Four-Laning Of US 641 Will Be Done Says Ward

Four-laning of U.S. 641 between Murray and Benton which he authorized as commissioner of highways will be completed early in his administration, Henry Ward, Democratic candidate for Governor, said on a visit here Saturday.

Ward said the Department of Highways is making good progress on competing design plans for U.S. 641, and will start the acquisition of rights of way this summer.

"I asked that first emphasis be placed on buying rights of way for this important improvement between Scott's Grove Church near Murray and Almo Heights, because of the development of this section, and this is being done," Ward said. "Preliminary rights of way acquisition will begin here this month. Right of way plans for the section between Almo Heights and the Marshall County line are due in July, and purchasing or negotiations are scheduled to begin later in the summer from this point to Benton."

"I held hearings last year in Murray and Benton and asked the people of these two counties if they wanted U.S. 641 four-laned under a plan proposed by the highway department engineers, and approval was almost unanimous," Ward continued. "No project will be of greater value to the state than this."

Kentucky Dam Leads All In Visitors

TVA dams and steam plants had an estimated 11,850,000 visitors in 1966, a new record and nearly a half-million more than the previous year's number. This brought the total number of visitors to these installations through the years to about 189 million.

The number of visitors to each installation is estimated from registrations and traffic counts. Visitor registration books, as usual, included substantial numbers of names from each of the 50 states.

Florida residents again made up the largest number of visitors registering from any state outside the states where TVA projects are located. However, nearly half of the visitors from outside this area came from the five Great Lakes States from Ohio to Wisconsin.

TVA encourages the public to see its installations. It has provided visitor lobbies, galleries or overlooks, and other visitor conveniences at 20 major dams and 11 steam plants.

These totals do not indicate the overall effect of TVA projects on tourism and other recreation activities, since total recreation visits to the lakes and lakeshores are several times the number of visitors to the dams themselves.

Kentucky Dam again led the visitor totals in 1966 with nearly 1 1/2 million. Pickwick Landing, Fontana, and Chickamauga Dams also had more than a million visitors each.

Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

It wasn't that we didn't see and hear it on Saturday it was just that we never found time to get it down on paper.

There it was five minutes before press time and somebody says where's the column. That's the first we had thought of it.

Maybe posterity will survive this omission.

Out by Mrs. Willie Brandon's Sunday evening. She lives over near Hale and has a little tree she's going to give us. They were not at home so we'll go back. She has two huge Azaleas in the front yard, one red and one pink.

Non-Annual Variety Show Is Enjoyed By Cubs, Parents

A special non-annual variety show was presented at Carter School last week by the Webelos of Pack 145.

Highlights of the program were a style show with each Scout modeling the latest in woman's fashions, a soft shoe number and a barber shop quartet.

Assistant Cubmaster of Webelos, Bill Meager and Den Chief Steve Simmons worked diligently to prepare the Scouts for the show and Mrs. Vernon Shown furnished the music for each number.

A large number of parents, Scout leaders who attended enjoyed the show.

As a climax to the program the Webelos Badge was presented to each member of the den, Beale Stalls, Jr., Gary Page, Riddle Williams, Timothy Shown and Billy Flora.

The Webelos Badge is the highest award that can be bestowed on a Cub Scout and one which each Cub strives to attain. When this award is received, he is then eligible to become a Boy Scout.

Bennie Page, Cubmaster said that much work and effort went into the achievement and each parent should feel highly honored to have a son who has reached this plane in scouting.

In a business session, before the program, the annual Cubmobile Derby was discussed. This event will be held on Sunday, April 23 at 2:45 p.m. at Kentucky Lake State Park swimming area. It is open to any Cub Scout in the Chennubby District and rules and jar specifications can be obtained from any Cubmaster.

No Schedule Set Up For Mosquito Spraying

R. L. Cooper, administrative assistant of the Calloway County Health Center, said no scheduled time has been made with the Health Department for the spraying for mosquitoes in Murray and Calloway County.

Cooper said, however, he is hopeful that the county will be able to secure facilities for the spraying for mosquitoes at least once or twice during the year.

Gov. Edwart Breathitt last month allocated $7,500 from his emergency fund to provide additional equipment and personnel to combat the annual mosquito menace, and also set aside $2,500 to be used in procuring additional rental equipment to aid in the fight if it is needed.

In the strip mining areas of western Kentucky the large salt marsh mosquito is common, while the smaller northern house mosquito affects most of the remainder of the state. The house mosquito is the strain which carries and transmits the "sleeping sickness" virus. The mosquitoes of this area, though irritating, are considered harmless, according to reports.

Tom Scruggs Heads Insurance Agents

Thomas Scruggs of Hazard was elected president of the Murray-Calloway County Association of Insurance Agents at the last meeting at the Southside Restaurant.

Other officers elected to serve for the coming year are Harding Calloway of Murray, vice-president, and Bob Melugin of Murray, secretary-treasurer.

This is one of the few such organizations in the state and the object is to support right principals insurance underwriting, to maintain a high standard of integrity and to promote harmony in the insurance business, according to a spokesman for the club.

Thirteen Have Filed For City Council Posts

The deadline for filing for the Murray City Council passed Saturday and found thirteen persons seeking the twelve posts.

