Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

Things that burn us up. Hold a door open for a woman (not lady) and she uses the other door without so much as a thank you.

Then too half the women who use the door which you might hold open take it for granted that you are supposed to and never say thank you.

Yet if you walk through the door and let it swing back, you are a boob.

The attitude of a woman has much to do with whether she is treated as a lady or not. She more or less calls the tune.

If she acts like a lady she is treated like one.

The dogwood is about to bloom. We are glad the climatic folks moved the one on North Fifth Street.

The Tully Poplar tree we moved a couple of weeks ago is doing fine. Never knew it was moved.

And rains like the one last night and a night or two ago help it along.

Notice how light the traffic is with the college closed down and the other schools in the city closed.

Gives you an idea where all the cars come from during the week.

Picture, picture, on the wall. Splendid, vivid, massive, tall. Viewed up close or from afar. How I wonder what you are.

The poem above refers to some of the art or pop art now extant.

The Blood River Baptist Association has all annual minutes of the association beginning with the October 28-29, 1970 organizational meeting except the issues of 1968, 1969, 1971, 1972, 1973, 1974. Anyone having these issues to contribute to the association may contact Rev. Earl Warford, Box 647, Murray.

Irish father to son: "I sacrificed everything I had so you could study medicine, and now you tell me that I have to quit smoking."

The red-nosed gentleman went to the doctor because he hadn't been feeling quite up to par.

After listening to his complaints, the doctor said, "I can't exactly diagnose your case right now. I think it's drink."

"All right, doctor," the patient gravely replied. "It come back when you're sober."

Two opera stars were chatting backstage.

"I insured my voice for $500,000 the first one said.

"And what did you do with the money," the second one asked.

"Ray what you like" said one woman to the other, "but we never had this lousy weather until they started using bows and arrows."

No Accidents Are Reported In City

No accidents were investigated by the Murray Police Department over the weekend, according to Charlie Marr, radio operator for the City Hall.

The Police were called to a minor accident in front of Druggist's on the north side of the square this morning.

Citations were issued by the Police to one person for reckless driving, one person for driving while intoxicated, one person for speeding, and one person for not having an operator's license over the weekend, according to Marr.

All Time High Of 19,645 Books Are Checked Out During March

Librarian Margaret Trevelan announced at the Board of Trustees meeting for April that an all-time high of 19,645 books were checked out from the public library and bookmobile during March. This is considered a phenomenal figure since according to the 1960 census figures the population of Calloway County is approximately 20,000. An average of almost one book per person in a month has been reached although the total library project is less than a year old. It was pointed out that much of the rise is due to an increased demand from high school and college students who need many reference sources and materials during "term paper" season. The new copy-machine fills a need since for a nominal fee any page of a reference book can be copied and taken home for future use.

Mrs. Trevelan also announced that 4107 Calloway citizens now carry patron or borrower's cards and are users of the library. In addition many civic groups and organizations use the library multi-purpose room as their regular meeting place. Special features such as Folk Singings, Book Reviews, Story Hours and Play Times, Movies and Club Programs, continue to be a part of local public library service, thus contributing to the cultural aspects of our community.

Other business conducted at the meeting was the recognition of special guests. Mrs. Macon Blankenship, Trustee, introduced Magistrate D. L. Bassell of the Brinkley District. She gave a brief account of the library's history to acquaint Mr. Bassell, a new member of the Fiscal Court, with its progress and problems. The board is presently following a policy of inviting city and county officials to its monthly meetings. Cecil Holland, Murray Magistrate, attended the March meeting.

Mrs. A. F. Wolfson who meets with the board as a representative of the Friends of the Library announced that their membership was now approximately 200. Anyone desiring to join this group may do so by paying the one dollar membership fee to Mrs. Wolfson, or at the library. Meetings are held annually. Culmination of the membership drive will be during National Library Week with an event which will honor former employees, Trustees, and officials of the Library.

Others attending were Mrs. George Hart, Chairman, Max B. Hart, Fred Schultz, Philip Carter, Mrs. Carolyn Adams, Mrs. Virginia Swann.

Young Toughs Try To Break Up Church Services In Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — A gang of young toughs invaded one of the holiest churches in all Russia and tried to break up Easter Sunday services it was learned today.

Westerners who attended the midnight Mass said about 25 rowdies, most of them apparently drunk, shouted and hooted through part of the services at Zagorsk, an ancient and revered monastery about 100 miles northeast of Moscow.

