DEMOS SEEK COMPROMISE IN SEATING

Split Feared As Leaders Try To Smooth Southern Groups

ATLANTIC CITY (UPI) Democrats tried today to resolve a national convention fight over the Alabama and Mississippi delegations and avert a party split which could only help the Republicans in November.

The party was all set to nominate Lyndon B. Johnson for President and his still unannounced choice for running mate, whoever he may be.

That will come on Wednesday the eve of Johnson's birthday anniversary.

But the controversy over seating the two Southern delegations was a blow to party harmony, and officials hoped it could be settled before the opening gavel falls at 8:30 p. m. (EDT) in Atlantic City's mammoth Convention Hall.

As party leaders wrestled with this problem, various compromise suggestions were advanced and debated.

Under a decision made Sunday by the Credentials Committee, the Alabama delegation could take its seat by taking a loyalty oath to support the national ticket in November against the GOP's Barry M. Goldwater and William F. Buckley Jr.

Alabama Reform But most of the Alabama delegates refused on the ground that they should not be asked to take an oath not required by all delegations.

The Mississippi case was more complicated inasmuch as it involves a seating contest between an all-white regular party delegation and a predominantly Negro Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party group.

Louisiana National Committeewoman Blanche Long reported that her state delegation has been assured the all-white delegation would be seated, Mrs. Long is a member of the credentials committee.

But a statement issued by the rival Freedom Group asserted that a compromise plan was winning support and might be brought to the convention floor if necessary.

Under it, each member of both delegations who pledged party loyalty would be seated and Mississippi votes in the convention would be divided proportionally between two groups.

Seeks Another Compromise Irving Kaler of Georgia, another member of the credentials committee also said a compromise was being sought in the Mississippi fight.

He said the problem was to respect the legal foundation of the regular delegation while at the same time "to be sympathetic to the moral basis on which the Mississippi Freedom delegation have couched their appeal."

The Freedom party contends the regular delegation sacrificed its right to be seated by barring Negroes from participation in Mississippi politics.

Delegations of states not directly involved in the issue were caught between dictators of the emotions and those of practical politics.

California leaders, for example, sympathized with the Mississippi Freedom delegation but feared a party division which would hurt Johnson and help Goldwater in the South.

In the meantime, the Indiana delegation adopted a resolution declaring that in all contests the delegation should be required first to pledge support for the ticket nominated by the convention.

Predicts Settlement Gov. Carl Sanders of Georgia predicted the Alabama and Mississippi dispute would be worked out within the credentials committee without erupting into a fight on the convention floor.

Leaders said that the party plank on civil rights would be one the Southern delegations could support.

I-24 Route To Be Delayed At Least A Year

FRANKFORT, Ky., Aug. 23. — The Kentucky Highway Commissioner said the exact route of Interstate 24 in Western Kentucky may not be known for another year.

Commissioner Henry Ward also said it seems safe to assume bids won't be let on the superhighway until at least 1966.

In an interview, Mr. Ward said the next step in the lingering Interstate 24 issue will be to hold several public hearings — maybe in September or early October.

These hearings are aimed at determining the economic effects on certain areas of locating the new four-lane road.

"It will be a year before the exact location is known except in the instances where we must pinpoint bridges and interchanges," Mr. Ward said.

The route approved this week by the Federal Government calls for construction of 177 miles of Interstate 24 from Nashville through Western Kentucky to near Pulley's Mill, Ill.

Mr. Ward said 904 miles would be built through Kentucky at an estimated cost of about 97 million dollars — including bridges over the Ohio, Tennessee and Cumberland rivers.

The corridor location is known now, but Mr. Ward said the corridor can be as much as three miles wide.

"We will have to work with the Tennessee and Illinois highway departments to get together on where the roads will meet exactly at the state lines," Mr. Ward said.

Kentucky will have funds available to match Federal aid for Interstate 24 in Kentucky.

About half the interstate highways in the state are finished. By law, every such road must be under construction by 1969.

"We're focusing on engineering and clearing right-of-way now," Mr. Ward said. "Then we'll have a lot of flexibility on picking our projects."

Kentucky will have funds available to match Federal aid for Interstate 24. He said the ratio of Federal aid in this instance is 9-1.

Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

Another letter from our friend J. B. Curd.

He reminds us that when his grandfather owned a grocery in Murray, W. Rainey Wells, father of Rainey T. Wells, was in and bought the following:

yards of flannel for $1.75 per yard, some calico for fifty cents per yard and one quart of whiskey for twelve and one-half cents. This was on March 11, 1863.

