Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

Each morning is looking fallish and fallish.

You will have to look for some time to find offices more attractive than those of Wells Overby.

Work will begin soon on the new WOW building which will be located where the old Murray Wholesale building is.

The WOW plans to spend a lot of money on the big building, both inside and out.

The top floor will be primarily a meeting place and offices will line each side of a long hall on the ground floor.

The Chamber of Commerce will occupy the first office on your right as you go in the door. Others having offices will be Wayne Rayburn, Max Hart, and the local WOW business office.

The grass in our yard has not really grown much in the past week but it has sort of a frisky appearance.

Guess it will have to be mowed just to keep it from looking as though everyone has moved away.

A lot of prayers will go upward tonight for the safe return of Gordon Cooper and Charles Conrad. They will have traveled the distance to the moon and back, which was the primary object of their mission.

Fat Farley calls to ask if you can see any of these rockets, spacecraft, etc. which are rooming around in outer space.

You certainly can. We have seen Echo I and Echo II several times.

Last night I decided to go out and have a look and as luck would have it I immediately sighted something that was really making time.

We never figured what it really was, but it was moving on out. It was going generally in a northeasterly direction and crossed the heavens in seconds.

Whether it was Gemini V or something else we will never know, but you can see various objects which have been fired into the sky.

When they get up so high, they catch the reflection of the sun and appear as a bright star.

Two things that attracted our attention at this sitting place we went to in Memphis last week were two Bear Paw clam shells which were a yard across. We have one which is about a foot and a half across. They grow to tremendous size and if they catch a man by the foot, it is all over.

The widening of Main Street, is becoming more and more of a necessity.

The traffic was fairly heavy yesterday and the thought occurred to us that the tollage is not even open as yet.

When 5500 students descend on Murray in the next few weeks traffic will get thick as cold molasses.

Anyone who can sing pretty well or play some kind of musical instrument should consider themselves fortunate. This is a mode of expression which is denied to many, or rather a facility many do not have.

Three fourths of the earth's surface is water and the fourth is land. It seems clear from this that it is intended that man spend three times as much time fishing as he does plowing.

THE ROAD FROM DUC CO.—South Vietnamese troops, an American adviser at their head, march along Highway 19 toward Pleiku, South Viet Nam, after salvaging the wreckage of a U.S. Special Forces camp at Duc Co.

HE'S 98, AND A BULLY—Police take 98-year-old Frank Nalysnik into headquarters in New York on accusation that he beat his 78-year-old landlady, Mollie Michalowich, with a cane. The beating left her in critical condition. There was an argument, something about money.

50 Communists Are Killed In Heavy Battle In Early Dawn

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces killed 50 Communists in a "heavy" overnight battle that ended before dawn today in the Mekong Delta, 100 miles southwest of Saigon, it was announced here.

A military spokesman said government casualties in the 18-hour fight that began about 9 a.m. Friday were "moderate."

Government forces captured two suspected guerrillas and four enemy weapons.

An armed U.S. helicopter supporting the action was brought down, apparently by enemy fire. Two of its four crewmen were brought here for treatment of minor gunshot wounds. Neither was in serious condition.

Apparently as part of the same battle, Skyhawk jet bombers from the aircraft carrier Coral Sea killed an estimated 15 Communists and destroyed or damaged 30 structures in an attack on a Viet Cong camp 20 miles southwest of the U.S. base at Can Tho.

Six Americans Killed

The helicopter was one of three U.S. aircraft wrecked Friday, either by accident or by enemy gunfire. Six Americans and a Vietnamese were killed in the crashes.

The spokesman said five Americans — an Army officer and four enlisted men — were killed when a Beaver utility plane crashed for undetermined reasons while taking off from Canau airfield, 150 miles southwest of Saigon.

An Air Force O-P observation plane was shot down 400 miles north-northeast of Saigon. The American pilot and a Vietnamese observer were killed.

American flyers encountered some anti-aircraft fire over North Viet Nam today, but a U.S. spokesman said all planes returned safely.

