No Freedom For Individual Says Speaker

Dr. Ivan Lubachko, instructor in Russian language and history at Murray State College, was the speaker yesterday at the Murray Rotary Club.

He was introduced by Homer Poque, who was in charge of the program.

Dr. Lubachko, speaking from a deep personal knowledge of Russia, told the club members something of the deceptiveness of the Communist leaders.

He said that when Stalin rose to power, he promised to better the educational level in the Soviet Union and did just this. He said that present day Russian schools have good courses in non-political subjects, but any course which touches on politics is poor.

Original sources are difficult to obtain, he said, since the student must study what some modern writer has to say about pre-revolutionary persons, rather than to read of the history of the period.

He pointed out that schools were and are used for propaganda purposes by the Russian leaders. Under Stalin, teachers were required to obtain information about parents from the students.

The entire Russian educational program is planned and designed by the Ministry of Education, he continued, with the instructor having little leeway. The teacher must follow this program and not deviate from it, he said.

Russia is ruled by one party and this party is a leader, Professor Lubachko told the Rotarians. The nation does have a constitution, but this was written by Stalin.

The constitution gives many rights, he continued, but only those rights which will strengthen the Communist party. He read several passages from the constitution and explained them.

Regardless of what the constitution says, the Communist party is the top power in Russia today, he said. The basic foundation of the Soviet Union is the same regardless of the political changes, he continued.

He concluded by telling the club that there is no personal liberty in Russia.

Personal freedom is non-existent in the Soviet Union, he said. Dr. Lubachko was born in Russia and received his schooling there. He taught school in Russia and was captured by the Germans in the war and spent the remainder of World War II in a labor camp in Bremen. After the war he refused to return to Russia and taught school in Germany.

In 1948 he came to America and received his M.A. and Ph.D. at Indiana University and has been teaching since that time.

Program Planned For Annual Party

An interesting program has been planned for the Christmas party of the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary Monday night, December 9th.

Mrs. David Henry, program chairman, has announced that Miss Jane Fiedsoe and Miss Darlene Brewer of Murray State College will sing. Mrs. Clifford Reeves will play the marimba and Mrs. Lynda Cochran will present dance numbers.

The party will be at 6:30 p. m. at the Legion Hall, with the Auxiliary furnishing the salads and desserts, and the Legion furnishing the ham and drinks. Each person is asked to bring a 50¢ gift as there will be a Christmas tree and exchanging of gifts.

Vehicle Bill Will Come Up Next Session

By CAROLE MARTIN
United Press International

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The motor vehicle inspection bill, described as one "that could not be disposed of at a special session" by the House majority leader, probably will be redrafted and submitted for consideration by the 1964 General Assembly.

Before the third special session of the legislature this year adjourned sine die Thursday, the House adopted a resolution directing the Legislative Research Commission to study the effects of similar legislation in other states and to present a report to the next legislature.

A bill calling for compulsory motor vehicle inspection each year was one of two proposals which brought the legislature into extraordinary session Nov. 18, and was killed in the House Rules Committee shortly before the final adjournment.

In introducing the resolution, House Majority Leader R. P. Moloney, D-Fayette, said neither the public nor the legislature was prepared for such an act at this time because of lack of information. He added that the bill's sponsors had not done a good job of preparing the measure either.

Cites Conflicting Statements
Moloney said there never had been a comparison of the merits of such an inspection program and the bill. He had heard conflicting statements on inspection programs from traffic and safety experts during a public hearing on the bill.

The inspection bill was given two readings before the second measure — a judicial pay and balloting bill — came up for consideration in the House, but the auto bill was stalled in committee, where heavy opposition to the measure was reported.

Buckman Is Indicted On Tax Charge

LOUISVILLE (AP) — State Sen. James D. Jiggs Buckman Jr. of Shepherdsville, was under indictment today on charges of evading a total of $13,800.75 in income taxes.

The former Kentucky attorney general was indicted Thursday by a federal grand jury here. Buckman is accused of failing to pay $2,716.32 on his 1957 return and $11,084.43 on his 1958 return.

