Seen & Heard Around MURRAY

Old Sport is a true hunter.

Yesterday morning we looked out and saw a Rabbit at the point of the woods rubbing on the dew wet grass.

Then we looked there by the bird bath and there was Sport standing in a rigid point. His abbreviated tail stuck out behind him like a flag.

Sport began to creep forward quivering with excitement, still the Rabbit nibbled away unconcernedly.

Would we let Sport enjoy the thrill of killing wild game? Could we stand by and see this Rabbit's life snuffed out in a twinkling? No.

We rushed to the back door to alert the Rabbit. We figured we would just open the door and close it loudly and the Rabbit would snap to attention and vacate the premises. There was Sport creeping forward, every nerve in his body at the alert. Adrenaline was coursing through his veins, stirring all his senses.

The dear Rabbit just sat there while all this was going on so we opened the door to yell at Sport to cease and desist too late. He was moving forward with great speed like an irresistible juggernaut, and swept right on past the Rabbit. All the time he was looking at a ray of light at the edge of the yard and did not even see the Rabbit until it jumped into the woods. He then circled back but the Rabbit was long gone.

Sport is probably the best Jay Bird dog in Calloway County, although he has never caught one. He sure saves them though.

A whole flock of new Grasshoppers just hatched out and literally hundreds and thousands of them are hopping all over the place.

Also the Tadpoles have grown into little frogs and tiny frogs are all over the place.

We looked it up in Familiar Quotations and found that Rudyard Kipling is the author of The True of the Bear. We know that it had a familiar ring and that we had seen it somewhere, sometime.

We'll run it in a day or two. Thanks to W. A. Smith for bringing it to our attention.

Saw Frank Ellis coming in by bus to Murray Wednesday. He was at Rotary yesterday with his brother Holmes. He was met at the bus station by his sister Mrs. Stark Erwin.

This is the time of the year when you have a feeling that the peak (Continued on Page Six)

Red Guards Smash Russian Embassy

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union charged today that more than 100 Red Guards crashed into the Soviet Embassy and consulate in Peking Thursday and broke windows, splintered furniture and burned documents.

The agency stated a program, "a statement issued by the official news agency Tass said, 'They withdrew from the embassy grounds with threats to return tomorrow Friday.'

Informers said the Soviet Union had filed a protest over the incident, the most serious so far affecting the beleaguered Peking embassy.

They said Red Guard demonstrations which had been going on since Tuesday, culminated with an open attack.

A group of 100 to 150 thugs forced their way into the embassy grounds, penetrated into the front office and the consular department and staged a program, destroying furniture and documents," it said.

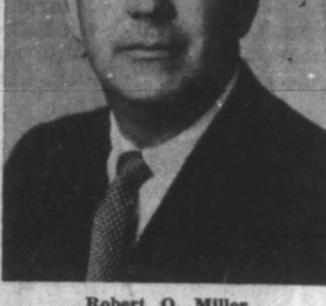

Windows were smashed on the first and second floors of the building. The attackers lit a bonfire in the yard and broke trees.

Tanjing, the Yugoslav news agency, had reported earlier the Red Guards burned embassy files and records and that Chinese troops and police stationed outside the embassy made no attempt to stop them.

Robert Miller Speaker For Rotary Club

Robert O. Miller

County Attorney Robert O. Miller was the speaker for the regular Murray Rotary Club meeting yesterday. He was introduced by Burdett Hurt, who was in charge of the program.

Miller spoke to the club on county government and some of the problems which the city and county might work together on for the future.

He pointed out that the county is now advertising for bids on a new county jail to be constructed at the corner of North Third and Walnut streets.

Miller said that the county farm was sold to E. L. Lilly for $25,000 and this money will be used in construction of the jail. The total cost is expected to be in the area of $60,000. The building will be of one story brick with a "bull-pen" capable of holding twelve persons, with cells holding eight. Facilities are also planned for women and juveniles. Living quarters for the jailer will also be included in the building.

Moving into the tax field, Attorney Miller told the club that last year the county collected $785,000 in taxes. This was distributed as follows: county schools $287,000; city schools $207,000; fiscal court $148,000; state, $66,000; hospital bond issue $34,000; water shed $19,000; Health Department $15,000; West Fork Watershed $4,000; and sundries $3,000. The county actually receives only a small part on which to operate, he continued.

