Full Fledged Fighting Is Reported In Africa Province

By WILLIAM ANDERSON
LEOPOLDVILLE, The Congo (UP) — One or more Katangese airplanes dropped 26 bombs around the Elisabethville airport without major damage or casualties, a United Nations spokesman said today.
The attack lasted about 5 1/2 hours Monday night and early this morning, but the spokesman said all the bombs fell outside the U. N.-held airfield perimeter and did not damage U. N. installations. There were four separate raids by the Katangese, although it was not known whether one or more aircraft was involved. But the spokesman said that by flying in darkness the aircraft evaded U. N. jets.
The plane—or planes—apparently is camouflaged and hidden in bush country near Kolwezi by day and using a strip of concrete road near the mining center of Kolwezi by night.
Fight broke out today around the post office in Elisabethville, capital of Katanga, according to reports reaching Ndola, Northern Rhodesia. Telephone communications between Elisabethville and Rhodesia were cut.
U. N. Headquarters Shelled
A report here said U. N. headquarters in Elisabethville was heavily shelled with mortars again at midnight 5 p. m. (EST) Monday. Two Gurkha U. N. soldiers were reported killed and one wounded, bringing the U. N. casualties thus far to 10 killed, 37 wounded and 13 missing.
A dispatch from Elisabethville said mortar shells, reportedly fired by U. N. troops, bombarded the Katanga capital city's fashionable west side area Monday night.

Heavy Snows, West, South

By United Press International
Snows up to 10 inches deep blanketed the Middle West today and a follow-up cold wave pushed the temperature to 35 degrees below zero in Montana.
Southern communities cleaned up the litter left by tornadoes which injured four persons in Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi. Parts of northwest Georgia had weathered more than 10 inches of rain in three days.
A total of 93 deaths were blamed on the three-day storm sweep. Snow was still falling from the eastern plains through the middle and upper Mississippi Valley into northern Michigan. The storm hit parts of Nebraska and Iowa with up to 10 inches of snow Monday, closing schools and highways and crippling air transportation.
As the snow moved eastward, the temperature plunged to 35 below at Havre, Mont., 19 below at Goodland, Kan., 15 below at both Garden City and Hill City, Kan., and 12 below at Dalhart, Tex.
At Amarillo, Tex., where the mercury got to 3 below, police Lt. Dale Founds said the air was "like breathing razor blades—two or three good breaths cut your lungs all to pieces."
Elsewhere in storm, the snow and cold belt:
—All schools in the town of Potosi, Mo., were closed because most children in town were sick with flu.
—Five inmates of the Indiana Boys' School at Plainfield, Ind., escaped Monday night, clad only in their pajamas. By the time they were captured today they had managed to become fully clothed.
—A mass drop of more than 1,400 paratroopers in Camp Drum, N.Y., was delayed for 24 hours because of rising winds.
—Firemen battled seven degree temperatures and half foot snows as a blaze destroyed a high school gymnasium at Salina, Kan.
Three tornadoes skipped through Alabama and one through Mississippi Monday night, injuring at least four persons. Heavy rain fell from Dixie to the Ohio Valley and Middle Atlantic states.
The midlands storm glazed highways with ice from New Mexico to Ohio and dropped nearly four feet of snow on parts of Colorado.

Several Arrested As Threat To Japan

By LESLIE NAKASHIMA
TOKYO (UP) — Police arrested 13 men in a series of lightning raids today and accused them of plotting to assassinate government leaders and seize control of Japan through a coup d'etat.
Authorities said the prisoners, including several former military officers, were members of a right-wing group called the Kokushu Kai History of the Nation.
They were bitter about the left-wing demonstrations that swept Japan last year in protest against the Japanese-American defense treaty, police said.
The Kokushu Kai was formed in 1959. United Press International reported last June that the defense force has uncovered a planned coup and that it involved about a dozen persons. Officials denied it at the time but security police admitted today they had been investigating the assassination scheme for several months.
Police identified the leader of the group as Hosaku Kawanami, 39, a managing director of the Japan Heavy Industry Co. and the president of another firm.
They said it included former army Lt. Gen. Tokutaro Sakurai, 64, and Taku Mikami, 56, a former naval lieutenant who helped assassinate former Premier Tsuyoshi Inukai in 1932.
Four others were graduates of the former Imperial War College, but Yoso Kato, chief of the Japanese Defense Force Secretariat, denied that the plot involved any present members of the Japanese self-defense forces.
Authorities said the dawn raids yielded about 300 steel helmets, 150 gas masks and an undisclosed number of rifles and clubs.