On the next day, March 12, Mr. Wells became the father of "a noble son", James K. P. Wells. "A most lovable man by all who knew him."

Mr. Curd also said that Mr. Wells was the father of a son endowed with integrity who was instrumental in the making of Murray State College. None other than the Honorable Rainey T. Wells.

He adds that everything is so different now.

It is differed in many respects Mr. Curd. It seems that honesty, decency, integrity, and fair dealing has given way to the blustering loud mouth, the liar and the deceiver who makes false statements to the point of sneering to them under oath, but we imagine the human nature has never changed since the dawn of time. The decent fellow will always be respected even though he may never be able to obtain all the earthly wealth of the liar and the person of sharp practices.

Sunday's Commercial-Tribune had an editorial in which the Tribute to a Dog by George Graham Vest was printed. Vest was a senator and Congressman from Missouri, born in 1830 and died in 1904. His tribute is a classic and we reprint it here for your enjoyment.

"The best friend a man has in the world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name, may become traitors to their faith."

"The money a man has in the world may fly away from him when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is within our grasp, may be the first to throw stones of malice when failure settles its clouds upon our heads."

"The one absolutely unselfish friend that a man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never (Continued On Page Four)

"I think the Democratic Party is on the road to victory. We seek understanding, harmony and accommodations."

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. - Sen. Eugene McCarthy (D-Minn.), contending that Republican vice presidential candidate William F. Miller will be a tough campaigner:

WASHINGTON - A Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) document, which has disturbed Johnson administration officials because it implies that a compromise with the Communists may eventually be necessary in South Viet Nam:

"The counter-guerrilla effort continues to founder, partly because of the inherent difficulty of the problem and partly because Diem's successors have not yet demonstrated the leadership and the inspiration necessary. There remains serious doubt that victory can be won, and the situation remains very fragile."

ST. LOUIS, Mo. - Joseph Cardinal Ritter, Catholic archbishop of St. Louis, conceding there is opposition among American Catholics to the use of English in the Mass:

"To be candid, there is among our people, among our clergy throughout the country, some slowness to accept the changes. It's the law. It's a Constitution. It's promulgated. It is as much a doctrine as any of the doctrines we have, any of our beliefs. It is not a dogmatic affair, but it is mandatory."

Al Lopez Says Sox Can Still Make It

By CURT BLOCK UPI Sports Writer

Al Lopez keeps insisting his White Sox can do it, and if they do it'll be with the same formula they used five years ago—pitching, speed and defense but hairy arm power.

Chicago slugged, punched and sliced 13 hits in Sunday's doubleheader with Baltimore. Eleven were singles and the other two doubles but they still wound up with a split and saved themselves from a humiliating four-game sweep by the Orioles to stay within reach of the top 15 games back.

Lopez called on southpaw Gary Peters, 1963 rookie-of-the-year, to apply the brakes to the White Sox skid and extract a pesky thorn from the manager's side. Causing Lopez Houston was third baseman Brooks Robinson.

The series opened Friday with the Sox leading the Orioles by a half game. Bobby drove in the winning run both Friday and Saturday and had three hits and two RBIs in the first game Sunday.

Chicago's scratch single in the top of the ninth scored winning pitcher Al Worthington with the winning run after Minnesota first baseman Don Mincher tied the game with a grand slam homer that cleared the right field roof in the eighth.

Detroit catcher Bill Freehan hit two runtdrivers while Gates Brown and Don Demeter chimed in with one apiece in the ninthcap. Hank Aguirre spaced five hits to gain his third win of the campaign.

Bill Brown's fifth inning homer and Dick Green's single later that inning gave starter Diego Segui his eighth win in 19 decisions. A reliever John Wyatt, who entered the game in the ninth, picked up his 19th save. Washington's Willie Kattman and Ed Brinkman drove in five runs between them as Fran Kreuzer beat Jose Santiago in the ninthcap.

Singles by Chicago's Robinson, Floyd, Bill Skowron, and former Orioles, Ron Hansen and Dav Nicholson and a throwing error by Sam Bowers gave Chicago's second game run.

In other American League games:

New York 8 Boston 0, 2nd, night.

Baltimore 7 Chicago 3, 1st.

Chicago 3 Baltimore 1, 2nd.

Minnesota 6 Detroit 5, 1st.

Detroit 5 Minnesota 3, 2nd.

Cleveland 4 Los Angeles 2, 1st.

