County Supports More Businesses Than Many Do

(Special to the Ledger & Times)
NEW YORK, March 1 — A new, county-by-county tabulation of the nation's business population shows that Calloway County supports a greater number of business firms than do many localities of its size. Locally, according to a Federal report, there are some 447 separate business establishments — small, medium and large — in operation. The vigor of the business community has been growing in the past five years or so, despite mercenary automation, strong competition and consolidation. This is evidenced by the gain achieved in employment, in size of payrolls and in overall business activity. The facts and figures come primarily from reports released by the Census Bureau, which utilized data supplied by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. They were based on tax reports filed by employers in 1965 under the social security program, listing taxable payrolls for the previous year. In Calloway County, they show, payrolls reached the highest point ever, $10,688,000. This was 43.2 percent more than in 1960, when a similar survey placed the total at $7,516,000. The increase was greater than that chalked up in most parts of the United States, the average being 30.6 percent in the period. In the East South Central States, the gain was 31.7 percent. The figures take into account all persons receiving wages and salaries from private, non-farm membership organizations by social security. The number of people so employed locally comes to 2,953. This is exclusive of domestic workers, members of the armed forces, civilian employees of Federal, state and local governments, farm workers and certain others. Although Calloway County has a sizeable number of businesses that (Continued on Page Three)

Consider the plight of the block layer who suddenly finds no place to lay the block in his hand. If it had been lighter he probably would have thrown it as far as he could.

He's up on a scaffold laying blocks and the block is in place except that last one.

As the block layer held the block in place ready to lower it onto the wet mortar, he stopped because he had not reached forward far enough. He tried it again with the same result.

You guessed it. The wall was moving away from him, and he was so slow.

To make a long story short, the wall fell down. The whole works. The block layer just stood there with the block in his hand. If it had been lighter he probably would have thrown it as far as he could.

Notice now that a good brace is holding up the wall until the mortar hardens.

Dean Rodney Day Is Called Big Success

The Kentucky Zeta Lambda Chapter of Alpha Tau Omega at Murray State College has just completed one of the biggest projects ever undertaken by the group. The fraternity sponsored a pancake day in honor of Dean Rodney, an ATO pledge from Herrin, Illinois, who was accidentally involved in a shooting mishap. A bullet entered his stomach and tore into his liver, leaving him in a critical condition for several weeks. During his recovery his parents lost several weeks of work and incurred hospital expenses of over two thousand dollars. As a result, the fraternity took it upon themselves to sponsor this pancake day in order to help Dean and his parents pay the hospital bill.

The material used was donated by nearby merchants and the pancakes were sold all day on January 15, at two prominent Murray Restaurants.

The proceeds totaled approximately $1,300 and were presented to Dean and his parents at a buffet dinner given in his honor. This is another example of how fraternity men, working in cooperation with towns people, can promote good will in the community, an ATO spokesman said.

"Dean is a student in the Baptist ministry and because of his strong faith and drive, has already rejoined us at Murray this semester. Although he must limit his physical activities, we expect him to add a lot to our chapter and to the campus of which we are all proud," the fraternity spokesman concluded.

Still And Whiskey Are Found Monday By Sheriff's Deputies

Sheriff's Deputies Curt Willoughby and Hardie Kelso are shown at the back of a cabin on Kentucky Lake in which a still and a quantity of mash and whiskey was located. The cooker is the large barrel in the center of the picture and the still is at the right edge of the picture connected by the pipe. This is the first still located by the Sheriff's office since assuming office early this year.

The Sheriff's Office and Federal authorities raided a cabin on Kentucky Lake yesterday and found a still and a quantity of mash and unlicensed whiskey. Joshua Parker was charged by Federal authorities on four counts and he is now in custody. Hardie Kelso, Deputy Sheriff and Curt Willoughby, Deputy Sheriff, reported that the area had been scouted for some time in an effort to locate the still. The smell of whiskey mash was very strong they said and their efforts finally centered on the cabin.

