TWO FORT CAMPBELL SOLDIERS KILLED

Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

The hail falling last night spurred us to action.

In a flash we ran out the door to put the car in the carport braving the hail stones and rain, and ran the car in.

By the time we got the car under cover it had stopped.

That's the way it works so many times. You get all hot and bothered about something and before you know it, it's all over.

Reading where a Ford engineer describes applied research as "the art of obsolescing your own handiwork before someone else does."

This is a good way of putting it since all manufacturers are constantly figuring a way to do things better, more economically, in a shorter length of time than their competitors.

A letter today from Chigusa Haruchi of Japan thanking us for printing her request for a pen pal.

She says "thanks so much, please give my best regards to all your good readers."

Says she received many letters

Miss Rita Chaney, president of the Faxon Beta Club, was the mistress of ceremonies and introduced the special guests including Mrs. T. P. Jones and Mrs. Leon Adams, sponsors of the Calloway Beta Club, and Mrs. D. J. Miller, retired faculty member at Faxon.

A special guest of each of the members was his or her mother. Danny Ross gave the invocation and a special musical number, "The Lord Is My Shepherd," was sung by a trio composed of Miss Debbie Brittain, Miss Charlotte Harmon, and Miss Donna McDougal.

The tables were decorated in the club colors of red and white. Fifty-four persons attended the banquet including all faculty members at Faxon Elementary School.

Debate Team Win Fifth At Tourney

The Murray State College debate team tied for fifth place in the Two-Team Division of the National Speech Tournament of Delta Sigma Rho-Tau Kappa Alpha, April 12-14, at Indiana University.

The two-man Murray State affirmative team was composed of Mike Smith, Freshman from Calloway Co. H.S. and Mike Nims, Freshman from Paducah Tuckman H.S. The two-man negative team was Martin Tracy, Senior, and Vernon Gantt, Junior, both from Murray College H.S.

First place in the tournament was won by Southwest Missouri State 14-2. In second place was Emory University 13-2. The third place winner was Wake Forest College 12-4, who outscored Wichita State also 12-4. Western Reserve University and Murray State finished in fifth place with 11-5 records. Forty-two colleges entered teams in the four-man division of the tournament.

The Murray State team came within a whisker of winning the top national honors. Three decisions were lost by a total of four points. A win in any one of these three debates would have given Murray a third place. A win in any two of the three would have given Murray a tie for second. Three wins a tie for first place.

Murray State also entered Paty Jane Tracy in the Student Congress. Paty placed sixth in the competition, and was the only girl entry to win a recognition in the top ten contestants. Paty is a senior and is the wife of Martin Tracy.

This outstanding young team was disappointed by its close loss of top national honors; but, with only one graduating senior are looking ahead to winning the National Tournament next year.

Other Kentucky colleges who competed and their win-loss records are: U. K. 9-7; Western Ky. 9-7; Eastern Ky. 6-10; Berea 2-14.

Drown As Automobile Skids, Overturns In Roadside Water

The deaths of two Fort Campbell soldiers whose car plunged into a slough east of Hardin on Kentucky Highway 80 early today, raised the state traffic toll for the year to 180 compared with 200 this date last year.

Daniel Dean was the driver of the 1960 Comet automobile. He apparently lost control of the car and struck a culvert abutment, causing the car to overturn and land upside down in the slough. Sufficient water was in the roadside ditch to submerge the car.

Dead Are:
Pfc Charles Clay Short, age 20, of Mansfield, Missouri.
Pfc Kenneth Colucci, age 21, Lowell, Massachusetts.

Two Injured In Accident Early Today

An accident occurred this morning at 7:50 on Kentucky Highway 121 about one and one-half miles east of Murray.

Hatten Lovins and Isaac Bruce Albritten were both injured in the collision, however neither is thought to be seriously hurt.

Deputy Sheriff Gene Parker reported that all participants were proceeding east on 121.

Harry Patterson another motorist reported that Lovins pulled out into the highway on a Ferguson tractor, in front of him suddenly and that he swung into the other lane to avoid a collision. Albritten was behind him in a 1962 Chevrolet. He said that he saw Patterson swing out, but that he could not avoid hitting the Ferguson tractor driven by Lovins.