Bomb Barracks Area

He said eight Air Force Thunderbolts dumped 24 tons of bombs on a barracks area 12 miles north-west of Vinh, destroying or damaging four buildings.

The spokesman announced also that eight F-4E Phantom II fighters bombed the Communists' base at Vinh.

Two Contracts Are Awarded In Calloway

FRANKFORT, Ky., Aug. 28 — A contract for bituminous concrete surfacing on Fourth Street in Hazel has been awarded by the Highway Department, Governor Edward T. Breathitt and Highway Commissioner Henry Ward announced today.

The project will begin at Center Street and extend northerly to Calloway Avenue, a distance of 0.200 mile.

Warren Brothers Company and Consolidated Subcontractors, Louisville, submitted the low bid of $2,511.25.

The department also announced that a contract for the construction of the substructure of a bridge over the West Fork of the Clinch River at Backusburg on the Kirkey Backusburg Road has been awarded to the Ford Construction Company of Barwell for the low bid of $17,172.14.

Hematite Lake Is Being Drained

Hematite Lake, a small impoundment in Land Between the Lakes, is being temporarily drained, TVA announced today.

The lake is located in what was once the Kentucky Woodlands National Wildlife Refuge, southwest of Paducah. It is being drained in order to remove a water plant that has in recent years covered the 140-acre lake's surface.

Draining of the lake is in process and will be completed next week. It will be left empty long enough for the bottom to dry. Lack of water and warm weather are expected to kill the water plant that has been plaguing the lake.

The plant life which covers the water in Hematite Lake is destroying the wildlife advantage of the impoundment and must be taken out, TVA said. While the plant provides some food for wildfowl, it has become too thick to allow a well-balanced fish population.

Depending on weather conditions, Hematite Lake should be filled again in late fall.

Draining the lake will cut short the fishing season that was to have been in effect on Hematite through October 15, but it should provide much-improved fishing in future years, TVA said. Fishing in Honker and Empire Lakes will not be affected.

Astronauts Are Jubilant As They Get Go Sign For The Final Day

By ALVIN B. WEBB JR., United Press International

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Jubilant astronauts Gordon Cooper and Charles Conrad today got the go-ahead for a full eight-day flight and an on-time splashdown in the Atlantic Sunday despite weather and fuel problems.

"We're pressing on," crowed Conrad as they soared upward to the sound of music piped up from mission control.

The official "Go" was for a full 121 orbits with splashdown about 10:28 a.m. EDT Sunday in the Western Atlantic Ocean off the Bahamas.

Flight Director Christopher Columbus Kraft said there still might be a change that would cut that short by one orbit, bringing them down at the end of the 120th orbit—about 90 minutes short of the full eight days.

The weather was a major factor. Tropical storm Betsy was brewing near Barbados, more than 1,000 miles from the target area.

The astronauts got the "go" as they soared into their 100th orbit at 8:57 a.m. EDT. So the issue of name from the movie "Cool Breeze." Splashdown at 10:28 a.m. EDT would mean a flight of eight days and 28 minutes.

The astronauts were "jubilant" "Over the ocean over the blue," "From Gemini 5, we thank you," said Conrad.

When astronaut James McDivitt gave them the word, Conrad's voice burst through:

"We're pressing on."

Blue Team Says Go

The big blue team gave you a go for 122-1," McDivitt said calmly. The blue team is the night control shift of the mission led by Deputy Flight Director John Hodge. The phrase 122-1 meant splashdown.

Movement Slows

But the movement was enough to force the astronauts to compromise and occasionally to forego some experiments such as space photo-graphy. Cooper said he had to bypass one attempt to take pictures of cloud tops because the capsule was spinning, but the photography and other programs now have been resumed on a limited basis.

Cooper, who now owns practically every individual space endurance record in the books, was on duty when the Rose Knot V6409, a tracking ship off the west coast of South America, radioed that Gemini 5 had begun its 100th trip around the world.

"Congratulations are extended to both of you from all flight controllers throughout the world," the station said.

"Thank you," Cooper replied in his prosaic Oklahoma drawl. "Only 22 orbits to go."

