Americans Lost In Bus Accident

By REIMAR SPRINGMANN
LUCERNE, Switzerland (UPI) — Rescue workers probing the wreckage of a tourist bus that had plunged to the bottom carrying 16 passengers—all Americans—to their deaths.

They began the grim job of raising the vehicle to the surface. The bus carrying 35 Americans, the Italian driver and a Swiss couple guiding the tour-collided with a truck on a treacherous mountain road and careened into the water Wednesday.

Twenty-two persons clambered through windows and the sun roof which they managed to force open as the bus settled in the water.

One body was recovered immediately but the other 15 were believed to have been trapped in the bus. Rescue workers said they found the wreck in 10 feet of water.

The Swiss travel guide Hans Gut, credited the sun roof with saving many lives.

Three of the survivors were seriously injured. Many of the others were reported in a deep state of shock.

Newlyweds Escape
Although most of the Americans were elderly women school teachers, a young honeymooning couple from Connellsville, Pa., was among the survivors.

Robert Work and his bride, Judith, who were married June 22 shortly after she was graduated from college, escaped without injury.

It happened too fast for me to realize what was going on," Work told United Press International. "The next thing I knew, we were in the water. It was simply indescribable."

Gut said there was panic. "Everything happened within seconds," he said. "Our bus collided with an oncoming truck and there was a loud noise. The bus toppled over the road, broke through a railing and hit the water."

The bus rested on the bottom of Lake Lucerne in 200 feet of water with 15 bodies inside. One body was brought ashore shortly after the crash.

Gut, who escaped through the sun roof seconds before the bus submerged, said, "My first thought was for my wife. She sat behind me. I managed to grab her and drag her to the surface. Then I tried to rescue other passengers. One woman clung to me and I succeeded in getting her ashore."

Credits Sun Roof
The tour guide said the sun roof kept the death toll down because it provided a wide escape hatch.

"The ones who sat in the rear were not able to free themselves," said Gut. "They were mostly elderly and not very agile. It was a miracle how I managed to escape."

Josef Metzger, a policeman from the next village, Hergiswil, described the scene he saw as the bus sank.

"I took off my clothes and jumped into the lake in my underpants," he said. "So did many others. Many of the survivors were floating in the lake and calling for help."

A group of Germans camping nearby swam out and rescued some people. Witnesses said a man who had just learned how to swim saved four or five persons.

Divers Seek Bus
Divers were unable to reach the bus before darkness and powerful spotlights played on the water and were lowered beneath the surface to aid operations.

Frogmen and divers used magnets to try to locate the wreck. Lake Lucerne, which is located in the central part of Switzerland, is 702 feet deep at its deepest point.

The tourists were on a 43-day tour of Europe, arranged by Gateway Holiday Tours, Inc., of New York City. They came from all parts of the United States. The Americans were scheduled to stop overnight at Lucerne and then go on to Paris — the final stop on their 12-nation tour.

Air Force Reservists To Receive Call

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Practically all 28,000 Air Force reservists just put on alert are likely to be called to active duty and many may be sent to Europe in the face of the Berlin crisis.

"That was the outlook today as the administration buttressed U. S. military power for a prolonged test of will with the Soviet Union over the Berlin and other East-West issues."

If Russia should sign a peace treaty with East Germany later this year and again blockade Berlin, Air National Guard and Air Force Reserve units loom large in present planning for supplying the free Western portion of the city.

They may be ordered to operate transport in an airlift and to fly escort with their jet fighter planes to West Berlin, which lies 110 miles inside Communist East Germany.

The Air Force notified 71 Guard and Reserve units on Tuesday that they had been given priority for "possible recall to active duty."

The word in Washington today was that the 28,000 men involved should put their affairs in order and expect to be recalled. It was still possible, however, that some might not be summoned to federal service.

The 71 units include 29 fighter and transport squadrons which could be sent to Europe to bolster the more than 50 regular Air Force squadrons already stationed there.

Fabian Has Contract For Half Million
PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Singer Fabian has a $500,000 movie contract but he needs court approval to wrap it up because he is only 18 years old.

The contract with 20th Century-Fox Studios calls for the South Philadelphia high school graduate to make eight pictures in six years.

