422 Die So Far In Long Holiday

By United Press International
With the quiet of Christmas Eve at hand, Americans were on the way to celebrating their safest Christmas holiday period on record.

The National Safety Council has estimated between 650 and 750 persons would die in traffic accidents during the 102-hour holiday period from 6 p. m. Friday until midnight Tuesday.

If the present trend holds, said Howard Fyle, president of the safety council, the total would be as low as 550. This would be the safest Christmas holiday on record based on miles driven and cars on the road.

The council has been keeping records for 26 years.

At 9:30 a. m. (EST) United Press International had counted 332 traffic deaths since the holiday period started at 6 p. m. local time Friday. In addition, 30 persons died in other accidents.

The breakdown:

Traffic 332
Fire 17
Phases 12
Miscellaneous 22
Total 383

California led the nation with 27 traffic deaths. Illinois had 27, and traffic, and state officials feared the toll might be second only to the black Christmas of 1956 when 56 persons died during a similar period.

Other states' traffic toll included 46 Texas, 24 New York, 16 Georgia, 15 Florida and Indiana 15 apiece.

$32,301 Received Locally In Aid During Last Month

FRANKFORT, Dec. — Calloway County's public assistance recipients received $32,301 in aid last month through the State Department of Economic Security, Commissioner Earle V. Powell has announced.

The needy aged received a total of $25,602 in November, families receiving aid to dependent children $3,678, the needy blind $236 and the permanently and totally disabled $3,385.

Statewide payments in November totaled nearly $5.6 million and went to more than 144,000 needy Kentuckians, Powell said.

Average payments in three of the four categories declined slightly in November after nearly all recipients received substantial increases in October.

The decreases ranged from cents in the aid to dependent children category to three cents in old age assistance. Average payments to the needy blind increased 16 cents.

Green Bay Ends Up As The Leader

NEW YORK (UP) — The Green Bay Packers wound up the season as statistical champions of the National Football League and set a new record for first downs that attested to their reputation as masters of ball-control.

Green Bay finished first in 15 categories of team statistics, according to statistics released today by NFL headquarters. The Packers, who met the Packers in the title playoff, Dec. 30, led in three categories, all on offense.

Amass 281 First Downs

During the course of the 14-game schedule, the Packers amassed an all-time high total of 281 first downs. This is clear-cut evidence of how well their methodical, ground-hugging offense controlled the ball en route to a 13-1 record. That total was three higher than the old mark set by the Los Angeles Rams during a 12-game 1950 schedule.

Here are the 10 other offensive categories in which the Packers were tops: first downs rushing 145, net yards rushing 2,490, average yards per rush 4.5, pass completion percentage 60.1, total touchdowns 53, TD's running 39, extra points 32 and total points scored 415. Fewest passes intercepted 13 and least yards on interception returns against them 122.

On defense, the Packers led in three other phases of football: fewest first downs by passing 94, the least net passing yardage allowed 1,746 and most interceptions 31.

Giants Lead In Passes

The Giants, defensive champions of 1961, did not lead in a single defensive category this season. They were tops, however, in overall net yardage gained 5,005, touchdowns passed 35 and least yardage lost attempting to pass 138.

The team passing championship went to the Philadelphia Eagles with 3,385 yards, while the Detroit Lions won the overall defense crown with a total yield of 3,217 yards, as well as the rushing defense title with a yield of 1,231 yards.

The Chicago Bears had the top pass defense percentage 48.6; the St. Louis Cardinals lost the least fumbles 21; the Bears were the most penalized team 778 yards and the Pittsburgh Steelers the least penalized 427 and the San Francisco Forty Niners won the punting championship with an average of 55.6 yards for 48 kicks.

College in 1940 and obtained his law degree from the University of Louisville in 1951.

He served with the air corps three years in World War II, much of the time in the European theatre of operations.

Previous to his election as County Judge, Miller served two terms as Calloway county attorney from 1934 to 1952.

In 1959 he was State speaker's chairman for Harry Lee Watersfield in the gubernatorial primary. He was Calloway County chairman in 1962 for Adlai Stevenson and in 1964 served in the same capacity for Albert W. Barkley in the gubernatorial race of that year.

He is married to the former Patricia Mason, whose parents were for many years practicing physicians in Calloway County.

Judge and Mrs. Miller are the parents of three children, ranging in ages from six years to nineteen years old. Judge Miller is past president of the Young Business Men's Club of Murray and is president of the Murray State College Alumni Club.

In addition to his law practice, Judge Miller operates a 160-acre farm in the Murray community. He is a member of the Murray Rotary Club.

Miller was born in 1915 in Hazel, Kentucky, a community in the southern part of Calloway county. He attended Hazel High School, graduated at Murray State.

Both infants were reported "doing well" today in hospital incubators.

