front. I just heard the Soldier was here. Where is he?"

The breed boy could understand English only when it was pidgin spoken slowly. He shrugged, rolling his eyes in fear as six foot three or maybe more, and who with his long, thin neck beard, fringed buckskin coat and wolf-pelt cap, resembled a mountain bear more closely in the falling twilight than he did a man.

Natty shook the breed boy gently, he thought—and roared out another string of questions.

"Get little Luis Salzedo, proprietor, appeared suddenly from the dark passageway at the side of the kitchen, carrying a shotgun across his stomach.

"Hey! Hey!" he cried. "You let loose the boy. What is the matter?"

Natty let the boy go at once, and cried: "Luis! It's me—Natty Bugworth. Where is the Soldier?"

The boy ran to the shelter of a shed like a frightened chicken and Luis lowered the shotgun and laughed. "You make so much noise, Natty. Some day you'll be shot. Sergeant Despartes is having his supper. In the long bar. Right through here."

"I know, I know," said Natty, chuckling to himself. "I been away a long time, but I don't forget Salzedo's." He put his arm familiarly around Luis's shoulder. "You got room for me?"

"You friend of the Sergeant, so I make room," said Luis about him of complete nervousness, and repose. Men always recognized his quality at once. He was seldom trifled with.

"What's this I hear about you leaving?" Natty demanded. The Sergeant nodded. "Right after supper. Got to get back to the Camp."

"You on leave?"

"Is it up?"

"No, I got three days more." Natty roared and pounded on the table. "Well then... Soldier, I'm going to spend it all. You can't go back!"

The breed girl returned with the bottle and Natty patted her. The girl giggled, showed her teeth, and left.

Natty put his head on one side and studied the Sergeant in silence for a moment. "You're a-going to stay, ain't you?" he asked anxiously, at last.

"No," said the Sergeant. "I've had enough. I've been looking forward to this furlough for a long time. But I got fed up in pretty short order. Must be getting old."

"Old!" cried Natty, outraged. "Why, you're five years younger than me! I remember right, soldier, remember them days at Apache Rock? How long ago was that? Fifteen years or better? Was it really that long ago? Remember that wonderful drunk we had when them ex-Red soldiers got to shooting at us just for the hell of it? And that redhead that lost her petticoat right in the middle of the street in broad daylight—with the parson passing along? Hell, soldier, you just can't go and leave me here with a thousand dollars, all alone."

"I'm going back. You want to come along?"

"To that Godforsaken town on the mesa, and get woke up every morning by a bugle in my ear? Remember that wonderful drunk we had when them ex-Red soldiers got to shooting at us just for the hell of it? And that redhead that lost her petticoat right in the middle of the street in broad daylight—with the parson passing along? Hell, soldier, you just can't go and leave me here with a thousand dollars, all alone."

Restorer Of Life Must Be Trained
By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor
NEW YORK (AP) — Because any physician may come upon an opportunity to restore life to the "technically dead," all of them should give thought to what they would do if they were confronted with such an emergency. This is the view of Prof. Hamilton Southworth of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, New York, an accepted scientific authority on resuscitation.

A person "technically dead" is one in whom breathing and heart action have ceased although lungs and heart are mechanically sound. The time between technical death and utterly unchangeable death is very short.

Therefore, a would-be restorer of life has to act quickly. Only a physician could undertake it. This is the view of Prof. Hamilton Southworth of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, New York, an accepted scientific authority on resuscitation.

Obviously, one would not wish to resuscitate a patient who has a hopeless prognosis.

Southworth said every physician should think out all these problems before he was confronted with an opportunity to reverse "technical death." And it would be wise for every physician to familiarize himself with the proper ways of massaging a stopped heart.

It's OK To Let Pop Do The Cooking

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
NEW YORK (AP) — Blessings on Mrs. Emmie Berg, a food authority from Sweden. And would that American cooking experts copied. Mrs. Berg feels that if the man of the house wants to cook, let him learn how to market as well as how to mess 'em kitchen; teach him menu planning to get him off a steak and french fries diet. And above all, turn out an amateur chef who is professional enough to prepare the whole meal from soup to nuts.

Mrs. Berg, a tall, sparely built woman of 55, teaches cooking as part of an adult education program at the university of Gothenburg. One course is for women only; one for men only; and a third, an advanced course, mixes the sexes and gives them instruction in elaborate dishes, French-style.

The men, some married, some single, attend school three hours a week, one night a week for eight weeks.

Final Exam—Full Meal
They learn basic preparation of at least eight dishes — how to make an omelet, how to prepare hot sandwiches which are a Swedish specialty, preparation of main-dish casseroles using beef, chicken, veal or pork; how to make Sweden's famous beef a la lindstrom which is a fried mixture of chopped beef, chopped beets, and capers; and deserts from cookies to custard.

Their final exam is the preparation of a full meal for which they did all the menu details and marketing.

Pop is a man's biggest stumbling block," said Mrs. Berg. "Men have trouble with the right cuts of beef, the right fish. They also find it difficult to get everything to come out at the right time."

Mrs. Berg chose not to generalize on which sex produced the better cooks. "Men are quick in the kitchen," she said, "and some develop into excellent cooks. Denmark usually do, for some reason. So do men with sailing experience."

Has Envyable Background
Mrs. Berg, now in the United States for four weeks of lectures on food, has an enviable background in culinary arts.

She trained to be a nurse, but switched to a Frenchman — now an official of the Swedish-American Line — changed her career. "You know how the French love food," she said in an interview.

