Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

With so much unhappiness evident today in so many marriages...

Congratulations to Dan Miller, Carl Converse and David Buckingham...

The telephone company is breaking up the old sidewalk on West Main Street...

The widening of Main Street between Fifth and Sixth Streets is also welcome.

Mrs. Rob Hicks, formerly of Hazel, now is in California with her son Rob Roy Hicks.

How about those cool nights? Wake up the other morning about to freeze and get us a blanket.

The telephone in the doctor's home rang at 3 a.m. "What do you charge for a house call?" the woman at the other end of the line asked.

"Ten dollars," the doctor mumbled sleepily. "And how much for an office visit?"

"Five dollars." "All right," the woman said quickly. "I'll meet you at your office in 30 minutes."

Say it with flowers, Say it with ends, Say it with kisses, Say it with sweets, Say it with jewelry, Say it with drink, But always be careful Not to say it with ink.

Barkley Lake State Park Is Begun Today

Eugene P. Foley, Assistant U.S. Secretary of Commerce, will speak at Barkley Lake State Park groundbreaking ceremonies, set for 2 p.m. today, August 24, at the state park near Cadiz.

Smith Broadbent Jr., of Cadiz, general chairman of the groundbreaking program, today announced that Foley will deliver one of three principal addresses.

Besides being an assistant secretary, Foley is Director of Economic Development, a post to which he was named by President Johnson in September, 1965. His duties, Broadbent said, are to oversee and administer the Public Works and Economic Development Act of 1965 through two new agencies which were established.

These are: (1) the Economic Development Administration, designed to assist communities in their efforts to create jobs and stimulate economic growth; and (2) the Office of Regional Economic Development, which provides similar aid to regions and multi-state sections.

"Foley was instrumental in securing for our region a $3 million E. D. A. grant which will help develop the Barkley Lake State Park recreational facility," according to Governor Breathitt, who said he was very pleased Foley would be present at the ceremonies.

President Johnson, on a recent trip to Kentucky, announced the grant and said it would benefit the area.

Dr. Ray Mofield Is Speaker For Lions

Dr. Ray Mofield, assistant to the president of Murray State University, was guest speaker at the Lions Club meeting on Tuesday. He discussed some of the provisions of the new State Constitution.

The present State Constitution was adopted in 1891 and it would be impossible to comply with it completely in 1966, Dr. Mofield said.

One provision of the proposed State Constitution is an election every 2 years instead of each year. The counties will remain as they are, he continued.

He said that the proposed new constitution provides better ways to finance the state government. It also raises the maximum income of state employees making it possible to secure properly trained personnel, he pointed out.

The 1891 Constitution allowed only one university for the state. The new one allows more than one university.

Quotes In The News

WASHINGTON — Los Angeles Mayor Samuel W. Yorty, when asked by wealthy Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., what the city government is doing to insure the rights of Negroes to improve their living conditions: "Certainly they won't have the chance you've had. But they'll have the chance I had."

WASHINGTON — The Rev. Paul F. Tanner, general secretary of the National Catholic Welfare Conference (NCWC), recommending that the next census include a religious question.

The public discussion over religious affiliation in the 1960 presidential election dramatized a new sense of national maturity in this regard, with the result that the admission of one's religious affiliation is as readily given, and almost as casually received, as of one's lodge, or union, or professional association.

WASHINGTON — Deputy Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark, informing the House Committee on Un-American Activities that the much-publicized efforts to aid the Communist Viet Cong have not succeeded.

Essentially, the Viet Nam obstructionist movement has been a propaganda effort. What we do to exaggerate its dimension, which is minuscule, only aids it in the accomplishment of its purpose.

CHICAGO — An unidentified white housewife, commenting on the role her religion plays in the civil rights movement: "If they keep preaching love thy nigger, I'm gonna quit being Catholic."

Ten Years Ago Today

Dr. J. A. Outland, pioneer medical doctor of Calloway County, passed away at six a.m. today at his home in Pottertown. Death came suddenly to the popular county health doctor.

Another death reported today was that of Mrs. Betty Darnell, age 80, who died today at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Pearson Lovett of Dexter Route One.

Income Tax Questions-Answers

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U. S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q — If stock is listed in both the husband's and the wife's name do they both qualify for the $100 dividend exclusion?

