Letters Move Out Today To 5 State Area

Burford Hurt, one of a three-man committee composed of Hurt, James Johnson and Joe Dick, reported today that letters were moving out to five states: Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi, Arkansas and Texas.

The letters urge cooperation in the location of the plane which H. W. "Stub" Wilson was piloting on the evening of April 6. Enclosed with the letters were news releases concerning the ill-fated flight.

The news releases will be published in newspapers in the five states, and will be broadcast over the radio and television stations.

Members of WOV camps in the five states are also being notified so that as many persons as possible will be on the lookout in a vast area of land where the plane might possibly have come down.

The availability of letters was out of a meeting held on Thursday night, called by the Murray WOV camp. It was decided that the best possible action to take would be to publicize the flight as widely as possible in the area involved.

Wilson left Gadsden, Alabama, about 4:30 on Saturday April 6 for Birmingham, Alabama, was sighted one time from the ground, then vanished.

Dr. Bailey Hears From CAP Member

Dr. H. B. Bailey, Jr. received a letter from Dr. L. H. Hayden Shreveport, Louisiana this week concerning the disappearance of H. W. Wilson.

Dr. Hayden an Ophthalmologist in Shreveport was concerned about the overdue Mooney airplane owned by Wilson.

"Quite an intensive search by the Civil Air Patrol has been going on in this area; this and other areas of Alabama, Mississippi and Arkansas for the plane, and we are wondering if anything has been heard from the plane and the pilot. It is presumed that the plane crashed."

"My son and I are both pilots and have participated in the search, hence our interest in the matter," Dr. Hayden wrote.

The Calloway County Conservation Club will sponsor a ham and pheasant shoot on Sunday afternoon, April 21 at the Ernest Bailey farm beginning at 12:30. Everyone is invited.

Sausages, cold drinks and shotgun shells will be sold at the club house.

The club will also have its regular meeting on Monday night in the court room of the Calloway County Court House at 7:30. Ferrell Miller, president said there would be another good moving picture.

Collie Brandon Dies Friday

Collie Mac Brandon, age 83, of Stella died Friday at 2:00 p. m. at the Murray Hospital of complications following an extended illness.

Survivors are one sister, Mrs. Choice Taylor, Broad Street; one brother, Bud Brandon, Stella.

The deceased was a member of the Poplar Springs Baptist Church. Funeral services will be held in the chapel of the Max Churchill Funeral Home on Sunday at 2:30 p. m. Rev. R. J. Burpee will officiate. Burial will be in Barnett Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home until the service hour.

Vehicle, Privilege Licenses To Expire

City Clerk Stanford Andrus said today that vehicle and privilege licenses will expire on May 1 and they are now on sale at the city clerk's office.

He urged that those who are to purchase the licenses, do so as soon as possible to avoid the rush.

Contracts To Be Let On Rural Roads

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 20 — Bids for a group of bituminous concrete surfacing projects in Calloway County will be received by the Highway Department on May 10, Commissioner of Highways Henry Ward announced today.

The projects are as follows: the Graham Road from Rural Highway 100 extending westerly to Rural Highway 1119, a distance of 2,000 miles; the Mt. Carmel-Valentine Road from Ky. 121, extending northerly to Rural Highway 1093, a distance of 3,500 miles; the Story Chapel Road from Ky. 893, extending southerly to Rural Highway 1142, a distance of 4,200 miles; and the Elm Grove-Van Cleave Road from Ky. 94, extending westerly to Rural Highway 1087, a distance of 1,800 miles.

These highway improvements are being financed through the state's Rural Secondary program which is operated with two cents of the gasoline tax.

What To Do With Counties With No Voting Machines, Question

By JOSEPH VARILLA
United Press International

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 20 — Finance Department officials plan to ask the attorney general for advice in dealing with counties which have not yet acquired voting machines for the May 28 primary.

C. Leslie Dawson, executive assistant to Finance Commissioner David Pritchett, said Friday there are 11 counties with no voting machines and five others which do not have the machines in all precincts.

The attorney general, said that Dawson would be asked to render an opinion in light of a decision by the Court of Appeals Friday upholding a 1960 law which required all counties to have the machines in time for this year's primary.

Without any voting machines are Elliott, Lee, Lawrence, Martin, Menifee, Mercer, Powell, Pulaski, Spencer, Taylor and Wolfe counties.