CHRISTMAS DANCE

A combo, The Shifters, will play. A member may invite one guest.

WHAT THE ARGUMENT'S ABOUT — This is that Skyout, mounted under a plane and being fired, that's causing all that international argument between the U.S. and Britain. The Pentagon says we don't need it and why spend any more on it and Britain says it's the big nuclear war deterrent for British bombs. Britain has paid about 8 per cent of the cost of development of the Skyout.

Guard Scott Schneider went into the Kansas State Game with a 16.0 average and an injured ankle and came out with no points and the same injured ankle.

Jim Jennings, who is thought by many to be an All-American candidate, picked up 21 points against the Hornets, but near the end of the contest was firing from way outside, bringing the ball down by himself and sometimes losing it in attempt to score, and passing off rarely.

Basketball honors are given usually on the basis of all-round play, not just on scoring. While the big center can hit the nets and, likewise, the boards, his defense and passing are not outstanding.

"You are now a part of MSC," he stated, "so whatever profession you choose, be proud of America and be proud of MSC."

Well, after six games the Racers compiled a 5-1 record, losing only to Bradley by a lone point. In a close game, such as the Bradley game, it's easy to look back and say that a missed shot, or a floor mistake of some kind lost the game. In fact, some fans can even pick out a bad call by the referee as the reason for the defeat.

Bill Bowen, College News reporter, came across a poem by an unknown author that pretty well expresses the sentiments of many fans, players, and coaches toward the legion of officials who always seem to be at fault, especially when the home team loses.

It goes like this: I think I shall never see A satisfactory referee, About whose head a halo shines, Whose merit rates a reporter's lines.

One who calls them as they are.

And not as I would wish by far. Agent who leans not either way, But lets the boys decide the play. A man who knows the rules by heart And uses judgement from the start.

Poems are made by fools like me, But only God could referee.

Calloway Christmas Tournament Features Well Balanced Field; Play Opens Wednesday Night

The second annual Calloway County Christmas basketball tournament will get underway at Jeffrey gym Wednesday night with schools participating from three of the four districts in Region One.

With a well balanced field, a good draw and no tournament at Mayfield this year, the Calloway classic is expected to draw large crowds from the opening night thru the closing session.

Jeffrey gym offers excellent facilities both from the standpoint of the players and the fans. Plenty of good seats will be available for the fans of the eight schools represented in the meet.

Mayfield High School meets North Marshall Wednesday night at approximately 8:30 by a tilt between Hickman County and Wingo High School.

Play in the lower bracket begins Thursday night with host Calloway High meeting Symsonia's Rough Riders. The second game Thursday night features Fulton County and Sedalia.

An interesting feature of the four day tournament is that although teams from the First, Third, and Fourth Districts are participating none of the schools will meet in the first round.

Mayfield, Wingo, Symsonia, and Sedalia are all in District Three North Marshall and Calloway High are from the Fourth and Hickman County and Fulton County from the First.

Although Calloway, North Marshall, Sedalia and Wingo might be considered the strongest contenders in the meet on the basis of past performances any one of the eight teams might well walk away with the big trophy.

Two of Calloway's three setbacks this season have come at the hands of Wingo and Sedalia. The Lakers lost to Wingo early in the season by three points in Jeffrey gym. Sedalia took the measure of the Lakers by two points last month but the Lakers were playing on their home floor.

Hickman County lost by 10 points to Calloway here and the Lakers have yet to play Fulton County. Calloway has topped all three Marshall County Schools, day with the first tilt starting at 7 o'clock and the second 30 minutes after the completion of the first.

Officials for the tournament will be — and Calloway's timer and scorer, Carmon Parks and Holmes Ellis Jr., will work each session. Admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students for each session. North by five points, Benton by 19, and previously undefeated South Marshall by three.

Two games will be held each night Wednesday through Saturday.

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP) — Missouri, led by Bill Tobin's 77-yard touchdown run, defeated Georgia Tech, 14-10, in the Bluebonnet Bowl game.

ORLANDO, Fla. (UP) — Joe Lapey scored four touchdowns to lead the University of Houston to a 49-21 victory over Miami of Ohio in the Tangerine Bowl game.

MIAMI, Fla. (UP) — The South pulled out a 15-14 triumph over the North with 37 seconds left to play in the Shrine North-South All-Star game.

NEW YORK (UP) — Rubin (Hurricane) Carter, of Paterson, N.J., scored a unanimous decision over late substitute Holly Mills of Washington in a nationally televised middleweight bout.

HOUSTON, Tex. (UP) — Tommy Brooker's field goal provided the Dallas Texans with a 20-17 victory over the Houston Oilers and the American Football League championship in a sudden death overtime game.