The right front side of the car caught the left rear wheel of the tractor, breaking the tractor into. Lovins hung on to the front end of the tractor until it came to a halt.

Both participants live on Murray route five.

Insurance Is Available For Many Veterans

(Special to the Ledger & Times)

NEW YORK, April 19 — It is estimated that there are 165 veterans in Calloway County who are eligible for a new issue of GI insurance but are not being notified of that fact by the Government.

The reason is that the Veterans Administration does not have their present addresses.

They are the former GI's whose disabilities, although contracted while they were in service, were not considered serious enough to merit compensation payments.

As a result, the VA has been out of contact with them and has no way of letting them know directly that they may now apply for National Service Life Insurance.

They, and certain other veterans who have been uninsurable in the past or who have let their policies lapse, will benefit under the new (Continued on Page 2)

Mississippi In Top Flood Stage Endangers Many

By DARRYL HEIKES
United Press International

LA CROSSE, Wis. (UP) — The mighty Mississippi, swept southward with a record flood crest today to endanger scores of communities in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa and Illinois.

The runaway river has routed more than 10,000 persons from their homes in Minnesota. Authorities feared 14,000 persons would be made homeless in Wisconsin before the danger passes.

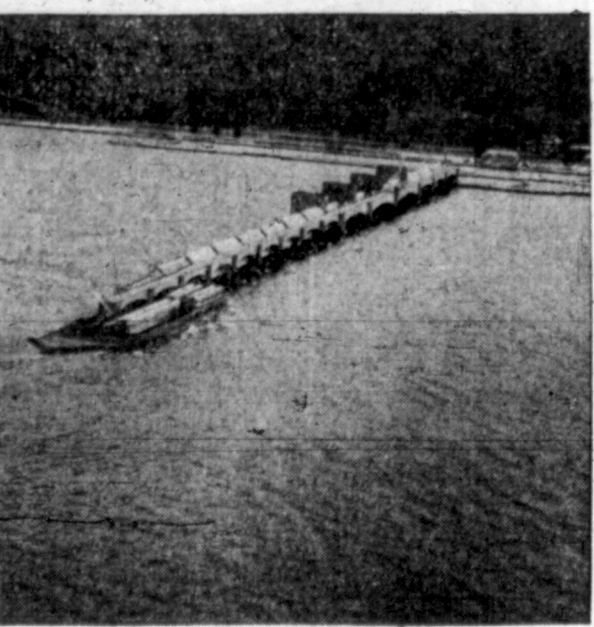

Hundred of National Guardsmen, police and volunteers kept a lonely Easter vigil on the dikes and levees along the swollen river. Today, bulldozers and strong backs were thrown into the battle against high water from southern Minnesota to central Illinois.

Five miles of makeshift dikes snaked around La Crosse, where the river hammered steadily at the barriers. The Mississippi surged past at a record depth of 16.7 feet and the weather bureau said the crest would hit 18 feet by Wednesday. Flood depth is 12 feet.

Wisconsin Gov. Warren Knowles, who toured the flood and tornado stricken portion of his state Sunday, was expected to ask President Johnson today to declare the region a federal disaster area. Knowles, who rolled up his shirt sleeves and joined volunteers in sandbagging (Continued on Page 2)

Total rainfall will range from 1 1/2 inches west to an inch in the east, with thunderstorms probable about the end of the week.

FLOODWATERS SPILL OVER DAM—Inching toward an all-time high crest, floodwaters of the Mississippi River spill over the dam and around the flood gates at dam and lock No. 2 south of Hannibal, Mo. Electric motors which operate the locks were removed to prevent damage to them.

CAGING THE FLOODS

(Memphis Commercial-Appeal)

WHEN the Mississippi River at Memphis spreads out over lowlands to the levee and flood distress stories come out of St. Paul we are reminded that TVA is, first of all, a flood controlling organization.

Electricity, once a by-product of the dams that held back the floods, gets a great deal more attention. That has been true from the beginning, perhaps because of congressional fighting over who was to get Wilson Dam at Muscle Shoals. It was built to get abundant electricity for nitrates needed for purposes of World War I. TVA set up business with only Wilson Dam in operation and turned the nitrates into fertilizer.

