GERMANS NOW OCCUPY KEMMEL HILL AMERICAN CASUALTY LIST MUCH UNDER FIRST ESTIMATE

EDITORIAL

IS THIS RIGHT?

There are many lawyers all over the United States who are being employed to get up all kinds of petitions and affidavits in order to get certain young men out of the army, for which they get all kinds of fees. In our opinion this is absolutely contrary to our draft and volunteer systems. Who is it that cannot get a certificate from some cause or other, who has a lawyer to assist in writing these things up? In some sections of the country attorneys are having trouble and are made to pay back fees which they have collected in order to get their clients discharged from the army.

This is another practice the government will have to step in and stop. Because when one boy is taken out of class 1 and put in 2, 3 or 4, then another boy has to be taken from his home and put in this place.

It is said that over 100 have been recommended for exemption or for the farms in this county, and of course probably it is worse in other counties. The general public is going to kick about these things, because every young man should take his place when his number is reached, and that no attorney or anybody else should interfere, preventing them from filling their places in the army.

SEVEN SISTERS; SEVEN WIDOWS.

On a farm 2½ miles west of Mayfield, many years ago, lived Mr. Thomas Carman and his wife, Mrs. Annie Carman. To this couple eight daughters were born, seven of whom are now living. The youngest of these daughters now is 66 years old, the oldest one about 86, and they are all widows. This is a very remarkable family in this respect. They are as follows: Mrs. Clarkey Wright, of the county; Mrs. Mary Mayfield, of Fort Worth, Texas; Mrs. Othelma Harrod, of Detroit; Mrs. Ann Mayfield, of Mayfield; Mrs. M. B. Landrum, Mayfield; Mrs. Virginia Boswell, Mayfield; Mrs. Minnie Watson, Mayfield.

With the exception of Mrs. Watson, they have all been widows for many years and only one out of the seven has ever married again. The eldest, Mrs. Clarkey Wright, was first married to Dr. Thomas Wall, who lost his life while in the Confederate army, after which she married Joe Wright, who has been dead for many years. The father of these ladies, who lived west of town on the P. D. Carman place, as it is now known, was a very successful farmer and an extensive land owner. He owned at one time thousands of acres of land in West Kentucky. His daughters had the best opportunities of that day and were intelligent, beautiful and popular young women.

They are of the large Carman family, of which there are now hundreds in Western Kentucky and other places, all descendants of the Carmans, who settled here in this county perhaps seventy-five years ago, coming from the state of Tennessee. Every one of his daughters married prominent and honorable men, and all the long years during their married lives and since their widowhood, they have had many friends and have exerted good and useful influence in the church and in social circles. They were all good-looking and were married in the country. Their father came to Mayfield and lived for many years in the two-story house, opposite the Catholic church on West Broadway. He was a tobacco speculator and wielded quite an influence in business and in speculation in his palmy days.

The Carman family is noted for its longevity and it is also noted for how few second marriages ever took place among them. Of this large connection, it is said that in politics they were all republicans except two; but the father of the above mentioned sisters was a democrat.

This is and has been a very prominent family and its influence has been felt and recognized in Graves county for the past sixty years. But if any newspaper or other individual in the state of Kentucky knows of seven

HOLLAND PUTS ON EMBARGO

(By Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 26.—(Special.)—Holland has embargoed exportation from the Dutch West Indies of tin, cinchona bark, quinine and kapok, all of which is needed by the United States in large quantities for war purposes.

Official notice of the Holland embargo was received today and officials declined to indicate probable reasons, but it is suggested in some quarters that the measure is intended as a retaliation for American requisitioning of Dutch ships. The embargo on tin will probably prove essentially embarrassing to the United States.

The senate today adopted the Wadsworth amendment by an unanimous vote.

We think it very remarkable and of sufficient interest to give it a place in the columns of The Messenger.

