Prosecution In Lassiter Case Opens Argument

By ROBERT CLOCK
DETROIT (UPI) — Mrs. Nelle Lassiter broke into the opening statement of the prosecutor at her murder trial today, to shout "that's not true, that's not true," and began crying before the judge recessed the trial briefly.

Tension Develops Between High Judges; Warren Bitter

By CHARLOTTE G. MOULTON

United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Tensions between the Supreme Court's liberal and conservative blocs appeared to be mounting today as the justices strove toward adjournment with an unusually heavy load of cases.

Bitterness was evident Monday both in the 5-4 decision announced by the court, and in a surprise cast from the bench directed at Justice Felix Frankfurter by Chief Justice Earl Warren.

Warren suggested that Frankfurter was "degrading" the court. The court handed down a batch of opinions on state requirements for admissions to the bar and the conduct of disbarment proceedings.

The liberal bloc, headed by Warren, was outvoted on the issue. In opinions by Justice John M. Harlan, the court held that a state may refuse to admit to the bar an applicant who will not say whether he is a Communist.

Justice Hugo L. Black, chief spokesman for the dissenters, did not hide his distaste for the majority's reasoning.

The other dissenters were Warren and Justices William O. Douglas and William J. Brennan Jr.

The Warren-Frankfurter flareup occurred in a case where the liberal bloc came out ahead by winning the vote of Justice Potter Stewart.

In an opinion by Black, the court reversed the conviction of a condemned murderer after three years had found him guilty.

Dissenters were Frankfurter, Harlan, and Justices Charles E. Whittaker and Tom C. Clark.

Warren angrily read his dissent, Warren appeared incensed. Although the chief justice had written no opinion in the case, he spoke out, calling the Frankfurter dissent "a lecture," a closing argument by the prosecution to the jury, properly made in the court's private conference room, but not in the courtroom.

Warren said Frankfurter had read remarks not included in his formal opinion previously circulated to the other justices.

The chief justice added that he would have had something to say about the statement if he had seen them earlier.

"As I understand, the purpose of reading an opinion in the courtroom is to inform the public and not for the purpose of degrading this court," he told his interested audience.

Lassiter of asking the common-law wife of one of her husband's slayers to "hurry up" the murder. Kent said Mrs. Lassiter and her alleged lover, Gordon Watson, also on trial for murder of Parvin Bill Lassiter, had tried several times to get a "trigger-man" to kill Lassiter.

He said Mrs. Lassiter told Barbara McCommon, common-law wife of Buck Hicks, who allegedly was trying to find a trigger-man, that she no longer loved Lassiter and asked Barbara to have Hicks "hurry up."

Mrs. Lassiter at that point shouted, "That's not true," and stood and grabbed her attorney, Joseph Louisell, and shouted twice again, "That's not true," before breaking down in tears.

Then Circuit Judge Joseph C. Rashid called a five-minute recess.

Clean-Up Week Hints
It's Time For Repairs

There will be a pre-school clinic Thursday April 27 at the Health Center for all children who will enter the first grade this fall at Douglas School.

The clinic will be held from 9:00 a. m. to 11:00 a. m. Parents are requested to have their children at the clinic so that vaccinations and physical examinations can be given at this time.

all the new greenery comes out, you get that feeling that you want to do something around the house. Catch this magnetism at the right time and you can get through some laborious work that any other time would just put you in such a state of shock you will just retire quietly to the easy chair and pick up a book or a copy of the Ledger and Times and relax.

There's that loose step to fix, or that loose shingle, the stuck door, or the broken window. You paint up and fix up, clean up and light up this week for a more pleasant summer. You'll feel better too, from a financial standpoint, knowing that you are keeping your house up and not letting it gradually cave in.

What better time to repair the home than Clean-up, Fix-up and Paint-up Week. As you clean out the house and yard, you'll uncover those places that have needed repairs.

Drownings On TVA Lakes Show Increase Over 1959

The number of persons who were drowned in TVA lakes during 1960 while using the lakes for recreation rose sharply over the previous year, TVA announced today. There were 76 fatalities, compared with 51 for 1959.

It is true that the 51 drownings in 1959 was the lowest on record since 1951," Dr. O. M. Derryberry, Director of TVA's Health and Safety Division said. "But the average number of drownings for the seven years prior to 1959 was 63. These tragedies are deplorable and in most cases are preventable.

In many cases they result from carelessness and a lack of awareness of the dangers that exist in large bodies of water."

Dr. Derryberry added that there is "a faint glimmer of hope" in the fact that the number of drownings is not going up in the same proportion as the use of the lakes for recreation, and this, in part, "may be a result of an increasing interest in water safety and preventive efforts by health departments, safety councils, boat clubs and others."