Those persons filing for Ward "A" (north of Main Street) are as follows: Asterisks indicate that the candidate is an incumbent. Raymond T. "Buddy" Hewitt* Charles M. Baker* Prentice L. Lassiter* Haron B. West* Preston Ordway* Max A. Weaver

Those filing for Ward "B" (south of Main Street) are: Richard Tuck* Macon Blankenship* James Rudy Allbritten* Roy C. Starks* Leonard Vaughn* Paul H. Heise* C. W. Jones

Councilmen not running for reelection are Jack Belote in Ward A and Frank Lancaster in Ward B.

Races for Mayor, City Judge, and City Prosecuting Attorney were all held in November of 1966 and are for four year terms.

Charles Mason Baker was named by the council to fill the place of Joe Dick on the Council when Dick moved to Louisville, however he had served on the council for some time prior to that time.

In the City Council race voters from over the city may vote for any twelve persons they wish to, regardless of which Ward the candidate seeks to represent. As the totals are made, the six persons in each Ward, having the largest number of votes, are declared elected.

Since only six persons are seeking council positions in Ward A, they apparently all will win. One of the seven persons in Ward B will fail to win.

Death took a holiday last night as Kenn Hale's red Chevrolet came to rest in the yard of Charles Ryan after vaulting between two signs, then leaping a ten foot bank to come to rest between a tree and stone and brick corner post. Hale received a cut on the head however the car was listed as a total wreck.

A Bible Thought For Today

For whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning, that we through patience and comfort of the scripture might have hope. - Romans 15:4.

Because the Bible is the fountainhead of all moral and religious truth, we should make Bible reading a fixed part of our everyday life.

Fins 'n' Feathers

Since our last visit with you, we have met so many "new people", renewed some old acquaintances and collected all sorts of "fun information". We need more space, time, and help!

"Black Blob Gertie", finding herself without a camera, necessitated our "taggin' along" with the boss. This "boss man" thought he was "shock-proof" after 12 years with Junior, but he's much wiser today! He has learned first hand about that terrible feeling that hounds you when you talk to people, get a picture, and realize fully, how disappointed they will be if you "goofed".

The "shocker" comes when strangers walk up and say, "Heh, I know you, you're big Ed of Fins 'n' Feathers". Well, he won't plead guilty to that - just says SHE'S Fins 'n' Feathers. This fellow is still a little "stunned" and making mumbly sounds, like, "I never saw these people in my life! I never even heard of him, how did he know?"

The only time ole "blockhead" is surprised is if we ever walk into a crowded room and some smart-aleck doesn't make with "cracks" like, "which are you, the Fins or Feathers?" If he would attend one hunt or event with us, he would learn these are REAL PEOPLE we deal with.

Saw Byron Sykes with a large hand full of "blue slips" Saturday. Nosey checked them but didn't know them - not yet - but we shall. Welcome to the family of the Ledger and Times a few new (and renewed) ones we DO know are Mr. Bryan Jordan from Hardin, J. C. Maupin's family, Murray, Jack Jones family of the Cypress Resort on Cypress Creek, and Calton Morgan of Morgan's Boat Dock. Nope, we aren't trying to sell subscriptions - just want to keep up with the world and you can't do it without the Ledger! How else will you know what the Double F has done to you.

Pay attention now! We'll tell you a little about some nice people, while we pray for some good pictures. If we have pictures, we'll cut the chatter and run pictures, so remember these people and we'll help you watch for them.

Glyn and Nancy Roberts, Duketom, Tenn., Rt. 2; Aubra, Mary and Randle Cruse, 6749 Cornell, Taylor, Mich.; H. B. McCormick, Russellville, Ky.; Kelly and Joe Russell, Russellville, Ky.; H. D. Wheeley and James Thompson from Adairville, Ky.; Eddie Youngblood and Kenny Austin from Mayfield; A. W. Simmons and grandson, A. W. III; Calton Morgan and grandson Terry. Now there is a pair of grandfathers for you... holy Toledo!

Aubra and Mary Cruse and son, Randle, are on vacation this week. They are visiting Aubra's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Cruse of Duketom, Tenn. Glyn and Nancy Roberts (also from Duketom) make up the balance of this fishing party. They were at Morgan's Boat Dock Saturday. On their string were 58 croppie. Good eating but lots of dressing - like work man!

H. B. McCormick owns and operates an Ashland Service Station, 9th & Nashville, Russellville, Ky. He has been at this same location for 23 years. I vow to look this fellow up and get the details on such exciting things as Jesse James' bank robbery, which supposedly happened in Russellville. Of special interest is the "haunted house" he mentioned. After people and haints' dogs junior loves "Bob-goblins and haints". We approved of Mr. McCormick, right off. Didn't "hear him up a bit", when Junior yells, "Heh, Martin Oil boy, move the fish in. Well, he was wearing a blue suit and cap, wasn't he? His smart-aleck partner, Joe Russell, chimes in with, "Smartin' up with Martin!" Before we tell you about Mr. Russell, let us remind you, if you're near Russellville, Ky., look up Mr. McCormick, get your car needs and meet a nice fellow. We will!

Now for this Mr. Russell - he's something else again! He is now a school supplies salesman, dealing with such "finery" as class rings, caps, gowns, etc. He once was a coach in Murray, also in Russellville. He inquired about Joe Paschall from Hazel (whom I haven't seen in years), and Bob Miller. Told him Bob is very much here and we just might "run him for President".

Mr. Russell's daughter, Jo Anne, was chosen Queen of the Mountain Laurel Festival for '64. For those of us who know nothing of such things, that would seem to be a contest between all of the major colleges, to choose one girl as "Queen".

