STRIKE LOSSES WASHINGTON (AP) — Nearly 92,000 workers were idled by strikes during the first half of 1966, the largest number for a comparable period since 1955, according to the Labor Department.

In its report on strikes, issued Monday, the department noted that the amount of actual working time lost during the January-June period was less than during the first six months of 1965, however. The report did not include the current airlines mechanics' strike since it began July 8.

SERVE POLICY WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department has established a new policy under which only one military member of a family need serve in South Viet Nam at a time.

If one member of a family already is serving in Viet Nam, a second will be deferred from such service if he requests it. Income Tax Questions-Answers Internal Revenue Questioning Q - My return was audited and the agent disallowed some of my deductions. Is there any way I still might be able to claim them?

A - When you receive the notice of the proposed adjustment to your tax liability, you may request a district conference. This will enable you to present your side of the story to a conferee. Procedures for requesting this conference are described in the letter you will receive enclosing the agent's report.

Q - We sold some furniture in our home at a loss when we moved. Can we deduct this?

A - No. Losses on the sale of personal property are not deductible. Before you file next year's return, be sure to look into deductions and exclusions you might be entitled to as a result of your change of residence, however.

Q - I'm a doctor and have my own private practice. How much can I put aside a year for retirement?

A - You may contribute to a retirement plan as much as $2,500 a year or 10 percent of income earned from your practice, whichever is less. Your deduction for such contributions is limited to half the annual amount, up to $1,250. Remember that if you set up such a plan you must include each of your full-time employees who has completed three or more years of consecutive service.

IRS Document No. 5592, "Retirement Plans for Self-Employed Individuals," explains the rules and filing requirements for these plans. A free copy is available by writing any district director.

Q - My employer wants me to take a single course in business administration which will help me in my job. If I do this, will my costs be deductible as an educational expense?

New Colors In Hospital Rooms

By Gay Farney SPW Women's Editor NEW YORK (AP) — They're giving a hypodermic to the cold, sterile and institutional look of hospitals.

Wall colors are getting away from hospital green and some of the new furnishings look just like home.

That esthetic factor came in handy when Will Chamberlain was hospitalized recently, said Fred Vandenberg, eastern division manager for one equipment company.

The professional athlete is seven feet tall.

All the new hospital beds made by Vandenberg's firm are larger—70 inches, even without the extendable footboard. And manufacturers too are considering labor-savers for nurses.

The hospital bed may look like one from home, but it still needs to be raised, lowered, and head and foot sections adjusted in height also.

Result: The all-electrically powered bed, which either nurse or patient can adjust with the touch of a button.

Vandenberg's firm, American Seating of Grand Rapids, Mich., bills itself the world's largest maker of institutional equipment. It started 75 years ago making chairs.

present job, status, or pay or if it is necessary to improve or maintain the skills needed for your present job, then the costs are usually deductible. If the course qualifies you for another job or a promotion then the costs will not be deductible.

When you have a deductible, educational expense, tuition, books, supplies, laboratory fees and similar items are covered. Travel expenses including meals and lodging may be deductible too, if incurred in connection with deductible educational expenses.

Q - Are traffic violation fines tax deductible? We got stuck with one while on vacation.

A - No, they are not deductible.

pens and theater seats but branched into school furnishings and most recently into the hospital field, making chests, reclining chairs, overbed tables and bedside stands as well as beds.

The trend in furniture today is to the natural wood look, instead of metal, said Vandenberg. But ease of care and durability of hospital furniture also must be considered, so the base is metal with a wood-like vinyl finish in early American, Japanese modern looks like bamboo, French provincial and contemporary.

Vandenberg said there are 1.5 million hospital beds in use in the United States and within 10 years the number is expected to increase to 4 million, with Medicare and the increasing numbers of the elderly who will be in hospitals or nursing homes.

To go with the mellow look of furnishings are colors designed to please the patient and help convalescence. Brightness, intensity and "warmth" of color tend to stimulate the body processes, the blood pressure, pulse and respiration rate, say color researchers for Faber Birren, New York, which is consultant for Vandenberg's firm.

ABC, which already had six big golf tournaments in its camp, has acquired exclusive rights to seven more tournaments of the PGA tour.