Counties which do not have the machines in all precincts include Bath, Butler, Fleming, Harlan and Whitley.

Suspects There Are Others

Dawson said he suspects there are a few other counties which are not completely equipped but which do not show up in the department reports.

He noted that this is not the first time the matter has come up. The act of the 1960 General Assembly provided that counties with a population of over 21,000 should have the machines prior to the 1961 primary and that counties with a population of between 13,000 and 21,000 should have the machines before 1962.

According to the act, all counties must have the machines this year.

For each of the first two deadlines, Dawson said, there were a few holdouts among the counties.

In the past two years, the department has consequently adopted the ruling that the state would not share election costs in any precinct without machines in the affected counties.

State Helps With Expenses

Nominally, the state gives counties $50 per precinct to help defray the costs of an election.

But as a result of the latest high court decision, the department wants to know if its previous ruling should be to be valid, or whether additional pressures should be brought on the holdout counties.

Dawson said the counties have three alternatives in acquiring the machines. They can buy the machines outright, lease them from the manufacturer or lease them from

Breathitt Questions Chandler's Finances

HOPKINSVILLE, Ky., April 20 — Governorial candidate Edward T. Breathitt Jr. returns home tonight for a speech in the Hopkinsville High School auditorium after a week of vigorous campaigning.

The Hopkinsville attorney lashed out at his opponent, A. B. Chandler, at Letchfield Friday night as a governor who wasted thousands of dollars of the people's money when he was in office from 1956 to 1959.

In his Letchfield speech, Breathitt declared:

"The affairs of Kentucky citizens should be managed by dedicated and skilled public servants whose responsibility is to the people, not to themselves, nor to a political group or machine."

Breathitt dwelt on a persistent theme of his campaign—the question of how Chandler could exempt the sales tax from food, clothing, and medicine as he has promised, and still maintain state services near their present levels.

"The people of Kentucky are sick and tired of big-boss government and closed-door deals," Breathitt asserted.

He repeated a charge made on Wednesday, accusing Chandler's son-in-law James J. Lewis, and a partner, of receiving $863,784 in "wasteful" road contracts during Chandler's 1956-59 administration.

Breathitt planned to visit today at Chandler's Chapel, Auburn, Adairville, Russellville and Lewisburg, before his talk tonight here.

He charged that Breathitt refused twice to vote in 1956 on a bill which would have eliminated segregation on railroad cars.

Chandler, who was scheduled to speak here this afternoon and at Columbia tonight, told a Louisville rally Friday night "This fellow is as archaic as the Civil War, irrespective of his promises."

Chandler said the poll gave him 53 per cent of the Bracken County vote to 30 per cent for Breathitt and less than 1 per cent for Mary Louie Post. A total of 15 per cent of the voters in the poll were undecided.

Chandler said the poll reflected statewide discontent with the administration of Gov. Bert Combs which he termed as "modern bandits who take from the poor and squander the money on a multitude of worthless projects and worthless people."

Chandler berated Combs for "taking three and one-half years to make the discovery that there is no excuse for the conditions of Kentucky prisons."

Carlos Roberts
Dies At Alto

Carlos Roberts, 79, died Friday at 11:00 a. m. at his home in Alto. He has been in ill health for several years.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Dale Howard Chaffee, Mrs. Martin Bailey, Jr., Murray route two, and Mrs. Richard Cunningham, Caruthersville, Missouri; two sons, Mark Keys Roberts, Van Nuys, California and James Thomas Roberts, Clinton, Kentucky; 15 grandchildren, two great-grandchildren and a number of nieces and nephews.

Mr. Roberts was a member of the Flin Baptist Church. He was retired rural mail carrier after more than 30 years of service in the Alto area.

Funeral services will be held at the Flin Baptist Church and burial will be in Memorial Gardens.

The service will be held Sunday at 2:30 p. m.

Officiating will be Rev. Willie Johnson, Rev. Robert Herring and Rev. Laine Shanklin.

Palbearers will be Joe Rob Beale, Cecil Taylor, W. B. Miller, Milton Walston, L. G. Tubbs, and Burton Jeffrey.

Honorary palbearers will be rural carriers, active and retired.