Jo Anne is married to Skipper Bennett (from Murray) who is now in the "thick of it" in Vietnam. Skipper's mother is a second grade teacher at Carter Elementary School.

Mr. McCormick, Mr. Russell and son, Kelly, were at the Cypress Resort. If we get a picture, you'll see their string of... Kelly caught most of them, naturally!

H. D. Wheeley - what do you do with a "guy like him"? Oh, boy! He and partner James Thompson from Adairville, Ky., brought in their string of croppie, had their sleeping quarters arranged for, so their world was "coming up roses". Mr. Thompson, very shy and quiet, Mr. Wheeley "really living it up". Wanted to make sure his wife saw his picture (that's a switch) in the paper. They were at Cypress Resort.

A brief visit with two youngsters from Mayfield, Eddie Youngblood and Kenny Austin. They were "scramblin' madly" to get home and ready for church.

They had a nice string of fish and I hope we have a picture. They were fishin' in Jonathan Creek.

Eddie's family owns and operates Youngblood Bros. Discount Center in Mayfield. When you're in Mayfield stop by and see them!

Met "Kilroy" Sykes (coming into the Ledger & Times office) Saturday and he all "dressed up" and looked fairly human, but "smart alecky" as always. If he should change - we wouldn't speak to him. He is a brother to our own Byron Sykes and James, who is the big wheel of Sykes Plumbing Co., on North 16th Street. Erroy works with big brother James.

Our apologies to Buddy McNutt of McNutt's Body Shop, James Ed Smith and Al Keys Parker, for the delay in running your pictures. Patience, ole friend, we'll get you!

Mr. and Mrs. Calton Morgan, Morgan's Boat Dock, have their new restaurant "going great guns" now. They have been trying to reach us for days to give us this information and other news.

Next time we're down that way Junior will go in for coffee. Would have this trip, but we were so duded up in our "patched overalls and brogans" we were afraid Audrey Simmons and some of the throng of customers ahead of us would "feel" left out when they "got a load" of our new summer garments. We'll see you next time, Mrs. Morgan.

The Rest of the News

The Almanac

by United Press International Today is Monday, April 10, the 100th day of 1967 with 206 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter.

The morning star is Mars.

The evening stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

The United States Journalist Joseph Pulitzer was born on this day in 1847.

On this day in history:

In 1790, Congress established the national patent law and the patent board.

In 1841, Horace Greeley published the first issue of the New York Herald Tribune. In 1906, in a three-way merger, it became part of the World Journal Tribune.

In 1944, Soviet troops captured the Black Sea port of Odessa.

In 1961, President Kennedy blocked a boost in steel prices.

A thought for the day - German philosopher Arthur Schopenhauer once said: "Intellect is invisible to the man who has none."

Parents have the most important responsibility of directing and encouraging this natural curiosity. This could take a great deal of patience and understanding. The adult who is faced with constant questions could easily become annoyed and as a result could discourage a child's interest and motivation.

How should a parent deal with his child in this area of curiosity? When a child asks a question there are several ways in which it can be answered. First, a direct and simple answer can be given. It is important to respond on the child's level.

When a five year old asks about atomic energy, don't get involved in the theory of nuclear fission. He will probably be satisfied with a simple answer such as that atomic energy is very strong and powerful. It can do a great amount of work. It can be used to run motors just like gasoline is used to run an automobile motor or the way you provide the power to move your bicycle.

You might answer a question by saying that you don't know but that you and the child could try and find the answer. This will depend on the child's age. You can't look something up in an encyclopedia with a three year old but you can show him how to operate a particular toy. It is an excellent teaching technique to help the child find the answer to his questions. Be careful not to get him upset by something which is too complicated or difficult for his ability.

You may choose not to answer the question. This is certainly proper in some situations. If possible the child should understand the reason for not giving an answer. In this way he has an opportunity to learn for the next time. He must also learn to accept such responsibility recognizing that his parents at times must make decisions without explanation.

Another excellent teaching technique is to respond to a question with another question. The idea is to help the child think and hopefully find his own answers. A child who asks how much he weighs could be asked in return "what measures a person's weight?" Depending on his age he may need help in reading the number on the scale but he has started to learn how one solves problems.

Parents should not always answer questions in the same way. It is important to use good judgment and respond in an appropriate way. Use a variety of techniques. This is part of encouraging curiosity.

A child who feels free to ask questions and feels that he receives helpful answers will certainly continue to be inquisitive. This approach could lead to the type of student who is highly motivated and most capable of doing quality research in the upper grades. In a way, this is the basis of successful education.

was hanging on for dear life and not too sure of his footing.

He cooed up further into a large crotch of the tree where he had a more secure position.

Planting a rose the other day and uncovered a large grub worm. Sport who was standing by pounced upon it with glee. He likes such things.

His pleasure at finding the grub was surpassed only by his discovery of a huge beetle in the carport yesterday afternoon.

He grabbed this monster and went across the yard with it with his head high and his tail flying in the wind.

Our counting is off. The Wild Flower we transplanted has five red petals. All three plants are doing well.

This rain is just what we've been waiting for. Max Morris was out the other day and dined and harrowed the yard. We raked, smoothed, sowed, fertilized and dragged the yard and have been waiting for some rain. It started coming down this morning in a fine drizzle which is just exactly what we needed.

The yard was covered with Big Black Grackles this morning. They were enjoying the rain and frequently would shake and ruffle their feathers which made them look enormous.