Her early training was as an apprentice in some of the finest restaurants and hotel kitchens in Europe. She is a graduate of the Cordon Bleu in Paris, has taught at the Au Bon Gout Cooking School in Paris, and has written several cookbooks and acts as consultant to the food industries.

Down Concord Way

As the Christmas season draws near again we should especially rejoice that in America there is peace at least freedom from wars, and long may we enjoy this peace.

As at every Christmas time there will be sad hearts, some made so by the chairs left vacant during the past year.

Only last week our rural churches here lost two faithful members, Sulphur Spring lost Mrs. Eudis Strader Lax, she was at Sunday School one Sunday and in her grave by the next.

At Carmel church lost Mr. Bill Bucy and the last Sunday we attended that church we noticed that several seats have been left vacant in the last few years.

Then this week while Buchanan teachers were practicing carols at the school, one little was called from school because his father, 38 year old Garvys Williams, popular owner of Lakeview Cafe near Paris Learning Park, had had of heart trouble in Vanderbilt Hospital. He had attended a ball game at the school just a few evenings before.

So as the Christmas holidays near, may we all be aware that this sacred occasion should be a time of charity, love and forgiveness, and for many will be the last.

For those whose families are complete, it is always a time of Thanksgiving and reunion. It is indeed unusual when families never let years nor circumstances weaken their affection for each other.

Last Sunday Mrs. Ed Lovins, a shutin the past three years was visited as she often is by her six brothers the oldest almost 90 and still driving an old car.

Dr. Miller one of the best country doctors will be missed by those who have depended on him so long.

Oh, why should the spirit of Mornal be proud? Like a swift flying mesoor, a fast fleeting cloud,

A flash of the lightning, a break of the wave,

Man passes from life to his rest in the grave.

'Tis the wink of an eye, the draught of a breath,

From the glided salon to the paleness of death,

Goodies to Give

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

BAKING and making goodies to give for Christmas presents? Here are a few tips on storing and gift-wrapping your holiday treats:

Roll and sliced cookie doughs can be prepared in advance if wrapped in aluminum foil and stored in refrigerator or freezer. Drop doughs, wrapped in foil, may also be stored several days in the refrigerator.

Storing Baked Goods

Baked cookies or fruit cakes can be stored in a big sheet of foil. If a large quantity of cookies is to be stored, make more than one layer, separating layers with double thickness of foil. Bring outside wrap up over cookies and seal tightly with double folds on all edges. Store in cool, dry place or freeze.

As for goodie recipes, the following are extra-special:

Macadamia Nut Delights: Cream 1/2 c. butter and add 1 c. sugar gradually. Cream well. Add 2 egg yolks, 1 at a time, beating well after each addition. Add 1/2 tsp. lemon extract, 1/2 tsp. almond extract and 2 tsp. milk.

Sift together the following: 2 c. all-purpose flour, 1 tsp.

Nat'l. Biscuit Co. COCONUT-TOPPED goodies are cut in squares. They're made with chopped dates, now available in handy packages.

baking powder and 1/2 tsp. salt. Add 2 c. finely chopped Hawaiian macadamia nuts to creamed mixture together with dry ingredients.

Make Balls
Shape into balls using 1 tsp. of dough to each ball. Dip in 1 unbeaten egg white and roll in finely chopped Hawaiian macadamia nuts.

Bake at 350° F. for about 15 min. Makes 8 doz.

Date Squares: Over hot water, melt 2 pkg. semi-sweet chocolate pieces. Add 1 (7 1/2 oz.) pkg. chopped dates, 1/2 c. condensed milk and 1 tsp. orange juice.

Spread in waxed paper-lined pan about 10 by 5 by 3 in. Sprinkle 1/4 c. flaked coconut over top, if desired. Chill, then cut in squares.

Fruit Cake Confections: Plump up 1 1/2 c. white raisins and 1 c. currants by steaming for 5 min.

Slice and cut up 1 1/2 c. seeded raisins, 1 c. dates, 3 c. lemon and orange peel, candied pineapple and cherries, mixed, and 1 c. citron.

Break 1 1/2 c. nut meats into small pieces. Cream 1 c. soft shortening. Add 2 c. brown sugar and cream until light.

Beat Until Fluffy
Add 4 beaten eggs and beat until light and fluffy.

Mix and sift 3 c. sifted all-purpose flour, 1 tsp. soda, 1 tsp. salt, 1 tsp. each nutmeg and cinnamon, 1/2 tsp. each mace and cloves. Add to creamed mixture alternately with 1 c. tart jelly or molasses and coffee mixed. Fold in fruit.

Fill small party cupcake tins almost full. Decorate each with candied cherry half.

Bake in 325° F. oven for 1 hr. Cover surfaces of pans with sheet of aluminum foil if there is any sign of over-browning of cakes.

Let Cakes Cool
Remove from pans when slightly cooled. Let cool thoroughly.

When ready to gift-wrap, wrap individually in squares of aluminum foil.

This recipe makes 40 to 50 small confections and may also be used to make a loaf cake. If used for loaf, make in aluminum foil-lined pan in slow oven, 325° F., for 2 1/2 to 3 hrs.

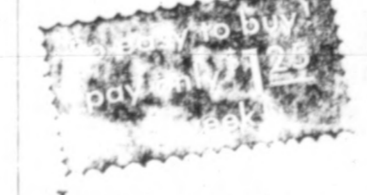

Reynolds Wrap ALUMINUM FOIL keeps fruit cake confections fresh. The foil comes in variety of colors on junior-size rolls.