The famous TVA dams made a staircase of the Tennessee River, each backing up a pool of water to the foot of the next dam up the river. Using the water over and over again, as it was let down through the turbines in each dam, produced so much electricity as such low prices that when the Government had a sudden need for vast amounts of electricity during World War II huge defense plants were set down in the valley to use the power.

The TVA had to build coal-fired boilers to replace, for its wholesale buyers, the power the defense efforts had claimed. That made the power portion of TVA even more prominent.

But all the time the flood controlling has been going on with such smoothness it is almost taken for granted. Now the flood season is here again.

During the final weekend of March the sixth largest flood of the TVA era poured down the upper valley. It brought so much water that the crest at Chattanooga would have been 10 feet above flood stage, and done about 43 million dollars damage to that city. But TVA dams held back the water and the crest was 1.5 feet below flood level. It was so normal that hardly anyone outside of Chattanooga noticed, and it took newspaper stories for the people there to realize what was going on.

About the same time a flood was moving down the Ohio River. So TVA opened up at Gilbertsville. Six times as much water as normally goes through that dam was released before the crest arrived. That added to the storage space in Kentucky Lake. As the Ohio River crest reached the mouth of the Tennessee, the flow stopped. The lake level quickly rose eight feet, even though it is 180 miles long and has as much water storage capacity, almost, as all the rest of the TVA reservoirs combined.

Millions of acres of water stood still until the Ohio flood had passed, with so little trouble that it also was all but ignored.

Taking flood control for granted is something we never expected to see in this part of the country.

Perhaps younger people can be excused. They never knew how it used to be. But for anyone with Memphis memories of 1937, or 1927, to be casual about caging of this slimy monster is beyond reason.

Police reported damage to the car on the right front end and also to the living room wall of the house.

Earlier at 10:25 p.m. the same two patrolmen covered an accident at North 12th and Chestnut Streets. Involved were Coy Byers, 17513 Hersey, Allen Park, Mich. driving a 1962 Mercury, and Fred Dibley, Clark Hall, Murray State College, driving a 1965 Volkswagen, owned by F. L. Dudley of Sanford, Fla.

Police said Byers was going west on Chestnut and started to make a left turn into North 12th, saw the Dodge car coming east on Chestnut, saw that he did not have time to make the turn and tried to cut back to his lane. Dibley cut to the right to avoid hitting Byers, but collided with their left fenders, police said.

The damage on both cars was on the left front.

Another accident Saturday night was at eight p.m. at South 5th and Poplar Streets where Jackie Thomas Gibson of Kirksey Route One, driving a 1966 Mercury, owned by Irene Gale of Kirksey Route One, was going north on 6th Street, ran a stop sign and crashed into the Dodge car coming east on Chestnut, driven by Preston Wake Ordway of 1402 Hughes, who was going east on Poplar Street, according to Patrolmen Wilson and McDougal.

The accident on Friday occurred at 11:15 a.m. when Emma Jean Rhea of 407 East 12th Street, Benton, driving a 1963 Buick, owned by A. D. Rhea of the same address, was going south on North 4th Street and had stopped to turn left off of North 4th Street when she was hit in the rear end by J. L. Hicks of Hardin, driving a 1964 Pontiac, as reported by Patrolmen Alvin Farris and Ed Knight who said Mrs. Rhea had her signal light on.

Damage to the Rhea car was on the rear end and bumper and to the Hicks car on the front end, left fender, and door.

The City Police also arrested three public drunks over the weekend and gave citations to one person for speeding, one person for running a red light, and four persons for reckless driving.

SOLDIERS KILLED...

Escaped from the car were: Pfc. Junior D. Scott, age 22, Stillwater, Oklahoma.

Spc. 4 Donald Dean, age 26, Franklin, Pennsylvania.

The time of the accident is set at 12:44 this morning since the watch of one of the boys was stopped at that time.

When the accident occurred the Black-Coleman ambulance was called to the scene and James Blacklock called the State Police and Marshall County Coroner Jesse Collier. The bodies were taken to the funeral home and Fort Campbell authorities arrived here today to supervise removal to Fort Campbell.

Dean stayed here in Murray until the arrival of the Military Police, and went back to the fort with them. Scott caught a ride after the accident, back to Fort Campbell.

State Police have made no charges as yet, it is reported.