A Rufous Sided Towhee and a Robin sit side by side yesterday giving us an opportunity to compare them a little better. The Towhee is a little smaller and has reddish orange sides, black head and shoulders and some white on each side of his tail. The Robin is grayish buff on his head and shoulders and his red breast does not have much red in it.

Amos Tackett out last week to help us figure what to plant around the house. We had an idea but figured that Amos knew more about it than we do. He teaches Landscaping out at the university and knows his business.

The way Amos does it is to frame a house with the shrubbery, not obstruct the front of it. You want to see the house, says Amos, not hide it, and the shrubbery should accentuate the house. Makes sense.

He knows all the Latin words for shrubs like Par Notoxum, Veni Vidi Vici and such like.

South 12th Street is about as torn up as you could get it, but it will be nice and a lot safer when it is completed. We don't know whether it will be lighted like other four lane entrances to a town or not, but it should be.

If the county stays on Central Time and the city goes on DST we'll have some time misage. As we have said before, it makes no difference to us what time we are on, just so long as everybody is on the same thing.

FOUR-LANING

Murray and Calloway County, and I pledge early completion of the improvement when I am elected Governor.

Ward answered a question as to whether Calloway County was neglected by his department while he was commissioner.

"The best way to measure whether Calloway County got a fair share of state funds is to compare the amount of money spent during my tenure as commissioner with the past. The state highway department spent $4,628,032 in Calloway County while I was commissioner. During the Chandler-Waterfield administration, only $2,651,555 was spent in this county."

"I developed a formula for allocation of state funds to rural and county roads that guarantees fairness to every county. No longer can this money be spent to reward political favorites. Under this plan, Calloway County gets more money each year for rural and county roads than it received in the past."

"I am proud of the fact that while I was commissioner of highways there was no hint of scandal in the department. No cronies or relatives received special favors. I have worked hard to develop the best interests of this area and all the states, just as I did during the time I was in charge of developing the state park system."

"I have had the responsibility for these two great programs which have meant so much to Kentucky — and am proud that today Kentucky is recognized as having the best state park system in the nation and is in the top in road building."

Ward said that he is pledged to continue cooperation with Murray State University. He cited the fact that he authorized $214,000 to build the new connector between Ky. 121 and U.S. 641 north of Murray to relieve congestion on the Murray State campus and provide access to the site of the new football stadium. He also pointed out that he got the state to allocate $100,000 for an access road to the new EM Lilly plant.

"I will get more state money to improve rural and county roads, and will cooperate with the county judge and fiscal court in these programs," Ward said. "I am pleased that I have good working relations with the county judge and magistrates — for this type of cooperation is necessary for the best interest of the people of the county."

for them. The same can be said for all of Kentucky. I have been granted opportunities to play roles in promotion of important programs in the past. My interest has been in programs, not just politics. I want an opportunity to be of broader service as Governor.

"I am running on my own record of achievement. I am no man's candidate. And when elected, I will be Governor. No man will be able to exert influence on me to swerve me away from doing the best I can for the benefit of all the people."

"I am dedicated to protecting the people against oppressive taxes, and to seeing to it that they get a dollar's worth of service for each dollar entrusted to state government."

TV CAMEOS: Joey Bishop

Joey's Night-Owl Show Will Be 'Live'

By MEL HEIMER

THE LATE-EVENING talk-humor-song-and-dance television show by now has become a solid, comfortable fixture in millions of Ameri-can homes, ever since Steve Allen first got them into the habit long seasons ago. But now comes Joey Bishop, the deadpan Buster Keaton of today, with a new twist: he'll do such a show live, not on tape.

Both Johnny Carson and Merv Griffin, whose programs Joey will buck, are on tape, but beginning April 17, the Bishop ABC-TV show will be seen in both the Eastern Standard and Central Standard time zones (where 87 per cent of the nation's viewers live) as it actually is happening. Rocky Mountain and Pacific Stand-ard zone residents will see it on tape, an hour or two later.