Don't Despair
All Is Not Lost

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I wrote to you when I was 14, but didn't take your advice. Believe me, I wish I had. You wouldn't remember my letter, you got so many, but I asked you if I should go back with a boy I'd broken up with and you said no. I did anyway because I was crazy about him. Well, I got pregnant. I wanted to go to a home because I knew I had made one big mistake and didn't want to make another, but my parents thought we should get married. We've been married two years now, and I am the most miserable (I probably didn't spell it right, I had to quit school) girl in the state of Texas. My husband doesn't want to work steady, he doesn't pay any attention to me or the baby. He runs around with the kids, and there have been times when we haven't had enough to eat. All our money goes to get his car fixed up so he can drag race. I haven't told my mother how unhappy I am. I've caused her so much worry, I can't hurt her any more. Please give me some advice, Abby. This time I'll take it.

SEVENTEEN AND OLD

DEAR SEVENTEEN: It won't be easy to finish your education, but if you really want to, you can do it. Encourage your husband to grow up and face up to his responsibilities. Try to build as good a marriage as possible with the material you have.

Most important, confide in your mother. She may not be as surprised as you think. If your marriage is hopeless, perhaps it is better to recognize it now, than 10 years and 6 babies from now.

DEAR ABBY: Am I disappointed in you? You told the woman who always asks a telephone caller, "Who is calling, please?" that she was correct to ask, because the caller should always identify himself first. Nothing makes me angrier than to have someone ask me, "Who is calling?" They give the impression that they might not let you talk to your party if your name doesn't suit them. Besides, what's the difference who is calling? If a person is too busy to come to the phone, he is too busy, no matter WHO is calling.

DEAR DISAPPOINTED: Sorry, but everyone should have the privilege of knowing who is calling him before he answers the telephone. And if he doesn't care to answer, that is also his privilege. (It's yours, too.)

DEAR ABBY: I had the same kind of situation as "WANTS ROMANCE," but I didn't just sit around and wait for him to show out. After the third date I came right out and told him what was on my mind, and I asked him if there was something wrong with HIM, or was there something wrong with ME? He said, "Oh, so you want to be kissed!"

Then he kissed me so hard he nearly broke my collar bone. We were married five months later and have been married for nine years, and we have six children. So I guess that proves that honesty is the best policy.

Color TV Now
Changing
Men's Styles

By Vernon Scott
HOLLYWOOD 898 — If the plumes of male Americans has brightened in the past year blame color television.

This is the calculated conclusion of Sy Devore, Hollywood's foremost haberdasher who suits many a male video star in addition to providing leading men with movie wardrobes.

By contrast, the more color is added, the bolder men become in their wearing apparel.

"Stars like Dean Martin and Andy Williams and Frank Sinatra aren't afraid to wear bright colors," Devore explained. "And when American men see them on color TV they're encouraged to go out and buy some colorful clothes themselves."

According to Sy, oranges, green, mustard, burgundy, bright blue and yellow are becoming increasingly popular in slacks, sweaters, sports shirts and even sports jackets.

"Andy Williams has increased the sale of sweaters 100 per cent in my stores," said Sy at lunch in the Brown Derby, just across the street from his Hollywood establishment.

"He's done more for alpaca sweaters than all the golf pros in the business. Perry Como used to wear those sweaters, too, but he was in black and white and didn't affect the viewers as dramatically as Andy does in color."

"Color television has increased the demand for maroon and blue dress shoes. If a man sees Dean Martin wearing blue shoes he's going to feel better about wearing them himself."

Devore's contention is based on fact. He says men around the country write to him asking for a specific sports jacket or sweater they've seen on the back of a television celebrity.

"It's not just New York and Southern California," Devore said. "I get letters from all parts of the country, and the big thing is color. The Madison Avenue look is on the way out. It's been limited to blacks, grays and somber blues for patch, found that some of his melons had been snatched. To prevent further stealing, he put up a sign which said, "One of these melons is poisoned."

The next morning he found another sign which said, "Now, two of these melons are poisoned!"

Many girls are getting men's wages nowadays — but then, they always have.

The man of the house finally took all the disabled umbrellas to the repairer's. Two days later, on his way to his office, when he got up to leave the bus, he absentmindedly laid hold of the umbrella belonging to a woman beside him, for he was in the habit of carrying "one." The woman cried "Stop thief!" rescued her umbrella and clobbered the man with shame and confusion.