The accident occurred in the area of the Clark's River bridge on Highway 80 and water is backed up in the deep ditches along the highway. Boats are anchored in the vicinity of the accident.

Dean said that when the car overturned and landed upside down in the water, water began to gush into the car. He said that he got out and heard Scott yell. Dean then dived back to the car and pulled Scott out. He is engaged to Short's sister.

He dived again to find Colucci, but couldn't get him out. He was not removed until about 4:00 a.m. when a wrecker pulled the car from the ditch.

Water covered the car to a depth of about two feet, making the work of removing the car difficult.

The four boys were all on three day passes to Mansfield, Missouri to visit with Short's family.

Blacklock said that apparently the two boys drowned.

The site of the accident is about one mile east of Martin on Highway 80 near the Clark's River bridge.

Five other persons were killed in weekend traffic accidents on the state's highways.

legislation that has made this possible. The official records show that there are, throughout the country, nearly 1,600,000 veterans of World War II and the Korean Conflict with minor disabilities who are out of touch with the VA.

The estimated 165 of them in Calloway County who can qualify under the new regulation represent 9.1 percent of the 1,823 veterans of the two wars.

They may make an application for the insurance at any VA office, beginning May 15. The offer will be open for only one year.

Typical monthly rates per $1,000 of insurance for veterans who meet the VA's "good health" standards are:

For a 35-year-old applicant, 85 cents if he chooses Modified Life, $1.18 for Ordinary Life, $1.71 for 20-Payment Life and $3.04 for 30-Year Endowment.

If he is 50 years old, the cost per $1,000 is $1.64 a month for Modified Life, $2.42 for Ordinary Life, $2.96 for 20-Payment Life and $3.67 for 30-Year Endowment.

The rates will be higher for those who cannot pass the good health test.

Medical examinations will be required for Calloway County applicants who are over 50 years old and for those whose health is such that they cannot obtain private insurance.

A limitation of $10,000 is placed on the amount of NSLI insurance that a veteran may purchase.

The industry talked Monday of Chelsea collars for suits and dresses deeply at front; of high waists of neckline boxes with streamers, and of the unconventional combinations of dots, stripes, plaids and vivid colors. The traditional pastels of warm weather apparel were there but so was a strong trend to shocking pinks, bright blue-greens, yellows and oranges.

Typical of the influence of the youth movement in fashions was a dress in pure cotton, with ruffles from yoke to hem in horizontal bands of alternate pink and bright navy dot. The yoke: white cotton, and sleeves.

The ruffles for spring and summer in that instance came from Bogart, a Fort Worth, Tex., firm and one of the 30 members of the Texas Fashion Creators Association with an annual retail business of $200 million. The association is holding its three-day "press week" for reporters from New York to California.

Clear, sharp colors often were combined with whites, as in sportswear from Donovan-Carlson, of Dallas. The firm used lemon, orange and lime tones as insets or as trim for a group of white shirt-skin coordinates of jackets, blouses, skirts, trousers, and Jamaica shorts.

Sandy Koufax Finds Phils Best Wonder Drug On Market

By JOE GREEN
UPI Sports Writer

To Sandy Koufax, the Philadelphia Phillies represent the finest wonder drug on the market.

The southpaw ace of the Los Angeles Dodgers staff, beset by a series of ailments throughout his career, always receives a tonic when he faces the Phils and Sunday was no exception.

The 29-year-old Koufax, bothered by traumatic arthritis in his left elbow, filed his prescription by setting Philadelphia down on five hits, for a 6-2 victory in his first starting role since last Aug. 16.

It was the ninth straight time Sandy had defeated the Phils dating back to 1961, and after the game, Koufax, whose stony pitching career has been threatened by the disease, reported he was "very pleased" with his performance.

Dodgers Overjoyed

If Sandy was pleased, then the Dodgers were overjoyed because a reasonably healthy Koufax is almost a prerequisite for a Los Angeles run at the National League pennant, which the Dodgers won two seasons ago crumpling to sixth in 1964. "I had good stuff, but not real good," Koufax said. "I hope to get better."

The Dodger dazzer struck out seven and walked four. He surrendered a hit to lead-off man Cookie Rojas in the first inning, then held the Phils hitless until the sixth when Dick Stuart homered to break the no-run streak.