Proper Administration Of Zoning Laws Are Important, Recourse Of Resident Explained

Ed. Note: This is the second of three articles dealing with zoning. The articles, prepared by the Division of Planning and Zoning, West Kentucky Area Office at Hopkinsville, explain the reason for zoning and how proper zoning aids in the orderly growth of a city.
How is Zoning Administered?
In order that the intent of the zoning ordinance be carried out, the city, through its building inspector, must have some means of checking what is to be built, where it is to be built, and the use for which it is intended.
It is customary, in small cities, for the Mayor or City Council to appoint a city employee to assume the duties of the building inspector in addition to his present job. While the usual choice is the City Engineer, since he is accustomed to working with measurements, drawings, and specifications, any qualified person may be appointed to the position.
When a builder proposes to erect a new structure; alter, move or remodel an existing one; or propose any use of land inside the city, he will file an application for a building permit with the building inspector on forms furnished by the city. Such an application would include a sketch or architectural drawing with written descriptions of the intended use of the land and building. The information furnished would need to be complete enough to give the building inspector sufficient information to determine whether or not the proposed use meets the requirements of the zoning ordinance. If the proposed use does not comply, the inspector will state his reasons for rejecting the application in writing.
When the application has been approved by the building inspector,

Four Children Die As Parents Shop

OAKLAND, Calif. (UP) — An Oakland couple returned from Christmas shopping Monday to find that four of their nine children had burned to death when fire swept through their small flat.
Mr. and Mrs. Ira Hudson, recipients of the Aid to Needy Children program, returned home about an hour after the blaze started.
The dead were Roger, 3; Ricky and Ronnie, 2-year-old twins, and Vera, 5 months. Two other children—Darlene, 6, and Mary Ann, 4—escaped from the burning home. Firemen said one child apparently had been playing with fire by holding paper over a stove in the ramshackle flat. The older children—Miss, 10, Frank, 9, and Donald, 7—were not at home at the time of the tragedy.
Authorities said the Hudsons left the six smaller children without a baby sitter.

Overall Gain In Colleges 11 Per Cent

FRANKFORT, Ky. (UP) — The Kentucky Council of Public Higher Education today reported that college enrollments in Kentucky this fall increased by nearly 11 per cent.
Ted Gilbert, executive secretary of the council, said this increase compared with a 6.6 per cent increase in college enrollments for the nation, as reported by an educational journal last week.
The highest percentage gain in enrollment among senior colleges was the 33 per cent increase at Western Kentucky State College. The Western enrollment this fall is 4,797 compared to 3,599 last fall.
Other colleges which showed increases were: Murray State, 22 per cent, 3,681 this fall; Eastern Kentucky State, 20 per cent, 4,155 this fall; and Morehead State, 16 percent, 2,854 this fall.
The increase in enrollments at the University of Kentucky was less than the statewide average. The fall enrollment at UK is 8,003, which is a gain of 10 per cent over last fall.
The fastest growing of the UK Extension Centers is at Ft. Knox where enrollment increased by 21 per cent from 225 last year to 274 this fall.
Among the private colleges, the biggest gains were reported by two Roman Catholic institutions—Ursuline College, with a gain of 20 per cent, and Brescia College, with a gain of 18 per cent.
Among senior colleges, the enrollment increase at Lindsey Wilson College was the highest. The Lindsey Wilson enrollment increased from 262 last year to 297 this year, a gain of 40 per cent.
The total college enrollment in Kentucky this fall was 49,467 students compared to 44,605 last year.

Check Your Driver's License Says Blalock

Circuit Court Clerk James Blalock today urged that all motorists check their driver's license to make sure that it is current. The place to look on your license is in the upper right hand corner, Blalock said.
The driver's license is good for two years and is renewable in the birth month of the applicant, he continued.
Blalock urged that all motorists watch this date with care because if the driver's license expires then a driver is actually driving illegally.
The proper date to watch for is the date in the upper right hand corner of the license, Blalock said.