That same day, he stopped at the repairer's, and received all eight of his umbrellas duly repaired. As he entered a bus with the unrepaired umbrella tucked under his arm, he was horrified to behold glaring at him the lady of his morning adventure. Her voice came to him charged with a withering scorn:

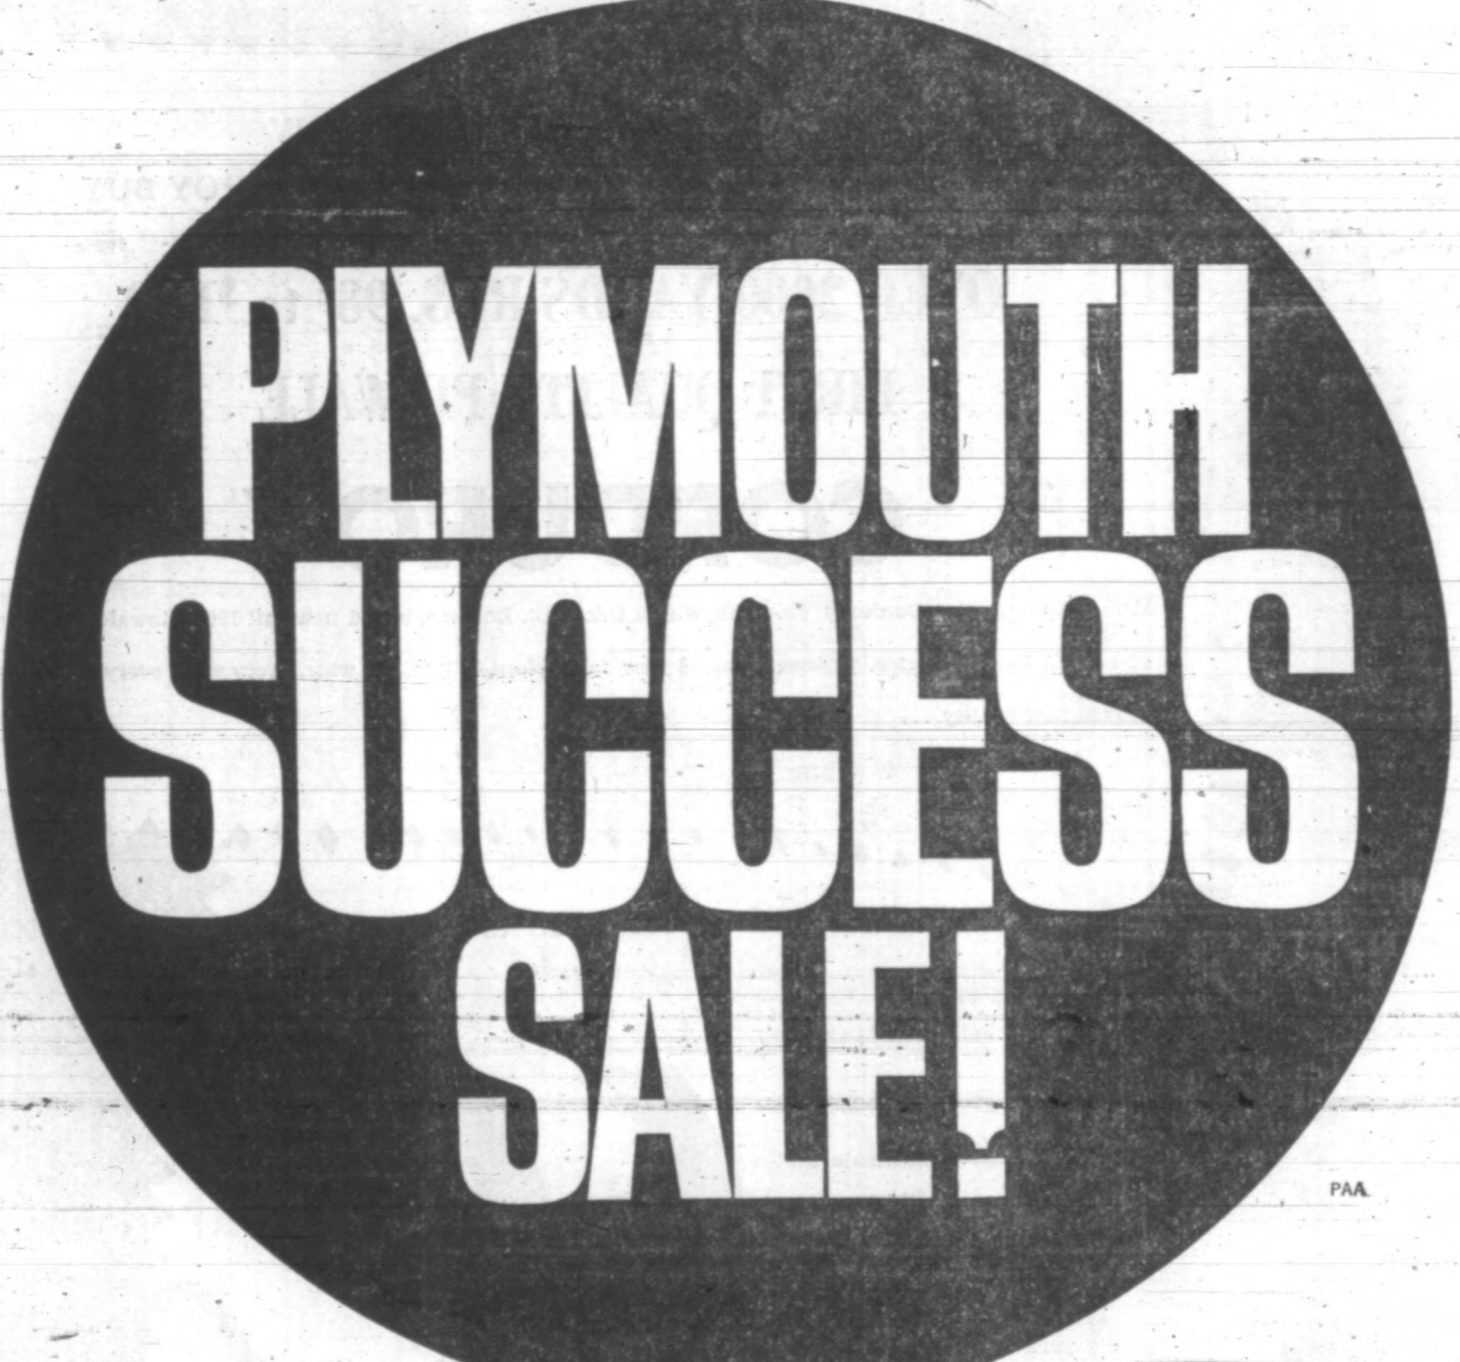

"Hi! Had a good day, didn't you?"

Bradshaw Hopes For More Than Rebuilding For UK

Editor's Note: Football practice at the University of Kentucky starts August 20. What are the prospects for the Wildcats this year? Head football coach Charlie Bradshaw has written for UPI his impressions of the coming season.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — Around the South this summer they're saying 1966 will be a rebuilding year for Kentucky. I am hopeful the upcoming season will prove to be more than that for us.

It is true that we graduated 18 seniors last year, many of whom had been three-year starters at Kentucky. This has left us with a gap of inexperience to cross, particularly on our offensive line and at quarterback.

But we realized some improvement defensively this spring, and there were pleasant individual surprises both offensively and defensively. If we are able to solve our major offensive problems during fall practice, we should have the basis for a successful season.

As a coaching staff, we are working this summer to lay the ground work for the season ahead. We must decide whether to change our passing offense; whether to use a long-pain or ball-control type of running game; how to modify our kicking game for best results; and whether the defensive alignments we adopted in spring practice are satisfactory. Our deadline for decision-making is Aug. 20, when fall practice begins.

Naturally we must make these plans according to the personnel we have returning this fall.

At quarterback we have two lettermen, Terry Beadles and Roger Walt, and two "Rookies" — Jim Prather and junior college transfer Bob Bartow. Together these four have negligible experience at the position in actual Southeastern Conference competition. Our present thinking is that either Beadles or Walt, both of whom are sprint-out quarterbacks and good scramblers, will start. This will facilitate our change to a sprint-out action-pass attack.

Elsewhere in the offensive backfield, we have Larry Seiple and Homer Goins at tailback, Bob Windsor at wideback, and Donnie Bertin and Frank Antonini at fullback. Bertin, a real competitor who is most determined to play, was probably the most improved offensive back we had in spring practice.