Willie Mays Belts His 40th Home Run Of Season, 16th Of Month, Tying Kiner's Record

UPI Sports Writer The one sure thing in the often whacky, always unpredictable National League pennant race—Willie Mays. While the contenders continued to struggle against second division opposition Friday night, Willie spectacular home run pace reached record proportions. The San Francisco wonder belted his 40th home run of the season and his 16th this month—tying the National League mark for most round-trippers in one month set by Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh in 1948. The blow also dethroned Mays for fifth place with the late Lou Gehrig on the all-time home run list at 492. Willie has a good chance to surpass the perennial high of 24 circuit chases in a single season set in 1955 and is within striking distance of Hank Wilson's league mark of 64. The Giants closed five four-baggers Friday to break their four game losing skid with a 9-5 thumping of the New York Mets and the league leading Dodgers snapped their three-game losing skid, staggering to a 9-8 decision over Philadelphia. Fair Play. But the other NL contenders weren't so lucky. Chicago handed slumping Milwaukee its fourth consecutive loss and sixth in the last seven games 5-3. St. Louis took fore Ted Abernathy replaced winner Bob Buhl 13.9 to quiet the uprising. Milwaukee's third largest crowd of the season, 20,723, attended.

Miss Joyce Kaye Lee and John Jeffrey Are Married Recently In Church Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. John Jeffrey

The First Methodist Church, Ferndale, Mich., was the setting for the wedding of Miss Joyce Kaye Lee and John Jeffrey. The double ceremony was performed by Rev. William N. Meris on Saturday, July 17.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Lee, 24600 Ridge-dale, Oak Park. The groom is the son of Robert W. Jeffrey, 1631 Dover, Ferndale, and Mrs. Herndon of Detroit. The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Porter Elkins of New Concord.

The nuptial vows were exchanged before the beautiful altar holding arrangements of carnations, gladioli, and greenery and numerous candles, each holding lighted tapers illuminating the bridal scene.

A program of nuptial music was presented by the organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a lovely gown fashioned with a Sabrina neckline, bridal sleeves, and a Chantilly lace covered bodice. The full skirt was accented with Dior bows and fell into a cathedral train. A pearl and crystal headpiece held her hair fast well. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Nancy J. Brown was the matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Misses Nina Jeffrey, sister of the groom, Linda Underwood, Donna Paschke, and Mrs. Jack A. Lee and Mrs. John E. Lee, both sisters-in-law of the bride. The bride's attendants were floor length gowns of ice mint green crepe, styled along empire lines. Matching flowered headpieces and arrangements of white carnations completed their costumes.

Miss Michele Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Lee and the bride's niece, was flower girl. Her gown and headpiece was identical to the bridesmaids.

Attending the groom as best man was John Dury of Ferndale. The groomsmen-ushers were Robert Jeffrey, brother of the groom, Jack A. Lee, John E. Lee, and Jerry Lee, Underwood of Ferndale.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Lee chose to wear a pale pink dress with a sheer overcoat and matching accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations tied with pink.

The groom's mother wore a gold brocade sheath dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations tied with gold.

Out of town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Burkett, Mrs. Doris Dura and sons, Vic and

Miss Donna Bell Is Honored At Shower At The Southside

Miss Genevieve Humphreys and Mrs. Steve Knott honored Miss Donna Bell, bride-elect of Tommy Key, with a lovely bridal shower held in the Southside Restaurant dining room on Friday evening.

Receiving the guests with the honoree were her mother, Mrs. Ben Bell, and her mother-in-law to be, Mrs. Lowell Key.

For the special occasion the honoree chose to wear a lovely brown-rose frock of pink and white with white accessories. Her corsage of white carnations was a gift of the hostesses.

Mrs. Bell was attired in a black and white ensemble while Mrs. Key wore a pink and white dress. Their hostesses' gift corsages were of white carnations.

Refreshments were served from the beautifully appointed table overlaid with a white cloth and centered with an arrangement of white driftwood adorned with clusters of grapes. White double wedding bells accented the arrangement. Mrs. D. T. Humphreys presided at the punch bowl.