Miller stated several projects which might help to redress the tax issue. He listed these as a beltline around Murray (a four lane highway); possible ambulance service in the event local funeral homes follow the trend as in Paducah and Mayfield and other cities; a more integrated road system in the city and county; a home made traffic count; a merger of the two school systems; and a commission form of government for the county.

The city and county have good reason, Miller continued and these projects will take good cooperation on the part of all concerned.

Frank Ellis was a guest of his brother Holmes Ellis. Jim Adams was a visiting Rotarian from Paris, Tennessee. Charley Hines of Frankfort was a guest and Pleasant Crouch had as his guest his son Jimmy Crouch.

Robert Perry introduced as his guests Dr. H. C. Chiles and Rev. J. William Jones of Princeton.

Stratof'tresses Pound DMZ Red Camps, Sites

By ALVIN B. WEBB
SAIGON (UPI) — America's biggest, heaviest, and most accurate bombs, the B-52 Stratofortresses, pounded North Vietnam today and bombed Communist forces massing for an invasion of South Vietnam.

The Air Force B-52 Stratofortresses staged two raids as far as 70 miles above the North-South Vietnam border after smaller U.S. jets cleared the way by knocking out anti-aircraft missile sites.

The B-52 assault on troop camps, fuel and ammunition dumps and military sites capped a massive American effort to raid the major North Vietnamese invasion route.

Earlier, Marine jets circled the border's demilitarized zone (DMZ), striking advanced Communist positions, U.S. Navy gunfire from the coast pounded into North Vietnamese troop concentrations.

Just below the DMZ Thursday

American helicopters spread tear gas in an attempt to rout a "phantom" Communist artillery piece harassing Marine fortresses strung out below the DMZ.

U.S. spokesmen said damage reports of the B-52 raids were not yet available. There were no Stratofortress reports. None has been shot down in the war by the Communists despite immense efforts.

According to U.S. intelligence reports, the Communists value the downing of one of the eight-engine jets above all else. They had erected surface to air missile SAM sites just above the DMZ in hopes their 66-mile-high rockets would scare away the big bombers.

But the B-52s, which carry up to 30 tons of bombs each and fly at about 60,000 feet, struck for the first time since July 26 after the missile threat apparently was wiped away.

Final Runs Are Planned At Kenlake

The Murray State University Repertory Company will perform "My Three Angels" this weekend for the last time this summer.

This summer has been a very good season for the Kenlake Amphitheater with an average attendance of around 200 persons per night. We hope that everyone who has not seen this production of "My Three Angels" as of yet this summer will try to get out this weekend and see their local University in action.

The comedy "My Three Angels" is very funny, the actors are the best in this part of the country, and the scenery is magnificent. Make it a point to see his comedy this weekend on August 18th and 19th at 8:30 C.D.T.

Starting next weekend the comedy "George Washington Slept Here" will start its final run of the season. This comedy will run August 25th and 26th and September 1st and 2nd. Don't rely on what other people say, get out and see for yourself what a funny and great comedy you have been missing. Herb Adams, publicity manager said.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Mr. Williams:

I received the box of dental items recently. These items were sent to the brigade's forward area of operation at Landing Zone English about 60 air miles from An-Kee, our home base.

We are currently conducting "Operation Perishing" in northern Binh Dinh Province in the Hoi Nhon district. There are over 40,000 refugees in this area. The items you sent were distributed to Lieutenant Colonel Dubois to one particular refugee camp which has been "adopted" by the brigade headquarters. Among the other assistance we have given these refugees are: sick calls, material for a school, assistance in digging a well, and clothing for the 1,000 children in the camp.

On behalf of the commanding officer of the 1st Airborne Brigade, 1st Air Cavalry Division, and the people of Vietnam, I would like to express our appreciation for your concern and assistance.

R. E. Beckwith

Sidewalk Sale Is Underway Friday And Saturday

The Murray Sidewalk Sale got into full swing this morning and will continue throughout the day and all day tomorrow.

Murray merchants moved out on the sidewalk and into the streets this morning with merchandise and reports indicate brisk sales.

Crowds attended this first day of the sidewalk sale and Saturday promises to be even better if the weather cooperates.

Included in the sidewalk exhibits are a number of paintings done by members of the Murray Art Guild. The paintings have a professional quality and these on display are all for sale.

The paintings were done by members of the Guild and are on display today and tomorrow at the old location of Frazer, McIntosh and Holton Insurance Company next to Douglas Hardware.