The J. H. Churchill Funeral Home has charge of arrangements where friends may call.

Chandler Scores Both Breathitt and Combs

GLASGOW, Ky., April 20 — Former Gov. A. B. Chandler has accused his chief opponent in the Democratic gubernatorial race of supporting racial segregation while serving as a state legislator.

Chandler, who was scheduled to speak here this afternoon and at Columbia tonight, told a Louisville rally Friday night "This fellow is as archaic as the Civil War, irrespective of his promises."

Chandler said the poll gave him 53 per cent of the Bracken County vote to 30 per cent for Breathitt and less than 1 per cent for Mary Louie Post. A total of 15 per cent of the voters in the poll were undecided.

Chandler said the poll reflected statewide discontent with the administration of Gov. Bert Combs which he termed as "modern bandits who take from the poor and squander the money on a multitude of worthless projects and worthless people."

Chandler berated Combs for "taking three and one-half years to make the discovery that there is no excuse for the conditions of Kentucky prisons."

Easter Seals Reach $1,025

The Easter Seal Sale topped $1000 today as the total climbed to $1,025.

With only one more week to go in the fund drive, James C. Williams, chairman urged that all funds be turned in as quickly as possible in order to determine just how the total figure stands.

Some schools have not reported as yet, he said, and some contributors have not as yet made their contribution. He urged that all funds be turned in as soon as possible.

Funds from the Easter Seal Sale are used by the Kentucky Crippled Children's Society to aid crippled children of the state.

Farmer Class Treated To Steak Supper

The county-wide young farmers class in vocational agriculture was treated to a steak supper at Triangle Inn last night by the Calloway County Soil Improvement Association.

"The young farmers class finished third in the attendance contest for the four groups taught by adult instructor Hamp Brooks under the county's advisory council plan of instruction."

Members attend class one night each week during the winter months and then are visited on their farms by the instructor in follow-up work. The class sessions are based on intensified instruction and shop training.

Robert Perry, manager of the local co-op store, served as toastmaster. He welcomed the class members and their wives and Danny Cunningham, class president responded for the farmers.

Perry in speaking to the young farmers pointed to some of the accomplishments of the cooperative. He also stressed the critical shortage of sulphate of potash and the low amount of phosphate available from TVA sources.

Hamp Brooks reminded the farmers to pay particular close attention to plant beds and to insure their receiving sufficient amounts of water regularly.

Members present and their wives were Calvin Compton, Danny Cunningham, Jimmy Herndon, Frank Hill, Sam Howard, Ronald Lockhart, Rob McCallon, Ralph Morris, Hamp Wiggins Brooks, Alfred H. Murdock, Charles Outland, Carroll M. Rogers, Max Smotherman, and Herdwell Stockdale.

Other members who were unable to attend were Jerry Key, Kenneth Murdock, Dan Shipley, Billy Smith, R. L. Urey, W. P. West, and Norman Windt.

Also attending as guests of the co-op were Mrs. Hamp Brooks, Mrs. Robert Perry, and Mr. and Mrs. James Harmon.

The cooperative gave each one a gift.

Art Entries Due Tuesday

Entries in the children's art contest sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce must be submitted to the regional library office on North Sixth street by April 23.

The first and second place winners will receive transfer radios which are now on display at the library.

The contest is part of the week-long program of activities to promote National Library Week April 21-27.

All Murray and Calloway County children in the first six grades are eligible to participate. Drawings must depict some fictional character such as Tom Sawyer, Snow White, Cinderella, etc.

Drawings may be on any size paper and in crayon or pencil and should be submitted by mail or in person to the library on North Sixth street.

Breathitt Endorses Robert Matthews

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — Robert Matthews Jr., and Drexel Davis have the endorsement today of Edward T. Breathitt Jr. raising the number of candidates for statewide office on his Democratic primary ticket to five.

Matthews resigned as state finance commissioner to seek the Democratic nomination for attorney general.

Davis, a former chief assistant clerk, seeks nomination for clerk of the Court of Appeals.

Other candidates on the ticket headed by Breathitt include state Commissioner of Agriculture Emerson "Doc" Beauchamp for state treasurer, Secretary of State Henry Carter for state auditor, and Covington Mayor John Moloney for secretary of state.