Popularity of Picture Shows

The cause of the popularity of picture shows is because they are made up of every character of human interest. Their tendency comes from the wicked side of life, and they are made up of guns, pistols, bowie knives, wine, dogs, cats, rats, cows, thieves, libertines, robbers, gamblers, beautiful and unfaithful wives, liars and highwaymen, train robbers, babies and divorcees.

The show houses all over the world are now full of people at every performance. The screen has made the world show mad. And all of the diversities of crime are nightly shown upon it. Truly we are wonderful, curious and funny people. — Calvert City Times.

Dr. Barbee's Address to Bardwell High School

The immense audience at the Christian church was highly entertained on Sunday night by the splendid and inspiring address made by Dr. Barbee, of Mayfield, who was selected to deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of the Bardwell High School. Dr. Barbee's subject was "Take Heed Thyself," and he introduced Socrates of the Greeks, Marcus Aurelius of the Romans and Christ of the Christians to impress upon the class, and the audience as well, the absolute necessity of self-government. The address was a great incentive to all in attendance to carefully guard the acts and the thoughts and to act so that only the highest grade of efficiency might be obtained.

Dr. Barbee's address was a great occasion and his coming was appreciated by all who heard him. — Bardwell News.

Gilbert Is Cleared

Attorney M. E. Gilbert, of Paducah, charged with withholding money by B. L. Abernathy, obtained from him in a law suit, was dismissed in the Bardwell county circuit court Monday, the charge being proved false. Mr. Gilbert stated that he had collected $55 for Abernathy in a compromise, of which amount he, as attorney, was to receive half. He said he deposited $40 to Abernathy's credit in a paducah bank, retaining $10. He added that he would prefer charges against Abernathy. A letter from the bank was introduced to show the deposit had been made and that Abernathy had withdrawn it. Mr. Gilbert is the representative in the general assembly from the county of McCracken. — Bardwell News.

Jack Perry on Short Visit

Jack Perry, traveling auditor for the Cook Brewing Company, of Evansville, Ind., left today for Paducah after a short visit to relatives. Jack left here 14 years ago to accept a place with the Brewing company and has been back only twice. He has made good with the company and is now considered one of their best and most efficient and reliable men.

Half Holiday Not Observed Here Today

The half holiday was not observed in Mayfield today, although most of the merchants and business men were willing to obey the proclamation of the state and the government. The purpose of the holiday was to give the merchants a chance to work for the Liberty Loan, but Mayfield and Graves county have gone two and a half times over the quota and Chairman Leon Evans did not deem it necessary to close. Hence it was left to the people individually as to their action. Where any man knew where he could go and sell a Liberty bond, then it was his patriotic duty to close and go after it. Graves county has been combed so thoroughly for the sale of the bonds that those in charge did not think they could make any increase by closing and working this afternoon.

ENEMY HURLING THOUSANDS OF MEN AGAINST MT. KEMMEL

(By Associated Press.)

The Flanders front is again the scene of a full tide battle, but the enemy is unable to make appreciable progress against the British, French and American troops.

In Picardy the Germans swung their attacks to the northern battle field, the enemy hurling thousands of troops against Mount Kemmel. At the other hills to the east and north of Ypres the British are standing at the second defense line and fighting the Germans tremendously on South Somme.

The Germans were driven from the village of Villers-Bretonneux with a loss of 600 prisoners. Further south the enemy is holding Hangard.

In the Woevre, near Regaieville, the French repulsed a strong German attack. Regaieville is five miles southeast of Seicheprey, where the enemy attacked Gen. Pershing's men Saturday.

Paris last night reported the arrival of 128 American wounded and sick soldiers at the rear hospital, showing that Pershing's men shared the burden of the great battle.

It is authoritatively announced that complete success attended the raid into the German submarine base at Zeebrugge channel, which was blocked and the enemy shipping defenses damaged.

A change of the wind, enabling the Germans to discover the raiders before the task was begun, prevented a like success at Ostend.