Cleveland 3 Los Angeles 2, 2nd.

Kansas City 3 Washington, 1, 2nd.

Washington 3 Kansas City 5, 2nd.

New York 4 Boston 3.

Tuesday's Games:

L. Angeles at Kansas City, night.

Minnesota at Chicago, night.

Cleveland at Baltimore, night.

Washington at New York, night.

Detroit at Boston, night.

50,000 Expected To View The Mets And Yankees Tonight

By CURT BLOCK UPI Sports Writer

A new capacity crowd of 50,000 is expected to gather at Shea Stadium tonight to watch the hottest rivalry in baseball.

It's the annual Mayor's Trophy exhibition game between New York's two teams, but the twist in this case is that the Mets are the hot ones while the Yankees have been slumping.

The American League apparently aren't taking the game too seriously. They've recalled Jim Brennan from their Richmond farm club to pitch and Manager Yogi Berra has indicated he might even play and will go with reserves most of the way. Ed Casey Stengel, who can be sure, will be out to win.

Stengel may whisper some well wishes into Berra's ear and include a few jibes about how the Mets have won seven of their last eight, shyly omitting any reference to the games behind column.

Takes Doubleheader

The Stengelmans took two thrillers from the Chicago Cubs Sunday 2-1 and 5-4 with late inning rallies and although it didn't change the National League pennant race drastically it sent the fans home crying for more and to get it at the expense of the Yankees.

Ed Kronekoff's bases-loaded single in the 10th inning of the opener gave the cellar-dwellers their opening game win. The hit came off southpaw Leroy Gregory but Bob Buhl put the men on base and took the loss.

Leroy Bill Hunter pitched a total of 1-2-3 innings in the doubleheader but was credited with both victories. In the second game, the Mets worked their miracle in the 10th and ninth. Bobby Klaus, who poked his third homer of the year in his previous trip to the plate, opened with a single. He moved to second on a sacrifice and to third on a wild pitch.

The next two men were walked intentionally to load the bases but Charley Smith fouled the strategy with a line single to left that gave Hunter his third win of the season.

Other NL Action

In Sunday's other National League action, Philadelphia bested Pittsburgh 9-3, Los Angeles shutout Cincinnati 1-0, San Francisco edged past St. Louis 9-2, and Houston outclassed Milwaukee 7-4.

In the American League, Baltimore split with Chicago, winning the first 7-3 and losing the nightcap 3-1. New York tripped Boston 4-3. Cleveland took a pair from Los Angeles 6-4 and 3-2. Minnesota beat Detroit 6-5, and then lost 5-2, and Kansas City split with Washington, winning 3-1 and losing 8-5.

The Phillies upped their lead to 7½ games behind the slugging right-hander Richie Allen. The righthanded swinging third baseman powered his 22nd and 23rd homers of the year and added a single to drive in four runs and lead a 16-hit attack against five Pirate hurlers.

Jim Bunning worked seven innings in 91-degree heat and gained his 14th victory against only four defeats. John Bower pitched one-hit ball over the final two innings. Roberto Clemente and Donn Clendenon blasted home runs for Pittsburgh and ousted Gus Triandos, who contributed his fifth of the season with one on for the Phils.

Three Three-Hitter

Los Angeles righthander Phil Ortega fanned eight and gave up only three hits in his first complete game since May 19. Cincinnati starter and loser Jim O'Toole yielded the game's run when O'Toole singled home Nate Oliver from third.

Cardinal second baseman Dal Maxvile booted Harvey Kuenn's two-out grounder in the 10th and allowed Jay Alou to score from third as Barney Schultz, who hasn't pitched an earned run this year, suffered his second loss with a strike. Lita Brock broke a string of six straight strikeouts with an eighth inning homer that sent the game into extra innings.

Billy O'Dell got the win and evened his record at 6-4.

Stengel may whisper some well wishes into Berra's ear and include a few jibes about how the Mets have won seven of their last eight, shyly omitting any reference to the games behind column.

Takes Doubleheader

The Stengelmans took two thrillers from the Chicago Cubs Sunday 2-1 and 5-4 with late inning rallies and although it didn't change the National League pennant race drastically it sent the fans home crying for more and to get it at the expense of the Yankees.

Ed Kronekoff's bases-loaded single in the 10th inning of the opener gave the cellar-dwellers their opening game win. The hit came off southpaw Leroy Gregory but Bob Buhl put the men on base and took the loss.