At the same time, about 6,000 youths surrounded Moscow's main Russian Orthodox Yookhovsky Cathedral and mocked the worshippers.

The rowdies in Zagorsk, as in Moscow, reached its peak when clergymen marched out of the church in a traditional midnight search for the body of Christ.

Zagorsk priests, who have had this trouble before, bore the interruption stoically, the Westerners said. The priests talked to the youths, but made no attempt to throw them out. Eventually the toughs quieted down.

Zagorsk is the seat of the Russian patriarchate and the nation's highest theological academy. One of the most sacred sites in Russia, it is the object of frequent pilgrimages.

Witnesses said the youths were a small but noisy part of the congregation, which totaled nearly 4,000, with many other thousands waiting outside to get in. An estimated 5,000 other persons attended services in Zagorsk's three other churches.

Among the crowd were foreign diplomats who drove up from Moscow.

By contrast, the Moscow mob scene was larger and noisier, with such painful vignettes as the confrontation of an aged believer and a dozen laughing boys.

"Louis," raged the old Russian, his grey beard shaking. "God lives."

"God is dead," taunted the teenagers, dancing away from the old man's fists. "God is a fraud."

Young Marine Shows Veterans How It Is Done; Stops Cannon

EDITOR'S NOTE: In Greenville, N. H., they called him "Fleek". His name is Alvin Lapoint and he is barely out of high school. His fellow Marines call him "Panhandle Fleek" because he looks up with extra gear—goggles, radio, and a pack knife—when he goes in to battle. Some of his buddies in Viet Nam are alive today because "Panhandle Fleek" charged a Communist cannon aimed with only a bayonet and a grenade that burst out so he could see. Here is his story as he and his friends told it.

By ROBERT ABRAHAM
United Press International
DA NANG, South Viet Nam (AP) — The young Marine dodged, twisted, turned and kept running.

Dozens of rounds pelted out of the muzzle of a Viet Cong cannon and pelted up dirt at his feet. Rounds whistled past him on both sides.

He ran on.

The sergeant lifted his head from the dirt.

"He's dead... he can't be alive, but he's still running," the sergeant said, almost to himself.

The Marine ran. He ran until he was 10 feet from the big gun — a 75 mm anti-aircraft cannon. The hand burst on his squad.

He leaped into the air, a long dive, and landed right on top of the gun barrel. He had a bayonet in his fist. He swung upright, straddling the gun, and in the same motion burst the bayonet in the stomach of one of the Communists.

The second one in the bunker dove down a hole.

Bayonets — two Communists — The young Marine jerked his bayonet out of the body, and without hesitation dove down the hole, too. The bayonet went to work the second time. He found the third again. The hole was deep, a tunnel, and he rolled back into the hillside. He rolled his grenade in, but it failed to go off.

"I was there in the bunker for a couple of minutes, but then our artillery started coming in and they told me to get out of there," said Pfc. Alvin "Panhandle Fleek" Lapoint. "I started to leave, but another gook who was in that hole came out and opened up with that damn cannon again."

"So I crawled down the hill and got me another grenade and went back. The second grenade did the trick."

Lapoint, 19, of Greenville, N. H., is a hero. He saved at least a dozen lives. His buddies can't understand how he came out of it without a scratch.

"Only a blister on my belly," he said with a grin. He pulled up his shirt and showed me. "That gun barrel was hot."

Wiss Fame
Lapoint won his place in Leatherneck legend during Operation Indiana 890 miles northwest of Saigon, near Quang Ngai, two days ago. He was a part of A Company dropped into a landing zone by helicopter to move out against a Communist bastion known to be in the area. The objective is "Bastion Charlie," the famous C Company, First Battalion, Seventh Marines of Quang Nam province.

Lt. Ben Goodwin of B Co, 1st Bn, 7th Marines, the company commander, said his squad had moved out about 400 to 500 yards from the landing zone toward a line of small hills when they first spotted the Viet Cong.

"I had one platoon into a small village, and another platoon up a small hill," he said. "That platoon on the hill killed a lot of Viet Cong. But the one going toward the village ran into trouble, and we had to send in another platoon to take the pressure off."

It was just on the other side of the village that the Marines came up against the big anti-aircraft weapon, degraded to fire at the approaching Americans.