Kelso and Willoughby entered the concrete block cabin and found the cooker, still, eight barrels of mash, four gallons of colored whiskey and six gallons of white whiskey. They waited in the cabin for some time when they heard a truck pull up outside. Two men got out with Parker in the lead. He had five "fifts" bottles in his arms and the other person had a case of gallon jugs. As the two entered the dark cabin, Parker shined a flashlight right at the two deputies, uttered an oath and ran. The other person dropped his case of gallon jugs and ran. The two recognized so, and ran. The two recognized Parker, but only the back of the other man was seen as he sped from the scene. Parker went one way and the other man went the other. The two deputies said they heard Parker crashing through the woods and fall, then resume running. Later yesterday Parker was called at his home and told to report to the Sheriff's Office, which he did. The cabin is an old mission and later a church camp. For the past eight years it has been rented as a lake cabin. The deputies and Federal men broke up the whiskey and mash and chopped up the still and cooker. The Federal men saved two gallons of whiskey as evidence. Also confiscated was the truck owned by Parker. It contained eight cases of empty gallon jugs.

Russians Land Spaceship Today On Planet Venus

By HENRY SHAPIRO
United Press International
MOSCOW 879 — A one-ton unmanned Russian spaceship landed today on the planet Venus and planted the Soviet coat of arms in an historic breakthrough in man's conquest of space. The automatic space ship Venus 3 covered the 24-million mile distance in three and a half months, giving the Russians another major first over the United States. Venus 3 was the first such vehicle to make a landing on a cosmic body other than the moon. It followed another Soviet first of Feb. 3 when the Russians made the first soft landing on the Moon. The official news agency Tass said the station, fired last Nov. 16, reached the surface of Venus at 9:56 a.m. Moscow time 1:56 a.m. EST. It said the flight covered "approximately 24 million" miles. The Russians also disclosed another space probe, Venus 2, passed within 14,923 miles of Venus on Sunday and went into orbit around the sun. This was 7,042 miles closer than America's nearest approach to Venus by Mariner II. It was believed Venus 2 was planned so it could take preliminary soundings for the arrival of Venus 3 today. The United States sent an unmanned space craft within 21,954 miles of the cloud-shrouded planet on Dec. 14, 1962. An earlier scheduled American Venus fly-by in August, 1963, failed because of a malfunction of the booster rocket. Suffered Early Setbacks The Russians were believed to have suffered a number of setbacks in earlier attempts to land space vehicles on the planet but did not announce their failures. The failures were reported by the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Tass indicated that communications (Continued on Page Three)

Cases Set In Circuit Court Are Not Tried

The case of Harlan Hodges vs. Allied Van Lines failed to come to trial yesterday as scheduled. The case involved alleged damage to furniture in shipment. The case of the Commonwealth vs. William Beane set for today was not tried since Beane failed to make an appearance in court. He was charged with failure to comply with orders of the court relative to child support. Judge Earl Osborne, Circuit Judge, declared Beane's bond forfeited and issued an order for his arrest. Tomorrow the case of Herman Kelly Ellis will be heard. Ellis is seeking damages in a civil suit against the State Highway Department for loss of which the department took for the extension of 12th Street north. Commissioners named by the county set damages at $69,000 which the department paid since Ellis was caused immediate financial damage by the highway extension. The state is seeking to settle the claim for $40,000 while Ellis is seeking about $65,000. The case of the Commonwealth vs. Cletus McDaniels is also set for tomorrow. He is charged with taking the car of another without the owner's consent.

The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? The Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?

Fear has no place in the life of a Christian. —Psalm 27:1. As many fears confront mankind today, John, the writer of the Epistle, says, perfect love casteth out fear.

VAUGHN CONFIRMATION

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The Senate Friday confirmed President Johnson's nomination of Mack Hood Vaughn to be director of the Peace Corps over the objection of Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., who called Vaughn "grossly incompetent."

Vaughn, former assistant secretary of state for race-American affairs, came under criticism from Morse for his role in Johnson's intervention in the Dominican Republic rebellion last April. He succeeds R. Sarver Surber as head of the Peace Corps.

Church is affiliated with the Southern Baptist Convention. More than 90 per cent of its members come from Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina and other parts of the Deep South.

"I was hopeful that perhaps one-tenth of the congregation would respond positively," he said. "But I had deep concern about those who would react negatively."

"To our surprise, approximately one-third of the adult members signed the cards. Only two people recorded their disapproval."

Other Protestant and Catholic churches had similar results.