Because he is a minor, Fabian filed a petition in Orphans Court through his guardian, John Phelan, and attorney Harry R. Back seeking approval of the contract.

Judge Harold D. Saylor, who will rule on it, is vacationing in Europe and will not return until September.

Back said the agreement was signed last Nov. 22 and already had been approved by the California Supreme Court, which directed that half of the earnings be placed in a trust fund until Fabian reaches 21.

Fabian's surname is Forte. His parents live in Delaware Township, N. J., in an 11-room house he purchased for them. The father, Dominic, is a former Philadelphia policeman.

Death Comes As Shock To His Many Friends And Associates

Verne Kyle, General Manager of the Murray Manufacturing Company died last night at 10:30 after a short but severe illness.

Mr. Kyle's death came as a shock to his many friends and associates who were overcome by the suddenness of his death.

He and his family had just returned from a trip to Denver to visit the Kyle's daughter Mrs. William Henry and family. He was stricken Monday afternoon as he was moving his lawn and entered the hospital on Tuesday.

Mr. Kyle underwent surgery on Wednesday, but failed to rally from the deep shock into which he sank.

Doctors and nurses stayed with Mr. Kyle all day yesterday working feverishly and remained with him until his death at 10:30.

The most modern miracle drugs were in use and although an ample supply was on hand at Murray Hospital, Administrator Bernard C. Harvey last night ordered another supply from Paducah which was brought in by a Kentucky State Highway Patrol relay.

Kyle had been associated with the Tappan Stove Company for thirty-two years and came to Murray in October 1947 as assistant general manager of the Murray Manufacturing Company. He assumed the position of general manager when Robert Lamb, was moved from that capacity to another position with the parent company.

Mr. Kyle came to Murray before the plant was actually constructed and was with it through its early beginnings, up to the present when its capacity was increased to 1,000 gas ranges a day.

He was born on February 11, 1911 in Pagonia, Ohio. Following grade school and high school, Kyle starting working with the Mansfield Tire Company at Mansfield, Ohio. On July 3, 1929 he joined Tappan Stove and remained with them since that time.

He worked up through the ranks of the company until he came to Murray in 1947 as assistant general manager. He was named to the Board of Directors of Tappan Stove Company several years ago.

On moving to Murray, Mr. Kyle became an integral part of the community. He was a member of the official board of the Methodist Church, member of the Rotary Club, president of the Country Club, active in Boy Scouts, chairman of the Murray Planning Commission, member of numerous church and civic committees.

He was an ardent supporter of Murray State College and participated actively in various moves to support the teams there.

Mr. Kyle was active in almost every area of civic betterment.

He numbered his friends in Murray and Calloway County and over the state literally by the hundreds.

Many expressions of sympathy were heard today from Mr. Kyle's friends and associates.

Mayor Holmes Ellis said "Verne

O. Kyle made a lasting contribution to the economic, cultural and social life of Murray and Calloway County. Murray extends its sincerest sympathy to his family, friends and fellow workers.

Murrayans expressed their respect and affection for him in 1959 by naming him as the Chamber of Commerce "Man of the Year."

His innate capacity for leadership placed him at the head of a large number of committees, drives and moves.

Mr. Kyle often expressed his love for Murray and Calloway County, and a number of times said that "the best people on earth live here."

He was known for his capacity for hard work and spent long and arduous hours at his job, creating a more orderly operation.

Survivors include his wife Mrs. Kathryn Kyle, his mother, Mrs. Lela Kyle of 909 Pogue Ave., two daughters Mrs. William Henry of Denver, Colorado and Miss Kathy Kyle of Murray, one granddaughter Elizabeth Lynn Henry.

Funeral arrangements are in charge of the J. H. Chubb Funeral Home.

Funeral services will be held at 2:00 p. m. on Friday with Rev. W. E. Mischke officiating. Services will be held at the First Methodist Church.

Berlin Exodus Still Underway

By JOSEPH B. FLEMING
United Press International
BERLIN (UPI) — East German Communist youth leader Wolfgang Steinkamp today began an army recruiting campaign to prepare for trouble over Berlin.

He called on "every healthy young man" to enlist in the "peoples army" in case the West tries to force its way across East Germany's borders after a peace treaty is signed with the Soviet Union.