In the offensive line, another of our inexperienced areas, we have lettermen Calvin Withrow and Dan Spanish returning at center and split end, Dwight Little, a tackle, is also a letterman. But the other four positions in the forward wall will probably be manned by three sophomores and a red-shirt junior. We look for Derek Potter to start at tight end, Dennis Drinnen at left tackle, and either Louis Wolf or David Childre at one guard post. All four are sophomores. Two red-shirt juniors, Mike Betme and Mike Cushty, will contend for the other guard position.

Our defensive improvement this spring was greatly pleasing to us because to be a consistent winner you must play consistent defense, and we have not done that in the past. Last year we scored well enough to win nine of our games but we were outscored four times. This spring the defensive platoon showed evidence of tougher and more consistent play.

The chief area of improvement came in the secondary where, believe me it was needed! Sophomore Bill Janson, Al Phares, Billy Lyons, and senior Jerry Davis were all impressive in spring work.

The defensive ends also showed improvement, with Jim Swart, Jeff Van Note and Doug Van Meter performing adequately.

Our interior defensive linemen made real progress and showed fine pursuit. Among those who will be the leaders this fall are Basil Mullins and George Koltzenbach at tackle and Rich Machel at guard.

Several linebackers, led by junior Ronnie Roberts and Kerry Churing, also showed promise. The linebackers will probably be our deepest group this fall.

Overall, we have many problems to solve before we go up against North Carolina in Lexington Sept. 17. If our people exercise the proper self-discipline this summer, both in their weight programs and in their daily work-out routines, and if they report Aug. 20 ready to work to overcome their inexperience, we can solve these problems and make a creditable showing in 1966.

I think it will be an interesting and challenging football season at Kentucky.

Boat Season Is Underway; Big Year Seen

By JACK WILSON

NEW YORK (UPI) — When the 1966 boat season gets underway, industry bigwigs predicted the most profitable year in history. It looks as if they will be on target.

Reports from sales and earnings from a number of representative firms for the early part of 1966 mostly show figures far in excess of the same period last year and moving up at a record pace.

Hatters Yacht Co., producer of large fiberglass yachts, reported a 63 per cent sales increase for the six month period ending April 30. Earnings for the same period increased 69 per cent.

Company President David R. Parker Jr. said the firm entered the last half of fiscal 1966 with a "substantial backlog of orders" and "we expect to continue strong for the balance of the fiscal year."

A 10-fold increase in profits was reported by Winner Boats, Inc. of Dickson, Tenn., for the first six months of the current year, with net sales for the period up 66 per cent over the 1965 period.

Peter W. Lufkin, president of the firm which produces run-aboats and cruises from 14 to 21 feet, credits "generally good economic climate" with contributing to the upturn in the profit picture.

Winner, incidentally, will enter the sailboat market for the first time this year with a 24-foot model which will be introduced at the Chicago boat trade show next fall.

William C. Scott, president of the diversified Outboard Marine Corp., reported that sales in the area of $200 million and earnings equal to or exceeding the $12.8 million record of 1965, "appear reasonable" for the current fiscal year ending Sept. 30.

About 75 per cent of OMC's production is in the marine field, the largest manufacturer of outboard motors and a producer of other consumer products such as stern drive engines, fiberglass boats and trailers.

"With the increasing trend toward outdoor recreation and water conservation and recreation, boating is a strong and growing industry," Scott said, "quite apart from the fact that it is acquired, and lost in the fifties."

William E. Pearson, vice president and general manager of the MFG Boat Co. of Union City, Pa., reported that for the model year through April 30 dollar shipments of boats were up 23 1/2 per cent and unit shipments up 23 per cent over the same period last year.

"MFG has achieved the speed-up in shipments this year through additions to its trailer fleet, improved loading facilities and reorganization in procedures," he reported.

Crestliner reported that shipments of the company's fiberglass and aluminum boats from its Laidlaw Pella, Minn., plant for the model year through April 30 were 122 per cent ahead of deliveries for the same period in 1965.

Rick Nelson will be seen on television during the new season even though the long-run "Adventure of Ozie and Harriet" finally has called it a career. The Nelsons' younger son will star in "Pip Side," an original video musical that will be one of the entertainments of the new "ABC Stage 67" series. Vocalist Joanie Sommers has a role as owner of a Greenwich Village dress shop in this comedy about a singing star who seems doomed to obscurity at the age of 31. It is a spoof of teenagers and their musical fads.
