Administrator Thanked For Hospital Visit

Hospital Administrator Bernard C. Harvey received the following nice letter from a Murray High School student in regard to a visit to the hospital by the eighth grade science class.

The letter is being printed below:

Murray High School
Murray, Kentucky
March 28, 1962

Dear Sir:

As a member of the eighth grade science class, I had the privilege of visiting the hospital. I found the laboratory extremely interesting and think that someday I would like to work in one.

Seeing the different methods of viewing a person's internal structure while in the X-ray room was very informative.

We were shown the electrocardiogram and how it operated. It was exciting while at the same time very educational.

Thank you for your time and efforts spent with us. We have profited much from the visit.

Sincerely yours,
Judy Hargis

Murray Firemen Aid Mayfield In $200,000 Fire

Murray firemen aided Mayfield firemen Saturday in a three hour long fire which threatened to sweep the heart of the Mayfield business district.

Damage was estimated at over $200,000 in the fire which consumed the old Anderson Motor Company building while two structures next to it were damaged.

The fire is thought to have started from paint and other combustible materials in the motor company building.

Friendly Finance Company, a Prudential Insurance Company of office, and a newstand were damaged in the giant conflagration.

The First National Bank Building adjoined the burning structure however it was not damaged.

Records were removed from the bank and the finance company as a safety precaution however.

The wind was blowing the blaze toward the heart of the Mayfield business district for some time and threatened two drug stores, a clothing store, a shoe shop and a printing company for some time. A sudden shift in the wind which forced the fire back into itself and a fall of almost one inch of rain alleviated the danger however.

Anderson Motor Company had just moved into a new building, fronting another street, and was using the old building for automobile storage and body shop. Five cars were removed from the building undamaged and the company wrecker, also in the building was not damaged since it was protected by a concrete floor.

Murray firemen received the call for aid and left immediately in the newest fire truck. On arrival they were directed by Mayfield firemen as to how they could best help in fighting the blaze. Mayfield has aided Murray at least one time in recent years, the most recent being the fire which burned the A & P store at Main and Third.

The fire started about 3:45 on Saturday afternoon and was finally brought under control about 6:30.

FOUR OUTSTANDING KENTUCKY 4-H MEMBERS, along with one leader, left Lexington Saturday for Washington, D.C., and National 4-H Club Conference this week. They are left to right: Sam Burke, Christian County; Janet Like, Calloway County; Charlene Richards, Warren County; Miss Helen Horton, 4-H field agent in Extension District VI (southeastern Kentucky); and James Davenport, Warren County. Two boys and two girls from each of the 50 states and Puerto Rico are attending the conference with emphasis on citizenship and leadership. The expense-free trip to National 4-H Conference is one of the highest honors awarded to 4-H members.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — Kentucky's four delegates to National 4-H Conference in Washington, D.C. last week were among the 4-Hers honored at a special ceremony at Lincoln Memorial last Tuesday night. Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy was the speaker at the ceremony which honored "new voters" among the delegates — those who have already reached voting age in their home state.

Coming from all 50 states and Puerto Rico, 201 outstanding 4-Hers attended the 32nd National Conference, April 21-27. A delegation of Canada 4-Hers also attended. Delegates are selected on the basis of their achievement, personal growth, demonstrated leadership ability, community service, and citizenship endeavors.

Attending from Kentucky were: Janet Like, Calloway county; Charlene Richards and James Davenport, both of Warren county; and Sam Burke, Christian county. Two boys and two girls from each state usually are chosen for the Conference trip, which is one of the top honors awarded to 4-H members.

The week's program centered around citizenship and leadership with a different topic stressed each day. Following the "Building on Our Heritage" social science theme, the program featured the spiritual, historical, cultural, educational, political, and economic heritage of U. S. citizens. They also heard a special speaker and saw an exhibit on the U. S. space program.

Among the speakers heard by the 4-Hers during the week were: Secretary of Agriculture, Orville L. Freeman, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, Frank J. Welch, and E. T. York, Jr., administrator of the Federal Extension Service.

Delegates also took part in discussions and toured such Washington places of interest as the Capitol Building, the Washington Monument, the National Art Gallery, the Wax Museum, and Arlington Cemetery. Among the entertainment for the delegates during the week was a concert by the National Symphony Orchestra, special parties, and the annual Clover Greeting at the Army and Navy Club, Arlington, Virginia.

Accompanying the Kentucky group was Miss Helen Horton, UK Extension 4-H field agent in District VI (southeastern Kentucky). While in Washington she attended the National 4-H Leaders Conference, which was held along with the conference for 4-H members. About 100 Extension workers from through the nation were at the conference, which had "Reaching New Audiences More Effectively" as its theme.

Clean Up To Stop Costly Fires Chief Robertson Urges

"Clean up is not just a slogan, it's a vital way to prevent fire from threatening your home and loved ones," Chief Flavil Robertson of Murray's Fire Department said today in conjunction with the beginning of the annual Clean-Up Paint-Up Fix-Up campaign which is April 25 through May 2.

Chief Robertson urges all residents to check that their homes meet these standards:

Furnace and heating system checked spring and fall.

Determine if wiring system meets today's electrical demands. (Fuses blowing often, flickering lights, appliances operating slowly are warning signals that wiring is out of date.)