Soviets Charge West German In Washington "War Crimes"

By HENRY SHAPIRO
By United Press International
MOSCOW (UP) — The Soviet Union today formally charged West German Gen. Adolf Heusinger with "war crimes and crimes against peace and humanity" and demanded he be extradited from Washington where he is stationed as chairman of NATO's Permanent Military Committee.
The charges were contained in a note which the Soviet Foreign Ministry handed to U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson this morning. They were publicly announced later at a Soviet news conference.
The note demanded that the United States arrest Heusinger and extradite him to Russia for trial. Heusinger, who was chief of Nazi Germany's general staff operations department during World War II, was in Paris today presiding over a meeting of the NATO Permanent Military Committee when the news broke. He refused to comment.
Similar to Eichmann
The charges were strikingly similar to those for which Nazi war criminal Adolf Eichmann was convicted Monday in Jerusalem.
Mikhail Kharlamov, the Foreign Ministry's press chief, told foreign newsmen the charges against Heusinger were "established" by Soviet commission investigating "crimes of the German fascist invaders."
The Soviet news agency Tass said the charges were "founded on captured documents from the archives of the Hitlerite army, as well as on facts which came to light in the course of the investigation which started by competent Soviet organs."
Tass said the note asserted that the Soviets "expect" the United States to send Heusinger to Moscow for trial.
Heusinger has been accused repeatedly in the Soviet press of having ordered massacres of Soviet partisans and civilian peasants in Byelo-Russia.
Heusinger was standing next to Hitler on July 20, 1944, when a bomb, planted by Hitler's enemies within the German military, went off. Both Heusinger and the fuhrer were injured.
Chairman Since March
Heusinger became chairman of the NATO committee last March. As chairman, he supervises the Atlantic Pact's long-range military planning, but has no command authority over NATO's field commands in Europe and the Atlantic.
Kharlamov said the procedure

LABOR LEADERS HEADING FOR OPEN CLASH

By WILLIAM J. EATON
MIAMI BEACH (UP) — AFL-CIO leaders George Meany and Walter P. Reuther today were reported heading for an open clash following a breakdown of negotiations of a plan to settle international disputes.
An informed source said Meany resented Reuther's tactics in a power struggle between the industrial unions and building trades over proposed arbitration machinery.
Meany, top man in the AFL-CIO, arranged a meeting of his executive council to try to find a solution to the stalemate and avoid a floor fight at the AFL-CIO convention.
Reuther, the auto workers' chief and spokesman for the industrial union faction, said he would fight for a system of binding arbitration that was flatly rejected by craft union leaders.
Expect Rough Fight
Spokesman for both sides freely predicted in advance of the council session that the discussion would get rough and perhaps spill over onto the floor of the convention.
The labor leaders were scolded Monday by Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., Negro integration leader, for not going enough to wipe out "shameful" race discrimination by unions.
King, who won applause despite his criticism, proposed a political alliance of labor and Negroes in the South to unseat congressmen who fight liberal legislation.
He also asked AFL-CIO financial support of the Negro drive for equality and suggested a dollar-a-member donation—a potential total of $12.5 million.

Murray State Thoroughbreds Breeze To 93-75 Victory Over Northwestern; Jennings Sparks

The Murray State Thoroughbreds breezed to an easy 93-75 victory over visiting Northwestern Louisiana last night before an estimated 3,000 fans in the Murray State Sports Arena.

Excitement for the fans was not as high last night but it definitely gave the Racers their first opportunity for a breather before facing Jacksonville University on Wednesday and highly touted SEC power Mississippi State Friday night.

Jim Jennings, who only Saturday night poured in 29 points in leading Murray past a stubborn Arkansas State, turned in his best performance of the season.

FURCHES JEWELRY

You are inside Shell's new all-weather laboratory at Wood River, Illinois. Here, Shell scientists test Super Shell for top performance in bitter cold.

COLD NEWS:

Super Shell's 9 ingredients now include extra Butane for quick starts, Pentane mix for fast warm-ups and an anti-icer to help fight stalling—all tested for top performance in Shell's "40 below" lab.