Long prominent in Democratic state politics, Buckman was considered a strong prospect to be Senate majority leader in the 1964 General Assembly.

He was campaign director for Gov.-elect Edward T. Breathitt Jr. in the Democratic primary last spring. In 1962, Buckman served as organizational co-chairman for Lt. Gov. Wilson W. Wyatt in his unsuccessful race for United States senator.

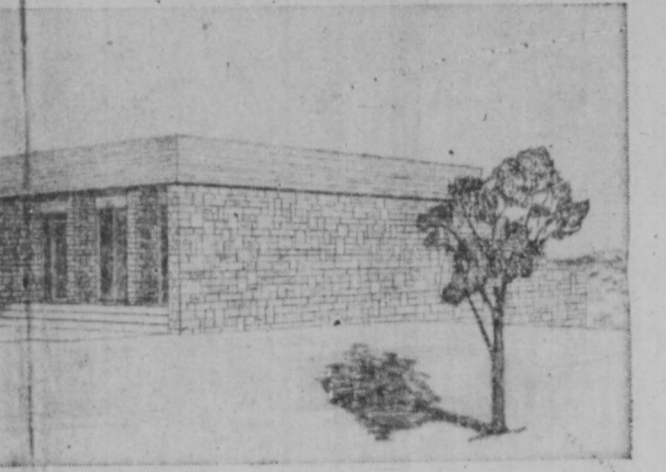

The indictment against Buckman charged him with stating a taxable income of $2,716.32 on his 1957 return and $11,084.43 on his 1958 return.

The special grand jury alleged in its true bill that Buckman's income from the Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing Co. was reported on the tax return of his father, James D. Buckman Sr., who paid $747.65 in taxes. The indictment said this income should have been reported on the return of Buckman and his wife.

This would have made their taxable income $14,063.75 with a tax due of $2,716.32.

A second count of the indictment alleged that Buckman declared a taxable income of $2,064.65 on his 1958 return with $7,062.26 tax due and the portion of his income from Minnesota Mining & Manufacturing Co. reported on his parents' return. They paid a tax of $1,480.66, the true bill said.

On his 1958 return, Buckman showed an adjusted gross income of $36,334.21 with taxes due of $11,084.66, according to the indictment. The $1,480.66 paid by his parents was deducted in arriving at this figure.

The entire building of 3,000 square feet will primarily house a museum depicting the Civil War, with emphasis on the Battle of Perryville. It will be located near the existing picnic shelter building.

Guess Trucking, Middlewest Roads Are The Low Bidders

Bids were received by the city of Murray yesterday morning on the curb and gutter work and paving in the Circarama Subdivision.

The Guess Trucking Company Princeton, received the bid for the curb and gutter work, and Middlewest Roads of Gilbertsville was low bidder on the paving.

Guess Truck Company made a bid of $7.5 per running foot on the curbs or a total of $22,212.46, and Middlewest Roads entered a bid of $5,703.55 for the paving.

The bids were tentatively approved and will have to be cleared through the Atlanta office of the Housing and Home Finance Agency before final approval is given.

The work is being done under the Accelerated Public Works program of the Federal Government. The Federal Government will pay for one-half of the curb and gutter program and residents of the area will pay half. Cost to the city will be one-sixth of the cost of the paving.

Actually the government will pay half of both the curb and the paving. On the paving, the government will pay half and residents will pay two-thirds of the remaining half and the city will pay the other third.

The bids received are as follows: Guess Truck Company of Princeton, $24.85 per foot on the curbs for a total of $22,212.46; Wilkins Construction Company of Calvert City, $3.83 per foot on the curbs for a total of $34,880.27 and $9,254.30 for the paving; J. O. Evans Company, $4.00 per foot on the curbs for a total of $36,428.48 and $9,254.30 on the paving; Middlewest Roads, Gilbertsville, $3.95 per foot on the curbs for a total of $35,973.12 and $6,570.55 on the paving.