Nearly every store around the square and many off the square are participating in the sidewalk sale and are maintaining stations in front of the stores where sidewalk sale items are displayed. Many merchants are also reducing prices on items inside the stores in observance of the annual event.

A walk-around the square indicates the success of the sale, since sidewalks are crowded with buyers, tables containing merchandise, clothing racks, and many other items.

The Sidewalk Sale is sponsored each year by the Retail Merchants Committee of the Murray Chamber of Commerce and is one of several promotions carried out by the committee.

TV CAMEOS: Ted Cassidy 'Lurch' Moves on; 'Injun Joe' Soon

By MEL HEIMER
CATCHING up with Ted Cassidy the other day in the Utah mountains, where he is playing the fiercest of Indians in the filming of "MacKenna's Gold," his first movie, confirmed a suspicion that TV fans have had for a couple of years now: Lurch is big. Lurch, in fact, may be one of the biggest men in the whole wide world, next to whom the late Primo Carnera resembles, say, an overgrown singer midget.

"I never mention my size when I'm after a job in show business," the genial, basically serious Cassidy told me, unconsciously flexing his muscles under the Injun costume. "I figure, I want to get a role on my ability, not my size. And anyway, after the director or producer sees me, he remembers what I look like, anyway."

AS LURCH, the harpsichord-playing butler in the macabre ABC-TV series, "The Addams Family," Ted became something of a household word in the last two seasons. The series is over and done with now, but he should keep his 6-foot-9-inch, 280-pound self in the public eye for at least another year—and in 1968, he said, he'll be back in another series. "It's a show based on the adventures of Huckleberry Finn," he said, "and I'm to play Injun Joe, Huck's sometimes sinister, quite mysterious redskin friend. I'm looking forward to it; I think I'll get more of a chance to do some acting than I did in 'Addams.'"

Cassidy remembers his role as Lurch with mixed emotions. "It was nice to be working steadily and piling up some money in the bank—but there really wasn't much to do except walk around and... well, be Lurch," he said. "Although, I must say, the work I did on my other contract was kind of interesting."

"I didn't only play Lurch," he grinned. "I also was 'Thing,' the hand that came up and on-camera every now and then. You should try acting with only one hand sometime. Great discipline. I think my basketball-playing was the best background I could have had for that job."

As a ball player, incidentally, he was among the country's collegiate best. He got his B.A. at Stetson University in Florida, where in 1955 he was captain of the basketball team that was fourth-rated nationally among smaller colleges. It is conceivable that, with his height and in spite of his bulkiness, he might make the pros ranks right now.

CASSIDY works hard and thoroughly at advancing himself. He was a disc jockey at WFAA in Dallas, Tex., and worked himself up to production director—he was right in the middle of the excitement of the day of the Kennedy assassination—and when he turned his sights on Hollywood, he made his own screen test, taping excerpts from "Long Day's Journey Into Night" and John Brown's trial defense after Harper's Ferry, complete with music and sound effects. When he wanted the Indian role in "MacKenna's Gold," he sent producer Carl Foreman "wanted" posters of himself that gave Foreman a rough idea how menacing he really can look when he tries.

A MAN of many talents, Ted almost became a professional singer—he had tentative offers to join both Claude Thornhill's and Spike Jones' bands—but he wanted to be an actor. He's married to his college sweetheart and has two children, a daughter and a 10-year-old son named Sean who's already 5 feet 5. "It would be nice," Ted said a little wistfully, "if he stopped at about 6 feet 6. That's a nice height." Yes, indeed, Gentleman—that he is, Ted Cassidy isn't the man you'd pick to meet in a dark alley.

He Is Really for the Birds

DEAR ABBY: Irving and I have been married for 9 years and we have four children. Irving has a hobby which takes up all his time. He's a pigeon fancier. He belongs to pigeon clubs, goes to meetings, gets all the literature, and of course, we keep pigeons.

If we go anywhere, it's over to some other pigeon fancier's house. I sit in the car while Irving looks at the birds and talks pigeon talk.

The last time we were somewhere that didn't have something to do with pigeons was at the Ellis club last New Year's Eve. Irving doesn't care to socialize with anyone unless they have pigeons.

Maybe I'm dumb, Abby, but even tho it seems like all I am is a housekeeper, baby sitter, and someone to sleep with, I still love him. Please tell me what to do.