He said "war cries" from the West made it necessary that the army remain at full strength and that personnel gaps be filled.

At the same time, the official Communist party newspaper Neues Deutschland told U. S. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara his belief that the East German army would not fight was false.

The newspaper said editorially that joint summer maneuvers of the East German army with the Soviet army proved that the East could frustrate military plans of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO.

The Communist youth leader's virtual demand that youths enlist for two or three years was expected to increase still more the record flood of refugees to West Berlin.

About 1,000 arrived in West Berlin today, although reinforced Communist police astride routes to Berlin halted pedestrians and searched trains, buses and automobiles in unprecedented controls.

Hundreds eluded the unprecedented security measures and made it across the East-West border. The refugee total for the first two days of this month was about 3,000.

Hundreds of others were caught and sent home. Some were arrested.

It appeared the Communists would have to seal almost every inch of West Berlin's border and stop almost all traffic to the city to put an end to the flight of the population they control.

West German officials said that if the Reds do not take even stiffer measures, the exodus which began the beginning of July could increase to many thousands daily.

Refugees arriving in West Berlin said there was fear in East Germany that if the Soviet Union carries out its threat to sign a peace treaty with East Germany's Communist regime this year, it may shut off the West Berlin escape route.

Letter to the Editor

Mr. James C. Williams
Murray, Kentucky

Dear Mr. Williams:

I enclosed you will find my check for a renewal of the Ledger and Times. We could not tell you how much we appreciate the Ledger & Times. It is like getting a letter every day from our home town. We moved here eight years ago last December. At that time we suggested to you to continue sending us your paper. We have received it ever since and have no thought of letting it stop.

The work here is going along in a very fine way. The congregation has more than doubled since we have been here. We enlarged our auditorium to almost double the seating capacity, with a number of class rooms added, and our building is filled almost to capacity each Sunday morning.

We still own our place at Penny. Elvin Crouse and wife live there. We have a furnished garage apartment where we stay when we are visiting around Murray, or in meetings. We were in a fine meeting with the Union Grove congregation the third week in July. The meeting resulted in nine additions. The Lord willing we will begin a meeting at Harper, Tenn., Sunday night, August 6th. Services will be each evening at 7:45. Following this meeting we will begin at Lowes, Ky., Sunday, August 20th. Therefore, we plan to stay at our apartment at Penny all the month of Aug.

We still feel that many of the best friends that we have live in and around Murray.

With best wishes and hoping to see you while we are around Murray. We are.

Sincerely yours,
L. H. Pogue

VERNE O. KYLE

VERNE KYLE died last night at the Murray Hospital and the news shocked citizens of Murray and Calloway County today. He was an adopted son of Calloway County which had grown to love and respect this man.

Verne came to Murray as the assistant general manager of the Murray Manufacturing Company and later became general manager as Robert Lamb was moved to other fields.

He was in Murray when the first ground for the plant was broken, and saw the first Tappan gas range come off the assembly line. During the passing years, Verne Kyle worked with the company, improving methods, ironing out difficulties, moving in experienced personnel where needed, and generally putting the plant on a firm foundation.

Verne saw the plant expand several years ago, and more recently headed the multi-million dollar expansion which now gives the plant a 1,000 gas range a day capacity.

Most of his working life has been spent with Tappan and he earned the respect of his co-workers, most recently having been named to the Board of Directors of the company.

Verne Kyle has been a model citizen, a role that he could have sidestepped with the honest conviction that he was too busy with his work. He did not sidestep this obligation, but pursued it with the same intensity that he did his work.

During the past fifteen years, he has headed numerous drives, boards, and committees that had to do with civic or church work. He once headed the Murray Planning Commission, was named Chamber of Commerce "Man of the Year", worked with the United Fund, and numerous other moves.

Verne Kyle was an ardent supporter of Murray State College, its sports department, and its administration. He was for Murray and Calloway County and anything that would make it grow and prosper.

He was the type of man who is extremely difficult to replace. He gave of himself, working indefatigably where ever he was needed.

Although Verne Kyle worked into a position of heavy responsibility, he never lost his touch with the working man in lower capacities. Having worked up from the bottom himself, he retained a respect for every job in his plant and for the men who did those jobs.