New York Times Features Story On John Mack Carter And Competition With The Journal

Mrs. Edward P. Lawrence of Charleston, West Virginia, sent a clipping from the New York Times of the April 14 issue to the Ledger and Times yesterday concerning John Mack Carter of Murray.

Mrs. Lawrence is the former Maxine McDougal of Murray. The article which was written by Peter Bart of the New York Times staff is being reprinted below since it gives a good description of John Mack Carter, the complexity of his job, and the competition which he is facing in his daily work.

Advertising: Women's Magazines Battling.

By PETER BART

The once prime and proper women's magazine field has undergone surprising changes in recent years. Gone are the syrupy Victorian stories of virtue upheld. Gone are the happy homilies fit for clipping out and hanging in the parlor.

Gone, too, is the atmosphere of easy-going coexistence that traditionally characterized the field. Today competition for readers and advertisers among women's magazines is perhaps fiercer than in any other segment of the magazine industry.

Among the executives who have helped bring about these changes are two young and untested men from the Midwest named Curtiss Anderson and John Mack Carter. Mr. Carter became editor of McCall's in July, 1961, at the age of 33. Mr. Anderson became editor of The Ladies Home Journal in April, 1962, when he, too, was 33.

The similarities do not end there. Both Mr. Carter and Mrs. Anderson got much of their early experience at the Meredith Publishing Company in Des Moines, Iowa. Mr. Carter remaining there for four and half years and Mr. Anderson for nearly ten. Both, too, bring to the women's magazine field a lively and irreverent point of view and a determination to make their magazines vital and contemporary.

How Are They Faring?

Now that both men have had time to attune themselves to their new jobs, it seemed like an appropriate occasion to visit them and find out how they were faring.

Mr. Carter, a short, black-haired man of boyish countenance, receives visitors in his large, plainly furnished office at 320 Park Avenue. McCall's headquarters. A methodical man, Mr. Carter puffs meditatively on his pipe, cautiously weighing answers to questions.

Mr. Anderson, by contrast, is larger, has a big mop of blond hair and a more effusive manner. Notes one associate: "Curt Anderson, with his blond hair and middle Western manner strikes you as the epitome of the homespun farm boy made good in the big city. But he's not so simple. He's a very sophisticated man who can coin a splendidly sardonic phrase and whose speech is laced with blunt, Anglo-Saxon words."

Mr. Anderson briefly occupied the roccoco offices of his predecessors, Bruce and Beatrice Goodale, who soon moved into modernistic offices down the hall at Journal headquarters, 1270 Avenue of the Americas.

Neither man senses any awkwardness about editing an explicitly feminine magazine. "I have always subscribed to the idea of the professional editor—the individual who can edit any magazine with taste and imagination," says Mr. Anderson.

Mr. Carter agrees. He says: "Women today are vitally concerned with contemporary issues just as men are. Women's magazines were badly behind the times until the last few years. They were using baby talk to communicate with their readers. They were failing to keep up with the rising educational levels in this country."

In discussing their editorial products, both men emphasize their efforts to run articles about issues that traditionally were considered outside the scope of women's magazines.

McCall's for example, recently ran studies of the soaring costs of Blue Cross programs, and of apartment house construction, and is planning to run further stories on issues such as automation, continuing education for women and intelligence tests. "Reporting in depth is what we're after," says Mr. Carter.

The Ladies Home Journal, meanwhile, has run long articles on racial integration, middle-class juvenile delinquency and aid to dependent children. According to Mr. Anderson, one forthcoming story will deal with Sunday schools. "We want to find out whether Sunday schools are really doing their job in teaching truths, or whether, as I suspect, they've simply turned into baby-sitting institutions," he declares.

While running articles of this sort, neither magazine has cut down on "service features"—cooking, fashions, beauty and so forth.

Nor have they done away with their "celebrity" pages. The Journal's April issue had lengthy articles about Cary Grant and Carol Burnett. McCall's lately has been bubbling with stories and photographs about the Kennedy family, including a recent piece in which Peter Lawford confessed that "the White House is still wondering what to do with me."

The battle for big names also enters the fiction field. McCall's is understood to have paid $150,000 for the right to publish Herman Wouk's "Youngblood Hawke," $90,000 for Anne Lindbergh's "Dearie Beloved," and about $100,000 for Edna Ferber's "A Kind of Magic."