A — Each owner of qualifying stock is entitled to receive up to $100 in tax free dividends, whether they file jointly or separately. On joint ownership, both husband and wife are still entitled to their separate $100 exclusions.

Q — A foreign student is coming to live with us. Is there any tax deduction for us from this relationship?

A — The student generally cannot be claimed as a dependent, but you may wish to consider being listed to deduct as a charitable contribution what it costs to maintain him in your home.

To qualify for this deduction, generally, he or she must be a full-time student in the 12th or a lower school grade, not a dependent or relative of yours, and a member of your household under a written agreement between you and a tax exempt organization to which contributions are deductible. If you receive any compensation or reimbursement for his maintenance, no deduction is allowed.

Usually the organization placing the student will be able to tell you whether any costs may be deducted.

Q — Are tax refunds automatically forwarded by the Post Office or do you have to notify IRS?

A — Mail should be forwarded by the postman if you have not had a change of address with him but you should also notify your IRS district office.

In past years, IRS has been unable to deliver about 250,000 refund checks annually because taxpayers couldn't be located by IRS or the post office. The memory of our new computer process system credits an undelivered refund to the taxpayer's account but it has to receive his next return or other communication from him that bears his new address before the refund can actually be put into his hands.

Q — I went on a job interview out of town after I graduated and the company paid the cost of transportation, meals and hotel. Is that money taxable to me?

A — The reimbursement or allowance should be included as income only to the extent it exceeds your actual expenses. If all the money you received was spent on interview costs, then nothing need be included as income.

Q — My return is being audited and they are questioning the dependency exemption I claimed for my mother. What records do I need to substantiate my claim?

A — You should be able to substantiate that you provided more than one-half her total support for the year, that her taxable gross income was under $500, and that she did not file a joint return with another taxpayer for the year in question.

She also must have been a citizen or resident of the U. S., or a resident of Canada, Mexico, the Canal Zone, or the Republic of Panama.

Q — My wife is expecting and the doctor says the baby will arrive either in late November or early December. Since the baby will be born this year, will he be entitled to the $500 exemption this year, but the exemption cannot be claimed for withholding purposes until the birth occurs.

The law on income tax withholding specifies the minimum amount which must be withheld based on income, exemptions and frequency of pay period. A taxpayer cannot add an exemption to which he is not entitled for withholding purposes. However, he may claim fewer exemptions than entitled to.

The Almanac

By United Press International Today is Wednesday, Aug. 24, the 230th day of 1966 with 129 to follow.

There are no evening stars.

Richard Cardinal Oshing was born on this day in 1896.

On this day in history:

In 79 A. D., thousands of people were killed and the cities of Pompeii and Herculaneum were buried following the eruption of Mt. Vesuvius in Italy.

In 1932, Amelia Earhart became the first woman to make a transcontinental non-stop flight.

In 1939, President Franklin Roosevelt appealed to Germany to avoid war and Germany and Russia signed a 10-year non-aggression pact.

GRANTS QUESTIONED

WASHINGTON 23 — The U. S. District Court in New Orleans today was considering a Justice Department request to strike down a Louisiana program authorizing state tuition grants for students in segregated private schools.

U. S. Atty. Gen. Nicholas DeB. Katzenbach asked Friday that the court set up a three-judge federal panel to declare the law setting up the grants unconstitutional.

WHAT'S GOING ON HERE

The 1966 Kentucky State Fair gets under way August 18 with what fair officials feel to be one of the best programs ever offered. One of the major changes this year is the advanced date.

By holding the fair in August it is felt that many more young people will be able to attend and participate as most schools will not be in session. Too, a youth board composed of 4-H and FFA members was established this year to serve in an advisory capacity. This should result in a program with more appeal to young fairgoers.

Opening on August 18, the program will offer a variety of activities through August 27. A number of free events are being offered for the entertainment of both young and old. Of course, many exhibits—agricultural, industrial, military, governmental, and civic—are being viewed by fair visitors. Fine Kentucky livestock, as well as entries from throughout the Nation, will be competing for top prizes. Farm, garden, and home products will likewise be displayed in great quantities. The Kentucky State Fair horse show is known throughout the country as one of the world's best.