His control was not as sharp as usual, but Sandy attributed that to his three-week enforced layoff during spring training.

The important thing, as war as the Dodgers concerned, however, was that Koufax suffered "no pain" during or after the game. Although it probably will not be known for days or even weeks just what effect the condition will have on his pitching, the initial results were promising.

Rookie second baseman Jim LeFebvre doubled, tripled, drew two walks and drove in three runs to lead the Dodger attack against Koufax.

Other NL Games

In other National League games, the Milwaukee Braves clubbed the Chicago Cubs 9-6 behind the brilliant relief pitching of Billy O'Dell.

Cincinnati unleased a 14-hit attack which crushed St. Louis 8-2, the New York Mets routed San Francisco 7-1 in a rain-shortened nightcap after the Giants had taken the opener of a twinbill 4-1, and Pittsburgh split a doubleheader with Houston, the Bucs winning the second game 5-4 and the Astros had taken the first contest, 3-1.

In the American League, the Boston Red Sox crushed the Baltimore Orioles 11-4. Detroit outlasted the Angels 4-1 in 13 innings. Minnesota outmanned the Cleveland Indians 6-3, the Yankees trounced Kansas City 10-4, and the White Sox won the opener of a doubleheader with Washington 5-1, then lost the nightcap 4-1.

O'Dell, who relieved Milwaukee starter Denny Lemaster in the sixth inning, retired all 13 batters he faced to win his first game as a Brave. Eddie Matthews, batting a torrid .444 to date, socked a home run, double and single and Dennis Menke chipped in with a homer, triple and single.

Three Homers

Frank Robinson, Pete Rose and Johnny Edwards each crashed a home run as the Reds handed the World champion Cardinals their fourth defeat in five games. Sammy Ellis won his second victory of the season, although he needed relief help from Roger Craig and Bill McCook.

Ed Kranepool drove in three runs to earn the Mets a split in the nightcap which was called in the seventh inning. Gary Kroll, a 6-foot-6 right-hander gained his first victory for the Mets with a four-hitter. Bob Shaw pitched perfect ball for three innings in relief of Jack Sanford to preserve the Giants triumph in the first game.

Bob Bailey's eighth-inning single scored Manny Mota from second with the winning run in Pittsburgh's second-game conquest after two home runs by John Bateman and the six-hit pitching of Bob Bruce had carried the Astros to victory in the opener.

Chicago Cubs Will Have It Rough Without Late Ken Hubbs

By SCOTT BAILEY
UPI Sports Writer

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — The Chicago Cubs may make it 19 straight years in the second division this season unless they find a replacement for the late Ken Hubbs.

"Our aim is the first division," says Bob Kennedy, the head coach with a manager's power in the clubhouse. "Any club that wants to make a move in this league must have the double play combination. We're working to discover ours."

Chicago had a good one going in 1963 with Hubbs at second base and hard-throwing Andre Rodgers at shortstop. But Hubbs, regarded as one of the Cubs' great infielders with his finest years to come, died in the crash of his private plane en route to the 1964 training camp. Rodgers was sold to Pittsburgh last winter.

Seeks Combination

As a result, Coach Alvin Dark has the assignment of trying to discover a double play combination from a host of candidates.

"We have the man but we are working to find the right pair," Kennedy says.

Rookie Glenn Beckert, who hit .277 at Salt Lake last year as a shortstop, is getting a good look at the middle base. Jim Stewart is apparently set at short.

"The Cubs made three deals in the off-season. In addition to the Rodgers sale, they traded Billy Cowan to the New York Mets for veteran George Altman and bought left-handed pitcher Frank Baumann from the cross-town White Sox.

Altman, who hit .290 for the Mets last year, seems set this time in left field for the Cubs.

Billy Williams, the club's regular left-fielder until the return of big George, has been nudged over to center field.

Two Right Fielders

Right field can be handled either by Len Gabrielson .239 or Doug Clemens .262.

Third base and first base both have experience and power with Captain Ron Santo at third base and Ernie Banks at first.

Larry Jackson, big winner in the major leagues last year with a .24-11 record, heads the "name" pitching staff. Included are lefty Dick Ellsworth 14-18, appling Lew Burdette 10-14, and righty Ernie Broglio 7-12.