The Journal also has paid some formidable price tags for stories, but Mr. Anderson says:

"We won't place names for the sake of names. We have turned down work by some very famous writers—work that ended up appearing in competitive publications."

If there are some similarities in the broad editorial approach of Mr. Carter and Mrs. Anderson, they may stem in some degree from their similar journalistic backgrounds.

Mr. Carter grew up in Murray, Ky., attended Murray State College of Kentucky and the University of Missouri and dabbled briefly in newspaper work. While working for a Master's Degree at the University of Missouri, however, he became enamored of magazines and turned down a job on The Louisville Courier-Journal to work at the Meredith Publishing Company.

Mr. Carter held a variety of jobs at Meredith before leaving in 1953 to serve two years in the Navy. After service, he worked as managing editor and then editor of a now defunct magazine called Household that was bought and folded by the Curtis Publishing Company in 1959.

After a short period as executive editor of a Methodist magazine called Ed Together, Mr. Carter joined The American Home as editor. In July, 1961, he became editor of McCall's when Herbert Mayes moved up to president.

McCall's for example, recently ran studies of the soaring costs of Blue Cross programs, and of apartment house construction, and is planning to run further

SATURDAY - APRIL 20, 1963

A FINAL EFFORT

A heavy hearted group of men met at the American Legion Hall on Thursday night for the purpose of reaching a decision on how best to find the green and white Mooney airplane piloted by H. W. "Stub" Wilson.

It is believed to have crashed somewhere in the Birmingham, Alabama, area in the mountainous region between Gadsden, Birmingham and Montgomery, on the evening of April 6.

Although heavy hearted, the determined group embarked on what is possibly the most complete coverage of an area ever attempted.

Letters and news releases were mailed out today to every newspaper, radio station, television station, sheriff, and chief of police in the states of Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas and Texas.

The letters urged that anyone having a single clue as to Stub's disappearance contact a committee in Murray. The news releases, to be printed in newspapers in the five-state area and to be broadcast over radio and TV stations in the five-state area ask that everyone who reads the stories or hears the newscasts be on the lookout for a crashed plane or if they heard or saw the plane on April 6, to contact Murray officials.

A notice is being sent to every WOW camp in the five-state area asking for possible clues or information.

A request was made to the Eastern Air Rescue Center at Macon, Georgia, to change a routine Civil Air Patrol mission on Sunday week, into another search for Stub Wilson.

This tremendous all-out job of spreading the word about the tragedy, in the hopes of finding some clue, is an expression of the feelings of a community, trying to do all it can for one of its members, and his family.

Whatever the outcome of this big effort, the friends and neighbors of Stub Wilson will know that they have done their utmost to bring an end to anxiety and uncertainty for the family.

Koufax Figures Indicate That Dodger Southpaw Back In Form

By FRED DOWN

United Press International

The most important figures in the National League today — far more significant than the mere standings — show that Sandy Koufax has struck out 28 batters and allowed only 12 hits in 23 innings.

Add 'em up and they mean that the Los Angeles Dodgers' southpaw fireballer is fully recovered from the finger injury that cost the Dodgers the 1962 pennant and almost ended Sandy's career. They also mean that despite a faltering start the Dodgers are A-1 set for the long haul with Koufax and Don Drysdale to fire away as the league's best 1-2 pitching punch.

Koufax, sidelined virtually the entire second half of the 1962 season and winless after July 12, struck out 14 batters and pitched a two-hitter Friday night to give the Dodgers a 2-0 victory over the Houston Colt. 45s.

The ratio of strikeouts to innings pitched has always been the way to judge Koufax because of his blinding speed. He struck out an NL record of 266 batters in 254 innings in 1961 and had 214 strikeouts in 184 innings when he had a 14-4 record halfway through the 1962 campaign.

The San Francisco Giants defeated the Chicago Cubs, 5-1, the New York Mets broke into the win column with a 5-4 victory over the Milwaukee Braves and the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-1, in other NL games. Cincinnati and Pittsburgh were rained out.

In the American League, the New York Yankees defeated the Washington Senators, 6-4, the Boston Red Sox beat the Detroit Tigers, 3-1 and the Chicago White Sox topped the Minnesota Twins, 3-1, the Baltimore Orioles scored an 8-5 victory over the Cleveland Indians and the Kansas City Athletics swept the Los Angeles Angels, 3-2, in both games of a doubleheader.