The bids were opened yesterday morning at 9:30 in the city hall with the following present: Mayor Ellis, Street Committee Chairman Prentice Lassiter, several residents of the subdivision, Consulting Engineer Evans McGraw, City Clerk Stanford Andrus, and Bob Goetzman, representing the Atlanta office of the Housing and Home Finance Agency.

Mayor Ellis indicated that he was pleased with the bids and said that he felt that the price was a good one.

White House Will Have Many Memories For Mrs. Kennedy

By HELEN THOMAS
WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy moves out of the White House today, leaving behind a personal touch and taking with her the bitter-sweet memories of her nearly three-year stay.

With her two children, Mrs. Kennedy will live in a house lent to her by Undersecretary of State W. Averell Harriman.

Her last official act will be a farewell to the household staff, which stays on to serve President Johnson and his family. Johnson is expected to move into the 160-room mansion over the weekend.

But for one member of the Kennedy family, the parting will be only temporary. Six-year-old Caroline will be back to attend class at the school her mother established on the third floor. Below her, in the East Room, the windows and chandeliers still are covered in black crepe in remembrance of her father.

John Had Party
In the middle of the packing Thursday, Mrs. Kennedy took time out to give three-year-old John Jr. a birthday party, making up for the one that was postponed on Nov. 25, the day his father was buried.

During her short stay, Mrs. Kennedy made some sharp changes in the White House. Under her direction, the mansion was furnished with as many period pieces of furniture and works of art she could recruit through public relations.

Most of the Kennedy family's personal belongings have been moved to the Harriman home, but the furniture has been placed in storage.

With Mrs. Kennedy in her new home, will be her personal maid, Providencia Paredes, and the children's nurse, Mrs. Maud Shaw.

More Work Ahead
Despite her leaving, Mrs. Kennedy still will have a heavy workload directly connected to her days in the White House.

To help her are three secretaries, Mrs. Mary Gallagher, who handles her personal affairs; Nancy Tuckerman, former White House

We'll All Go Into Hibernation Now

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC officials said Thursday they hoped to discontinue television personality Jack Paar from quitting his weekly Friday night show.

Paar announced his resignation Thursday, apparently over his dissatisfaction with the network's decision not to expand his show from one hour to 90 minutes. Paar said his decision was "irrevocable."

NBC officials said the expansion had been considered, but it was later decided to fill the 30-minute period before Paar's show with an American version of a British satire to be entitled "That Was the Week That Was."

Mort Werner, vice president in charge of NBC programming, said he was sorry Paar was "so upset," and he added he was "confident we can straighten things out to his and our satisfaction."

Hootenanny To Raise Funds For Choir Tour

The Murray State College A Cappella Choir is sponsoring a "hootenanny" on December 11 in the college auditorium. The purpose of the program is to raise funds for a concert tour of Europe.

On the program will be many artists from Western Kentucky and Tennessee. Among the groups to be featured will be:

Alex. Hill and Jack recently won a contest at the International "Bannana Festival" in Fulton, Kentucky and South Fulton, Tennessee. For placing first in a field of more than fifty entries, they won an appearance on Ted Mack's Original Amateur Hour in Chicago. "This group," says Billy Ed Wheeler, writer of such hits as the "Reverend Mr. Black," "Dessert Pete," and "Sassafras," "seems to have a sound which is a combination of the Kingston Trio and the Chad Mitchell Trio.

"Cotton" Etheridge is the Negro spiritual enthusiast who captures the audience with humorous anecdotes and his heartfelt warmth for people.

The Post Road Singers are a traveling group of "hootenanners" who have performed in Kentucky, Tennessee, and Illinois, and have been well received by audiences young and old because of a variety in programming which includes everything from Purist mountain ballads to Negro spirituals.

The Cavaliers have toured eight mid-western and southern states with their outstanding trio. They have appeared on radio and television and have had their own program on WDXI in Jackson, Tennessee. One of their group is a noted radio and television personality from Vancouver, British Columbia.

Phil Sparks is a well known folk singer around western Kentucky. He is known for his vast repertoire of Purist mountain ballads which he performs with a style all his own. Everyone is invited to come and participate, or to just sit back and enjoy themselves. General admission — $1.00. Time — 8-10.