The register was kept by Miss Cindy Humphreys. Eighty persons were present or sent gifts.

Dear Abby . . . Certainly Foolish! Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: This problem is not mine, it's my sister's. She lives in a housing project where all the neighbors are very friendly. One day a neighbor knocked on her door and said his wife was out of town and he needed someone to help massage his back. He had one of those portable electric massagers. My sister said she'd be glad to help him, so she invited him in and gave him a bottle of beer so it was hot-out. He took off his shirt and she started massaging his back when they heard her husband coming. The neighbor got panicky and hid in the closet, leaving his shirt behind. When my brother-in-law saw the shirt and beer bottle, he went into a rage and started searching the house. When he found the man in the closet, he roughed him up and sent him out of the house. Like a fool she went back to try the same day. The next week she had a man in over six months. She keeps saying she'll never help her husband again. Can you help her?

DEAR ABBY: Parents are always asking their teenagers to bring their friends home. We would like to, but here are the main reasons why we don't. They are not my own friends. I have talked to many teenagers and we all agree that these are the reasons in a nutshell.

(1) Parents encourage their teenagers to invite their friends over, then stand around with warnings such as there is to be no smoking, close dancing, necking, lights turned off, screening, or climbing on the furniture. This was all understood before the kids were invited over, so why are we over it again and embarrass everybody?

(2) After the rules are recited, the parents run in every five minutes to be sure their rules are being obeyed. Nobody wants to feel that they are not trusted and it will be a long time before kids will be back to a place where they are watched like they just came out of reform school or were headed there.

(3) Parents will pick this time to receive a list of suggestions by their teenagers, and ask the others what THEIR parents would do if THEY did anything like that.

(4) Parents will let younger brothers and sisters make hash out of a teen-age's party. And if the teen-age objects, he is told it is just on such the younger one's home as it is theirs.

Thanks, Abby, for letting us say this. Maybe it will explain to some

DEAR ABBY: I married a divorced man with three children for whom he pays child support. Recently he set up a college fund for them. There wasn't much money left after taxes, so I went to work. I persuaded my husband to try to get his child support payments reduced but the judge raised them instead because I was working.

My husband's property and other assets in his name only. He says I have no right to share in these as he had them before we were married. I told my husband that I would like to quit work and have a child of my own while I am still young enough. He says the best course is to wait until we are older and he agrees that I keep right on working and enjoy my children when they visit us week ends and holidays. My answer for him is to give parents why their teenagers prefer to meet their friends on street corners, or go to anybody else's home but their own.

Decorate With Paper

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

WANT to brighten a setting, conceal a poor plastering job, add a novel and original touch to a room setting?

Decorate with wallpaper. It's a wonder-worker. You can use it on all four walls. Or you can use it on one wall or two.

Airy Charm Try, for example, to open up a small room by covering one wall with a mural paper. The scenic design will seemingly push back the walls and give cramped quarters an airy look.

Use wallpaper to create a shaded, in-a-temperance background, for example, "what's prettier than a floral wallpaper?"

Use it on the wall behind the bed and then, to carry out the floral design, paper the top of a dressing table or top your windows with wall-papered cornices.

Tailored Mood Want to strike a tailored mood on the masculine side? A textured or plaid paper burns the trick.

But plaid's overpowering, so use it on one wall only. Cover the other three with a tweedy paper. Repeat the plaid with a novel touch—apply a band of the paper as a border on window shades and use it on the window cornice, too.

Where else can paper be cleverly applied? It's great on screens. It makes a marvelous cover-up when applied to a headboard with a finish that seems some the worse, for wear.

FLORAL-PRINT vinyl, laminated to wet-strength paper, makes washable wall covering that peels off in one strip.

Vinyl-coated paper can even be used to camouflage a scarred table top. Liquids won't stain vinyl paper.

Also use paper to create interesting border lines—around the ceiling or around a door or window grouping.

Want to call attention to a series of small pictures? Frame the grouping with a BEIGE TWEED paper is used on the window wall. The window shade features a patterned border of the orange, gold and beige plaid wallpaper used on the other wall.