Spread Other Efforts

The news of Annandale's effort spread through other suburban communities. In the spring of 1965, 140 churches in northern Virginia suburbs joined in observing "Fair Housing Sunday." More than 2,500 volunteer canvassers visited 74,000 homes, asking subscription to sign anti-discrimination cards. More than 40,000 did sign.

The most important result of the campaign, the Rev. Mr. West said, was the number of cards that were signed, but the fact that "the conspiracy of silence was broken."

By having to take a stand for or against Negro neighbors, "white families" had to face up to something they had conveniently ignored."

Since that time, segregated housing has been an open and frequent topic of discussion in community meetings, schools and churches. There has been no sudden loosening of the white noose. But, the Rev. Mr. West notes, "Negro population in the area is increasing upward. Negro families are moving into predominantly or totally white neighborhoods at a rate of one family per week, twice the rate of a year ago. Still the pace? Yes. But even so, no violence, no block busting, no panic selling and moving."

"Only the naive would say the problem has been solved," he concluded. "But by God's grace, a beginning has been made."

Kentucky's Dampier, Riley Added To SEC Basketball Team

By DAVID M. MOFFET

ATLANTA, Ga. — Kentucky's dynamic duo, Louie Dampier and Pat Riley, joined today with Vanderbilt's three-time honoree Clyde Lee, scoring champ Lee DeFore of Auburn and Tennessee's triple letterman Ron Wilby on the 1966 United Press International All-Southeastern Conference basketball team.

The 6-foot, 9 Lee, and the 6-foot Dampier, a deadly outside shooter, were unanimous in balloting by sportswriters and sportscasters from throughout the South.

Dampier and the 6-3 Riley are a couple of Yankees imported to the SEC country by coach Adolph Rupp. They are the newest punch that carried the top-ranked Wildcats to at least a tie for their 22nd SEC title in 34 years and gave them a shot at a record fifth NCAA crown.

Dampier, from Indianapolis, Ind., and Riley, from Schenectady, N.Y., are both juniors and are averaging 21.7 and 21.4 points respectively for the unbeaten Wildcats who must get past Tennessee Saturday in an away game and Tulane Monday at home to post the first perfect season in the SEC since Kentucky last turned the trick in 1964.

Lee, from Nashville, Tenn., is for the second time the lone repeater on the all-conference team. The towering senior is leading the SEC in rebounding and is second only to DeFore in scoring.

Lee has averaged better than 21 points and 15 rebounds per game. DeFore is a 6-foot-6 senior from Atlanta. He's setting a 23.8 point pace with one game to go, and has a chance for the highest scoring average in the SEC within the past seven years.

Wilby barely beat out Vanderbilt's Keith Thomas, a 6-3 senior from Louisville, Ky., for the third spot on the all-conference first team.

Thomas heads up the second five which includes senior Gary Keller of Florida, senior Red Robbins of Tennessee, sophomore Dave Williams of Mississippi State and junior Al Andrews of Tulane.

Kentucky placed the remainder of "Rupp's Ranks" — a non-decorated line — on the second team. The line has no star player better than 6-foot-5 on the third team.

On the UPI All-SEC third team were senior Larry Conley and senior Ron Wilby, and sophomore Thad Jarmon.

Q. I am writing because I have heard that a Chiropractor doesn't have as much education as other healing arts. I am sure the rumor is wrong but I'd like to know the truth. —E.M.

A. This is a perfect question for this column to begin with. To set the record straight, every accredited Chiropractic College in the United States requires completion of a four year course of instruction for graduation. Most states are now requiring a two-year college Pre-Chiropractic course before entering Chiropractic College. In most states the Chiropractor must pass a Basic Science examination. The medical doctor also must pass the same examination to obtain his license.

Cigarettes Injure Women

NEW YORK (AP) — The health of women, as well as men, is adversely affected by cigarette smoking, a survey made by the American Cancer Society indicated Tuesday.

The study was made of 66,000 women and 440,000 men between 1959 and 1963. It showed that more women smokers died of such diseases as lung cancer, an coronary ailments than female non-smokers.

It also showed that the death rate of female smokers compared with male smokers is far lower.

According to the study, the first made among women, the death rate for women who smoke more than a pack of cigarettes a day as compared with women who do not smoke or smoke less than a pack was twice as great for coronary tion between earth and the historic space probe failed at the end.

"Throughout the flight regular communication was maintained with the probe and information was received," Tass said. "During the approach of the probe to the planet, the communication period at the final stage did not take place."