The 76 drownings in 1960 were equal to one drowning per 557,000 person-day visits to the lakes. In 1947, when annual surveys of recreational use of the lakes started, there was a drowning for every 163,000 person-day visits.

Thirty-three of those drowned last year were boating or fishing from boats, equal to one boating drowning per 1,500 boats based on the lakes. In 1947 there was, on average, one boating fatality for every 290 boats. TVA said these were conservative figures because boats brought to the lakes on car tops or trailers are not included in the boat counts.

TVA has analyzed the 76 drownings of record in 1960, in its effort to seek ways to reduce the toll.

Thirty-three of the persons drowned were boating or fishing from boats; 11 were wading or playing in the water, or fell in; 25 were swimming; 3 were bank fishing; 3 were skiing; circumstances in one case are unknown.

In the cases of the 33 who lost their lives while boating, one or more of the following causes or factors were present: Had no life preserver on; overloaded boat or boat overpowered; inexperienced or unsafe operation; standing up in boat; rough water; drinking and other unsafe conduct; waves from other boats; struck object in water; boating in turbulent waters near dams.

One or more of the following factors were present in drownings while swimming, wading, etc: Could not swim or poor swimmer; swimming alone or under inadequate supervision; unsafe acts or unaware of hazards; cramps; tried to swim beyond endurance; stepped in hole or deep place; heart attack or other sudden illness.

More than half of the drownings happened on Sundays and Mondays; July was the highest month with 31. More than two-thirds occurred in the 6-hour period noon to 6 p. m. All except 12 were males. Seventeen were under 15 years old; 52 were between 15 and 45; 7 were over 45. Average age was 25. In addition to the 76 who lost their lives, records show that 79 other persons were involved in water mishaps and were rescued by others or were able to save their own lives.

Growing Shortages Relieved As Russ Ships Make Port

By JAMES R. WHELAN
United Press International

MIAMI (UPI) — The Russians poured thousands of tons of goods into Cuba today to meet growing shortages.

An official broadcast monitored in Miami said at least three Communist shipments to their Cuban allies have reached Havana docks in the past 24 hours.

No war material was mentioned—presumably any mention of such would be censored—but the broadcast referred to oil, trucks, tractors, jeeps and "industrial equipment" among the items received in quantity.

Largest of the three shipments was 30,000 tons landed at Havana today from the "socialist countries," the government broadcast said. The cargo ranged from foodstuffs to raw materials to textiles.

"Interrogate" Prisoners
Havana television panelists spent nearly an hour today interrogating a purported priest who said Castro's revolution "fulfills the social doctrine of Jesus Christ."

The prisoner, who identified him as Roman Catholic Father Segundo Las Heras Cabo, said on a radio-TV broadcast he parachuted into Cuba with last week's invaders only because American instructors deceived him. He said he was kept a virtual prisoner in an American mining camp in Guatemala.

"I repent and beg the people of Cuba to accept my repentance," he said. "All I ask is that they give me an opportunity to mend my ways."

The prisoner appeared on the third night of grilling of prisoners on the Cuba-wide radio-TV network.

Becomes Show Trial
The pretense that the prisoners were being questioned by a press panel was virtually abandoned, and the program took on more and more the character of a show trial.

According to information Schroeder was hunting hawks which had been killing their chickens, when he and his brother who accompanied him, decided to return home. As the 22 caliber rifle was being placed in the car, it is understood, it discharged striking him in the lower right abdomen.

He was admitted at 7:00 o'clock this morning following emergency surgery.

The sheriff's office this morning investigated the case and indicated it was an accidental shooting.

Goose Fined For Striking Referee

HENDERSON, Ky. (UPI) — Harlem Clowns star Reece Goose Tatum was fined $100 and costs in Henderson Police Court Monday for striking a referee here Friday night.

Tatum's attorney, William L. Sullivan, said Tatum would make a public apology for his unsportsmanlike action.

Tatum was charged with breach of peace amended from assault and battery after slugging referee Charles Denton during a basketball game here. Tatum reportedly struck Denton after an exchange of words in which he said he didn't agree with the referee's calling of the game.

Tatum was not in court, having been freed on $1,000 bond.

Four girls have served with Miss Sledd in directing the study courses. Those girls are: Joette Sledd — captain, Twila Adams — reporter and secretary, Jeany Hale — game leader and Marsha Williford — song leader.

The first meeting was devoted to planning selection of materials and a study of the machine. The next lesson was given on straightening material and use of patterns.

In the third meeting the girls were shown how to finish their garments and also taught to write their stories. Also some time was given to modeling techniques in preparation for the 4-H rallies.