TV CAMEOS: Jim Nabors He May Spin-Off to Video Stardom

By ED MISURELL

LIKE MOST THINGS, the cost of making TV pilot films has risen considerably. Today, putting together a half-hour pilot averages $75,000; an hour show usually more than double that figure. Unfortunately, if the show falls to interest a sponsor, all the producer has for his efforts is a small can of film lying on a shelf and a big financial hole on his books.

Time was when pilots were made with smaller expenditures and were turned out like crazy. At today's prices, new pilots are the exception rather than the rule. Replacing them in part is a new gimmick—the spin-off.

This is a method whereby a performer is given a major role in one episode of an established series and, after the program has been telecast, this particular spin-off is used to try to snare a sponsor for a proposed new series. If it doesn't, nobody is out any money and the spin-off has served its original purpose as a segment in the series already on the air.

TYPICAL IS WHAT happened to Jim Nabors recently. He is a comparative unknown in the Danny Thomas-Sheldon Leonard stable of performers who appear in some four or five weekly TV series. Regular viewers of "The Andy Griffith Show" might remember him as Gomer Pyle, the rube-like gas station attendant who made his first appearance in the series last season.

"THIRTY-SEVEN OLD Nabors pointed out that he had never acted before he went on the Griffith show. "When I started I was very self-conscious about doing the right thing and not being like an idiot," he said. "Fortunately, Andy and Don [Knotts] were very patient with me. Consequently it has been a marvelous experience for me. I've learned a lot from working with them both."

Like Griffith, Nabors hails from a small southern town. He was born and went to school in Sylacauga, Ga. The population numbers about 12,000. After graduation with a business administration degree, Jim headed for New York.

"I worked for the United Nations as a typist," he said, "and followed that with a couple of warehouse jobs. Then I went to work on a small TV station in Tennessee where I sang on a number of programs. That was my first brush with show business."

"I DECIDED that I wanted to live in California so I took off for the coast. I landed a job as an assistant film editor. After work I spent my time at 'The Horn,' a bistro in Santa Monica where newcomers are allowed to get up and perform or sing."

Spotted by Bill Dana, then a writer for Steve Allen, Jim soon became a regular performer on Allen's show. In time he came to the attention of Andy Griffith who made a place for him as Gomer Pyle on his weekly program.

"Whether or not I make it with a series of my own," said Jim, "I'm grateful for the chance. I can't say myself a pretty lucky guy."

Commercialism Vehicle In Contests Is Argued

By RICK DU BROW

United Press International

HOLLYWOOD — I don't know what's happening to girls. The other night at the supermarket, I saw a gorgeous thing by the Saturday Review, Scientific American and Consumer Reports. Some girl. Some supermodel.

Well, obviously we have to do something to keep our old-fashioned girls. And one of the things we could do is take a hard look at the commercialism of beauty contests as illustrated by Sunday night's NBC-TV study of a lovely Texas coed who somehow managed to come through her basic training for the Miss America Pageant.

Anyone who has ever seen the close-up workings of beauty contests knows they are generally as heart-warming as firms that start pushing Christmas sales even before Thanksgiving is here. Some of the judges wouldn't know a Ball dancer from a ballet dancer or belly dancer.

Despite the accepted silliness she had to go through, I got to like Sunday night's contestant, Jeanne Richey Amacker, Beaumont, Texas, because when she wasn't caught up in the madness of staged naturalness, she revealed a down-to-earth warmth and eyes that showed humor. In fact, I was relieved when she finally lost the Miss America competition after becoming Miss Texas, because I didn't want her to have to go through any more commercial pressures. She got $10,000 in rewards for being chosen Miss Texas, and earned every penny of it.

After Miss Amacker was selected as Miss Texas, we saw a business meeting at which it was stipulated that she had to agree not to get married for a year, and that every news release had to be cleared. There were big stakes: $100,000 for the Miss America prize, and also personal appearances as Miss Texas.