The feat of the American Mariner II in passing within nearly 20,000 miles from the planet was hailed at the time as a navigational breakthrough in man's dream of sending a manned flight to the moon, to the planets and perhaps to space beyond.

The lack of communication in the final stage of Venus 3 may have left unvoiced the mystery of the planet's surface which is cloaked in a dense atmosphere which makes it the brightest of the planets—a blue white shimmer in the sky at night.

Dr. E. Ogilvie Hammond, author of the survey and director of the cancer society's statistical research bureau, said the reason the death rate for women smokers is smaller than for men is that women usually smoke fewer cigarettes a day, inhale less deeply and start smoking later.

There also is a biological factor, Hammond said. Women are sturdier than men.

broke in the crash.

This was out at the corner of Chestnut near Five Points where the drive-in is going up.

The trees on the August Wilson lot at Synanov and 12th have all been pushed over, sawed up and carried off. A man with a bulldozer can undo what it has taken nature fifty to seventy-five years to accomplish.

Now comes the problem of a man buttoning the cuffs.

Now this would not seem to be much of a problem, and it would not be if a fellow could remember to dig the buttons out of the starched cuff before he puts the shirt on.

However the cuffs are the last thing a fellow buttons when he puts on a shirt. By that time the shirt is on and the front all buttoned-up.

Then he finds that the buttons are stuck securely down in a little round depression which requires two hands to undo.

With the shirt on, that only leaves one hand unless you can twist your other hand around for an assist. If you untuck the buttons before you put the shirt on, you have it made. But who can remember to do this?

We have been meaning to say something to Jim Boone about this problem, but just can't remember it at the right time.

What happens of course, is that when the cuffs are pressed the buttons are pushed down into the starched cuff and when the thing is all done the top of the cuff is even with the rest of the cuff.

Some day someone will invent a BUPOUSCO. This is short for "button puller upper out of starched cuffs".

We accomplished two projects yesterday. Got our 1966 license plates and listed our property for taxes. Yeah, we know yesterday was the last day to do it.

Overindulgence in drink will give you a hangover, whereas overindulgence in food will give you an overhang.

Many of us are fortunate in that we do not get what we deserve.

Back in the days when the West was really the West, a New York lawyer was invited to address a meeting in a cattle town, recount Modern Maturity. The speech was obviously a failure, and at its conclusion he was alarmed to see three grim-faced cattlemen, equipped with guns and laces headed for the speaker's table.

An elderly man, seated nearby, tapped the Easterner on the shoulder.

Glue Sniffing Case Heard In Paris

Paris, Tennessee merchants were being urged today to place airplane glue on high shelves or in locked showcases following the arrest of four young girls on glue-sniffing charges.

Police said the four girls, all aged about 10, were traced through a merchant who reported $5 tubes of glue and some inexpensive jewelry missing from his store.

Henry County Judge Jim McKee said the girls apparently picked up the glue-sniffing habit from an older brother.

Warning that glue-sniffing can "cause brain damage, retardation or crippling," McKee ordered the girls placed on probation in the custody of their parents.

"This is the first case of this nature we've been faced with," McKee said. "I'm going to do everything in my power and hope it will be the last."

In observance of Founders' Day the past presidents were honored by each being presented a red and white variegated carnation. Those present were Madame Loy Cunningham, Virgil Tucker, James Grey, Billy Tidwell, Ray Broach, Ken Adams, and James Tucker.

The presidents, Mrs. Tucker, appointed M. B. Rogers, Mrs. Kenton Broach, Mrs. Virgil Tucker, Mrs. Joe Stead, and Mrs. Boyd Norworthy to serve on the nominating committee.

Mrs. Paul D. Jones, Mrs. Tom Stevart, and Mrs. Rudy Lovett were appointed as a talent committee. Mrs. Wayne Stone, Mrs. Jerry Fawcett, Mrs. Wayne Lovett, Mrs. Don Paschall, and Mrs. Wayburn Wyatt were named to help with the decorating of the tables for the County Farm Bureau supper the PTA is sponsoring.

The room count was won by Mrs. Tucker's second grade room. Refreshments of red punch, anniversary decorated cake, nuts, and mints were served by Mrs. Joanna Sykes' fourth grade mothers.