Willie Mays hit his third homer of the season and Juan Marchal pitched a six-hitter for the Giants, who regained sole possession of first place with their seventh victory in nine games.

The Mets ended their eight-game season-opening losing streak with a two-run ninth-inning rally climaxed when rookie Ron Hunt singled home Choo Choo Coleman and Jim Hickman. Ed Kranepool homered for the Mets while Hank Aaron hit the 300th circuit of his career for the Braves, whose seven-game winning streak went down the drain.

Curly Simmons beat the Phillies for the 11th time in 12 tries since they traded him in May, 1960, with a nine-hit, seven-strikeout effort.

record of 266 batters in 254 innings in 1961 and had 214 strikeouts in 184 innings when he had a 14-4 record halfway through the 1962 campaign.

The San Francisco Giants defeated the Chicago Cubs, 5-1, the New York Mets broke into the win column with a 5-4 victory over the Milwaukee Braves and the St. Louis Cardinals beat the Philadelphia Phillies, 5-1, in other NL games. Cincinnati and Pittsburgh were rained out.

In the American League, the New York Yankees defeated the Washington Senators, 6-4, the Boston Red Sox beat the Detroit Tigers, 3-1 and the Chicago White Sox topped the Minnesota Twins, 3-1, the Baltimore Orioles scored an 8-5 victory over the Cleveland Indians and the Kansas City Athletics swept the Los Angeles Angels, 3-2, in both games of a doubleheader.

Willie Mays hit his third homer of the season and Juan Marchal pitched a six-hitter for the Giants, who regained sole possession of first place with their seventh victory in nine games.

The Mets ended their eight-game season-opening losing streak with a two-run ninth-inning rally climaxed when rookie Ron Hunt singled home Choo Choo Coleman and Jim Hickman. Ed Kranepool homered for the Mets while Hank Aaron hit the 300th circuit of his career for the Braves, whose seven-game winning streak went down the drain.

Curly Simmons beat the Phillies for the 11th time in 12 tries since they traded him in May, 1960, with a nine-hit, seven-strikeout effort.

Everything's "Roger" today with the New York Yankees.

Substitute straight baseball language for the Air Force lingo and that simply means that Roger Maris is back in the lineup and the world champions have a "big bomber" look again.

The modern home run king returned to the Yankee batting order Friday night after missing the first eight games of the American League season and celebrated with a game-winning ninth-inning homer that sent New York on to an 8-4 win over the Washington Senators.

Elston Howard had preceded the blast with a homer and the Yankees went on to score five runs and present relief pitcher Luis Arroyo with his first victory of the season. Arroyo was pitching in relief of Stan Williams, who gave up three runs in 7 1/2 innings in his second start as a Yankee.

The Boston Red Sox dealt the Detroit Tigers 3-1 and 5-1 losses, the Chicago White Sox beat the Minnesota Twins, 3-1, the Baltimore Orioles downed the Cleveland Indians, 8-5, and the Kansas City Athletics swept a doubleheader from the Los Angeles Angels, winning both games by 3-2 scores in other

Boat Owners Urged To Check Gear

Boat owners are urged by Boating

Director, "Bud" Calman, to check their equipment before they start that first boating venture this year.

On every single one of the items required many persons either came near to losing their life, or did lose their life last year, because the boat did not have what was needed and required in a time of emergency.

On boats under 16 feet the requirements are small. They are: a life preserver for everyone aboard—readily accessible and in good condition and of a type with the tag on it that says it has been approved by the United States Coast Guard.

Anchor and line, paddle or oar, pump or bailer (it could be just a coffee can), and if used at night—lights. The boat must also display proper numbers — at least 3" high of solid color contrasting to the hull. The owners registration card must be kept on board at all times, when the boat is in use. This last is very important, says Director Calman, it is the only proof, when your boat is stopped, that it is your boat, and secondly the law requires you have it, just in case you have your drivers license on you when you operate your car.

Boats over 16 feet and up to 36 feet must also have an approved fire extinguisher aboard (as must those under 16' if they have a deck

30' or longer or a built-in enclosure on the boat.) Sixteen-foot and over must also have lights permanently mounted and a sound device —horn or whistle mechanically or hand operated — that can be heard at least a half mile.