At times Sunday night, the straight-faced approach of the cameras—minus narration—amounted to high satire by merely displaying some of the goings-on. At times, this objective approach brought home the point that truth is stranger than fiction by making one woman at the enormous amount of work poured into such an event.

But best of all, the program, though pointing up the events that could make one shudder, never forgot that some very nice young ladies were doing the best they could as contestants. Thus, it was not smug in its consideration of them personally. And thus it was not only a chivalrous program, but a tasteful, human one. It was the system that was put on trial by the cameras.

move in committee to address without reporting the bill out of the floor action. The motion carried with votes to spare.

While the inspection bill was bogged down in committee this week, the compromise judicial bill was reported out of the Rules Committee and was passed by the House Wednesday by a vote of 54-34.

Effective Jan. 1, 1964, the salaries of judges on the Court of Appeals will be increased from $12,000 a year to $20,000 and the annual pay to commissioners of the appellate court will be increased from $11,500 to $17,500.

On Jan. 6, 1964, the date of the beginning of their new terms, circuit judges will be entitled to $14,900 annually instead of $10,000. Both the old salary scale and the new rates for circuit judges include $2,400 a year compensation paid to them for acting as special commissioners of the Court of Appeals.

Separate Ballots Provided

The act also provides for separate ballots in judicial contests. Candidates for judge will continue to vote in primary elections and under the party label, but judicial races will be on separate portions of the ballot.

Citizens will no longer be able to cast votes in judicial contests by pulling the straight party lever, but will have to vote specifically for individual judicial candidates.

The bill the legislature approved was not quite what the governor had asked for, but there was little doubt that it was satisfactory to the administration.

A high administration official commented that "we never had any doubt that the judges' bill would pass, and at the outset the emphasis among the legislators seemed to be that a pay raise of sorts was in order."

The nonpartisan ballot feature of the bill, however, drew heavy criticism and was amended in the Senate Rules Committee to read as it appeared when enacted.

The inspection bill was another matter. As happened this past week, the 1962 inspection bill was passed by the Senate and later killed in the House.

Dear Abby . . .

Too Old for the Count!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Ten months ago I started taking piano lessons. I am 41. A few days ago my piano teacher handed me a copy of THE BLUE DANUBE WALTZ and said that was to be my recital piece. I protested, but she refused to take me seriously. I told her I'd let her know. What I want to know is, am I obligated to play in her recital?

Just what is the purpose of a recital? For whose benefit is it? The pupils' or the teacher's? I never expect to play publicly, so why should I play in a recital to "gain confidence"? I am her only adult pupil, and can't see myself in a recital with a lot of children. I've attended some of her recitals. She stands in the wings and counts. What would YOU tell her, Abby?

THINKING IT OVER
DEAR ABBY: I'd tell her not to count on me.

DEAR ABBY: A church-going neighbor of high moral character needs desperately to be told what to do with her hair. She can't afford to go to a beauty parlor, so she fixes it herself. It has been bleached until it looks like hay. And she sets it in those tight little ringlets that were popular 25 years ago. This woman has two lovely daughters who will soon be in their teens and, Abby, you know when a mother looks like she is working at the oldest profession, she spoils her daughters' chances for popularity. I don't know this woman well enough to tell her myself, but shouldn't somebody tell her?

GOOD NEIGHBOR
DEAR GOOD: If a friend doesn't tell her, a stranger certainly can't. Perhaps her daughters will, eventually. But if "popularity" depends on how one's mother wears her hair, who needs it?

DEAR ABBY: Would you call a

KIAC Gets Off To A Bad Start

By United Press International
The Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference basketball title race began Thursday night, but Campbellsville College — which isn't even in the league, although it would like to be — stole the show.

Campbellsville, after blowing a 20-point lead in the second half, recovered its equilibrium and went on to upset Georgetown, favorite for the KIAC title, 102-100, at Georgetown.

Don Payne, who scored a total of 25 points from Campbellsville, netted four of them in the final 30 seconds of play to pull out the victory.

Campbellsville had taken a 46-44 halftime lead, then seemingly blew Georgetown right out of the game as the second half opened to take a 77-57 lead.