German French Honeymoon Said Over

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
United Press International
PARIS (AP) — The French-German honeymoon is over.

The two governments still are holding out only just. Official relations are at their lowest point in years.

Why?
A little more than three years ago, French President Charles de Gaulle and former West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer signed an historic treaty of reconciliation and friendship. France and Germany have found they like to live in peace.

Their policies and interests are deeply and apparently hopelessly contradictory in every important field.

The European Common Market, NATO, nuclear policy, relations with the United States and even East-West relations are only a few subjects on which they disagree.

Their "grip" over the world really share that both belong to the Free West and both depend on the American nuclear deterrent for their ultimate survival.

Geographical proximity and the fact of life of the nuclear age will make another war between them seem as "unthinkable" as when De Gaulle and Adenauer embraced publicly after their reconciliation in January, 1963.

Marriage Busted
But the Bonn-Paris current relationship is much like that of a husband and wife whose marriage has turned sour. They disagree on nearly everything, yet have to go on living together.

When De Gaulle signed the French-German treaty at the Elysee Palace in 1963 his main purpose probably was to end the long-term goal of creating a strong Western Europe, completely independent from the United States and able to take with Washington on a basis of full equality.

He thought the fledgling nuclear "force de frappe" or striking force would give Europe a degree of protection and make it an equal partner in the American defense.

When Adenauer retired to make way for Chancellor Ludwig Erhard a few months after the treaty was signed, De Gaulle found West German aims were different from his own. His efforts to woo the Bonn government away from Washington failed. Much to De Gaulle's chagrin, and disappointment, Bonn has refused to abandon its close dependence on the United States.

Eight Weeklies Form Corporation

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — Eight weekly Kentucky newspapers have formed a corporation to operate a jointly owned printing plant.

William Matthews, publisher of the Shelby Sentinel, Shelbyville, and temporary chairman of the newly organized Greater Kentucky Newspapers, Inc., said the combined circulation of the eight papers is about 40,000.

The other papers are the Jefferson Reporter, Louisville; The Louisville Defender, Louisville; The Lebanon Enterprise, Lebanon; The Anderson News, Lawrenceburg; The Oldham Star, Oldham; The News-Democrat, Corbin; and The Springfield Sun, Springfield.

The centrally located printing plant will be in Shelbyville. Matthews said it will be in full operation by July with a web offset press.

Matthews, 41, of Albion, N. M., said and Montana went up the hill and spotted a gun bunker, so we went after it," Lapoint related.

"He covered and we both fired and managed our way up to it. A couple of gooks look off one side and we shot both of them."

"Then he covered for me while I got the three that were still there. Then we noticed the anti-aircraft gun sitting off to our left and we both opened up on it."

"I had him cover while I took off my gear flask jacket, cartridge belt, canteen, etc. and got my bayonet. I stuck up over to the right of it. The rest of the platoon kept the Viet Cong pinned down with M79 grenade launch and rifle fire. They stopped when I was about five or 10 feet away from the bunker and I dove in."

Why did you attack the position yourself, Lapoint asked.

"Well, I couldn't go back," he answered. "Those gooks would have got me if I moved forward to get them before they got everyone else."

1000 Die From Smallpox in Pakistan

KARACHI, Pakistan (AP) — An estimated 1,000 persons have died so far in a smallpox epidemic in East Pakistan. It was reported in Karachi Friday.

A news correspondent said the epidemic was "taking a serious turn" and reported claims by District officials that the epidemic had broken out last December, has been "successfully checked."

The correspondent said he counted 27 smallpox deaths in four sub-districts in the Chaghar head in the Lahore area and 190 in Lahore city hospitals.

He said the figure was believed to be many times higher because hospitals are turning away patients because of lack of space, and records were being kept of persons who die at home.

MSU Opens Home Track Season, Meets Big Ten Champions

Murray State will launch its home season Tuesday night against Wisconsin, the defending champion of the Big Ten Conference.

The Thoroughbred Thistles beat Southeast Missouri 76-67 in their season opener and participated in the University of Kentucky Relay Friday and Saturday at Lexington.

Wisconsin appears to be one of the strongest teams ever in the history of the Big Ten. The team is coached by Cal Mollwoy, who has won a national title in 1956. He is also a member of the Big Ten Hall of Fame.