Leroy Bill Hunter pitched a total of 1-2-3 innings in the doubleheader but was credited with both victories. In the second game, the Mets worked their miracle in the 10th and ninth. Bobby Klaus, who poked his third homer of the year in his previous trip to the plate, opened with a single. He moved to second on a sacrifice and to third on a wild pitch.

The next two men were walked intentionally to load the bases but Charley Smith fouled the strategy with a line single to left that gave Hunter his third win of the season.

Other NL Action

In Sunday's other National League action, Philadelphia bested Pittsburgh 9-3, Los Angeles shutout Cincinnati 1-0, San Francisco edged past St. Louis 9-2, and Houston outclassed Milwaukee 7-4.

In the American League, Baltimore split with Chicago, winning the first 7-3 and losing the nightcap 3-1. New York tripped Boston 4-3. Cleveland took a pair from Los Angeles 6-4 and 3-2. Minnesota beat Detroit 6-5, and then lost 5-2, and Kansas City split with Washington, winning 3-1 and losing 8-5.

The Phillies upped their lead to 7½ games behind the slugging right-hander Richie Allen. The righthanded swinging third baseman powered his 22nd and 23rd homers of the year and added a single to drive in four runs and lead a 16-hit attack against five Pirate hurlers.

Jim Bunning worked seven innings in 91-degree heat and gained his 14th victory against only four defeats. John Bower pitched one-hit ball over the final two innings. Roberto Clemente and Donn Clendenon blasted home runs for Pittsburgh and ousted Gus Triandos, who contributed his fifth of the season with one on for the Phils.

Three Three-Hitter

Los Angeles righthander Phil Ortega fanned eight and gave up only three hits in his first complete game since May 19. Cincinnati starter and loser Jim O'Toole yielded the game's run when O'Toole singled home Nate Oliver from third.

Cardinal second baseman Dal Maxvile booted Harvey Kuenn's two-out grounder in the 10th and allowed Jay Alou to score from third as Barney Schultz, who hasn't pitched an earned run this year, suffered his second loss with a strike. Lita Brock broke a string of six straight strikeouts with an eighth inning homer that sent the game into extra innings.

Billy O'Dell got the win and evened his record at 6-4.

Telephone Talk by TOM BREWER Your Telephone Manager

WHAT HAS FIRST AID GOT TO DO WITH TELEPHONE SERVICE? Just this. As part of his training, your telephone installer-repairman receives first aid instruction. Every five years he goes back for a refresher course on the latest first aid methods and techniques. He uses this training to serve not only his co-workers when necessary, but often injured people in the homes he works in and along the highways.

John: What has two heads, four ears, two mouths, and is miles long? Answer: A telephone conversation.

DID YOU KNOW there are 112 different sizes of telephone poles? The smallest is 16 feet, they go all the way up to 125 feet, 2 1/4 ton giants!

YOU'RE ALWAYS "ON THE SCENE" when you have extension phones in convenient places. In the kitchen where mom does the cooking. In the den where dad does his "after 5:00" work. In the bedroom for quick, easy answering during rest hours. For the greatest convenience at the lowest possible cost, try extension telephones in your home.

FAST TALK: Your voice travels through the air at about 1,100 feet a second, but by telephone it travels 186,300 miles a second... the speed of electricity! During a 3-minute Long Distance call you can say all the words in the average 2-page letter. If you talk slowly this would be about 450 words. If you're a fast talker the number would rise to about 750. There are 267 words in the Gettysburg address which is a rather round-about way of proving that you can say a lot of important things for very little money when you call Long Distance.

TV CAMEOS: Al Bryant Behind the Scenes Convention 'Keynoter'

By ED MISUREL

THIS IS the time of year when leases expire, jobs change, houses are sold, and people move lock, stock and barrel to new locations. There are a thousand and one things to think of and ten thousand things to do. It's a big, fat headache to many of those involved in the migrations.

But most of the problems that arise should never have come up at all, according to Al Bryant of CBS.

Al's well qualified to discuss the pros and cons of the subject for as Director of CBS Services for the network he's just finished the momentous task of transporting some 500 people, their baggage, office supplies and other sundries to the opening of the Democratic National Convention which opens in Atlantic City Aug. 24.

In between conventions, Al directed all key logistics—transportation, food, liquid refreshments, baggage, equipment and what-not—for the Great Gleason Express, a private 12-car train which carried Jackie and Company and others from New York to Miami preparatory to the opening of the comedian's third season. This fall on the CBS network.