SICK OF PIGEONS: DEAR ABBY: Your husband is obviously for the birds, but yours is a legitimate squawk! Tell Irving that he had better straighten up and fly right, or his selfishness will come home to roost.

DEAR ABBY: Our 12-year-old son sent for some kind of "art course" he saw advertised in a magazine. He signed his father's name to the contract, agreeing to return it within 10 days if he decided not to keep it.

To make a long story short, this art school wrote to us demanding payment of $88 for the course. They claim they never got it back. Our son insists that he sent it back after keeping it only 2 days, but he doesn't have a receipt of anything to prove it. Now what do we do?

We know nothing about this, and we received a letter demanding payment. Our son then confessed what he had done. Please help us. Eighty-eight dollars means a lot to us right now.

WORRIED PARENTS: DEAR ABBY: Our 12-year-old son sent for some kind of "art course" he saw advertised in a magazine. He signed his father's name to the contract, agreeing to return it within 10 days if he decided not to keep it.

are his parents bound by a forged signature. Write to the art school advising them of your son's age and the forgery. If they pursue the matter further, and serve you with a summons or complaint, see an attorney to file an answer to that complaint.

Or consult your local legal aid society. And tell your son that if he ever pulls a stunt like that again he will have to pay for it by the sweat of his brow. P. S. It should also teach him to "measure" what which is being returned in the mail.

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend has had a very rough life, but it wasn't all his fault. His daddy ran off and left his mamma when he was just a baby, and she was pushed off on one relative and then another all his life. Anyway, he has been in a lot of trouble since he was a kid. In fact he is only 26 and he's been in prison. He is out now and wants to start a new life.

He has always wanted to be a police officer and he would make a good one as he's real good with guns. I heard that a man who has served time can't be a police officer. I can't believe that in this wonderful country, after a person has paid his debt to society they would hold his record against him to that extent. Can you tell me if this is true?

DEAR FRIEND: This could be a local ruling, but in most communities one who has served a prison term is disqualified from becoming a law officer.

How has the world been treating you? Unkind your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Davalillo Is A Nut On Comic Books; Believes What He Reads

By SANDY FRISANT
UPI Sports Writer

Not only is Vic Davalillo a nut for Mighty Mouse comic books, but he's starting to believe what he reads.

Just ask the Washington Senators.

"That's my hobby," Davalillo says, "comic books." The Cleveland Indians outfielder sticks to the Spanish-language variety, but his favorites are all-American. "I like Superman and Superboy, but mostly Mighty Mouse."

The comparison with his comic hero is too good to be true. Davalillo stopped growing before he reached 5'8 and just barely weighs in at 150. To make the picture complete, the pint-sized speedster showed Thursday night that he can do just about anything Mighty Mouse can.

Naive LIT Abner

Davalillo started off the night looking more like a naive LIT Abner. He singled with one out in the fourth and when Tony Horton lofted a fly to center, Davalillo started trotting around the bases as though Horton's fly would be the third out. The ball was relayed back in to Washington around baseman Bernie Allen, who calmly trotted over to first and made the put out while Davalillo looked on aghast from third base.

But in the long night to follow Davalillo did enough to poop out any mouse, even a night one.

With the Indians down 3-1, Davalillo opened the eighth with a booming triple and went on to score as the Indians tied the game. A few hours later, Davalillo pounded out another triple, but this time with the bases loaded to highlight a five-run 16th inning that gave the Indians an 8-3 triumph over the Senators.

Bubble Gum Chewer

In all, the 23-year-old Venezuelan, who's an avid bubble gum chewer on the side, collected four hits, drove in three runs and scored three more as the Indians completed a three game sweep of the once-slaying Senators.

Elsewhere in the American League, the Orioles whipped the Yankees 4-1 and the Tigers cooled off the Red Sox 7-4.

In National League action, New York split a twilight doubleheader with the Pittsburgh Pirates, taking the opener 6-5 and losing the 14-inning nightcap by the same score. Philadelphia whipped Chicago in 12 innings and Houston blanked Los Angeles 4-0.

Curt Blefary, once a Yankee farmhand, climaxed a three-run ninth inning with a bases-loaded single as Gene Brabender stopped the Yankees on four hits.

Birthday Blunder

Brabender, celebrating his 28th birthday a day late, hurried out to bat for eight innings and struck out seven as Fritz Peterson led his 13th game in 16 decisions.