THREE of Super Shell's nine ingredients work extra hard in winter to give you top performance. Butane helps your engine start promptly on bitter-cold mornings. Pentane mix speeds the warm-up process. And an anti-icer helps guard your carburetor against critical ice build-up that can cause stalls.

1. How Super Shell's winter blend is tested for quick starts. To test for quick starts, a car-filled with Super Shell is driven into the lab and left there. Temperature: a shivery zero degrees. Twelve hours later, a well-bundled Shell engineer tries the ignition. The engine cranks, fights to catch hold and kicks over. Shell scientists run cold weather starting tests on a variety of cars. They insist that Super Shell start all of them promptly. Butane — what it does. Butane is the quick firing ingredient in Super Shell's winter blend. If you could remove it from the 9-ingredient formula, it would boil and turn to vapor even when poured on ice. This excellent volatility helps Super Shell to vaporize and start your engine quickly on frosty mornings. During coldest months, Super Shell gets an extra dose of Butane. 2. How Super Shell's winter blend is tested for fast warm-ups. For the warm-up test, temperature in the lab is lowered to about zero. A car, filled with Super Shell, soaks up the cold overnight. Next morning, it is started and eased up to cruising speed. Suddenly, the driver pushes the accelerator pedal halfway to the floor. Did the car respond smoothly? Did it surge and fade? From tests like this, Shell engineers and scientists learn how to adjust Super Shell for fast winter warm-ups. Pentane mix — what it does. Super Shell's fast warm up ingredient is Pentane mix. It works like kerosene in a log fire. In this case, the "logs" are the heavier hydrocarbons in gasoline. The lighter Pentane molecules act as "kindling" for the entire blend and help your engine warm-up more quickly.

3. How Super Shell's winter blend is tested for anti-icing protection. In testing for protection against carburetor icing, lab temperature is raised to 40 degrees above zero. Moisture content of the air is also increased. Under those conditions, ice can readily form in your carburetor. Here's how: Evaporating fuel can chill the inside of your carburetor — just as evaporating moisture cools your skin. Suddenly, your carburetor becomes freezing cold. The moisture in the air turns to ice and coats vital carburetor parts. Result: you stall. The anti-icer — what it does. The anti-icer in Super Shell coats carburetor parts with a thin film. This helps to guard them against critical ice build-up. Thus, you get extra protection against carburetor icing stalls. At Shell stations today Super Shell's winter blend is at Shell stations today. Take a moment now to read about all 9 ingredients in today's Super Shell — what they are — and how they give your car top performance. #1 is TCP for power, mileage, and longer plug life. #2 is Pentane mix for fast warm-ups. #3 is anti-knock mix to resist all kinds of knocks. #4 is gum preventive to help keep carburetors clean inside. #5 is Butane for quick starts. #6 is "cat-cracked" gasoline — for power. #7 is an "anti-icer" to help check cold-weather stalling. #8 is Alkylate to help control "high-speed knock." #9 is Platformer for extra mileage. *Trademark of Shell's unique additive, Platformer containing TCP is covered by U.S. Patent 2892221.

In Capital You Are Close To History

By DICK WEST
United Press International
WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of the nicer things about living in the nation's capital is that you sometimes get a feeling of being close to history—maybe even too close.

I had such a feeling Wednesday when I dropped by the Smithsonian Institution to witness a ceremony that shall be forever stored in my treasury chest of memories. Some day I will be able to tell my grandchildren that I was there the day the Smithsonian enshrined the first silk purse ever made from a sow's ear.

To a person who didn't know any better, this might sound like an occasion of transcendent triviality. Pie on such scoffers! The accomplishment marked an important milestone on the onward and upward march of science. Nowadays, of course, scientific miracles are commonplace. But 40 years ago, things were different. In those days, people went around telling each other that "you can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear." What is more, they believed it.

Challenge to Researcher
One day somebody said this to Arthur D. Little, who ran a small research company in Cambridge, Mass.

"In a pig's eye you can't," Little replied, or words to that effect.

In less time than it takes for a hog to answer the dinner bell, Little had sent off to a slaughterhouse for an order of sow's ears. Then he put his men to work transforming them into silk.

There is no need for me to ascribe the chemical process by which they accomplished this. You and I couldn't understand it anyway. Suffice to say they did make a silk purse.