Murray's Jim Beasley, who set a new Racor pole vault record of 15'-5" at Cape Girardeu, will compete against three Badgers who have gone better than 15'-0". Ken Schmidt, Dave Scherlock, and Brian Bergerson. Schmidt has the best vault of 13'-3" in 1965.

The hurdles will present a paradoxical issue as Murray's chief challenger will be Cal Mollwoy, Wisconsin's prep champion last year, while the Badger chief hopeful is a former Kentucky prep champion, Gerald Beasley of Lexington Lafayette.

Other stars of the Wisconsin team are Tom Atkinson, sprinter and 24-foot broad jumper; Steve Whipple, Big Ten 440 champion, and the mile relay team, which won the Big Ten Indoor this year with a time of 3:12.

Other Murray headlines are Angie Schaller, 6-10, high jumper and Jim Freeman, one of the nation's best sprinters. Schaller holds the record for the high jump in Kentucky, and Freeman, who ran a 1:02.2 hundred last season, opened at Cape Girardeu with a 1:05.5 and is expected to be firing with the world record of 1:01 before the season is over.

The Murray Thoroughbred Club is sponsoring the Wisconsin meet and admission will be $1 for adults and 50 cents for students and children. Field events will begin at 7 p. m., running events at 7:30.

The Wisconsin team will be in Murray four days training for the Memphis Citizen Relays next week end. Therefore, should the meet be rained out Tuesday night, it would be rescheduled Wednesday night.

Al Capone, Jr. Wants Name Change

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Al Capone Jr., son of the late Chicago boss, filed a petition in court to change his name to Albert Francis.

Capone Jr. asked that his name be changed to Albert Francis, dropping the last name. He gave no reason for the change.

His lawyer, John Harkness, said Capone was "just getting sick and tired of fighting the name." Last year Capone drew nationwide publicity and comparison to his late father, prohibition-era gangster Al Capone, when he was convicted of a $150 shoplifting charge.

"The new generations don't know the Capone reputation, but there's too many older people and newspapermen in Florida who do," Harkness said.

Capone, divorced and living in Hollywood, Fla., also listed in East Pakistan, in the petition. He has been a resident of Florida since the 30s.

Nicklaus Faces Brewer, Jacobs, Golf Play-off

By DAVID M. MOFFITT
UPI Sports Writer
AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus, the blond better from the Nicklaus, was the playoff favorite against Gay Brewer and Tommy Jacobs today in his bid to become the first man ever to win the Masters Golf championship two years in a row.

Nicklaus, who won the Masters in 1963 and again last year, and Jacobs, 31-year-old Californian who has won only four regular tournaments in a decade on the PGA tour, backed into a tie for the lead Sunday when Brewer missed a five-foot putt on the final hole.

All three wound up at even-par 200 for 72 holes—only one stroke lower than the highest stringer score ever posted for the Masters. Brewer, two strokes off the pace at the start of Sunday's round, had a 70 while Nicklaus and Jacobs, the third-round co-leaders, both had 72.

They were scheduled to tee off at 9 p. m. (EST) in an 18-hole playoff over the tough Augusta National Golf Club course which has resisted efforts of the entire Masters field to break par during the regulation 72 holes.

Final Five Holes
The final five holes will be nationally televised on CBS including the previously blocked out areas. In event there is still a tie after 18 holes, the match will become a sudden-death contest.

Today's winner gets $50,000 in the $120,000 tournament, richest in nearly eight months. The runner-up gets $12,000 and third place is worth $5,000.

The 36-year-old Brewer, from Dallas, Tex., appeared to have victory in his grasp until the final hole Sunday. Leading by a stroke, he decided to lay a putt to get a safe par but then missed a five-footer that would have made him winner.

"Of course I would like to have 'you-earn-as-you-play' and Jack," the dark-complexioned Brewer said afterwards. "It's a little bit depressed." Brewer has won four tournaments in the last seven months.

Nicklaus, 26-year-old long-ball hitter from Columbus, Ohio, said he felt he had a chance to catch up when Brewer failed to birdie the 30th hole, par 5 19th hole as he and Jacobs did.

But Nicklaus said the figure he'd have to close with a rarer hole Brewer parred No. 17 to hold to his one-stroke lead.

Jacobs said his putting saved him at the end when he was tied three to stay even. "It looks like I saved some of my bad shots until the end but then got putting well."