Doctors and nurses worked desperately last night to save Verne Kyle, staying with him from 1:00 o'clock yesterday afternoon until 10:30 last night, using every method and drug at man's disposal.

God in his own way has removed Verne Kyle from our midst. He will be missed by people in every walk of life. Our sympathy goes out to his wife, his children, his mother and to his many close friends.

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

After Joe Sweeney, others tried adding strings to the banjo. This is a 7-string instrument, as pictured in U. S. patent. Early picture of a minstrel group. Note the two banjo players.

No. 51 Jazz had manifestations before and elsewhere than early 20th century New Orleans, where it is generally believed to have originated. Burke Davis recorded in "Our Incredible Civil War" (Holt) that the cavalry leader, Maj. Gen. J. E. Stuart, "fashioned a sort of primitive jazz band around a servant, 'Mulatto Bob,' who played the bones; Sam Sweeney, a banjoist; half a dozen fiddlers, singers and dancers." Sam Sweeney's brother Joe, who performed on both sides of the Atlantic as a black-face minstrel before the war, developed the banjo from a crude instrument improvised by Negroes. There were four strings until Sweeney added a fifth (bass) string and gave the instrument stirring versatility. Lafayette Hearn found the word "jaz" applied in the 1880s and 1890s to "fast and furious" music of rudimentary syncopated type. —CLARK KINNAIRD

Backstairs At The Whitehouse

By ALVIN SPIVAK United Press International WASHINGTON (UPI) — Backstairs at the White House: Despite a mushrooming of crises and lesser problems during President Kennedy's first half-year in office, the Chief Executive's routine has become less hectic and better organized recently. This, his aides explain, is the result of Kennedy's having gotten out of the way the many minor matters to which a new President must give attention in his initial months of service. "The President is as busy as ever," one assistant points out "but he can focus his efforts now on the big items instead of having to excuse himself for handshakes with scoutmasters, or similar ceremonial occasions." As a matter of course, leaders of political, civic, veterans' and other groups descend upon a new President to have their pictures taken with him and get it on record that they have taken their cause to the White House. Some of them return year after year—but in 1961, at least, the bulk of them have been worked into the early part of the year.

So Kennedy's daily schedules are less crowded now as a general matter than they were some months back. To some extent this provides free time—but presidential aides insist that the major result has been to give the President more opportunity to devote himself to the more pressing problems he faces.

Reds Thankful Phillies Are In League. Because Of Them Cincinnati In Top Spot

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press International
Every night, just before they go to sleep, the grateful Cincinnati Reds give thanks that the forlorn Philadelphia Phillies are still in the league.

The floundering, last-place Phils happen to be 31½ games off the pace, but principally because of them. The rebounding Reds are back in first place again today by one game.

So far this season, the Reds have knocked over the Phils 14 times in as many tries.

"We do pretty good against them," concedes Cincinnati manager Freddie Hutchinson.

"Pretty good, nothing, the Reds are perfect against the Phils, but you'll never catch Hutchinson asking whether they're still in the league."

Win Twinbills
The 4-2 and 3-2 victories over Philadelphia in a two-night double-header Wednesday night marked Cincinnati's eighth doubleheader sweep of the current National League campaign and rather confused some of those critics who said the Reds were through after they dropped out of first place just before the recent All-Star break.

Vada Pinson's ninth homer and Gordy Coleman's 21st helped the southpaw Jim O'Toole post his 11th victory in the opener with ninth inning help from rubber-armed Bill Henry.

Joey Jay won his 15th in the nightcap although Sherman (Roadblock) Jones preserved the victory by blanking the Phils on one hit over the last 3½ innings.

Frank Robinson's two-run single off loser Chris Short in the third inning provided the winning margin.

The San Francisco Giants snapped the Los Angeles Dodgers' eight-game winning streak, 6-0, by beating them in the nightcap. The Cardinals beat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-2, and the Milwaukee Braves defeated the Chicago Cubs, 4-2, with the second game ending in a 7-7 tie, called by darkness after 11 innings.