To tell you the truth, it looks more like a bottle than a purse. It wouldn't begin to hold all the junk that women cart around these days.

But it is credited with arousing public interest in industrial research, which has since become a $13 billion industry. Therefore, it is deemed worthy of preservation in the Smithsonian's national collection of odds and ends.

Contribution to Philosophy
As far as I know, however, it didn't help the hog market any.

The purse, resting on a white satin pillow of the type used to display a queen's crown, was presented to the Smithsonian by Raymond Stevens, current president of the company founded by Little. He said the purse represented more than just a chemical gimmick. He called it a contribution the surrounding properties. As most of these uses generate a considerable amount of traffic, the Board of Adjustment would see that adequate consideration is given to off-street parking facilities.

A zoning ordinance may specify that the Board of Adjustment pass on all applications for such special uses to make sure that the intent of the ordinance is met and that adjacent property would not be damaged by such uses.

The Board of Adjustment serves to temper the strict provisions of the zoning ordinance to meet the practical development problems of the community. It is an administrative agency which is empowered to grant relief where a strict application of the terms of the zoning ordinance would be unduly restrictive. The decisions of the Board of Adjustment may always be appealed to the Circuit Court by an aggrieved party.

to philosophy.

After the ceremony, I went up to Stevens and asked the obvious question: Is it now chemically possible to make a sow's ear out of a silk purse?

Stevens was nice about it. He said scientists are indeed experimenting with the artificial production of living tissues. But he said it may be a million years before they can duplicate a sow's ear.

Blood Pressure Affected By Modern Life

By DELOS SMITH
UPI Science Editor

NEW YORK (UPI) — Anyone who doubts western civilization affects the blood pressures of persons subjected to its influences should have a look at the pressures in the Fiji Islands where that civilization has touched but lightly.

They were pressures not of descendants of original inhabitants but of men whose forebears had come from India. One group of these men whose forebears had come from India one group of these men were peasants who had been influenced not at all by western civilization. The fact is they had never heard of it.

Another group were business and professional men of Suva, the capital of the Fijis. They had heard of it and they had been influenced if only somewhat. They competed in business, they drank alcoholic beverages and they worried about their blood pressure among other things.

Blood pressures were measured in some 1300 of the peasants and in 121 of the class "favored" by western ways. No matter how they were compared, whether by age groups or other ways, the pressures of those influenced by western civilization were consistently six to seven points above the uninfluenced peasants.

Pressures Really Low

This is the newest research reported by Ian Maddocks, an Australian scientist who has been studying the blood pressures of inhabitants of the Gilbert and Fiji Islands of the central and southwest Pacific for some time. From the western viewpoint these people are primitive or at best semi-primitive.

But western people would be better off physically if they had the low blood pressures Maddocks has been measuring. Even the pressures that were high by Fiji standards would be considered normal or low-normal in the United States and Europe.

In Maddocks' words, "it is tempting to associate the apparently indolent, secure and unhurried life of the Pacific islander with this relative freedom from hypertension." He was attracted to the Indian town-dwellers because they are among the very few Pacific islanders who lead "western lives."

Real Detective Is TV Adviser

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — "Television detectives should act like detectives, not like a lot of actors merely going through the cop-and-robbers bit," according to a real-life cop acting as a TV adviser.

"Like the other night. The hero cop grabs the microphone and yells, 'all cars, all cars.' He was alerting the whole city instead of just a precinct."

Page, veteran member of a major West Coast police department, is technical adviser for the (NBC-TV) series, "The Detectives," starring Robert Taylor.

Of "The Detectives," page said: "These cops won't goof, not on police work, police talk, police procedure."

The producers of "The Detectives" send Jim every script they use and he checks it carefully for authenticity.

"I help to make sure they portray policemen professionally," says Page.

Like the time in a segment when the distraught wife of a kidnap victim is close to screen hysteria and to quiet her nerves Taylor offers her a shot of bourbon from a bottle in his desk. Jim made sure this bit didn't get filmed.

"If Taylor, as Taylor, wants to give the lady a drink, fine," said Jim. "But when Taylor is Capt. Matt Holbrook in the series, he can't give the lady a drink from a bottle in this desk. Detectives in real life don't have bottles in their desks."