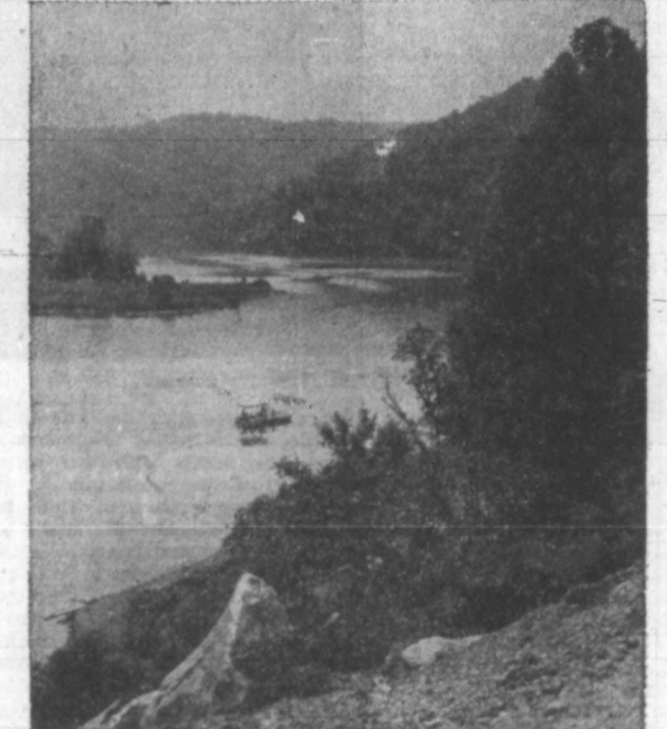

"I like the challenge and excitement of doing it live," Bishop told me on the phone from Beverly Hills, where he and his staff are knee-deep in preparations. "And I don't expect any good-taste troubles. My feeling is that it helps keep people on their best manners. On tape, I think, they have a tendency to be lax. Besides, if someone happens to blurt out 'hell' on a live show, it seems to be more forgivable on tape. I think people are apt to think 'if it's on tape, why didn't they take the hell out?' There won't be any drastic departure from the accepted format, with the Bishop show. "All talk shows have the same physical setup," Joey said. "Maybe our sets will be a little brighter, but basically I think the differences are in the host's approach. Me, I think this is the kind of thing I do best. It's fun, and besides, I'm so ignorant about so many things, I'll get as much of a kick as the audience out of learning some-thing new."

Bishop isn't new at this dodge. He has sub-stituted many times for Jack Paar and Carson and claims a world record, as a pinch-hitter, even substituting for Deag Martin when he was there but didn't know he was there. "The new program is pretty much his baby. Will he take the blame if something gets fouled up? "I think it may end up in a battle between ABC's legal department and mine," he said dryly.

The counterpoint to Joey's droll wit will be supplied by Regis Philbin, "who'll be not only a standing gimmick of Philbin liking things that Joey doesn't, dragging Bishop into the audience when he feels like it and so on. "The chemistry part," Joey said, "I go into this 90-minute show unprepared nightly, and have to battle all the way." Joey has run a long, hard course since he was born in the Bronx and, as he puts it, "after 20 years of beating my brains out in show business, I finally became an overnight success." His first good job—not counting a club date in Cleveland at a deadfall called El Dumbo—was in 1952 at the Riviera, across the Hudson from Manhattan, and Bishop credits Frank Sinatra, his fellow Rat-Packman, with helping him land the job. Carson says there are only so many ways to do this kind of show—"Oh, I suppose you could do it from a tub of water or a kangaroo's waist pouch"—and Bishop agrees. If the public likes the way he does it, or cottons to his personality, he feels, the verdict will be good. Will Carson ever sub for him? "Only if he auditions," Joey says, as impressive as ever.

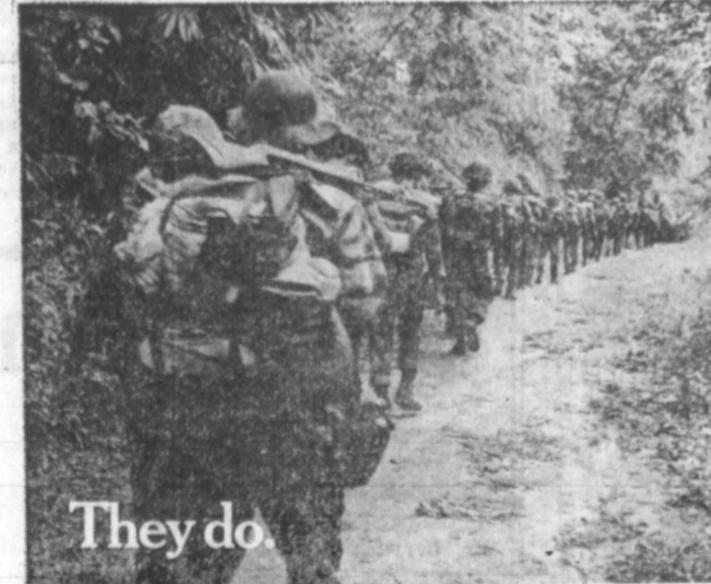

Joey Bishop says it took 20 years but he finally became an overnight success.

Mrs. N. B. Ellis, chairman

The Music Department has experienced a very interesting and lucrative year. Because of our growing interest in advancing knowledge and interest in music and music appreciation, we have had two money-making projects this year. In November we had a hobby show which exceeded our expectations, and in March we had our annual spring style show, also a very successful project.

One of our outstanding efforts is the sponsoring of three children's concerts each year in cooperation with the Fine Arts Department.

Mr. and Mrs. Hew R. Cooper Are Married Recently At South Pleasant Grove Church

Mr. and Mrs. Hew R. Cooper

The beautifully decorated altar of the South Pleasant Grove Methodist Church set the scene for the wedding of Miss Nancy Culbert and Hew Cooper. She is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Culbert of Clinton, and Hew is the oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt Cooper of Murray.

Rev. Tammy Jackson performed the double-ring ceremony at seven o'clock Thursday evening, February 16.

The decorations for the church were designed and arranged by Mrs. W. A. Dublin, Jr. of Mayfield, aunt of the bride. The arch and chancel were decorated with highly polished, magnolia leaves. The only lights were lighted, incense flanking a table decorated with baskets of gladioli. At intervals along the chancel—and in each window were blue lighted candles.

Mr. Otto Erwin was the organist. She played selections including the traditional wedding marches for the processional and recessional. Mrs. L. D. Cook, Jr. sang, "I Love You Truly," "The Lord's Prayer," and "The Walk Beside You."

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She chose for her wedding a white lace street length dress over blue taffeta. She wore a shoulder length veil of blue silk illusion attached to a crown of lace and pearls.

The bride's bouquet was white carnations centered with white orchid with streamers of blue ribbon completing the arrangement. The bride's only attendant, Mrs. Sharon Owsalney, was attired in a street length dress styled on emerald lines with the bodice of rose crepe and the skirt of pink crepe. Her nose-length veil of matching shades was similar to that of the bride. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations with streamers of rose and pink ribbon.