In the first KIAC conference game of the season, Transylvania pulled away from Pikeville late in the first half and went on to a 74-65 victory at Lexington.

Murray State's Thoroughbreds displayed the well-balanced attack and rebounding strength that has made them a pre-season favorite for the Ohio Valley Conference title in winning Oglethorpe, 83-57.

Murray rolled to a 42-18 lead at intermission by hitting 55 per cent of its shots in the first half, and reserves took over the proceedings for most of the second half. Jim Jennings tallied 19 for Murray and Steve Johnson contributed 16.

The games are scheduled for Kentucky college teams tonight, St. Francis of Pennsylvania visiting Kentucky Wesleyan and Pikeville playing at Berea in a KIAC contest.

Bulldogs Of Male Reign As Champs Of Class AAA Teams

LOUISVILLE 4P — The Bulldogs of Louisville Male reigned as Class AAA champions of Kentucky high school football today after closing out a perfect season Thursday night with a 23-7 victory over Waggener in their delayed title game.

Murray State gave the school an 11-0 record for the season and made it the first to claim two of the Class AAA titles since the playoff system was inaugurated in Kentucky high school football in 1959. Male won the 1960 championship.

For Waggener, it was the first defeat of the season after 10 straight victories.

Waggener put up a stiffer battle to become the first county team to defeat a city team in championship play than the bare score might indicate.

After yielding touchdowns in the first two periods, both scored by Male halfback Claude Smith, Waggener scored itself before the half on a plunge by Ben Boone.

In the third period, Waggener drove 63 yards only to lose the ball for Male's one-yard line on a fumble.

Had Waggener scored, the momentum might have produced upset, but as it was the rest of the game was all Male's.

The Bulldogs soon mounted an 83-yard drive of their own that was stopped on the Waggener one, also by a fumble, but produced a safety shortly thereafter when Gene Malone blocked Roger Smith's end zone punt.

In the final period Male went 59 yards for another touchdown, Al Jordan scoring on a four-yard jaunt.

Murray High Wins Opener Last Night

The Murray High School Tigers opened their 1963-64 basketball season by defeating the Farmington team 67-45 in a game played at the Murray gym last night.

The Tigers showed surprising strength last night on the floor and on the bench. The Tigers have a strong bench this year to back up the starting five which could give Coach Larry Henson one of the best teams in Murray High history.

At the end of the first stanza the Tigers were leading 17-9 and were never pressed during the game with the half time score being 27-20.

High scorers for the Murray team were Bramley with 12 and Pugh and Rose with 10 each. Amley led the Farmington scheme by hitting the net for 17 points.

All-American Squad Named Today By UPI

By LEO H. PETERSEN
UPI Sports Editor
NEW YORK 4P — United Press International presents its 1963 All-American football team with Navy's Roger Staubach leading the way.

Chosen as the finest 11 players to perform on collegiate football fields this season in a nationwide ballot of 365 football writers and broadcasters were:

Dick Kuktus of Illinois at center.

Staubach, Gale Sayers of Kansas, Sherman Lewis of Michigan State and Jay Wilkinson of Duke in the backfield.

It is a big, fast team. That the voters made no mistakes in their selections is evidenced by the fact that seven of the 11 players eligible were picked high in the draft of the professional football league clubs.

It is led by one of the most brilliant quarterbacks in college football history and two linemen whom the pros have labeled as "can't miss" stars.

Staubach Led Voting
Staubach, who in directing Navy to one of its most successful seasons won the Heisman Trophy as the most valuable college football player of the year, led the voting with a total of 2,916 points — only 439 points short of a perfect score.

Appleton, a key factor in Texas winning the national championship, was the top vote getter among the linemen with 2,556 points with Butkus next with 2,492.

Staubach and Butkus are two of the four juniors on the mythical team — the first time since 1965 that many juniors have made a UPI All-American team.

The other juniors are Redman and Saver.