To determine the exact length of your boat, run a tape measure down the center from the bow to the stern. The manufacturer may call it a 16-footer, but it may only measure 15 feet and inches. If it does, it could save you money. Registrations on boats under 16' (centerline measure are $3.00. Sixteen feet to 36 feet are $5.00.

On cruisers and inboard runabouts there are some other safety requirements, but they conform very much to Coast Guard regulations.

Anyone may have a copy of them, or have questions answered regarding safety equipment, by requesting same of the Boating Division, State

Office Building, Frankfort, Kentuck-

ly.

Boating, today, says Director Calman, is a family affair. It can be great fun, if everyone will operate their boat carefully, and be courteous to their fellow boater. Give the fishermen a break, stay out of the embayments on lakes, let the fisherman have them. Do your boating and skiing in the main parts of,

and out of harbors and docks, in lakes and rivers away from where the fisherman and the anchored

boat is on the water. Operate your boat at a no-wake speed going into

and out of harbors and docks, in

boat is on the water. Operate your

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Mason Perry, Mr. and Mrs. W. Herbert Perry, Mrs. Virgil Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cochran, Mr. and Mrs. Shirley and Linda, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Washer and daughters: Jerlyn and Jackie, and Mrs. Sharon Darnell attended the April 14th wedding of Miss Virginia Frances Perry and Donald Thomas Christie in Humboldt, Tenn.

Miss Hutchens and James K. Morgan Married Recently

Miss Anita Hutchens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orlan Hutchens, Murray Route Five, became the bride of James K. Morgan, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Morgan, Murray Route Five, on Friday, April 12. Rev. Hoyt Owen read the double ring ceremony at six-thirty o'clock in the evening at his home on Sunset Drive.

The only attendants for the couple were Miss Charlotte Morgan of Sturgis, cousin of the groom, and Bob Devine of Evansville, Ind.

For her wedding the bride chose a lovely dress of white chiffon over a round neckline and sleeves coming to a point at the waist fastened with tiny self-covered buttons. She wore a small white hat and her only jewelry was a diamond pendant.

Her corsage was a purple orchid. The bride's attendant, Miss Morgan, wore a yellow dress with a lace jacket and white hat. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Mrs. Morgan is a graduate of Murray High School in the class of 1960. Mr. Morgan attended Edsel Ford High School in Dearborn, Mich. They are both employed at Shroat Meat Market.

Following a wedding trip to Louisville, the couple is now at home at 1615 Farmer Avenue, Murray.

Arra Dunn Circle Has Regular Meet At The Church

The Arra Dunn Circle of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Hazel Methodist Church met Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock at the church.

Mrs. Robert Taylor, program chairman, gave the devotion with scripture reading from Luke 11. "Prayer is the sole sincere desire" was read by Mrs. Taylor.

"Lord Teach Us To Pray" was the theme of the program presented by Mrs. Koska Jones in a very inspiring manner.

Mrs. Claude Anderson, circle chairman, presided. It was announced the mission study, "Arm of Compassion," was being held each evening at seven o'clock at the Mason Chapel Church with Mrs. Koska Jones, local chairman of missionary education, in charge of the study.

Preceding the program Mrs. John McCullough, spiritual life chairman, held a short prayer service. The closing prayer was led by Mrs. Taylor.

Mrs. Lois Newport, hostess, served a salad course to the eleven members and Miss Ann Herron, a member of the Carolyn Circle.

Dear Abby..

Too Late Now!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We recently announced that our daughter's wedding date is June 22nd. A neighbor called and asked me what time our wedding was scheduled for. I told her we had planned it for 11:00 A.M. Then she told me HER daughter was getting married at four o'clock the same day, and would we let her use our flowers? I didn't know whether to say yes, no or what, so like a fool, I said yes. My husband told me I ought to have my head examined. Now he wants me to call her up and tell her if she wants to use our flowers she should pay half the florist bill. Would you?

SPOKE TOO SOON

DEAR SPOKE: The time to have suggested that your neighbor pay half the florist bill was when she asked to use your flowers. Having already said yes, it would be extremely awkward to ask for it, and/or but.