Dick Bertell 238 is regarded as having one of the finest arms among National League catchers. Behind him is Vic Rozovsky 284 at Salt Lake.

Boston Red Sox Hope That Sophomore Jinx On Tony Conigliaro Just Keeps Going On

By PETE DOWD
UPI Sports Writer

If Tony Conigliaro is suffering from the sophomore jinx, both he and the rest of the Boston Red Sox hope it's a long, long illness.

Tony is batting at a .533 clip and, though the Sox have played only four games so far, the strapping right fielder who waved such a dangerous bat as a rookie last year has already tagged two home runs and has six RBI's to his credit.

One of those circuit smashes and three of those runs batted in sparked the Sox to an 11-4 blitz of the Baltimore Orioles Sunday. Tony's homer came as part of a four-run Sox rally in the third inning and it sailed high and far over the 425-foot mark at Fenway Park. He came back in the fourth frame and drove in the decisive tally with a single, one of four hits in four trips.

Barl Wilson recorded his first victory of the young season for Boston. The Red Sox have won three of their four games and are tied for second place with Minnesota. Walby Bunker suffered the loss for the Birds.

Other AL Games

In other American League contests, the Detroit Tigers outlasted the Los Angeles Angels 4-1 in 13 innings. The Minnesota Twins blasted the Cleveland Indians 6-3, the New York Yankees lashed the Kansas City Athletics 10-4, and the Washington Senators clipped Chicago 4-1 in the second game of a doubleheader after the White Sox had won the opener 5-1.

In the National League, Sandy Koufax pitched the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 6-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies. Milwaukee ambushed the Chicago Cubs 9-6.

Cincinnati crushed the St. Louis Cardinals 8-2, the New York Mets earned a split with San Francisco by winning the nightcap 7-1 in a rain-shortened seven-inning contest after the Giants had won the first game 4-3, and Pittsburgh edged Houston 5-4 after the Astros had taken a 3-1 decision over the Pirates in the first game of a twinbill.

The Tigers retained their unaccustomed hold on first place with their victory over the Angels, which came on three unearned runs in the top of the 13th on three singles, a sacrifice bunt and an error.

Rudy May, a 20-year-old southpaw making his mound debut for the Angels, hurled no-hit ball before Tiger pinch-hitter Jake Wood doubled to center with one out in the eighth. He scored the tying run on Bobby Knoop's error to make the score 1-1.

Jim Bouton hurled a six-hitter en route to his first triumph of the season for the Yankees. Mickey Mantle hit his second homer as Kansas City pitcher Moe Drabowski picked up his second defeat without a victory.

CHAPTER 15

IT WAS a two-seater plane, with young Lieutenant Bukas at the controls. For half an hour they had flown over scrubby desert land, with only a few outcrops of rock to break the monotony. Here and there they saw a mine or a farm, with its water windmill the telltale indication every time.

Bukas said very little. Patrick Dawlish had thought a great deal.

A small town showed up in the distance against the white noon sun, and it seemed only a minute or so before Bukas turned his head and mouthed: "Best bet."

Dawlish strapped his on. The little aircraft began to lose height. An antiquated fire truck stood near a wooden building, with two men by it. They proved to be the only two men at the airfield, one of them a mechanic and maintenance worker, one of them a policeman. Just outside the shed was a black Mercedes, and Bukas in the searing heat of the sun led the way to this.

The car was stifling hot inside, the leather seat burning. The sun had caught a part of the steering wheel and Bukas matched his hand away, took out a handkerchief, and folded it.

He started off as if only speed mattered.

Dawlish wondered what was driving him. Ambition? Perseverance? He was an Africaner but lacked the deliberation which characterized most of those whom Dawlish knew. He was a handsome young chap in his blond way but driven as by devils.

Suddenly he said, "Major Dawlish."

"Yes, Lieutenant."

"Colonel Van Dieck was a good friend of mine."

"Ah," murmured Dawlish. "He might have been my father, he took so much trouble to help me."

"He was a good man."

"He was a great detective," Bukas declared in a tone of restrained passion. "There is nothing I desire more than to avenge him."

Dawlish said, "I think I can understand that."

He wondered what Wade Harrison would say if he could overhear this conversation.