Geographically, the team is dominated by the Midwest with four players — Butkus, Brown, Kelly and Lewis. There are two each from the Far West and Midlands and one each from the East, South and Southwest. Only the Rockies failed to land a berth on the all-star team and the state of football in that section is reflected by the fact that not a single player from that geographical section of the nation made the second or third teams.

South Dominates
The South dominated the squad of 33 players named to the first UPI All-American team. There were only two eligible — halfback Mel Renfro of Oregon and guard Jack Cvercko of Northwestern. Both were handicapped by injuries this season, but Renfro made the third team and Cvercko led the honorable mention among guards.

Burke was the only first team player who was on one of the three mythical teams in 1962. He was named to the third team this year.

In height, Eller is the giant of the team at 6-foot-5. In weight it is Brown at 269.

The line is one of the heaviest ever — averaging 230 pounds. Burke is the lightest at 201. The backfield, however, is one of the lightest with an average of 183, due to the fact that Lewis weighs only 154.

The closest contest for first team positions came for the two backs to go along with Staubach and Sayers. Both Lewis and Wilkinson wound up with the same number of points — 1,319. They beat out Paul Martha of Pittsburgh by 110 points. Eleven points were awarded for a first place vote and six for a second.

Lead Second Team
Martha's 1,209 points led the second team voting. The second team backfield is rounded out by Jim Graham, Oklahoma; Don Truitt, Baylor and Billy Lohridge, Georgia Tech.

The line is composed of Billy Martin, Georgia Tech and Larry Ellison of Baylor at ends; Ralph Neely, Oklahoma and Whaley Hall, Mississippi at tackles; Damon Bame, Southern California and Dick Nowak, Army at guards and Pat Watson, Mississippi State at center.

It marked the second straight year that Bame made the second team. Lohridge was on the third team last year.

Selected to the third team were: Ends — Mel Profit, UCLA and John Simmons, Tulsa.
Tackles — Herschel Turner, Kentucky and Archie Sutton, Illinois.
Guards — Steve Delong, Tennessee and Earl Lattimer, Michigan State.
Center — Malcolm Walker, Rice.

Honorable mention (all players receiving four or more votes): Ends — Bedsole, Southern California, 510; Parks, Texas Tech, 453; Lacey, North Carolina, 350; Truax,

Hustling MSC Racers Swamp Oglethorpe 83 to 57 In The Second Game Of Season

Racers Face Bradley Tomorrow

Murray State, which has breezed through its first two basketball games of the season, tackles mighty Bradley in the Murray arena Saturday night.

The Braves, one of the favorites along with Cincinnati and Wichita to win the Missouri Valley Conference championship, figure to be one of the toughest teams on the Murray schedule.

Racers fans were buzzing after Thursday night's 83-57 win over Oglethorpe. Expecting a battle for their lives from the Petrels, one of the top small college teams in the country, the Racers parlayed a paralyzing defense and a shot shooting hand into a 22-8 lead with 6 minutes to go.

The Racers finished the half with a 42-18 lead, having hit on 55 per cent of their shots. They built their lead to 33 points midway of the second half before emptying the bench and finishing the game with reserves.