All in all, each and every person attending this year's Kentucky State Fair should find several events and exhibits of particular interest to them. They can spend many hours touring the Exposition Center. In fact, many people will probably want to attend more than one day. Regardless of how much time they can spend, it would like to urge all Kentuckians to visit the 1966 Kentucky State Fair.

The Kentucky Crop and Livestock Reporting Service reports that the State's 1966 lamb crop was 11 per cent below last year's.

According to recent figures, 174,000 lambs were produced on Kentucky farms this year.

A decline is reported in the number of breeding ewes. Surveys showed 154,000 breeding ewes a year old or older on Kentucky farms on January 1. This is nine per cent below the total figure last year.

A similar situation is reported nationwide which indicates higher lamb prices for next year.

Studies by the Sheep Commission of the Governor's Commission on Agriculture show a good potential for expansion of the Kentucky sheep industry. With sheep numbers declining in other states, local sheepmen should give strong consideration toward expansion of this enterprise.

Don't Overlook Faults Completely

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have always been taught to respect my elders, but my patience is wearing thin. My husband's mother is living with us now, and she really is welcome, but some of the little annoying things she does is beginning to get us down.

For instance, she gets the newspaper first and tears it all apart. She even works the crossword puzzles while my husband stazes. She sits in his favorite chair and tunes in the TV program she likes. When one of us is on the phone she will ask later what the other party said as she could hear only "our" half of it. She enters into all family discussions and asks the children's side if we correct them.

Is there some way we can let her know she's out of line without creating a major battle? Or should we overlook it?

DEAR L. A.: No. Don't overlook it. When minor grievances accumulate, they are bound to erupt eventually. Later on, mention one thing, calmly and kindly, and the husband should do the rest.

DEAR ABBY: Maybe I don't have a sense of humor, but while

CAT CAN MAKE HIM RICH—All that stands between William J. Fields, 77, and a $15,000 inheritance is Flat Nose, the cat he holds in Chicago. Flat Nose is 13, and the sole surviving heir to the $24,000 estate of Mrs. Margaret Montgomery, 67, who died in 1960. She provided that Flat Nose care for her five cats on income from the estate, and when they all died, he would get $15,000 and $9,000 would go to a Catholic charity.

KNOW IMMEDIATELY IN BAYON ROUGE: The law changes rather abruptly, but the last time I checked, the legal age for marriage in the state of Louisiana was 12 for the girl and 14 for the boy—but only with parental consent. Without it's 16 for the girl and 18 for the boy. Better check this out with your local authorities.

Soldiers Work With Viet Farmers

By Martin Stuart-Fox
United Press International
SOC TRANG, Viet Nam (AP) — The American army captain drove unarmored down the narrow village road, pointed out a demonstration plot of corn and spoke expertly and enthusiastically about rice yields, hogs and improved varieties of vegetables.

It was all in a day's work for Capt. Max Garouite, of Crane, Mo., 1st of the 29th Infantry Division but presently attached to MACV (Military Assistance Command, Viet Nam) at Soc Trang in the Mekong Delta, 100 miles southeast of Saigon, as the provincial agricultural adviser.

Garouite is one of about 30 army officers in Viet Nam who exchanged their rifles and grenade launchers for power sprays and fertilizer.

Garouite's change in command came as a direct result of the Honolulu conference when Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman asked President Johnson for a quick influx of agricultural experts to work with the farmers. Recruitment began in the United States but to fill the gap until agriculturalists begin arriving it was agreed to release about 20 qualified army officers.

Thousands of names of officers serving in Viet Nam were whittled through a computer and Max Garouite, for one, was given three days to report to Ba Xuyen Province on his new and rather unusual assignment. Since April, when he arrived in Soc Trang, he has become a firm supporter of the program.

"I've seen the war from both sides, from the end of a gun and like this," Garouite said, driving through a village where children ran to wave and pigs scurried out of the way. "I definitely feel there's a need to get to the people and it can be done through agriculture."

"Eighty per cent of the people are farmers, so you get to the majority of the people this way," Garouite's degree in general agriculture from Springfield State College, Missouri, gives him the necessary background to be able to advise in all aspects of agriculture and rural life.