Jacobs was the leader through five holes Sunday but Brewer caught him at No. 6 with his second hole-in-one of the day. Nicklaus bogeyed No. 7 to drop two strokes

Canadian George Knudson was new contender in the field with a 200 he led after a closing 31. That tied him with Don January who had a 75 Sunday after going into the last round only one stroke back of Nicklaus and Jacobs.

Ray Flood and second round co-leader Paul Harvey were at 293 and Billy Casper, Bob Rosburg and Jay Roberts at 294. Ben Hogan, the 50-year-old "Foggy" who has won two Masters titles, was a 295 along with Peter Butler, the Englishman who shared the second round lead with Harvey, and Tommy Arnold.

South African Gary Player, current U. S. Open champion and on-rival number one in the Masters in 1961, finally finished par Sunday after being bothered by the gull but finished at 290—highest score he's had since first coming to the Masters in 1957.

Sammyl'n Sammy Snead, three time title, was far back in the pack at 325.

The leading amateur was James Grant of Wethersfield, Conn., who had a 73.599.

Watch That Offer for a Nitecap

By Abigail Van Buren
 (Both early and late.)
DEAR ABBY: I have been a faithful reader of yours for many years and hope you can straighten me out on something. Our changing moral code has me stumped! I went out with a fellow I liked a lot, and after a movie he asked me up to his apartment for a nitecap. I considered the late hour and the fact that I didn't know him too well, (second date) so I refused politely. He seemed to understand but he never called me again. Now I'm wondering if I did the right thing in refusing his invitation.
PUZZLED
DEAR PUZZLED: I think you did right. If it was only a nitecap he wanted, he could have obtained one with you publicly. And judging from the way he faded, I wasn't.
DEAR ABBY: I am 19 and have been married for 10 months. My husband is 30, and in the navy. He has been overseas for nine months and three days. When I first learned I was pregnant I was thrilled and told everyone. The baby is now overdue, and my mother-in-law told me she is giving me just one more week to have the baby, and if it isn't here, she'll know it's not her son's, and she will have my marriage annulled. I am very hard and upset about this, Abby, because the baby couldn't possibly be anyone else's but my husband's, and that kind of talk is ruining my reputation. How can I prove to my mother-in-law that she is wrong about me? And if I can't prove it, what can I do?
HURT
DEAR HURT: As long as YOU know the baby couldn't possibly be anyone else's but your husband's, ignore the accusations and head your head high. The gestation period is normally 280 days, but women have been known to miscalculate, thereby making the "due" date as much as 30 days off, signa.

H-Bomb Goes On Display Aboard Ship

By ANDRE DEL AMO
 United Press International
ABOARD THE USS ALBANY 878 — For the first time in the atomic age an H-bomb went on public display Friday when the United States showed reporters and photographers the bomb recovered from the Mediterranean Sea after an 80-day search.
 The Russians immediately questioned whether the 1.1 megaton bomb really was the weapon lost Jan. 17 in the crash of a B52 bomber that collided with its refueling tanker.
 More than 100 newsmen and photographers and U.S. Ambassador Angus D. Biddle Dake were shown the top-secret weapon from the deck of the USS Albany. The Albany, a guided missile cruiser, served as flagship for the U.S. Navy's task force 45 which plucked the bomb from under 2,600 feet.
 The bomb, with an explosive capacity of 1.1 million tons of TNT, lay on the deck of the USS Petrel, a submarine rescue vessel, which sailed within 50 yards of the Albany to allow newsmen to view the weapon. The Petrel raised the bomb from its underwater resting place Thursday morning.
 The delivery bomb resembled a 10-foot cigar tube. It was still partially wrapped in the shrouds of the parachute that lowered it into the sea following the crash.
 As the bomb went on display, the Adjutant General in Madrid closed the book on one of the most embarrassing incidents for the United States since it ushered in the atomic age in 1945.
 "The recovery of the fourth and final weapon from the Jan. 17 crash near Palomares brings to a close the search phase of the operation," an embassy statement said.
 The bomb will be placed in a blue cylindrical packing crate then put aboard a ship for delivery to the United States, "when the circumstances recommend it," the statement said.
 Armed guards and crewmen stood by the bomb on the Petrel deck to show there was no danger of radiation. The embassy confirmed that the bomb's casing was intact.
 American authorities showed off the weapon to counter Russian charges that the bomb might have contaminated the Mediterranean.
