Quotes From The News

By UNITED PRESS INTERNATIONAL

LOS ANGELES - Gov. Edmund Pat Brown, standing amid the debris of this riot-wracked city:
"I don't understand it. This is an amazing situation for a city that has lived and worked together. I don't understand it."

NEW YORK - Bob Keeler, a member of "Associated Lovers of Baseball" against the Renovation of Shea Stadium Albatross, picketing the ball park amidst the squeals and screams of 55,000 Beatlemeniacs:
"The Beatles playing in Shea Stadium is like a burlesque show in church. How will one ever enjoy a Met game again?"

FT BENNING, Ga. - Pfc. Oscar Cooper of the new airborne 1st Cavalry division now en route to the war in Viet Nam:
"We can wind this thing up if they'll turn us loose."

JOHNSON CITY - President Johnson commenting on the violence in Los Angeles:
"We must not only be relentless in condemning violence, but also in taking the necessary steps to prevent violence. We must not let anger drown understanding if domestic peace is ever to rest on its only sure foundation—the faith of all our people that they share in opportunity and obligation, the promise of American life."

Planet Venus Too Hot For Any Life

PARADENA, Calif. (AP) - The planet Venus is too hot to support life as we know it, with temperatures ranging from 300-700 degrees, new radio astronomy observations have indicated.

The observations were made through the Owens Valley radio observatory of the California Institute of Technology by two astronomers, Dr. Barry Clark of the United States and Dr. Arkady Kuzmin, of the Soviet Union, and apparently are of the planet's surface.

The observations showed Venus' landscape was dry and permeable, like sand or porous rock, and that there is little chance of any water in liquid form on the surface.

Bike Rack Standard Equipment At School

By PATRICIA McCORMACK
United Press International
NEW YORK (AP) - Big wheels and little ones—7.5 million of them—will pedal to and from class on bikes when school reopens.

From grade school to college, bike racks are as much standard academic equipment as are bulletin boards. But not all of the bikes are in good condition and not all of the pedal-pushers know and obey "life safety" rules.

National Safety Council studies show that two out of every three bike mishaps occur because a rider failed to follow the rules of the road.

One of every five bikes involved in the accidents was defective. Broken didn't work. Or a loose bolt hampered proper steering.

The Bicycle Institute of America BIA recommends that a review of the safety rules and a check of the bike be standard in the back-to-school preparations.

The institute calls for help from teachers, parents, police officials, youth leaders and civic organizations nationwide—in an effort to reduce the incidence of bike accidents.

"The wheel is probably man's greatest invention, and the bike wheel his happiest," the institute reports in a new publication—"Bike Quiz Guide."

"Keeping bike riding the safe, happy and healthy activity it requires the constant attention of responsible citizens."

The quizzes were designed to stimulate boys and girls to learn and develop good safety habits.

The rules aren't just for the one out of seven students who will cycle to school. The nation, according to the institute, has 58 million pedal-pushers—more than any country in the world.

"The way to reduce accidents. Having all the bike riders heed the safety rules and properly maintain their bikes."

Woman's World

Dear Abby . . .

Satisfied Now?

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR RUBY: My problem is YOU! My husband is an avid Dear Abby fan and every time he reads a letter in your column from a woman complaining about her husband because he's fat, or skinny, looks at other women or kids around with waitress, he accuses me of writing the letter. It usually ends up in a big fight. So Abby, in the future will you please use the writer's name or initials or say where the letter comes from? I don't care how you label it as long as he knows it didn't come from RUBY.

DEAR RUBY: Now, you've done it! There must be no less than 1,000 "Rubys" for whom this letter was NOT intended. But in my effort to clear YOU, I have inadvertently implicated them. Tell your hubby if the shoe fits to wear it.

DEAR RUBY: It's fishing season again and I want to know how we can keep fishermen out of our yard. We live on the banks of a creek, and for two years we've had to put up with men, women, children and dogs running over our property from 4 a. m. until 4 p. m. There are no signs to indicate that this is a fishing resort, but everyone seems to think it is because the stream is public.

There are fishing resorts a little farther down the road with parking space and picnic grounds. Why can't they go there? People come right up to our porch and holler under our windows. If I have clothes on the line they walk under them. They get their fish lines caught in our radio aerial and even use our ladder to climb up and untangle them.

Some ask if they can park in our driveway. And those who don't ask, park there anyway and block our one-way road so we can't get in or out. We don't own this place, we only rent, so why should we have to put up with NO TRESPASSING signs? Any suggestions?

DEAR IDANHA: I would demand that my landlord either put a fence around the place, or post NO TRESPASSING signs and see that they are obeyed. If you put in another fishing season such as the last two, you should join the poor suckers in your creek.

DEAR IDANHA: My in-laws make a habit of either writing or calling to say they are coming to visit us for the week-end and they never show up. They don't even bother to tell us know they aren't coming. I prepare extra food and wait for hours. I am getting tired of this. Have you any suggestions that won't cause trouble between my husband and me?

DEAR ANNOYED: The solution is to stop them from coming.

Fashionettes

United Press International
 The little fur piece-figures as a big fashion accessory for fall and winter. Many of the nation's trend-setting designers use touches of fur to circle hems, necklines and wrists of coats and suits.

Skirts full in the front and straight in the back will make the fashion scene for fall and winter.

For the woman who has almost everything, a beige broadcloth coat dress with long sleeves. Designer Jo Copeland, who created it, says the outfit can be dressed up or down by adding a little or a lot of jewelry.