At the end of each of the meetings the girls enjoyed a social hour.

Panelists pumped questions at prisoners in the manner of prosecuting attorneys and even called "witnesses." They regularly embarked on long speeches extolling Castro and Russia and lambasting the United States.

The program, included a hysterical woman, a ranting man, and another man who threatened to stab a prisoner before the cameras, contributed to the ominous atmosphere in Cuba.

Castro himself, in a speech Sunday punctuated by cries of approval to the wall, mocked pleas for mercy for the 634 prisoners. Havana claims to have captured in last week's invasion, despite pleas made by five Latin American presidents, Havana Radio has repeated hints of a coming bloodbath.

It ended with a warning that

"Kennedy continues with his Hollywood cowboy swagger" and "fast millionaire arrogance" and does not heed the warnings of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, he will "sink like those who sank in the swamps" during last week's invasion.

Land To Be Acquired For Small Game Hunt

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — The State Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources Monday announced plans to acquire land for public hunting grounds in the more heavily populated areas of the state.

The State Fish and Wildlife Commission approved the acquisition of the public hunting grounds for small game at a meeting at Camp Currie on Kentucky Lake.

State Fish and Wildlife Commissioner Minor Clark said, "Under the plan, tracts of land in the designated areas would be purchased by the department and converted into hunting areas at the same time providing on these areas better food and cover crop for wildlife."

The first acquisitions will be made in the 3rd, 5th and 6th Wildlife Districts — that is, around Louisville, in northern Kentucky and in the Blue Grass.

Watson the "arch" conspirators who remained 40 miles away while the despicable deed was done. Lassiter was shot to death by three men who picked him up at Willow Run Airport and killed him near the expressway on the way back to Detroit in April 1959. The three killers — one of them Hicks — confessed and are serving life prison terms.

Kent related how Lassiter and his wife grew up in Kentucky near the same small town, married, and how he got into the used car business after serving in the Army in World War II. Lassiter became moderately wealthy in selling used cars in Detroit and also buying them here and shipping them to southern dealers.

Kent said Mrs. Lassiter met Watson in 1956 and he later joined her husband's auto business. He said the friendship of Mrs. Lassiter and Watson "blossomed into a clandestine relationship" that continued until "the very day Parvin was killed."

Kent said during this "love try" the plot to kill Lassiter was hatched. He said they approached Hicks one of the confessed killers who also worked for Lassiter, to find a trigger man, offering Hicks $50,000 in auto transactions for his part in the slaying.

The opening statement by Kent had been delayed earlier when the lawyers and judge got into a discussion of the definition of a conspiracy charges also placed against Mrs. Lassiter and Watson.

The jury was kept out of the courtroom during the discussion but the court was well-filled with spectators, a few of whom had

Wadesboro Club Has Meeting In Home Of Mrs. Hanley

The Wadesboro Homemakers Club met Thursday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Herman Hanley with the president, Mrs. Monroe Mitchell, presiding.

Mrs. Clinton Burchett gave the devotional on the theme, "The Glory of God in Nature" with scripture reading from Matthew 6.

Mrs. Hanzel Ezell led in prayer and called the roll with each member answering with what she had learned about reworking picture frames, the lesson for March.

A brief report on the District Homemakers meeting at Murray State College was given by Mrs. Burchett.

"Framing Pictures" was the subject of the lesson given by Mrs. Ocus Bedwell and Mrs. J. R. Smith.

Refreshments were served by the hostess to the ten members and one visitor, Mrs. Frank Hanley.

The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Monroe Mitchell.

to stand.

Mrs. Lassiter, a glamorous blonde grandmother, was wearing a gray sweater and skirt with black shoes and silver earrings. Watson, her former lover, was dressed in a black suit.

They sat calmly awaiting the prosecution's opening statement before Wayne Circuit Judge Joseph C. Rashid.

The state contends the attractive blonde Mrs. Nelle Lassiter and her lover, Gordon Watson, hired three men to kill Mrs. Lassiter's husband, Parvin, in April 1959.

Lassiter, a Royal Oak, Mich., auto dealer, was shot to death near Willow Run Airport. Three men pleaded guilty to second-degree murder for the shooting and are serving life sentences.

Following selection of the jury, Assistant Wayne County Prosecutor George D. Kent, Joseph Louisville, attorney for Mrs. Lassiter, and Albert Summers, attorney for Watson, went over the ground rules for the trial.

Rashid ruled that statements made by Watson and Mrs. Lassiter after the slaying could be admitted in evidence only so long as they bore directly on the slaying or alleged conspiracy.