"Major Dawlish," Bukas went on. "I believe the colonel was killed because he alone had such a knowledge of the crimes caused by diamond thieves in this country. His mind was like an electronic machine; whenever facts were discussed about diamonds, all the related factors came together in his mind."

Is your kitchen merely a workroom? True, it's filled with appliances, plumbing, and the cook's tools. If it is well-planned, it's efficient and probably easy to keep clean. But many of today's kitchens, with their mechanical - modern appearance, bear no relation to the styling of the rest of the house. Good taste in a kitchen means much more than what is shimmering on the stove. Admittedly, every kitchen requires efficient equipment. Beyond this, a pinch of the imagination will serve you best.

A pinch of imagination is important throughout the home. The selection of accessories will express this for you.

Dear Abby . . .

Not Logical!

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: We recently celebrated our 25th wedding anniversary, and I had a lovely wedding dinner dance for our friends. We sent out engraved invitations, but I went to my widowed mother's house and spent the evening with her and invited her personally to the party. She never came. Then she told my brother in tears that she was not invited! Now the whole family is angry with me. I can't understand it. Wasn't my personal invitation enough? Please come up with a solution.

DEAR IOWAN: A personal invitation to one's mother would seem more appropriate than an engraved one. Either your mother forgot that you had invited her personally, or she is looking for a reason to be angry with you. Something is wrong here. I would guess that the relationship between you and your mother was rather shaky to begin with.

DEAR ABBY: I am a man in my 60's who recently retired. I have been very successful in my life and my wife and I are living in Florida. Our eldest son married and gave us our only grandchild, who is now six. The marriage ended in divorce, so we invited our daughter-in-law to bring the boy and stay with us until she got her feet on the ground. She has her own car, a built-in baby-sitter (my wife), support money from our son, and she comes and goes as she pleases. She never had it so good. She's been with us for six months and has made no move to find a place of her own. My wife and I had planned to trip to Europe, but she became so attached to her grandson that she cancelled the trip. I can't throw my daughter-in-law and grandson out of the house, and my wife is not easy to reason with. So what should I do?

DEAR NEEDS: Call your neighbor and tell her you think she may have taken home your gold thimble by mistake. If she denies it, buy yourself another thimble and consider the first one gone for good. P.S. If your light-fingered friend ever visits you again, lock up everything she can lift.

CONFIDENTIAL TO GIORGIO IN FIRENZE: Don't buy the ring. A man does NOT automatically gain American citizenship by marrying an American citizen. That law changed in 1952.

MERCY KILLING—Miss Mary Harper (above), 61-year-old sister-in-law of Gen. Maxwell Taylor, U.S. ambassador to South Viet Nam, is dead at a Philadelphia nursing home, victim of a gunshot mercy killing. In Bethesda, Md., a car parked outside police headquarters contained the body of Mrs. Dorothy Butta, 35, and her note: "Today, I killed my best friend, Mary Harper of 7305 River Rd., Bethesda, Md., who had been suffering so cruelly from cancer." The gun was there.

SEEN & HEARD . . .

from Calloway boys and girls.

This idea of pen pals in foreign nations is a good idea. It creates better understanding, and makes people on both sides of the ocean aware that folks in other nations are people, not just imaginary beings who speak a foreign tongue.

As a fellow on TV said the other night "You have to wear the other man's skin to understand his problems, his trials and the things he encounters in his daily living." Correspondence between pen pals will show the correspondents they are dealing with other human beings, both equal in the sight of God.

Inflation brings to mind the following story about two farmers trading. One said to his neighbor "What will you take for that horse?"

"When he was sold $100, the farmer, 'Said."

Then the other began to worry. "Maybe he knows more about that horse than I do." He went to the buyer with an offer of $150 which was accepted, whereupon the first farmer feared he had been deceived, and bought the horse back for $200. This went on until the price got up to $1500.

When a man from another county finally came in and bought the horse for $2000, the first farmer said "Now why did you let him get away? We were both making a good living out of him."

This is the week that the extra service of the Sanitation System goes into effect. Once a week a truck will make the rounds and pick up things you normally cannot get into a trash can.

Stack things neatly says Rex Billington. The truck can get around faster. Do not just pile up a bunch of junk at the curb any old way.

If you have any trees, saw them up