"THE SECRET—If you can call it that," said Bryant in his New York office, "lies in detailed planning made far in advance of moving date. In that way you prevent many headaches from arising at the last minute—if any do, you are not overwhelmed or panicked and can cope with them in stride."

"Our office began working on plans for the two conventions more than a year ago. I made numerous trips to San Francisco and Atlantic City to ease the areas in which CBS staffers would work and live. We arranged for the hiring of cars and chauffeurs on a 24-hour basis so that our people could get from their hotels to the convention halls and other key spots without delay."

Weeks before a convention opens, Bryant and his immediate staff make out a master list of personnel going to it. "This list is revised and kept up to date right to the moment of departure," he added.

"On their arrival, workers are given assignment sheets, a master map of where everyone is located and how they can be reached, and individual instruction cards. We leave nothing to chance."

In addition, before the convention opens, Bryant rents hotel rooms, office space, furniture, typewriters and other supplies. What they can't rent, they buy or transport from headquarters in New York.

"Whatever anybody needs in the way of equipment," he said, "we must provide. We also hire lots of local help to aid our regular staff."

As Director of Office Services, Al presides over a staff of 127 persons. "As the network grew, so did our staff," he related.

"It's a far cry from the days when I came to work for CBS when I was 17."

When I came to work for CBS when I was 17.

When I came to work for CBS when I was 17.

When I came to work for CBS when I was 17.

Before taking off for the Democratic Convention in Atlantic City, Al Bryant of CBS dictates a note to his secretary.

"Hearthstone" Is Scene Of Brunch Sunday Morning

The wedding day brunch honoring Miss Mary Frank Holcomb, recent bride of Donald Neil Watson, was held at "Hearthstone," home of Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Waldrop, on Sunday morning. Hostesses for the lovely occasion were Mrs. Waldrop, Mrs. Clara Giffir and Miss Ann Griffin.

Miss Holcomb chose a paisley summer suit in shades of yellow silk from her trousseau. The hostesses presented her a corsage of marguerite daisies. Mrs. Holcomb, the bride's mother, wore a white coat dress with navy trim. She was given a corsage similar to the bride's. Mrs. Brooks Watson, mother of the groom, selected beige and her gift corsage was of daisies.

The honoree's table was overlaid with a linen cutwork cloth and featured an arrangement of pink lilies and greenery. Pairs of white wedding bells marked the places for the bridal party seated here.

Cand tables were used for out-of-town guests and families. They were covered in linen cutwork cloths and featured miniature arrangements of the same pink lilies. Arrangements of roses and lilies were used throughout the house.

Miss Holcomb was presented a large silver tray as a wedding gift by the hostesses.

The guest list included Mesdames Jack Hay, Lexington, Tenn., aunt of the bride, James Wilson, Paris, Tenn., aunt of the bride, Bob Mason, Washington, D.C., Janice Sutton, Robert Hubbard, H. B. Bailey, Jr., Brooks Watson, and Misses Linda Lee Hay and Janet Hay, both cousins of the bride from Lexington, Tenn., Katie Bailey, Washington, D.C., Carol Houston, Rochester, Minn., Carol Outland, Rebecca Outland, the honoree, her mother and the hostesses.

SEEN AND HEARD

proves ungrateful or treacherous is his dog.

"A man's dog stands by him in prosperity and in poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely if only he may be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer, he will lick the sores and wounds that come in encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince.

"When all other friends desert, he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces, he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens.

"If misfortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him to guard against danger, to fight against his enemies.

"And when the last scene of all comes, and death takes the master in its embrace, and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by the graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad, but open in alert watchfulness, faithful and true, even in death."

Sweater Of Poet Great Traveller

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — Here's a yarn about a sweater—a heather green, wool, pullover sweater purported to be Dylan Thomas' favorite.

The sweater has crossed the Atlantic seven times and almost made it to the stage of the Plymouth Theatre in New York as part of a costume for Alec Guinness.

It is now being shunted back and forth between two Dylan Thomas Sweaters, you see, were a favorite piece of wearing apparel for Thomas, the late Welsh poet, whose turbulent life has been turned into the drama, "Dylan," by Sidney Michaels, with Sir Alec playing the poet.

His favorite was said to be the bulky knit green one that he carried back and forth between the U. S. A. and Wales on each of three trips.

After his death in 1953, his wife Caitlin gave it to her sister, Brigit Marry, who kept it until 1960. In that year, a friend was visiting her.