Garouite lists four major tasks in his role as agricultural adviser. These are to increase agricultural yields, improve strains of livestock, facilitate exchange of information of agricultural importance so that it gets to the farmers and advise the Vietnamese government on problems affecting agriculture.

To these ends, Garouite has started demonstration plots, distributed seeds of improved varieties of early yielding paddy rice and vegetables and begun a training program for 45 ten-man groups of farmers to learn how to use fertilizer.

Garouite's job is not without danger. The tough army captain believes the adviser's job is to get to the people and he drives over much of the only partially secure province in his army uniform, an inviting target for Viet Cong snipers.

Garouite little thought when he chose a Regular Army commission through the ROTC (Reserve Officer Training Corps) that he would come to Viet Nam to practice the agricultural profession he passed up.

Architect Cracks Down On Fellows

CHICAGO (AP) — The United States is reaping the wild wind of protest because its architects have sown the wind of their own petty indulgences, architect Charles E. Stude says.

Stude is dissatisfied with everything in and about most buildings. Architects are more fascinated with their own ideas than with the clients they serve or the public for whom they ultimately design, he says.

"This kind of approach to architecture," he says, "is petty indulgence in self-expression. Architecture should be the servant of man. It should mirror the client and not the architect."

Some Questions
Stude has some questions for his colleagues.

In the designing of a hospital, why is the patient the last "item" considered?

In office buildings, why does the privacy afforded workers equal, roughly, what they get in the bus on the way down?

And the environment in universities, why is it often no match for a decent prison layout?

"No wonder," college students riot in the despair of their lost individuality and human contact in the meaningless maze of the computerized, cell-block campus," Stude said.

"What do you suppose would happen if hospital patients got together to voice their complaints?"

"Many of the ugly, impersonal and inefficient buildings that have come to dominate the American scene in recent years could have been built to man's physical and spiritual needs at far less cost."

"The trouble was that too few architects and clients bothered to talk to those who would use the buildings. They are aesthetically unaware. They have grown up in a society of ugliness and have no real basis for judgement of architecture."

Kentucky was the first state west of the Alleghenies to keep a statewide record of births and deaths.

With Juan Marichal Back In Shape, Giants Get In Step

By CURT BLOCK
UPI Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants are back in step now that Juan Marichal's injury is back in shape.

The streaking Giants took a one-game lead in the frantic National League pennant chase Tuesday night behind the high-kicking, score-footed Dominican who stopped Cincinnati 7-0 on eight hits for his 18th victory.

It was San Francisco's fourth straight win and eighth in their last nine games.

Marichal's return to the mound was a relief to manager Alvin Dark, who has been frustrated by the lack of a starting pitcher since July 25 and compounded his early August slump two weeks ago by stepping on a stray baseball while running in the outfield before a game and severely twisting his left ankle.

Hindered Pitching
The injury, besides being quite painful, hampered Marichal's pitching motion, follow-through and total effectiveness so much so that Manager Herman Franks was at a loss Monday when asked about Marichal's next start.

"He'll pitch when he says he can pitch," Franks said. "I'm not going to ask him again."

Tuesday night the 28-year-old pitcher declared he was ready to test his ailing foot. Although touched for eight hits, including homers by Don Johnson and Leo Cendan, he accounted for all the Red runs, the gained momentum as the game progressed and allowed only two hits after the fourth inning.

AL Games
In the American League, Cleveland edged Baltimore 2-1, California blanked New York 1-0, Chicago defeated Detroit 2-1 in 12 innings, Minnesota split a doubleheader with Washington, winning 7-0 before losing 4-3, and Boston and Kansas City had a twin bill rain-out.

Jim Kaat Moves Quietly To Get Within One Game Of 20

By JEFF MEYERS
UPI Sports Writer

Although it's pretty difficult to conceal a 6-foot-5, 225-pound frame, Jim Kaat has managed to go unnoticed throughout the season.

While Sandy Koufax and Gaylord Perry were monopolized most of the publicity en route to winning 20 games, Kaat moved quietly, collecting victory after victory, and today guards one triumph away from becoming the first American League pitcher this season to reach the select circle.

At mid-season, Denny McLain was the All-Star Game starter and top winner in the league with 13 victories, while Kaat was just another hurler in the middle of the pack with 11 triumphs.