The Tigers, who had lost the first two contests in their three-game set with the Red Sox, not to mention their hold on third place, moved past Boston and drew back his lips as if to smile.

"You approve of the idea? You don't think I'm nuts?" Pete seemed to smile more widely.

"Well, let's look in the phone book and see what's around in the way of kennels. And, oh yes—mustn't forget the pound."

There were quite a few kennels and pet suppliers listed in the yellow pages, but many of the breeders specialized in dogs that looked a little like him.

He decided, since he was down off the mountain, to go to his own place and pick up a few things, then head back to Dorrie's place for the night.

Can't leave Pete up there all alone.

"It was going to be a long, dismal, and discouraging evening."

"THE DOG looked a whale of a lot like Pete, Uncle Chuck saw with a flare of excitement. Must have had the same kind of ancestry. The color was wrong, that was all. The dog had a dark ruff, dark patches on his flanks. He didn't act very friendly, and this was all right too."

"You like him? A fine animal. Belonged to a family, they had three boys, and as the kids got bigger they got kind of rough."

Mean, Uncle Chuck translated to himself.

"The dog began to have kind of nervous fits and to show signs of temper. Not anything dangerous, just a little loss of control." The pound man was looking eagerly into Uncle Chuck's face as if really hoping this nice dog was getting a new master, an old coot, a coot too old to have any mean kids around the house.

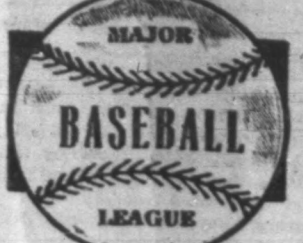

"He ever bite one of the kids?" Uncle Chuck wanted to say, hoping the answer was yes, the dog had taken off a couple of legs.

"So the father brought the dog in. He wasn't to be put to sleep right away. They're paying a couple of weeks' board in the house we can find him a good home."

"He looks fine, just what I wanted, except for one thing." The man's face changed, became anxious. "What's that?"

"Color. The dog I'm matching him to doesn't have those dark patches."

"Oh, that's all? Ha, ha. Don't let a little thing like that stop you." There seemed a sudden

CHAPTER 12
PETE came over to the dining room and stood looking up at Uncle Chuck.

"Uncle Chuck, I've got a question for you. Shall we try to find you a brother?" Pete wagged his plummy tail and drew back his lips as if to smile.

"You approve of the idea? You don't think I'm nuts?" Pete seemed to smile more widely.

of summer has passed and that back look in foliage that accompanies spring and summer seems to have waned somewhat.

The leaves are losing that vibrant look and Sumach is already tinged with red.

The explosion of life in plant life has been calmed and the thorns now seem to be to exist slowly to a halt.

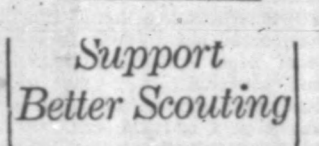

The Harry Whayne family is leaving Murray. This is certainly a loss. Harry is an excellent and dedicated physician and we certainly do not need less physicians here in Murray. On top of that he has been an outstanding civic servant.

Hiram Tucker says he drove by the house while we were gone for two weeks and old Sport was just sitting there at the end of the house looking lonesome. We hasten to say that a good neighbor fed and watered Sport during our absence.

Sport was lonesome though. He missed the comings and goings, seeing the car in the distance so he could run pell mell by the bird bath and through the woods to scare up the wildlife. He was grunting barking and snapping of Lady the dog, the cars going through the driveway which calls for running and barking, and other incidents which have to do with the family being at home.

Richie Allen Lets Loose With His Frustration With A Homer

By GREG GALLO
UPI Sports Writer

Richie Allen ended a frustrating evening with one swing of the bat Thursday night but there seems no way to remedy the situation that has been plaguing the Phillies' strongman as long as he remains in a Philadelphia uniform.

Allen, who has had a difficult time making the plays at third base this season, was the primary target for the Philadelphia booby-trap before his three-run homer in the 12th inning pulled the Phils from behind to beat the Chicago Cubs 5-2.

The constant harassment of Allen, who is the Phillies' only big star, has been a season long affair at Connie Mack Stadium.

"Maybe I deserve it," said the 25-year-old superstar, who committed two errors in the fifth inning. "I've had four years of it now and I'm getting to feel like a veteran. The fans are the last ones I think about. I wouldn't care if they ignored me."