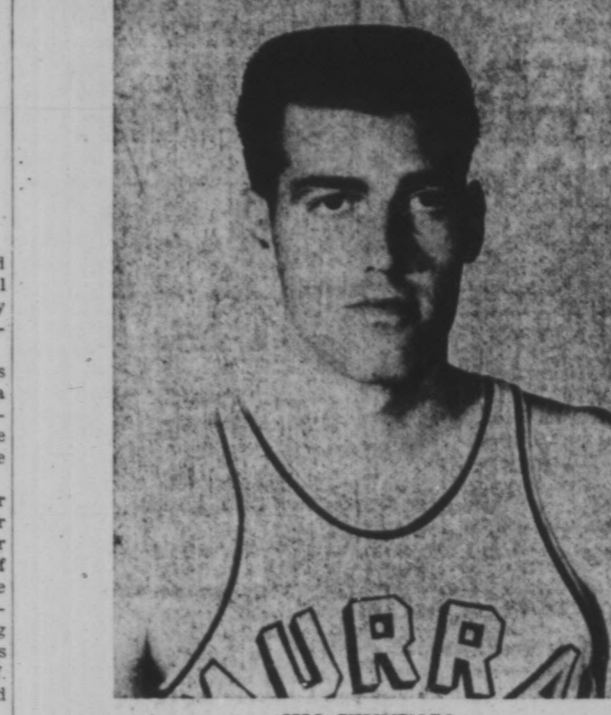

Murray Coach Cal Luther said he couldn't be more pleased with his team's defense and hustle. "They had great spirit and desire. We have the utmost respect for Oglethorpe and I'm really delighted to beat a team as good as they are so thoroughly."

Luther said the only sour note of the game was the Racers' free-throw shooting. They managed to hit only 21 of 35 attempts. "We can't shoot free-throws like that and expect to beat a team like Bradley."

Turning to the Braves, Luther said he had talked to assistant coach Bennie Purcell who scouted them in their game Wednesday night against Idaho State and that Purcell had said they were one of the finest teams he had ever seen play.

Luther scouted the Braves first game, and although they had a ragged first effort, said that he too was tremendously impressed with their potential.

After two games, Jim Jennings leads the Racers in scoring with a

JIM JENNINGS
High Scorer With 19 Points

16 point average. Stewart Johnson has averaged 14.5. Gene Pendleton 11.5, Scott Schlosser and John Namcu 10.5 each, and Al Varnas 5.

Johnson leads in rebounding with an average of 19 while Jennings has an average of 14.5. Pendleton is the team's leading percentage shooter having hit on 10 of 17 shots for 59 per cent.

The crowd for the Bradley game promises to be one of the largest of the season. Chair-back seats are already sold out, but plenty of reserve bleachers are available.

The racer frosh team, 1-1 for the season, will play Bethel Junior College in a 6 o'clock preliminary. The varsity game will begin at 8.

Petrels Are Easily Downed In Ball Hawking Game Last Night

Hustling Murray State combined a tenacious defense and a fast attack to soundly whip highly touted Oglethorpe University of Atlanta 83-57 in the Sports Arena here last night.

The ball-hawking Racers put Coach Garland Finholster's tall and talented Petrels out of the contest quickly holding a formidable lead early in the first half.

Murray took the lead at 1-0 and never looked back in a surprising show of strength and spirit in the second game of the young season.

Oglethorpe knotted the score at 1-1 and 3-3 in the infant stages of the game but fell behind quickly and trailed 14-4 after five and one-half minutes of play.

The control-minded Petrels were smothered by the "Bred" defense for an eight-minute span in which they scored only two points while Murray raced to a 22-8 advantage.

Jim Jennings contributed 15 of his 19 points and Gene Pendleton his total output of 11 in a first half attack that saw Murray leading 42-18 at the intermission.

Oglethorpe found the going equally tough as the second half got underway and the Racers moved out to their biggest margin of the game, 33 points, at 55-22 on a bucket by Schlosser with 13:08 to go.

Coach Cal Luther again emptied the bench in the last ten minutes of play and eleven players broke into the scoring column.

The Petrels with a front line that averages 6'8 and a zone defense that bottles up most of their opponents, was expected to give Murray a real test of strength. Last year the Thoroughbreds were hard-pressed to take a 50-45 win after trailing much of the way.

It was a different contest last night though as the determined Racers upset the pattern play of the visitors with a sticky defense and a fast-breaking offense.

Jennings' 19 points were high for Murray. Stewart Johnson followed with 16 and Gene Pendleton contributed 11.

Robby Sexton, a 6'7 sophomore paced the visitors with 20 markers. He was followed by Bobby Dalgleish with 12 points.

Murray will not be able to rest on its laurels as the ever-powerful Bradley Braves invade the field house Saturday night.

Last season Coach "Ozzie" Osborne warned, "Wait 'til next year! We'll make them all sweat! I'll have the best center in college basketball in 6'9 Joe Strawder and one of the finest group of sophs I have had in my coaching career here at Bradley."