Yanks Widen Lead
In the American League, the New York Yankees widened their lead to 2½ games by taking two from the Kansas City Athletics, 6-4 and 12-5; the Detroit Tigers beat the Washington Senators, 4-3, then lost the 11-inning nightcap, 6-2; the Minnesota Twins topped the Baltimore Orioles, 4-3, but lost the nightcap by the same score; the Cleveland Indians defeated the Chicago White Sox, 3-2, then lost the second game, 8-4, and the Boston Red Sox swept a pair from the Los Angeles Angels, 7-2, and 8-7.

Felipe Alou drove in four of the Giants' runs against the Dodgers with his 10th and 11th homers of the year, and Juan Marichal pitched a one-hitter while striking out 11 to win his eighth game. Tommy Davis' fifth inning single was the Dodgers' only hit. Johnny Podres (13-3) was the loser.

Joe Cunningham's three-run homer in the seventh inning off Bobby Shantz enabled the Cardinals to take over fifth place from the faltering Pirates, who now have lost five straight. Larry Jackson (7-8) was the winner.

Frank Thomas' two-run single in the eighth inning brought the Braves their victory over the Cubs. Carlton Wilkey was the winner although he gave homers to Ron Santo and Billy Williams. Williams hit two more for the Cubs in the nightcap. Ernie Banks, Jack Curtis, Hank Aaron and Thomas each hit one.

Little Man Can Make Giants Fall

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press International
NEW YORK (AP) — In these vitamin-dipped days of the kids and jumbo-type collegians it's a delight to us old, undersized gaffers to reflect today on the exploits of a fellow little Jerry Barber.

This, it must be admitted even by those whose vanity precludes biocritics, is an era of human elongation and the size of 17 collar. Even a game as refined as golf has its bombing behemoths such as Mike Souchak of the balloon biceps; George Bayer, the mountain-like walks like a man, and Arnold Palmer of the superman shoulders and the black-smith arms.

So along comes this guy Barber, who couldn't push over a scarecrow with a tractor, and whups 'em all to win the PGA golf championship.

Like Grandpaw Said
I remember my grandpaw, a little fellow himself, telling me: "Son, don't ever be skered of the big 'uns. Even if they flog you, they haven't won anything. But you be keeful of those little ones. They'll knock you down and tromp you and then you've had it."

Which is what little Jerry did to those big fellows out at Chicago.

This Barber is a little, dried-up, squint-eyed gent who goes 137 pounds with mud clinging to his spikes and a full set of irons on his shoulder. He measures five feet, five inches when he takes one of those "you can be bigger than she is" stances but you always have the feeling he's a retired jockey who needs to be aboard a horse to see over the dining room table.

You also have to take into account the fretful fact that he's 45 years young.

Around Long Time
Now that's not much, if you say it fast. But it means that he's been in this vale of tears since before we participated in the first war to end all wars. Anybody in sports dodge will tell you that these are days in which youth must be served—and all he dished up to them were the crumbs which were left over.

All of us who do our shopping in the boys' clothing department could have told you long ago that even in these days of second-story Peeping Toms you can find many athletic cases where good comes in miniature packages held together by assorted string, paper clips and adhesive tape.

Barber had in predecessors in golf. Bantam Ben Hogan, who will do as the best of them all unless you prefer Bobby Jones, couldn't make the middleweight limit. And in passing, Jones wouldn't have been able to play tackle even at Vassar.

Tony Pinna could have put wheels on one of Primo Carnera's brogans and used it for a house trailer but he's still cutting them up in Florida whenever somebody mentions the word "Nassau." And if you couldn't lift Bob Toski with one hand you need a beef injection but he won more than his share on the fairways.

Sells Self Short
The little guy who figures he can't cut it in sports is selling himself short if he had to wait for Barbara's victory to take heart and give it a go. Look at tennis. Betsy Grant, who needed a popo stick to see over the net, was one of the greats and still is going strong—in the seniors.

Sissy stuff, golf and tennis? All right, try football on for size.

A half-pint named Davey O'Brien, who couldn't have reached the Stilt Chamberlain's chin with a pool cue, was one of the best passing quarterbacks these tired old eyes ever have been privileged to admire. And, in this beefy, bone-busting business, there were nothing but hosannas for such anemic midgets as Cotton Warburton and the late Albie Booth, just to pick out a couple who on first glance might have been arrested for impersonating football players.