Hanford Adams, cousin of the groom served as best man. The ushers were Isaac Adams and Jackie Cooper. Candles were lighted by Kevin Cooper, brother of the groom.

The mother of the bride was attired in a dash dress of navy blue trimmed in white. Her corsage was of white glameias. The mother of the groom wore a plum knit suit with black accessories. Her corsage was of pink glameias.

Mrs. C. G. Cooper, paternal grandmother of the groom, wore a grey printed ensemble with black accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations.

The ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate family and close friends.

Reception
Immediately following the wedding at the church at seven p.m.

Friday, April 14
Grace Wyatt Circle of First Presbyterian Church women will meet at 9:30 a.m. in the church parlor.

The North Murray Homemakers Club will meet at the social hall on EMS Drive at 1:30 p.m. Mrs. Charlie Crawford and Mrs. John Workman will be the hostesses.

'Wonders' Wife May Be Wandering

By Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: What is a man, who has been married for almost 20 years, supposed to think when he accidentally finds hidden in his wife's closet six or eight beautiful sheer, shortie nightgowns and negligees he has never seen before? They were certainly not ever worn in MY presence.

Perhaps that explains why she slips her luggage in and out of the house when making increasingly more frequent out-of-town trips—alone.

Please answer in your column, as I am beginning to WONDER: DEAR WONDER: Either your wife is taking in laundry, or you've caught her with evidence that anyone can see thru.

DEAR ABBY: I have been married for 30 years and have two married children. While they were growing up my husband took me on business trips, family drives, and week-end trips. As soon as the children left home he stopped taking me places.

Now he goes out alone several nights a week, and he plays cards and bowls on week-ends. I am never invited, and if I ask to go with him, he stays home and sulks all evening.

A widower who lives in our neighborhood enjoys driving and would like my company on short trips to scenic areas around our city. Should I go?

HOUSEBOUND: DEAR HOUSEBOUND: Not unless you want one of those "go-go-your-way, I'll-go-alone" kind of marriages.

Perhaps if we told MEN to dress for instead of the feminine boy we now have—in their pants as tightly tapered they put women's capri pants to shame, jackets with pinched in waists, shoes and boots with higher heels than many women wear, and hair so long they look like girls—we would change our fashions.

ARCHIE'S BACK

WASHINGTON (UPI) - Ageless Archie Moore, former light-heavyweight boxing champion, has been named a consultant to the federal anti-poverty agency to work with youngsters in poor areas. Moore's appointment was announced during the weekend by Rep. Robert L. Leggett, D-Calif., who suggested it to the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO). The former champ started a program of his own in California called "Any Boy Can" ABC in which he worked with groups of up to 100 boys, aged 8 to 15.

STOKELY ORATES

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) - Negro leader Stokely Carmichael Tuesday urged Negroes to ignore laws "legislated by white people." In a speech to students at Miles College, the fiery leader of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee said, "Negroes aren't bound to obey laws legislated by white people." At one point Carmichael shouted "to Hell with laws of the U.S." The black power advocate also said "if a white man tries to walk over a Negro, then the white man should be killed."

FOOD SOURCE

WASHINGTON (AP) - The government said today it was working on meeting the world's hunger with food made from coal, but so far no one has figured out how to make it cheaply. The Federal Bureau of Mines said in a report to a House subcommittee that coal, rich in carbon, could turn out to be a plentiful source of protein when properly purified and combined with water and air.

FANTASTIC NEW SUSPENSE NOVEL The Nevermore Affair by KATE WILHELM

CHAPTER 26 Lucien Thayer heard the shot he was in the cave, where he was copying Stella's notes by flashlight. He stiffened and listened, but the one shot was all. Carefully, he deposited his notes on a ledge he had found and, carrying Stella's papers, started down the rocky trail; the dog met him at the bottom and nuzzled his hand in a friendly manner. Someone whistled for it and it turned and leaped off soundlessly. Lucien raced along the edge of the stream toward the compound, and twice had to stop and remain quiet behind a tree when soldiers appeared too near him. His cottage was still dark and silent. There was only the one door and it was in full sight of a man posted at the end of the row of buildings; he held his rifle in the ready position. Lucien stopped and considered for a moment before darting across the small clearing toward his cottage: one of the back windows should be unlocked. "Lucien! Here!" He wasn't sure that he heard the whisper, but he knew he saw the white hand beckoning. He ran to the bedroom window, scrambled through it and was pulling it closed when a neck sounded on the front door. He was getting out of his clothes as fast as he could, showing the boots under the bed and Stella's papers under the covers and grabbing up his robe. Stella waited until he was in the bed, then she stumbled across the dark room and called, "I'm coming! Just a minute!" She went through the other room and opened the front door. "What's wrong? Is there a fire?" "Sorry, ma'am. The dog caught sight of a prowler, just checking. Your husband here?" "Just where else do you think he would be? Of course, he's here!" One of the soldiers pushed the door open, and he was also carrying his rifle low and ready. He glanced inside, saw Lucien in bed and left again. Stella closed the door after them and locked it. When she got back to the bedroom, she was trembling. "I love you, Lucien." "I know," he said. "I know." "They'll be back, honey. You'll have to tell them that you brought your files home yourself!" TIME OUT

by GALE GARRISON

A couple of weeks ago I said I might go out on a limb and pick the way the teams in the big leagues will end up at the end of the season. Well, here I am on the limb, with a saw in my hand, ready to cut the limb off even with the tree.