Britain Still World Power Says London

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

When former Secretary of State Dean Acheson asserted that Britain's role as a great world power was "about played out," he drew a matter of debate.

From the standpoint of empire, Acheson had a point: And whether, as Prime Minister Harold Macmillan said, Acheson was misunderstanding the role of Britain and the Commonwealth, could be a matter of debate.

While Acheson may have lost most of his empire, he occasionally shows that he has a bite as well as a roar.

One such time came in swift British military reaction when the Yemen revolt threatened to spread into the Aden protectorate on the south coast of the Arabian Peninsula. Another, more recent example, came when Britain rushed troops, Gurkha troops and commandos into revolt-ridden Brunei and Sarawak on the north-west coast of Borneo, half a world away from London.

Actions Significant

True, compared with the epic stands of empire these were piddling actions.

This was not the thin red line of Rudyard Kipling, nor yet the British charge against the whirling dervishes of the Sudan as once described by war correspondent Winston Churchill.

But in a changing world Britain still has and maintains its global commitments.

Brunei, a sultanate under British protection, and Sarawak and British North Borneo, crown colonies, together make up the northern portion of the island of Borneo, the remainder of which is held by Indonesia.

At various times, both the Philippines and Indonesia have laid claim to the British-held portions.

Plans Federation

Denying the legitimacy of both claims, Britain intends that eventually North Borneo, Sarawak and Brunei shall be joined with Singapore and Malaya into a federation of Malaysia which would be an independent member of the Commonwealth of nations.

It was to prevent establishment of this federation that early this month a revolt broke out in Brunei and spread quickly to Sarawak.

Self-proclaimed leader of the revolt was a man named A. M. Azahari, leader of the dominant People's party which is aligned with pro-Communists in Singapore and reportedly receives heavy financial aid from Red China.

British-held Borneo is a conglomerate of a couple of dozen tribal or racial groups, including many Chinese, Malays and Indians as well as Dayaks, Dusuns, Bajaus and Muruts. It has Christian, Moslem, Buddhist and pagan tribal religions.

Individuals vary in social development from head-hunters to university graduates.

Rich In Oil

Oil makes Brunei the wealthiest of the Borneo territories. It has no personal income tax and interest on investments pay most of the government's expenses. There are free schools, free medical benefits and old age pensions for all.

Rebel leader Azahari, beaten this time, professes to want an autonomous Borneo state linked loosely with a Malaysian union. For the British it is a problem of accomplishing peaceful evolution in advance of violent revolution.

Eggnogs and PUNCHES Old-Fashioned Christmas

By RAYMOND A. LAJOIE

Central Press Association Correspondent

CHRISTMAS in America is a joyous time full of colorful traditions which have grown from ancient folkways and rituals—willed to us through the ages by the peoples of many lands.

Planning holiday dinners and parties with tradition-steeped fare is always more fun for the home-maker than the usual daily chores. Perhaps this is so because much of the lore connected with the Christmas to New Year's holiday celebrations takes us back to our roots.

Eggnogs and punches were first concocted in America sometime in the 17th century. From early America, in the days of tricorn hats and powdered wigs, from Boston to Charleston, each colony had its own holiday specialties, but all had one thing in common. They were laced with the settlers' favorite beverage—rum from the West Indies.

American colonists served rum eggnogs as a symbol of hospitality from Christmas through New Year's Day for their "open house" entertaining.

Eggnog stocks were split at one end with a large piece of wood inserted crosswise and used as crude egg beaters. Imagine the conveniences of housewives today!

This tedious manner of making eggnogs must have been a labor of love, especially in the South, where eggnog before dinner also was part of the daily routine.

It may be a little surprising to find flips in the "large drink" category, but for home parties and in the taverns, they were served in quantity and called "One Yard of Flannel." Three to four quarts of flip were made at a time and tossed from pitcher to pitcher, hence the intriguing name.

The New England colonists more often than not were chilled to the bone and used to plunge a red-hot poker into the flip's frothy depths for their beloved "warmer-upper."

And right into today, they are still enjoyable, hospitable Christmas cheer!

FOOTSAVING EDUCATION

by Maurice Ryan

Are you not exaggerating the problem of fitting shoes? Sometimes I think that I may be over-enthusiastic about this subject but I have a defense against such thinking. Newspapers frequently carry stories of cab drivers who pi-nch-hit creditably for doctors at the birth of a baby. "Mother and child are doing fine."

Do we exaggerate the role of the doctor in maternity cases? There probably are many instances when the doctor has little to do but can you visualize the chaos if doctors turned all maternity cases over to cab drivers or lawyers or teachers or students?

Selling shoes has always been a job to which anyone can turn when pleasant jobs are not to be had but selling shoes and being a shoemaker are as different as clerking in a drug store and being a pharmacist.