"Old Shaver Shoes"

Allen, who is currently hitting .311 with 20 home runs and 72 runs batted in, wasn't as happy as most sluggers usually are after blasting one into the distant centerfield seats to break up a late inning ballgame. "Who knows I might not be around much longer," said the disgruntled Allen after delivering his winning blow. "I might be traded or I might kick over and die. The way I feel now, a couple of broken bats and a pair of old shaver shoes would be an even up deal."

"My feelings have nothing to do with Gene Mauch," said Allen. "Gene has taught me all the baseball I know, what little I do know. It would be a crime to leave Gene but it would be another thing to get out of Philadelphia."

In other National League action New York beat Pittsburgh 6-5 in the first game of a two-night doubleheader before the Pirates took the nightcap 5-3 in 14 innings and Houston shut out Los Angeles 4-0.

In the American League, Detroit defeated Boston 7-1 in 10 innings, Baltimore bested New York and Cleveland outlasted Washington 8-3 in 16 innings.

Winning Pitcher
The Cubs had held a 2-1 lead behind Ferguson Jenkins, who was seeking to become the winningest pitcher in the majors by notching his 17th victory of the season, when the Phils tied the game on a single by Gary Sutherland with one out in the ninth.

Cookie Rojas led off the 12th with a single and after Tony Gonzalez was walked intentionally, Allen smashed laser Bill Hands' 1-9 pitch over the centerfield wall.

Bud Harrelson hit his first major league homer and Don Cardwell pitched four-hit relief ball over the final seven innings to give the Mets the win in the opener. But Manny Mota's single in the second game drove home Roberto Clemente from third for the winning run as Juan Pizarro, the hero in the first game, picked up the win, his sixth against nine losses.

Ron Davis' bases loaded double in the fifth inning and Dave Gustin's eight-hit pitching led the Astros past the Dodgers. Gustin picked up his ninth win against 11 losses as he struck out five and did not walk a batter. Jim Brewer took the loss for Los Angeles.

DANGEROUS FBI TARGET—The FBI has added the name of Jerry Ray James to its list of "Ten Most Wanted Fugitives." He is a bulking western badman, leader of a modern "James Gang," is 5 feet 11 inches tall and weighs from 225 to 235 pounds. The FBI said he is armed and should be considered extremely dangerous.

Green Bay Meets With Bears Friday

UPI Sports

The jolly green giants from Green Bay, minus the Jim Taylor-made power which carried them to the world championship of pro football last season, clash with Chicago's Monsters of the Midway Friday night and the thrust you hear could be one of the worst falls taken by the Bears under the George Halas' regime.

Taylor now is doing his marching for the New Orleans Saints. His absence wasn't even noticed last Saturday when the Packers put down the Pittsburgh Steelers 31-20. Donny Anderson, a half-million dollar bonus beauty, remarked he was ready for full-time action as he scored on a 50-yard run and threw a 63-yard touchdown pass.

The Bears are on the front-end of an ironman streak, two games in five days. Chicago takes on the Kansas City Chiefs of the American Football League next Wednesday. Meanwhile, Paton Harker continues a desperate search to find an offensive partner for Gale Sayers. Jack Conner, the former Boston College signal-caller who spent three years as a backup man in the NFL, this season, was acquired by Chicago in the hope he can be the quarterback to improve upon the 5-7-2 record in 1966.

During Halas' 29 seasons as a head coach, only six of his teams have lost more games than they have won. Unless he can come up with an improved offense, the 1967 club will go down as No. 7. The Denver Broncos go after their second victory over an NFL team when they host the Minnesota Vikings in the only other exhibition game scheduled Friday night.

Denver has taken on a new life with new head coach Lou Saban who was lured to winning during a previous tenure in the AFL, at Buffalo Bill's mentor. The Broncos have been perennial doormats, sporting only 12 triumphs during the last four seasons. They rock of the lead this year, however, by knocking off the Detroit Lions to become the first AFL team to beat an NFL club.

Saban has instilled a championship spirit in Denver. He has a power roster in Cookie Gilchrist, a first back in rookie Floyd Little of Syracuse and the breakaway speed of Charlie Mitchell.

Two Perfect Clubs

Two other perfect record NFL clubs seek to protect their records when Los Angeles 2-0 entertains Cleveland 0-2 and Washington 1-0 plays New York 0-0-1 at Raleigh, N. C. Saturday night.