National	American
Pittsburgh 1	Baltimore
San Francisco 2	Detroit
Philadelphia 3	Minnesota
Atlanta 4	Chicago
St. Louis 5	Cleveland
Los Angeles 6	Kansas City
Cincinnati 7	California
Houston 8	New York
New York 9	Boston
Chicago 10	Washington

I had a reason for picking some of them the way I did, and some of them I just thought that's where they should be.

In Saturday's paper I said that Calloway would play North Marshall this afternoon. I should have said they would play Tlghman. I don't think it makes any difference anyway, because the field will be too wet. Besides I only missed the Calloway-North game by ten days, this isn't bad for me.

Kim Eddie Pennington

Kim Eddie Pennington, who made the "PENNINGTON'S PROGNOSTICATIONS" that I ran in this column during the basketball season, came up with a real good average in his prognostications.

He made 258 guesses and 210 of them were right. That's an average of about 81 per cent.

I always thought that anyone who could pick three out of four was doing alright and he was well above that.

One Holdout Unsigned As Season Hits

WASHINGTON (AP) - The 1967 baseball season rolled around today with one notable holdout still unsigned. As game time approached, there was no word from the White House whether it would be President Johnson or relief hurler Hubert H. Humphrey who throws out the traditional first ball in the Washington Senators-New York Yankees opener. The weather picture was bright, with a forecast for mostly sunny skies and temperatures in the 70's. The chance of rain was estimated at 30 per cent. As far as the bidders were concerned, it didn't make much difference whether it was Johnson or his vice president who tossed out the ball from the flag bedecked presidential box at 1:30 p. m. (EST). Both were hitting zero when it comes to bringing the home team back.

Johnson, a one-time high school first baseman, did the honors in 1964 and 1965. And both times the Senators lost. Humphrey was called in from the bullpen in 1966, only to see Cleveland whup Washington 5 to 2. But whether Johnson showed or not, there were some 42,000 ticket holders ready to watch Washington pitcher Pete Richter go against New York's Mel Stottlemyre.

Murray Overtakes Southeast Missouri

Murray overwhelmed Southeast Missouri State 13 1/2 to 4 1/2 in a dual golf match at the Calloway Country Club here Thursday afternoon. Steve Hazcock and Jerry Curtis breezed over the course with one-under-par 70's for Murray. Dick Wadlington was medalist for SEMO with a 72. Murray's next match will be with SEMO April 13, at Cape Girardeau.

Atlanta Fans Glad To See New Hank Aaron Looks Like The Old

By FRED DOWN
Special Writer
Atlanta Braves fans have had their first look of the year at the "new" Hank Aaron and are happy that he looks very much like the "old" Hank Aaron.

The National League's 1966 home run king announced at the start of spring training that he would level off his home-run swing this year in hopes of raising his .279 average of last season. Aaron hit only two home runs in the Braves' first 22 exhibition games and Atlanta fans thought it was no coincidence that they won only 10 of the games. Was a re-adjustment in Aaron's thinking in order?

Aaron made no new announcements before the Braves made their spring debut in Atlanta Friday night but he did hit two home runs to give Billy Hitchcock's crew a 4-3 victory over the Minnesota Twins. Hank tied the score with a ninth-inning homer and won it with a homer in the 11th.

Mack Jones and Joe Torre also homered for the Braves while Rich Rollins, Harmon Killebrew and Zoltie Yawles contested for the Twins. The Houston Astros beat the New York Yankees 1-0, the Cincinnati Reds defeated the Cleveland Indians 4-3, the Philadelphia Phillies edged out the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-7 and the San Francisco Giants topped Santa Clara 7-3 in other Friday games.

Jim Wynn singled home the only run of the game as the Astros defeated 16,579 fans in the Astro-ome with their victory over the Yankees.

Larry Dierker smut out the Yankees for seven innings.

Dick Simpson, the "forgotten man" in the famous Frank Robinson-Milt Pappas deal, hit his third homer of the spring with two on the second inning to spark the Reds. Pete Rose also homered for the Reds, who committed six errors. The victory raised the Reds' spring record to 17-10 and dropped the Indians' mark to 11-14. John Briggs drove in five runs with seventh and ninth-inning homers as the Phillies ended a six-game losing streak. The win was a major factor in the game at Portsmouth, Va., with Don Lock and Doug Clemens also hitting homers for the Phillies. Roberto Clemente and Manny Mota, Bill Mauer, Andre Rodgers and Pete Mikseken connected for the Pirates.

Juan Marichal yielded two homers and three runs but went seven innings for the Giants, who led all the way against the Collegians. Albert Strane, who hit one of the homers off Marichal, shrugged off the feat with an apt comment: "I don't think Marichal actually was throwing too hard," he said. "He must have better pitches than that one."

Los Angeles Opens Defense Of Pennant Minus Top Players
CINCINNATI (AP) - The Los Angeles Dodgers, minus Sandy Koufax and Maury Wills, open defense of their National League pennant today against a Cincinnati Reds team eager to improve its new bosses.

Right-hander Bob Miller of the Dodgers and Jim Maloney of the Reds were slated as pitching opponents in the opening game of the 2nd National League season before an anticipated crowd of nearly 30,000 at Crosley Field.

All other National League teams play their openers Tuesday.

Miller posted a 4-2 record last year, while Maloney was the ace of the Reds' staff with 10 wins and eight losses.