DEAR ABBY: We live in Hawaii. Last Christmas a friend from the mainland sent us a large box of apples from Oregon. The apples were in transit for almost four weeks and arrived rotten. Apparently they had been wrapped for protection against freezing, but not against heat. We wrote and thanked our friends for the "delicious" apples. Now we are wondering if maybe we shouldn't have written them the truth. What if they send us apples again next year?

DEAR ABBY: Please advise "L.J." not to become discouraged about being an "unwanted child." I, too, was an unwanted child, but now I am wanted in eleven states and Mexico. Sincerely,

"BIG RED" (from Houston)

For a personal reply, write to ABBY, Box 3365, Beverly Hills, California and include a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Abby answers ALL mail.

DEAR ABBY: By all means, write to Abby. She is the truth. You would be doing them a service. Any reputable company, whose business it is to ship fruit, is delighted if not eager to replace spoiled merchandise.

DEAR ABBY: In my possession is a ~~perfectly good, working, fine~~ that has never been worn. It would make the woman happy who wrote and complained that her husband ~~never gave her one, I shall be glad~~ to give it to her. The story behind it is that a friend of my husband's broke up with his fiancée and threw the ring out of a window. My husband retrieved it and tried to persuade him to keep it, but he would have nothing to do with it. My husband is now dead and I do not know the friend's name, but I still have the ring and it might as well bring a little happiness to someone.

NORFOLK

DEAR ABBY: Please advise "L.J." not to become discouraged about being an "unwanted child." I, too, was an unwanted child, but now I am wanted in eleven states and Mexico. Sincerely,

"BIG RED" (from Houston)

DEAR ABBY: By all means, write to Abby. She is the truth. You would be doing them a service. Any reputable company, whose business it is to ship fruit, is delighted if not eager to replace spoiled merchandise.

DEAR ABBY: In my possession is a ~~perfectly good, working, fine~~ that has never been worn. It would make the woman happy who wrote and complained that her husband ~~never gave her one, I shall be glad~~ to give it to her. The story behind it is that a friend of my husband's broke up with his fiancée and threw the ring out of a window. My husband retrieved it and tried to persuade him to keep it, but he would have nothing to do with it. My husband is now dead and I do not know the friend's name, but I still have the ring and it might as well bring a little happiness to someone.

Amusing Style Show Held At Meeting Of Music Department

An amusing and entertaining program was presented at the meeting of the Music Department of the Murray Woman's Club held on Tuesday evening at seven-thirty o'clock at the club house.

Mrs. James Perkins was the narrator for the style show consisting of silly and amusing costumes modeled by club members.

Models were Mesdames O. C. Lowry, Earl Douglas, O. B. Boone, Jr., Don Robinson, John Pasco, Julian Evans, Joe West, Russell Johnson, Charles Wilson, and Bernard Harvey.

Miss Lillian Waters, pianist, played a different number for each lady as she modeled her costume. A special trumpet duet was played by Mrs. David Gowans and Mrs. Joe Dick.

The chairman, Mrs. Gowans, presided at the business meeting during which the following officers were elected for the next club year: Mrs. Russell Johnson, chairman; Mrs. Joe Dick, vice-chairman; Miss Lillian Tate, secretary; Mrs. N. B. Ellis, treasurer.

A social hour was held with refreshments being served by the hostesses, Mesdames O. B. Boone, Jr., Bill Crouse, Robert Johnson, Garret Jones, Grace Moore, Don Robinson, R. L. Wade, and James Perkins.

J. Carter . . .

friends, Mr. Anderson met Bruce and Beatrice Gould, then co-editors of the Journal. The Goulds were impressed, but before hiring Mr. Anderson they checked with John Carter, then editor of another Curtis publication, The American Home. Mr. Carter gave Mr. Anderson an enthusiastic reference.

Thus, Mr. Anderson was named managing editor of the Journal in 1961. He rose to the editorship about a year later.

Both Mr. Anderson and Mr. Carter live in Manhattan and work a bruising seven-day week. Mr. Carter moved his wife and two children into town from suburban Darien, Conn., after he decided that his working hours would never coincide with railway schedules.

Both men exude a robust confidence in their abilities and judgment. Neither seems to be particularly worried about the other. Both believe firmly that they are putting out the superior editorial product—the magazine most in tune with the times. And both insist that the best magazine still in the 60s.