Unprepared For Weather
The friend, Jo McDonald, a writer, had just come from Malibu, Calif., and wasn't prepared for the chilling British weather. Mrs. Marry pulled out the sweater.

It warmed Miss McDonald, that winter. She took it with her when she returned to the United States.

In 1963, she needed cash and placed an ad in a Greenwich Village paper. "Dylan Thomas' favorite sweater. Must sell." It was sold for $100 to Mara Lane and Esther Turnbull, fans of Dylan Thomas since their days at Lake Erie College.

Esther was a budding poet and Mara a starting actress.

The two devised a system which would give each fair access to the sweater. They kept it for three months. They read that the system until they kept that "Dylan" was to be produced.

Write To Guinness
They wrote to Sir Alec, told him of their prize, and asked if he wanted to see it.

He saw it and asked if he could borrow it. The girls agreed.

Sir Alec showed it to costume designer Ruth Morley.

Miss Morley liked the color and decided the one used in the play should be much like it.

When Sir Alec told the girls of Miss Morley's decision, they offered the actual sweater to be used on stage.

But Sir Alec declined, saying it meant too much to Esther and Mara.

So Dylan Thomas' favorite sweater did not become a stage costume. Instead it's back on its three-month shuttle between two girls who cherish it. And there's no sign it's about to wear out.

SHADY

NEW YORK (UPI) — Windows with frames too shallow to accommodate standard hardware now can be shaded easily with a new, barely visible bracket. The bracket is curved to follow the narrow contours and in some modern frames and is made of a see-through plastic that "disappears" into the wall color, reports the Window Shade Manufacturers Association. It is rust-proof.

Dear Abby . . .

He's Not Logical!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: A friend of mine and I were looking over some magazines in a drug store. I am 14 and so is he. When we found two we wanted, we put our money down. The owner looked at the magazines and then he gave us a big lecture on how unsuitable the magazines were for decent people. He said they were nothing but trash and he wouldn't want any one of his readers to buy them. He made us feel so cheap we didn't buy them. We want to ask you, Abby: if those magazines were nothing but "trash" and "unsuitable for decent people," what were they doing in his store in the first place?

GOOD QUESTION
DEAR GOOD: The question is better than "good." It's excellent. Why don't you go back and ask him?

DEAR ABBY: I was surprised at your answer disagreeing with the young couple "WILLING" TO WAIT" who preferred buying their furniture as they could afford it. Instead of using a lot of cast-off junk from their relatives' attics. They should have been commended for their attitude in this day when young couples buy everything on credit.

When my husband and I were married, we moved into an empty apartment with two suitcases. We slept on the floor until we could afford a bed. When so-called well-meaning relatives offered us odd pieces of old furniture, we politely refused. We enjoy our love nest all the more because we built it stick by stick together. Yours truly, GLAD WE WAITED on the floor, but if you were offered a bed and turned it down, it's nothing to brag about. I agree, young marrieds shouldn't go into debt in order to have everything immediately. But to refuse furniture because it is "old" is snobbish and impractical. Some "odd pieces" and cast-off "junk" have been transformed into handsome and useful furniture with a bit of sandpaper, paint and ingenuity.

DEAR GLAD: I don't know how long you and your husband slept

DEAR ABBY: I laughed to myself when I read about the bride who married a shouldn't go into debt in order to have everything immediately. But to refuse furniture because it is "old" is snobbish and impractical. Some "odd pieces" and cast-off "junk" have been transformed into handsome and useful furniture with a bit of sandpaper, paint and ingenuity.

"LUCKY"
CONFIDENTIAL TO UNMARRIED AT 27: It is better to be single and lonely than married and miserable. Furthermore, when a man tells you that you're better off without him, believe him.

Sneeze Season Blowing In NORTH CHICAGO, Ill. (UPI) — It's sneezin' season — for hay fever victims.

Those who suffer the most from the annual estimated 250,000 tons of ragweed pollen in 1964, summer breezes sometimes try to plan their vacations to coincide with the heaviest pollen attacks in order to get away from it all.

But almost the entire eastern half of the country is a poor choice for hay fever victims, with the exception of a few areas in the South-east.

Central Florida, where ragweed pollinates from May until late October, suffers under the longest season of any area, said Melvin Karas, manager of allergenic products at Abbott Laboratories.

The best refuges are the heavily wooded areas of northern Minnesota, Michigan, New Hampshire and Maine; the central Adirondacks; the high Rockies; the extreme southern tip of Florida and virtually all of the West Coast.