Most of the experts think the loss of Koufax, Wills and Tommy Davis dooms the Dodgers to a second-division finish this year.

But Manager Walt Alton is a proven miracle-producer and does not regard the off-season developments as a total loss for Los Angeles. The Dodgers acquired outfielder Bob Bailor and shortstop Gene Michael from the Pittsburgh Pirates, second baseman Ron Hunt from the Cin-

MSU Diamond Team Passes First Test

The Murray State baseball team passed its first conference test last week by thumping Western Kentucky in a doubleheader 9-5 and 4-1.

The next Ohio Valley Conference games for the Racers will be with Austin Peay, there, next Thursday.

The two wins over Western brought the Murray overall record to 9-4. The Racers had previously beaten Purdue three times, Iowa State twice, split two games with Kansas State and St. Louis, and lost twice to Bradley.

Don Lee picked up his fourth win of the season in the second game with the Hilltoppers. Dave Gourette won his first in the first game. Lee has lost 1, Gourette 3. Freshman Rodney Pryor is 2-0, Ed Berry and sycne Davis 1-0, and Darnay Hoves 0-1. Pryor has the best ERA of the pitching staff, a sparkling 0.57. Lee's ERA is 2.42.

Freshman second baseman Mike Fitzgerald is currently leading the Racers in hitting with 9 hits in 21 at-bats for an average of .429. Outfielder Tommy Toon is batting .348, outfielders Wally Andrel and Dallas Grant and infielder Roger Fields .333, outfielder Bill Ryan, 2nd, and infielder Tim Meppin .295.

Andrel is leading the team in RBI's with 13 and in doubles with 3. He also has a homerun and a triple.

The team batting average is .265 and the fielding average is .965.

Coach Johnny Reagan says he feels the team is about to jell and that he believes it will get steadily stronger as the season progresses. "Our defense has been especially good," Reagan said. "We've made few physical errors and practically no mental errors. Our hitting is coming along, and I still believe that pitching will be our strongest suit before the end of the season."

The Racers have had several injuries, most of them minor, but suffered a real blow last Wednesday when outfielder Don Harris received ed a concussion in a collision while chasing a fly ball. He will likely be out of action for some time. Last season, he led the team in hitting and was an all-conference player. Following the doubleheader with Austin Peay, the Racers will play North Dakota a single game April 14 and a doubleheader April 15. They will play Austin Peay at Murray April 20.

Sign Is Constant Reminder For The Big League Managers

By FRED McMANE
UPI Sports Writer
"Either you have it, or you don't!" That's a beer advertising slogan that will adorn the base of the scoreboard at New York's Shea Stadium this season, and will serve as a helpful reminder to all big league managers as to what this 1967 baseball season is all about.

The exhibition season has ended in the Florida sunshine, the time has come to show results, under the sign, Optimism was high in the training camps and those who cheered the loudest had better start proving their worth.

Ready or not, the 1967 major league baseball season opens today with the Washington Senators in the traditional opener at the nation's capital, and the defending National League champion Los Angeles Dodgers visiting the Cincinnati Reds. The Yankees are expected to head right-hander Mel Stottlemyre, 33-20 last season, against southpaw Pete Richter, who was 14-14. The Dodgers are sending right-hander Bob Miller 4-2 last year, against right-hander Jim Maloney 16-8.

All Optimistic
Naturally, the four clubs that begin play today all think they have what it takes to make a respectable showing this season as do the other 16 teams which will begin play Tuesday.

If spring training exhibition games mean anything, though, some of the managers who crowd loud-est may be coming up short in the standings this year.

Gene Metch of the Philadelphia Phillies, who sees his club as a definite contender for the NL flag, is one who might fit into this category.

The Phillies bowed to the Pittsburgh Pirates 6-2 Sunday in the final exhibition game of the season and finished their pre-season league play with a dismal 9-20-1 record, their worst in 20 years.

The Pirates, the pre-season favorite to capture the NL championship, pounded out 12 hits off four hurlers with Willie Stargell, Matty Alon, Maury Wills and George Surtees each getting two hits. Pittsburgh finished its exhibition season with a 17-10-1.

The Dodgers also had a sorry exhibition campaign as they lost their finale to the Kansas City Athletics 2-2 to finish with an 11-16 mark. Los Angeles managed only three hits against the A's Sunday and lost the game in the ninth inning when the Athletics rallied for three runs.

Actually the final day of the exhibition campaign was quite rough on most of the remaining NL contenders.

Cap Peterson smashed a three-run homer and Berde Allen drove in three runs with a single and triple to lead the Washington Senators to an 8-5 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals; four Cleveland pitchers limited the Cincinnati Reds to only two hits in a 2-1 triumph and Bob Allison's two-run homer in the 10th inning gave the Minnesota Twins a 7-5 victory over the Atlanta Braves.

The San Francisco Giants clinched a successful spring training season with a 7-0 victory over the California Angels as Ken Henderson and pinch-hitter Norm Eshenbrenner stroked home runs in the eighth-inning to break a tie.

Tommy Davis capped a five-run ninth inning with a tie-breaking single that gave the New York Mets a 5-4 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

Charlie Smith blasted a three-run homer to pace the New York Yankees to a 9-4 victory over the Houston Astros; the Chicago White Sox pounded out 11 hits to defeat the Chicago Cubs 6-3 and States Brown's single in the 10th inning secured the winning run as the Detroit Tigers beat the Boston Red Sox 4-3 in other games.