Old clothes and furniture and newspapers are removed from attic, basement and garage.

Oil rags and paint - stained cloths - disposed of or kept in closed metal containers. Oil mops should be hung up so air can circulate around them.

No leaves or grass cuttings are near building foundations.

Periodic home fire drills are held with instructions on what to do should fire start from an uncontrollable cause.

"The one sure way to successfully fight a fire is before it starts. So take advantage of the current campaign and Clean Up now," Chief Robertson advised.

EL CAJON, Calif. (UPI) — A comely cow, wooed and won by a neighbor's bull, takes the spotlight in court Tuesday in the case of two lady farmers whose custody battle over the bovine carnal was almost started a range war.

The "custody battle" ended with the two women — Mrs. Hazel Copeland and Mrs. Antonia Chick — each charging the other with assault and battery.

Attorney John Brady, representing Mrs. Chickering, said the upheaval over the livestock love affair was the climax to a feud between the two women that had been simmering for some time.

A subpoena ordering the court appearance of the unnamed Hereford — describes her as a "white-faced Hereford cow with two red rings around each eye, white markings down the back of her head, white spots on back legs and forelegs and all white under-sides."

But she was not always such a model pasture pin-up.

Brady said several weeks ago the cow, unbranded, emaciated and apparently lonely, wandered

Regular Checks To Be Made On A-Troops

By RONALD M. NENSEN
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Commanders of atomic weapons units in the Air Force have been ordered to screen their personnel at least every six months to reduce the chances of an "accidental" nuclear blast.

An Air Force spokesman said a regulation ordering the screenings was issued in February. It is aimed at weeding out any mentally disturbed men who might set off an atomic weapon without orders.

The spokesman said the Air force also had banned atomic weapons duty for persons who did not graduate from high school because they are considered more prone to impulsive acts and boredom.

Similar checks will be instituted by the Army and the Navy, according to the Air Force official.

The Air Force regulation listed 31 categories of officers and airmen who must receive a clean bill of health on their mental outlook in order to keep their jobs.

The categories include fighter-interceptor pilots, missile commanders, nuclear weapons officers and even some military policemen. Thousands of men are involved.

The new regulation was accompanied by a manual called "Human Reliability," produced by the Georgetown University psychiatry department under contract to the Air Force.

The spokesman described the manual as a "basic level psychiatry course" for commanders and medical officers. It is designed to inform them of what symptoms might indicate an airman had a mental disturbance that could cause him to trigger a nuclear weapon.

Letter to the Editor

Mr. Jim Williams
Ledges and Times
103 North 4th Street
Murray, Kentucky

Dear Mr. Williams:

On behalf of the Kentucky Guild Artists and Craftsmen, we would like to let you know that the Murray visit was an outstanding success. About 3,000 individuals boarded the two-car Gallery and Demonstration areas during the stop here, from April 18-22. The response from city, county, well above the state's average. Your assistance in making possible all the many details of preparation and operation is just another evidence of the fine and cooperative spirit of this city.

Many visitors expressed the wish that we could be included on next year's schedule and some went so far as to wish to keep the Train here permanently.

We would welcome any comments or suggestions for future action. The Kentucky Guild will also be interested in your ideas.

As your local committee chairman, we to express our appreciation to you for your contribution to this cooperative effort.

Stars Of Wedding Ought To Expect Many Toastings

NEW YORK (UPI) — The first occasion for toasting the bride and bridegroom is at the engagement announcement party.

Traditionally, say etiquette experts, it is the custom for the father of the bride to offer the toast, followed by a toast from the father of the bridegroom.

The second important toasting occasion is at the bachelor dinner party given by the bridegroom for his ushers, best man and close friends.

After the bridegroom offers a toast to his bride, the stems of the glasses are broken so they may never be used for a "less honorable purpose."

The next toasting comes the night before the wedding. At the rehearsal dinner, it is traditional for the father of the bride to make the first of the many toasts which are offered.

The final toasting takes place at the couple's wedding reception. Suggested bridal toasts include:

"As unto the bow the cord is, so unto the man is woman. Though she draws him, yet she follows; unless each without the other." — Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

"Let the bells ring for you; let the angels sing for you. Let the children dance for you and let us drink to you." — Anonymous.

"To the health of the bride and groom. May they always be as porous as this wine and as constant as these good wishes, which are eternal." — Oliver Wendell Holmes.

onto his client's ranch. He said Mrs. Chickering nursed her back to health and claimed her.

Then, as Cupid would have it, Mrs. Copeland's bull took a fancy to this now well-groomed bit of bovinity and lured her across the boundary line to Mrs. Copeland's house.

Brady said the feud erupted when the two women met to discuss the cow. The conference quickly turned into a heated argument and ended with an exchange of blows that smacked of the Old West when arguments were settled by a swift poke in the nose.

A third neighbor, Herb Haseloff, stepped into the controversy and also was charged with assault and battery by Mrs. Chickering. She said he interceded in behalf of Mrs. Copeland.

The charges and countercharges were filed and the court-thinking of the welfare of the cow—ordered her impounded.

Brady said he subpoenaed the cow for the court session because it was possible the judge would determine what becomes of her after disposition of the assault charges.