So take those big boys, bypass 'em, and go play Ohio State. Us little guys are getting along just fine.

What's Going On In Fish And Wildlife Circles In State

By Minor Clark, Commissioner
Q — I have weeds in my pond. What can I do about them?
V. H. Louisville.

A — Aquatic weeds in Kentucky can be classed as algae, emergent and submerged, and each requires a distinct type of treatment. 1 - Algae can be killed by a number of different chemicals but the most effective is copper sulphate (bluestone) used at a rate of three pounds per acre of water one foot deep. 2 - Emergent weeds (weeds around edges of pond or which break the surface of the water with a good part of the plant showing, such as water lilies and water primrose), can be killed by a treatment with Kuron or most any of the 2-4-D or 2-4-5T chemicals sprayed as for terrestrial plants. Cal falls can be easily eliminated by one or two sprayings of Dalapon. 3 - Submerged plants are, hardest to control. Sodium Arsenite has been used effective but is too dangerous to man and adversely affects the fish populations. A number of new chemicals are being tried. The best recommendation is to try small amounts of Kurosol, Endothal or 2-4-D in pellet or granular form and use the one most effective in your particular pond.

Q — Is it permissible to hunt turtles without a license?
J. W. Shepherdsville.

A — Turtles may be taken by hand or with a hook without a license. However, if a gun is used a hunting license is required.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Units of the 123rd Tactical Reconnaissance Wing of the Kentucky Air National Guard will begin summer training in three locations, starting Sunday. The main body will train at Gulfport Municipal Airport, Gulfport, Miss.; another group will participate in operation "Swift Strike," in the Carolinas, and the third group will train at Alpena, Mich.

NEWPORT, Ky. (UPI) — The body of Mrs. Pauline Ballard, 28, who had been missing for a week, was recovered from the Ohio River Wednesday. Police said they believed Mrs. Ballard may have been the woman who leaped from the Central Bridge a week ago. Her husband, James Ballard, was arrested on an old disorderly conduct charge when he went to Police Headquarters to report his wife was missing.

BOWLING GREEN, Ky. (UPI) — The construction of a $1.28 million six-story women's dormitory is scheduled to get underway next week on the campus of Western Kentucky State College. The Leo C. Miller Co., Louisville, submitted the apparent low bid on the project this week.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — Lightning caused minor damage to eight homes during a thunderstorm here Wednesday. Mrs. M. R. Axman suffered a cut foot from glass from a ceiling light fixture, which fell when the lightning struck her home.

LONDON, Ky. (UPI) — Gov. Bert T. Combs Wednesday dedicated the Dr. J. W. Crook Memorial Arts and Crafts Building in Levi Jackson Wilderness Road State Park. The building is located in the J. M. Feltner Memorial 4-H Camp in the park.

ACCUSED BY REDS—Mickey Mouse has been denounced by the Communists as an American agent helping the West persuade East Germans to flee from behind the Iron Curtain. The Communists claim East Germans are fleeing at the rate of 1,000 a day because Western "head hunters" get names when children send for membership in the Mickey Mouse Club. They also claim East Germans are fleeing because "the head hunters are threatening, blackmailing and seducing them."

MAY SUCCEED DULLES — President Kennedy reportedly has selected Fowler Hamilton (above), a 50-year-old New York attorney, to succeed Allen W. Dulles as director of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency this fall.

BIZERTE MOURNING—Demonstrators carry a coffin through streets of Tunis in mourning for the nearly 700 Tunisians killed in the Battle of Bizerte. (R-diophoto)

TICK AND TOCK, BOUGHT BY THE CLOCK. These two ponies, destined to gladden the hearts of youngsters at the Kentucky Children's Home in Lyndon, seem to be discussing the matter as they look over the floral clock on the Capitol grounds. Coins tossed into the clock pool by sightseers during June paid for the two ponies complete with bridles and saddles. They are appropriately named Tick and Tock. The ponies cost $375 and there was $118 additional which was used to purchase 18 baseball uniforms for boys at the Children's Home. Tick seems to be saying "Nifty clock, eh Tock?"