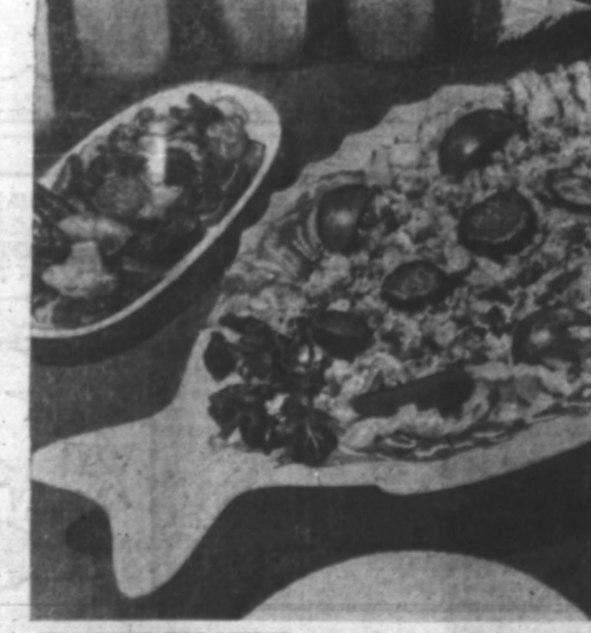

The dress with the long torso-alhouette has become the season's fashion trademark. Skirts of same are the flip skirt type.

When Planning A Luncheon For Ladies Feature Something Extra Special

ENTERTAINING at lunch? Cheese it up with a savory pie. Its filling features Cheddar cheese and nippy onion rings.

FEATURED FOR LUNCH, an appetizing salad starring flaked fish mixed with chili sauce and mayonnaise, is spiced with sweet mixed pickles, diced celery, chopped green pepper.

- FISH 'N' PICKLE SALAD
 1 lb. cooked perch or other white fish, chilled and flaked (about 2 c.)
 1/2 c. chili sauce
 1/2 c. mayonnaise
 2 tsp. finely chopped onion
 1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
 1 tsp. salt
- CHEESE AND ONION PIE
 1 1/2 sticks packaged pie crust mix
 1 qt. sliced onion rings
 2 eggs, slightly beaten
 1/2 c. light cream
 1 tsp. monosodium glutamate
 1/2 tsp. salt
 6 oz. (1 1/2 c.) sharp Cheddar cheese, shredded
 Paprika
- Prepare pie crust according to pkg. directions. Line deep 8-in. pan with pastry and form high, fluted edge. Do not prick shell.

LOOKING for something special to serve when it's your turn to play hostess to the bridge club or the members of your committee?

Look no further. Here are two suggestions that rate your attention. Each measures up on these three counts:

1. The dish looks appealing.
2. It can be readily in advance.
3. It's deliciously different.

Fish Salad
 Salads are favorite luncheon fare with ladies. But if you're going to serve a salad, it should be something out of the ordinary. Today's Fish 'n' Pickle Salad is just that.

The other suggestion is for Cheese and Onion Pie that's simply superb. Serve it with sliced cold meat or with a tossed green salad. Add hot brown-and-serve rolls and you've a marvelous menu, one that's easily prepared—and guaranteed to please.

Parboil onions for 5 min. in small amount of water. Drain well.

Combine eggs, cream, monosodium glutamate and salt. Place a layer of onions in pie shell, then a layer of cheese. Repeat.

Four egg mixture over onion-cheese layers. Sprinkle with paprika.

Bake at 425° F. for 15 min. Reduce heat to 350° F. and bake 20 min. more or until knife inserted in center of pie comes out clean. Let stand a few minutes before cutting. Serves 6.

Drug Research Program To Be At University

CHAPEL HILL, N. C., UP—The University of North Carolina will become a leading center of research into one of mankind's growing hazards—toxic compounds.

It was announced here and in Washington Thursday that Chapel Hill will be the site of a new pharmacology-toxicology center. The center will be built with the aid of a $12 million, seven-year grant from the National Institute of General Medical Sciences.

The program was announced jointly by the University of North Carolina and Dr. Luther L. Terry, U. S. surgeon general.

"The university is pleased to join with the surgeon general in the announcement of this vital forward thrust in research for the medical care and benefit of mankind," said William C. Friday, president of the consolidated university.

The center will bring to bear all the modern knowledge and technical sciences as well as mathematical in attacking problems relating to the safe use and the toxic effects of drugs. Its director will be Dr. Thomas C. Butler, professor in the department of pharmacology.

The university said the grant is the largest of its kind, and the biggest single addition ever made to the university.

The center will be located in Chapel Hill and will be considered part of the Research Triangle. The Triangle also is the site of the projected U. S. Public Health Service medical center for environmental sciences.

"The proximity of all these research facilities will provide ready opportunities for consultation and cooperation and will greatly enhance scientific communication," the university's announcement said.

Plans are for the center building to be ready for occupancy in late 1966 or early 1967. The center should reach its full complement of about 300 employees within five years.

The surgeon general's announcement said potential toxic reactions to the mounting numbers of drugs employed today in the practice of medicine have become a matter of increasing concern in recent years. He said there is recognition in both lay and medical circles that these problems are not receiving adequate attention.

Typical studies to be made at the center include what happens to a drug when it enters the body, why does a drug cure an infection in one patient while killing another, and how does a certain drug act on an unborn baby to cause it to be deformed at birth.

THE EXPERTS' ADVICE

Experts seem to agree that the trouble spots in most rooms are the windows, the sofa, and the coffee table. Curtains and draperies, they find, are usually too long or too short for a perfect fit. Sofa pillows sink down into a mat, and coffee-table legs are an assortment of many objects. Good looks are built in and pre-planned. With a little careful planning, your living room can be comfortable and inviting.

We invite you to come in for professional assistance in decorating your living room. This is the one way to find the results you are searching for.