But since then the Minnesota left-hander has won eight of 11 decisions and attained victory No. 19 Tuesday night by stopping Washington 7-0 on five hits for his first shutout of the season. The Senators won the second game of the twinned 4-3.

Close Before
Kaat, who would become the first southpaw in the Calvin Griffith organization to win 20 games since Earl Whitehill captured 22 in 1953

for the old Washington Senators, has been close in the past two years, winning 17 in 1964 and 18 last season.

Even with his outstanding 1965 campaign, Kaat still had to take a back seat to teammate Jim Grant, who won 21 games during the campaign and two more in the World Series.

"Kaat will start every fourth day the rest of the season," said Minnesota Manager Sam Mele. Barring injury, Mele's edict will mean at least eight starts at No. 20 for Kaat.

In the National League, San Francisco took over first place by whipping Cincinnati 7-3, Los Angeles edged Atlanta 8-7, Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh 5-4, St. Louis shut out Houston 3-0 and New York topped Chicago 4-1.

Kaat, who has suffered nine losses, limited Washington to only one hit through the first seven innings—a second-stanza double by Don

Look. Rich Rollins supported Kaat with a grand slam home run in the third inning off losing pitcher Pete Richert 10-12. Rollins connected on a 3-2 pitch with two out after Richert filled the bases on his error and two walks.

The Senators bounced back in the nightcap as Willie Kirkland broke a 3-3 tie with an eighth-inning pinch hit home run. The homer was the eighth by a Washington pinch hitter this season.

McDowell in Form
Sam McDowell, apparently recovered from a three-month siege with a sore arm, stopped the league-leading Orioles on six hits and struck out 10. McDowell, raising his slate to 8-5, headed Baltimore to third loss in the last four games.

Rocky Colavito slammed his 28th home run for the Indians. Larry Brown scored the first Cleveland run, leading off with a walk, going to third on Leon Wagner's double and coming home on a ground out.

Gary Peters hurried 12 innings, limiting Detroit to six hits and winning his 11th game in 20 decisions. The White Sox scored in the 12th when Jerry Adair singled, went to second on a wild pitch, third on Tom McCraw's single and home on a sacrifice fly by pinch hitter Wayne Chappay. Norm Cash tied the game at 11 with a ninth-inning homer for Detroit.

STORM WATCH

MIAMI 8-7 - Faith, the sixth tropical storm of the season moved westward off the coast of Africa today, but was much too far away to give U. S. residents cause for worry.

The national hurricane center discovered the storm by examining weather satellite information Monday. It was located about 3,000 miles from the U. S. mainland and more than 700 miles from the African coast.

The center said no regular advisories would be issued on Faith until it moved west of longitude 35 degrees west, although it was to be closely watched via satellite reports.

Total cost of the Barkley Park project is $7,945,000, with the State furnishing matching funds. It will contain a 120-acre rest area, lodge, housekeeping cottages, two beaches, a boat dock and marina, picnicking areas and numerous other public-use facilities. Broadbent said that the general public is invited to the groundbreaking ceremonies which will be attended by numerous State and Federal officials. Aubrey Wagner, Tennessee Valley Authority Board Chairman, has accepted an invitation to attend. The famed 101st Airborne Division Band from Ft. Campbell and the "Tiger County" High School Band will entertain during ceremonies. A large delegation from Cadiz is expected to represent that community, traveling to the park site in a flotilla, Broadbent said. He said Cadiz business firms have announced they will close for the day and give their employees a chance to attend the ceremonies. The location of the new park is approximately four miles west of Cadiz, off U.S. Highway 68. Broadbent said signs will be placed along the highway directing the public to the groundbreaking site.

CHAPTER 6 IN THE wheelhouse of the Helena, Captain Krapp continued his vigil of the sea and weather. He was a stubborn man...

He could drink any man under the table and still take his ship out next day with a clear head. Aye, he had done just that. Then — well, the captain and the bottle began to fight...

Up the hills lay Edinburgh. Moored close by was a rime-coated American cargo vessel commanded by his drinking companion in many a port, Captain Herman Ellsberg.

He boarded Ellsberg's ship the day before she sailed. (To Be Continued Monday)
